The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 14, NO. 45 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, JUNE 4, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 117. White Enameled Steel Bed, solid brass trimmings. We have them 54 in. wide, 48 in. wide, 42 in. wide and 36 in. wide. All sizes are 78 in. long. Special Price (any size)

$2.75

(orders promptly filled.)

Everywhere local dealers are saying unkind things about us. Their customers are tired of paying them double prices; our immense (free) money-saving catalogue is enlightening the masses. Drop a postal now for complete catalogue of Furniture, Mattings, Carpets, Oil Cloths, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Stoves, Fancy Lamps, Bedding, Springs, etc. The catalogue costs you nothing and we pay all postage. Get double value for your dollar by dealing with the manufacturers.

JULIUS HINES & SON,
BALTIMORE, MD.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

[illegible] WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. [illegible]

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

IN his day and generation, one of the most conspicuous citizens of our county was John Bradshaw, Esq., of Huntersville, West Virginia. His residence was on the site now occupied by the "Lightner House" belonging to Amos Barlow, Esq. John Bradshaw, the ancestor of the Bradshaw relationship, was a native of England. Bradshaw is a historic name in England, as readers of English history readily remember, and so is the name Herold.

About 1760, two brothers, James and John Bradshaw came to America. James Bradshaw went to Kentucky to reside. John Bradshaw remained in Augusta County Virginia, and married Miss Nancy MaKenrie, in the vicinity of Parnassus, and soon afterwards settled on the Bull Pasture River, ten or eleven miles below McDowell, now Highland County, Virginia, on property at this time owned by Franklin Bradshaw and the family of the late John Bradshaw, County Surveyor. Here he resided a number of years, and then early in this century came to Huntersville. His family consisted of four sons and four daughters,—Nancy, Elizabeth, Margaret, Jane, James, John Thomas, and William.

James Bradshaw married Isabella Stevens, of Greenbrier County, and settled on the old homestead. Franklin Bradshaw and John Bradshaw, well-known citizens of Highland County, were his sons. Mrs Eveline Byrd, near Falling Spring, Greenbrier County, is a daughter, Captain R. H. Bradshaw, a gallant soldier who fell in the battle of Port Republic, was a grandson, and James Bradshaw, of McDowell, is also a grandson of James Bradshaw.

John Bradshaw married Nancy Stevens, sister of Mrs Isabella Bradshaw, and settled in the Big Valley between the Bull Pasture and Jackson River, on what is now known as the "Porter Place," and afterwards went to Missouri. These ladies were the daughters of Robert Stevens, who owned the famous ferry at Fort Spring over the Greenbrier.

Thomas Bradshaw married Nancy Williams, on Anthony's Creek, and settled on Brown's Creek, three miles from Huntersville, on property held by Charles L. Moore. He exchanged farms with his brother William, and moved to the Bradshaw place near Mill Point, now owned by Isaac McNeel, Esq. He was a botanical physician of the Thompsonian School, and had all of Pocahontas County for his practice. Lobelia and "No. 6" were the main remedies employed along with hot baths and bleeding. Dr Bradshaw died at an advanced age in Huntersville about 1862. His family moved first to Webster County, West Virginia, and then to Missouri.

William Bradshaw was a soldier of the war 1812. His wife was Jane Elliot Hickman, daughter of William Hickman, on Back Creek, Bath County, who was the ancestor of the Hickman relationship in Bath. William Hickman's wife was Mary Eliot, and one of her sisters was the wife of Moses Moore, the famous pioneer, and hence the name Eliot or Ellet so frequently used in the Moore connexion. William Bradshaw first settled near Mill Point, where he lived several years; then upon exchanging places with his brother Thomas he moved to Brown's Creek, where he reared his family. He operated a carding machine along with his farm. The machine stood near the Dunmore road about where the Sheldon Moore road turns off. Traces of the site are yet discernable. The bales of rolls were fastened with black thorns, which were gathered by boys—for a small consideration. Mr Bradshaw finally moved to Lewis County, where he died a few years since at an advanced age. As was intimated, he was a soldier in the war of 1812, and was a very good man in all the relations of life, and reared a highly respectable family of eight daughters and one son.

Nancy Makamie married Isaac Hartman, near Green Badk. Mary Jane married Alexander Moore, on Stony Creek. Senilda Eiler married Washington Nottingham, of Glade Hill. Oscar Nottingham and the present Mrs Kenney Wade are her children. Huldah Hickman became the wife of John A. McLaughlin, Esx., near Huntersville. Amos McLaughlin, Wallace McLaughlin, Hanson McLaughlin, (Odessa, Missouri), and John E. McLaughlin, near Marvin, are her sons. Mrs George Dilley, Mill Point; Mrs Hanson Curry and Mrs William T. Moore, of Brown's Creek, are her daughters.

Martha Ann Bradshaw was married to the late Beverly Waugh, near Hillsboro. The first Mrs Kenney Wade and John E. Waugh, near Ronceverte, were her children. Matilda Margaret was married to the late Nicholas Singer, of Lewis County, West Virginia, where she now resides. Rebecca Frances, a very promising young person, died in early youth. Rachel Hannah, the pride of the family, died at six years of age. William James married Miss Mary Ellen Watson, in Lewis County, and settled there.

Nancy Bradshaw, daughter of the Huntersville pioneer, married Levi Cackley, and lived on Stamping Creek, near Mill Point. Her children are mentioned in the sketch of the Cackley family.

Margaret Bradshaw, the second daughter, was married to the late John Gwin, on Jackson's River in Bath County. Her daughter, Nancy, was the first wife of Squire Hugh McLaughlin, late of Marlinton. The late William J. McLaughlin, a most estimable citizen; John McLaughlin, and Mrs Elizabeth Rowan, late of the Hot Springs, were her grand-children. Margaret's son, David Gwin, married Miss Eliza Stephenson, on Jackson's River. Another son, John Gwin, Junior, married Miss Gilleapie, of Bath, and lived near the Hot Springs. B. Austin Gwin is her Grandson. Jane Gwin, her daughter, married a Mr Starr, an Englishman, and lived at Winchester. Elizabeth Gvin married a Mr Givens, on Jackson's River.

Elizabeth Bradshaw, daughter of the pioneer, was the first wife of the late Samuel Hogsett, Esq., who came from Augusta County, and was a relative of the Makamies. He was a well-known citizen,—a member of the old County Court, and was in every sense of the word a justice of the peace. He was over six feet in height and large in proportion, and feared the face of no living man. On public days his presence and strong arms spoiled many a fight. Mr and Mrs Hogsett lived on the farm now owned and occupied by the Hon William Curry. Their children were—John, who married Leah Cackley; Nancy, who became Mrs McAtee, William Perry, Josiah Thomas, and Samuel, Margaret, Mary, who became Mrs George Moore; Eliza, the first wife of Lee Squires; and Elizabeth, who died quite recently at the home of her brother Perry, on Brown's Creek.

Jane Bradshaw, fourth daughter of the pioneer, was married to William Tallman, Esq., of Green Bank, and lived at the old home. Her son, Colonel James Tallman, was a protege of the late Henry M. Moffett, Esq., and was Clerk of the two Courts of Pocahontas for many years and Colonel of the 127th Regiment Virginia Militia. He is remembered as one of the most popular and promising young citizens of his times. and his sad and early death was sincerely lamented by the entire county. Mrs Tallman's second marriage was to Thomas Gammon, Esq., from east Virginia. William, John, Franklin, Cyrus, and Martha were her children by this second marriage.

William Tallman Gammon married Miss Elizabeth Slvaen, daughter of Jacob and Nelly Slaven, of Traveller's Repose, and located in Huntersville, and became a prominent citizen, merchant, member of the court, promoted from Captain to Colonel of 127th Regiment Virginia Militia, and was a Ruling Elder in the Presbyterian Church. Her daughter, Martha Jane, first married Amos Compbell, son of the late Thomas Campbell, Highlsnd County, Virginia. Her second marriage was with the Rev J. W. Canter, a well-known minister of the M. E. Church South.

Thus far we have it in our power to tell our readers something of one of the most noted men in the early history of our county, aided by his grand-daughter, Mrs Huldah McLaughlin. Mr Bradshaw owned the lands now held by Hon William Curry, Amos Barlow, Esq, that recently held by the late William J. McLaughlin, the site of Huntersville, and from the James Sharp property on Brown's Creek almost to Dilley's Mill. He donated and deeded the site for the public buildings of Pocahontas County—without reservation. In a lottery venture he drew a prize of ten thousand dollars, which made him one of the money kings of his times.

In appearance his personality was striking,—large and portly, and scrupulously neat in his dress. He used a crutch that was profusely ornamented with silver mountings. His manners were those of an elegant gentleman of the old school.

About the time of Tarleton's raid to Charlottesville he was drafted into the service. Late Saturday evening the notice was served on him to be ready to report for duty Monday morning. His young Scotch-Irish wife was equal to the emergency. She cooked, washed, cried, and prayed all day Sunday, and had him ready for the war early Monday morning, and by night he was in Staunton, on his march for Yorktown, where he says he fought in blood "shoe-mouth deep."

He died suddenly in 1837. His remains are marked by the wild cherry tree in the old Huntersville cemetary, that is said to be growing directly over his grave. In a beautiful sense he is resting under the shade of a tree from the toils, dangers, and privations of pioneer life.

W. T. P.

A YEAR IN HEAVEN.

There's a picture in my heart,
No stranger's eye may see;
And a voice forever sounding,
Tho stilled that voice may be.

There's a grief within my heart,
Only stricken mothers share,—
Grief for a vanished presence
And a face so bright and fair.

There's a hope within my heart,
That as the days go by,
I may meet again my sainted one
In her home beyond the sky!

RICHMOND, VIRGINIA. V. R. M.

ABOUT a year since there was a remarkable exhibition of electric appliances in New York, and the results appear too wonderful for credence. The first telegram ever flashed over the wires was: "What hath God wrought"—science thus rendering a just tribute to the divine source of all good. On May 16, 1896, the marvellous achievements of electricity were celebrated by sending messages with a current supplied by Niagara, over a distance more than twice around the globe, and both telegrams recognized the beneficent hand of God. Mr Depew wired: "God created, nature treasures, science utilizes electric power for the grandeur of the nations and the peace of the world." To this Edwin D. Adams replied: "Mighty Niagara, nature's wonder, through nature's electric current proclaims to all people's science triumphant and the benevolent Creator." The first message transversed 27,500 miles in twenty-one minutes; the other made a much longer trip via Tokio in fifty minutes. In seventy-one minutes a message is sent and answer received transversing nearly sixty thousand miles. With the quickest of available appliances, Marlinton comld not send and receive a message and reply to Hillsboro under three hours,—180 minutes. What wonderful resources the Divine Creator has provided to be found and made use of as fast as humanity is made ready by the gospel of His Son for their wise improvement.

THE concert of Europe and the sugar trust are the only great powers left.—Exchange.

WOOL GATHERERS.

There is something beautiful in the general idea of shearing sheep of those who have not sheared them. They think what nice work it is to strip off the snowy fleece and to run their fingers thro the soft wool which forms the winter coat. About one sheep would serve to dispel any illusion any one may have on the subject. The novice is ill prepared for the work before him. I remember one case of a student of farming. He came from the good old county of Kent where Hereward-the-Wake used to circulate, if I remember aright. He came out under an agent to learn farming in a country where every body who is foot loose is doing his best to unlearn it. The agent wanted a hundred pounds sterling as a premium. This premium is paid by the emigrent as a token of good-will on his part and to show that he is in earnest. Then the agent helped him buy an outfit and brought the stranger to a strange land—the land of dollars and sense—and charged him twenty-five dollars per month board and teaching him to farm in a country neighborhood where he could have lived the life of a gentleman of leisure on $12 per month and every thing found. His knowledge of farming after a years assiduous toil amounted to a perfect idea how nine cows should be milked, night and morning. The one year taught him, however, that he could board with some real farmer, if he would work hard, for nothing. He had a dim idea of being a sheep breeder and looked forward to the shearing of sheep with no feelings of disquietude.

The morning was a perfect one when we first drove the sheep into a pen to be clipped. Of course the hands had secured all the shears that would cut and left the Englishman a pair that would take an instinctive delight in pinching blood blisters on his fingers. The day had not passed until he was advised as to the shearing of the sheep, and it had lost all its charms.

The sheep were put in a pen and tables prepared to operate upon. The brawny, experienced hand lost no time in picking up a sheep and flinging him on the table and was clipping away in a little while. To the new man it looked dead easy, and he tackled a moderate sized ewe, the mother of two promising lambs. This sheep did not enter into the spirit of the thing, but tripped her abuser up and he fell on a large stone. He hung on and by a great effort succeded in tying her on the table. The only manner which the old ewe could show her disgust at the summary treatment was by blowing her nose in his face, which she did promtly. By this time he had discovered that the sheep shears would spring apart and would not go together. The points were dull and the sheep appeared to be clipped in ridges. Presently an oblong hole was cut in the critter's hide, and the national expletives were flowing smoothly. By and by the sheep seemed to be exuding a great deal of grease and some corpulent ticks would struggle to get out of the way.

A very discouraging circumstance was that the other hands were upon their third sheep by the time this one was ready to turn over, and it was a question whether the old ewe would last long enough to be sheared. She lay quite still and seemed to be rapidly sinking under the strain. Finally she was clipped of her wool all except some useless tags about the wrong end which the novice thought were of no value, and so he let her go with hardly breath enough left in his body to cry "next!" The brag-hired-man came around in a hurry and slapped on a tar mark and took a malicious delight in not mentioning the untidy appearance caused by the tags. Not so the boss! He saw the shaggy sheep and did not pass it. The edict went forth that that sheep must be caught again, and there is a vast difference between catching a sheep with long wool on his back and one newly sheared. Besides the old ewe was relucteut to be caught a again.

"A little more than a year ago, my hair began turning gray, and falling out, and although I tried ever so many things to prevent a continuance of these conditions, I obtained no satisfaction until I tried Ayer's Hair Vigor. After using one bottle, my hair was restored to *

How Old are You?

It makes no difference whether you answer or not. It is always true that "a woman is as old as she looks." Nothing sets the seal of age upon a woman's beauty so deeply, as gray hair. The hair loses its color generally from lack of nutrition. If you nourish the hair, the original color will come back. That is the way that the normal color of the hair is restored by

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

* This testimonial will be found in full in Ayer's "Curebook" with a hundred others. Free. Address J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Another unfortunate circumstance was that the poor ewe had been so long before the shearer who was dumb, that she must be sucked by two hungry lambs, and thus got back strength from her state of nervous prostation. She was caught by the aid of a spectator after a long and exciting pursuit which caused a number of sheep to jump the pen and escape. By the aid of the same helper the offending tags were removed, and it was dinner time. The other shearers had nine or ten to their credit, but they had failed to skin theirs. Before the season was over the shearer had attained the speed of about five a day.

The work to any body is as disagreeable as any work on the farm. The hot summer sun, with an insufficient shade, makes the oil and odor almost unbearable. It is needless to say that the clothes smell of sheep ever after. I have have heard an extensive sheep raiser laugh over an experience of his own. He had been shearing sheep some miles distant from his home and started home. He tried to cover up the smell of the sheep on his clothes by a libation of cologne or some other perfume which happened to be handy. On his return he had occasion to pass some minutes in company with a maiden lady, one of the legion of school teachers that East Virginia has produced since the war. She perceived the odor and afterwards remarked to a lady friend that she "naturally abhor red the smell of a man!"

THE Wheeling Intelligencer announces that an interesting case will be before the Supreme Court of West Virginia, while the Court is in session in Wheeling. This case involves the right of the public school authorities to have the Bible read in the public schools. John Kennedy, a Romanist, residing at Boothville, Marion Co., W. Va., has had a controversy of two years standing with the trustees of the Boothville public school. He objected that the Bible should be read in a school attended by his children. The trustees arranged that these children should be in a room to themselves during opening exercises in which the Scriptures were read. In the meantime the Kenedy children behaved so badly they were expelled. In March, Kenedy received from the Court of Appeals a mandamus ordering the school board to discontinue the Bible reading in the Boothville school. This the board refuses to do, and hence the board is to appear before the Supreme Court to show the cause why it has not dispensed with the Bible reading. The Junior Order of American Mechanics has taken the matter in hand. The officers of the State Council have resolved to supply whatever funds may be needed to resist Kenedy's effort to have the Bible driven from the Boothville school. The desire of this order is appajant, to have the question met squarely on its merits and have it settled once for all, whether any school board can be compelled by law to put the Bible out of their schools.

Up To Date.—"Yes," said the Greek commander on the eve of his great victory, "it is true that in ancient times battles used to be fonght in which great numbers were killed, but at present—"

He rang for an aid-de-camp.

"The tendency is to abandon legitimate for the continuous vaudeville idea."

Seizing a pen he wrote an order for a masterly retreat to a point ten miles to the southward.— The Press, New York.

IT IS conceded by judicious thinkers on current events, in Europe, that much depends on the policy of Austria, what the out come will be. Hence the following about the character of the Austrian Congress should have special interest for thoughtful persons:

Austria's lower House of the Reichsrath is a complicated body, its 425 members being divided up into twenty-four political parties, as the different nationalities in the empire are bitterly opposed to each other. The party divisions are: Young Czechs, 60; Agrarian Czechs 9; Poles, 59; German Clericals, 41; German Liberals, 49; Anti-Semites or Christian Socialists, 28; German People's Party, 38; Slovenes, 16; Croates, 11; Ruthenians, 11; Roumanians, 6; Servians, 2; Italian Liberals, 14; Italian Clericals, 5; Socialists, 14; Feudal Party, 21; Feudal Liberals, 28; Feudals of the Centre, 3; Polish People's Party 3; German Irredentists or the Schonerer Party, 5; followers of Stojalovski, the democratic priest, 6; all these besides the Young Czech Radicals, Czech Clericals and Moderate Socialists, consisting of one member each. Besides these, the Government has a Hungarian Parliment with assorted parties and nationalities to deal with. There are five different bodies of electors for the Austrian lower House, 85 members being chosen by the great land proprietors, 117 by the towns, 21 by the Chambers of Commerce, 130 by rural districts, and 72 by universal suffrage.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one deaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraturnity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh cure is internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O
Sold by Druggists, 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

THE corporations and wealthy individuals, who are engaged in large manufacturing establishments desire a high tariff to increase their gains. Designing politicians will support it to conciliate their favor and to obtain the means for profuse expenditure for the purpose of purchasing influence in other quarters. Do not allow yourselves, my fellow citizens, to be misled on this subject. It is a system of injustice, and if persisted in will lead to corruption and must end in ruin.—Andrew Jackson, in his Farewell Address.

Mr Isaac Horner, proprietor of the Burton House, Burton, W. Va., and one of the most widely known men in the state was cured of rheumatism after three years of suffering. He says: "I have not sufficient command of language to convey any idea of what I suffered, my physicians told me that nothing could be done for me and my friends were fully convinced that nothing but death would relieve me of my suffering. In June, 1894, Mr Evens, then salesman for the Wheeling Drug Co., recommended Chamberlain's Pain Balm. At this time my foot and limb were swollen to more than double their normal size and it seemed to me my leg would burst but soon after I began using the Pain Balm the swelling began to decrease, and now I consider that I am entirely cured." For sale by all druggists.

Hundreds of thousands have been induced to buy Chamberlain's Cough Remedy by reading what it has done for others and having tested its merits for themselves are to-day its warmest friends. For sale by druggists.

The Pocahontas Times.

JUNE 4, 1897.

Local Events.

Hear, Land o' Cakes and brither Scots
Frae Maidenkirk to Johnny Groats,
If there's a hole in a' your coats,
I rede ye tent it;
A chiel's amang you takin' notes,
An' faith he'll prent it.—BURNS

MONDAY was Decoration Day, which is by act of Congress a legal holiday.

"MCKINLEY" is the name of a new postoffice in Augusta County. Beverly Daniels is postmaster.

THE Winchester Creamery one day last week recived 11,000 lbs of milk, and made 600 pounds of butter.

DECORATION DAY at Grafton was more largely attended than ever was a similar occasion. A crowd of 7,000 gathered at Morgantown.

MR CHARLES BURDETTE HART has been appointed Minister to Columbia, and will leave for that country about the middle of June.

THE wonder of the world of Washington is how the West Virginians get so many offices from the Administration.

VIRGINIA will not have a Constitutional Convention. The proposition was overwhelmingly defeated in the election last Thursday.

BROADUS COLLEGE, of Clarksburg, has a woman president. She is Miss Bertha M. Stout, who has been an instructor in the College for many years.

JAMES HENLEN, of Washington County, Virginina, aged 87, was found dead at the bottom of a precipice two hundred feet high. His horse was grazing on top. He was a very weathy land owner.

THE West Virginia University has 465 students at Morgantown and 61 at Mongomery, making 526 in all. The commencement exercises will be from June 5 to June 9. There are five ladies in the graduating class.

MARRIED: At the home of the home of the bride's father, M. J. S. McNulty, of McDowell, Va., Rev. J. C. Dobbs, Jr., and Miss Hattie McNulty. Rev. J. C. Dobbs is pastor of the Presbyterian church of Carthage, N. C.

HON. C. P. JONES, of Monterey, has announced definitely that he will not accept the nomination for State Senate. He has retired from politics in the sense of standing for reelection, but he is everywhere acknowledged as one of the most powerful and influential men in his State.

THE committee for the location of the State Home for Incurables met at Charleston, May 26, and, having received propositions from the citizens of Martinsburg, New Martinsville, Parkersburg, Huntington, Clay Court House, Webster Court House and Charleston, adjourned to meet again, June 4.

THE number of commercial agents, sewing machine sellers, stove peddlers, depot wagons, road carts, carriages, and buggies in evidence the past two or three weeks is simply bewildering and we cannot keep up with the procession. So we will take their dust and wish them one and all true prosperity in every sense of the word.

AT Sutton, last Saturday, during the performance of Spark's circus, two of the trained horses got into a fight and broke over the ropes and ran amongst the women and children, causing a panic. Two women, Helen Berry and Minnie Allman, were fatally injured and a large number hurt. A mob was about to destroy the outfit, but was quieted. The manager was arrested.

A DISPATCH to the Baltimore Sun says that since the burning of the Court-house, at Beverly, that Elkins, the largest town in the county, will make an effort to have the county seat removed there. Information received from private sources says that there is no likelihood of such a movement, as the Court-house can be replaced upon the old foundation so much more cheaply. Since the fire the walls have been crumbling and falling in.

A SOMEWHAT mean man inserted the following ad. in a wester paper: "Notice—My wife, Delia Stacy, having left my bed and board, I will not be responsible for any debts she may contract after this date. John Stacy." In the next issue of the same paper, the wife had her revenge in this way: "Notice—My husband, John Stacy, having neither bed nor board to provide for me, I am now taking in washing at No— B—Street. Delia Stacy."

You don't believe all you hear do you? No! I don't; been fooled too often. Promises, like pie-crust, are easily broken. I want your trade, how am I to get it? Not by broken promises—not that way. I must make it profitable for you to trade with me. I must do better than some one else; I must keep good servicable goods at low prices. I want you to be convinced that I am doing it, so please call and examine my lace curtains at 47½ cents per pair, and 65 cents will buy a real nice pair of curtains 3½ yards long and a pretty design. THE GOLDEN STORE.

THREE fleeces averaging 11½ pounds were brought to market last week by Bob Malcomb.

WIRE nails $3.25 per keg at Golden's, instead of $3.75 as advertised last week thro mistrke.

THE B. & O. Ticket office at Grafton was robbed of $158.00 last Wednesday morning, the thief entering by a window.

The click of the sheep-shears has been heard all over upper Pocahontas the past few days, notwithstanding the thirteen frosts in May and two thus far in June.

W. H. GROSE was at Academy to preside at a justice trial between F. A. Renick and E. L. Beard and W. H. Ooverholt. The judgment was in favor of Renick.

PINE-KNOT sawdust and pulverized coffee mixed and smoked in a pipe is recommended as an antidote for spasmodic attacks of asthma, from which so many seem to have suffered during the recent damp and cool weather.

MRS SUSAN HOUDYSCHELL, who was arrested as accessory to the Frost burglary for concealing stolen goods, is at the jail here, having been unable to give bail. Monday she was to be seen doing up the week's washing, and apparently enjoying as much freedom as any woman in the town.

LAST Friday, Mrs Mattie Beard, whose home is with Joseph McNeel, near Hillsboro, fell and dislocated her hip. She suffers so much that the worst is feared by her numerous friends as to final results. She is past eighty years of age, but is remarkably well preserved for a person of her years.

IT was the writer's pleasure to dine with Mrs Andrew Dilley, a few days since, and among the delicacies served up was a delicious cup of 12½ cent coffee. Times are certainly promising for those who love the beverage that cheers but inebriates not. Fifty years since it was five pounds for a dollar, in Andy Jackson times.

SOME weeks since the dwelling-house of Edgar Sharp on the Greenbrier, eight or nine miles from Marlinton, was consumed by fire, communicated to the roofing by the stove-pipe. But little of the contents recovered. Most of what was carried out caught fire and was lost. Mr Sharp now lives at the Moore House on the Indian Draft.

THE Kansas City Times in a fit of rapsody describes Polk County, Arkansas as a county fifty miles from the railroad, where the farmers vote the Democratic ticket and where mortgages and debts are unknown. Our county is very much like Polk county in the first two respects, but we do a little business out here and the various transactions have left some in debt and some in credit, and Polk county if so strictly out of debt must be sadly wanting in goods and chattels.

WE have received propositions from E. G. A., of Phoenix, Arizona, for the sale of certain valuable letters on the State of Arizona, but as he does not say how much per pound he asks for his letters (which of course throw Owen Wister in the shade) our readers will have to forego the pleasure for awhile. As soon as possible we will procure a painted bucket full of them and then we all can become informed as to that country of the biggest liars and smallest stoves in the world.

Messrs Wise Herold, Marion Gum, Holmes and Benjamin Sharp on their recent outing to the head of Greenbrier met with good success for the time they fished catching between three and four hundred. They first tried the West Prong, but the fish had gone up too far; then the party went to the East Branch, beyond VanBuren Arbogast's, and found the fishing good, tho the water was "cold as Christmas." They had been preceded by parties who had come in from the remote head of the river and the region contiguous.

WE understand that in some precincts in the county that road overseers have refused to work the hands, claiming that their time had expired. They are mistaken in this as no overseer's time expires until next January. The court appoints new overseers this year at October Court. If any overseer has served more than two years it is because he was appointed to fill an unexpired term, and his real appointment dates from January 1, 1896. All overseers should work the road this year to avoid the penalty placed on overseers for failing to perform their customary duties.

THE members of the Marlinton Bar and their ladies spent several days last week on William's River at the club-house at the mouth of Tea Creek. The time passed very pleasantly, and in spite of two white frosts the trout bit well for William's River. The fish have about all disappeared from those waters, but for fresh air, cold water, wild flowers, and magnificent mountain scenery Tea Creek can not be surpassed. It is the prettiest stream in the State. The falls are especially fine, and the pool at the forks is worth tramping many miles to see. Our only lament is that the camera is more in order on Tea Creek than the fishing-rod.

Personal Mention.

Mrs Maria Herold, near Frost, seems to be gradually improving and her numerous friends have cheerful hopes of her final recovery.

Armenius Buzzard, near Glade Hill, has been strangely and severely attacked by a painful illness, and so much prostrated that his everyday clothing had to be removed by cutting.

Misses Florence and Mary Price accompanied by Master John Price, from the Warm Springs, Virginia, were visiting friends and relatives near Edray and Marlinton this week.

Mr Silas Sharp and wife and Mrs Luther Sharp and two little daughters, of Linwood, were visiting at Renick's Valley and Lobelia last week, and returned home last Friday.

Mr A. W. Moore and Price Moore, of Sunset, were in Marlinton Tuesday. The former has kept a record of weather changes for forty years, and the result of his observations for the past winter is given in another column.

Rev. Henry McLaughlin, of Fire Creek, a Presbyterian preacher, occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian church, last Sunday morning and evening, and delivered two excellent sermons to large congregations. We understand that there is a probability of his being called to the pastorate of the church here would be pleased to have him accept.—Fayette Republican.

The Earthquake.

Probably the most pronounced earthquake shock ever felt in this section in the memory of man was that noticed last Monday afternoon at about half past three by nearly everyone in the town. It was felt in this printing office very distinctly. A noise was heard something like the mumbling of a heavy wagon and tho something was under it. In Holt's store it knocked some glassware off a shelf breaking it. In every house it was noticed. In duration it was probably ten seconds. Tuesdays papers are looked for eagerly, as the shock war much more distinct here than when Charleston, S. C., was so nearly destroyed.

Earthquake on Knapps Creek.

About two P. M. Monday, as Squire I. B. Moore was reclining a lounge in the parlor, reading a newspaper, he heard a rumbling sound like that of a distant train, and about the same instant felt a tremor as if the lounge was in a swing. Looking up, the paper on the ceiling and walls seemed to undulate and looked as if the plaster was about to crack and fall.

Peyton Moore came from an adjoining room to see whose wagon was going by. Mrs Moore, in a remote part of the house noticed the disturbance and at once surmised it to be an earth quake. It was fully a minute before all became quiet. A sewing machine in the hall executed a nice little performance as if it wanted to execute a minuet.

About half a mile away, Miss Rella Clark was hearing lessons, when she noticed the stove was swaying and the building was in a tremor. She sent a pupil out to see who might be trying to shake the school-house, but as no one was seen at such a prank, it occurred to her that it might be an earth quake. The shock was distinctly felt at Wise Herold's and at Washington Moore's also.

Musical Association.

One of the most notable gatherings in the history of this Association was held at Edray last week. The large church there was filled to its utmost capacity and the Association was attended from every part of the county. When the convention meets at Edray it is always a signal success, owing to the hearty co-operation of the people of that neighborhood and to their unbounded hospitality in entertaining visitors. The time was passed in the discussion of the theory of music and in the singing of selections from the standard books of the Association.

Rev John Taylor and Senator McNeil were among the prominent leaders and speakers, in addition to the regular professors who promote this association. A new light appeared upon the horizon when Professor George H. McLaughlin (Grandpap) arose and led "How tedious and tasteless the hours."

Among the more prominent leaders and singers we notice John Waugh, President; D. L. Barlow, George E. Moore, M. G. Friel, Samuel B. Moore, R. D. Rimel, Henry White, Rev G. P. Moore, Rev W. G. Sharp, and a host of others. Saturday night at least five hundred people were in the building.

OSCAR WILDE has written about the cruelty of English prisons, especially in the treatment of children. He says that they are shut up in a solitary cell for twenty-three hours out of the twenty-four, and given food too coarse to be swallowed in their terror stricken state. Children of eleven years are subjected to the system. Wilde claims that the unvarying diet of prison fare, consisting of bad bread and water three times aday, causes chronic diarrhoea, and that astringent medicines are served with the food.

Levels Items.

Jessie Curry has accepted a position at the Hot Springs, Va.

E. S. Grimes, of Dilleys Mill, spent a day or two in our midst, last week.

Woods Ludington and little daughter, Lizzie, of Ronceverte, spent a few days with C. W. Beard Esq. Mr Ludington left his little girl and returned home, Friday.

Miss Grace Hull, of Green Bank, is visiting relatives in this place.

Our young folks had a picnic in the Kennison grove, last Friday evening.

John Pickering, of Falling Springs, was in this section on business, Saturday.

James Warwick is selling fruit trees in this section.

Mrs Wm. Wysong and children, of Ronceverte, spent a few days with her brother, E. I. Holt, last week.

Marvin Watts and Jim Stuart, of Greenbrier, were the guests of R. W. Hill for several days.

Miss Lue Clark is visting relatives at Frankford.

James Hultz left last Tuesday to spend a week with relatives in Augusta county, Virginia.

Joe Buzzard has been kept quite busy here for a week or more, looking up what he can put down for taxes.

Miss Eva Moore, who has been attending school at Staunton, Va., returned home last Friday.

Messrs Carper and Ross were here buying cattle last week. Mr Ross was accompanied by his daughter, who visited the Misses Edgar.

J. H. Maxen spent last week with Sydenstricker & Beard in the interest of the McCormick H. M. Co. Mr Jno. Foglesong is with them putting up binders this week.

Dr Harry Beard, of Lewisburg, is here to see his grandmother, Mrs Mattie Beard, who fell and received a painful injury last week. She is reported as being no better at this writing.

We understand that our turkey gobblers are quite uneasy, as they have heard of terrible doom that awaits them in the near future.

BUMBLEBEE.

Browns Creek.

We had a fine rain here Sunday, which was badly needed.

Mrs J. J. Beard, Mrs A. B. McComb and her two children were visiting Mrs H. P. McLaughlin last week.

Ellis H. Moore and Frank Hogsett attended singing at Edray last week.

John Dever, of Mill Point, is working H. P. McGlaughlin's house.

Wm. H. Gabbert is thrashing his last year's wheat crop with a flail, as he failed to get a machine last year.

The Sunday School at Mt Tabor is in a flourishing condition, with G. S. Weiford as superintendant.

Aunt Betsey McGlaughlin has recovered from her recent illness, and is able to be about again.

H. P. McGlaughlin and Fred Beard made a business trip to Bath last Friday. M.

Knapps Creek.

Frosty nights and bright days.

Quite a number of our young people attended Association at Edray.

Miss Maggie Lantz returned home this week.

Mrs Lizzie Moore is visiting on the Creek.

Mrs Andrew Herold is improving slowly.

Miss Berfie Gibson is on the sicklist at this writing.

Miss Rella Clark is completing the Moore school.

Wise Herold is buying lambs.

P. M. Harper has been to the Levels for flour.

Rev Price preached at Mt Vernon Sunday.

We have the promise of good Sunday School. BABBLER.

ALL affections of the scalp, such as sores, eczema, dandruff, baldness, and falling hair, can be cured or prevented by the timely use of Hall's Hair Renewer.

Lobelia.

Warm and fine growing weather. Fine showers on the 30th. There have been some frosts—no damage done. There will be plenty of fruit of all kinds in this part.

H. L. Casebolt is well and out at work again.

H. N. Taylor, of Trout, W. Va., was the guest of W. B. Hill a few days last week. They were in the mountains looking for coal, and found plenty of it of excellent quality.

N. W. Hill was salting cattle in mountain last week.

W. B. Hill is off to Lewisburg on business.

Corn planting done, and some corn has been worked over. Sheep-clipping over and wool sold, three cents advance in price since 1896. A little tariff if you please.

Some of the boys are off to Edray attending the Association, and others will start for Webster county to work in the lumber camps.

Mrs Hodges has returned to Lewisburg.

J. O. Hill is off to Frankford.

Jim Ray moved to Clover Creek some days ago.

Wanted—Hemlock, spruce, oak, and mineral lands. Can handle anything you may have. Address W. B. Hill, Lobelia, W. Va.

OBSERVER.

Staunton News.

A telegram received by Chief of Police J. H. Waters Saturday announced the arrest at Norfolk of V. A. McCreary, former editor of the Waynesboro Sentinel, against whom there is a warrant charging him with using the mails to get goods from Staunton merchants under false pretenses. McCreery was arrested under the name of "Sykes" for an alleged offense committed in Norfolk, and his identity as McCreery was discovered by means of the young woman who left Staunton with him and to whom she claims to have been married. Captain Waters has sent the warrant issued here for McCreery to Norfolk.

The Staunton public schools closed Saturday with public exercises in Columbia Hall, after a most prosperous session. A short but very appropriate address was made by Hon H. St. George Tucker and one also by Colonel R. S. Turk, editor of the Spectator and Vindicator. The exhibition of work in all the grades, especially in the woodworking, drawing, sewing, and cooking-school departments, was unusually good, being considered the best ever exhibited. The Staunton public schools are modeled on the best approved methods of modern education, and are of recognized efficiency and a matter of great pride to the Staunton public.

The official returns from Augusta County show the board of supervisors to be a tie between Democrats and Republicans. There is only a slight Republican gain in the other county offices. The vote on a constitutional convention was for, 1,291; against, 1,476.

The suit of Mrs Edna H. Hyer against the city of Staunton for damages for a two-story brick house built over a watercourse that went down in last September's flood, was given to the jury Saturday before noon, but they could not agree. They were adjourned over until Monday, but no agreement is looked for. The case has been watched with great interest, as many believe that should the decision go against the city it will open wide the doors for an almost unlimited amount of suits, with damages aggregating $100,000.—The amount sued for was $2,500. Repairing the streets and bridges has already cost the city $10,000.

The commencement exercises of the Mary Baldwin Seminary began to-day with the baccalaureate sermon, which was preached in the First Presbyterian Church this morning by Rev Thornton Whaling, D. D., of Lexington.—Baltimore Sun.

Weather Report.

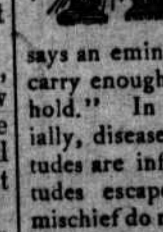
Twenty two snows fell the past winter aggregating a depth of 40½ inches. There was less snow last winter than any I have on record, except the winter of '89-'90, which had 34 snows 38½ inches deep. The past February had 10 fogs and May had 11 frosts. From November 1 to April 1 a little over three-fourths of the weather was cloudy.

The winter of '56-'90 there were were forty snows, aggregating nine feet. The winter of '90-'91 there was 8 feet 9 inches of snow with 28 snow storms. This is what I gather from my snow-book,—kept by me from 1856 to 1897.

A. W. MOORE.

Climbing Mount St. Elias.

As the average school boy knows, probably better than the average man, Mount St. Elias is the highest peak in North America. It has been chosen as a corner between Alaska and the British possessions. It is the starting point for the meridian boundary line and it has never been climbed. It is 1800 feet high and 4000 feet of this height remains untrodden. Two expeditions will make the attempt this summer. One starts from Philadelphia, under the ledership of Mr H. G. Bryant. The other has made more stir, being larger and lead by Prince Luigi, of Savoy, a nephew of King Humbert. He has employed four Alpine guides. The public is rejoicing greatly, too, that Sella, the most noted photographer of mountain scenery, is one of the party.



"The Foot of a Fly"

says an eminent English doctor, "will carry enough poison to infect a household." In summer-time, more especially, disease germs fill the air, multitudes are infected, fall ill, die; multitudes escape. These messengers of mischief do not exist for millions. Why not? Because they are healthy and strong—protected as a crocodile is against gun-shot. It is the weak, the wasted, the thin-blooded who fall; those who have no resistive power so that a sudden cough or cold develops into graver disease. We hear of catching disease! Why not catch health? We can do it by always maintaining our healthy weight.

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod-liver Oil, is condensed nourishment; food for the building up of the system to resist the attacks of disease. It should be taken in reasonable doses all summer long by all those whose weight is below the standard of health. If you are losing ground, try a bottle now.

For sale by all druggists at 50c. and $1.00

IT TICKLES YOU
THE INSTANT RELIEF YOU GET FROM LIGHTNING
HOT DROPS.

CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.
HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals, Serpents, Bugs, etc.
BREAKS UP Bad Colds, La Grippe, Influenza, Croup, Sore Throat, etc.
SMELLS GOOD, TASTES GOOD.
SOLD EVERYWHERE AT 25c AND 50c PER BOTTLE. NO RELIEF, NO PAY.
HERB MEDICINE CO. [Formerly of Weston, W. Va.] SPRINGFIELD, O.

Things ycu Can't do

There are some things you can't do—for they are against nature. You can't make water run up hill. You can't cheat others and not cheat yourself. You can't make poor economy pay by purchasing poor quality clothing and badly made.

Mothers

if you expect the boys to keep neat and tidy you must buy them clothes that will stand the strain.

You Wouldn't

go to a doctor for legal advice, and you cannot expect to find a good suit in a half-kept store. I am just receiving a new line of clothing right from the tailor-shop, and it was bought extremely low, as the maker was hard pressed for money. I solicit your inspection.

The Golden Store

Specialist in Clothing.

50 Reasons

WHY

You should trade with Sol Davis, Green Bank

1 Low Prices
2 Best of Goods
3 Quality unsurpassed
4 Great Variety
5 Polite Attention
6 Every Deal a Bargain
7 Guaranteed as Represented
8 Glad to Please You
9 Full Value for your Money
10 Latest Styles
11 An Easy Selection
12 You get Satisfaction
13 You are Protected
14 No Advantage Taken
15 A Fair and Square Deal
16 You Save Money
17 The Goods are Reliable
18 A Complete Stock
18 Great Inducements
20 All kinds of Produce Taken
21 Highest Market Prices Paid
22 Fancy Prices unknown
23 Meritorious Stock
24 Prices that Please
25 Customers Leave Smiling
26 No Disappointment
27 You Find What You Want
28 What you Buy is Choice
29 A Guarantee of Goodness
30 Your Patronage Appreciated
31 Store Freshly Stocked
32 Popular Goods
33 Popular Prices
34 Headquarters for Bargains
35 We Under buy
36 We Undersell
37 Leaders of Trade
38 Always a Rare Choice
39 You Get Honest Goods
40 Golden Opportunity
41 Profit Sharing
42 Cream of the Market
43 Best Place to Buy
44 Promises Kept
45 Statements Verified
46 Your Welcome Assured
47 Inspection Solicited
48 Not Urged to Buy
49 Stock Carefully Bought
50 You get the Best & Cheapest

Head to foot Outfitter for Men, Women, and Children.
Green Bank, W. Va.
Yours for Business,
SOL. DAVIS.

MAY HAS COME,

The leaves are turning out, and why not turn over a New Leaf and buy your goods of me? saving from 15 to 25 per cent.

By so doing you will never get in trouble and be dunned for money.

SAVE YOUR WOOL, BUTTER, EGGS, GRAIN, &C., &C.

Pay for goods at the time you get them, and you will not be in trouble all the time. This is how I can sell cheaper than anyone else. * * * *

I want your money and country produce. My stock of goods will be constantly added to, and you will be treated right. I want your Wool. Call and see me before you dispose of it elsewhere. Remember I take all kinds of produce at best market prices.

S. J. BOGGS
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 14, NO. 46 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, JUNE 11, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 117. White Enameled Steel Bed, solid brass trimmings. We have them 54 in. wide, 48 in. wide, 42 in. wide and 36 in. wide. All sizes are 78 in. long. Special Price (any size)

$2.75

(orders promptly filled.)

Everywhere local dealers are saying unkind things about us. Their customers are tired of paying them double prices; our immense (free) money-saving catalogue is enlightening the masses. Drop a postal now for complete catalogue of Furniture, Mattings, Carpets, Oil Cloths, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Stoves, Fancy Lamps, Bedding, Springs, etc. The catalogue costs you nothing and we pay all postage. Get double value for your dollar by dealing with the manufacturers.

JULIUS HINES & SON,
BALTIMORE, MD.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATT'Y. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

[illegible] CURE FOR
[illegible]
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
[illegible]

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

Owing to numerous family affiliations in our county some particulars in regard to the Bright connexion in Greenbrier are interesting to our readers.

David Bright, the ancestor of the Brights, came from Pennsylvania in the previous century, and was one of the pioneers of upper Greenbrier, and located on the place now occupied by Andrew Brinkley and sons. David's wife was a Miss Grant, also of Pennsylvania. Their sons were Michael, Jesse, David, and George. There were two daughters, one of whom was named Mary.

Jesse Bright, Esq., the second son of David the pioneer, married Margaret Hamptenstall, and settled on the old homestead and reared the family that has so many relations in Pocahontas County. His daughter Margaret was married to Joseph Callison, son of the late Anthony Callison, at Locust, lower Pocahontas, and finally went to Illinois. Mary Bright, another of Jesse Bright's daughters, was married lo Israel Callison, son of Anthony, lived awhile at Locust, then went to Illinois and is still living (1897.)

Rachel Bright, a daughter of Jesse Bright, Esq., became the wife of the late Joseph Levisay, near Frankford, West Virginia, where she still resides and is more than 80 years of age and is remarkably well preserved in mind and person. Her son, G. Washington Levisay, married Miss Maggie Beard, youngest daughter of the late Mr and Mrs Josiah Beard, of Locust, and settled near Falling Spring and then located at Frankford, where he farms and merchandises. Josephine Levisay became Mrs Preston Clark, and lives near Hillsboro. Mary Levisay became Mrs F. L. Bell, and lives near Savannah Mills. Samuel Brown Levisay was one of the victims of the fearful sawmill explosion that occurred in 1896 near Frankford. Mrs Levisay's daughters, Letitia, Louella, and Elizabeth Wilson; and son, Jesse Achilles, are with her at the Levisay homestead.

Jesse Bright, Junior, married Miss Margaret Pinnell and resides in Lewisburg.

Margaret Bright, daughter of Jesse Bright, Senior, became the wife of the late John Levisay, who settled near Frankford, where she now lives. Her eldest daughter, Mary Margaret, is the wife of Rev D. S. Sydenstricker, D. D., of Hillsboro, the pastor of the Oak Grove Presbyterian Church. Sabina Levisay was married to John Rogers and moved to Gallipolis, Ohio. Jesse Levisay married Miss Addie Johnson, of Frankford, and migrated to Illinois. Cornelia Belinda Levisay was married to W. Henry Wallace and lives on Sinking Creek, West Greenbrier. John Brown Levisay married Miss Minnie Johnson, of Frankford, and resides on a portion of the old homestead. Lillian Levisay was married to Dr James Larue, and now resides at Hillsboro, West Virginia. Virginia and Louisa Levisay are with their mother, Margaret Levisay, on the homestead. James Walton Levisay married Miss Sallie Hanna, daughter of Captain Hanna, and is on the homestead.

Francis Bright, daughter of Jesse Bright, was married to James Ludington, and went to Illinois.

Samuel Bright, another son of Jesse Bright, Senior, married Miss Mary Pollock.

Julia Bright, daughter of Jesse Bright, Senior, was married to Allan S. Levisay, Esq., and lived near Frankford. Mr and Mrs Levisay have for a few years lived near Marlinton with their daughter, Mrs Levi Gay. Their son John Granville Levisay married Miss Emma Robinson, and he lives in Greenbrier near Frankford.

David Bright, son of Jesse Bright, Senior, married Elizabeth Price. Sarah Bright married William Cassidy, and settled in Fayette County, West Virginia.

George Bright, son of Jesse Bright, Senior, married Harriet Bowen and moved to Missouri. His second wife was a Miss Steenberger, of Missouri.

Abram Bright, son of Jesse, Sr., married Margaret Bowen. Abram's second wife was a lady from Richmond, Virginia. His third wife Miss Nickell, of Monroe; and 4th wife a Miss Swisher, now of Gallipolis, Ohio.

The ladies that were the first wives of George and Abram Bright just mentioned were sisters, and daughters of James Bowen, Esq., who lived at the mouth of Spring Creek. Mr Bowen was a person of great business ability, and promoted a number of useful industrial enterprises. He built a flourishing mill, carding machine, sawmill, and an oil-mill on the property now held by Newton Mann.

This about exhausts all the information in the compiler's possession that illustrates the relationship these good people sustain to the citizens of our county, Mr and Mrs Jesse Bright, and be of special interest to our friends.

The writer feelingly cherishes the memory of Jesse Bright, Senior,—about whose large and interesting family these "biographic notes have been prepared. The last time he ever saw this venerable man was on a Sabbath morning in the spring of 1857, on the way to church. As the writer was passing from Mr John Levisay's to Erankford near where the cemetary now is, he heard a singular noise, and on turning around saw that someone's horse had stumbled and thrown the rider. On going back it was found to be Mr Jesse Bright, In the meantime his daughter, Mrs Margaret Levisay, with her husband and two daughters, Mary and Jennie, had come up with him. Mr Bright was led to a fence corner where he remained a little while,—apparently not much hurt,—but thought it best to return home. It is said he never felt the same after the contusion he suffered from the falling of his faithful old grey horse that had carried him so safely and pleasantly for many years. From the noise made, the animal fell heavily, and the wonder is the rider escaped instant death.

The compiler of this sketch is mainly indebted to Mr Washington Levisay for the information given here, taken from memory, or gathered by him from the reminiscences of elderly friends.

W. T. P.

"SILENT FRIENDS"

At this beautiful season when the hills and valleys are aflame with blossom and flower, the remark of a lady comes to mind. The person was afflicted in the loss of her reason; but for long years previous to this affliction she had been devoted to the culture of flowers, and her home was in a sunny clime adapted to their beauteous growth.

Like many insane persons, the lady shunned her relatives and acquaintances, but wandered ever among her flowers, saying sadly: "They will not hurt me—they are my silent friends." And was not the name she gave the flowers a sweet one? In our love for the varied flowers around us and our delight in them, in their help to us—a blessing right down from GOD, we feel that these dear flowers are our friends: they look up at us sweetly and they send forth delightful fragrance,—yet withal they are silent, our "silent friends."

Another striking title for flowers was given by Rev E. Payson, a godly minister who lived a good while ago; he called flowers the "smiles of angels," and this is pretty too. It carries our thoughts to the "land of pure delight where everlasting spring abides, and never fading flowers."

Of all earthly blooms and blossoms we are called, sooner or later, to sing "'tis the last rose of summer"; but we will love and enjoy them while they stay,—our "silent friends,"—our "angels' smiles."

A. L. P.

THE GLOOMY SIDE.

"Do you think this Government is going to recognize Cuba?"

"No," said the man with cynical tendencies. "All we can do now is to recognize what's left of it."—Washington Star.

THE FAYETTE HANGING.

Fayette County is on the eve of a general execution at which time three desperate men will be hung in front of the jail for any to see who are so inclined. Local notices appear in the Fayette Republican stating that the lumber for the scaffold has been secured and hauled to the front of the jail, and that the sheriff will build the scaffold in plain sight of the whole town because no farmer around the village will allow his land to used for the purpose. The 25th of June will see three men deliberately worked off. The present time is no doubt their greatest punishment as they hear the sound of carpenters putting up the gallows.

Then they lose themselves in sleep and every time they wake and piece together the threads of consciousness they suffer anew in realizing that they are doomed to speedy, certain, and violent deaths. The dreams of the sleeper may be that his arrest, trial, and conviction have all been a dream, and he can be glad in sleep. Then the awakening and involuntary groan that is worse than any death agony itself.

The press, outside of Fayette, is interesting itself greatly in these three men, and from what we learn we take it that they present the three most common types of gallows birds.

Viars, the Montgomery City murderer, is hardened by his fate, defies his Maker, and will meet death without flinching or softening. Much comment has been made over the apparition of a murdered man which haunts his cell: but there is, no doubt, something that terrifies the prisoner, and Viars is used to its presence [illegible] feels a sense of anger [illegible] when it intrudes [illegible]

[illegible] the Montgo[illegible], has grown repentent [illegible] has turned in his terror too late to religion. No doubt he has found spiritual advisers who may comfort him with the assurance that Heaven will open its portals to a murderer and that he may become a child of light. He is doing penance now, doubtless, to atone for a world of crime, but he will have to throw himself upon the mercy of the Court.

The third, the negro condemned for the crime of rape, evinces no signs of sensibility other than a dog would under the same circumstances.

This we judge from what we have read as to the state of affairs in Fayette. The inhabitants of that county (peopled with a heterogenous mass of human beings) do not regard life and living as we do in our county where men are connected by every tie of friendship and relationship. There the smothering of a miner in the coal-dust near a tipple calls for a three-line local in the nearest newspaper and there murders and other deeds of violence are of daily occurrence.

A great crowd will come to the countyseat, no doubt, to see these men's last convulsive struggles, and in a day or two other things will arise to dull the memories and efface the impressions of the general execution day.

IT is our pleasure to acknowledge the reception of the latest catalogs sent out by Hampden Sydney College and Washington and Lee University. This completes the one hundred and twenty-first session for Hampden Sydney. Washington and Lee was chartered in 1782. Nothing we can say will enhance the lustre of the names commemorated by these famous schools, or promote their influence and usefulness as prosperous institutione of learning. May they both become what we would have them be. Parties thinking of entering the college will be furnished with full particulars by addressing Rev Dr McIlwaine, Hampden Sydney, Virginia. The Washington and Lee University will furnish all information desired to those who will address Prof. J. L. Campbell, Lexington, Va.

THE Sick Man of the East is dying of laughter, if he is dying at all.—Salt Lake City Herald.

SCHOOLBOOK BOARD.

The law passed to establish a school-book board for every county, was acted on last Friday at the special term of Court, appointing S. B. Hanna, Peter Arbogast, G. E. Moore, H. S. Rucker, George P. Moore, M. G. Mathews, Isaac McNeel, and Cragen Grimes members of the school-book board for this county. Such board is to consist of representative taxpaying citizens; four of whom are to be freeholders and not school teachers, and at least three to be school-teachers holding number one certificates. The superintendent of free schools is a member ex officio, and acts as secretary. Their term of office shall be for four years and is very lucrative, paying the members two dollars a day. They are allowed to serve for pay two days at the most in each year. Five members constitute a quorum. The secretary keeps a record of the votes of each member voting on any proposition, and such books are open for inspection.

The immediate duties are to adopt a textbook on each subject not already provided for by the contract of 1895, and such textbook shall remain the textbook for the county for five years. The publisher must supply a bond in the penalty of $10,000, and deliver on board cars to the address of the depositary of each district.

The law is a heavy, ponderous affair that will have its drawbacks. Different Counties will have different books, and when a man moves his family across the line he will have to change the school-books. The price of books will necessarily advance, as there will be no sharp competition entered into by the publishers such as when contracting to supply the whole State. On the other hand, it will bring the matter directly in our own hands and prevent expensive changes of books by a bunch of legislators.

EDUCATION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES: Dear Sir—From an historical point of view notice that throughout all generations, from the "era" of ancient history down to the present period of time, the "best educated" people lived the happiest lives, were the best citizens, the freest and most independent people of the globe. When we look on the inventions by which man's labors are so easily performed, and ask what has been the means of bringing all this about, we answer through the faculty of educated men and women. We see that the educated man is, in a general way, the better man in a community—the more reasonable and a better neighbor.

We should urge the young minds to obtain that which can never be taken from them—education. We insist that employing first-class teachers in our public schools is a necessity, and that an increase in salary is a needful step in this direction.

Now, as you know, first grade teachers receive $25 per month and the second grade $22—a mere pittance, considering their arduous tasks. All our sister counties pay better. Pocahontas ought to be ashamed to pay her most important workers so small a sum. Our teachers have to spend two or three days in looking up a school, then another day or two in moving to their work on commencing, especially when teaching some of our remote wayside schools. They pay a good big price for board, and by the time school is out, after paying for the necessaries of life.—clothes to keep them from freezing as they travel up and down these cold Alleghany mountains and along the deep icy hollows to their schools,—they have nothing left but a few rusty coppers that will scarcely rattle in their pockets.

Now we hope the Board of Education will give this subject a thought, and when another school-year is ushered in may the hearts of the worthy teachers be gladdened by an increase of salary of 25 per cent at least. It is a fact the patrons will receive the same benefit through an increase of first-class teachers.

S. MC. J.

"I don't believe there ever was so good a pill made as Ayer's Cathartic Pills. They will do all you recommend them for and even more. When I have a cold and ache from head to heels, a dose or two of these pills is all the medicine needed to set me right again. For headache,*

Pill Clothes.

The good pill has a good coat. The pill coat serves two purposes; it protects the pill, and disguises it to the sensitive palate. Some coats are too heavy; they won't dissolve, and the pills they cover pass through the system, harmless as a bread pellet. Other coats are too light, and permit the speedy deterioration of the pill. After 30 years exposure, Ayer's Sugar Coated Pills have been found as effective as if just fresh from the laboratory. It's a good pill, with a good coat. Ask your druggist for

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

* This testimonial will be found in full in Ayer's "Curebook," with a hundred others. Free. Address: J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Manners.

Would'st thou fashion thyself a seemly life?
Then fret not over what is past and gone,
And, spite of all thou may'st have left behind,
Yet act as if thy life were just begun.
What each day wills, enough for thee to know,
What each day wills the day itself will tell,
Do thine own task and be therewith content.

Forgiveness is a high quality, an exalted virtue.

Speaking comes by nature, silence by understanding.

You who are letting miserable misunderstandings with friends run on from year to year, meaning to clear them up some day, if you could only know and see and feel that the time is short! How you would go instantly and do the thing which you might never have another chance to do.

PHILLIPS BROOKS.

If you are tempted to reveal
A tale someone to you has told
About another, make it pass
Before you speak, the Gates of Gold.

These narrow gates—first, 'Is it true?'
Then 'Is it needful?' In your mind
Give truthful answer. And the next
Is last and narrowest, 'Is it kind?'

And if to reach your lips at last
It passes thro these gateways three,
Then you may tell the tale, nor fear
What the result of speech may be.

He who waits to do a great deal of good at once will never do any.

O difference of tastes in jokes is a great strain on the affections.

GEORGE ELIOT.

Love's Romance.

The happy termination of an interrupted romance is about to transpire in Summers County. Last Saturday, at Hinton, County Clerk Ayer issued a marriage license to James W. Fortune, 76 years old, and Adalaide McCormick, 56 years old. Fortune is bachelor and Miss McCormick a maiden. They were lovers in 1860 and quarreled. Fortune joined the Confederate army and went South and was not heard of for many years.

Recently Miss McCormick heard from her former lover, and upon his revisiting his old home, they met, revived the friendship of earlier days, and the wedding, which is about to take place, is the happy result.—Ronceverte News.

A FEW weeks ago the general store of Jesse Hays, at Greenland, Grant county, W. Va., was burned late at night by incendiary fire, the loss being about $2,000 above the insurance of $1,500. Walter Reed, a brother-in-law of Hays, having married the latter's sister, who left him some two or three years ago to live with her brother because of her husband's alleged ill-treatment of her, was suspected of the crime. Reed was very angry at Hays because he allowed his sister (Reed's wife) to live with him, and it is said to have threatened him in various ways. Soon after the burning of Hays' store a detective appeared on the scene and soon worked up a case against Reed. Justice McDonald, of Maysville, vested the detective with the powers of special constable, and the latter attempted to arrest Reed at his home, near Greenland, when the latter rushed at him with a big knife. The detective drew his revolver and instantly killed Reed. Great excitement prevails at Greenland.

Here's to the men who lose!
The touchstone of true worth is not success;
There is a higher test—
Tho fate may darkly frown, onward to press,
And bravely do one's best.

Here's to the men who lose!
If triumph's easy smile our struggles greet,
Courage is easy then;
The king is he who, after fierce defeat,
Can up and fight again.

[Selected.

THOSE who say that a heavier beer tax would send the revenue up by leaps and bounds might be more in keeping if they said by hops.—Philadelphia Times.

A Red Red Rose.

O, my luve is like a red, red rose,
That's newly sprung in June:
O, my luve is like the melodie
That's sweetly play'd in tune.

As fair art thou, my bonnie lass,
Sae deep in luve am I;
And I will luve the still, my dear
Till a' the seas gang dry.

Till a' the seas gang dry, my dear,
And rocks melt wi' the sun:
And I will luve thee still, my dear,
While the sands o' life shall run.

And fare thee weel, my only luve,
And fare thee weel a while!
And I will come again my luve,
Tho it were ten thousand mile!

—BURNS

A BOOK has recently been published consisting of poems written by colored people of the South. Professor Daniel Webster Davis writes this about "Bakin and Greens":

'You may put me in rags, fill my cup up wid sorrow,
Let joy be a stranger and trouble my dreams;
But I still will be smilin', no pain kin I borrow Ef you lebe me dan bakin wid plenty ob greens."

"For three years we have not been without Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house," says A. H. Patter, with E. C. Atkins & Co., Indianapolis, Ind., "and my wife would as soon think of being without flour as a bottle of this remedy in the summer season. We have used it with all three of our children and it never fails to cure—not simply to stop pain, but cure absolutely. It is all right and any one who tries it will find it so." For sale by druggists.

THE farmer's oldest boy now puts on his heaviest boots, gets a grip on the plow handles, and with the "lines" around his neck yells and shouts because the span don't haw and gee just right in turning the corners. You'd never suspect that he was the same fellow who has been raising havoc among the girls all winter, with his stunning plaid neckties and standup paper collars.—Farm Journal for April.

OPTIMIST AND PESSIMIST.—Hungry Higgins—Say, what is these here optimists and pessimists I see so much printed about?

Weary Watkins—One a rooter and the other is a knocker, when you put it in United States.—Indianapolis Journal.

LIKE LINCOLN.—Chicago's new post master may utilize his case of scarlet fever in the same manner Mr Lincoln utilized his case of smallpox. He now has something he can give the office seekers.—Washington Post.

ONE REASON.—One reason why all of us down in our hearts have unbounded respect for an old woman's cures, is that she never charges $3 a visit, and her sympathy never sounds like the clinking of coin.—Atchison Globe.

NO MORE CHANCES.—Jim Corbett is to become a promoter of prize fighting. In other words, Mr Corbett has retired from the business of taking chances.—The Post, Washington.

A RUMOR FROM WASHINGTON.—Later on the President may dispatch a special envoy to New York to inquire into the complication between Lillian Russell and Delia Fox.—Washington Post.

NOT YET FINISHED.—Jerry Simson is by no means a finished orator, and that is one reason why Tom Reed is striving so hard to make one of him.—Washington Post.

BROKER CHAPMAN'S thirty days in jail will be a light punishment compared with what he has already undergone. His attorney's fees amount to $45,000.—Springfield Republican.

LUXURIANT hair, of uniform color, is a beautiful head-covering for either sex, and may be secured by using Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 14, NO. 47 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, JUNE 18, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 8. Solid Oak Extension Table, polished like a piano—has six massive legs. The four outside legs are connected, braced and finely ornamented. It measures 4.x42 inches when closed and 6 feet long when spread. Special Price,

$3.95

(Orders promptly filled.)

The above is but one of over 1000 bargains to be found in our new catalogue. It contains all kinds of Furniture, Carpets, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Stoves, Fancy Lamps, Bedding, Springs, Iron Beds, etc. You are paying local dealers double our prices. Drop a postal for our great money-saving catalogue which we mail free of all charges. Deal with the manufacturers and you will make the big profits you are now paying your local dealers.

Julius Hines & Son,
BALTIMORE, MD.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

BIOGRAPHIC SKETCHES.

Jacob Cassell, uncestor of the numerous relationship of that name, was a native of Pendleton County. In early manhood he came to Path, where he married Nancy McLaughlin, a sister of Squire Hugh McLaughlin, late of Marlinton. After living several years in Bath, he bought out Mr Deaver, on Greenbrier River three miles west of Green Bank, now known as Cassell's Fording. Here he settled and became a wellknown citizen of our county, about seventy years ago. His family were two daughters and five sons: William, Jacob, John, Samuel, James, Nancy, and Jane.

William Cassell married Matilda Wanless and settled on Back Alleghany where he spent the remainder of his life,—he was eighty-two yeari old when he died. He was married twice. The first children were Nancy Jane and George The daughter became Mrs Henry Ba.low, and now lives near Edray. George Cassell was a Confederate soldier and died of wounds during the war. William Cassell's second marriage was with Nancy Collins. By this marriage there were seven children. Mary Catherine became Mrs Thomas Beverage. Martha Ellen became Mrs Robert Sutton, who is a well known teacher of schools. William Cassell, Junior, married India Sutton and settled on the homestead. Louisa married John Cassell and lives near the old home. Charles Cassell married Anne Geiger, daughter of Mr and Mrs Adam Geiger, near Driftwood, and now lives at Huttonsville, West Virginia. Sarah Ann died aged 13 years. George Cassell went to Texas, and after many adventures on cattle ranches was drowned.

Jacob Cassell's second son, Jacob Cassell Junior, married Nancy Sharp, daughter of the late William Sharp, Esq., near Verdant Valley, and settled in Illinois, where both are now living, (1897.)

John Cassell, third son of Jacob Cassell, Senior, married Sally Curry and went to the far West.

Samuel Cassell, the fourth son, wedded Eliza Valentine Tomlinson, of Augusta County, Virginia, near Staunton, and lived for awhile on the Greenbrier homestead then settled on Back Alleghany on lands now held by his son, Jacob Cassell. Samuel's daughter Eliza married Harvey Hevener, and lived on the Greenbrier four miles above the old homestead. Her children were Laura, Samuel, Maggie, Adam, Vanburen, and Rebecca. Jacob, of Samuel, married Clara Sutton, daughter of the late Samuel Sutton, near Green Bank, and settled on the Back Alleghany. Mary Ann, daughter of Samuel Cassell, married Cyrus Tallman, and settled on Back Alleghany. Her children were Rachel Henrietta, Josephine, Anderson, John, and Colonel. Alice Cassell, of Samuel, married John Woodell and settled near Travelers Repose. Margaret Jane Cassell, daughter of Samuel Cassell, married George Baxter, Esq., near Edray. Her children were Eliza Myrtle, Bessie Regina, Frank, Yula Mabel, Edith and George Harry. It is to this member of the Cassell family the writer is mainly indebted for assistance in preparing this paper.

Rachel Cassell, another daughter of Samuel Cassell, married Zecheriah Swink, and lives on Back Alleghany. Her children are Charles and Price.

Hannah Cassell, of Samuel, married Charles Wanless, and lived on the old Wanless homestead. Her children are Effie, Maude, and George.

Huldah Cassell, the youngest daughter of Samuel Cassell, became Mrs George Auldridge, and lives near Edray.

James Cassell, son of Samuel, married Margaret Ann Swink, of Rockbridge County, Virginia, and settled on the Greenbrier homestead, His son John married Louisa Cassell, and settled on Back Alleghany. Samuel, of James, married Martha Hevener and lives on the Greenbrier near the old Cassell home.

James Cassell, of James, married Sarah Shinneberry, and lives on Back Alleghany. Thomas Cassell, of James, married Lydia Galford, and settled on Back Alleghany. Ella Cassell, daughter of James, married Henry Kessler and lives in the same neighborhood. Nancy Jane, daughter of James, married Benjamin Collins, a minister of the German Baptist church. Rachel Ann Cassell, daughter of James, married Amos Gillespie, a prominent teacher in the public schools, and lives at Gillespie.

Nancy Cassell, daughter of Jacob Cassell the ancestor, married Allen Galford, Esq., and lives on the Greenbrier near the mouth of Deer Creek. In reference to her children the following particulars are available. Brown Galford married Susan Geiger, and settled on Back Alleghany; Lydia Galford married Thomas Cassell. Lydia's children are Allen, Jacob, Mary, and Samuel. Nancy Jane Galford daughter of Mr and Mrs Allen Galford, married James McCloud and lives near Driftwood. James Galford, son of Allan Galford, Esq., married Rebecca Logan, daughter of the late John Logan, and settled on Back Alleghany. Hannah Galford, another daughter, married Dallas McLaughlin, son of the late David McLaughlin, and they live near Driftwood. Caroline Galford married George Tacy, and lives on Back Alleghany. John Galford the youngest son, married Agnes Chestnut, of Bath County, and lived at the old Galford homestead. He died a few years since. Alice Galford, the youngest daughter, married S. David McClure, and they settled on Laurel Run, in Edray District.

Jane Cassell, the other daughter of Jacob the ancestor, married Jacob Wilfong, and when last heard from they were in Minnesota. Their children were Jacob and Margaret Jane.

Jacob Cassell, Senior, the founder of the Cassell family in upper Pocahontas, was a person of remarkable muscular strength and agility. He was passionately industrious, and even in extreme old age never satisfied without something useful to do. He and his family have done very much in developing that part of the county where he resided. In his attire he was very neat and particular, and a perfect gentleman in his deportment. His personal influence and example were for fair dealing, strict integrity, and pure morals. He lived to be ninety-two years of age. Mrs Cassell died several years before her husband, Her death was occasioned by nasal hemorrhage brought on by overexertion in crossing a very high rail fence.

With the assistance of a granddaughter of these venerated persons the compiler has been able to prepare this memorial of two very worthy people, richly deserving of lasting and gratesul remembrance for the part they and their descendants have performed in rescuing from a rugged and remote forest wilderness and laboriously developing one of the more really prosperous sections of our great county.

W. T. P.

THE POLITICAL LIGHT WHICH FAILED.

We feel that the sound money leaders and journals which gave utterance to assurances of immediate prosperity, or an advance in that direction, if Mr McKinley was elected, lied either knowingly or unwittingly. The fallacy of the theory that immense sums of money only awaited investment to be assured of the stability of the government has been proven. The argument that things might be worse if the seditious Mr Bryan and his mass of American farmers had been elected argues to us that it might be worse for the mainsprings of some great political party, but not for the ragged majority who have little or nothing to lose.

The great head of the Republican party, President McKinley, did not indulge in any of the buncombe of the campaign, but preserved a dignified silence by making conservative statements from his front porch. Since the election, however, he uttered the magic word "wait," but he did not make it clear whether he relied upon the work of the administration to bring prosperity or on the generally accepted doctrine that "everything comes to him who waits"—and hustles.

The country is finding the mere assurance that the affairs of the government will be in the hands of the Republican party is not sufficient for prosperity to come upon the country like the blessing of Heaven. Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness and all who looked at it with believing eyes were healed, but it seems that the distress of America is more stubborn and refuses to down. Even confidence is not restored. The text to-day is: "Put not your trust in millionaires," and the activity of our statesmen is that of harassed agents of office seekers. The rich refuse to become poorer that the poor may be richer, probabiy for the fear that their investments failing it would miss those intended to be benefitted and enrich those already rich. It is too much to hope for that our country will again be what it once was when it seemed no handicap to be born poor. The classes are becoming marked, and it is harder for a man to rise.

We are taxed until the business of the country is paralyzed. There was never a government which raised such revenue from its citizens. The very form of government of which we are so proud enables our rulers to extract taxes, both direct and indirect, and they sap the resources of the citizen. The mighty (and by the mighty these days is meant the monied) had friends at court, and the vast tax of national government being levied indirectly they escaped its consequences except in so far as they were consumers; and the government left the poor man his appetite in order, let us suppose, that he should pay dearly for his food, clothes, furniture, tobacco and drink.

We take it for granted that the confidence game is about played out in politics. As the government cannot help us (according to Henry Watterson, the philosopher,) and we are controlled by a law which has regulated the traffic of man from prehistoric times—that of supply and demand,—why in the name of common sense cannot the government leave us alone. Let them reduce the expenditures of the government one half. They can do it. The most useful of all the systems of the government is the postal system, and we are taxed directly, so to speak, for it, and it is almost self-sustaining. We can do without the printing office at Washington; the seed distribution; the river and harbor improvements, that could be carried on by private corporations by franchise; the weather bureau; a standing army that does not stand and protecting navy that allows Spain to fire on our flag. Let us retrench. That will be effectual, but to expect prosperity to bloom on every bush because we believe our President is a great and good man is asking too much of Mr McKinley.

LUMBER INDUSTRY.

The St. Lawrence Company will have little or no lumber cut in this county this year we are sorry to say, as the firm of Smith & Whiting, alone, generally expend about $75,000 yearly in the county for work and supplies. We feel that it is very unfortunate the business should take such a long rest the year after McKinley ascended to the throne, but we have enough sense not to blame the Administration, and know that the election of Bryan would have made no difference. Still it was not what some expected.

The camps on Williams River are working with reduced forces. There were plenty of tides to take the logs in this year. In fact one flood took the gates away from W. McClintic's splash dam, He has the largest landing now ready for breaking in that has ever been on Williams River, all the logs neatly ranked on the river bank. He is working on the "old job" now in a rougher country than where he has recently been cutting.

Henry Sheets had secured what was considered a good job, put up camps, and then abandoned them. It was the impression of many lumbermen that he had the best job that had been given out by the company for years, but as Mr Sheets is a veteran in the business he should know.

The Silva brothers have a good job of cutting for the Hardwood Company at Jack.

Contractor Gray, who has worked such havoc with a number of Pocahontas sub-contractors and hands, promises to square up, and has been paying out some money. A woodsman told the writer the other day that he had pursued him for a week and had finally come up with him in the Company's office and that Gray had paid him $25 there, which seemed almost like velvet to him. What Mr Gray can or will do, however, is a secret known only to Mr Gray, and is one which he carries in his own breast.

* * *

THE thoughful reader has been surprised at the readiness of so many persons of influence, in all sections of the United States to encourage a war with England in defense of a principle so little understood as the so called Monroe Doctrine. Some account for it in part to political agitation awakened by the tariff and silver questions.

The earnest adherents of the protective policy regard British influence as one of the main reasons for the oppositions that exists against protective interest.

Likewise the friends of free silver trace the disasters, that are attributed to the demonetiztion of silver, to the fallacious reasoning of English economists. Many think, too, that British gold in the guise of gifts secured votes for this famous demonitization.

While these things may have their influence and may account in a measure for the hostile expressions that surprise so many, and writer inclines to the belief, if these were the main and only reasons, there would be but very little spoiling for a fight among the people at large. The London Times, one of the most farseeing journals in the world, published something in 1860 which we will repeat for the consideration of those seeking an explanation why hostile feeling, and readiness for war should be so manifested:

"There will by a colossal Ireland placed in the New World. The Celt is pushed westward, no longer to be imprisoned between Liffey and the Shannon, but he will spread from New York to San Francisco. We (the English) must gird our loins to encounter the Nemesis of seven centuries of misgovernment. To the end of time a hundred million of people, spread over the largest habitable area of the world, and confronting us everywhere by by sea and land, will remember that their forefathers paid tithes to to the Protestant clergy, rent to absentee landlords, and a forced obedience to the laws which these landlords had made. And even tho the rancorous Celt were to forget and forgive, that will not prevent the sure development of an intractable race and the introduction of intractable elements into the character of the great American nation. It will be more than half Celtic. There will be other races in America, but the prepondering race of all will be Celtic, in sympathy with Ireland, seeing Ireland's opportunity in England's extremity."

* * *

THE venerable Abram Sharp who resides near Frost is a citizen of sterling integrity of character. He was a Union sympathizer and a faithful soldier of the Federal Army. He keeps himself well informed in the political issues of the day and holds himself ready to meet all comers in defending a high protective tariff. He is going to patronize The Pocahontas Times, not because he agrees with its sentiments, but because it is a home enterprise and home industries should be sustained first of all, so long as they keep decent in language and appearance and reflect credit upon the county. He felt it his duty to work day and night in fereting out the burglaries that have been such a feature in his community. He hopes that what has been accomplished may be a warning to any others and that all such may repent and live better lives, both for their own good and the welfare of the neighborhood.

AYER'S ARGUMENT.

If there is any reason why you should use any sarsaparilla, there is every reason why you should use Ayer's. When you take sarsaparilla you take it to cure disease; you want to be cured as quickly as possible and as cheaply as possible. That is why you should use Ayer's: it cures quickly and cheaply—and it cures to stay. Many people write us: "I would sooner have one bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla than three of any other kind." A druggist writes that "one bottle of Ayer's will give more benefit than six of any other kind." If one bottle of Ayer's will do the work of three it must have the strength of three at the cost of one. There's the point in a nutshell. It pays every way to use

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Skinning a Rattlesnake.

The Snake Editor had for long desired the skin of a real deadly rattler to make him a belt,—for there is something of fascinating interest about the tokens of its deadly presence,—so when "Joe" came in from his "clearing" with news of a serpent slain in fair fight and no favor, and exhibited sundry rattles and "buttons," supplemented by a stick denoting the unbelievable length of the monster we proceeded to get minute directions as to where the snake might be found. As to returning and skinning his victim himself he "would n't do it for nothin'."

A colored "friend and brother" standing by, whose clearing was on land adjoining, and who seemed to get a clearer insight of the route to be taken from a groundplan sketched with a stick in the mud of the road whereby we were to locate a certain stump on which the said snake was to be found, offered to guide us to [illegible] altho he did not much fancy the idea of [illegible]ing a pary to any such enterprise as dissecting a rattlesnak—opperations of this kind being only suitable for witches and hoodoos. Still less was he pleased to have his knife (a valued keepsake) used in the operation.

This snake, which was really a large one, had an extra fang, and they were fully a quarter-inch clear. The skin slipped off easily, tho somewhat damaged because the slayer in an access of fury had pounded the body even after he had removed the rattles. The flesh is white and firm, and appears appetizing—justifying the tradition that it was eaten by some tribes of Indians. It is said that when weary on the trail the Indian would sometimes grasp a live rartlesnake, bite a mouthful from its back, and imbibe fresh vigor from the food.

The writer has never in his life seen a live rattlesnake in its native unconfined state, and we may therefore assume that they are somewhat scarce in Pocahontas,—the hair-raising yarns of adventurous persons to the contrary, notwithstanding.

N. R. P.

A Pioneer Adventure.

JOHN JOHNSON, the ancestor of the Johnson relationship. and the pioneer of West Marlinton, whose log cabin stood near where The Times office now stands, heard that corn had matured in Nicholas. He set out to bring in some of the Nicholas corn for seed and lost his way in Black Mountain and was bewildered for nine days, having nothing to eat most of the time. In his desperation he tried a morsel of garter snake but he could not swallow it, and concluded that he would rather die than eat such "eatings as that." Upon coming to a house he was just able to move and scarcely able to talk enough to make the mistress of the place understand what had happened. She at once proceeded to prepare a bountiful meal, thinking a man as hungry as he was would never know when to quit. In the meantime the proprietor came in and countermanded all this preparation and directed a little thin mush to be boiled and a little skimmed milk be brought from the spring house. He prepared a saucer of mush and milk and gave the famished stranger one spoonful, and then waited for results. In a few minutes there was a violent emetic disturbance and it looked as if he was about to turn inside out. When this subsided, a little more of the mixture was given with more favorable results, and in the course of a few hours the pangs of hunger were somewhat appeased. Nourishment was carefully dosed out for some days, and he finally made the trip, bringing the corn, which planted one of the first crops ever produced in the vicinity of Marlinton.

THE Fairmont Normal School had twenty-one graduates this year.

FAST driving in Fairmont must be stopped, says Mayor Kendall. Since April 1st he has collected more than one hundred dollars on fines for this offense.

ONE stick of timber from the forests of the Little Kanawha, delivered at Marietta, contained 196 cubic feet of lumber, or over 2,232 feet, board measure.

ONLY one man in ten knows that Decoration day, tho a legal holiday in thirty-six States and Territories, is not such in West Virginia. This interesting fact was brought out thro numberless discussions on the occasion of the last Memorial celebration in this State.

MARCUS POLASKY, the Chicago millionaire, was in Clarksburg last week, and announced his intention of taking a hand in railroad building there abouts. He holds an option on the whole town of Lumberport, in the same vicinity, which will change its name to Polasko in his honor.

THE railroad tie industry has assumed large proportions on Elk River. The ties are rafted down the Elk to Charleston and shipped from there. During the past five months about 450,000 ties have been shipped from there. At Charleston the price is 32 cents for hewed ties; 26 cents for those that are sawed.

THE delinquent tax list of Monongalia county shows a total of only 160 names. That recently published by Mason county reveals 1,700, and brings forth some caustic comments from the Point Pleasant Register. The Hon. George Washington Tippett says, "the vast majority of these dead beats are voters," and strongly advocates a law to compel a man to pay his taxes before allowing him to vote.

NEAR Bristol, Tennessee, is a tree that has been rendered famous by an inscription in its bark—cut there by Daniel Boone—to this purport: "D. Boone killed a bar on tree in the year 1760." The promoters of the Centennial Exposition thought of taking the tree to Nashville, and had the matter investigated. The State agent is opposed to the removal, and thinks the tree is good for another century. The tree is in a fair state of preservation, and the inscription is still quite legible after 137 years.

BUSINESS shrewdness and financial ability are uniformerly not confined to the better classes of merchants. At a recent meeting of the Liquor League of Ohio, one of the officers remarker that after a man was grown and temperance habits formed he seldom changed; and he therefore drew the conclusion that for the success of the liquor business missionary work must be done among the boys. "Nickels expended in treats to the young now will return in dollars after the appetite is formed." Even the habitual drinker must stand appalled before the frankness of statement of such diabolical facts. —Youth's Companion.

ON the first day of June an event of more than ordinary import occurred at Charleston, W. Va. Long Telephone communication was opened up between Charleston and distant points, north, east, south and west. The governors of West Virginia and Delaware had a free and easy talk at the distance of twelve or fifteen hundred miles, the way the lines run. Then Governor Atkinson and the Mayor of Cincinnatti polished off a few congratulatury words. Pianos, banjos, and speakers, huntreds of miles away, could be heard as satisfactorily as if in sight. A very interesting entertainment was given in connexion with this auspicious event by the the ladies of Charleston.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. | "Montani Semper Liberi!" | Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 14, NO. 48 | MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, JUNE 25, 1897. | $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 117. White Enameled Steel Bed, solid brass trimmings. We have them 54 in. wide, 48 in. wide, 42 in. wide and 36 in. wide. All sizes are 78 in. long. Special Price (any size)

$2.75

(orders promptly filled.)

Everywhere local dealers are saying unkind things about us. Their customers are tired of paying them double prices; our immense (free) money-saving catalogue is enlightening the masses. Drop a postal now for complete catalogue of Furniture, Mattings, Carpets, Oil Cloths, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Stoves, Fancy Lamps, Bedding, Springs, etc. The catalogue costs you nothing and we pay all postage. Get double value for your dollar by dealing with the manufacturers.

JULIUS HINES & SON,
BALTIMORE, MD.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

25 CTS | PISO'S CURE FOR | 25 CTS
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

AMONG the persons settling in what is now Pocahontas County early in the century John Sharp, Senior, a native of Ireland, is richly deserving of more than passing notice. He is the ancestor of the families of that name that constitute such a marked proportion of the Frost community, and have been identified with that vicinity for the past 95 years. Previous to the Revolution he came in with the tide of Scotch-Irish imigragration that spread over Pennsylvania and New Jersey and thence moved South, and finally located in Rockingham County, Virginia.

His wife was Margaret Blaine whose parents resided in west Rockingham in the vicinity of Rawley Springs. She was a relative of the Rev John S. Blaine, one of the pioneer Presbyterian pastors in our county.

After a residence of several years in Rockingham County, Mr Sharp came to Pocahontas in order to secure land for the use of his large and industrious family, and he succeeded well, and saw them well fixed in life all around him. He reached Frost in 1802, and settled on the place now occupied by Abram Sharp, Esq. There were six sons and as many daughters. The daughters were Margaret, Anna, Isabella, Elizabeth. Rosa, and Polly. Margaret became Mrs Henry Dilley, and lived on Thorny Creek. Anna was married to Daniel McCollam, who finally moved to Ohio. Isabella became Mrs Alexander Ryder, who lived so long on the top of the Alleghany, seven miles east of Huntersville. Elizabeth was the wife of the Rev Jas. Wanless, a widely know Methodist minister, and lived on upper Thorny Creek, where John F. Wanless now resides.

Rosa Sharp was married to the Rev William J. Ryder, on Back Creek, Highland County, Her family mostly went West—to Illinois. Rev Stewart Ryder, of Bath, is her son. He was for several years an itinerant minister in the Baltimore Conference. Aaron Ryder, who lives near Frost, is another son.

Mary (Polly) Sharp became the wife of William Hartman, and settled in Upshur County, West Virginia. Her children were Joel, Susan, Elizabeth, and Mary. Joel Hartman married Jonathan Yeager's daughter Rachel. Mary Hartman became Mrs Jeter; Susan Hartman became a Mrs Harper, all of Upshur County.

In reference to the six sons that were of this family, and the brothers of the six sisters whose history is so briefly traced, we learn the following particulars from Mrs Elizabeth Sharp, the aged relict of the late John Sharp, a grandson of the pioneer John Sharp. This venerable lady has a remarkable history; left alone during the war, she supported her young and numerous family, paid off mortgages on the land, and came through the great trouble out of debt.

The pioneer's sons were John, Robert, Daniel, James, William, and Joseph.

John Sharp, Junior, marred Rebecca Moore, daughter of Pennsylvania John Moore, and settled on land now occupied by Joseph Moore, near Glade Hill, who is a grandson of John Sharp, Senior.

Robert Sharp died in early youth.

Daniel Sharp married Miss Margaret Palmer, of Augusta County, and settled on Buffalo Mountain, beyond Green Bank. Daniel finally went to Lewis County, and settled on Leading Creek. His sons were John, Robert, Joseph, Cornelius, and James. Daniel Sharp's daughter Mary (Polly) married William May, on Anthonys Creek.

James Sharp, son of John the pioneer, married Margaret Wanless, a daughter of Ralph Wanless, Senior, and settled on the head of Thorny Creek. There were five sons and two daughters in his family. William, Andrew, Robert, James, and Lindsay were the sons, and Jane, who became Mrs Nicholas Swadely, and Nancy, who married James Moore, now of Nicholas County, were the daughters. Mr and Mrs Swadely moved to Ritchie County. Lindsay Sharp lives on the old homestead. Andrew Sharp lives on Back Creek, and will be 97 years of age July 3, 1897. He is able to do considerable work with his axe and brushhook.

William Sharp, of John the early settler, married Margaret Nesbitt, of Rockbridge County, and settled near Frost. There were a son and three daughters. John Sharp, Mary Paulina, Eliza Jane, and Margaret. Mary Paulina married Stephen Wanless, and lived on Back Creek. Her husband was killed by a vicious horse. John F. Wanless, a widely known citizen is her son. Eliza Jane became Mrs David Hannah, of Fayette County. John Sharp, the one son of this family, married Elizabeth Slaven Wade, daughter of John Wade, Esq., of Highland County, and settled on the place near Frost where his widow now lives. There were five sons and four daughters.

The sons were Charles Osborne Wade, William Alexander Gilmer, John Benjamin Franklin, Aaron Uriah Bradford. Little Bradford died at the age of seven years, his mother's darling, and though many years have passed she weeps at the mention of his name. It cannot be long till they meet again. Matilda Ursula died at sixteen months. Margaret Ann died aged sixteen years. Martha Ellen and Marietta Emmeretta Virginia are yet living.

Gilmer Sharp married Nancy Elizabeth Arbogast, daughter of Solomon Arbogast, near Glade Hill. He settled a mile from Frost on the west branch of Knapp's Creek, in the pine woods, and opened up a nice home. His family consists of seven sons and two daughters: Upton Porter, William Bradford, Clifton Chalmers, Ernest Gilmer, George Mervin, Charles Letcher, Minnie Ursula, and Nancy Elizabeth Daisy. Minnie is now Mrs Ellis Busard. near Glade Hill. Upton Porter is a teacher in the public schools.

J. B. F. Sharp, of John of William of John, pioneer, married Mary Alice Gibson, of Bath, and now lives near Frost. Henderson Wickline, Carrie, Bessie Ellen, Ruthie McRae are their children.

C. O. W. Sharp, another son of the same family, married Miss Amanda Grimes, daughter of David, and settled near Frost. There were six sons and three daughters. Hanibal Hamlin, Charles Hanson, David Franklin, George Winters, Summers Hedrick, Austin John, Trudie Montgomery, Isa Amanda, Esta Medora. Charles Sharp died June 29, 1892.

Martha Ellen Sharp, one of the surviving sisters, became the wife of Abram Sharp, Esq., near Frost Mill. He was a Union sympathizer and a Federal soldier. Their family consists of six sons and four daughters. Joseph Averill married Sarah Vint, and lives on Brown's Mountain. John Washington married Mary Ann Simmons, of Highland, and lives near Frost. Anderson Butler, Stewart Holmes, Aaron Abraham, and Lincoln who died at the age of four years. The daughters are Julia Quebec, who is Mrs William Shrader, and lives near Frost; Cuba Truxillo died December, 1895, greatly lamented; Elizabeth Rachel, Mary Hannah Susan.

The other surviving member of Mrs Bettie Sharp's family is Marietta Emmeretta Virginia, who married Thomas R. Kellison, and lives near Mountain Grove. Her family of three sons and six daughters are named as follows: John Benjamin Franklin Lightbourne, Charles Hackie, Thomas Bonar, Elizabeth Lugertie Moomau, Anna Amanda Jane, Ella, Marietta Constance, Hattie, and Lucy.

The last of the sons of John the pioneer is Joseph Sharp, who married Elizabeth Lightner and settled on the old homestead, now held by Abram Sharp. His children were named in the Lightner sketches.

It might be well to mention as many of his grandchildren as may have come to our notice. Polly Sharp was the wife of John Hannah, on Elk. Her sons were Joseph Bryson Hannah, late of Frost, where his bereaved family now reside; Sheldon Clark, Andrew Warwick, William, George Lightner Hannah, wellknown and welldoing citizens of Elk. Her daughter Jane became Mrs Fox, of Randolph County; Elizabeth is now Mrs Hall; Martha is now Mrs James Gibson, Rachel Mrs George Gibson, and Amanda Mrs Hambrick, of Point Mountain.

The late Peter Sharp near Frost was a son of Joseph Sharp. He was a Confederate soldier. His wife was Mary Ann Herron, daughter of Leonard Herron. Three of his sons are Methodist preachers. Oscar is a local preacher, William and Jasper are in the itineracy, Samuel died recently, and Ashby is Constable of Frost District. Alice is Mrs Alexander Caricoff, and lives in Augusta County. Azelia married Rev C. M. Anderson, and lives in west Pocahontas, near Lobelia.

Another son, Henry Sharp, of the pioneer's son Joseph, married Caroline Curry, daughter of the late J. Harvey Curry, of Dunmore, and lives on Douthard's Creek, near Driscol. Their family numbers seven daughters and two sons. Clara, now Mrs Henry Overholt; Docia, now Mrs Warren; Effie, Mrs J. E. Campbell; Lizzie, Mrs Mack Ervine; Bertha, Lucy, and Pearl. Gilbert Sharp is at home, a well-known machinest; Albert Sharp resides at Marlinton, where he is a well-known citizen and has performed an active part in the construction of improvements.

Thus far we have been able to illustrate to some extent the history of John Sharp the settler. As was intimated, the great motive that prompted his coming to the head of Knapp's Creek was to get land. In this he was successful. His landed possessions reached from the Gibson farm near Frost up the West Branch to Armenius Busard's, near Glade Hill; he had property in the Hills, on Thorny Creek, and on Buffalo Mountain beyond Green Bank, and the most of these lands yet in the possession of his descendants.

He was small in person. blue eyes, light hair, and of florid complexion. He was constantly employed. Mrs Sharp was quiet in all her ways, very diligent in her duties, and patiently met and endured the toils and inconveniencies of living in the woods. These persons were pious, and some of the first religious meetings ever held in the vicinity of Frost were at their house.

W. T. P.

CHILLING REMEMBRANCES.

It was during these late hot days, when from all sides came anxious inquires as to the whereabouts of the man who said "this is going to be a cold, wet summer." No body seemed to be able to shed any light on the subject. One person gave utterance to the dreary thought that he had been stricken down by heat or overcome by thirst, perhaps within sight of home and friends, but we all, with one voice, cried "Perish the thought!" We would not have him die exactly, however often our souls may have risen in revolt at the positivly disagreeable man who makes thoughtless remarks about what the weather is going to be. I know of nothing more painful, when you are congratulating yourself on having come safely thro one of our show winters of fogs and frosts, east winds and old-fashioned snowstorms, and are looking forward to one of those "long, bright summers of our first youth that come no more, alas," but which we look forward to just the same, I say there is nothing half so painful as to meet a person who tells you in a way that leaves no room for doubt that this is going to be a cold, wet summer. He remembers a summer that started out just like this, nothing would grow and water melons did not get ripe enough to eat until the last of November and so on. It is an evil day when a man treats his friends to a reminiscense like that. I know a man who is an ardent, a most stubborn weather man and who does not hesitate to predict anything that has to do with weather. His friends are all sorry as no doubt this has been the chief obstacle to a useful and brilliant career. This man once counted among his friends an old lady who had boundless confidence in him and his weather forecasts. She went so far—she could go no farther—as to take his advice one evening as to whether there would be frost that night. She wanted to save her cucumber vines. He said there would be no frost that night. The old lady slept peacefully. The hardest frost of the year came that night and struck a vital spot in the cucumber vines. The scene next morning was a pathetic one. The old lady's grief was pitiful, as she bewailed her loss while the weary, hired man spoke his mind about weather prophets.

The weather man admitted that he had missed it and often did. He was braver than most weather men, willing "to die in the estimation of his friends with smiling lips, sparing them the spectacle of an unseemly death struggle unworthy of a prophet and sage."

What I really started to say was that it was one of those late hot days when I had almost despaired of getting cool. I suddenly remembered my arithmetic, which, in my school days, never failed to bring up what might be called a mental thunder-storm, and the atmosphere became cool all around me; the cold wave starting from where the teacher stood. I got the book, a sadly battered affair, and opened it, looking with interest at the names of girls and mystic school girl isms scrawled over the pages. On one of the blank pages was written the following, which was entitled "A never failing receipt for an awfully good time":

"Take an old horse and a rattling old buck-board, invite two other girls, dress up in striking costume, and drive back into the country to some quiet village and 'paint the town red.'"

The latter consists in such wild revelry as raiding ice cream saloons getting pictures taken, singing thro the streets, driving recklessly and mystifying people with absurd questions. Passing over this effusion of some misguided school girl with silent scorn, I presently came to something else not quite so ghastly. This was a piece of paper, some thing smaller than a yard square, securely fastened. How it got there I am sure I do n't know, but I recognized the paper instantly and my mind flew back to one dreadfully cold morning, in a school room in a little but loud educational centre, in a not very obscure part of this faraway West Virginia. The paper was not quite a yard square and was covered on both sides with figures almost large enough to be seen across the street, with a sum in partial-payments. We had gone to the class one morning with that particular sum, all unworked, unhonored or unsung, and we were feeling very gloomy. I do n't think any of us ever had much faith in our teacher's mathematical qualifications—she's married now and can't be hurt—since one day when she told us that after getting to a certain place to "turn back and see how far you've gone." It did not seem possible to me then that a woman could go about carrying mathematical problems in head with an unsatisfied desire to play tiddle-de-winks, and we felt from the beginning of our lessons in arithmetic that sooner or later we, teacher and all, would get into trouble. Our apprehensions were reasonable, for our teacher became plunged in serious mathematical difficulties as soon as this sum was presented to her, with a remark from one of the girls to the effect that she did not believe that even "you can work that sum." This girl always says the first thing that comes handy and therefore is kept busy keeping herself afloat in sea of troubles three hundred and forty-five days out of the year. But the girl was right. The sum was too much with its perplexities for our teacher, but she stood at the black-board with placid persistence slamming away with the chalk, now turning the pages backwards and forwards to look for the rule and abusing the day, she was born, we knew by the movement of her lips. We stood around, ill at ease, thinking some thing must be wrong with science itself. It was all very melancholy, and even now "It is not with laughter that I raise the ghost of that once troubled time," but I can recall it with coolness and quietude now, which are two important sensations in hot weather.

S. A. P.

The Blue and the Gray.

Both men and women are apt to feel a little blue, when the gray hairs begin to show. It's a very natural feeling. In the normal condition of things gray hairs belong to advanced age. They have no business whitening the head of man or woman, who has not begun to go down the slope of life. As a matter of fact, the hair turns gray regardless of age, or of life's seasons; sometimes it is whitened by sickness, but more often from lack of care. When the hair fades or turns gray there's no need to resort to hair dyes. The normal color of the hair is restored and retained by the use of

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

Ayer's Curebook, "a story of cures told by the cured." 100 pages, free. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

SERMONETTE.

My heart was hot within me, while I was musing the fire burned; then spake I with my tongue. Lord, make me to know mine end and the measure of my days what it is, that I may know how frail I am. Surely every man walketh in a vain show; surely they are disquieted in vain; he heapeth up riches and knoweth not who shall gather them.—PSALM XXXIX. 3, 4, 6.

The Psalmist was in profound thought, and the train of reflection was apparently modified by the blazing fire and the smouldering brands becoming ashes. Scientists tell us that the processes of our bodily life is a combustion to all intents and purposes. Hence it is when the life fire is quenched that "ashes to ashes" is something more than a metaphorical formula in the funeral service. The fourth verse is the lesson emphasized by the Psalmist. Surely men walk in a vain show when disquieted about vanities,—heaping up riches and not knowing who shall gather them.

These verses have been going the rounds of the periodical press for several years, and illustrate the text. We feel sure that it is a very acceptable service when we place them in the reach of our friends. There should be no incidents in our history more impressive than the death and burial of our friends and acquaintances. For we are thus reminded of the solemn change that awaits us all, and those of us who may desire to give our thoughts an appropriate direction before we attend the burial services, as well as after our return to our homes, will find this exquisite poem very appropriate.

THE CLOSING SCENE.

BY THOMAS B. READ.

Within the sober realm of leafless trees
The russet year inhaled the dreamy air,
Like some tanned reaper in his hour of ease,
When all the fields are lying brown and bare.

The grey barns looking from their hazy hills
O'er the dun waters widening in the vales
Sent down the air a greeting to the mills
On the dull thunder of alternate flails.

All sights were mellowed, and all sounds subdued;
The hills seemed further and the stream sank low,
As in a dream the distant woodman hewed
His winter log, with many a muffled blow.

The embattled forest, erewhile armed with gold,
Their banners bright with every martial hue,
Now stood like some sad, beaten host of old,
Withdrawn afar in Time's remotest blue.

On sombre wings the vulture tried his flight,
The dove scarce heard his sighing mate's complaint;
And like a star slow fading in the light
The village church vane seemed to pale and faint.

The sentinel cock upon the hillside crew—
Crew thrice—and all was stiller than before;
Silent till some replying warder blew
His alien horn; and then was heard no more.

Where erst the jay within the elm's tall crest
Made garrulous trouble round her unfledged young,
And where the oriole hung her swaying nest,
By every light wind like a censor swung;

Where sang the noisy martins of the eaves,
The busy swallows circling ever near,
Foreboding, as the rustic mind believes,
An early harvest and a plenteous year;

Where every bird that waked the vernal feast,
Shook the sweet slumber from its wings at morn,
To warn the reaper of the rosy east,
All now was sunless, empty, and forlorn.

Alone from out the stubble piped the quail
A croaked the crow through all the dreary gloom;
Alone the pheasant drumming in the vale
Made echo in the distance to the cottage loom.

There was no bud no bloom upon the bowers;
The spiders weaved their thin shrouds by night;
The thistle-down,—the only ghost of flowers,—
Sailed slowly by, passed noiseless out of sight.

Amid all this, in this most dreary air
And where the woodbine shed upon the porch
Its crimson leaves, as if the year stood there
Firing the floor with its inverted torch.

Amid all this, the centre of the scene,
The white-haired matron with monotonous tread
Plied the swift wheel, and with her joyless mien,
Sate like a fate and watched the flying thread.

She had known sorrow. He had walked with her,
Oft supped and broke with her the ashen crust;
And in the dead leaves still she heard the stir
Of his thick mantle trailing in the dust.

While yet her cheek was bright with summer bloom
Her country summoned, and she gave her all;
And twice was bowed to her his sable plume—
Regave the sword to rust upon the wall.

Regave the sword, but not the hand that drew
And struck for liberty the dying blow
Nor him who to his sire and country true,
Fell 'mid she ranks of the invading foe.

Long, but not loud, the droning wheel went on,
Like the low murmur of a hive at noon;
Long, but not loud, the memory of the gone
Breathed through her lips a sad and tremulous tone.

At last the thread was snapped—her head was bowed,
Life dropped the distaff through her hands serene,
And loving neighbors smoothed her careful shroud,
While death and winter closed the autumn scene.

SEN X.

Dentistry.

I will be at Marlinton from 15th to 22d of June; Academy, 23d to 28th; Huntersville, 29th of June to 4th of July; Frost, 5th to 9th; Dunmore, 10th to 16th; Green Bank, 16th to 22d; and Travelers' Repose, 22d to 26th.

O. J. CAMPBELL, Dentist.

The Pocahontas Times.

JUNE 25, 1897.

Local Events.

Hear, Land o' Cakes and brither Scots,
Frae Maidenkirk to Johnny Groats,
If there's a hole in a' your coats,
I rede ye tent it;
A chiel's amang you takin' notes,
An' faith he'll prent it.—BURNS.

THERE were few bass caught last week, owing to the waters being flush.

JOHN CRICKARD, of Mingo, was in Marlinton working on stock subscriptions for the Marlinton & Huttonsville Telephone Company.

LOST.—Large pocketbook containing private papers, in the path leading up Sands Run. Suitable reward if returned to A. P. Landes at photograph gallery.

JOHN A. McLAUGHLIN left for Beverly Tuesday. There he will meet his sample cases and start as a drummer for a Cumberland grocery and drug house.

THE hail storm on Cedar, below the Hot Springs, last Sunday week, injured the wheat crop to such an extent that farmers are plowing and preparing the ground for buckwheat.

A FISHING club consisting of Messrs Harmon Sharp, of Linnwood, Rankin Poage and William Sharp, of Edray, caught about four hundred trout on the head of Gauley first week in June.

PORTIONS of east Virginia were visited by a fearful storm of wind, rain, and hail the 12th and 13th of this month, and great loss inflicted upon the wheat, fruit, and market-gardens.

CORN about doubled itself in height last week. The warm days and nights made it grow, but also caused the weeds to multiply exceedingly, and some farmers are having lots of trouble with their fields.

CHARLEY GUINN, a young merchant of Frost, purchased of Howard Bird the pioneer bicycle of Marlinton, and rode it homewards last Wednesday. He has the physical makeup for a scorcher, and will work his wheel for all that is in it, no doubt.

ON Saturday the 13th, immense suffering and some destruction of life was occasioned in various parts of India by earthquake shocks. The heat was 126 degrees in the shade at certain points. Much misery was caused among many of the poorer Europeans, Eurasians, and natives over the extensive area that was affected.

GOVERNOR ROSWELL P. FLOWER, of New York, who is reputed one of the most reliable business men of the times, has just returned from an extensive business tour in the middle and portions of the far West. He gives a cheering account of what he saw, indicating a revival of business prosperity on safe and permanent lines.

WE learn from the Clarksburg News that Union College, at Buckhannon, owned and controlled jointly by the U. B. and M. P. Churches, has been sold to a Mr. Moore, of Pocahontas County, for five thousand dollars. This is quite a feather in our cap to learn that one of our citizens owns a college. It is represented as one of the most valuable building properties in Buckhannon, including the college campus and two good buildings.

HURRAH! Cuba is recognized!—My prices have been recognized the lowest; 15c a yard for Stair oil Carpet handsome design, worth 20 cents. I am startling the trade on oxfords. Never before was there shown such a line of these goods. They are beautiful beyond description. stylish beyond comparison, and in price cheaper than the cheapest. Ladies, please come in and examine them; they will talk for themselves far louder and stronger than I dare to.

THE GOLDEN STORE.

T. C. WARE, of Valley Head, is now in this county fitting out bee-farmers with the well known hive, of which he is the inventor and manufacturer. It is a surprising sight to see him, in transfering a colony of bees to a new hive, turn the old "gum" upside down, split a piece out of the side and cut out slabs of honey-comb, the bees flying about in clouds, but not attempting to sting. They evidently know and appreciate the fact when a person approaches them with good intentions and without fear—which induces nervousness. You might almost say that the bee is a mind-reader of no mean capability.

JOSEPH H. BUSARD, the world-renowned Assessor of Pocahontas County, in passing near a young horse at Bird's Hotel was kicked twice on his lame leg causing a fracture near the ankle. He is able to be about on crutches now. He congratulates himself on the fact that he is done assessing the county for this year. In his work he has given the highest satisfaction. Owing to the fact that the stock-raisers were not stocked up as fully as usual it was feared that a light assessment would cause the tax to be higher, but the assessor's books will show when completed at least $20,000 more of taxable personal property than last year, which is a difference on the right side.

THE farmer's institute, heretofore announced for Marlinton for June 26th, has been postponed to August on account of conflict of dates with institutes to be held in other portions of the State.

LATE Saturday evening officer Wooddell, of Hillsboro, brought Tom Douglas, a colored person, and committed him to jail. Douglas is charged with forging two or three orders to merchants at Mill Point and Academy, using the name of a very highly respected young lady.

FROM a private letter received we leard that all the members of Mr James Withrow's family, of Lewisburg, were poisoned by eating icecream, and that Mrs Feamster was not expected to recover. The other members of the family are sick from the effects of the poisoning.

THE Bath County Enterprise is the name of a new paper started at the Warm Springs, with Robert Payne, Editor, and C. E. Alexander, manager. It is a seven column folio, and the proprietors claim it to be the first paper published in Bath County which was printed there. Their office has also a job department.

IF the renowned Colonel Sellers with Mark Twain had gone over Buckley Mountain and had his attention fixed on the quantities of hemlock, chestnut-oak, and black-jack he would have most positively declared "there is millions in it,'—soon as the requisite railway development be made,—and not miss the proper estimate very much.

THE laurel, or ivy, is in full bloom, and where the road winds thro woods aflame with it, the scene appeals to the most inartistic eye and stirs the most sluggish blood. We are reminded more and more that none can be be so inured to the beauties of this world, but that he may be moved by some unexpected and particularly beautiful display of nature.

THE trial of Trout Shue for the murder of his wife was set in the Greenbrier Court for Wednesday of this week. It is said that the defense has summoned 120 witnesses. Messrs Preston and Gilmer prosecute and Dr. William. P. Rucker defends the prisoner. On the issue of this trial depends the question whether Shue, who is a Droop citizen, will reach his seventh wife, as he has boasted that he would have seven. The passing of the third endangers his neck or is liable to send him to the penetentiary where there is no marrying or giving in marriage.

A GENTLEMAN in the far South, who has traveled over much of the United States from Canada to the Gulf, gives it as his decided opinion that Pocahontas has the best summer climate of any place in the union for its tonic effects upon the nervous system. He predicts that when facilities for reaching this region become convenient and ample that our woods will be filled to repletion with people who have nerves needing bracing up. He speaks of a transient visit to this region as the means of making him feel good for a year, and he was nowhere near the Black Mountain or the nerve-refreshing precincts of Cheat and Gauley. There is reason for thinking that our climate in summer is about the best in the habitable world for the purpose indicated.

FROM what Mr C. P, Jones, of Monterey, Va., said while at court last week in discussing the formation of this county, it received its name accidentally. According to his understanding this county and Alleghany were formed the same session of the Virginia Legislature. This county has the highest average elevation of any part of the Appalachian range, and it was to have received the name Alleghany, while that county was to have been named after Pocahontas, the Indian squaw, a name which would have been as appropriate for that county as this. As it happened the two infant counties were left to the tender mercies of an enrolling clerk who changed them in the christening and gave to this county the name intended for Alleghany county. The narrator wished it understood that he had not verified the legend, and that if it were discovered that Alleghany and Pocahontas Counties were not formed the same year, then this nicely constructed anecdote would fail.

Personal Mention.

Mr L. M. McClintic is attending court at Lewisburg.

Dr Campbell, the dentist was kept very busy during his stay at Marlinton.

W. W. Tyree has been quite ill for a week or two, but is now getting better.

Mrs Sizemore, who has been sick for a good while, is still quite unwell.

Mr Wesley Barlow, of West Union, paid this office a pleasant visit last Monday. He was a union soldier and served in Company I, 3d West Virginia Cavalry, Captain G. A. Sexton. He was in the Valley campaign under Sheridan. He showed a pocketbook that he carried through the war and a no. 4 needle he used in mending his clothing when in camp. He has at home, so far as known, the oldest cake of maple sugar in the State. It was made at the "Jake Place" sugar camp, a mile west of Huntersville, about 23 years ago.

A Dangerous Forger Arrested.

The Black Douglass is in trougle. Not the chieftain who at the head of five thousand picked soldiers harried all Scotland in the thirteenth century, but one of the Pocahontas Douglass's, the thirteenth child of a widowed mother whose head is bowed down, not over the wash-tub as usual, but in real sorrow on account of the misdoings of her youngest boy.

Those who believe that education spoils a negro will score a point when they hear of a new departure of a young negro of Pocahontas County whose dishonesty took the direction of forgery. Tom Douglass, wishing to obtain some needed supplies a few weeks ago, wrote an order to N. J. Brown, the merchant at Mill Point, for forty cents in goods. The order was accepted, and last week he tried it again, raising the amount to fifty cents. This time he drew his inland bill of exchange on E. L. beard & Co., of Academy. Mr. Beard. knowing that the order was not genuine, refused to cash it, so prince of Swindlers proceeded to Taylor & McElwee, of the same town, telling them that Mr Beard had not honored the draft because he did not have the goods. They took up the order, and the Black Douglass traded it out in powder and shot.

In both instances he had taken the liberty of signing the name of Miss Bessie Edgar, the second daughter of Captain A. M. Edgar, and a most charming and accomplished young lady. Douglass had been working for Captain Edgar. He will be sufficiently punished for his presumption, no doubt.

As soon as Taylor and McElwee learned of the forgery thy had a warrant issued for him, and having confessed the crime before Justice Curry, was sent on to await the action of the grand jury. He was lodged in jail Saturday evening, where he will probably lie until the portals of the penitentiary open to receive him. The penalty for this offence is from two to ten years. This is a copy of the second order:

Mr Beard—Please let tom Dugless Have fifty Cents in store.
BESSIE EDGAR.

No effort had been made to imitate the handwriting of a young lady, but it is written on the leaf of a pencil tablet in the large round hand of a school-boy. The boy is better educated than many white boys, but still he missed it when he departed from the time-honered chicken-stealing habits of his race. He lacks the finesse necessary to the success of the forger.

The colored youth is a coalblack negro, about seventeen years old, and, as we said before, looks more fitted to rob a roost than forge a name. He is the favorite son of his mother, who is a widow, and this derelection on his part has almost broken her heart. He gets his intelligence from his mother, who when asked how many children she had, said she did not know, but one of her daughters had told her it was a dozen and one.

A Woman in the Bar.

At each Court strangers are mystified and amused to see a fat old lady sitting in the bar with the lawyers, calmly knitting away from a ball of yarn that was originally white, but which, by the slow progress of the work and much use, has become a dirty black. Such is Becky Clayter the former defendant of a suit in chancery, whose lands were subjected to the payment of her debts. She mistrusts all the lawyers, her own the most of any. She relies on the Judge and she generally manages to secure a hearing while his honor is on the bench, at which time she tries to make her case clear by refering to a "forged note," and a "deed without a pole," all the time trying to get the court to read her authority, which is a carefully treasured page of an almanack. One day last Court she came in and deposited her dirt begrimed work-basket in the lawyer's consulting room, took an arm chair in the bar near the clerk and knitted away most unconcernedly except when she looked up to try to comprehend some particular knotty point in the argument. On this morning she had picked a resplendent bouquet for the Judge, consisting of wild roses and other common wild flowers, but she saw no good opportunity to present it and she handled it all day until it was much wilted. The writer saw her late in the after noon with the flowers on a table in the bar, but does not know whether the Judge finally received the much abused bouquet of wild flowers. Becky Clayter is to be expected every Court. She does not comprehend that her land is irretrievably sold and tries to pay her tax tickets each year, which the Sheriff refuses to accept. She is a very good cross between the mad Miss Flyte of Jarndyce vs. Jarndyce, in "Bleak House," and "Poor Peter Peebles," in the Waverly Novels, both of whom haunted the courts of chancery. The latter fell down in a "perplexity fit," as was reported, and so we may expect Becky Clayter to sit in our bar as long as the officers of the Court will let her, or until she too falls down in a "perplexity fit."

SOME clover was cut this week. The grass of the county looks exceptionally good just now.

The Page.

The page's place in the Circuit Court is much sought after by the boys of the town and they take it turn about it would seem as a new boy gets the place very frequently. The services are light, such as errands over the building for the Judge, water for the juries, etc., and the compensation is one dollar per day. We opine that in the last few years that the place is secured by more political means than marked its occupancy formerly in the days of the redoubtable Bruce Snyder, a bullet head youngster who made his pretensions good to the place by force and held the place successfully several years. It was generally understood throughout Boydom that if any boy aspired to the position that Bruce bade them defiance and challenged them to mortal combat, and in case they did not care for war, then they might expect to be waylaid and made to fight it out just before or after court. It was this cinch on the position that probably made that young officer so independent that if he found the proceedings tedious he would take a recess and when wanted, was not to be found. He moved away, and was succeeded by boys of milder manners and more industrious ways.

Dunmore.

Hot and wet, and fine growing weather. Oats and corn are coming right along, and wheat never looked better.

The Box Supper at Glade Hill was a success. $31 was realized.

The funeral services of Mrs Laurence Dysard were largely attended.

We understand that there will be a Quarterly meeting at Green Bank next Sunday, June 27, also Mr Harvey Curry's funeral sermon will be preached by Presiding Elder Martin.

R. L. Nottingham, C. E. Pritchard and H. P. McLaughlin are at Staunton this week.

Wm. Sheets and Wm. Jackson are off to Beverly, West Virginia.

George W. Ginger spent Sunday in town.

Auburn Friel was in town Sunday.

Miss Gertie Yeager and Sula Burner spent Saturday night with Mrs C. E. Pritchard.

L. E. Pritchard is off to Highland County.

We understand that there will be a big picnic at Green Bank on July 3d, and one at the old battle field at Top of Alleghany, on July 5.

We understand that the remains of the Soldiers buried in Pocahontas will be taken up and buried at Marlinton. This is what ought to have been done long years ago, as it would look much better than to have them scattered all over the county. It would be well if all the grave yards were fenced and the graves of the dead were cared for a little more.

The Taylor brothers will move their plaining mill to Huttonsville this week.

Miss Bertha Sharp and Lu Moore were in town Saturday.

Mrs Annie Kerr has moved to Williams River.

Miss Nancy Galford has moved to near Dunmore.

The carding machine will commence work soon.

We have good reasons to believe that the road between Dunmore and Meadow Dale, Highland county, Virginia, will be built. The distance from Dunmore to Monterey then will be 20 miles. With this road and a telephone line we could know what is going on.

We believe that a few fifty-cent dollars would come in very well at this time.

OLIVER TWIST.

FEED STABLES. Twenty-three stalls. Plenty of box-stalls for those wishing them. Best stables in town. 100 yards from the court-house. Will feed and care for horses in best style.

WILLIAM SIPLE,
Marlinton, W. Va.

From Webster County.

Editor of THE POCAHONTAS TIMES:

A number of Pocahontas people have been inquiring about me, and as I do not take the time to write to an one outside of my own family, I find it convenient to reach my friends generally through your paper.

I have been here over a month, and like the people and the county very well. Spend my time working at Peter Dow's camp and at the Addison Springs.

I find a good many Pocahontas people here. Several of the boys are in camp and some are visitors at the springs. The Addison water is allright, but the Webster whiskey is frightful. A man who drinks much of it shows that he is not afraid of snake-bite.

Several of the Pocahontas boys are sick. Musto McLaughlin and others in camp, John Loury and others here in town.

I find that logging here differs in many respects from logging on the Greenbrier. Logs, 16 feet long, containing two thousand feet have to be brought in over the roughest roads imaginable.

Tell Henry Sheets to come down and help us a few days.

Lots of heavy rains and high waters.

J. P. W.

ADDISON, W. VA.

WANTED—AN IDEA Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer.

CHURCH NOTES.

Methodist Episcopal Church South Second Round of Quarterly Conferences.

Talcott,	June	19, 20
Hinton,	"	20, 21
Huntersville,	"	26, 27
Green Bank,	"	27, 28
Levelton,	July	3, 4
Alderson,	"	10, 11
Covington,	"	18, 19
Alvon,	"	24, 25
Ron. & W. Sulphur.	"	25, 26
Frankford,	July 31, August	1
Lewisburg,	"	4, 2
Gilletts,	"	7, 8
Blue Sulphur,	"	17
Green Sulphur,	"	18
Union,	"	21, 22
Greenville,	"	31,
Millboro,	September	4, 5
Clifton Forge,	"	5, 6

District Conference at Ronceverte, West Virginia, July 27-30. Opening sermon Tuesday night by Rev J. H. Dills.

Epworth League Conference Ronceverte, commencting Friday night, July 30, and continuing to Sunday night, August 1.

Brushy Ridge Campmeeting, August 12 to 20.

Marvin Grove Campmeeting August 26 to September 1.

J. D. MARTIN, P. E.
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

THE Rev Dr Sydenstricker, of Hillsboro, preached a series of instructive sermons at the recent Marlinton sacramental meeting. The texts were as in the order named: "And if the righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the ungodly and the sinner appear."—1 Peter iv. 18. "If I forget thee O Jerusalem, let my right hand forget her cunning. If I do not remember thee let my tongue cleave to the roof of my mouth; if I prefer not Jerusalem above my chief joy."—Psalm cxxxvi. 5, 6. "For God shall bring every work into judgment with every secret thing, whether it be good or whether it be evil."—Eclesiastes xii. 13. The services were well attended, the attention was good, and an interesting accession to the membership.

To secure an abundant growth of hair, use Hall's Hair Renewer, or, if possessing an abundance, it may be kept looking finely by using the Renewer occasionally.

Knapp's Creek.

Farmers are plowing corn.

J. A. Moore, Preston Harper and Summers Sharp are off to the depot for Hannah & Harper.

News is scarce, but if you want to hear the latest ask M. F. Herold.

John A. Cleek goes to Green Bank occasionally for his health.

The social at William Cleek's was a success and was enjoyed by all who attended it. Some of the boys got home in time for breakfast.

Corn is very short this year, because McKinley was elected. H.

ACADEMY, W. VA., June 9, '97.—Notice is hereby given that the firm of E. H. Moore & Co. has been this day dissolved by mutual consent, and its obligations are assumed by the undersigned. All parties owing said firm are requesten and expected to make immediate settlement.

Yours respectfully,
TAYLOR & McELWEE,
Successors to E. H. Moore & Co.

Notice.

All parties knowing themselves to be indebted to us will please eettle their accounts by July 1st. Cannot wait any longer.

Yours truly,
J. D. PULLIN & CO.

WOOL

Manufacturer and consumer brought together.

The Clifton Woolen Mills, Clifton Forge, Va., make a specialty of working farmers' wool into a variety of fabrics that supply all the wants of the family; for men's wear, for ladies' wear, for the bed and floor. The variety consists of all-wool Carpets, Art Squares, beautifully-fleeced Blankets, Coverlets, all-wool Cassimeres, all-wool Cheviots, Jeans, Kerseys, white and gray Flannel for underwear, all-wool dress Flannels and Lineys for ladies and children, Yarns, single and doubled in white and colors, at prices that defy competition.

We Pay the Freight on Wool Sent to Us.

Goods made from your wool last twice as long as that you buy made from shoddy. We will work your wool and take pay in cash or wool as you prefer. Write for samples and prices.

We pay Cash for Wool.

Clifton Woolen Mills,
R. W. FOARD, Secretary.
CLIFTON FORGE, VIRGINIA.

MARLINTON HOUSE.
Located East End of Bridge.
Terms.
per day - 1.00 & 1.50
per meal - - - 25
Good accommodations for horses at 25 cents per feed.
Special rates made by the week or month.
C. A. YEAGER, Proprietor

GIVEN FREE EACH MONTH (During 1897)

4 First Prizes, each of $100 Cash.
20 Second " " " $100 Pierce Special Bicycles.
40 Third " " " $ 25 Gold Watches.
FOR Sunlight SOAP WRAPPERS

For particulars send your name and full address to Lever Bros., Ltd., Hudson & Harrison Sts., New York.

NEW LINE

In addition to our Hardware Establishment we have just received a new and fresh line of that will surprise you when you see our low prices.

GROCERIES

Come and leave your orders for at $3.10 per keg, and examine our low prices in the Groceries Line.

WIRE NAILS

Yours for Low Prices,
W. W. Tyree & Co.
MARLINTON, W. VA.

To the Public:

In order to close out our present stock of goods, we will offer for sale from this date to September 1st, 1897, all the goods which we have in hand at this time at from 5 to 10 per cent discount FOR CASH.

We will give a few prices for Cash:

DRESS GINGHAMS, 6 to 7cts
BEST PERCALES, 8½cts
DOMES. GINGHAMS, 5cts.
BLEACHED COTTONS, 7 to 8½cts
ARBUCKLE COFFEE, 15cts
GREEN COFFEE, 12½ to 20cts.
BEST CALICOES, 6cts.
ALL OTHER GOODS IN PROPORTION.

TAYLOR & McELWEE,
Successors to E. H. Moore & Co.
ACADEMY, W. VA. Je11

MAY HAS COME,

The leaves are turning out, and why not turn over a New Leaf and buy your goods of me? saving from 15 to 25 per cent.

By so doing you will never get in trouble and be dunned for money.

SAVE YOUR WOOL, BUTTER, EGGS, GRAIN, &C., &C.

Pay for goods at the time you get them, and you will not be in trouble all the time. This is how I can sell cheaper than anyone else.

* * * *

I want your money and country produce. My stock of goods will be constantly added to, and you will be treated right. I want your Wool. Call and see me before you dispose of it elsewhere. Remember I take all kinds of produce at best market prices.

S. J. BOGGS
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

C. B. SWECKER,
General Auctioneer and Real Estate Agent.

I sell Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands. Farms and Town Lots a specialty. 21 years in the business. Correspondence solicited. Reference furnished.

Postoffice—Dunmore, W. Va., or Alexander, W. Va.

HIGH GRADE FERTILIZERS
SOLD DIRECT TO FARMERS.
Made from
Vegetable & Animal Matter.
Send for circulars.
AMERICAN REDUCTION CO.,
1514 to 1516 Second Avenue,
Pittsburg, Pa.

We have a plan by which Farmers can get
TOOL CHESTS FREE

Containing of first-class quality (guaranteed) every tool—Axes, Saws and Planes included—necessary to repair vehicles, machines or build a house. Three two-cent stamps and the name of this paper required for particulars. Powell Fertilizer & Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 14, NO. 49 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, JULY 2, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 11.—Polished Solid Oak 5-Drawer Chiffonier, 55 inches high, 30½ inches long, 18 inches deep. It is well constructed and has good locks on each drawer. Special price, (Orders promptly filled).

$3.39

[illegible] success is not accidental. It is [illegible]ward of 48 years of honorable [illegible]s. Our experience in the Furniture and Carpet business is yours [illegible]e asking. Our immense illustra[illegible]talogue of Furniture, Oil Cloths, [illegible]Carriages, Refrigerators, Bedding, [illegible]s, Steel Beds, etc., is free to all [illegible]ite for it, and we pay all post[illegible] [illegible]f you ask your local dealers' [illegible]ou will not send for our cata[illegible] [illegible]s he will lose a customer. If [illegible]sult your pocket-book and [illegible]ouble value for your dollars, [illegible]deal with the manufacturers. [illegible]ur name on a postal now.

[illegible]ius Hines & Son

[illegible]ALTIMORE, MD.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

[illegible] CURE FOR [illegible] WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. [illegible]

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

William Auldridge, Senior, the ancestor and founder of the family relationship of that name in our county, was a native of England. His mother, the late Mrs Elizabeth Johnson, near Marlinton, lived to be more than one hundred years of age. His step-father John Johnson, in attempting to go from Marlinton to Nicholas County for seed-corn got bewildered in Black Mountain and went nine days without food.

William Auldridge's wife was Mary Cochran, daughter of Thomas Cochran, who settled the lands now owned by parties in the Marvin Chapel neighborhood. Mr Auldridge built up a home at the Bridger Notch, and it is believed the old barn stood on the spot where one of the Bridger boys died. This place is now owned by William Auldridge, a grandson.

There were six sons and three daughters. Sarah, Elizabeth, Nancy; Thomas, William, John, Samuel, James, and Richard.

Thomas Auldridge, the eldest son, was considered when in his prime one of the strongest persons physically in west Pocahontas. The first revelation of his strength was at a log-rolling. The champion of the day attempted to take young Auldridge's handspike,—which was a fancy article of its kind. The young athlete picked up both the champion and the disputed pike and laid them on the top of the log-heap with apparent ease. Upon his marriage with Elizabeth Morrison, daughter of James Morrison, on Hill's Creek, Thomas Auldridge leased lands now owned by John R. Poage, near Clover Lick, where he spent most of his working days. He then bought of Jacob Arbaugh and Captain William Young, near Indian Draft and opened up the property now owned by his son, Thomas, junior, and family. The sons of Thomas Auldridge, senior, were James, William, Thomas, and the daughters were Sarah, Elizabeth, and Mary.

James Auldridge, Esq., the eldest son of Thomas Auldridge, senior, first married Mary Ann, daughter of the late John Barlow, settled on land now occupied by Nathan Barlow, Esq., and then moved to the home near Edray where he now resides. His children were Henry, Miriam, Elizabeth, Moffett, and George. He was sadly bereaved of his first family by the ravages of disease, one son George, alone was spared. James' second wife was Julia A. Duncan, a granddaughter of Colonel John Baxter. One daughter, Mary, now Mrs Lee Carter. George Auldridge, the survivor of the first family, married Huldah Cassell and lives on the homestead near Edray.

William Auldridge, of Thomas Auldridge, senior, married Elizabeth Moore, daughter of the late Aaron and Katie Moore, on the Greenbrier, four miles above Marlinton, and setted on part of the homestead. Their children were Malinda Hanson, and Eliza.

Thomas Auldridge, junior, married Catherine Moore, daughter of the late John and Jane Moore, near Marlinton, and lives on the old homestesd. Two daughters, Margaret, who is Mrs James Hannah, and lives on Buck's Run; and Ida, who is now Mrs William McClure and lives on part of the old homestead.

Sarah Auldridge, daughter of Thomas Auldridge, senior, married the late J. Hervey Curry, near Frost. Her children were Ellis, William, Mary, Emma, and Bessie. Her life is believed to have been shortened by the exposure and exertion due to the burning of the home near Frost. Ellis Curry married Miss Rock, and lives near Dunmore. William Curry went to Missouri. Mary Curry married Benjamin Arbogast and lives near Green Bank. Emma Curry married the late William T. McClintic and lives near Beverly, West Virginia. Bessie married Kennedy Wooddell, son of Stewart Wooddell, Esq., and lives in Ritchie County, West Virginia.

Elizabeth Auldridge, daughter of Thomas Auldridge, senior, married Henry Moore, and lives near Driftwood. One son, Andrew Moore, whose first wife was Alice Wanless, daughter of Andrew Wanless, of Back Mountain; the second wife Miss Hill, of Hill's Creek.

Mary Ann Auldridge, daughter of Thomas Auldridge, senior, became Mrs William Moore, of Elk. One daughter, Ann Moore, survives her.

William Auldridge, second son of William Auldridge the ancestor, married Miss Nancy Kellison, and settled on the Greenbrier, 2 miles below the mouth of Swago. Their only child, Martha, married Geo. Hill, son of Abram Hill, of Hill's Creek. While he was in service in 1861 at Valley Mountain he contracted the measles. He came home and his wife took down also with the same disease, and the two died within a week of each other, leaving an orphan daughter who is now Mrs Robert Shaeffer. William Auldridge's second wife was a Miss Shaeffer. Her son, James Edgar Auldridge, lives on the homestead.

John Auldridge, of William Auldridge, senior, married Rebecca Smith, now of Ronceverte, who is far up in the eighties. She was a daughter of John Smith and Sally, daughter of Levi Moore, the Frost pioneer. The Smiths lived on land now owned by the heirs of the late Captain William Cochran. Mr and Mrs John Auldridge settled on Laurel Run, now owned by Nancy Newcomer, one of their daughters. Their children were Andrew, George, William, Clark, Sarah Ann, Nancy, Susan, Mary, Martha (Pattie.)

Andrew Auldridge married Mar- Moore, daughter of the late Dr Addison Moore, and now lives in Kansas.

George Auldridge married Caroline Duffield, and lives in Iowa.

The Auldridge brothers William and Clark died young.

Sarah Ann Auldridge married John Gay, settled first on Buck's Mountain, and now lives in Greenbrier Connty. Her children are Oliver, Adam, Enos, Nancy, now Mrs Fletcher McCollam, and Effie.

Nancy Auldridge married the late William Newcomer, settled on the old homestead, but now lives in Ronceverte.

Susan Auldridge was married to Loyd B. Carter, son of the late Dr Page Dameron Carter, and settled on Laurel Run. Her children are Marvin, Edward, Dennis, and Anna, who is now Mrs Otis Warwick, near Green Bank.

Mary Auldridge married Alva C. Carter, brother of Loyd, and setttled on Laurel Run. Her second marriage was to Harvey Childers, and she now lives in Buckhannon, West Virginia.

Samuel Auldridge, son of William Auldridge the ancestor, married Miriam Barlow, daughter of John Barlow, senior, and settled at the Bridger Notch, finally on the Greenbrier River near Stamping Creek. His children by the first marriage were William, John, and Mary Ann. Mary Ann died young. John was killed in battle. William Auldridge, a well-known citizen, lives at Mill Point.

Samuel Auldridge's second wife was Susan, daughter of the late Charles Grimes. The children of the second marriage were Tillotson, Charles, Luther, McKendree and Elizabeth, who is now Mrs Clendennin, near Hillsboro.

James Auldridge, of William the ancestor, was a tailor by occupation, worked awhile at Frankford, West Virginia, and then settled in Missouri.

Richard Auldridge, youngest son of William the ancestor, married Hannah Smith, daughter of John and Sally Smith, of Stony Creek, and lived for a time on the old Smith homestead. Afterwards he settled in Braxton County. He was killed during the war. There were three children, John, Allen, and Almira. John was a Confederate soldier and died in battle. Allen was also a soldier, survived the war, and settled in Kansas, taking his sister Almira along with him, and the last accounts are to the effect that brother and sister were keeping house and prospering.

Sarah Auldridge, of William, the ancestor, married William McClure and settled on Greenbrier River below Beaver Creek. Their children were James, Rachel, Mary, and Bessie. Rachel became Mrs Jacob Pyles; Mary Mrs Geo. Overholt, on Swago; Bessie died in her youth. James McClure was married three times: first wife, Miss McComb; second, Miss Pyles; and third, Miss Frances Adkinson. He lives on the homestead.

Elizabeth Auldridge, daughter of William Auldridge, senior, married Jacob McNeill, a brother of the late "Little" John McNeill. and settled in Floyd County, Va.

Nancy Auldridge, the youngest daughter of William the eldest, was married to the late Moore McNeill, Esq., on Swago. There were three children, Clark, Phebe, and Mary. Clark McNeill died in youth. Phebe became Mrs Reuben Overholt and resides on the homestead. Mary was married to William H. Overholt, late of Hillsboro, now of Frankford, Greenbrier County.

Thus closes for the present the chronicles of this worthy man's family. The compiler would make mention of the assistance given him by James Auldridge and [illegible] son George.

The venerable man whose history we have been tracing as illustrated by his descendants was a very estimable person. He was an ever-busy, industrious, and exemplary citizen. His influence was ever for sincere piety, strict honesty, and quiet judicious attention to his own concerns. These same qualities characterize many of his worthy posterity. Early in his manhood he was greatly disabled by a falling tree and was seriously crippled for life; and yet the work he and his children accomplished in opening up nice plentiful homes under difficulties is truly remarkable and worthy of special grateful appreciation. He loved to hunt when it did not interfere with more important matters, and upon one occasion came near being slain by a catamount from which he escaped with difficulty.

Mr Auldridge, owing to his disabled condition, became a school teacher and pursued that vocation for years. He was about the first teacher that instructed the late Captain William Young. The good he accomplished as a teacher will never be fully known. When Mr Auldridge died at an advanced age several years since the common remark was that "one of our best old men had gone from us."

JUNE 11, '97. W. T. P.

DROOP MOUNTAIN COAL.

It requires a visit to the coal mine of Mr T. F. Callison to realize the importance of the late discovery of coal on the end of Droop Mountain, a few hundred feet above the Greenbrier. As those acquainted with this county know, Droop mountain is one of our highest elevations, split from top to bottom to allow the Greenbrier river to pass on, and the mineral wealth of its base is that which might belong to the heart of a mountain. The place where coal was discovered is on a small run, a short distance from the road towards the river. Signs of it were seen in the bed of the run, and on digging a few feet a strata was discoverd. Last winter Mr Callison secured the services of two experienced coal miners and opened a considerable mine in the hillside. The coal seems to dip to the east and the excavation was made towards the mountain. The coal piled about the mouth of the mine makes it look in every respect like a regularly worked coal mine of the Pittsburg field.

With a regular miner's lamp, the proprietor conducted his visitors to the mouth of the cavern where visions of fire damp and other explosive gases prevented the strangers from entering until the lamp had been carried to the extreme end of the tunnel, about eighty feet from daylight. They then advanced fearlessly. The mine is fifty-two inches from floor to roof, and the progress is painful and slow. The mine is well timbered and a tramway laid the entire length. The tunnel is about eight in width. Arrived at the the end of the excavation a good view of the coal vein could be had. On the floor was a vein of about a foot in thicknes of good coal. On top of this was a layer of fireclay.

Fireclay is the special term for the gray clays of the Coal-Measures, intensified with, and generally in close proximity to, the seams of coal, in beds varying from a few inches to many yards in thickness. It is locally known as "clunches" and "underclays," and is supposed to represent the soil that produced the vegetation from which the coal was formed. As far as this coal is developed, the clay is from one to three inches in thickness and is easily removed from its resting place by means of the fingers. This leaves a crevice in which wedges may be driven to dislodge the coal. A little exposure to the air makes this clay as hard as stone, and Mr Callison has put in a number of back-grates in stoves with it. Above the fireclay to the roof of the mine are stratas of pure coal, and coal that has too much foreign substance with it to be reduced to ashes.

Marlinton, W. Va, June 21, 1897.

Nora Susan Herold, et als.
vs.
Wise Herold, et als.

Pursuant to a decree of the C cuit Court of Pocahontas Cou West Virginia, rendered in above styled cause at the J Term, 1897, of said court, I proceed at my office in the tow Marlinton, West Virginia, on 1st day of September, 1897, to t state and report to court the lowing matters of account, to wi

1. An account showing w debts, if any, against the estate Washington L. Herold remain paid.

2. An account of the liens bind the lands in the bill and proce ings mentioned, whether aris under the will of the said Washi ton L. Herold, deceased, or agreement between R. D. a Wise Herold, a copy of which filed with the original bill mark "B"; or by judgment or otherw and showing their respective dat dignities, and priorities.

3. An account of the lands which said liens rest, together w the annual and fee simple va thereof.

4. Any other matter, &c.

W. A. BRETTON,
Commissioner in Chance

Notice to Lien Holders,

farther in the copper pyrites makes its appearance. The coal becomes very much freer of this until one can well believe that coal exists in perfect purity at an inconsiderable depth in the mountain-side. The hogs of the farm come to the mouth of the mine and lick with their tongues the copperas-tasting deposit on some of the lumps.

On the whole, the visitor is impressed with the fact that the Droop Mountain coal fields are destined to furnish a vast amount of fuel in the future. Only a superficial examination has been made, and shafts should be sunk and tunnels made into the mountain. The home consumption would be great, and it would be another and great inducement to build a railroad to the county.

The coal is beneath the limestone, and right below it are great masses of conglomerate sandstone.

At the Post-Office Window.

"Please dive me ten cents' worf of stamps,"
Said she, with trepidation—
"All right, my child!—the stamp clerk smiled.
"Of what denomination?"
That great big word, the little miss
But for a moment daunted—
"My mamma is a mefodis—
I dess 'at's what she wanted."
—L. A. W. Bulletin.

Permanently Cured.

"For about two years I have suffered with diarrhoea. I used a number of remedies and was treated by physicians, but received no permanent relief. After taking a few doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, I believe that I am permanently cured."—JOAB CRITES, Tanner, Gilmer county, W. Va. This remedy is sold by Ricketts & Co., Marlinton; Amos Barlow, Huntersville; Barlow & Moore, Edray; and E. H. Moore & Co., Academy.

"Your pills are the best in the world. I used to be annoyed with constipation until I began using them. Now I have no trouble of that kind any more and I attribute my recovery to the use of your valuable medicine. In the springtime of the year I always take your * Pistols and Pestles.

The duelling pistol now occupies its proper place, in the museum of the collector of relics of barbarism. The pistol ought to have beside it the pestle that turned out pills like bullets, to be shot like bullets at the target of the liver. But the pestle is still in evidence, and will be, probably, until everybody has tested the virtue of

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

* This testimonial will be found in full in Ayer's "Curebook" with a hundred others. Free. Address J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

THE REASON WHY.

Editor of THE POCAHONTAS TIMES:

The question of low wages for teachers in this County is reaching enormous proportions, and justly it should. The teacher is made a tool of and he has so tamely submitted to this species of treatment so long that the Boards of Education have become educated to believe that this kind of treatment will forever be tolerated and endured.

It is a well established fact that there is no better way to get a good job done than to pay well for, it—is not this fact well established from everyday life? The public school teacher is invariably most poor, and seldom has sufficient money ahead to pay his Institute bill, or passable clothes in which to present himself in public.

Why are we continually losing the best teachers from the profession? First, because they are insufficiently paid. Second, because of the unthankfulness characteristic of the teacher's profession.

We are paid so little for so much that we must quit—I repeat it, we must quit—whenever we have capacitated ourselves to do business for men who will render us a just equivalent for our toils.

It is the fiat of fate from which nothing, but better pay, can absolve us. But some small voice has said: "Better schools will get us better pay,"—not so, is it? A man had as well starve himself to death to get a better appetite for his breakfast as to trust longer to this device to raise us from this deplorable condition of affairs.

Would a strike for better pay help us? It think not, however, and what is the incentive to that opinion, do you ask? I will tell you: I hear that we are too negligent in electing members of our Board of Education, and often elect men who would much rather educate their children privately than to do so otherwise, and who would look with pride at the state of things which would cause a revolt on the part of the teachers, which would be the means of rending to atoms the free school system—the pride of the poor man and an eyesore to many rich men. What then is to be done? Could that question be answered by the tongue of the orator, the pen of the poet, or the device of the evangelist we would ask them, or either of them, for the sake of the preservation of the cord that binds a brotherhood, to come to our rescue in the time of sore trouble. We must soon lose our most valued teachers under the influence of the present state of things.

"There is always work for willing hands to do." and "The hireling is worthy of hire." It is a well established fact that a successful teacher will make a successful business man—clerk, book-keeper, agent, or salesman—and when a first class business man cannot command more than $25 per month and board himself, he had better let his hair grow and turn to fortune telling.

I wish to hear from others on this subject, and hoping that I may be so favored, and that no one will think that I am personating myself too much, or that I am 'cheeky' or 'sassy.' I am yours until we meet again,

B. T. E. W.

IF the tissues about the roots of the hair become unhealthy, the hair will soon turn gray, or fall off. Correct this trouble with Hall's Hair Renewer.

The Earthquake.

A Tazewell, Virginia, lawyer, who was attending court at Pearisburg, Giles County, at the time of the recent earthquake, thus describes the occurrence there, which seems to have been the centre of the seismic disturbance:

"Imagine the sharpest peal of thunder you ever heard nearest you, then increase this crash three fold and you will have some idea of the actual noise; sharp, strong, and appalling. It seemed as if the rock strata under the old town was being crushed to powder by some mysterious agency, and the noise was as great as if it were all grinding. The earth rocked, the buildings trembled, and that daft or crazy feeling that seizes one when awful and uncontrolable dangers are about, caught every soul. The houses cracked and reeled; the bricks flew from off the houses; riding horses secured to the racks broke loose and fled and neighed; the dust arose from the rolling earth and trembling houses like the sweep from a simoon; men, in maudlin craziness, counselling coolness, waltzed in each others arms; others leaped fences and held their hands over their heads; women screamed and fled with their little ones; and children cried and ran around aimless and helpless."

"July 18, 1896, our store, four dwelling houses and three barns were washed away by a flood. Soon after the community was visited by an epidemic of bloody flux. In a short time we sold ten dozen of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and in every case where it was used the results were all that could be desired; in fact our physicians admitted that it would do more toward bringing about a cure of flux than they could do."—BUSH & KNISLEY, Auburn, W. Va., Oct. 8, 1896. For sale by Rickett's & Co., Marlinton; Amos Barlow; Huntersville, Barlow & Moore, Edray; and E. H. Moore & Co., Academy.

A CORRESPONENT of the Rockingham Register, a Mennonite minister and a gentleman of much intelligence, writes of a recent excursion to Pendleton and Randolph Counties. He states that it is very probable that a new county will soon be organized of sections from west Pendleton and east Randolph and about eqnal to Grant County in area, and Horton the proposed Court-house town. The northern boundary, Grant County, the eastern North Fork Mountain in Pendleton, southern Highland County and the western Middle Mountain, in Randolph County. If this be done, he thinks that the prospects of the new Randolph Court-house being being built at Elkins will be promoted. About the time of his writing, June 14, he says the rumour was prevalent among the prominent businessmen of that section, that a late railroad deal had been effected, giving the C. & O. the control of the Dry Fork R. R. He was moreover informed that plans were being considered for an extension of this line looking to a connexion with the C. & O. at Covington, Va., thus opening an air line from Pittsburg to the South, which may become one of the main arteries of travel between the two great manufacturing centres of the North and South.

Hon C. B. Bush, president of the Gilmer County (W. Va.) Court, says that he has had three cases of flux in his family, during the past summer, which he cured in less than a week with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Mr Bush also states, that in some instances there were twenty hemorrhages a day.—Glenville, W. Va., Pathfinder. This remedy has been used in nine epidemics of flux and one of cholera, with perfect success. It can always be depended upon for bowel complaint, even in its most severe forms. Every family should keep it on hand. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by Ricketts & Co., Marlinton; Amos Barlow, Huntersville; Barlow & Moore, Edray; and E. H. Moore & Co., Academy.

HOME NEWS.

JANUARY 8, 1897.

WE have enlarged this paper in spite of ernest protest of the Hon. Edgar Beard that it was already as much of it already as he, could stand.

EVERY BODY seems to be anxious to have a few more cattle, a lot of buying and selling has been going on.

WHY not profit by the experience of others who have found a permanent cure for catarrh in Hood's Sarsaparilla. 2

MISS BESSIE BAXTER fell upon a sharp stub and received such a severe injury on the right knee as to disable her from walking for some weeks. She is now rapidly improving and there is every hope that she will not be permanently crippled.

WE omitted to mention last week tha Maj. J. C. Arbogast had given bail to appear at court and answer a charge in the penalty of $10,000. His sureties are Messrs. E. N. Moore and Harry Moore and Dr J. P. Moomau, all of whom are leading citizens of the county.

THE young people of the Levels never had a better time than that which they enjoyed dnring the recent holiday season. Among the delightful receptions tendered their freinds were those given by Mr and Mrs C. E. Beard Mr and Mrs J. S. McNeel, and Misses Delia and Bessie Edgar.

YOU hate like everything to pay a big clothing bill and get shoddy goods. Are you not to blame in encouraging poor goods by your patronage? Then do n't growl, but hop in to look over my clothing. You can keep up with the styles and dress like a gentleman on a very thin pocket-book if you buy your clothing at THE GOLDEN STORE.

The progressive ladies of Westfield, Ind., issued a "Womans Edition" of the Westfield News, bearing date of April 3, 1896. The paper is filled with matter of interest to women, and we notice the folowing from a correspondent, which the editors printed, realizing that it treats upon a matter oi vital importance to their sex: "The best remedy for croup, colds and bronchitis that I have been able to find is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For family use it has no equal. I gladly recommed it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

A GREAT natural curiosity in the way of trees is to be found between Marlinton and Buckeye at a point about half way, growing about twenty steps from the roadside. Two trees, a pin oak and a maple, have formed one tree trunk for about three feet from the ground. The trunk is perfectly round and with the exception of the two kinds of bark it is an ordinary tree trunk. It is about two feet in diameter. One fork is a pin oak and the other a maple. It presents the appearance of a tree having oak and maple boughs and neither wood can be said to have the advantage.

THE entertainment company last week, we learn, made an onslaught on the court house with pieces of rough lumber sixteen feet long, to build a stage, in the bar, on which they could say their pieces. The Court-room is beautifully finished in oak and no man or set of men could have built such a stage without scaring it up badly. The move was happily frustrated by the prosecuting attorney who locked the room and put they keys in his pocket. The consequence was that that gentleman was not remembered in the prayers of the entertainers for several days.

THE Christmas Festival at Edray was all that could be desired. The presents were numerous, handsome appropriate without extravagant ostentation. Prof. Davis Barlow made an address in his happiest vein. Miss Flora Moore had a gift on the tree for each of her attached pupils. Every body seemed to have availed themselves of the opportunity to manifest their friendly sentiments, through the kind offices of Santa Claus. Some of the little people thought that Santa Claus did wonderfully well, considering how little snow there was, for his sleigh to run on.

STATE OF POCAHONTAS, COUNTY OF LAUREL CREEK, (a branch of Williams River), ss. There was a turkey butchered here on Sunday, and positively no foot-evil in the leg or lump-jaw on the bird. Also H. Nathan will butcher a beef in a few days, and if there are any interested persons who wish to see that it has no foot-evil, black-leg, or cancer-jaw, please come and examine it beforehand to save further trouble; and if there is a man or a woman that would be kind enough to take the hide to the granary, it would please all parties to take it just a little further to Ellis McCarty's tan-yard.

We wonder what Nathan will do with the beef? I guess the bar will get it, as before, and the reason why he is butchering now is to settle late expenses.

I suppose he would like people to come and examine it and see who is to hold head and tail while he is butchering.

We are truly glad that Col. Gay has gotton all his cattle from Laurel creek, so I know it is none of his.

THE venerable Robert Moore, ancestor of the Edray Moores, like his father, Moses Moore, was much in the habit of hunting and trapping, especially in the winter. He caught five or six red foxes at the head of the spring near Smith's tannery during one season. The trap was placed in the warm spring water, and so disguised by moss thrt it looked like a moss-covered rock. The bait was placed just beyond on the ground. The fox attracted thereby would have to cross the water to get at it, and would use the trap for a stepping-stone to keep his feet dry, and the result is readily imagined. One fox, however, refused to go near the spot. For several mornings Mr Moore came to the brow of the ravine and looked over to see what may have happened, but nothing was caught. One morning he observed that the fox had followed his foot-prints in the snow. The trapper had taken pains to have but one set of tracks by stepping in the same places every time he came there. One morning he noticed that the fox had been on his trail, and had stepped nowhere but in the hunter's tracks, and had gone no farther than the tracks towards the trap. During the following night a very slight snow fell, and the trapper went on to a place where a tree had fallen out of root. The snow was carefully removed and a trap was placed in the cleared place and disguised with moss. He sifted snow over the moss, then with a stick drew an imitation of a moccasin track in the snow over the trap. The next morning upon coming to the place he found his game safely secured, having been effectually outwitted. He carried it home alive, and this fox was pronounced the most cunning and vicious of all the venerable trapper had ever seen.

Personal Mention.

Paul Dever, of Green Hill, Highland co., Va., was a visitor at Marlinton last Thursday.

Tom Vandervoort, lately of Linwood but now of Savannah, Greenbrier co., was a visitor at Mr E. D. King's, last week. He seems well pleased with his new home and friends.

Miss Georgiana Hanna, of Elk, paid the Times office a pleasant visit, on Thursday.

Mr Wm. Gibson and Mrs Polly Gibson, of Elk, visited friends in Marlinton on the last day of the year. Their friends feel highly complimented by the presence of such worthy people. Aunt Polly thought the new printing office very nice, but she saw things at the Worlds Fair that would lay it in the shade.

Mr and Mrs W. W. Tyree gave a pleasant social to their friends on Wednesday evening.

Rev Charles Anderson, in charge of the Highland circuit, spent the Holidays witn friends on Hill's Creek and at Edray. The pleasures of his visit were greatly hindered by neuralgic sufferings. He put himself under the care of "Father Price" for a few hours on New Year's day and went on his way "feeling better," after quinine and Radway's Relief had time to do their work. "Father Price" knows what is good for sick preachers, about Holidays.

J. C. Price, of Clover Creek, was in Marlinton on County Court day.

Church Notes.

The fourth and last quarterly meeting will be held at the M. E. church on Swago, on January 9 and 10, 1897. Rev D. S. Hedric, P. E., will be present.

Evangelist Hogsett and Rev W. A. Sharp have just held a second series of meetings at Laurel Run, and much interest was manifested.

There will be preaching services at Indian Draft, the 5th Sunday of January at 11 o'clock and on the night of the same day, a lecture on "Prophecy" at Edray, by Rev. W. T. Price.

Preaching services at Swago, on the 3d Sabbath of January, at 3 p. m., by Rev W. T. Price.

Broken Chain

The family circle is never so happy after the chain is broken and a link taken. Some family chains are strong, others weak. Have you a good family history? Or is there a tendency to coughs, throat or bronchial troubles, weak lungs? Has a brother, sister, parent or near relative had consumption? Then your family chain is weak. Strengthen it. Take SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites. It makes rich blood, gives strength and vigor to weak lungs and run-down constitutions. With its aid the system throws off acute coughs and colds. It prevents the chain from breaking.

Shall we send you a book about this, free?

For sale by all druggists at 50c. and $1.00
SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

The Oyster Supper.

The oyster supper given by the Huntersville Club on New Year's Eve, was largely attended and was an enjoyable affair. The Club had secured the residence of Mr Geo. W. Wagner for the occasion, and entertained their guests in a way that was highly pleasing to the recipients of their kindness. Each young man invited was requested to bring a lady, and from the number of the fair sex present we think they all must have responded. Among those whom the writer noticed were—Misses Grace Clark, Lou Clark, Mattie Curry, Ethel Curry, Delia Edgar, Bessie Edgar, Pauline McNeel, Maggie McNeel, and Anna Wallace; and Messrs J. W. Beard, Cam Beard, Jesse Curry, Forrest Hill, J. W. Baxter, Fred Wallace, and D. S. Hankla, from Hillsbory.

Misses Daisy Yeager, Mary McLaughlin, Hattie Patterson, Gertrude Bird, and Susie Price; and Norman Price, Frank Anderson, James Patterson, James Smith, Walker Yeager, Lewis Yeager, and S. B. Scott, Jr., from Marlinton.

Miss Allie McLaughlin, of Edray; Miss Mary M. Brown, of Green Bank; Sandy Burner, of Travelers Repose. Misses Sadie Hamilton and Grace Harper, and John A. Moore, John A. Cleek, Price Moore, and Dennis Dever, of Sunset.

Misses Maggie Patterson, Anna Mary Patterson, Lillie Curry, Mary Barlow, Grace Campbell, Lucy Kincaid, Lillie Friel, Elva Friel, and Lou Moore; and C. E. Steinmeyer, Howard Barlow, Isaac Barlow, Auburn Friel, Ralph Young, and James S. Smith, of Huntersville.

Misses Bertha Sharp, Lucy Sharp, Pearl Sharp; and Ed. Jackson, Ed. Rutledge, Charley Bell, and Cam McElwee, of Driscol; and M. O'Farrell, of Mt. Grove.

After supper games and other amusements were indulged in until the "we sma" hours. We thank the boys of the "Club" for the evening's enjoyment, and trust we may have others in the future.

ONE OF THE BOYS.

County Court.

John R. Warwick qualified as commissioner.

Amos Barlow elected President of the court.

Qualification of officers: S. L. Brown, county clerk; L. M. McClintic, prosecuting attorney; J. H. Buzzard, assessor; George Baxter, surveyor; R. W. Hill, Sheriff. The sheriff's bondsmen are J. H. Doyle, A. R. Kinnison, P. Henry, Ellis McCarty, G. R. Curry, G. G. Clendennin, S. H. Clark, N. S. Clutter, A. R. Smith, James Houltz, J. S. McNeel, H. W. McNeel, P. S. Clark, J. H. Weiford, and T. A. Bruffey. Bond, $40,000; school bond $15,000.

Justices: Uriah Bird, A. C. L. Gatewood, W. H. Grose, P. D. Arbogast, T. A. Bruffey.

Constables: T. C. Wooddell, W. G. Cochran, and A. Page Gay.

Sandy Patterson appointed road-surveyor instead of E. N. Moore.

C. A. Lightner appointed road surveyor instead of G. D. Oliver.

The Pocahontas telephone company given the right to place poles and wires on any public road leading from the court house of the county.

G. P. Moore relieved from erronious taxation.

Andrew Price appointed administrator of Peter Beverage, dec'd,

(To be Continued.)

Burner-Riley.

GREEN BANK, W. VA.,
January 4, 1897.

The home of Mr and Mrs J. W. Riley was thronged on last Thursday evening at 3 o'clock, when their daughter, Miss Nora E. Riley, was married to Mr A. C. Burner, an influential business young man of Bolar, Va. The wedding was one of the most brilliant of the season.

The bride entered the parlor leaning upon the arm of the groom, and was most elegantly attired.

They were united, in an appropriate and impressive manner, by Rev J. T. Maxwell. They then repaired to the dining-room, where a most luxurious repast was served.

We would venture our safety on the assertion that this young couple are fully prepared for the duties which they assume in thus entering upon matrimony. We wish them happiness, and that their pathway may be strewn with wreaths of flowers twined by the hand of a Supreme Being. D.

Knapp's Creek

The people on the Creek had a pleasant Xmas.

The social by Mr and Mrs Zane Moore on Tuesday night was attended by a large number of ladies and gentlemen, who had a very pleasant time. They also gave a dining which was much enjoyed. Mrs Moore understands the art of cooking well.

Several ladies and gentleman attended the oyster supper at Huntersville, on Thursday night.

Dr and Mrs Guinn gave a social at their home in Frost on Friday night. By seven o'clock 52 guests had arrived, and there was a merry time until a late hour.

Mrs Hamelton Moore is very sick, no hopes are entertained for her recovery.

Miss R. F. Clark left Saturday for Travelers Repose, where she will teach school. She will finish the Moore school in the spring.

RELEASED!

Big Trial Over a Lost Steer.

H. Nathan Released from Custody—Evidence not Conclusive.

One of the most exciting preliminary hearings was held at this place Saturday. A week or so ago it developed that Col. Levi Gay had had a steer butchered and stolen, and it created profund excitement, for it became evident long ago that "he who steals our purses steals trash; but he who takes our cattle touches the spot," and we who live in this county of cattle production on unfenced ranges can understand why the pioneers of the West hung men for stealing horses and cattle, and lauded the man who took another's life. Saturday presented in Marlinton a scene equal to that of a Circuit Court, in the way of horses and men who had come in to attend the trial of H. Nathan, who was held charged with stealing a steer of the value of $21. Nathan was here, and all his Jewish energy was on the surface, and he went into trial with H. S. Rucker and W. A. Bratton as his counsel. L. M. McClintic represented the State. About 1 p. m. the case began. The warrant was for felony.

COL. LEVI GAY.

The portly Sheriff took the stand and looked the personification of benignity; unwilling that any should suffer, but still with all the true stockman's horror of losing a valuable steer. A well-used corn-cob-pipe enhanced his general good natured appearance. His evidence was to the effect that he ranged 151 head of cattle on Williams River on farms adjoining the prisoner's hacking. Of these he had lost three. Two had got into the Stagger Weed Hacking, and had died, in July. One was missed in October. Five were in habit of ranging in H. Nathan's hacking Had only got four away from there. Described steer as being two-year-old, red, with white about head and flank. Discovered and identified hide in one of prisoner's outbuildings, at Academy. Value of steer was $21. Recognized hide by marks and by brand. Brands with a circle the size of a dollar, a dollar-and-a-half, or two-dollar piece. On cross-examination said that he knew the hide was not that of one of the two cattle which had died from stagger-weed. In reply to question stated that he had suspected prisoner because he had heard that he was in the habit of butchering diseased cattle, and that it was in his grass when last seen. Hide was in bad condition; hair slipped off easily; enough maggots to make a family-pie; did not taste it to see whether hide had ever been salted or not.

J. B. WAUGH.

Tenant of Levi Gay's. Saw steer in controversy about October 6th. Turned it in Downy Hacking. Has not seen the hide as yet. (The hide is here produced in Court, and appears in a horrible condition, the smell being something to be long remembered.) Witness recognizes marks and general appearance. In October had asked Nathan about the steer, and he had replied that if it was in his hacking to leave it.

S. J. GAY

Lives on Williams River on Col. J. T. McGraw's land. Did not know steer. Witness found hide. He and Bill Ellet Sharp had gone to Academy to move Nathan's things to Williams River. Had slept at Academy. Before going to bed they had talked over the fact that it was norrated around that H. Nathan had butchered the steer. Sharp said if it was that particular steer he would know the hide as well as he would the hide of his old cow. Next morning Cruit Shearer had found the hide in a bin in the granary. Had remarked that it showed poor management on Nathan's part to let a beef hide spoil. Witness smelt a rat, and examined the hide until he discovered Levi Gay's mark. Had called Bill Ellet Sharp's attention to it, and no one else's,—Bill Ellet had spread it. Upon being questioned, witness said he had examined the hide simply because he was meddlesome. Was a good friend of the prisoner.

W. E. SHARP.

Nathan's tenant for the past two years. Saw a number of Mr Gay's cattle in the hacking; one pale red steer was in there constantly. Had seen the hide when Sam Gay found it. Could not swear positively that he had ever seen the steer alive off of which it had been taken. On cross-examination he said that there was no ill feeling between Nathan and him. Had not put the hide in the granary himself. The State asked witness if Nathan had proposed to him that they butcher and sell some of Mr Gay's cattle, but upon objection being made to it by counsel, it was ruled out unanswered.

J. C. BOERER,

Neighbor of Nathan's. Saw prisoner butchering a beef, from the 1st to the 10th of October; was a spotted animal. Heard women talking in the barn, and supposed they were helping butcher. Had found the badly decayed carcass of a steer on the mountain near Andy Taylor's about the same time. Ill feeling in this section against Nathan.

R. K. BURNS.

Tells of the execution of the search warrant.

THE DEFENSE.

H. NATHAN.

Had never killed the steer, and did not know how the hide had come to be in his granary. Did not know whether it was in his sack or not. Had kill-d three beeves since the 1st of October; 2 on the 9th which he had sold. Sent hides to McCarty's tan-yard, by boy who lives with him. Granary was always kept unlocked. Has lots of enemies in the neighborhood, but they were not any of the State's witnesses. Sisters-in-law helped him to butcher.

MRS H. NATHAN.

Moved from Academy to Williams River on December 24th, at which time the hide was found. Knows the hide could not have been in the granary for more than a few days, because witness had gotton a live turkey and penned it in the granary, and had searched every nook and cranny for salt. Had sent three hides to McCarty's. The first by a Mr Beard, and the other two by Mr McCarty himself.

ELLIS McCARTY.

Had Nathan credited with two hides from the 12th of October up and had had a hide thrown into the tan-yard in his absense which nobody claimed until Nathan had describ.ed it that day and claimed it.

MISS ROSE SHEARER.

Helped Nathan butcher two beeves on October 9th; were both the property of the prisoner.

HOWARD GALFORD.

Was thirteen years old, and burst into tears. Lived with Mr Nathan, and wept bitterly as he told it. Knew all the men in the trial, and bemoaned his fate. Put a turkey in the granary (sniff) was no hide in there then, (sniff), Bill Ellett Sharp was there on Friday, (sniff), found the hide Tuesday evening, (sniff), did not say anything about (sniff) Mr Gay came and found it Thursday morning. His evidence further was of nothing new. Got mixed as to seeing the maggots in the hide without having opened the sack in which the hide was, and retired in confusion.

MISS GEORGIA SHEARER.

Accounted for the eleven head which had composed Nathan's herd. Two sold to Sidney Payne; one to John Galford; three butchered; and five were sold to William Gibson.

HAMP GALFORD.

Helped butcher a beef for Nathan on the 9th. Saw the other beef, which was a little Jersey steer.

JOHN PERRY.

Helped butcher the same beef.

EVERETTE HEVENER.

Made his home with Nathan. Had had no beef on table other than that butchered on October 9th.

FRANK JACKSON.

Has been working for Nathan. Have had no other beef on the table.

REBUTTAL.

TOM TOWNSEND.

Went part of the way to Academy with Bill Ellet Sharp when he took a load of lumber with wagon-body on top of it, and had seen no hide in or about the wagon. On cross-examination admitted that he had had a difference with the prisoner.

The case was submitted without argument, except that prisoner's counsel called the attention of the justice to the decisions relating to the rule that the mere fact of having stolen property in possession is not conclusive evidence of theft on the part of such person.

The justice then dismissed the prisoner, holding that the evidence against him was not sufficient to require him to give bail for his appearance at Court.

Notice.

All persons running accounts with me will please come forward and settle before January, 15, 1897.

Very Respectfully,
W. W. TYREE.

Notice.

Our accounts are now ready for settlement. All persons are required to settle their old accounts before they ask for more credit.

2w AMOS BARLOW.

SPECIAL POTATO FERTILIZER
and High Grade General Phosphates made from VEGETABLE and ANIMAL MATTER,
Every farmer should write for prices, terms, and circulars.
AMERICAN REDUCTION CO.,
Pittsburg, Pa.

Boils

It is often difficult to convince people their blood is impure, until dreadful carbuncles, abscesses, boils, scrofula or salt rheum, are painful proof of the fact. It is wisdom now, or whenever there is any indication of blood, to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and prevent such eruptions and suffering.

Impure

"I had a dreadful carbuncle abscess, red, fiery, fierce and sore. The doctor attended me over seven weeks. When the abscess broke, the pains were terrible, and I thought I should not live through it. I heard and read so much about Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I decided to take it, and my husband, who was suffering with boils, took it also. It soon purified our built me up and restored my health so that, although the doctor said I would not be able to work hard, I have since done the work for 20 people. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured my husband of the boils, and we regard it a wonderful medicine." MRS. ANNA PETERSON, Latimer, Kansas.

Blood

Hood's
Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills cure liver ills, easy to take, easy to operate. 25 cents.

CLOVER CREEK.

We are glad to say that the new year finds us all well as common.

Rev Caldwell will preach at this place the second Sunday at 3 p. m.

The Thomas Spring and Hoffman schools are flourishing under the management of Misses Birdie Baxter and Annette Ligon.

Mrs Andy McAlpin has a turkey-hen that hatched and reared a brood of turkrys in May or June, 1896, and in the latter part of November following hatched another brood.

Mr David Guinn, when he lived with J. C. Price, Esq., his wife raised quite a lot of turkeys, and among them was a turkey hen that laid and hatched one brood of young, and while she was rearing them she was also laying and preprring to raise another brood; but Mrs Guinn took the eggs and set them under a chicken-hen. Now you may call this a "fin de siecle" move, or what you may, but it is a true story.

BLUE SLIPPER.

Persons who are troubled with indigestion will be interested in the experience of Wm. H. Penn, chief clerk in the railway mail service at Des Moines, Iowa, who writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the merits of Chamberlain's Cholera, Colic and Diarrhoea remedy. For two years I have suffered from indigestion, and am subject to violent attacks of pain in the stomach and bowels. One or two doses of this remedy never fails to give perfect relief. Price 25 and 50 cents; sold by all druggists.

RECEIVERS'

RENTAL OF LANDS.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, made on the day of October, 1896, in the chancery cause of Levi Gay, et als., vs. J. B. Lockridge, et als., the undersigned special receivers will on the

6th day of Feb., 1897,

at the front door of the court-house of said county, proceed to rent by way of public auction to the highest bidder for the term of one year, the lands in the bill and proceedings mentioned belonging to the defendant, J. B. Lockridge, consisting of the farm upon which the said Lockridge now resides, situated at Driscol, in said county. Said farm is in good state of cultivation and has thereon all necessary buildings in good repair.

Terms.—Cash in hand sufficient to pay costs of rental, and for the residue the renter executing bonds with good personal security, payable on the 21st day of December, 1897.

W. A. BRATTON,
L. M. McCLINTIC,
Receivers.

By order of said decree, the bond already given in this case is held sufficient for the above rental.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

To Create
A Revolution

in the household work so that while everything is kept clean, there may be leisure for social duties, is the aim of every housewife. She knows, that to obtain the best results in the shortest time, and to give the linen that special whiteness and freshness, only the BEST SOAP must be used.

Now, the soap which has the largest sale in the world is

Sunlight
Soap

and so it is fair to presume that it is the Best Soap in the World.

At any rate it must be worthy of a fair trial.

Lever Bros., Ltd., Hudson & Harrison Sts., N.Y.

Notice.

I hereby notify all persons from trespassing on my land by hunting, laying down fences, or in any other way.

JOSEPH S. SMITH.

A THOUGHT THAT KILLED
A MAN!

HE thought that he could trifle with disease. He was run down in health, felt tired and worn out, complained of dizziness, biliousness, backaches and headaches. His liver and kidneys were out of order. He thought to get well by dosing himself with cheap remedies. And then came the ending. He fell a victim to Bright's disease! The money he ought to have invested in a safe, reliable remedy went for a tombstone.

Warner's Safe Cure

is the only standard remedy in the world for kidney and liver complaints. It is the only remedy which physicians universally prescribe. It is the only remedy that is backed by the testimony of thousands whom it has relieved and cured.

THERE IS NOTHING ELSE THAT CAN TAKE ITS PLACE

MONEY MAKES MONEY!

So do we but we make it for you. How? By saving you the middle man's profit. We practically charge you a small commission for attending to your purchases, and as we have advantages for buying that an ordinary purchaser does not enjoy, we can save money for you.

Cash must always accompany the order, and any excess will be promptly remitted.

Quotations furnished and correspondence solicited. Groceries in original pakages a specialty.

Charleston Purchasing Agency.
Bradford Noyes, Manager,
Charleston, W. Va.

Executor Sale

of Valuable Personal Property.

As executor of Jacob Sharp, dec'd., I will on Tuesday,

January, 12th 1897,

at the Home Place near Edray in Pocahontas county, proceed to sell by way of public auction to the highest bidder the following personal property of the estate of the said Jacob Sharp, to-wit:

13 Head of two year old steers.
4 yearling cattle.
4 Cows.
2 Horses.
20 Hogs.
About one half of the hay on the place.
50 bushels of oats and a lot of corn.
Farming Utensils.
Terms made known on day of sale.

A. N. BARLOW, Exor.

Farmers' Home Fire Insurance Co., of West Virginia.

J. M. SYDENSTRICKER - - - President.
R. P. RITTENHOUSE - Sec'y & Treas.

INCORPORATED.

By the People and for the People.

For Isolated Property only. No Salaried Officers to Support. No capitalists to Enrich. No Loss, no Expense. Fair and Honorable Adjustment of all Losses. Cost less than one fifth of what is paid stock companies, and is five times as secure. In most successful operation in all of the adjoining States. Thousands saved to farmers.

T. L. REYNOLDS & SONS, Agents
Lewisburg, W. Va

VALUABLE

Property for Sale Privately.

One of the most complete residences in the county, situated in the village of Hillsboro, is offered for sale privately, on good terms.

This would be especially valuable to any doctor who wishes to locate in one of the best sections of the State. The owner, a physician, wishes to retire, for private reasons that will be perfectly satisfactory to any proposed purchaser.

Further information cheerfully afforded any inquirer by the editor of this paper.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 14, NO. 50 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, JULY 9, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 11.--Polished Solid Oak 5-Drawer Chiffonier, 58 inches high, 30¾ inches long, 18 inches deep. It is well constructed and has good locks on each drawer. Special price, (Orders promptly filled).

$3.39

Our success is not accidental. It is the reward of 48 years of honorable business. Our experience in the Furniture and Carpet business is yours for the asking. Our immense illustrated catalogue of Furniture, Oil Cloths, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Bedding, Springs, Steel Beds, etc., is free to all who write for it, and we pay all postage. If you ask your local dealers' advice you will not send for our catalogue, as he will lose a customer. If you consult your pocket-book and want double value for your dollars, you will deal with the manufacturers. Send your name on a postal now.

Julius Hines & Son

BALTIMORE, MD.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

The Pocahontas Times.

HOEING CORN.

IN an article republished in the Central Presbyterian, taken from the American Agriculturist, we find some interesting thoughts about hoeing corn that are hereby laid before the reader. Two reasons are usually given for cultivating the soil. One is to prevent weeds from growing, which causes a drain on the soil moisture. The other reason is to overcome a compact condition of the soil which is continually induced by gravity. This compactness of soil increases the effectiveness of the capillary force, drawing the moisture to the surface where it is evaporated and lost to the soil and no longer nourishes plant life.

While these two reasons go very far towards explaining the importance of cultivation,—hoeing and plowing,—still there is much of something else to be explained. The velocities, the direction, and the general nature of the capillary currents in the soil, the relation of these currents to plowing and hoeing, and the bearing of these currents on the aeration and general physicological work of the plant-roots. These capillary currents run up and down as a general rule. When the surface is drying the capillary force draws the moisture up; but after a rain, when there is an excess of water in the surface soil, this seeps downward.

Now were it not for disturbing the roots of the growing plants the present system of plowing and hoeing might not be open to criticism or improvement, so it may be asked might not the present system be modified so as to affect the direction and increase the briskness of the capillary circulation. As corn is commonly cultivated the ground is stirred at intervals of from one week to eight or ten days. This operation violently upsets the working of the capillary currents in the moisture of the soil, as well as of the diffusion currents in the soil gases. Now if some method be devised by which the ground, by the same amount of work, could be stirred every second or third day in such a way that the capillary currents might be started afresh (but without any greater exposure of the moist earth to drought, and without causing any more injury to the roots,) this would in all probability be an advantage gained. Now this may be done by going over every third or every second row in the field at a time, taking the remaining one or two rows successively at intervals of two or three days, thus finishing each cultivation in the usual time. In this way the ground will be stirred just as much and just as effectively as at present row by row, but the activity of the currents in the moisture and in the gases of the soil will be revived three times instead of once. This ought to help the plant by adding to the available supply of plant life.

Woman.

"Woman's faith and woman's trust—
Write the characters in dust,
Stamp them on the running stream,
Print them on the moon's pale beam,
And each evanescent letter
Shall be clearer, firmer, better,
And more, permanent, I wean,
Than the thing those letters mean,

"I have strained the spider's thread
'Gainst the promise of a maid;
I have weighed a grain of sand
'Gainst the plight of heart and hand;
I told my true love of the token,
How her faith prove light and her word was broken,
Again her word and truth she plight,
And I believed them again ere night."

—SIR WALTER SCOTT.

"July 18, 1896, our store, four dwelling houses and three barns were washed away by a flood. Soon after the community was visited by an epidemic of bloody flux. In a short time we sold ten dozen of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and in every case where it was used the results were all that could be desired; in fact our physicians admitted that it would do more toward bringing about a cure of flux than they could do."—BUSH & KNISLEY, Auburn, W. Va., Oct. 8, 1896. For sale by Rickett's & Co., Marlinton; Amos Barlow; Huntersville, Barlow & Moore, Edray; and E. H. Moore & Co., Academy.

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

JOHN JORDAN, the ancestor of the relationship of that name in lower Pocahontas, was a very worthy native of Ireland. By occupation he was a tailor, and when he once met a fellow member of the craft after a prolonged separation his friend was very demonstrative in the pleasure the meeting afforded him. In his joyful exhileration as a special manifestation of his delight he struck his friend Jordan on the back of his hand with a side blow of his own. This friendly lick was so powerful as to inflict a bruise so serious in its effects as to necessitate amputation of the arm just below the elbow. Nevertheless, he learned to use a hoe or an axe to a good purpose in after life.

Mr Jordan came to this region as a traveling merchant, dealing in Irish linens and other portable merchandise. He was a "hard money" man in his financial preferences, and converted all paper money he received into silver and gold. Miss Miriam McNeel, daughter of John McNeel, the Levels pioneer, found out in some way that the young merchant had about a half-bushel of coin, and it seemed to occur to her mind that if a person disabled as he was could make that much money he could certainly take good care of her. To the surprise of her friends that a nice sensible girl as she was should fancy a cripple, she did not discourage the attentions of the hustling young Irishman, and they were happily married.

At that period in our local history a young man's recommendation was his ability to clear land, split rails, and grub; but to marry a cripple in store-clothes was not to be thought of.

After their marriage Mr Jordan continued to prosper in making a living, and purchased some servants to wait on the girl that had made such a surprising venture as to marry him. He settled on the Mill Stone Run, between Hillsboro and Locust, opening up a property now in possession of Isaac M. McNeel, Esq., whose wife, Miriam Nannie Beard, is a grand-daughter of the pioneer merchant.

There were five sons and three daughters, John, Jonathan, Isaac, Abram, Franklin, Jane, Nancy, and Martha.

John Jordan, junior, married Martha Burnsides, on the Greenbrier in view of the homestead, and settled near Hillsboro, where they spent the remainder of their lives. Their children were Christopher, Jonathan, Mary, Miriam, Nancy, and Jemima. Christopher married Elizabeth Wallace, daughter of the late Benjamin Wallace, of Bath County, but long a resident of Pocahontas. Jonathan married Lucinda, daughter of the late James Sharp, Esq., on Beaver Creek. He was a Confederate soldier and died at home while on furlough from the army. Miriam married Aaron Hill and settled on Hill's Creek. Nancy became Mrs George Hill, and died a few years since at Falling Spring, Greenbrier County. Jemima was married to Captain Samuel Gilmore, of Highland County, Virginia, where she now resides.

Jonathan Jordan, son of the pioneer, first married Elizabeth Callison, daughter of Anthony Callison, at Locust. She was a sister of Mrs Julia Poage, near Clover Lick. Her twin sons, John and Anthony, died young. Jonathan's second wife was Rebecca Edmiston, daughter of the late William Edmiston, near Hillsboro. Jonathan settled on Dry Run, now in possession of Sherman Clark, Esq. The children of the second marriage were Elizabeth, Rebecca, Miriam, William, and James.

Isaac Jordan, another son of the pioneer. married Mary Callison, daughter of James Callison, on Trunk Run, near Locust, and settled just west of Hillsboro at the spring now owned by J. K. Bright. He afterwards moved to Davis County, Missouri. Isaac Jordan's second marriage was with the widow of Captain William Renick, Lafayette County, Missouri. He became a prominent citizen in his adopted State, was commissioner of the revenue and justice of the peace. His daughter, Elizabeth, became Mrs Samuel Beard, son of the late Josiah Beard Esq., of Locust, and he resides in Missouri at this time.

Abram Jordan married Jane Edmiston, daughter of the late Andrew Edmiston, near Locust. She was a sister of the distinguished judge Mathew Edmiston, of Weston, West Virginia. Abram lived a few years on the old Jordan Homestead, then moved to Davies County, Missouri; afterwards to Saline County, Missouri. Nancy and Lydia were his daughters. Nancy became Mrs Faulkner, and Lydia was married to William Renick, from Greenbrier County. Mr Renick was an extensive dealer in live stock, and was partner in trade with Colonel Levi Gay, during his sojourn in Missouri.

Franklin Jordan, of the pioneer, married Martha Edmiston, daughter of Andrew Edmiston, and went to Missouri. After her decease he married Mrs Ballenger, from Ashland, Kentucky.

Jane Jordan, eldest daughter of the pioneer, was married to the late Major William Blair add lived near Hillsboro. Her sons were Morgan, Claiborne, Doctor Franklin, Colbert, and John who died during the war. Morgan Blair married Ann Gay, daughter of George Gay, and settled in Iowa. Claiborne Blair married Lavinia Bruffey, daughter of Mr and Mrs John Bruffey, and went west.

Mrs Jane Blair's daughters were Frankie Blair, who was married to the late Isaac Clutter, and lived on the Briar Knob, head of Hill's Creek. Miriam Blair was married to William Hill, son of Isaac Hill of Richard Hill, the famous pioneer and scout, and settled in Iowa. Elizabeth Blair became Mrs John G. Beard, and lives on the Blair homestead, near Hillsboro. Martha Blair was first married to Peter Clark, and after his decease she became Mrs Abram Beard and lived in Renick's Valley, where she died not long since.

Nancy Jordan, the second of pioneer Jordan's daughters, was first married to Isaac Callison, of James Callison, on Trunk Run, and went west. Her son, James B. Callison, lives at Jamesport, Missouri. Her daughter, Miriam, was married to William Walkup, from Greenbrier County, and lived in Missouri, where she died. Mrs Walkup's son is a promising minister in the pale of the Presbyterian church. Mrs Nancy Callison's second marriage was with the late George Edmiston, near Locust, lived several years on the old Andrew Edmiston homestead, and finally went to Missouri.

Martha Jordan, the youngest of the Jordan sisters. was married to the late Joseph Beard, Esq., of Hillsboro. For several years they lived on Spring Creek in upper Greenbrier, and then resided at Hillsboro. Her son, John Jordan Beard, married Minerva Edmiston, daughter of the late James Edmiston, Esq., near Mill Point. Their daughter Mollie became Mrs C. F. Moore. Harry Beard, one of their sons, is a physician in Lewisburg, and J. Fred. Beard resides with his parents at Huntersville.

Lieut J. J. Beard was a gallant Confederate officer. He was severely wounded and greatly disabled by wounds received in battle in the lower valley. He served for two terms as clerk of both the circuit and county courts of Pocahontas. He has resided at Huntersville for the past eighteen or twenty years.

Margaret Jane Beard, her eldest daughter, was married to Capt in William L. McNeel, near Hillsboro. Mrs George Callison, Mrs J. Thrasher, Misses Mary, Pauline, and Maggie McNeel are her daughters. Joseph McNeel and Henry McNeel, residing near Hillsboro, are her sons.

Miriam Nancy, Mrs Martha Beard's youngest daughter, was married to Isaac McNeel, Esq., at Mill Point, where they now dwell. Their son, Thomas Summers, has just graduated in law at the University of Virginia. Harvey Winters has just graduated in medicine at the same place. Lanty McNeel is at home and Mary Gold, their only daughter.

Mrs Martha Beard is yet living over eighty years of age, (1897), and makes her home with her grandson, Joseph McNeel, near Hillsboro. A few weeks since she was greatly disabled by a fall that has perhaps disabled her from walking for the remainder of her life. Her many attached friends and relatives sympathize with her very sincerely, hoping and yraying she may be spared to them.

Thus far we have been able to record something in memory of a very worthy and rather remarkable person. If our readers have derived any pleasure from this sketch their thanks are largely due James McCollam and Mrs Nancy Callison, of Locust, upon whose retentive memories the writer has drawn for most of the particulars here given.

John Jordan, the pioneer, was one of the original ruling elders of the Oak Grove Presbyterian church. His house was open to Methodist and Presbyterian ministers without any apparent discrimination, and for years was one of the main preaching places for Methodist ministers. He donated the site for the Methodist church near his residence. This church was destroyed by fire, under suspicious circumstances, about sixty years ago. In its time this was the most comfortable building of the kind in Pocahontas County in possession of that sect. In his death Mr Jordan was greatly mourned, for so many felt they had been bereaved of a true and useful friend. The poorer people seem to have been especially grieved. He was buried near the ruins of the millstone Run Church, and his grave seems to have been nicely cared for. A neatly carved stone (the handiwork of the late John Bruffey) marks the place where a good man rests in hope. His life's duty is done, and with tears of genuine affection he was tenderly laid here under the trees, planted by the unseen hand of the God he served.

W. T. P.

THE LINWOOD FISHING PARTY.

A fishing party composed of C. W. Showalter, J. H. Slanker, E. S., W. B. and A. W. Gatewood, J. S. Varner, Grant Higgins, J. H. Gibson, G. P. Beverage and Dr. J. H. Lynch left this place on the 22nd for a week's fish on Gauley River. After a half-day's hard walk we reached the Sharp Camp, but, finding the fishing not good near that camp, we concluded to extend our trip on to Camp Cogar, a distance about eight miles thro the mountains. On reaching it, we went into camp for the night. After a few moments rest, the veteran cook, Charles Showalter, proceeded to prepare supper for the party, while Dr Lynch administered a few doses of Lynch's "Golden Medical Discovery" to those of the party who were very much fatigued by the hard days journey, and which seemed to have the desired effect, inasmuch as it gave each of the convalescents a ravenous appetite, such as only a fisherman can have. In the twinkling of an eye, and before the cook could remonstrate, the supper of hardtack and mountain trout had totally disappeared from the eyes of man, whereupon Dr Lynch declared that such a course was in direct opposition to the long and well established laws of digestion. The doctor's opinion, however, being over ruled, we lighted our pipes and prepared to listen to the 'wild and wooly' anecdotes told by members of the party who had 'been there before,' where the cry of panther and the howl of the wolf was the only food for the ears of man.

After listening to the recital of the hair-breadth escapes of Dr Lynch, and some of Cook Showalter's 'record breakers,' we turned to enjoy, what proved to be, an undisturbed night's repose, such as cannot be indulged in outside of the mountain fastnesses, surrounded by the wilds of nature and the fresh, invigorating, mountain air of unquestioned pureness.

We awoke with refreshed nerves, empty stomachs and a determination to conquer some of cook Showalter's "hard to tackle" grub, which, had it not been for the ever ready Dr Lynch, the medical factotum, might have cost the lives of the whole party.

After being duly recuperated by an administration of Lynch's "Compound Cow-pumpkin Pills," the party set out for the unrivaled fishing district of Gauley, where you only bait your hook and jerk 'em out like lightning. Arriving at the river we proceeded to fish down stream to the lively tune of "Fisher's Hornpipe," which was nobly rendered by and from the musical recesses of Johnny Varner. As the day and cloudless sky were most suitable for the sport, the day's fishing was a howling success, the river having been followed to what is known as the Three Forks or 'Junction Box' of the Gauley. The catch numbered between six and seven hundred of the finest specimens of mountain trout.

The only mishap that befell the party during the day was the unwarranted catch made by Grant Higgins, in which he was the unenviable hero. Thereby hangs a tale: While fishing in deep water, Grant, unfortunately, in amateur fashion, jerked the hook too hard and too soon, being of the button hook pattern; it fastened itself—no man knew where—searching for the seat of trouble, they found the hook firmly anchored in the seat of Grant's breeches, upon which a surgical operation had to be performed by the worthy Dr Lynch, which, it is unnecessary to say delivered Grant from the "hooks and crooks" of Gauley.

After this heart rending accident above described, we returned to camp, where supper was quickly prepared from the fine catch and as quickly devoured by the hungry crowd of Linwood sports.

The night was being pleasantly spent in old encounters 'lived o'er' when suddenly to the despair of all the unearthly cry of the panther—which resembles the cry of a young child—was heard. He was quickly located—subject to optical delusion—in a laurel thicket not far from camp. Armed with penknives popguns we sallied out to give battle, but were recalled by Eugene Gatewood and Johnny Varner who soon convinced us of the uselessness of giving battle with such a beast with such arms as we possessed. We soon turned in and next turned out, feeling very much refreshed. The panther scare had given us a shock as lasting and as beneficial as that of a galvanic battery. This same panther was seen by a Pennsylvania hunter last fall.

A part of the day was spent peacefully fishing on the Gauley, which at this point is a stream of considerable size. The weather being just right we made a catch of nearly five hundred. After which, bidding old Gauley an affectionate good bye, we turned our faces homeward, where we arrived safely, fortunately none the worse for the wear and tear.

That the anniversary of this trip may be celebrated in each succeeding year by each succeeding generation thro all the years to come is the burden of our hopes.

LINWOOD SPORTS.

SPEAKER REED is determined to maintain his reputation as a humorist. He is the author of a magazine article on "How the House does Business."—New York Journal.

"A little more than a year ago, my hair began turning gray, and falling out, and although I tried ever so many things to prevent a continuance of these conditions, I obtained no satisfaction until I tried Ayer's Hair Vigor. After using one bottle, my hair was restored to its natural color."*

How Old are You?

It makes no difference whether you answer or not. It is always true that "a woman is as old as she looks." Nothing sets the seal of age upon a woman's beauty so deeply, as gray hair. The hair loses its color generally from lack of nutrition. If you nourish the hair, the original color will come back. That is the way that the normal color of the hair is restored by

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

* This testimonial will be found in full in Ayer's "Curebook" with a hundred others. Free. Address J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

ESSAY ON "THE HOME."

This is one of the most beautiful of words. How many pleasant thoughts it suggests! Tender memories of father, mother, sister, brother,—all that are near and dear in life cluster around this word. Webster defines home as a dwelling place; it should be something more, an earthly paradise, where we are always sure of finding sympathy be our troubles what they may.

It requires not wealth to make a model home; a few good books and periodicals, a few pretty pictures that everyone likes to see, and flowers and music help to make home really attractive. Above all let there be kind words and loving deeds, charity for each others faults and praises for their virtues. What a contrast such a home presents to that where vice and ignorance prevail, where there are perpetual faultfindings, scolding, earboxing and hair-pulling. It is said that the home influence shapes the destiny of the child. The word "home" sounds dear to us all, be it a mansion or a cabin among the mountains. Others may have finer houses and costlier furniture, they may fare sumptously from dishes of silver and gold, but they are not to be compared with our own dear home.

A young man who has gone to seek his fortune in the world wanders far from home, at last grows weary, and like the prodigal says, "I will arise and go to my father." He returns to the old homestead, but the place is going to ruin, the fences are all down, the paths are overgrown with grass, and the beautiful flower-garden that his mother loved so well is now overrun with weeds and brambles. The father and mother, weary of watching and waiting, are now in their lowly silent graves, and the forms that he cherished are mouldering back to dust. Only the lettered stones now tell where they repose.

He is alone in the dear old home that was once so full of life, ringing with the laughter of merry girls and boys; but ah, where are those boys and girls now! Some are at rest in the churchyard forever that used to meet around this dear home-tree, while the living may be far away. As he stands looking at the familiar scenes around him a picture rises before his eyes and he sees his home as he saw it last, and himself again with father, mother, sister, and brother gathered around the fireside. There sits his mother in the old armchair with a smile on her beautiful face and her knitting in her hand. Opposite is his father (with his hair just beginning to streak with gray) reading the evening paper. Mary is playing a melody on the cottage organ while they all join in the beautiful chorus of "Home Sweet Home." The sweet music at last dies away, and he awakes from his memory dream saying, "I have learned too late that there is no place like home."

M. ETHEL SHARP, (14 years),
MILL POINT, W. VA.

Permanently Cured.

"For about two years I have suffered with diarrhoea. I used a number of remedies and was treated by physicians, but received no permanent relief. After taking a few doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, I believe that I am permanently cured."—JOAB CRITES, Tanner, Gilmer county, W. Va. This remedy is sold by Ricketts & Co., Marlinton; Amos Barlow, Huntersville; Barlow & Moore, Edray; and E. H. Moore & Co., Academy.

The Pocahontas Times.

JULY 9, 1897.

Local Events.

Hear, Land o' Cakes and brither Scots,
Frae Maidenkirk to Johnny Groats,
If there's a hole in a' your coats,
I rede ye tent it;
A chiel's amang you takin' notes,
An' faith he'll prent it.—BURNS

SOME of the heaviest rains of the season fell about the head of Stony Creek, Sunday and Monday afternoons. The freshly worked corn was washed considerably.

THE recent rains have put the Greenbrier on quite a respectable boom, much to the delight of venturesome swimmers and the persecuted bass.

REPORTS come from Nicholas and Braxton and contiguous counties of the greatest rains and freshets ever known to have been in that section.

A PICNIC, composed mostly of young people from Edray, was held at the mouth of Stony Creek Saturday, and all seem to have had a pleasant time, barring one accident with a boat in which no one was hurt.

IN the somewhat conspicuous advertisement of the 4th of July picnic at Green Bank, last week, the name of the management should have been printed "G. D. Oliver & Co." We are requested to make the correction.

MISS JENNIE GAY, near Edray has a show cabinet that is a genuine curiosity. It is filled with candy toys, stick candy, and maple-sugar cakes. There is a candy pear that has been in the cabinet more than twenty years, and numerous other things of the kind kept from one to fifteen years in a good state of preservation.

ON Saturday, July 3, quite a number of persons assembled in the Hamline Grove on Stony Creek. Prof Davis Barlow delivered a patriotic address, and impromptu remarks by Messrs G. H. McLaughlin and Newton Duffield. Messrs. Waugh, Carter and Rorke led the singing. Messrs Doyle and Moore had a booth for refreshments that was well patronized.

HENRY BARLOW, Esqr., near Edray, has in his possession a wonderfully voracious horse. This animal broke into a three acre cornfield last Monday, night and Mr. Barlow positively and repeatedly asserts that the horse did not leave a single stalk, in the whole field, as large as his leg. Such a horse should be looked after for he might be for sale on terms that would not suit persons aiming to raise such large corn, as the kind just referred to.

AS PARIS leads the fashion in dress, so the Golden Store leads in low prices. Some will offer you goods that are shiny and shoddy—made to sell at a bargain. I frankly acknowledge that I cannot afford to sell such goods. It is my business to see that you get every penny's worth of quality, whatever you purahase. Six dozen jar gum rings for 25c. (You are used to pay 10c per dozen. If you are in need of Mason's fruit-jars, please dont forget that I have just received quite a lot of them, bought before jars advanced. Prices guaranteed. PAUL GOLDEN.

WEDNESDAY noon, June 30th, a very nice, quiet marriage service was celebrated at the home of Wm. H. Gabbert, in the vicinity of Huntersville, when his eldest daughter, Miss Agnes Estie, and Letcher Joshua Barnes were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. Wm. T. Price. A few of the nearest relatives were present, besides the attendants. A bountiful and nicely prepared dinner was served up. Later in the afternoon the guests dispersed, having had a very enjoyable time, and all sincerely wishing their young married friends all possible happiness and prosperity in their new life.

THE Bailey House, at Weston, is a hotel where each day at noon chicken is served for dinner. It is said that a provision in the will of the former owner required that chicken should be on the table at least once a day as long as the building should be used as a hotel, and that it has been complied with for twenty five years. Preachers love to drop in for the midday meal and it would make an excellent retreat for retired clergymen who have acquired the chicken habit. Upon the whole we fear that the lie about the Bailey House is an untruth, but like the defunct roosters of that weather beaten hostelry it does to fill up.

A LONDON practitioner of medicine, after taking a somewhat lengthy ride on a bicycle, has this to say as to what happened to him: "Paræthesise in the fourth and fifth fingers, with impaired sensibility, and peresis in the interrossel-lumbricals and the adductor pollicis." This diagnosis is herewith published so that our Marlinton bicyclists when feeling badly after a spin will know what the matter is according to the London doctor, and govern themselves accordingly. There is nothing like knowing things. According to this presentation of the matter nothing stronger than pennyroyal tea and two days' rest will be requisite for satisfactory recuperation from such effects.

LAST week the Pope Company announced a reduction of 25 per cent. on Columbias. This action affects the world's bicycle market.

LLOYD MCNEEL, Esqr., eldest son of Captain William L. McNeel, was expected in from the State of Washington this week. It is eighteen years since he was last here.

The teacher's institute will meet at this place August 9. Major J. R. Lee of Lewisburg and Professor R E Lowe of Hinton are the Instructors.

THE people of Edray and points beyond are in a bad shape about their mail. The mail leaves for Mingo, since July 1, at 7 A. M., and at 10 A. M. the Lewisburg mail, containing all their railroad mail, arrives here and the mail is held here until the next day. This will compel the people of Edray to get their mail by the way of Beverly.

THE delegates of Highland county were instructed for J. Hoge Tyler for Governor of Virginia. To all appearances Tyler will receive about two thirds of the vote of the Roanoke Convention. If Taylor Ellyson is defeated, Richmond will have to continue to wait furnish to a Governor of the State.

E. D. KING has returned from Webster County where he has been building a church. He reports matters as dull in that county. The new 73 room hotel at Addison is finished. There are very few visitors at the springs there as yet. He also says that he has no fixed intention of moving to Addison, as was reported.

WE learn from the Bath News that Tuesday, June 29, Mr. James Law, whose home is between the Warm and Hot Springs, attempted to stop a runaway team. He was knocked down and the hind foot of the horse struck him in the stomach, then both wheels of the heavily loaded, four-horse wagon passed over his prostrate body. His injuries were such that he died in a very short time. He was between sixty and seventy yeas of age, and much esteemed as an honest and straight forward citizen.

THE late rains have caused big floods in many places. Gauley River was higher last Thursday than any time in the memory of man. Elk River was as high almost as last year and much damage was done. The Sutton boom broke, and at Charleston a large lot of timber and ties passed out into the river. Near Marlinton Swago and Stony Creek have been high a number of times. The Dry Branch of Swago was wetter than it has been since the war, as it took out logs cut into the bed of the run by John Armrtrong directly after the war. A drummer was watering his horse at the ford at Buckeye and saw the water coming in a wave of about four feet high. Before he could drive out the water almost ran in his buggy, and by the time he reached the bank the stream could not have been forded. Indian Draft came down in a tidal wave last Thursday. This is a warm wet summer so far.

Personal Mention.

Mrs Wm. Siple has a case of typhoid.

Penick Rorke is at home from a Webster lumber camp after an absence of fifteen months.

Miss Gertrude Bird is visiting her sister, Mrs Lloyd Moore, of Charlottsville.

Miss Pearl Yeager, of Travelers Repose, is visiting friends and relatives in Marlinton.

Miss Mattie Correll, of Frankford, is spending some time with her cousin, Miss Sallie Yeager.

Mrs Henry Moore, of Driftwood, was visiting her brother Jame Auldridge, last Saturday.

William Sharp and daughter, of Clover Creek, were visiting friends and relatives on Stony Creek during 'the Fourth.'

Dr E. Snoden Moomau and family, of Lewisburg, have been visiting Dr Moomau and friends at Green Bank. The party returned home last week.

John A. McLaughlin, who is travelling in the interest of a Cumberland grocery firm, spent some days in Marlinton, and reports business as encouraging in his line.

M. G. Matthews, a veteran school teacher and ex-superintendent of schools, has been in Marlinton for some weeks. His health is much improved.

Mrs Clara Rader, from Greenbrier, is with her brother, Boyd Bartlett. She is in very infirm health and her friends fear that her mind is permanently affected.

Professor Walter S. Anderson, Principal of the Alleghany Collegiate Institute, Alderson, W. Va., was in Marlinton Saturday in the interest of his school.

Dr W. E. Price, late of South Dakota, and brother are in this county looking after their interests in grazing lands cattle and on Elk.

Mrs Catherine Ratliff, near Marlinton, was called last week to the bedside of her father, Elisha Jacobs, who is very sick at his home on Anthony's Creek. Mr Jacobs was a resident of this county for many years, coming here from Botetourt county more than fifty years ago. He is about eighty-seven years of age and is a very worthy citizen.

The Shue Murder Trial.

Trout Shue, formerly of Droop Mountain, was found guilty of murder in the first degree, in the Greenbrier court, the jury recommending a life sentence. The evidence was convincing that Shue had murdered his wife by breaking her neck, and the case presented this aspect, that the woman died of a broken neck, and that it was impossible for her to break it herself, and that no one could have done it except her husband. What was the closing scene of the woman's life will probably never be known, but the explanation of the "vision" of the woman's mother gives a very striking suggestion of the last quarrel which ended in the death of the woman. She said that her daughter appeared to her and said that on the last evening she had gotten a good supper except there was no meat on the table, and that her husband had become enraged on account of it. Shue is a bad man and he has no sympathy from the neighborhood in which he was raised.

From an exchange we gather the following facts concerning the murder, all of which point to Shue as the murderer:

About 10 o'clock on the morning of the day, January 23, 1897, on which Mrs E. S. Shue was found dead, E. S. Shue, the prisoner, after having been to his blacksmith shop, went to the house of a negro woman and asked the son of this woman to go to his house and hunt the eggs and then go to Mrs Shue and see if she wanted to send to the store for any thing. This negro boy went to the house of Shue, and after looking for eggs and finding none, he went to the house, knocked and received no response, opened the door and went in. He found the dead body of Mrs Shue lying upon the floor. The body was lying stretched out perfectly straight with feet together, one hand by the side and the other lying across the body, the head was slightly inclined to one side. The negro boy ran and told his mother that Mrs Shue was dead and then went on the black-smith shop and told E. S. Shue, the prisoner, that his wife was dead. Shue and the negro woman ran to the house, both arriving there about the same time. Dr Knapp was called in after the body had been laid out and dressed and pronounced Mrs Shue dead. The dress in which the corpse was dressed had a high, stiff collar. There were slight discolorations on the right side of the neck and right cheek. The Doctor unfastened ,the collar and examined the front of the neck and right cheek and was about to examine the back of the neck when Shue, the prisoner, protested so vigorously that he desisted from further examination left the house. The body was taken to the Meadows and buried. A few weeks afterwards owing to suspicious conduct and conversations of the prisoner, a post mortem examination was ordered. This examination was conducted by Drs Knapp, Rupert and McClung. The examination disclosed that the neck was dislocated between the first and second cerebral vertebrae. The ligaments were torn and ruptured. The windpipe had been crushed at a point in front of the neck. All other portions and organs of the body were apparently in a perfectly healthy state.

The Fourth in Marlinton.

The "Fourth" was very much in evidence about Marlinton, notwithstanding the abnormal thermal state of the temperature. The juveniles, male and female, met at an early hour under and around the umbrageous sugar-maple that is such a conspicuous feature of the Price orchard. The time was passed in games, romps, and discussing the ample refreshments found in the lunch-baskets filed to repletion with the best that kind mothers could think of.

Such scenes prompt us to sing:

"My country, 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty,
Of thee I sing.
Land where my fathers died,
Land of the pilgrim's pride,
From every mountain side
Let freedom ring."

While the juveniles were 'letting freedom ring' in the refreshing shade of the maple tree, the young gentlemen and ladies of the Marlinton society met in the afternoon at the temporary court-house, and from reports had one of the best times anywhere in sight. The hours sped away on fleetest wing, and when the assembly dispersed and the young patriots paired off for the homeward promenade some no doubt wished the 'glorious 4th' would visit this beautiful valley more often than what it does.

Again we feel like singing:

"My native country, thee,
Land of the noble free,
Thy name I love.
I love thy rocks and rills,
Thy woods and templed hills,
My heart with rapture thrills
Like that above."

Camp Items.

W. McClintic has moved to his lower camp, where he will remain until he has finished his job. He is working from thirty-five to forty men.

James Sheets is the cook and M. L. Barnes cookee.

The wind storm we had the other day blew lots of timber down.

People are making great preparation for the 4th of July.

DABBEE.

Races at Mingo.

On Wednesday, June 30, Mingo and district turned out "en masse" to witness the gymkhana races on the Mingo track. The weather was all that could be desired; but the track was very heavy owing to the previous night's rain, and the unfortunate ones who got left behind in the different races were fairly plastered with mud.

A start was made with the mule race for which four mules faced the starter. A slashing race ended in a dead heat between "Toby" (O. N. Miles up) and "Patrick" (J. C. Forster), both animals belonging to James Hebden. In the final heat "Patrick" won a good race from L. Tuke's "Desdemona" with "Toby" third.

The next event on the card was a private match between Mr L. Tuke's sorrel colt "Sultan" and Mr Oswald Miles' brown gelding "Agent" ($10 a side.) Agent started a hot favorite and won easily.

The hurdle race was the chief attraction, for which there were six horses entered. (N. B. We understand that the store sold out all the cobbler's wax the day before.) In the first heat Squire Grews' black bull "Dandy Dick," with J. Forster up, easily beat Mr Elihu Ward's grey mare "Thomasina," the mount of L. Tuke. In the second heat "Sweet Marie," owner up, won in a common canter from old man Dakers' roan horse "Ormonde," who refused the second flight of hurdles and deposited "Dan" onto his back into the mud; he was veritably 'Dirty Dan' when he picked himself up. Mr James Hebden's "Sister Mary," with Miss Forster in the saddle, gave Ernest Hebden's "Miss Muffett" wot cheer in the third heat. Miss Muffett fell at the first hurdle, and thereby lost a lot of ground. Dandy Dick, Sister Mary, and Sweet Marie contested the final heat, which was run at a cracking pace, and won rather easily by the latter, with Sister Mary third.

There were three teams for the tandem race, (ride one horse and drive the other), the winning team being "Pepita" and Sister Mary, who went splendidly together; L. Tuke was second with Sultan and Agent, and Grews' horses parted company.

The road cart race was the piece de resistance, and afforded much wagering. Squire Grews with the old champion "Belle," and "Pepita," driven by J. Forster were the only competitors. Belle made the pace a cracker to the bottom turn, but Pepita bringing the Lawsonian sulky along with a tremendous rattle won an exciting race by two lengths. A vast sum of money is believed to have been lost over this race.

Taylor Painter's brown cob "Cheat Mountain" won the scrub race in a canter with the featherweight Ernest Rhea riding; Jake Mace's "Mace Knob" being second.

Ernest Hebden on "Ormonde" swallowed his beer the quickest in the beer and cigarette race, and "Pepita" won the novelty race.

The Askham stable scooped the board, winning every race bar one.

Much disappointment was felt at the non-appearance of Mr Montague's Crippled Cricket, as her owner is said to have planked his last dollar on her road-cart race chance. We don't think, however, the fair Cricket would have had a show; the superior coachmanship of the jehus, and the pace would have smothered her. What think you, Carey?

The proceedings terminated sharp to time, and every one returned home hugely pleased with the day's sport, and voted the gymkhana the best wot ever was seen on the Mingo track.

The Presidential Meeting.

About the largest crowd that can be gathered around here in this day and age of the world assembled at Swago Sunday to the services conducted by Revs Smith and Perry. People thronged to hear these popular preachers in carriages, on bicycles and horseback, in roadwagons and afoot. The church being much too small for the occasion, the services were conducted in the woods, and nobody found cause to complain that they couldn't get in the church.

The church attendance at Marlinton and other points was very small that day, but the few present have the well-worn but by no means threadbare scripture phrase to cheer them, "Where two or three are gathered together in Thy name there art Thou in the midst of them."

NEARLY everywhere a binder is used we notice that the farmer has taken great pains to cut around it with the cradle, so that the machine could compass the field without mashing down the grain. We are informed that, unless the farmer wishes to keep his hand in at cradling, it is wholly unnecessary to cut the longest swath in the field by hand. By reversing the direction with the binder the grain is cut and saved much cleaner and better than can be done with a cradle. This we saw tried around a large field. The grain was beat by the passing over it of the horses and machine, but it leaned in the right direction and it was gathered up very cleanly by the binder. As to acreage, one man in the Levels claims to have cut fifteen acres in one day, which done by hand would take at least twelve men.

BOARDS OF EDUCATION.

The various boards met and laid levies last Monday. Below is a report of the orders made.

Edray District.

Met at Marlinton court-house, where future meetings will be held. J. H. Patterson elected Secretary for the ensuing year.

Levy 40 cents for teachers' fund and 12½ cents for building fund.

Number of schools to be maintained, (including one colored school), 26; teachers 27. Two teachers allowed east Marlinton.

Salaries $25, $22, and $18.

Petitions for new schools near John A. Beverage's and Page Gay's refused.

Trustees appointed.

Huntersville District.

W. H. Grose, Secretary.

Eighteen schools to be run, including one colored school.

Salaries to be paid: $25, $22, and $18.

S. J. Boggs appointed depositary of school-books for Huntersville district.

Petition for schools at Brown's Creek and Mount Tabor to be consolidated was tabled.

Levy, 50c for teachers' fund, 21c for building fund.

A new house will be built for the Belcher school on Beaver Creek.

Levels District.

W. W. Ruckman appointed Secretary, vice R. W. Hill, resigned. Trustees appointed; fifteen schools to be maintained. Salaries: $25, $22.50, and $18.

Levy, 25c for teachers' fund and 11c for building fund.

S. J. Payne appointed school-book depositary.

FEED STABLES. Twenty-three stalls. Plenty of box-stalls for those wishing them. Best stables in town. 100 yards from the court-house. Will feed and care for horses in best style.

WILLIAM SIPLE,
Marlinton, W. Va.

COMMISSIONER'S NOTICE.

Commissioner's Office,
Marlinton, W. Va,
June, 21, 1897.

Nora Susan Herold, et als.
vs.
Wise Herold, et als.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, rendered in the above styled cause at the June Term, 1897, of said court, I will proceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, West Virginia, on the 1st day of September, 1897, to take state and report to court the following matters of account, to wit:

1. An account showing what debts, if any, against the estate of Washington L. Herold remain unpaid.

2. An account of the liens binding the lands in the bill and proceedings mentioned, whether arising under the will of the said Washington L. Herold, deceased, or the agreement between R. D. and Wise Herold, a copy of which is filed with the original bill marked "B"; or by judgment or otherwise, and showing their respective dates, dignities, and priorities.

3. An account of the lands on which said liens rest, together with the annual and fee simple value thereof.

4. Any other matter, &c.

W. A. BRBTTON,
Commissioner in Chancery.

Notice to Lien Holders,

To all persons holding liens by judgment or otherwise on the real estate or any part thereof of Wise Herold:

In pursuance of a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, made in a cause therein pending, to subject the real estate of the said Wise Herold to the satisfaction of the liens thereon you are hereby required to present all claims held by you and each of you against the said Wise Herold, which are liens on his real estate or any part thereof, for adjudication to me at my office in the town of Marlinton, West Virginia, on the 1st day of September, 1897.

W. A. BRATTON,
Commissioner.

Weak Lungs

Hot weather won't cure weak lungs. You may feel better because out of doors more, but the trouble is still there. Don't stop taking your because the weather happens to be warm. If you have a weak throat, a slight hacking cough, or some trouble with the bronchial tubes, summer is the best time to get rid of it. If you are losing flesh there is all the more need of attention. Weakness about the chest and thinness should never go together. One greatly increases the danger of the other. Heal the throat, cure the cough, and strengthen the whole system now. Keep taking Scott's Emulsion all summer.

Scott's Emulsion

For sale by all druggists at 50c and $1.00.

The Osborne

SPRING-TOOTH HARROW.

The frames are made in one piece of steel angle bar, and formed to withstand all strain without buckling or warping. The teeth in this harrow are so spaced that they will not trail each other, Pulverizing the ground thoroughly. The steel pipe tooth bars are mounted in maleable boxes secured to the frame, and will not bend or break. The peculiar shape of the teeth curling twothirds about the bar gives the greatest amount of spring possible without straining the bolts, and because of their shape and fastening are stronger than used on any other harrow. By the levers the depth of work can be regulated while the harrow is in motion. The draft is steady and direct as the harrow has no side motion.

ALL THESE FEATURES COMBINED HAVE MADE THE OSBORNE CELEBRATED.

It has no EQUAL,—it never will have a SUPERIOR.

Call and examine the Osborne line consisting of—
BINDERS, MOWERS, RAKES, TEDDERS, HARROWS AND CULTIVATORS.

The most complete line of Farming Implements to be found in the State.

FOR SALE BY—
EAGLE & OTT,
RONCEVERTE, W. VA.

RETURN THANKS!

CUSTOMERS, I do thank you for your liberal patronage—but you all soon learn where you can buy goods the cheapest.

YOU KNOW
I can sell the best and cheapest goods, for I do not have to make allowance for bad debts, nor pay out for book keeping.

I SELL
for cash and good produce—no credit. In this way I can keep up my stock at cash prices. I can give you bargains in Dry Goods, Groceries Boy's Clothes, Hats,—and, in fact, everything in my store is sold at a bargain.

Examine my stock before you buy elsewhere. It is being constantly renewed.

Yours Respectfully,
S. J. BOGGS
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

KEEP YOUR BOWELS STRONG ALL SUMMER!
CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
CURE CONSTIPATION
REGULATE THE LIVER
10¢ 25¢ 50¢
ALL DRUGGISTS
A tablet now and then will prevent diarrhœa, dysentery, all summer complaints, causing easy, natural results. Sample and booklet free. Ad. STERLING REMEDY CO., Chicago, Montreal, Can., or New York. 270

The Golden Store.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 14, NO. 51 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, JULY 16, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 11.—Polished Solid Oak 5-Drawer Chiffonier, 53 inches high, 30½ inches long, 18 inches deep. It is well constructed and has good locks on each drawer. Special price, (Orders promptly filled).

$3.39

Our success is not accidental. It is the reward of 48 years of honorable business. Our experience in the Furniture and Carpet business is yours for the asking. Our immense illustrated catalogue of Furniture, Oil Cloths, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Bedding, Springs, Steel Beds, etc., is free to all who write for it, and we pay all postage. If you ask your local dealers' advice you will not send for our catalogue, as he will lose a customer. If you consult your pocket-book and want double value for your dollars, you will deal with the manufacturers. Send your name on a postal now.

Julius Hines & Son
BALTIMORE, MD.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH.
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

PISO'S CURE FOR
[illegible]
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

The Pocahontas Times.

STARVING MINERS.

MOVEMENTS of more than ordinary interest are going on in the coal regions of ten States. The situation is such that no reflecting patriot can consider it without feelings of serious apprehension. There must be something of more than ordinary import that makes three hundred thousand laboring people restless and impatient. So far as they have given expression for the reasons of their discontent, they declare that if they continue to work at the wages now given, they and their families must go without the comforts of life and some of the necessities besides. It seems they have decided that if starvation is bound to be without striking, they may as well starve while doing what they can to improve their prospects for the future.

The miners complain that low as wages are, they are wronged, gievously wronged in the measurement of their work by screens of illegal width, and by being compelled to deal at 'company stores' and dwell in 'company houses,' exacting prices and rents are thus made. Being discharged from employment is the penalty for living or trading elsewhere.

In making these complaints, the miners are amply supported by what investigating committees sent out by various State legislatures have from time to time reported for years past..

And when we turn to the mine operators and consider what they have to say in this perilous discussion, we find it most vehemently asserted that they cannot pay more wages and do business at a profit. and they tell us too that those operators who do not resort to those devices of extortion, "company stores and houses," are at twenty per cent. disadvantage in competing with mine operators who have the stores and the houses.

Let all this be as it may, one thing is very certain, that in the States of Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Illinois, Indiana, Alabama, Iowa and Kentucky the working people in the coal regions are now living so near absolute want and suffering that desperation has become, to use a medical expression, 'chronic and confirmed.' And those people, be they Congressmen, Senators or leading citizens, who expect contentment, home building the proper education and training of children, and good citizenship under the conditions complained of, would be the right kind of persons to send to a thicket of thorn trees to gather baskets of grapes.

The situation seems charged with the elements of an insurrection or revolution, and the whole nation has a more than a common interest in it. Here are suffering citizens by the half-million, moving together in the belief that they are struggling for food and shelter, raiment and education for their wives and children and themselves. People in such a situation do not reason as lawyers would or as prosperous, well fed citizens do.

From what has happened in former strikes, of much less proportions, it is at least dreaded that if this contest lasts any length of time there will be deeds of extended violence and destruction. It looks as if the operators are of the impression, such might be the case, from the way detectives are said to be swarming into the disturbed localities. Let violent measures once open, then the militia will turn out, the Federal troops close in the rear, and then for scenes of blood and fire that will break all records. O, that the Golden Rule could be more in evidence than what it seems to have been, for then all controversies could be settled, or rather there would have been none to be settled, at such a perilous risk as now impends.

S. C. R.

IF you are troubled with falling dandruff, eczema of the scalp, or inclined to grayness, use the best preparation to correct and cure—Hall's Hair Renewer.

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

The McCollams.

ONE of the oldest families in our county is that of the McCollam relationship. While it is not certain, yet there is good reason to believe that the pioneer ancestor was named Dan. McCollam. From some interesting correspondence had by James McCollam's family with a lady in New Hampshire there is no reason to question that he was of Scotch-Irish descent, and the son of a physician a graduate of the University of Edinburg, and lived in New Jersey. The name of the pioneer's wife cannot be recalled.

Mr McCollam the ancestor came from New Jersen in 1770, or thereabouts, and settled on Brown's Mountain near Driscol, which is yet known as the "McCollam Place," now in the possession of Amos Barlow, Esq. His children were Jacob, Daniel, William, Rebecca, Mary, and Sarah.

Jacob McCollam first settled on the "Jake Place," a mile or so west of Huntersville on the road to Marlinton; thence he went to Illinois, and was killed by a falling tree.

Daniel McCollam married Anna Sharp, daughter of John Sharp, the Frost pioneer, and settled first on the Bridger Place near Verdant Valley, thence to the Marony place near Buckeye, and finally settled in Noble County, Missouri. Two of his daughters remained in Pocahontas. Mary (Polly) who became Mrs John Buckley. Her son is the Rev Joshua Buckley, a venerable and greatly respected citizen of Buckeye. The other daughter, Jane McCollam, was married to the late Joseph Friel and lived on the Greenbrier about five miles above Marlinton, where some of her family yet reside. Rachel and Nancy went with their father to Missouri. Rachel became Mrs VanTansell and Nancy became Mrs Brown. Daniel McCollam set out to visit his former home, and while coming up the Ohio he was exposed to the smallpox. He at once went back and died of the disease in his western home.

Rebecca McCollam, daughter of the pioneer, was married to the late Robert Moore, senior, of Edray. Isaac Moore, Esq., Robert Moore, junior, and Jane Moore, the wife of the late Andrew Duffield, near West Union, were her children.

Sarah McCollam, daughter of the ancestor, was married to John Sharp, and lived on the place occupied by J. Wesley Irvine, near Verdant Valley, who is her grandson. Ellen, who became Mrs Amaziah Irvine; Mary, who became Mrs Josiah Friel; Rebecca, who was Mrs John R. Duffield; and Nancy, who was Mrs William Irvine, were her daughters.

Mary McCollam, daughter of the pioneer, was married to Thomas Brock and lived on the "Duffield Place," now held by Newton Duffield. Her children were Daniel Brock, who married a Miss McClung, of Nicholas County; William Brock, Robert Brock, and Margaret, wife of the late William Duffield, near the Warwick spring.

William McCollam, son of the original ancestor, married Sally Drinnan, daughter of Lawrence Drinnan, whose home was on Greenbrier River, on the upper part of Levi Gay's farm, very near the bank of the stream. It is to be remembered as the place where James Baker, one of the first school-teachers, was slain by an Indian warrior about 1786. Soon after his marriage he settled near the summit of Buck's Mountain, about 1798, perhaps three hundred yards of the residence now occupied by his son, James McCollam, Esq. Traces of the old home are yet visible (1897.) His family consisted of five sons and six daughters. John, Lawrence, William, Isaac, James, Sarah, Susan, Nancy, Matilda, Rebecca, and Ruth.

John McCollam went to Lincoln County, Tennessee, where one of his descendants became an eminent Baptist minister.

Lawrence McCollam died in 1861.

William McCollan died in youth.

Isaac McCollam married Margaret Thomas, daughter of John Thomas, and settled in Randolph County. Fletcher McCollam, near the head of Stony Creek, is a son of Isaac.

James McCollam first marrried Anna Jane McCoy and settled on Buck's Mountain near the old homestead. George W. McCollam a well-known citizen, is his son.

James McCollam's second wife was Miss Mary Anna Overholt.

Sarah McCollam, daughter of William McCollam, became Mrs Absalom Morrison and lived on Hill's Creek. The late William Morrison, at Buckeye, was her son.

Susan was married to the late James Kellison, on Briar Knob, head of Hill's Creek, south-west Pocahontas. Daniel Kellison, Esq., at Mingo Flats, Randolph County, is her son.

The daughters, Nancy, Matilda, and Rebecca were never married. They lived to be elderly persons, and were much esteemed for their good character, industry, and lady-like deportment, and made themselves very useful in many ways. All of them were so kind and skillful in waiting on their sick neighbors.

Ruth McCollam was married to William Kee, Esq., near Marlinton. Her children were Eliza Kee a popular teacher of schools, and died in 1861. Her mother's heart was so much broken by the loss of her devoted daughter that she never appeared the same. She died last February very suddenly.

George M. Kee, a Confederate soldier, justice of the peace, and commissioner of the court, lives on part of the Kee homestead. His first wife was Jane Palser, and sec- wife Rachel Moore.

William L. Kee, Esq., married Miss Kate Phares, in Randolph County. He is an eminent lawyer and had a government position under the Cleveland administration.

Matilda Kee was married to Captain J. R. Apperson, and lives near Marlinton.

Thus far it has been placed in our power to illustrate the family history of these worthy people.

William McCollam was one of the original members of the Stony Creek M. E. Church, and while he lived was prominent in meetings and the official proceedings. Upon one occasion while the parents were absent attending meeting or visiting the sick, the house caught fire and was consumed with the most of its contents. At the time of the burning, John, the eldest son, was about eight years old; Lawrence was about two. In the confusion the baby boy seems to have been forgotten, and when John asked where is the baby he was told by one of the little girls that he was in the cradle asleep. John pressed through the smoke and heat at the risk of his life, and brought his little brother out alive, but in doing so both were so badly burned as to have scars upon their persons long as they lived.

This man toiled on, however, rebuilt his humble home, opened more land, and in the meanwhile eleven children had gathered around his table. At the time when his care and presence seemed most needed it seemed good to the God he loved to call him away from a responsibility so important. The sugar season had just opened, the morning was such as to indicate a heavy run, and much wood were needed to keep the kettles boiling fast enough to reduce properly the luscious syrup. On the fourth of March, 1818, he had morning prayer, sang a hymn of praise to Him that watches the sparrow when it falls, and went forth cheerfully to his work. A large redoak-tree suited to his purpose was selected, which soon bowed and fell before his stalwart blows, but somehow a limb from another tree in its rebound smote him with such a furious force that he never seemed conscious of what had happened. This occured about a mile from home, near where James Hannah lives.

Tho all this was sudden, yet there has never been a misgiving about the certainty of his having found rest from his honest toil and efforts to meet his duties,—the rest that remains for the people of God. He had learned from his Scotch-Irish ancestry to sing:

> "The sword, the pestilence, or fire,
> Shall but fulfill their best desire,
> From sin and sorrow set them free
> And bring thy children, Lord, to thee."

W. T. P.

AN INDIAN CAPTIVE.

From an old history of Virginia we find the personal experience of one who was captured by the Indians.

About 1775, James Moore moved to Tazewell County, Virginia, and settled in Abb's Valley. His parents were of those driven from Scotland in the persecution of the Covenanters by Charles I., and and having settled for a while in the north of Ireland before emigrating to America, were known as the Scotch-Irish. He had moved from Walker's Creek in Rockbridge County.

On the 14th of June, 1786, his whole family was massacred by the Indians or taken captive. He had prospered greatly, and at the time of the raid he had 100 head of horses and a good stock of cattle. On the fatal morning a gang of horses had come in to the lick-blocks about one hundred yards from the house, and James Moore took his salt-bag and went to salt them. His two hands were reaping wheat. The Indians, about 30 in number, had been lying in ambush and rushed in and killed two children who were coming from the spring, and George Simpson, an old man in the house. They took the rest of the family as prisoners. The father hearing the shots tried to get to the house, but finding it surrounded rushed past it and would have escaped but stopped on a fence within rifle-shot as tho he would return. There he was killed, seven balls traversing his body.

Of the prisoners, John, a boy weak in mind and body, was tomahawked; the baby was fretful, so an Indian took it by its feet and dashed its brains out against a tree: when they they reached the towns near the Scioto River Mrs Moore and her daughter Jane were slowly burned to death at the stake. Mary Moore was released from captivity and returned to Rockbridge County, and she afterwards married a minister of the gospel by the name of Rev Samuel Brown. Of her children five became Presbyterian ministers, one of whom, Rev Samuel Brown, died a few years ago near Millboro.

The child Mary Moore owed her release, probably, to her meeting with her brother James, who had been captured by the Indians in 1784, when he wss 14 years old. It is of his personal experience written by himself that is so interesting.

On the 7th of September, 1784, nearly two years before the family was broken up by the Indians, James Moore was sent by his father to catch a horse to go to mill twelve miles away. The horse was at a waste plantation about two and a half miles from the house, but he had always been accustomed to going about the woods alone and had never minded it. On this day he claims to have had a strong and overpowering presentiment of impending evil. The thought of Indians was constantly in his mind and he was constantly looking back and trembling. He would have returned home but for fear that his father would be displeased with such an excuse. When near the field his fears were realized by three Indians springing suddenly from behind a log. It seems that being captured he lost his fear of the Indians. The party was composed of three Indians, the leader of whom was Black Wolf, a middle-aged man with a black beard. The others were about eighteen years of age. All were of the Shawnee tribe. They tried to make him catch a horse for them, but as they would come charging up as soon as he had his hand on one, for fear of his mounting and escaping, the horse would break away. After a time they gave up the idea, and about one o'clock they got their kettles and blankets and set out for the Ohio.

The walking was bad and they made only about eight miles that day. When the prisoner attempted to break the bushes or scrape the ground to leave marks he was threatened with the tomahawk, and he finally desisted. In the evening Black Wolf gave a tremendous war-whoop and in the morning about sunrise another. This indicated that they were returning with one prisoner. A different call indicated when they had scalps. This whoop was given every morning and evening during the whole journey. The first night out was rainy. The party crawled into a laurel thicket and slept without food or fire. After searching him for a knife, Black wolf tied a leading halter around his prisoner's neck and wrapped the other end around his hand. Moore says he slept tolerably well that night and that he was perfectly resigned to his fate.

The next day they journeyed down Tug River and crossed Tug Mountain. Here Black Wolf stepped to one side and brought a dutch oven which he gave to the white boy to carry. For three days they traveled without any sustenance whatever except some water in which poplar bark had been steeped. On the fourth day they killed a buffalo, took out the paunch, rinsed it a little, cut it up put it in the kettle with some flesh and made broth. Of this they drank very heartily, but ate no meat. After night another kettle was boiled and eaten, but no meat. This is Indian policy after fasting.

During the whole journey the prisoner was barefooted. He walked over rattlesnakes, but was not permitted to kill any, as the Indians regarded them as their friends. After this they killed deer or buffalo whenever they needed anything to eat.

They crossed the Ohio between the mouths of Guyondot and Big Sandy rivers, on logs lashed together with grape-vines. They reached their towns near where Chillicothe now stands twenty days after they set out. On the banks of the Scioto they remained one day, and left pictures representing three Indians and one prisoner. Two years after the others of the family who were brought this far were shown these pictures and the meaning explained by the Indians. The route taken by these three Indians and their boy prisoner must have lain through McDowell, Wyoming, Logan (or Mingo), and Wayne Counties.

Young Moore remained with the Indians that winter and was sold to a detroit trader next spring for $50. His little sister was afterwords taken north and sold for a half a gallon of rum, and was found by her brother. The administrator of their father's estate, Thomas Ivings, came north to look for his sister, Martha Ivings, the hired girl who was also taken prisoner, and finding her and the two surviving children of the pioneer of Abb's Valley brought them back to Virginia.

THE address made by Capt. T. H. Dennis, before the Editorial Association at Weston, on "The Law of Libel," is highly complimented by many of the editors, as being able and timely. Henceforth Captain Dennis is to be referred to as an authority on that subject.

Sweetness and Light.

Put a pill in the pulpit if you want practical preaching for the physical man; then put the pill in the pillory if it does not practise what it preaches. There's a whole gospel in Ayer's Sugar Coated Pills; a "gospel of sweetness and light." People used to value their physic, as they did their religion,—by its bitterness. The more bitter the dose the better the doctor. We've got over that. We take "sugar in ours"—gospel or physic—now-a-days. It's possible to please and to purge at the same time. There may be power in a pleasant pill. That is the gospel of

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

More pill particulars in Ayer's Curebook, 100 pages. Sent free. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

A Strange Dinner.

The following account of the strangest dinner ever eaten since the apple was bitten in Eden, nearly six thousand years since, should interest our readers. It gives a clue to what has become a leading industry of the times, canning and refridgerating food products:

Perhaps the most remarkable dinner on record was that given by an antiquarian named Goebel in the city of Brussels, a short time since.

At the dinner were apples that ripened more than 1800 years ago, bread made from wheat grown before the children of Isreal passed thro the Red Sea, and spread with butter that was made whe Elizabeth was Queen of England. The repast was washed down with wine that was old when Columbus was was playing withe boys of Genoa.

The apples were taken from an earthen jar taken from the ruins of Pompeii, the wheat was taken from a chamber in one of the pyramids, the butter from a stone shelf in an old well in Scotland where for several centuries it had lain in an earthen crock in icy water, and the wine was recovered from an old vault in the city of Corinth.

There were six guests at the table, and each had a mouthful of bread and a teaspoonful of the wine but was permitted to help himself bountifully to the butter, there being several pounds of it. The apple jar held about two thirds of a gallon. The fruit was as sweet and as finely flavored as if it had been preserved but a few months.

OUR acknowledgements are due Rev. Dr. L. H. Blanton, Chancellor of the Central University, of Richmond Kentucky, for the 23d annual catalog, just issued. Kentucky is a grand State and it seems to have a university in keeping with its reputation. The university embraces three colleges, two institutes, and one university school. The aggregate number of students is eight hundred and fifty-nine. These are instructed by eighty-two Professors, many of whom are of high reputation. All desired information as to particulars will be cheerfully furnished by L. H. Blanton, D. D., Chancellor, Richmond, Kentucky.

THERE is a pleasure in the pathless woods,
There is a rapture on the lonely shore,
There is society where none intrudes
by the sad sea, and music in its roar;
I love not man the less but nature more.
From these our solitudes in which we stray
From what we may be or have been before,
To mingle with the universe and feel
What we can ne'er express, yet cannot all conceal.

—CHILDE HAROLDE.

ICED tea is refreshing certainly, but it is not considered entirely wholesome for the regular use of any one, notably children. A way to make it to insure a minimum of tannic acid is partly to fill a goblet with cracked ice, make the tea somewhat stronger than usual, then pour, boiling hot, over the ice. A slice of lemon and a little sugar may be added.

Permanently Cured.

"For about two years I have suffered with diarrhoea. I used a number of remedies and was treated by physicians, but received no permanent relief. After taking a few doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, I believe that I am permanently cured."—JOAB CRITES, Tanner, Gilmer county, W. Va. This remedy is sold by Ricketts & Co., Marlinton; Amos Barlow, Huntersville; Barlow & Moore, Edray; and E. H. Moore & Co., Academy,

The Pocahontas Times.

Hear, Land o' Cakes and brither Scots
Frae Maidenkirk to Johnny Groats,
If there's a hole in a' your coats,
I rede ye tent it;
A chiel's amang you takin' notes,
An' faith he'll prent it.—BURNS.

JULY 16, 1897.

Local Events.

AN eclipse of the sun, visible in North America, takes place July 29.

HON JOHN T. McGRAW, of Grafton, was one of the orators at the recent Tammany celebration.

THE singing on Laurel Run was largely attended last Sunday. It was conducted by Profs. Waugh and Carter.

AN action at law for four million dollars has just closed out in San Francisco. The claimant gets one third of the estate and his counsel the rest. Good for the noblest of professions.

THOSE who chew tobacco want the best. Henry County, Virginia, tobacco is the best in the world when made by Penn & Watson. Try their leaders—we sell "Lord Henry." PAUL GOLDEN.

SUNDAY, July 4, was made a sad day in the north of France by floods caused by excessive rain. Three hundred lives were lost, and damage to property two hundred millions of francs. As five francs count for a dollar, it would be forty millions of dollars.

A DOG, incased in bullet proof cloth, was shot at with a .44 cal. revolver, at a distance of ten feet a number of times and received no injury. As soon as a suitable piece can be made, it will be tied on a man's breast and the experiment repeated.

PROPOSITIONS are being made to erect a monument to the last victims of Indians in Nicholas County. With our County our endeavor, headed by the survivors, will be to have the Confederate dead interred in one cemetery where the graves can be cared for and preserved.

TUESDAY morning it was discovered that the school-house at the cross roads between Dunmore and Green Bank had been burned in the night. The building was an old log structure, but comfortable. Apparently it was burned for no other reason than to have a new one built.

THE convenient fishing camp, at the Forks of Cranberry, erected by Charleston and Marlinton gentlemen, and which afforded shelter to fishers visiting those waters, was found burnt to the ground. It was the act no doubt of miscreants who had occupied the camp. The camp had been newly roofed with shingles. At this place the club house was burned in 1892, before it was quite finished.

A RUNNING STREAM is a safe place to drink because there can be no stagnation there. A safe place to buy goods is where goods are constantly being sold, and to all parts of the county, and where purchasers get the greatest possible value for their money. THE GOLDEN STORE aims to sell goods that will tell their own story, and the steady increase of my cash sales goes to show how popular they are in all sections of this county.

AMONG the many cows, belonging to the citizens, grazing on the beautiful commons of Marlinton, is one belonging to Dr Cunningham, more noted for sterling worth than for her personal attractions. She is a funny little, drab colored cow, about fifty per cent. Jersey. The Doctor recently told a native of East Virginia, that if he got home sick, he could come and look at this cow, and since then a sight of her has been perscribed for every homesick East Virginian that comes this way.

THE Pocahontas Marble Company met and organized last Monday. This corporation is capitalized at $500,000, and own and control the marble for eight miles. Captain William L. McNeel was elected President; Captain A. M. Edgar, vice-president; J. S. McNeel Treasurer; E. I. Holt, Secretary. L. M. McClintic, of this place, is their attorney. The meeting adjourned to be called to meet at the discretion of the President. There were no steps taken to develop or place on the market specimens of the superior marble of Pocahontas, but such steps may be taken soon.

A LAW-SUIT was instituted by J. D. Pullin & Co. against Paul Golden for $137, before Justice Uriah Bird. Thus we saw a merchant suing a merchant before a merchant. The suit arose over the hauling of some goods from Millboro. Jim Hannah was the wagoner and he was under sealed orders. The time was June Court, and Pullin & Co. wanted some oranges, lemons and soft drinks. Golden wrote the letter, and the plaintiffs claimed that the agent was directed to load their goods only in case Golden did not have a full load. The result was that Golden got a full load and Pullin & Co. had to wait a week. This was hard on the lemons and oranges. The suit was compromised by Golden paying $2 and Pullins & Co. the cost.

Personal Mention.

Col. Sellers L. Reger, of Elkins, was in town Monday.

Fred Wallace, of Lewisburg, attended county court.

Rev J. C. Thrasher, of Steven's City, is visiting his father-in-law, Captain William L. McNeel.

Miss Lucy Kincaid is making a prolonged stay at Frankford, her former home.

Miss Orra Campbell, of Covington, is visiting her friends in Huntersville and on Douthard's Creek.

W. H. Dean and W. L. Irvine of Lobelia, were among the callers at this office during court.

There will be preaching at the upper church on Swago, 3d Sunday, July 18 at 3 P. M. by Rev W. T. Price.

Mrs J. H. Landes and Mrs Geo. Taylor, of near Edray, were in Marlinton Wednesday and visited the Times office.

Mrs W. A. Bratton returned to Marshall, Virginia, with her sister Miss Birdie Cologne and brother Edward Cologne.

Mrs Agnes Loury has returned from her visit to Union and Frankford, much benefited by the change of scene and the exercise of traveling by easy stages.

Marvin Carter is operating a binder in the Edray neighborhood. Most of the wheat in that vicinity promises a better yield than for several years.

Mrs J. B. Lockridge, of Driscol, is visiting Miss Emma Warwick at the home place near Edray. Maggie and Grace Moore, of Dunmore, are with their aunt at the same place.

James Berry, a well known and skillful woodsman, and his wife are at Mrs Carter's near Huntersville. Mr Berry has recently recovered from a long and tedious attack of sickness.

H. W. McNeel, of Mill Point, graduate in medicine from the University of Virginia, is attending a meeting of the State Medical Board in Charleston this week. He expects to practice his profession at Mill Point for the present.

T. S. McNeel, a recent law graduate of the University of Virginia, obtained the necessary certificate to apply for examination before the State Board, which meets at Morgantown on the first Wednesday in August.

FROM the Randolph Enterprise: Mrs Clay Crouch, of Elkwater, died, July 5, of cancer, aged forty years.=The assessed value of the personal property of Randolph County is $65,505.00 less for 1897 than 1896.=Two of L. Tuke's horses won purses at the Beverly races on July 3.

Mrs Jane Simmons, relict of the late John Simmons, is living with her son Robert at the Warwick Spring. She is totally blind, but bears her affliction with remarkable cheerfulness. Her memory of persons and local events is very retentive, and it is interesting to hear her tell of the former days and the personal history of the pioneers. She is a grand-daughter of the old Revolutionary veteran Timothy McCarty, one of the earliest settlers in the Hills, and we hope to tell our worthy readers something interesting about him and his descendants in the course of time.

As to Mail-route Contractors.

THE mail route between Mingo and Marlinton is going begging at $600 per year. The work involves the carrying of the mail six round trips per week, of 54 miles each, across Elk, Middle, and Valley mountains, over the worst natural road in the State. It is a road that is both rocky and muddy. In the winter the snow-drifts on the Old Field Fork of Elk are wonders of the world, and the winter's winds chill the mail carrier to the bone. Two streams are to be crossed that often get just high enough to be dangerous, but not keep the mail back. We hope no one will bid it in too low, as we like to see a good service well paid for; and do not believe in foreign contractors setting a price and deluding some simple minded citizen into carrying out his contract for less than living wages.

We have understood that the manner of proceeding by the foreign contractor is to take a large number of routes for a specified sum. The department then adds together the lowest bids for each of the routes and if the lump bid is less than the sum total of separate bids the contract is awarded it. The jobbers then sublet the routes for the least money possible, and generally they realize a very handsome profit. But does the bloated contractor, when he retires to his kouch at night, think of the many miserable horses on his various star routes that are resting their weary limbs that night having had insufficient suppers? Does he see the sore backs and galled shoulders, or the brutal mail-boys with their exagerated spurs.

This method of contracting has been carried on so long that the private citizen no longer thinks of putting a bid, and leaves the mail-jobbers to fight it out amongst themselves.

MART McDOWELL is now well preppred to give you a hair cut and shave.

County Court.

County Court met Tuesday with a full board. Claims were presented, and a greater or less numbe of them allowed.

The case of Chet Rogers and his wife concerning the custody of their children (which had been referred to the County Court from the Circuit Court) was heard, and the mother allowed to retain the care of the children.

The question of tollable roads was broached. The toll-contractors were bold in asserting that the legislature could not make a law impairing the obligation of a contract existing between themselves and the county court, but as the toll-payers were more or less affected by the law and were not parties to said contract, the obligation referred to would hardly oblige them. Some disposition will be made by the court of the matter.

The county is to be congratulated, and the doctors and road overseers pitied, on having such an economical court. The court strains at every five cents it spends, and the result is our thinly settled county is enabled to carry on home rule cheaper than most of the less populous counties.

Notice.

The School Book Board of Pocahontas County will meet at the court-house in the town of Marlinton, on Thursday, July 22, 1897, at 10 A. M. The object of this meeting is to adopt one text-book, or series, on each subject required to be taught in the free schools and not provided for by contract under the acts of 1895.

D. L. BARLOW,
County Superintendent.

Dentistry.

I will be at Marlinton from 15th to 22d of June; Academy, 23d to 28th; Huntersville, 29th of June to 4th of July; Frost, 5th to 9th; Dunmore, 10th to 16th; Green Bank, 16th to 22d; and Travelers' Repose, 22d to 26th.

O. J. CAMPBELL, Dentist.

Ancient Etruscan Joke; 1000 B. C, —But Good.

Editors, as a rule, are kind hearted and liberal. An exchange tells of a certain subscriber to a certain paper who died and left fourteen years' subscription unpaid. The editor appeared at the grave as the lid was being screwed down for the last time, and put in a linen duster, a palm leaf fan and a receipt for making ice.—Democrat, Defiance, Ohio.

Green Bank.

Wet weather, and wheat cutting is in order. There will be weddings soon.

Miss Maggie Gum and Laurence Ralston paid Mrs Dollie Ralston, of Greenhill, Va., a visit last Saturday.

Mr George Hoover's six months old baby died last Saturday and was buried yesterday.

Dr C. L. Austin has introduced a new method of locomotion into our town by purchasing himself, wife and daughter each a bicycle.

Harper Hudson is in from Rockingham on a visit.

Messrs Ward Hudson and Jesse McLaughlin are off to Horton, W. Va.

The hotels at Marlinton may justly expect every teacher to be at the Institute who can raise the money for expenses. But if school drafts continue to depreciate in value, the money will, we fear, have to be considered a lawful excuse for nonattendance instead of sickness, as heretofore.

Dunmore.

We have at this time some geographical surveyors in town.

H. M. Lockridge was in town this week.

Dr Cunningham and family passed here returning from Highland.

C. M. Achord, the watch fixer, is in town.

Miss Elva Jones, of Doe Hill, is visiting here.

Worth Nottingham started for Texas Wednesday for his health.

Adam Geiger was out in the State of Webster to buy calves.

A child of George Hoover, seven months old, was found dead in bed Sunday morning.

Mrs W. C. Mann is visiting her sister and daughter at this place.

Page Gay was in town Monday.

George C. Cooper is in from Addison.

E. N. Moore has built a large straw and stock barn.

Mr Sheets will start his thresher in the Levels next week.

Mus McLaughlin is better. Armenius Buzard is not so well as he had been.

Mrs L. M. Hannah, of Frost, has typhoid fever.

In a joking way some one set fire to the Cross Roads School-house, on the night of the 12th instant, and it was burned.

The planing machine is in operation at Swecker's Station.

John Taylor and B. F. McElwee are going to Webster this week.

Captain C. B. Swecker has a two-weeks' auction job at Addison, commencing the last of July.

C. B. Swecker has three of the best store-houses and stocks of goods in Pocahontas County to sell. Call or write for bargains.

JEREMIAH CRANSHORN.

Dilley's Mill.

Wheat fine, oats short—tho better than expected. Corn short but of a good color and hardy. There should be plenty of corn in the county.

A. L. Dilley is painting buggies at Mr Washington Moore's.

The festival on Knapp's Creek was very successful, and a neat sum was raised for the benefit of Revs Price and Parrott. The ladies who had the matter in hand deserve much praise.

Miss Lena Kinnison is visiting in this part.

The cherry crop is rather light.

George Rider, of Highland, was in this part looking after stock; also Adam Geiger, and many others. Dr Lockridge seems to be ahead in price of calves here.

Upton and Cliff Sharp have gone to Williams River.

There seems to be much "complaining" among the people, and bad colds are very prevalent.

The song of the locust is no longer heard in the land as a few weeks ago. There were not many here.

Rev Parrott will preach at Bethel next Sunday.

Professor James Reed will sing at Mt Zion the 25th. Come and bring your books.

YOURS FOR BUSINESS.

Lobelia.

Warm and raining every day.

Wheat cutting about over. A good crop in this part of the county; corn fine, and oats also. Fruit crops not very good. Plenty of berries of all kinds. There will be about 4,000 bushels in the falling timber of New Mountain.

Elza McMillion, who got badly cut some time ago, is able to be out.

We understand that the Game Warden is in this part of the state, so be careful how you display your jerk or you may get some other kind of meat to eat.

W. B. Hill returned from Nicholas County Tuesday, and reports high water and destruction generally. Cattle are bringing big prices out there. W. B. Hill expects to have something of much interest to report from that county soon. He was reliably informed by a friend of the whereabouts of a gold mine, and while prospecting for coal will look after the other minerals of this or adjoining counties. He will start for Camden on Gauley Monday on special business.

L. C. McMillion had the best wheat your correspondent ever saw on Hill's Creek.

Mat Woods took in his cattle from the mountains. They did finely while out.

R. W. Hill has a fine lot of cattle on the Harper levels.

More anon. OBSERVER.

Little Levels.

Edgar Sydenstricker, of China, who attended school at Fredericksburg, Va., last session, is the guest of J. C. Stulting and family.

Rev Thrasher, of Virginia is here to see his father-in law, Capt W. L. McNeel. He preached at the M E. church Sunday evening.

Fred Wallace is at home from Lewisburg to see his father who has been sick for some days.

Winters McNeel is off to Charleston to stand his examination. We will have a new doctor soon.

Prof J. L. Sydenstricker is spending his vacation at home. He will return to Athens, W. Va., at the opening of the Concord Normal School. He will hold his position in that school for another year.

E. I. Holt and R. K. Burns made a flying trip to Lewisburg last week but Jake Beard made the quicker trip as he went for binder twine.

Mr Woods Luddington, of Ronceverte, spent Sunday with C. W. Beard and family.

Mrs Mattie Beard and Mrs Nancy Callison died in this neighborhood last week. They were two most excellent ladies and had reached ripe old ages. They leave a host of relatives and friends to mourn their death.

BUMBLEBEE.

Depression of Spirits

so common in summer-time, accompanied by loss of energy, lack of thought-power, means a deficient supply of nourishment. The vital force is lost. It isn't a question of muscle and sinew, but of resistance and endurance. At any age, but especially in youth, it involves the risk of lung disease. Loss of flesh and a cough are threatening signs.

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod-liver Oil, with the hypophosphites, meets these cases perfectly. It tones up, fattens and strengthens.

In Scott's Emulsion the taste of the oil is fully disguised, making it almost as palatable as milk.

For sale at 50c. and $1.00 by all druggists.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Mfg. Chemists, New York

CHURCH NOTES.

Sacramental Service.

The sacramental services at the Huntersville Church last Sabbath were attended by a very interesting congregation. Tho the people had assembled expecting to hear an esteemed visiting minister, who was providentially hindered from being present, yet they gladdened and cheered the heart of their old pastor by giving him close and patient attention.

The texts used in the services of the day were: "Blessed is he that readeth and they that hear the words of this prophecy, and keep those things that are written therein; for the time is at hand."—Revelation i. 3.

"For scarcely for a righteous man will one die; yet peradventure for a good man some would even dare to die. But God commends his love toward us in that while we were yet sinners Christ died for us."—Romans v. 7-9.

The attention was all that could be desired, and very interesting accessions were made to the membership.

Festival Benefit.

The undersigned hereby most gratefully tenders his thanks to the promoters and patrons of the Sunset festival of July 7, for the liberal and much-needed donation sent him by their agents, Mrs L. W. Herold and Mrs J. B. Lockridge. Very seldom, if ever, in ministry of forty years has a gift of this kind been more timely and useful. What Paul said to his Collossian friends he would say to you: "Notwithstanding, ye have well done that ye did communicate with my affliction. * * * But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus." See Collosians iv. 9-20, as expressive of the feelings of your friend. May God bless you, every one, for what you have been and are to me.

WILLIAM T. PRICE.

THERE will Sacramental services at Linwood on the fourth Sabbath of July at 11 A. M. Preliminary services Saturday afternoon at 4.

THERE will be a lecture on "Prophecy" at Mary Gibson Chapel on the night of the fourth Sunday of July, conducted by Rev. Wm. T. Price.

DON'T MURDER YOUR BEES!

It is a very poor return for the work of a hive of bees to kill them to get one season's crop of honey.

Use the Ware Hive.

Get acquainted with your bees. Help them to fight the worm that destroys them, and they will reward you with the best of honey in marketable frames,—and you can eat your honey and have a clear conscience.

T. C. Ware,
Valley Head, W. Va.

Dry Branch.

Farmers are getting ready to harvest their wheat.

The Dry Branch picnic was largely attended and passed off like a charm. The next one will propably be on the Douglas place.

There was a big rain storm on the Branch Monday.

Cameron Beal made a flying trip to Addison.

J. E Carpenter, of Dunmore, was on the Branch Saturday and Sunday.

Joseph Miller and Branch Beal are hauling cherry lumber to Beverly.

Constable Page Gay took in the Branch picnic. CUT SHORT.

"July 18, 1896, our store, four dwelling houses and three barns were washed away by a flood. Soon after the community was visited by an epidemic of bloody flux. In a short time we sold ten dozen of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and in every case where it was used the results were all that could be desired; in fact our physicians admitted that it would do more toward bringing about a cure of flux than they could do."—BUSH & KNISLEY, Auburn, W. Va., Oct. 8, 1896. For sale by Rickett's & Co., Marlinton; Amos Barlow; Huntersville, Barlow & Moore, Edray; and E. H. Moore & Co., Academy.

ACADEMY, W. VA., June 9, '97. —Notice is hereby given that the firm of E. H. Moore & Co. has been this day dissolved by mutual consent, and its obligations are assumed by the undersigned. All parties owing said firm are requested and expected to make immediate settlement.

Yours respectfully,
TAYLOR & McELWEE,
Successors to E. H. Moore & Co.

Notice—Estray.

Strayed away from my place, on or about the 14th day of May last one 2-year-old brown mare, traded from William B. Freeman. The mare is said to have been raised by some one of the Mulenaxes, in Crabbottom or Dry Fork of Cheat. Any information leading to recovery of said mare will be greatly appreciated. P. H. WARWICK.

GREEN BANK, W. VA., June 30.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

IT TICKLES YOU
THE INSTANT RELIEF YOU GET FROM
LIGHTNING HOT DROPS.
CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.
HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals, Serpents, Bugs, etc.
BREAKS UP Bad Colds, La Grippe, Influenza, Croup, Sore Throat, etc.
SMELLS GOOD, TASTES GOOD.
SOLD EVERYWHERE AT 25c AND 50c PER BOTTLE. NO RELIEF, NO PAY.
HERB MEDICINE CO. (Formerly of Weston, W. Va.) SPRINGFIELD, O.

To the Public:

In order to close out our present stock of goods, we will offer for sale from this date to September 1st, 1897, all the goods which we have in hand at this time at from 5 to 10 per cent discount FOR CASH.

We will give a few prices for Cash:

DRESS GINGHAMS, 6 to 7cts
BEST PERCALES, 8½cts
DOMES. GINGHAMS, 5cts.
BLEACHED COTTONS, 7 to 8½cts
ARBUCKLE COFFEE, 15cts
GREEN COFFEE, 12½ to 20cts.
BEST CALICOES, 6cts.
ALL OTHER GOODS IN PROPORTION.

TAYLOR & McELWEE,
Successors to E. H. Moore & Co.
ACADEMY, W. VA. Je11

RETURN THANKS!

CUSTOMERS, I do thank you for your liberal patronage—but you all soon learn where you can buy goods the cheapest.

YOU KNOW
I can sell the best and cheapest goods, for I do hot have to make allowance for bad debts, nor pay out for book keeping.

I SELL
for cash and good produce—no credit. In this way I can keep up my stock at cash prices. I can give you bargains in Dry Goods, Groceries Boy's Clothes, Hats,—and, in fact, everything in my store is sold at a bargain.

Examine my stock before you buy elsewhere. It is being constantly renewed.

Yours Respectfully,
S. J. BOGGS
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Mr Paul Golden is in Baltimore this week.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 14, NO. 52 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, JULY 23, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 11.—Polished Solid Oak 5-Drawer Chiffonier, 58 inches high, 30½ inches long, 18 inches deep. It is well constructed and has good locks on each drawer. Special price, (Orders promptly filled).

$3.39

Our Success is not accidental. It is the reward of 48 years of honorable business. Our experience in the Furniture and Carpet business is yours for the asking. Our immense illustrated catalogue of Furniture, Oil Cloths, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Bedding, Springs, Steel Beds, etc., is free to all who write for it, and we pay all postage. If you ask your local dealers' advice you will not send for our catalogue, as he will lose a customer. If you consult your pocket-book and want double value for your dollars, you will deal with the manufacturers. Send your name on a postal now.

Julius Hines & Son
BALTIMORE, MD.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

[illegible] Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. [illegible]

The Pocahontas Times.

CHOW-CHOW.

In a recent issue of the Greenbrier Independent the Hon J. W. Davis advances the idea that the commonly used expression "cold slaw" is not correct but that the proper term is "cole slaw," the word cole meaning cabbage. We feel inclined to take issue with him on the question, and are unwilling to believe that we have been in error all our lives in the use and spelling of the term.

As used by people in general the word slaw denotes sliced or chopped cabbage, and all slaw is divided into two principle dishes, by the housewife. That which is cooked and served warm and known as "hot slaw"; and that uncooked, distinguished from the other by the name of "cold slaw." Mr Davis is right, but if we accept his view of the case the autocrat of the dinner table will be compelled to say, "Won't you have some of the 'cold cole-slaw?'" And his equally punctilious neighbor will respond, "Not any, thank you; but I will trouble you for the 'hot cole-slaw!'" There might be others who would prefer their "hot cole-slaw cold,"—that is after it had cooled. Owing to these complications we will continue in error, as it will lead to intricacies to try to be too exact.

⁂

Last winter something happened in a school in this county that is told anew with great relish when anything occurs to bring the conversation around to it. The teacher was a man of considerable age whose hearing is defective. In the history class was a bright boy who generally had his lessons well. When the first question was asked the boy very gently and respectfully answered, "I don't know my lesson to-day, sir." The teacher, not understanding, and no doubt supposing from the readiness of the reply that it was correct, said: "That's right, Johny!" and passed on to something else.

When in the next round another question was asked him he said, "I told you before, sir, that I didn't know my lesson." The teacher was well-pleased, and said again "That's right, Johny!"

The third and last question to Johny was promptly answered by him: "You can't hear anything at all, can you old man?"

"That's right," said the instructor, "you have been well prepared to-day, Johny."

The truth of this remarkable tale can be proven.

PERHAPS some of our readers, like the writer, have been puzzled about the meaning of the word 'capitulation.' in what is said of terms of peace between Turkey and Greece. Turkey demands the abolition of the capitulations. In virtue of the capitulations, Greek subjects, living in different parts of the Turkish Empire, share with the subjects of other independent powers the right to appeal from Turkish courts to their own consular courts. There are several million of Greeks in Turkey, many of them fine business men, and some of large means. Turkish courts have notoriety for oppression and corruption, and it would be a serious matter for these millions of Greeks to be left without appeal from the jurisdiction of the Turkish courts.

ABOUT fifty business men from South America are visiting the principal cities and centres of manufacturing industries with a view of promoting commercial dealings between their countries and the United States. Their presence has had its influence on the adoption of the retaliation and reciprocity clauses alluded to elsewhere.

FIFTY years ago last Friday Judge Jackson of the federal court eloped from Parkersburg with Miss Carrie C. Glime and was married.

BY the aid of three democratic Senators, one of them Martin of Virginia, white pine lumber was kept off the free iist.

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

Thomas McNeill.

The McNeill relationship, on Swago, trace their ancestry to Thomas McNeill, who came to Swago from Capon Valley, Frederick county, Virginia, between 1768 and 1770. His parents, whose names cannot be recalled, came from Scotland. Thomas McNeill's wife was Mary Ireson, from Franklin County, Virginia.

About 1770, Thomas McNeill entered three hundred acres of land and settled where Joseph Pennell now lives, (1897), and built the house occupied a few years since by the family of the late William McNeill, one of his grandsons. His family of sons and daughters were widely scattered in the course of years, but wherever they went became useful citizens. His sons were Jonathan, Absalom, Enoch, and Gabriel, and the daughters were Naomi and Mary (Polly.)

Naomi became Mrs Smith and Polly was married to William Ewing, and both went to Ohio.

Gabriel married Rebecca Stephenson and settled where Jonathan McNeill now lives, then moved to Jackson County, Ohio, where he became a well-known citizen. From information furnished by one of his grand-daughters we learn that he was the first surveyor of his adopted county, and one of the most prominent of the pioneers. Dr Gabriel McNeill was a civil engineer, machinist, chemist, botanist, farmer, physician, and preacher, and not a quack in any-one; so writes a drummer to the Jackson County paper, who had been on a visit to the neighborhood where Dr McNeill had lived.

Enoch McNeill, son of Thomas, the pioneer, married Jane Moore, a daughter of the pioneer Moses Moore, and settled on what is now known as the "Enoch Place," a section of the original homestead; but finally moved to Jackson county, Ohio.

Absalom McNeill married Comfort Smith, and also went West.

Jonathan McNeill, senior son of pioneer Thomas McNeill, married Phebe Moore, a daughter of Moses Moore, and settled at the Swago mill, now held by Withrow McClintic, Esq. He appears to have been an enterprising person. Milling, weaving, fulling cloth, and powder making were carried on under his supervision. Double coverlets woven by one Jones are still to be found.

Mrs Phebe McNeill survived her husband many years. She was born February 13, 1774, and claims to have been 13 years of age at the time of the Drinnan raid, when James Baker and the Bridger boys were killed. She died in 1867 in her 93d year. She was on a packhorse loaded with bed-clothing and supplies on the way to the fort at Mill Point, and was passing the Waddell place when the party heard the Indians shooting the Bridger brothers. At this time Moses Moore seems to have been living on Swago, not far from Mrs McClintic's residence. Traces of the Moore home are said to be yet discernable.

The sons of Jonathan and Phebe McNeill were John, William, and Moore, and Preston.

Preston, while a little boy three or four years of age, was drowned near the mouth of Dry Creek, and his body was found some distance below near the fording.

John McNeill married Miss Rebecca McNeill, from Franklin Co., Virginia, and settled on Dry Creek at the place now occupied by Charles McNeill, a grand-son. An extended sketch of Mr McNeill and his family appeared in The Times a few years since, and will not be repeated here, more than to say that he was one of the most useful citizens of his times. He was prominent in his church, the Methodist Episcopal; a member of the court, a faithful and competent school-teacher, and possessed knowledge of medicinal remedies, and at a time when physicians were no nearer than Frankford or the Warm Springs. His services freely given were of great comfort and relief to the suffering before regular medical attention could be had. Mrs Anna Moore, near Marlinton, the late Mrs Jane Kennison, on Dry Creek; Mrs Naomi Dilley, near Dilley's Mill; the late Washington McNeill, on Buck's Run, where Joseph B. McNeill now lives; the late John McNeill, junior, merchant at Hillsboro were his children. There were other sons and daughters, whose names are not in the writer's possession.

Moore McNeill first married Martha McNair, of Augusta County, and settled on Dry Creek near the mouth. His second marriage was with Nancy Auldridge, daughter of William Auldridge, ancestor of the Auldridge connexion in our county. By this marriage there were one son and two daughters. Clark McNeel died in early manhood. Phebe Ann was married to Reuben E. Overholt, and lives on the homestead. Nancy Jane became Mrs W. H. Overholt, of Frankford.

William McNeill married Nancy Griffey, from Franklin County, Virginia. She was the daughter of a Swiss soldier who came over with the Marquis Lafayette and remained to become a citizen of the United States. They settled on the Thomas McNeill homestead. He was a popular school-teacher, and among the earliest of his profession in the present limits of our county. He taught a 12-months school at the Marony Place, and he had for his scholars the late Mrs Martha Adkisson, Agnes Gay and Andrew Gay, brother and sister of the late John Gay, Esq. Martha Young boarded with her sister, the late Mrs Elizabeth Cochran. The Gays boarded at Jonathan McNeill's at the mill. The Buckleys went to this school also. William McNeill died a lingering and painful death of cancer. The sons of William and Nancy McNeill were Jonathan, James, Claiborne, and Moore. The daughters were Jane, Elizabeth, and Agnes.

Jane McNeill was married to John E. Adkisson, Esq., and settled on the head of Swago. She became the mother of a worthy family of sons and daughters, was much esteemed for her amiable character, and died a few years since sincerely lamented.

Elizabeth McNeill was married to Solomon Cochran, son of Isaac Cochran, on Drooping Mountain, and settled in Harrison County, West Virginia, where she died but recently, after several years of widowhood, greatly missed by attached friends and children.

Jonathan McNeill married Angelina Adkisson, daughter of the late Daniel Adkisson, at the head of Swago,—she was a sister of John E. Adkisson, just mentioned,—and they settled on a section of the old homestead near Buckeye, where he now resides. Mrs Aaron Kee, near Marlinton, and Mrs John Buckley, at Buckeye, are their daughters. Rev Asa McNeill, William, Daniel, Doc, Ulyses S., Enock, and the late James McNeill were their sons.

Captain James McNeill, second son of William McNeill, the teacher, married Sarah, daughter of the late William Young, Esq., of Stony Creek, and settled on a section of the old homestead, where he now lives. After her lamented decease he lived in Nicholas County a number of years employed in house-joining. At the opening of the war between the States he enlisted in the Confederate service in a volunteer company at Summerville as a lieutenant. Upon the reorganization of the company he was chosen captain. He became a prisoner of war at the battle of Droop Mountain, and was kept at Fort Delaware a long and tedious time. His second marriage was with Mrs Fannie Perkins, and he came back to the old home near Buckeye. His son Douglas is a well-known teacher in the public schools and instructor in penmanship. For years Captain McNeill has been disabled by rheumatic affection, but the worthy old veteran's heart is still warm with sympathy for the "lost cause." He sees something to solace as he meditates upon the past and the prospects of the future, in these words, which, in his own deep and sonorous voice, he oft repeats:

> "The truth tho crushed to earth > will rise again;
> The eternal years of God are hers,
> While error wounded writhes with > pain
> And dies amid her worshipers."

Claiborne McNeill married Elizabeth Adkinson, daughter of Daniel Adkisson, and lives near Buckeye on the place bequethed him by his relative "Little John" McNeill. Their daughter Charlotte is the wife of Joseph Pinnell, who lives near them. Their sons are Joshua B. McNeill, Senator N. Clauson McNeill, of Marlinton; and D. T. McNeill, at Buckeye. Claiborne McNeill's second marriage was with Miss Margaeet Griffin, daughter of the late Abraham Griffin.

Moore McNeill, the youngest son of William the teacher, became a preacher, and entered the itineracy under the auspices of the Methodist Protestant Church, and traveled many years with marked success and acceptance in the counties of West Virginia bordering the Ohio River. His wife was Miss Eliza Jane Donaldson, of West Virginia. At the present time he resides at Smithville, in Ritchie County, a supernumerary minister in the pale of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He is, however, still vigorous, and performs much ministerial service, in connexion with the duties laid upon him by the care of a large and growing family and the management of extensive farming operations.

Thus we have traced the history of Thomas McNeill, the pioneer of Swago, as exemplified by brief allusions to those of his descendants whose names have been communicated to us. His name deserves honorable recognition for his courage in penetrating the dangerous recesses of these forest wilds, at the time among the most exposed and dangerous points of the Indian frontier. He overcame difficulties and encouraged others to do the same and showed how it was done. Then when this place came to be too narrow his sons and daughters trained by him were fitted to make the best of the opportunities opened up on the Ohio frontier and were ready for them.

We trust it is not too much to expect or hope for, that from his descendants our community may look for a very exalted type of citizenship helping in the grand work of elevating and purifying society, and thus making our county a queen in the West Virginia sisterhood of counties, and become worthy of the name it bears,—Pocahontas,—the virgin queen of a virgin world.

W. T. P.

In a Sarcastic Vein.

The Jackson Whig chuckles because "we have another demonstration that high protective tariffs do not prevent nor cure strikes." High protective tariffs do not prevent or cure chilblains or hay fever or Charleyhorse or chronic silver spouting or plutophobia or the chicken stealing habit. The Jackson Whig wishes to lay too much work on protective tariffs. There is only one entire and perfect cure for all the woes that are or can be, and is the great 16 to 1 remedy. The application of that will not only prevent strikes, but will ultimately relieve from the necessity of working. What is the use of having so many people work? It is a habit which tends to make things cheap, and nothing should be cheap except money.—New York Sun.

Thy Will be Done.

Thy will be done, thy will, thy will;
Altho it may with anguish fill
My heaving breast, I trust and say
Thy will be done, my God, to-day.

Thy will, thy will be done, O God;
Altho it hide beneath the sod
The darling of my heart and home;
Thy will, tho I be in the gloam.

Thy will be done, thy will, thy will;
E'en tho like early frost it kill
The roses of my inmost heart:
I trust my god while they depart.

Thy will be done, thy will, my God;
I bend submissive to thy rod;
Thro scalding tears I look above,
And know, O God, that thou art love.

Thy will be done; my will I yield
Until thy purpose be revealed.
The struggle, now, O God, is past,
And peace abides with me at last.

Submissive to thy will I'm blessed,
For thy will, gracious God, is best.
No evil can my soul betide,
Because in thee. my God, I hide.
—[W. C. Martin. in Christian Herald]

"A little more than a year ago, my hair began turning gray, and falling out, and although I tried ever so many things to prevent a continuance of these conditions, I obtained no satisfaction until I tried Ayer's Hair Vigor. After using one bottle, my hair was restored to * its original color."

How Old are You?

It makes no difference whether you answer or not. It is always true that "a woman is as old as she looks." Nothing sets the seal of age upon a woman's beauty so deeply, as gray hair. The hair loses its color generally from lack of nutrition. If you nourish the hair, the original color will come back. That is the way that the normal color of the hair is restored by

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

* This testimonial will be found in full in Ayer's "Curebook" with a hundred others. Free. Address J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

A Pair of Freaks.

"These, ladies and gentlemen," announced the dime museum lecturer, indicating with an appropriate gesture a couple of parched and juiceless forms confined in a glass case, "are two of the most extraordinary curiosities ever placed on exhibition.

"They're mummies, aint they?" queried the long-necked visitor from Waybehind, edging up as close as possible and glaring at the specimens with interest.

"No, sir!" replied the lecturer, dismissing the questioner with a wave of his hand. "The figure on the right, ladies and gentlemen, is all that now remains of a once prominent citizen, whose name, originally, was Brown. During the greater portion of his life he was considered by his fellow-men to be the possessor of much sound, practical sense, but, yielding at last to the solicitations of an ambitious wife—his own wife, understand—he took to spelling his name 'Broughne.' This idiosyncrasy aroused a retaliatory spirit in the bosom of a ribald and irreverent fellow citizen by the name of Jones—this is Mr Jones on the left—and the latter promptly proceeded to make game of the other gentleman by changing his own name to 'Joughnes.'

"When next they met Broughne assaulted Joughnes, and, after a sanguinary combat, like that indulged in by the Kilkenny cats of legendary fame, they slew each other. Thereupon the proprietor of this Museum and Palace of Wonders, with characteristic enterprise, secured the remains and had them stuffed in an appropriate and life-like manner and placed them here as a great moral lesson, showing conclusively to what a sad and solemn end excessive ambition, unchecked by good judgment, will drag its victims. Please pass now to the next platform, ladies and view the most pitiful and attenuated living skeleton ever on exhibition, the man who married his mother-in-law."—New York Journal.

John Sherman's First Meeting with Lincoln.

Secretary Sherman says he never will forget his first meeting with a President. It was shortly after Lincoln's inauguration, and he attended a public reception, fell into line, and waited an hour or two for a chance to shake hands with the great emancipator. "During this time," says Mr Sherman, "I was wondering what I should say, and what Lincoln would do when we met. At last it came my turn to be presented. Lincoln looked at me a moment and extended his hand, and said: 'You're a pretty tall fellow, aren't you? Stand up here with me, back to back, and let's see which is the taller.'

"In another moment I was standing back to back with the greatest man of his age. Naturally I was quite abashed by this unexpected evidence of democracy.

"'You 're from the west are n't you?' inquired Lincoln.

"'My home is in Ohio,' I replied.

"'I thought so,' he replied, 'that is the kind of men they raise out there.'"—Chicago Times-Herald.

CAPTAIN THOMSON, of Putman, commenced his duties as Marshall on July 1. As he was on the point of appointing deputies from his party, he was enjoined by temporary injunction from doing so on the grounds that the office which they held were comprised in the civil service list and that they could not be discharged summarily. The question is to be argued July 8. It seems to be puzzling the courts and the departments and will doubtless be settled by the action of the deputies in this district. Congressman Dayton is endeavoring to have West Virginia divided into two districts. In that case we would be in the southern district with our courts held at Hinton.

IT is the best. Dandruff eradicated, the scalp kept clean and sweet, and the hair made soft and easy of arrangement, by Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer.

Rubies by the Ton.

"Bauxite, a French mineral," says Cosmos, June 12, abstracting an article in Aluminium, "has just been used in a new and unheard-of way. For a long time, in certain industries, heated bauxite has been used to make very hard substances for the fabrication of artificial mill stones to be used in the manufactures. This was intended as a substitute for the emery of Naxos, with which the Greek Government by its pretentions had little by little digusted many merchants.

"After the first trials, instead of calcining the bauxite, the idea occurred to some one to melt it, and thus was obtained a product harder still, diamantite, which was nothing else than alumnina melted in the electric furnace.

"But now comes M. Gin, a very distinguished engineer and inventor, to whom it occurred to volatilize the alumnina, which is very easily done in the electric furnace, giving rise to the thick reddish-brown clouds, so inconvenient, and so well known to M. Moissan and his followers.

"By combining certain vapors with those of alumnina, which is the essential substance, M. Gin obtained rubies, not as Fremy obtained them, by pounds in a crucible, but by hundred weight and tons. A new industral product is thus born, such as our fathers would never have suspected, for if any one had told them that we should one day vaporize alumnina—the most refractory of all substances—they would have laughted in his face.

"A curious detail: when Mr Gin took out his patents in Germany there was a great stir. The patent office demanded to see the products. They probably expected to receive a small laboratory crucible but M. Gin's answer was a large case of his primary products and a huge block of rubies. The astonishment of the patent officials may be imagined. The precious patent was at once sent to M. Gin.

"We are the first to be able to announce the arrival of a new French industral product—ruby polishing-powder that will scratch even the famous carborundum.

Hon C. B. Bush, president of the Gilmer County (w. Va.) Court, says that he has had three cases of flux in his family, during the past summer, which he cured in less than a week with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Mr Bush also states, that in some instances there were twenty hemorrhages a day.—Glenville, w. Va., Patfinder. This remedy has been used in nine epidemics of flux and one of cholera, with perfect success. It can always be depended upon for bowel complaint, even in its most severe forms. Every family should keep it on hand. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by Ricketts & Co., Marlinton; Amos Barlow, Huntersville; Barlow & Moore, Edray; and E. H. Moore & Co., Academy.

IN Ohio there is an anti-riot law permitting persons injured or having property destroyed by a mob to recover damages from the County wherein the riot occurred or the lynching took place. In case of death the damage was fixed at one hundred thousand dollars. Owing to some defect in the wording, it is declared invalid, not unconstitutional. The wording will be changed to suit, and then lynching will be a costly business.

Permanently Cured.

"For about two years I have suffered with diarrhoea. I used a number of remedies and was treated by physicians, but received no permanent relief. After taking a few doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, I believe that I am permanently cured."—JOAB CRITES, Tanner, Gilmer county, w. Va. This remedy is sold by Ricketts & Co., Marlinton; Amos Barlow, Huntersville; Barlow & Moore, Edray; and E. H. Moore & Co., Academy.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.
Guaranteed tobacco habit cure, makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggists.

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, July 23, 1897.

Entered at the post-office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

INTOLERABLE TOLLS.

At the recent session of the legislature the following act defining tollable roads was passed.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of West Virginia: That section 12 of chapter 56 of the Code of West Virginia be amended and re-enacted so as to read as follows:

12. The said tolls may be demanded and collected of every person passing the toll-gate, for the section or fractional part thereof, whether he shall have travelsd the whole or only a part of the section or fractional part thereof; Provided, that the said toll-road or turnpike be made so as to conform to the following specifications:

All toll-roads shall have a smooth solid roadbed, of not less than fifteen feet in width, exclusive of ditches, and shall be well side-ditched and drained.

All cross-drains shall be underdrained or riprapped when necessary.

All running streams requiring bridges of fifty feet in length, or less, and such others as the county court of a county may direct, shall have a bridge or culvert across the same sufficiently strong and sufficiently wide to insure the safe passage to all kinds of vehicles; Provided, further, That no toll shall be collected unless said toll-road or turnpike be constructed in accordance with this section.

All acts and parts of acts conflicting with this act are hereby repealed.

In this county those roads upon which toll was taken were let to contractors who put the roads up to a certain standard and then collected the tolls. It might be said that no section of five miles came up to the specifications of the above act. The toll contractors appeared at the last court with anxious faces, but the only consolation they received was the advice that they might have some one arrested for refusing to pay toll and see who paid the cost. Having here the ne plus ultra of the court they sadly withdrew to smoke it in their pipes.

Last Saturday toll was demanded on the road from near Buckeye to the Greenbrier line, and was refused by the writer; so we suppose that some are now paying toll and others not. It is hard enough to pay toll to our own county men, but the idea of paying tribute to Greenbrier County is intolerable. The road is in terrible condition for the first ten miles, and the writer resolved last week to do a little "yellow journalism," and refuse to pay toll and make a test case of it. Pocahontas wagoners have paid thousands of dollars toll on the miserable roads stretching between Pocahontas County and Ronceverte. They certainly should have the right to demand the worth of their money.

Last Friday we drove to Greenbrier. After crossing Droop the road down the mountain was rough, steep, and narrow; the cross drains were neither underdrained nor riprapped, which, we are told, means a long curving ditch about twelve feet from side to side with stone pounded in the botom. A small stream in Renick's Valley was unbridged.

At the fist toll-gate we told the toll-gatherer, a little girl, that we could not pay toll, and left the correct name and address. The girl said she was sorry the road was not in a good condition, and seemed very much distressed. Her lip trembled, and we very nearly paid our toll, but hardened our heart and went on.

The road continued in a uniform bad condition to Falling Spring, and we again we refused to pay, but this time we did not escape unscotched. A lady came to take the toll, and when she heard our refusal (which was meant to be firm) she very promptly told me that the justice was in town and the constable and she would have me arrested. This was the thing I had been seeking, but at close quarters the prospect did not look so alluring; but having known several constables, from Joe Buzzard downwards, the magic name did not completely rob me of my self-possession, so I gave my name and told the lady when I would be back. She promised faithfully to have the arrest made, and said some things to me that cut to the bone wherever they hit.

Continuing to Frankford, the road at places was very rough, steep, and narrow; but having had such an experience, and all the chance of having a test case made, I paid my fare and went.

In Lewisburg, in arming for the fray, it was discovered that nothing was on record in the clerk's office to authorize the contractor, a Mr Kinkaid, to collect toll; and it was evident that he had made the contract with special commissioners, but it had never been ratified by the court.

Returning to Falling Spring with visions of law and justice before mine eyes, it was found that the lady at the toll-gate wished to argue the matter furtoer and had not proceeded against me. Then we paid toll on the return trip to show that we could be both just and generous, and escaped to Pocahontas. We would not willingly hear that contemptous "I know you!" with emphasis on every word from anyone again.

It is certain that the road should be in a better condition before tolls are collected, and a good many dollars would be saved the citizens of this county every week if they refused to pay toll on a road that is not worth the money.

THE Monroe Watchman endorses the Wayne News in decrying the law passed by the last legislature in regard to the licensing new lawyers in this State. The action of the Supreme Court in constituting the lawyers who hold chairs in the State University an examining board for the State has called forth a vituperative attack on those gentlemen. But why should they not examine candidates for licensing as well as any other three lawyers in the State? The Dean is an ex-member of the Supreme Court, and yet the Wayne News froths at the mouth and calls him a "one-horse lawyer." The late law requires two years' study, at least, before they are admitted to the examining room; and, furthermore, they must go to Morgantown, which Wayne News says is an expensive journey, and therefore the "poor man has no chance!"

We would suggest that the journey to Morgantown is not a circumstance compared to what is required to establish a law practice. It is a thankless job and a superfluous luxury for the poor man. There are few prizes in the professiod, and the 'poor young man' had better not apply. If he is a born lawyer then he will be a lawyer. "For I am persuaded that neither death nor life, nor angels nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present nor things to come, nor height nor depth, nor any other creature" shall be able to keep him from his life's work.

If those journals would like to see a continuation of that era when a man might wrestle with Blackstone for a week and then be admitted to practice the profession as his means did not allow him to to make a more thorough preparation to make or break his clients—then we will not contend with them. But all those who would like to see only capable men licensed to the bar will admit that the new law will result in young men learning at school at their own expense that knowledge too often acquired at the expense of their unhappy clients.

IF you put fire to flax it will burn; if you put a stone in the water it will sink; if you twist a cat's tail it will squall; if you tackle Sawyers of the Hinton Independent-Herald he will respond in a perfectly awful way. The newspaper men are talking about "runnin' him outen his neighborin' neighborhood, he cuts 'em so wif his tongue," as the old darkey says in one of Opie Read's books. He is amusing to all save his own family.

He says: "Pocahontas Andy" is always ready to "buck, kick, and object." We say we are more than ready to buck, kick, and object to him. He says that Professor Reynolds (several times Acting President of the University) has no more chance of election at the next meeting of the Board of Regents than 'Pocahontas Andy' has. That is unjust to us. We have not applied, and our business at present does not permit us to accept the "posish." Some twenty or thirty years from now, when Sawyer's coppers have burned out,—if we have escaped by the skin of our teeth,—we will consider the matter, but just now the polite retirement from public life offered by the seclusion behind college walls does not appeal to us. William L. Wilson seeks sanctuary, but we have done nothing, as yet, to be sent either to the penitentiary or to a professorship in a college. We are not in Dr Reynold's way.

THE REASON WHY.

The serious man sat 'neath a tree
And talked in a wondrous strain,— said he:

"I love the record-breaking summer time, its drouths and thunder-storms;
I love to see the lightning's glare and other such alarms.

I love to hear the house-fly buzz upon my window-panes,
To watch the house maid's vicious air a-dashing out its brains.

I love to see the white duck fiend as he ambles through the town,
To hear the cyclist's wild 'he! he!' as he almost runs you down.

I love to hear the huckster man a-shrieking o'er the way,
And telling of his cherries ripe and the lovely raspberray.
I long to see the people rush a bargain great to drive,
While the weary housewives groan about this being berried alive.

I yearn to hear some vocalist sing all the "latest things";
I love to hear six mad dogs howl whene'r the church bell rings.
To hear the cats upon the fence put sleep, shy god, to flight,
By shrieking out their college yells at twelve o'clock at night."

'Tis music rare,' I thought, 'could I but stand within your shoes
And love the things that give me naught but the heart-breaking blues.'

With awe I gazed upon the man so different from our kind,
And then I saw the reason why,—he was both deaf and blind.

S. A. P.

In Memoriam.

It becomes our sad duty to record the decease of one of our most eminent, public spirited, and widely-known citizens, DR MATHEW WALLACE, of Mill Point. This mournful event at his residence Monday near the setting of the sun, July 19, 1897. He was about 76 years of age, and his entire life was mainly passed in Pocahontas County. He was the only son of the late Benjamin Wallace. His mother was a granddaughter of John McNeel, pioneer. In youth and early manhood he lived with his uncle, the late Colonel Paul McNeel. He acquired a good education under the tuition of the Rev John S. Blain, Williamsville. Bath County, Virginia, and the Rev M. D. Dunlap, of Hillsboro. Both of these good men esteemed him very highly and entertained high opinions of his intellectual endowments, and believed he would become a person of marked prominence in whatever sphere he might spend his life.

He chose the profession of medicine; spent some time in the medical office of Dr George B. Moffatt, at Huntersville, then graduated from the University of New York. He practiced at Hillsboro and then at Mill Point, where the most of his professional life was spent.

He married Miss Rachel McNeel, daughter of the late John McNeel, near Mill Point. Not long since he was bereaved of his wife and his son Penick. His daughters, Minnie and Anna, and sons Mott and Fred, survive him.

He united with the Hillsboro Presbyterian Church many years ago, and became a ruling elder, the highest honour in the gift of his fellow members to confer.

His health has been for three or four years in a very precarious state, largely superinduced by the influenza so prevalent of late years.

When he was borne to his last resting place one was impressed that it rarely falls to the lot of any one to be more sincerely mourned and honored in death—such were the manifestations of love and grief.

As a physician his career vividly recalls what was written by one of the eminent masters of our classic English literature.

In Misery's darkest caverns known
His useful care was ever nigh,
Where hopeless Anguish poured its groan
And lonely Want retired to die.
No summons mocked by cold delay,
No petty gains disclaimed by pride;
The modest wants of every day
The toil of every day supplied.

W. T. P.

ACADEMY, W. VA., June 9, '97.—Notice is hereby given that the firm of E. H. Moore & Co. has been this day dissolved by mutual consent, and its obligations are assumed by the undersigned. All parties owing said firm are requesten and expected to make immediate settlement.

Yours respectfully,
TAYLOR & MCELWEE,
Successors to E. H. Moore & Co.

FEED STABLES. Twenty-three stalls. Plenty of box-stalls for those wishing them. Best stables in town. 100 yards from the court-house. Will feed and care for horses in best style.

WILLIAM SIPLE,
Marlinton, W. Va.

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

Lee Military Academy.

Offers the very best opportunities for Preparatory or Business course at lowest rates. In healthful climate with best social surroundings, no saloons, the building in beautiful grove, with large grounds,—its natural advantages are far above the average.

Instructors of large experience and broad culture. A well-selected library of above 1,000 volumes. Most approved methods of instruction. Courses in all high school branches to fit for any college desired; also complete business course in Bookkeeping, Shorthand, and Type-writing. Careful physical training.

Only young men of good character and studious habits desired.

Address,
JAMES M. LEE, A. M., Prin.,
Lewisburg, W. Va.

July18 8w

WAR DECLARED!

We are helping you to fight high prices, and have conquered the high price at last. We have just received a nice lot of new goods, which will sell low for Cash or good trade, such as Wool, Ginseng, Corn, Beeswax, Gold, Silver, and Greenbacks.

We quote you as follows:

Good Prints	from 3¾	to 6¼c.
Scotch Lawn		5½c.
Gingham	" 5	" 7c.
Satteen		10c.
Cable Twill		12½c.
Cambric	" 5	" 5½c.
Brown Cotton	" 6	" 8c.
Ticking		15c.
Cheviots	" 7½	" 10c.
Deniam	" 10	" 15c.
Overshirts	" 19	" 65c.
Men's Drawers	" 25	" 40c.
Overalls	" 35	" 90c.
Jeans Pants	" 85	" 1.15.
Suspenders	" 10	" 45c.

Hose, @ 5c and 18c ℔ pair.
Half Hose @ 5 and 15c ℔ pr.
Tobacco from 23c to 55c ℔.

Other goods proportionately low. Give me a trial. Highest market prices for Wool, etc.

Yours for business,
G. L. HANNAH,
YELK. W. VA.

To my Farmer Friends, Pocahontas Co.:

Do not buy Fertilizer!

Until I get to see you with Tinsley's Old Reliable Brands.

Will not be undersold.

S. L. TOLLEY, Millboro, Va.

Hon C. B. Bush, president of the Gilmer County (w. Va.) Court, says that he has had three cases of flux in his family, during the past summer, which he cured in less than a week with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Mr Bush also states, that in some instances there were twenty hemorrhages a day.—Glenville, w. Va., Patfinder. This remedy has been used in nine epidemics of flux and one of cholera, with perfect success. It can always be depended upon for bowel complaint, even in its most severe forms. Every family should keep it on hand. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by Ricketts & Co., Marlinton; Amos Barlow, Huntersville; Barlow & Moore, Edray; and E. H. Moore & Co., Academy.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.
Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

ALEGHANY COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

ALDERSON, W. VA.

Fifth Session Opens Sept 16, 1897.

The Institution offers good advantages to young men and women to prepare them for teaching, business, or the higher classes in colleges and universities.

Healthful location. No barrooms. Undenominational,—but pupils are surrounded by a healthful christian atmosphere. Discipline strict.

TERMS: Tuition in Academic Department, $36 for session of nine months. Board $100. Board cheaper in private families.

REV W. S. ANDERSON, A M
July 16. Principal.

COMMISSIONER'S NOTICE.

Commissioner's Office,
Marlinton, W. Va
June 21, 1897.

Alex. W. Rider's Administrator
vs.
John Rider, et als.

Pursuant to a decree rendered in the above styled cause on the 16th day of June, 1897, I will proceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, West Virginia, on the 1st day of September, 1897, to take, state, and report the following matters of account, towit:

1. A settlement of the accounts of J. C. Arbogast, Administrator, or his successor.

2. A statement showing whether or not all of the debts of the said A. W. Rider have been paid, and if not the amounts unpaid and to whom due.

3. A statement showing whether or not there are any monies in the hands of any commissioners or receivers of this court which are assets in this case, with the amount thereof and whence derived.

4. Whether or not all of the lands of the said A. W. Rider have been sold as directed by his will, and if not the location acreage and value thereof.

5. Any other matter, &c.

W. A. BRATTON,
Commissioner in Chancery.

COMMISSIONER'S NOTICE.

Commissioner's Office,
Marlinton, W. Va,
June, 21, 1897.

Nora Susan Herold, et als.
vs.
Wise Herold, et als.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, rendered in the above styled cause at the June Term, 1897, of said court, I will proceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, West Virginia, on the 1st day of September, 1897, to take state and report to court the following matters of account, to wit:

1. An account showing what debts, if any, against the estate of Washington L. Herold remain unpaid.

2. An account of the liens binding the lands in the bill and proceedings mentioned, whether arising under the will of the said Washington L. Herold, deceased, or the agreement between R. D. and Wise Herold, a copy of which is filed with the original bill marked "B"; or by judgment or otherwise, and showing their respective dates, dignities, and priorities.

3. An account of the lands on which said liens rest, together with the annual and fee simple value thereof.

4. Any other matter, &c.

W. A. BRBTTON,
Commissioner in Chancery.

Notice to Lien Holders,

To all persons holding liens by judgment or otherwise on the real estate or any part thereof of Wise Herold:

In pursuance of a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, made in a cause therein pending, to subject the real estate of the said Wise Herold to the satisfaction of the liens thereon you are hereby required to present all claims held by you and each of you against the said Wise Herold, which are liens on his real estate or any part thereof, for adjudication to me at my office in the town of Marlinton, West Virginia, on the 1st day of September, 1897.

W. A. BRATTON,
Commissioner.

To Cure Constipation Forever.
Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

KEEP YOUR BOWELS STRONG ALL SUMMER!

CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
CURE CONSTIPATION
REGULATE THE LIVER

10¢ 25¢ 50¢ ALL DRUGGISTS

A tablet now and then will prevent diarrhœa, dysentery, all summer complaints, causing easy, natural results. Sample and booklet free. Ad. STERLING REMEDY CO., Chicago, Montreal, Can., or New York. 270

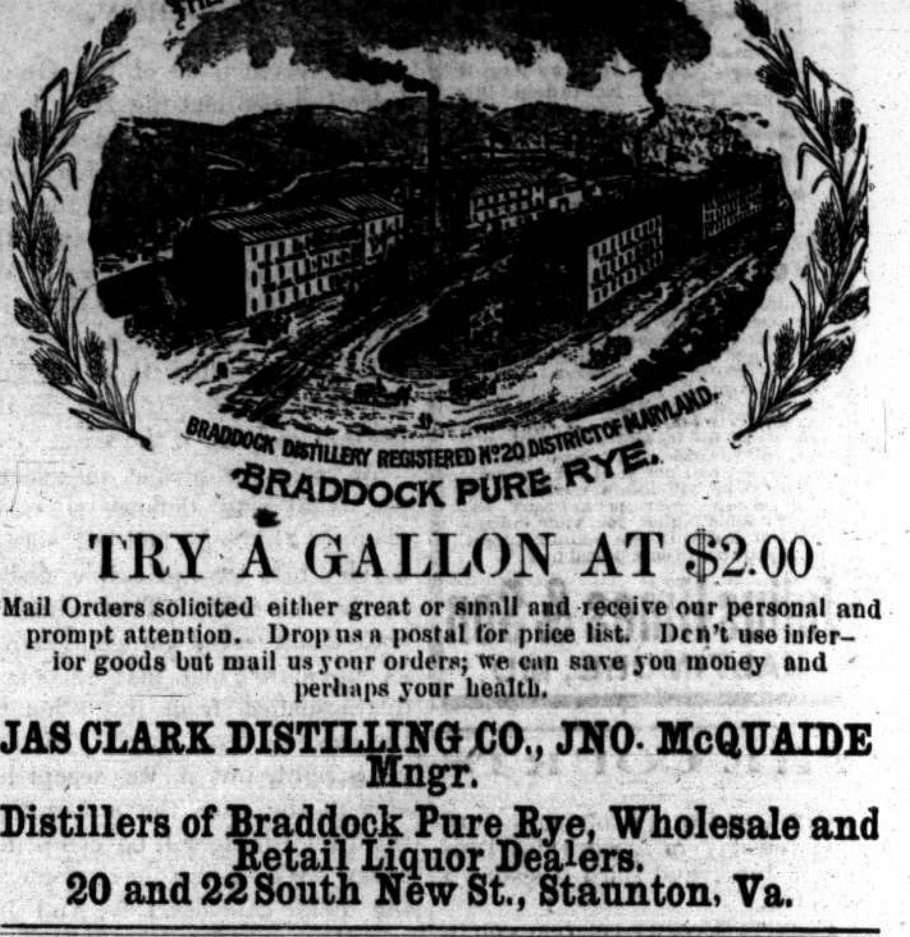
We have a plan by which Farmers can get
TOOL CHESTS FREE

Containing of first-class quality (guaranteed) every tool—Axes, Saws and Planes included—necessary to repair vehicles, machines or build a house. Three two-cent stamps and the name of this paper required for particulars. Powell Fertilizer & Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.

The Greatest Medicinal Whiskey the World has Ever Known.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE ⁂ AND BARLEY MALT,

SMOOTH, SOFT, RICH, RIPE, MELLOOW AND CHEMICALLY PURE, A RECOMMENDATION IN ITSELF.



THE JAMES CLARK DISTILLING CO.
BRADDOCK DISTILLERY REGISTERED Nº 20 DISTRICT OF MARYLAND.
BRADDOCK PURE RYE.

TRY A GALLON AT $2.00

Mail Orders solicited either great or small and receive our personal and prompt attention. Drop us a postal for price list. Don't use inferior goods but mail us your orders; we can save you money and perhaps your health.

JAS CLARK DISTILLING CO., JNO. McQUAIDE Mngr.

Distillers of Braddock Pure Rye, Wholesale and Retail Liquor Dealers.
20 and 22 South New St., Staunton, Va.

PLOW REPAIRS.

We have at last succeeded in making arrangements
To supply Points for the Ronceverte Plow.

Full stock now on hand
Send in your orders early

We are Factory Agents for
SILVER STEEL and IMPERIAL PLOWS,
also BEST HILL-SIDE PLOW on Market,

Don't Forget

THE WONDER AIR TIGHT HEATER
this Fall.

Simms & Co.,
Opp. Passenger Depot, RONCEVERTE, W. Va.

Stop! Listen! RUSH TO THE FRONT!

Where you can get the best bargains ever sold in this county at a retail store. We invite your attention to a few prices, namely:

Black Satteen, 9c per yard
Hickery Shirting, 8c per yard.
Cottonade pants cloth, from 11c up
Crepon Tisure, 10c per yard.
Tobacco, 15c per pound.
Cornstarch 5c per pound.
Arbuckle Coffee, 12½c per pound.
Best whole-grain Rice, 6c.
Men's Flintrock coarse Shoes, 95c.
Solid gold Rings, $1.50 to $4 00.
Good Pins, 1c per paper.
Men's good working Shirts, 20c to 50c
" " weight Drawers.......20c
Suspenders, 10c to 15c.
" Suits..........$2.75 to $8.00.

Ladies 50c Sailor Hats............25c
" 60c fine Straw Hats......30c
" $1.00 Tam Oshanters......50c
" $1.50 latest style untrimmed 80c
" $3 00 trimmed hats........$1.65
Artificial Roses, 10c per bunch.
" Flowers, 25c " "
" white Swiss aprons at 15c each.
" pure Silk Mitts 15c per pair.
" black Gloves................10c
" Slippers.....................95c
Men's 20c Chip Hats, broad rim, 14c
" 15c ditto for 8c
$2.25 black Fedora fur hats " 1.15
Men's Brown, fancy Brim......1.50
90c fur hats for 50c.

We will take WOOL in exchange for goods at 17c per pound.

Yours respectfully, L. D. SHARP.

50 Reasons

—WHY—

You should trade with Sol Davis, Green Bank

1 Low Prices
2 Best of Goods
3 Quality unsurpassed
4 Great Variety
5 Polite Attention
6 Every Deal a Bargain
7 Guaranteed as Represented
8 Glad to Please You
9 Full Value for your Money
10 Latest Styles
11 An Easy Selection
12 You get Satisfaction
13 You are Protected
14 No Advantage Taken
15 A Fair and Square Deal
16 You Save Money
17 The Goods are Reliable
18 A Complete Stock
18 Great Inducements
20 All kinds of Produce Taken
21 Highest Market Prices Paid
22 Fancy Prices unknown
23 Meritorious Stock
24 Prices that Please
25 Customers Leave Smiling
26 No Disappointment
27 You Find What You Want
28 What you Buy is Choice
29 A Guarantee of Goodness
30 Your Patronage Appreciated
31 Store Freshly Stocked
32 Popular Goods
33 Popular Prices
34 Headquarters for Bargains
35 We Under buy
36 We Undersell
37 Leaders of Trade
38 Always a Rare Choice
39 You Get Honest Goods
40 Golden Opportunity
41 Profit Sharing
42 Cream of the Market
43 Best Place to Buy
44 Promises Kept
45 Statements Verified
46 Your Welcome Assured
47 Inspection Solicited
48 Not Urged to Buy
49 Stock Carefully Bought
50 You get the Best & Cheapest

Head to foot Outfitter for Men, Women, and Children. Yours for Business, Green Bank, W. Va. SOL. DAVIS.

R
97. ad-
year Marlin-atter.

"GHOST OF THE [illegible]NGUIN."

BY WILL LISENBEE.

For more than a week the Penguin had laid at anchor in the little harbor at Bastia. She was a small schooner, a weather-beaten, lubberly craft, with her yards splintered and one of her masts broken, yet she looked strongly picturesque, standing with bare poles against the flaming sunset sky, as I allowed my little boat to drift before the gentle breeze.

Aboard the craft there were no signs of life visible, and I knew that Muggins must be ashore, filling himself with rum, as was his custom when Capt. Darke was absent.

My old friend, the captain, had been beating about the Mediterranean with his lubberly schooner for half a score of years, and so he might still have been engaged, but for the arrival of a letter at Bastia telling him of a newly-inherited fortune left him by an uncle who had been living in Florence.

But upon receipt of the goods new he was off at once, leaving his disabled schooner in charge of Muggins, an old sailor who was more honest than sober.

As my boat drifted alongside the Penguin I perceived a rope trailing over the port side, and, making my little craft fast, I drew myself upon deck.

I looked about me, but no one was visible. It was evident that I was the only soul aboard the Penguin.

I threw myself on a camp-stool in the shadow of the sail and fell to regarding the range of dark hills that rose back of the romantic little city. Presently I was interrpted by the sound of oars, and a few moments later Muggins' tawny head appeared over the rail. He started when he saw me, and was about to beat a hasty retreat when my voice stopped him.

"Bless me, I thought you were a ghost, I did, by the powers!" he said, seeming well pleased that his fears had not been realized.

"Well, now, what the deuce is there about me, Muggins, to make you think me a ghost?" I asked.

"Oh, it isn't that you look like a ghost, Mr. Raymond," he returned, apologetically. "But, you see, when a cove is looking to see a ghost, he's pretty certain to take the first live thing his eyes fall on for what he's looking for."

"Then you were expecting to see something of the supernatural kind?"

"That's a fact, Mr. Raymond, though 'tain't often a cove is believed when he tells such a story. There's a ghost on this old hulk, or else I'm losing my eyesight."

"And you really believe in such nonsense?"

"I believe what I sees, that's all."

"What did you see?"

"Well, since you ask, I don't mind telling you. You see, since Capt Darke went away and the crew was discharged, the Penguin has been under my care, and I have been sleeping aboard the vessel and spending most of my time here. Last night about two o'clock I woke, thinking I heard something moving near me. I was sleeping in my cot on the deck, and as I looks about me I sees a woman, all in white, moving like a specter right by the hatchway. While I was watching, it seemed to sink into the deck and disappear. I'm not the man to run from a single night-prowler, but I felt queerlike at this, and can't see how a woman could be on the Penguin. Thinking she might have descended the companion-ladder, I goes down with a lantern, but finds nothing. Then I looks all over the ship with the same result. I slept no more that night, and though I look after the ship during the day, I shan't sleep here again if I know myself, call it ghost or what you will."

With this he picked up a lantern and descended to his boat that lay alongside.

"Then I shall spend the night here and lay your ghost for you," I said.

"You'll greatly oblige me if you will," he returned, "though I'll be blowed if I think you succeed. Good evening, Mr. Raymond. I'll drop alongside early in the morning and see how you have fared. There's the key to my cabin," he added, tossing the key upon the deck. "You'll find pipes and plenty of tobacco, and a sip of rum in a decanter. if you look close. Now again good night to you."

His oars dipped into the water, and he was gone.

Dusk was already settling over the water. I took a seat on the deck and lit a cigar, and began running over in my mind some of the events that had befallen me since my arrival in Corsica.

For more than three months I had been staying in the romantic little island, finding a restful charm in its quiet seclusion that was a pleasing contrast to the life I had been spending for the past two years in the gay capital of the restless and pleasure-loving French.

One is not likely to expect to meet with adventures of the thrilling kind in the peaceful precincts of Bastia, yet something bordering upon this had come to my lot less than a month before.

For the amateur artist the quaint little city will furnish many subjects for the pencil and brush, and I had made good my opportunities since my arrival.

The most prized among my collection was the portrait of Veda, the little Corsican fruit-seller. There was something fascinating in her very pose, and the dark beauty of her face had drawn me to her as if by some subtle witchery.

One evening, as I was strolling through the streets, I heard a cry of mortal terror come from the court of a ruined building where several poor families had taken their abode, and entering hastily I perceived an aged woman, withered hag, with uplifted knife, in the act of striking a girl who was crouched in the corner of the wall.

I struck the knife aside, and the would-be murderess fled, leaving me face to face with Veda, the intended victim.

She only paused a moment to press a kiss upon my hand; then she slipped through a gap in the wall and was gone. That was the last I had seen of her.

To my inquiries regarding her whereabouts I received no information, excepting a bit of her past history which told me that she had belonged to a wealthy and influential family, and that she had received a finished education. But reverses had come; her father had fallen a victim to a dreadful vendetta, and she had finally been left a penniless orphan.

I was deeply interested in her, but no one could give me the slightest clew as to whither she had fled.

Still I had lingered about the places I used to see her. Was I in love with the little Corsican beauty?

Her face would come before my mental vision asleep or waking, bringing a sweet sensation I had never before experienced; and yet I tried to dismiss her from my mind.

I sat smoking for some hours upon the deck of the Penguin, watching the yellow lights dancing in the romantic little city, and drinking in the fresh, sweet air of the night that stole up from the Mediterranean.

It was about 11 o'clock when I stretched myself upon the cot which Muggins had placed upon the deck. I fell asleep soon after, and dreamed of Muggins' ghost.

It seemed that some strange presence came to me—a woman, beautiful beyond any dream; and just as I reached out to touch her she vanished, leaving only a faint odor of some strange, sweet perfume. I awoke suddenly with that inexplicable sensation that sometimes tells us of the unseen presence of another.

I sat up and looked about me in vague bewilderment. The moon had risen out of the sea and was flooding the deck with its mellow radiance.

As my mind grew more composed I detected a subtle perfume on the night air, the same that had come to me in my dream.

Was it only the effect of my imagination? No; there could be no mistake as to its reality. Something white lay at my feet; I picked it up; it was a delicate piece of lace embroidered linen, and exhaled the breath of perfume that had before greeted my senses.

While I stood bewildered at the amazing circumstance, I perceived a white form emerge from the hatchway and move forward, with a slow, gliding movement.

I stood immovable, watching the figure as it came toward me. As it drew near, I perceived that it was a girl, and as the moonbeams fell on the pale face I recognized it as belonging to Veda Dorlos, the little fruit seller.

Her eyes were wide open, and staring vacantly ahead in a way peculiar to the somnambulist. She was a sleepwalker! The thought came to me like a flash. Yet, what could account for her presence aboard the Penguin?

Without attempting to answer the puzzling question, I started toward the figure, but as I did so, the sound of something like the dropping of an oar in a boat came from over the port. Then a moment later the dark figure of a woman—the same I had seen making the assault on the little fruit-seller—slipped noiselessly over the rail. She paused for a moment to glance about the ship, then, with a cry of rage that might have proceeded from some wild animal in deadly combat, she leaped upon the unconscious girl, the blade of a long knife glinting in the rays of the moon. Roused to action by the sight of the murderous intruder, I leaped quickly forward, and, before the knife descended to do its deadly work, I caught the hand that held it.

But if I reckoned on an easy victory in subduing my adversary, I soon discovered my mistake, for the woman, though aged to all appearances, seemed to possess the strength of the strongest man, and, finding herself foiled in her murderous attempt, she turned upon me with the fierceness of a panther. Coming unexpectedly as the attack did, it caught me off my guard, and before I realized my peril, the hand that held the knife was wrenched from my grasp; then there was a swift blow, a keen pain in my shoulder as the blade entered; then a mist gathered before my eyes, and I sank unconscious upon the deck.

When my senses returned it was broad daylight, and I was lying on a cot in Muggins' cabin, the beautiful but troubled face of Veda bending over me.

It was about a week before I was able to get ashore, and, though I had a trained nurse from Bastia, Veda refused to leave me entirely in the hands of another.

Well, in that week I had learned to love the little Corsican beauty with such an intense devotion that I could not bear the thought of separation.

Her life had been one of trials and misfortunes. The old hag who had twice sought the life of Veda was prevented from taking my life by the timely arrival of Muggins, who had come over to the vessel in his boat just before daybreak to see how I was faring. Finding herself thwarted, she leaped into the bay, and was drowned before she could be rescued by Muggins.

She was the last of the Baralodo family, between whom and the Dorlos a dreadful vendetta had existed, and it was to escape the vengeance of the old woman that Veda had stowed herself aboard the Penguin, hoping to be carried to some foreign land, and thus escape the violence and death that constantly threatened her.

Veda and I were married, and a month later sailed for America in the Penguin with my old friend Capt. Darke, who had returned and had the vessel repaired.

Muggins was much elated over the happy ending of my attempt to "lay" his ghost, though he always declared I had made a most lucky failure, and instead of laying the ghost, I had myself been layed by it.—N. Y. Ledger.

THE BEST WAY TO CURE Disease is to establish health. Pure rich blood means good health. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the One True Blood Purifier. It tones up the whole system, gives appetite and strength, and causes weakness, nervousness, and pain to disappear No other medicine has such a record of wonderful cures as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hoods Pills are the best after-dinner pill; assist digestion, prevent constipation.

Proposed Railway Extension.

[Col. R. S. Turk in the Spectator and Vindicator.]

An article printed in our issue of Dec. 2d, on the subject of the extension of a railway from Harrison burg west through Highland and Pocahontas counties, having attracted some favorable comment and rather more attention than we had supposed, we take the liberty of further calling the attention of capitalists generally and to the Southern Railway especially, the advantage and advisability of entering the West Virginia coal fields by an extention of their Harrisonburg brauch to the head of Gauly or Elk river. Few people comparatively, know the vast country a road over that route would drain, and fewer still know the resources of the section. A residence of about fourteen years in Pocahontas county, has given us probably as familiar an acquaintance with what it contains as most ordinary unscientific persons could acquire in such a period. We never obtained an analysis of its minerals nor attempted a development of any of them, but we did examine pretty carefully into its timber. The county of Highland has without doubt a vast quantity of iron, but it is not supplied with timber as the counties west of it. It would however, furnish large quantities of oak, some pulp wood and great quantities of tan bark. It would also supply many hundred carloads of cattle every year, and fine quarries of building stone would doubtless be opened. There is no calculating what would be shipped until the opportunity presented itself. When Pocahontas county would be reached unculled of that region would at once supply freight without awaiting mineral or other development. Several lumber companies in that county have offered railroad corporations as an inducement to build into their holdings in that county, to give the railroad all the tan bark on their land, and in addition guarantee them forty car loads of lumber per day for twenty years. This was the proposition of single lumber companies, and those companies, nor any other company has any monopoly of the timber there. Nothing but some white pine and walnut have ever been taken from that county, and this outflow would be stopped at once by a road entering the county, and the freight yearly derived from 25,000,000 feet of sawed lumber, which now floats away and is caught by the C. & O. at Ronceverte, be saved to the new company.

It has been claimed by persons close to the Southern, we have heard, that that road did not seek any new coal fields, that it had all the coal it could use or handle. This must be a mistake. The Southern has no coal north of Alabama and no coking coal anywhere so far as we can learn.

Should it build the 100 miles of railroad we advocate it would be in the midst of the West Virginia coking coal and would enter a field with coal on both sides of its line for 200 miles. It must be a source of profit to the C. & O. and B. & O. to haul coal eastward. Why then would it not be as profitable to the Southern? With a well built line, the road mentioned could haul coal in competition with these roads and unquestionably an immense iron business would spring up on the line as the iron ores of Pocahontas and the Gauley coal fields are not 30 miles from each other over this route. In fact they are really in sight, with limestone at hand, of the finest quality for fluxing. There has been found in Pocanontas county in large quantities a fine quality of hard coal. This vein has been opened in four or fiive places in the "Levels" a section of that county, and it is thought to be valuable and certainly is abundant. The magnificent deposit of red and gray marble found in the same levels section of that county, is another feature in figuring on freight. There would also come from this county yearly many hundred car loads of stock. All this must be taken into account. By this route the shortest line from Washington to Cincinnatti could be built, and such grades as the B. & O. encounters at Alleghany or Cheat mountains would be met. The gaps at the head of Elk or Gauler are low, never blocked with snow for any length of time, and the gap in the Alleghany at Frost is one of the very lowest in the mountain. When we behold the struggle the B. & O. makes in carrying its trains over the Alleghanies by its present line and think of the difference in the mountains on the proposed line, which we have crossed at all seasons of the year, we are astonished that so wonderful a route, into so magnificent a region has not long since been occupied by a railroad, when capital has been blowing down the Rockies Seiras and laying rusty rails over prairie and desert in the west, whilst here in the very face and under the shadow of our great cities is more wealth than can be found in the same unoccupied expanse of territory, anywhere else in the United States. If the Southern or some other line does not soon build the line we mention, feeders and branches will of course reach out from the C. & O. and B. & O. and in a sort of sickly half hearted way undertake its development, and leave less for this line, when built, to claim. It would look as if a coal field 200 miles in length and 100 miles in width, with timber over the same area in almost virgin state would surely be attractive to the eye of a corporation which already has 150 miles of road leading directly from the seaboard toward that territory, which 150 mile it acknowledges is not now valuable, but which with the addition of 100 mile more could be made one of the most desirable properties in the country. Certainly if there remains any capital in this country with which to build railroads, no more profitable investment of it could be made than here.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, LUCAS COUNTY } ss.

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo. County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that can not be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

{SEAL} A. W. GLEASON. Notry Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous sufaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists. 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

TWENTY-SIX American woman have matriculated for the new term of the Berlin University.

MARLINTON HOUSE.
Located East End of Bridge.
Terms.
per day - 1.00 & 1.50
per meal - - - 25
Good accommodations for horses at 25 cents per feed.
Special rates made by the week or month.
C. A. YEAGER, Proprietor.

C. B. SWECKER,
General Auctioneer
and Real Estate Agent.
I sell Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands Farms and Town Lots a specialty. 21 years in the business. Correspondence solicited. Reference furnished.
Postoffice—Dunmore, W. Va., or Alexander, W. Va.

Old Dominion Building & Loan Association.
—OF—
Richmond, - - Virginia.
J. TAYLOR ELLYSON, President.
E. A. BARBER, Treasurer.
DIRECTORS.
J. Taylor Ellyson, Normon V. Randolph, John B. Purcell, John S. Ellet, Frank T, Sutton.

Authorized Capital.....	$20,000,000.
Subscribed Capital........	5,000,000.
Paid Up Cash Capital......	1,500,000.
Assets....................	2,000,000.

Depository—State Bank of Virginia. Investment stocks cost $1.00 per share membership fee, and 60 cents per month afterwards—withdrawable after twelve monthly payments, and sooner in event of the death of the stockholder.
H. A. YEAGER, Agent.
MARLINTON, W. VA.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR
FOR THE WHEELING
Weekly Intelligencer,
West Virgicia's Leading Newspaper.

The coming year promises to be one of great moment to every American citizen. An important change is at hand in the administration of public affairs. There will probably be a special session of Congress immediately following the inauguration of the new President. The tariff, efpecially in the matter of wool and coal, will be at once under discussion, and legislation looking to the restoration of the national finances to a sound basis will be introduced. There will also be a new administration in West Virginia, and there is every indication that enterprises of great importance to the public wellfare will be set on foot in the state. The proposed river improvements will be begun. New railroads will be built, and new material resources of every kind developed. The year 1897 promises to be one of the golden years of the State and Natton. Business will everywhere retive, and the columns of the INTELLIGENCER will teem, with the evidence of great opportunities for business.

Every family should have a live newspaper of this character in its midst, so that the old and youhg of the household may know all of the particulars of the great awakening that is at hand.

TERMS AND PREMIUMS.

The WEEKLY INTELLIGENCER, one year in advance	$1 00
The WEEKLY INTELLIGENCER, six months in advance	60
6 copies one year and extra copy to person getting up club	5 00
12 copies one year and three extra copies to person gettsng up club	10 00
20 copies one year and a copy of the DAILY INTELLIGENCER to person getting up club	20 00

The premium copies will be sent to any address desired. It is equivolent to a cash commission, as the can readily be sold and the money retained by the getter up of the club. It is not neccessary for all the names in the club to come from one office, nor is it necessary to send all the subscriptions at one time. Subscriptions may be sent as fast as received, one or more at a time, and a record of them will be kept at this office. The premium copies will be sent at the request of the agent as soon as he has sent sufficient subscribers to entitle him to them.

Specimen copies of either edition of the Intelligences sent free to any address. Send in your subscriptions at once.

We want an Agent at every postoffice in west Virginia, Eastern Ohio, and western Pennsylvania.
INTELLIGENCER PUBLISHING CO.,
WHEELING, W. VA.

To Create
A Revolution
in the household work so that while everything is kept clean, there may be leisure for social duties, is the aim of every housewife. She knows, that to obtain the best results in the shortest time, and to give the linen that special whiteness and freshness, only the BEST SOAP must be used.
SUNLIGHT SOAP
GUARANTEED PURE AND TO CONTAIN NO INJURIOUS CHEMICALS
Now, the soap which has the largest sale in the world is Sunlight
Soap
and so it is fair to presume that it is the Best Soap in the World.
At any rate it must be worthy of a fair trial.
Lever Bros., Ltd., Hudson & Harrison Sts., N.Y.

SPAIN seems to be on the verge of bankruptcy, and it looks as if the virtual independence of Cuba will soon be an accomplished fact, by conceding self-government, or autonomy, to the Cubans.

"Be sure to brush your feet off before you come in," shouted Willie's mother to her six-year-old son.

"Would n't it be just as well," asked Willie, who expects to be a professor or a lawyer when he grows up, "would n't it be just as well, mamma, if I brush the dirt off, and leave my feet on.—Minneapolis Tribune.

Raw Fur Skins
WANTED. Highest market prices paid. Honest assortment guaranteed. Send for Price Current.
THE A. E. BURKHARDT FUR & HAT CO.,
6 West 4th Street, Cincinnati, O.

Are You Afraid ?
TO READ BOTH SIDES OF THE QUESTION?
The New York Journal is the only Metropolitan paper indorsing
Bryan and Sewall
and it daily publishes articles by the leading financiers of the country on both sides of the question,
"Silver versus Gold."
It is progressive, liberal and always espouses the cause of the masses. Every broad minded man should read it, whether Republican or Democrat.
THE NEW YORK JOURNAL.
Daily - - - - - - 1 Cent everywhere.
Subscription for One Month, including Sunday - - - - 40 cents
Two Months and a Half - - $1.00
Send subscription to
The New York Journal,
Circulation Department, NEW YORK.

Trustee's Notice of Sale.

Pursuant to a deed of trust made by John S. Moore and M. E. Moore, his wife, dated on the 19th day of June, 1890, and recorded in the Clerk's office of the County Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, in Deed Book No. 21 at page 82, to the undersigned Trustee, to secure the payment of two certain debts due Henry Barlow, one of $462.89, with interest from October 31, 1889; and the other of $785.51 with interest from November 15, 1889; and default having been made in the payment of said debts, and having been duly notified by the beneficiary, Henry Barlow, the undersigned Trustee will on the 9TH DAY OF JANUARY, 1897,

At the front of the Court house of Pocahontas County, proceed to sell by way of public auction to the highest bidder, the land mentioned and conveyed in said deed of trust consisting of 131½ acres of land, situated near Mill Point, in said County, it being the land upon which the said John S. Moore now resides. Said land comprises a good farm with comfortable dwellings house and other buildings, being the same land conveyed to said John S. Moore by S. H. Clark and wife by deed recorded in the County Clerk's office in Deed Book No. 17, page 161, less 38½ acres conveyed to W. W. Rider, and 80 acres conveyed to E. H. Moore.

TERMS OF SALE: One third of the purchase money cash in hand; one-third with interest in one year from day of sale; and the residue thereof with interest in two years from day of sale, the purchases executing his notes with good security, the legal title to be retained as ultimate security.

S. B. MOORE, Trustee.
Andrew Price, Attorney.
December 11, 1896.

What is
CASTORIA
Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.
"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.
"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY, Boston, Mass.
ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.,

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

LIGHTNING HOT DROPS
CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.
HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals and Bugs, etc.
Tastes Good. Smells Good.
BREAKS UP A COLD.
SOLD EVERYWHERE—25C AND 50C PER BOTTLE. NO RELIEF, NO PAY.
HERB MEDICINE CO. [Formerly of Weston, W. Va.] SPRINGFIELD, O.

Simms & Co.,
RONCEVERTE, W. VA.
Silver Steel Plow, Syracuse Chilled Plows, Imperial Chilled Plows.
PLOW REPARS OF ALL KINDS AT LOWEST PRICES EVER OFFERED HERC
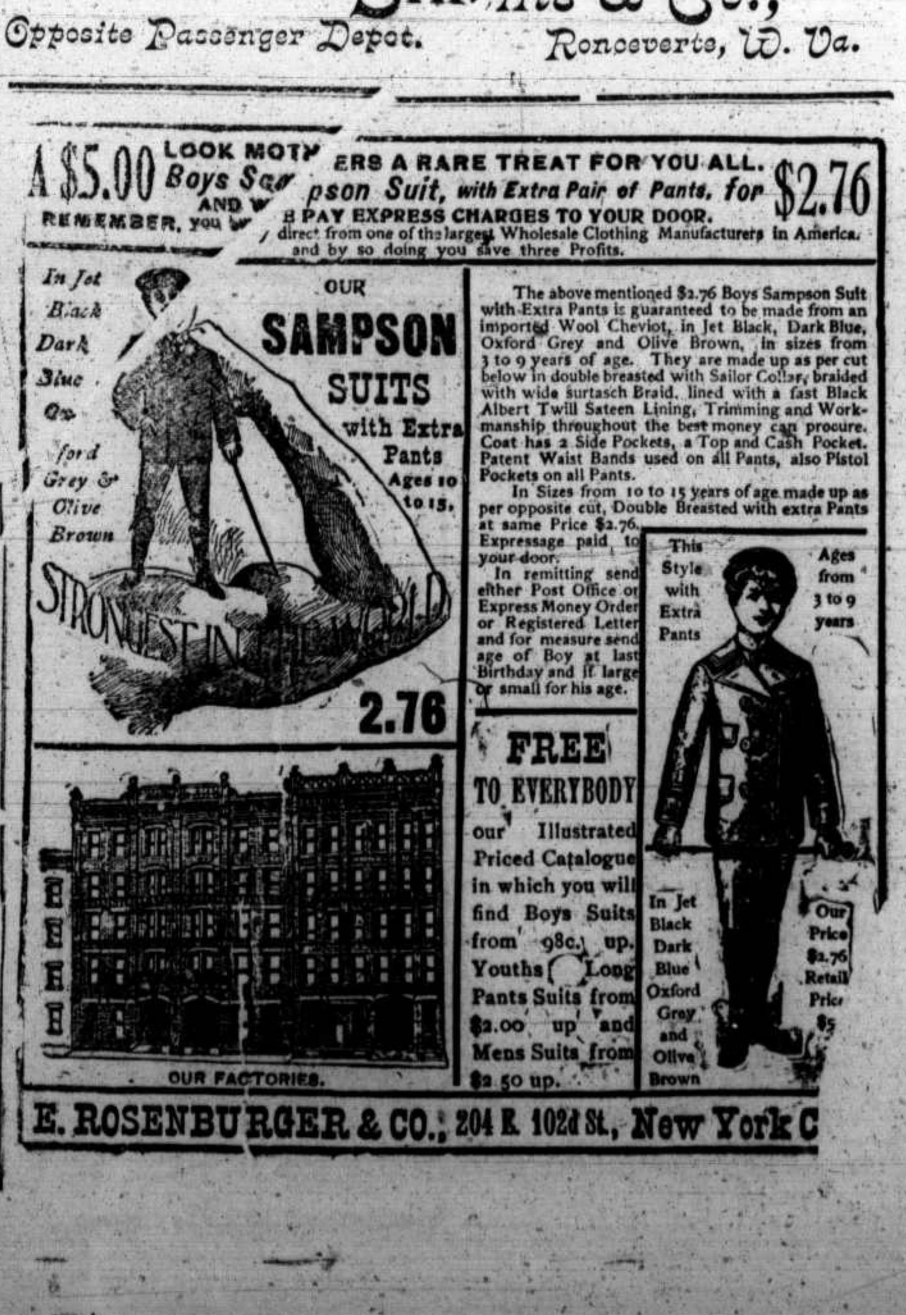
RED WARRIOR POLL AXES 65C
GREENBRIER " " 60c
CHAMPION " " 50c
4 No. 2 Horse-shoes for 15c | 4 No. 3 Horse-shoes 18c
4 No. 4 " " 23c | 4 No. 5 " 16c
COOK-STOVES OF ALL KINDS
1 doz. 8x10 Window Glass 35c | Berea Grindstone 1 1-4c lb
Paints, Oils, Varnishes, etc.
Our goods are all first class, no shoddy or job lots, or damaged goods. Strike us for prices before you buy.
Simms & Co.,
Opposite Passenger Depot. Ronceverte, W. Va.



A $5.00 LOOK MOTHERS A RARE TREAT FOR YOU ALL. Boys Sampson Suit, with Extra Pair of Pants, for $2.76
REMEMBER, you and we PAY EXPRESS CHARGES TO YOUR DOOR.
direct from one of the largest Wholesale Clothing Manufacturers in America, and by so doing you save three Profits.
In Jet Black Dark Blue Oxford Grey & Olive Brown
OUR SAMPSON SUITS with Extra Pants Ages 10 to 15.
STRONGEST IN THE WORLD
2.76
The above mentioned $2.76 Boys Sampson Suit with Extra Pants is guaranteed to be made from an imported Wool Cheviot, in Jet Black, Dark Blue, Oxford Grey and Olive Brown, in sizes from 3 to 9 years of age. They are made up as per cut below in double breasted with Sailor Collar, braided with wide surtasch Braid, lined with a fast Black Albert Twill Sateen Lining, Trimming and Workmanship throughout the best money can procure. Coat has 2 Side Pockets, a Top and Cash Pocket. Patent Waist Bands used on all Pants, also Pistol Pockets on all Pants.
In Sizes from 10 to 15 years of age made up as per opposite cut, Double Breasted with extra Pants at same Price $2.76. Expressage paid to your door.
In remitting send either Post Office or Express Money Order or Registered Letter and for measure send age of Boy at last Birthday and if large or small for his age.
This Style with Extra Pants
Ages from 3 to 9 years
In Jet Black Dark Blue Oxford Grey and Olive Brown
Our Price $2.76 Retail Price $5
FREE TO EVERYBODY our Illustrated Priced Catalogue in which you will find Boys Suits from 98c. up. Youths Long Pants Suits from $2.00 up and Mens Suits from $2.50 up.
OUR FACTORIES.
E. ROSENBURGER & CO., 204 E. 102d St., New York C

The Pocahontas Times.

Hear, Land o' Cakes and brither Scots,
Frae Maidenkirk to Johnny Groats,
If there's a hole in a' your coats,
I rede ye tent it;
A chiel's amang you takin' notes,
An' faith he'll prent it.—BURNS.

Local Events.

THE Bird and McLaughlin houses have been newly painted and present a very inviting appearance.

SIMMS & Co., of Ronceverte, are handling a new grade of roasted coffee, put up in Parkersburg, W. Va., which is away ahead of any other brand on the market. It retails at 15c, guaranteed full weight and no trash.

IT has been suggested that a kerosene lamp turned down in a sick room makes a very injurious light for the eyes of the patient and gives off dangerous gases. The old-fashioned tallow candle gives a soft, grateful light, and should be used.

THE story goes that an old lady said: "People say that 'murder will out,' but I drove a nail in my first husband's head over twenty years ago and it was never found out." An examination of the skull showed she had spoken the truth and proved that "murder will out."

A YOUNG Baptist preacher in Greenbrier lately got out of his depths and floundered around in his English terribly. In speaking of the early Christian martyrs, he told of "A young girl, only eight years old, who for her faith, my brethren, was buried alive—a living corpse in the seminary!"

LAST week J. T. Sheaves advertised a reward of $15 for a horse stolen in Greenbrier. A man was seen in the Levels riding a horse answering to the description, with the same sort of saddle. This man avoided Hillsboro by riding thro the fields. He wanted to trade the horse, and acted suspiciously in other ways.

THE editor of this paper in paying toll on a turnpike both ways recently asked the young lady if she thought she could remember a good looking fellow until he came back,—a time-honored question on such occasions. The girl instantly replied that she would have no trouble in remembering a good-looking fellow, but did not know whether she could remember him.

A YOUNG woman called at the post-office recently, and bashfully inquired if there was a letter for her. "Business or love letter?" jokingly inquired the clerk. "Business," was the reply, accompanied by a blush of the deepest crimson. As there was no such letter to be found, the young lady took her departure. She came back however after a little while and said, in faltering accents: "Please, would you mind looking among the love letters?"—Exchange.

IN romantic literature, the stork figures as one of the most beautiful and interesting of birds.. For the past few weeks one has been much in evidence amid the picturesque hills and vales in and about Huntersville. One was seen perched on William T. Moore's chimney long enough to leave a nice little boy to gladden that home, and then gracefully winged its way to Cummings Creek and took its place on Henry McComb's chimney top, and it went away a little girl was nestling in the cradle. The next place where it rested on poised wing was on one of J. C. Loury's chimney tops and there is a nice little boy that makes matters pleasant and interesting in a Huntersville home.

MR J. J. BEARD, of Huntersville, has in his possession a Bible with marginal references that belonged to his grandfather, John Jordan the pioneer. It was printed in Edinburg in 1796 by Mark and Charles Kerr, His Majesty's printers. There are found memoranda of births, marriages, and deaths on blank leaves and spaces. John Jordan and Miriam McNeel were married December 20, 1796, and he died February 16, 1836. It is a 12mo volume, having the Apochrypha, the Psalms of David in metre, and considerable other matter bound with the two Testaments. In its time, one hundred years ago, the book was, evidently, a costly and fancy article.

THE case over which the county court scratched its head hardest last week was the matter relating to the gates on the Lobelia and Jacox roads. A petition signed by sixty-six persons was presented asking for the removal of the farm gates. They showed that four had been erected by order of court and the rest had no record of official permission for their existence. The petitioners showed also that there were twenty gates on thirteen miles of road, which, they claimed, was coming it too strong. Petitioners alleged that $282 would build all necessary fence, and that $2,000 would lane the road. The petition was met by another petition, more numerously signed by the land owners and their friends objecting to the removal of gates. They showed that an immense expense would be occasioned landowners requiring their lands to be fenced and that it had always been understood that the road was to be a gate-way. The court refused to remove the gates. The petitioners think of appealing.

Personal Mention.

G. W. Ginger, of Huntersville, is having his residence nicely painted by the Fisher brothers.

Henry P. Randolph, Esq., and son, Ward, of Richmond, are visiting their Marlinton friends.

Miss Lillie Curry, of Huntersville, accompanied by I. Brown Moore, Esq., were welcome visitors at our place last Saturday.

O. E. McKeever is using the old court house for a workshop, and is doing a good deal of work in his line. He is transforming the old jail into a commodious dwelling.

House Burned.

Last Friday night the comfortable home of Mr and Mrs Ewing Johnson, near Marlinton, was burned to the ground about midnight. During the previous afternoon the roof of the kitchen was found burning, ignited by the stovepipe. Mrs Johnson, being alone, called to a neighbor, who came, and to all appearances the fire was extinguished. No fire was made in the stove after that, and as late as nine o'clock the roof was carefully examined. About eleven o'clock the house was discovered to be in flames and beyond all control.

But little of the household effects were saved and so it amounts to almost a complete loss, and a great calamity to the occupants. Friends and neighbors came in the next day and assisted in putting the granary in a condition to be occupied temporarily.

The County Institute.

The teachers' institute will be held at Marlinton, beginning Aug. 9, 1897, add will continue for five days. All teachers are required by law to attend at least one institute annually, and any teacher who fails or refuses to attend, unless such teacher shall have an excuse sufficient in the judgment of the Board of Examiners, shall not be entitled to examination. Trustees cannot employ a teacher who has not a certificate of attendance for FIVE DAYS on a teacher' county institute, held in this State since the first day of June of this year; or have an excuse for non-attendance at same properly signed by the board of examiners. Excuses for non-attendance will be signed only when the Board is in session at the regular stated examinations. Frivolous and petty excuses will not be accepted.

EXAMINATION FOR TEACHERS.

Teachers' examination will be held at Marlinton, Monday and Tuesday, August 16 and 17, 1897.

D. L. BARLOW,
County Superintendant.

Controversies at Frost.

Tuesday, Mrs T. J. Williams and Mrs Dr Gwinn, of Frost, were arrested upon the warrant of Susan Houdyshell charged with stealing fruit jars.

The preliminary examination was held before Squire Bird at Marlinton, and resulted in a dismissal of the charge. T. J. Williams, a Confederate Veteran by occupation, and N. C. McNeill represented the defendants, with L. M. McClintic for the State and H. S. Rucker for the prosecuting witnesses.

The State's evidence was that after the arrest of Susan Houdyshell in May, Mrs Williams and Mrs Guinn had come to the house and without permission searched it to see if some fruit jars which had been stolen were in the house, and having missed some fruit jars it was supposed they had taken them that day.

The defense said that they had gone to the house and that John Houdyshell, the owner, was there and that he had given them leave to search the house to satisfy them selves concerning the jars and having done so, took nothing away with them. The defense also impeached the evidence of the prosecuting witnesses by a number of disinterested citizens of Frost neighborhood. The trial excited great interest and was attended by a large crowd of people.

Railroad News.

It is reported that the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Camden system held a meeting at the Hot Springs the other day and it was decided to follow the original scheme of joining the railroads at Marlinton, and that work would begin at once.

Two engineers arrived at this point last Monday from the Hot Springs, worked one day and returned to Hot Springs. Their whole attention was given to the fall of the River. They took the elevation at Marlinton; then at the Gibson Place, about two miles up stream, which, they said, was thirty feet higher; then at the Bird Place, a mile father on, which was 20 feet higher; they then returned to the road and drove to Paul Sharp's, on the River, ten miles above this point, and took its elevation. The engineers' names could not be learned. One of them said: "We never talk about our business, but I guess you know what we are doing."

The prospects for railroad developments are certainly brightening and a good many of our anxious citizens feel it in their bones that we are to have a railroad soon.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.
Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

The Jail Delivery.

The jailer at Marlinton has been made a victim of misplaced confidence, and it is not likely that he will allow visitors to enter the cells to visit prisoners again. Wednesday morning it was discovered that George Roberts, arrested and committed for beating his wife, and Ervine Houdyschell, a confessed burglar, had escaped during the night. All that was left was the negro boy in jail for forgery, who missed the chance of his life in not giving the alarm. He claims to have done his best to arouse the jailer, but it is not believed. He says that Roberts has been working at cutting the bars of the steel cage ever since he (Douglas) has been there, (over a month), and that he had told him he was making a rat-trap. He also says that a bar fell out Tuesday morning, making a loud noise, and Roberts told him before the escape that it was caused by the falling of a bar. About dark Roberts was out of the cage and working at the brick wall. He made a hole under a stone window sill.

The appearance of the cuts in the steel indicate that they have been working at the job for a long time. One of the cut places in the triangular bar looked as tho it might have have been make for weeks or even years. The others were more or less fresh. The tool used was a saw or knife, very narrow. About a month ago Roberts wrote to Captain Smith, of this place, asking him to give him a paper bill for a silver doliar. It is supposed he wished to order some instrument by mail at that time. This was after Captain Smith had refused to bail him out.

The jail has been open of access to everyone who desired to enter. The natural supposition then is that the prisoners secured what tools they needed and worked at the job of sawing the bars at their leisure. The cage is constructed on the latest and best plans, and is of Harveyized steel. There is no possible way of escape without the use of the best of tools and plenty of time in which to complete a toilsome task. The work of removing bricks from the wall was of course comparatively easy. The prisoners had laid a heavy piece of bed-clothing on the floor to deaden the sound of falling mortar.

The prisoners were alloted different cells but were not locked up in them. The hole was made in Roberts' cell. For several weeks whenever Roberts' had visitors he would walk to the opposite side of the cage in another cell and talk to them. Roberts took his clothes with him. He left an order with the negro boy on the jailer for fifty cents, of which he made the boy a present. The negro is much blamed for not giving the alarm, for had he shouted he could have been heard all over town. The darkey says Roberts told him that his saws were case-hardened, and that he had a chisel to work at the masonry. They had started to cut out in the right hand cell, but had given it up after sawing off one rivet.

$50.00. I will pay fifty dollars reward for the return of G. W. Roberts and Ervine Houdyschell, who escaped from the Marlinton jail on July 21, 1897.

WILLIAM SIPLE, Jailer.

A Close Call.

Our exchanges from Lewisburg and Ronceverte report that Trout Shue came near being lynced, on Sunday night, July 11th. A party variously estimated from fifteen to thirty persons organized at the Brushy Ridge camp ground, eight miles of Lewisburg. Sheriff Nickell was duly notified, and passed the camp about 9 o'clock, on his way to Lewisburg. He was overtaken by four of the parties, and he turned back and at the home of D. A. Dwyer, succeeded in persuading the lynchers to give up their purpose.

The lynchers had procured a new rope, were well armed with winchesters and revolvers and meant business.

In the meantime the jail authorities had been notified by a fishing party coming in from Clear Creek who had passed the camp ground and had heard enough to make them think that violence was intended, and so the party informed Deputy Sheriff Dwyer, who at once took the prisoner to a place of refuge in the woods a mile or two from the town. On Tuesday officers Nickell and Dwyer set out for Moundsville with the prisoner.

Steps are being taken to round up the lynchers. On Monday bench warrants were issued for the six who were recognized by officer Nickell. Charley Lewis, a colored person living near the Camp Ground, has been detained in Lewisburg as an important witness, as he is believed to have recognized about all the persons who had gathered at the Camp Ground.

When Shue learned what threatened him, he was greatly agitated and could not put on his shoes and was on the point of making a confession, and thus be prepared for extremities.

It would seem that the verdict does not meet the views of these people, some of the Greenbrier citizenship insist the death penalty should have been inflicted.

To Cure Constipation Forever.
Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

County Court.

Hotel licenses granted to J. H. Ralston, Hettie Gay, N. J. Rock, T. J. Williams, G. H. McLaughlin Uriah Bird, Allie J. Yeager, J. H. Doyle, Susan Carter. Joseph S. Smith, Austin Hambrick, E. H. Moore and J. W. Warwick.

J. H. Patterson and S. B. Scott Jr. appointed commissioners to settle with the Sheriff.

T. S. McNeel obtained certificate to practice law.

Capt. C. B. Swecker and Col. D. A. Fisher granted licenses as auctioneers.

Overseers of the poor appointed: Green Bank, S. B. Hannah; Huntersville, Charles P. Corbett; Edray, Taylor Moore; Levels, S. H. Clark.

A. & N. Price awarded county printing.

A petition of T. A. Bruffey and sixty-five others for the removing of gates on the Lobelia and Jacox road refused.

R. W. Hill qualified as notary public.

The copying of the land books was awarded to Miss Emma N. Warwick on the following terms: That she copy all books from the year 1823 to 1850 at $3.50; from 1850 to 1870 for $4.25; from 1870 to 1880 for $5.75; from 1880 to 1897 for $6.50 per book. About twenty bids were considered; there was one bid of 1½ cents per page, which would have brought the bidder about five cents per day, so it was refused. Such books are to be copied as S. L. Brown and L. M. McClintic, special commissioners may think necessary.

F. R. Hill was appointed deputy for R. W. Hill, Sheriff.

C. A. Yeager given wood contract at $1.60 per cord.

W. W. Tyree appointed toll collector on Greenbrier Bridge.

Court adjourned to next Saturday, when the business of the term will be completed.

Sheep Statistics.

Mr A. M. McLaughlin, of near Lewisburg, has always been one of the most successful sheep raisers in the country. We recently obtained some statistics from him in regard to the profit which might be expected from sheep in one season.

He had nineteen ewes out on shares last winter. This year the wool and increase has been sold for $141.21. In addition to this there was an unusual loss of five lambs. The wool brought $20 and twenty-eight lambs, at 92½ lbs., brought $121.21. Supposing that the capital invested in these 19 ewes was [illegible] er farms them out at half shares, being at no father expense or trouble, this year he could get his 19 ewes back and $70.60, or nearly 100 per cent., and that with wool cheaper than cotton.

Another herd on the Johnson Place, near Marlinton, of 65 yearling sheep of Mr McLaughlin's own raising clipped an average of 7 lbs. each of wool.

In a field by themselves at his home farm in Greenbrier is a herd of 34 ewes which have 66 lambs. From these 34 ewes, produce to the amount of $300.22 has been sold this year. The lambs average 87 lbs. each. This was a profit of $8.83 each on these ewes.

A Fable.

A Bicyclist recently met a Man on the Road on Horse-back, 'tween Here and Ronceverte, and Scared his Horse. Said the Man, Why did you not get off your Wheel when you saw me Coming? Said the Bicyclist, Why did you not get off your Horse?

MORAL: The bicyclist has a right of way over the public roads.

Remington Brothers Establish an Office Chicago.

Remington Brothers, of 309 Broadway, New York, have opened a Western office in the Chamber of Commerce building, Chicago, for the better handling of their increasing Western business, their Eastern office remaining, as heretofore, at 309 Broadway. The firm will continue at both offices with their specialty of county-seat dailies and weeklies.—Extract from THE NEWSPAPER MAKER, July 1, 1897.

Frost.

It raineth and the sun shineth and the people maketh hay.

Corn is short, but wheat is good.

Cronin Dilley will start up his thrashing machine soon.

Upton and Cliff Sharp are off to the State of Webster.

The sick are improving.

The Sunday School at this place is progressing verp nicely.

Dr J. B. Lockridge is our leading calf buyer.

Harry Guinn has got a position at the Hot Springs.

We wonder why J. A. Reed goes south so much.

Look forward! Prosperity is just ahead.

MOUNTAINEER.

Notice to Tresspassers.

All persons are hereby notified not to trespass (under penalties of the law) by fishing, hunting, leaving fences or gates open, gathering berries, or in any other way, upon the lands of William M. McAllister on the waters of Elk River, in the County of Pocahontas, and State of West Virginia.

Given under my hand this the 16th day of July, 1897.

H. B. GAY,
for WM. M. MCALLISTER.

Buckeye.

Joe McNeel, of Academy, was up on business last week.

Miss Minnie Wade, of Academy, has been visiting here, but has returned home. We hope to see her back again soon.

Fev. Wm. T. Price preached a good sermon last Sunday.

Miss Laura Overholt is on the sicklist at this time.

Mrs Sarah Dent, of Clarksburg, has been visiting relations in this part. Her sister, Mrs Cathrine Armstrong, returned with her to Beverly.

D. T. McNeill has gone to Addison to spend a few weeks.

Harry Thomson and Mike Myers have gone to camp.

W. McClintic spent a few days at home this week.

O. Guay and Frank Sumpter, of Ronceverte, passed thro here, enroute for McClintic's camp.

Harper Adkisson has charge of D. T. McNeill's store.

Joseph Smith, of Mill Point, was in this part last week.

Winter McNeill says the mountain road is a hard road to travel.

GEN. JOHNSON.

"The Vampire" Localized.

Rudyard Kipling's recent poem, 'The Vampire,' which has been widely noticed and read, is thus parodied by Mr J. Angus MacDonald, in Brains:

A fool there was and he wrote an ad
(Even as you and I)
To the rich and the poor, the good and the bad,
(To tell them his store and his goods were the fad)
But this fool neither wit nor experience had (Never as you and I).

Oh the cash some waste and the space some waste:
And the work of head and hand
Is lost because they don't know, you know,
(And well we know then never can know)
They do not understand.

A fool there was and his goods he spent
(Never as you and I)
His coin and work and his good intent
(But no body ever knew what he meant)
For a fool must follow his natural bent
(Never as you and I).

Oh the toil he lost and the spoil he lost
And the asinine schemes he planned.
But all in vain—fools never know why
(And well we know they'll never know why)
They do not understand.

The fool was stripped to his foolish hide
(Never as you and I)
From the business whirl he was cast aside
And nobody really cared if he died
To advertise wisely he vainly had tried,
(Never as you and I).

And it isn't the blame and it isn't the shame
That stings like a white-hot brand.
It's coming to know that some never know why
When in advertising they falter and die
(Never as you and I).

It is a very poor return for the work of a hive of bees to kill them to get one season's crop of honey.

Use the Ware Hive.

Get acquainted with your bees. Help them to fight the worm hat destroys them, and they will reward you with the best of honey in marketable frames,—and you can eat your honey and have a clear conscience.

T. C. Ware,
Valley Head, W. Va.

"July 18, 1896, our store, four dwelling houses and three barns were washed away by a flood. Soon after the community was visited by an epidemic of bloody flux. In a short time we sold ten dozen of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and in every case where it was used the results were all that could be desired; in fact our physicians admitted that it would do more toward bringing about a cure of flux than they could do."—BUSH & KNISLEY, Auburn, W. Va., Oct. 8, 1896. For sale by Rickett's & Co., Marlinton; Amos Barlow; Huntersville, Barlow & Moore, Edray; and E. H. Moore & Co., Academy.

Losing Flesh

You naturally lose flesh in the summer and running down is so easy. You get a little weaker each day without hardly noticing it. There is loss of appetite, headache, weakness of the muscles, disturbed sleep, weakness of memory, and these are the beginning of nervous prostration. Iron and tonics and bitters may afford some temporary relief, but what you need is a food for body, brain and nerves.

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod-liver Oil with the Hypophosphites, furnishes just the nourishment needed for those who are run down and pale and thin and weak. If you lose flesh in summer take Scott's Emulsion now. Don't wait till fall or winter before beginning.

For sale at 50c. and $1.00 by all druggists.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.
To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

IT TICKLES YOU
THE INSTANT RELIEF YOU GET FROM
LIGHTNING HOT DROPS.
CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.
HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals, Serpents, Bugs, etc.
BREAKS UP Bad Colds, La Grippe, Influenza, Croup, Sore Throat, etc.
SMELLS GOOD, TASTES GOOD.
SOLD EVERYWHERE AT 25C AND 50C PER BOTTLE. NO RELIEF, NO PAY.
HERB MEDICINE CO. [Formerly of Weston, W. Va.] SPRINGFIELD, O.

To the Public:

In order to close out our present stock of goods, we will offer for sale from this date to September 1st, 1897, all the goods which we have in hand at this time at from 5 to 10 per cent discount FOR CASH.

We will give a few prices for Cash:

DRESS GINGHAMS, 6 to 7cts

BEST PERCALES, 8⅓cts

DOMES. GINGHAMS, 5cts.

BLEACHED COTTONS, 7 to 8⅓cts

ARBUCKLE COFFEE, 15cts

GREEN COFFEE, 12½ to 20cts.

BEST CALICOES, 6cts.

ALL OTHER GOODS IN PROPORTION.

TAYLOR & McELWEE,
Successors to E. H. Moore & Co.
ACADEMY, W. VA. Je11

RETURN THANKS!

the cheapest.

YOU KNOW

I can sell the best and cheapest goods, for I do hot have to make allowance for bad debts, nor pay out for book keeping.

I SELL

for cash and good produce—no credit. In this way I can keep up my stock at cash prices. I can give you bargains in Dry Goods, Groceries Boy's Clothes, Hats,—and, in fact, everything in my store is sold at a bargain.

Examine my stock before you buy elsewhere. It is being constantly renewed.

Yours Respectfully,
S. J. BOGGS
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

IN time of prosperity friends are plenty;
IN time of adversity not one in twenty.
One friend to the last will stick to you,
'Tis the Proprietor of THE GOLDEN STORE, who—will see that you are treated just as well with your lean purse as the owner of the largest farm in the county.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 15, NO. 1 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, JULY 30, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 11.—Polished Solid Oak 5-Drawer Chiffonier, 53 inches high, 30¾ inches long, 18 inches deep. It is well constructed and has good locks on each drawer. Special price, (Orders promptly filled).

$3.39

Our success is not accidental. It is the reward of 48 years of honorable business. Our experience in the Furniture and Carpet business is yours for the asking. Our immense illustrated catalogue of Furniture, Oil Cloths, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Bedding, Springs, Steel Beds, etc., is free to all who write for it, and we pay all postage. If you ask your local dealers' advice you will not send for our catalogue, as he will lose a customer. If you consult your pocket-book and want double value for your dollars, you will deal with the manufacturers. Send your name on a postal now.

Julius Hines & Son
BALTIMORE, MD.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

The Pocahontas Times.

PANAMA CANAL.

It may be news to many of our readers, as it was to the writer, that work upon the Panama Canal is progressing. A few years since there was a scandalous failure and breakdown, but out of the wreck sixty millions of francs were found available and forty millions more have been secured from the officers, making a hundred million frans or twenty million of dollars. This is now being used in construction. Another hundred million of francs are needed, which will be forth coming as wanted, as there is no better investment in sight. This work will be forty-five miles in length, and fifteen miles have been completed, twelve miles upon the Atlantic coast and three upon the Pacific. By treaty by the United States with Columbia in 1846, this country alone has the right to free ingress and egress on the canal and and no change can be made in its condition. When this canal is finished, this country will have more than the favored nation clause in rights of transit for its war vessels. The probabilities of this ship canal between the oceans are simply astounding.

IT looks as if the whole world is threatened with labor troubles. In England the engineers of stationary engines have quit their places, and the strike promises to be long and fierce. Both the employers and employed refuse all proposals for arbitration, and so as matters now stand it ssems that when settlement is made it will be on the basis of the survival of the fittest. Forty London firms joined in a lockout, and by way of retaliation the engineers are calling out the other men, and one hundred thousand are now idle in London.

THE French authorities have recommended an appropriation of fifty-two million dollars on the navy, over and above the usual estimates. This indicates a large increase to the naval resources which are already very formidable. The Turks too are on the move, the Sultan having recently contracted with an Englieh firm by the terms of which agreement twenty-five millions of dollars are to be expended in the purchase of new battle ships and modernizing the ships in hand.

NEWS comes from Hammerfest that Mr Andree is now on his way to the Pole, having started on the 11th of July in a balloon prepared for the purpose. Parties are observing the currents for the messages he promised to drop into the sea, placed in curiously designed floating appliances. While probabilities may be in his favor, none but himself seem to have much confidence in his being able to make the Pole, after all.

THOSE acquainted with French history will readily recall the fact that the Bastile fell July 14, 1789. The recent celebrations of this event seem to have been unusually gay and spirited. The finest weather prevailed throughout the whole country. This celebration means the same to every French Republican that the fourth of July meahs to the true American patriot, it being the birthday of liberty in France.

DIOGENES was on foot, with a bicycle lantern.

"Wh ydo you carry that lantern?" inquired the king.

"I am looking for the best wheel on the market," quoth Diogenes, "and up to the present date each man I have met has recommended a different one.—Washington Capitol.

THE Cretan insurgents evidently have a good opinion of their own prowess. They have informed Admiral Harris that, if 5,000 of their number were allowed to go to Thessaly, they would soon drive the Turks across the frontier. The admiral thinks it is a pity they were not allowed to try.

THE class in political geography will be inteested to know that Hawaii is the last island group in the whole vast Pacific Ocean that remain independent. If Hawaii be aunexed the "partition" of the Pacific will be complete.

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

For more than a hundred years the Wanless name has been a familiar one in our region of country. According to tradition vaguely entertained Ralph Wanless and Stephen Wanless, natives of England, came to Virginia and settled on the Wanless place near Mount Tabor school-house in "The Hills" five miles north of Huntersville.

One of Ralph's sons was William Wanless, who married Nancy Wilson from Augusta County, near Fort Defiance. She was a sister of Margaret (Peggy) Moore, wife of Isaac Moore, senior, of Knapp's Creek. Mr and Mrs Wanless settled on Back Alleghany, and were the parents of nine daughters and seven sons. The daughters were Rachel, Jane, Eliza, Martha, Nancy Ann, Margaret, died 7 years; Mary, died 15 years; Malinda, a young woman when drowned in Leather Bark; and Matilda. The sons were James Wanless, near Dunmore; Andrew Wanless married Margaret Potts and lived on Back Alleghany; Nelson Wanless, a Confederate soldier, was captured at the Big Spring and died at Beverly, 1863; Ralph Wanless and Allen Wanless, and then two unnamed sons who died in infancy.

Rachel, the eldest daughter of William Wanless the early settler of Back Alleghany, married the late John Logan, Esq., and settled in Randolph County, lived awhile in Barbour County, and finally located on Back Alleghany. Mr Logan was a very estimable citizen, a ruling elder in the Presbyterian Church, and a very skillful cabinet maker, and an upright person in his dealings. In reference to the Logan family these particulars are given. Nancy Jane Logan is on Back Alleghany. Eliza Ann Logan became Mrs Enos Curry and lives near the old homestead. Mary Elizabeth Logan was married to John Curtis, and settled on Back Alleghany. Rebecca Logan married James Galford, and lives on Back Alleghany. Ina Josephine Logan was married to Samuel Renick Hogsett, and lives on Brown's Creek. Preston Logan died at the age of seven, and William Logan when three years old.

Jane, second daughter of William and Nancy Wanless, was married to the late David McLaughlin, Esq., near Driftwood. Mr McLaughlin was an influential citizen in his community and prominent member of the M. E. Church, South. Dallas McLaughlin, near Driftwood; Dr McLaughlin, a well-known citizen at Addison; Joseph McLaughlin and James L. McLaughlin at the old homestead are their sons. Their daughter Nancy became the second wife of Uriah Hevener, Esq., near Green Bank, and Emma became Mrs L. J. R. Dysard, of Travellers Repose.

Eliza Wanless was married to the late Chesley K. Moore, formerly of Dunmore, and now lives on back Alleghany.

Martha Wanless became Mrs Henry Nottingham.

Nancy Ann Wanless married P. Nicholas, and moved to Minnesota where she now lives.

Matilda Wanless was married to William Cassell, on Greenbrier River a few miles west of Green Bank. Her children were George and Nancy Jane. George Cassell entered the service of the southern Confederacy in the late war between the States. He was wounded in Battle and died from his injuries. Nancy Jane Cassell is now Mrs Henry Barlow, near Edray, Pocahontas County. Her sons are Neal, Anderson, Page, Davis, Asa, and her daughters Ruth, now Mrs James White, on Laurel Run, and Effie, the youngest, at home with her parents.

Neal Barlow married Miss Frances Sharp, and settled near Verdant Valley. Anderson Barlow married Miss Silva, near Mill Point, and has settled near the homestead. Page Barlow, M. D., a rising young physician, is located on French Creek, in Upshur County. Davis Barlow, Esq., married Miss Lula, youngest daughter of Taylor Moore, Esq., near Edray. He is the superintendent of schools for Pocahontas County, and a prominent teacher. Asa Barlow married Miss Effie, eldest daughter of Mr S. B. Moore, near Edray, and lives near the Barlow homestead.

Thus far has the compiler been able to illustrate the history of the Wanless relationship, aided by Mrs Rachel Logan and her daughter Josephine Hogsett. There are other branches of this relationship in other sections of the county that may claim our attention hereafter. Whenever this should be done then the parties not mentioned in this may receive due recognition.

The Rev James Wanless, a brother of William Wanless, was in his day widely known as a minister of the M. E. Church and in the last years of his life was in the pale of the M. P. Church. Early in life he married Miss Elizabeth Sharp, daughter of John Sharp, senior, one of the original settlers near Frost, and settled on Thorny Creek, at the place owned at this time by Newton Fertig. Sometime in the twenties James Wanless cleared considerable land. Upon the sad and sudden death of his brother Stephen he adopted the three fatherless nephews and reared them to manhood. In the meantime he prospered financially and bought from James Sharp the property now occupied by John F. Wanless. In connexion with his farming enterprises, James Wanless operated two mills, and prospered enough to accumulate a very respectable competency for those times.

James Wanless was a zealous local preacher and rarely evea spent a silent Sabbath. He seemed to have had great admiration for John the Baptist as a model backwoods preacher. It was evidently his belief that his duty was to lift up a voice in the Pocahontas wilderness against the vanities of the times. His spirit would be deeply stirred by the advent of a new fashion, and then he would look up our Redeemer's eulogistic questions about John the Baptist. The writer once heard him preach, with Mathew xi. 8 for his text: "But what went ye out for to see? A man clothed in soft raiment? behold they that wear soft clothing are in kings' houses."

While commenting on the wearing of soft raiment then the preacher would assign to the fashions and the vices their portion in due season, as he thought it was needed. "Now just consider what I say, my brethren and hearers. How would John the Baptist have looked in a swallow-tailed coat, a Black Betty of apple jack sticking out of one of the pockets, a big quid in his cheek and squirting out stuff too nasty for a hog to smell at; a half-bushel hat on his head, and long-toed boots like some of the sights we see nowadays." The devout people felt it would have been out of the question for John the Baptist to have been fond of such things, and so they took it all very seriously, and many of the younger people from their talk evidently thought that to be in the fashion was to make a sure thing of going to the bad place.

While it is hard to suppress our smiles, still it must be acknowledged that when it was regarded and felt to be a Christian duty to be plain and economical, it saved a vast deal of needless expenditure, and to rear a family and furnish a passable home was not the heavy, perplexing business it is now.

Under such impressions young people did not care for a thing in the world but for each other. They were all the world to one another, and so they were not afraid to marry the first good chance they had, and the happiest day of their lives was when they stood together at some selected spot in the virgin forest and made a start at building up a home, with nothing in sight but willing hands and loving hearts ond a three-sided, bark-covered camp. W. T. P.

Now it is in order for Judge Bradley, of Washington, to order the acquittal of the whole American people for contempt of the Senate. He can do so on a technicality, but not otherwise.—Springfield, Mass., Republican.

THE HOPE OF ISRAEL.

While comparatively little is seemingly said about the Hebrews, yet a most significant movement is on hand in the interest of that strange, mysterious people.

In August next there is a council called to renationalize tha people and organize a new nation in Palestine. For twenty centuries these wonderful people cherished the hope of being restored to their own land, and this confident expectation is more vivid now than it has been since the dispersion. No parties are interested in keeping the Hebrews from the land of their fathers but the Turks. There are quite a number of reasons why some of the European powers, Russia more especially, should be glad of the assistance the Hebrews could give in bringing to bear another force against Turkey.

There are many of the Hebrews, however, while believing that their people will sooner or later be in possession of Palestine, who have no intention themselves to leave their adopted country. They are loyal citizens of the United Sates or England, and any dreams they may have of a home country for their people interferes in no perceptible way with their fealty to the government under which they may be living. There is something to be proud of in the unique position the Hebrews occupy as the only historic people, in all that pertains to human history, who have kept their personality as a people without self-government, or that have survived the want of a state.

Quite recently a meeting was held in New York to discuss a plan to farm a new Jewish state, which is the question to be considered by Jewish representatives from all parts of the world, in Munich, next month. At the New York meeting one of the speaders said: "We would be ingrates to leave this country where we have so many privileges, and when I speak for a new land for our people I do not contemplate an exodus from here. We want to form no political party, but a Jewish state in the Orient would be a blessing to thousands who are to-day homeless."

Another speaker said: "We need no country; we are a people without a country, and in that we differ from any other people that has ever existed. Nations have been driven from their countries and have been absorbed by their victors and have vanished from the earth forever; but we live on without country, and the schema yisrael of the Jew makes that country his country where he utters it."

Our readers may expect to hear something very interesting about this people before so very long, if they will read of what may be decided upon by the convention at Munick, in August. It is a great compliment to the United States that so many of the Jews declare they will never leave this country, it being good enough for them. Freedom of conscience has done more for the United States in the matter of intellectual advancement than any other one cause that has been at work upon the character of the American people. S. C. R.

AN authority on both chess and checkers, Mr E. A. Benjamin, has the following to say in relation to the two games:

"I think Checkers compares to Chess about like the game of marbles does to billiards. In other words to be plain I am of the opinion that when you talk of about complex, intricate, and scientific games, Chess beats Checkers about as daylight does a kerosene lamp."

THE editor of a country paper out in Iowa is determined that no one in his locallity shall get away from him, if he can help it. In a recent issue, he gets after his constituents in this forcible style: "Persons knowing themselves indebted to this office are requested to call and settle. All those indebted to this office and not knowing it are requested to call and find it out. All those indebted and not wishing to call are requested to stay in one place long enough for us to catch them. All those who are not indebted are requested to call and become indebted."

The Same Old Sarsaparilla.

That's Ayer's. The same old sarsaparilla as it was made and sold 50 years ago. In the laboratory it is different. There modern appliances lend speed to skill and experience. But the sarsaparilla is the same old sarsaparilla that made the record—50 years of cures. Why don't we better it? Well, we're much in the condition of the Bishop and the raspberry: "Doubtless," he said, "God might have made a better berry. But doubtless, also, He never did." Why don't we better the sarsaparilla? We can't. We are using the same old plant that cured the Indians and the Spaniards. It has not been bettered. And since we make sarsaparilla compound out of sarsaparilla plant, we see no way of improvement. Of course, if we were making some secret chemical compound, we might.... But we're not. We're making the same old sarsaparilla to cure the same old diseases. You can tell it's the same old sarsaparilla because it works the same old cures. It's the sovereign blood purifier, and —it's Ayer's.

How to Tell a Mad Dog.

When you hear the cry of "Mad dog!" the chances are many thousands to one that the dog is not mad; when a person is bitten by a dog which is really mad, the chances of hydrophobia are very slight indeed. Such are the statements made by John P. Haines, of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, in Our Animal Friends for July.

What is to be done if you happen to be bitten by a dog that is supposed to be rabid? The best thing you can do is just to take a few vapor baths, as hot as you can bear them. The perspiration will eliminate any poison which may have been introduced into the system. Then endeavor to forget all about it If you follow this simple advice, the chances are incalculably great that you will be perfectly safe.

But there is such a disease as rabies and it is important for the public, as well as yourself that you should know whether a sick dog is or is not rabid. If you will note the following facts, you will have no difficulty. You will probably find them quite different from the popular fancies by which most persons are misled.

1. It is supposed that a mad dog dreads water. It is not so. The mad dog is very likely to plunge his head to the eyes in water, tho he can not swallow it and laps it with difficulty.

2. It is supposed that a dog runs about with evidences of great excitement. It is not so. The mad dog never runs about in agitation; he never gallops; he is always alone, usually in a strange place, where he jogs along slowly. If he is approached by dog or man, he shows no sign of excitement, but when the dog or man is near enough, he snaps and resumes his his solitary trot.

3. If a dog barks, yelps, whines or growls, that dog is not mad. The only sound a mad dog is ever known to emit is a hoarse howl, and that but seldom. Even blows will not extort an out cry from a mad dog. Therefore, in an any dog, under any circumstances, utters any other sound than that of a hoarse howl, that dog is not mad.

4. It is supposed that the mad dog froths at the mouth. It is not so. If a dogs jaws are covered or flecked with white froth, that dog is not mad. The surest of signs that a dog is mad is a thick and ropy brown mucous clinging to his lips, which he often tries vainly to tear away with his paws or to wash away with water.

5. If your own dog is bitten by another dog, watch him carefully. If he is infected by rabies, you will discover signs of it possibly in from six to ten days. Then he will be restless, often getting up only to lie down again, changing his position impatiently, turning from side and constantly licking or scratching some particular part of his head, limbs or body. He will be irritable and inclined to dash at other animals, and he will sometimes snap at objects which he imagines to be near him. He will be excessively thirsty, lapping water eagerly and often. Then there will be glandular swellings about his jaws and throat, and he will vainly endeaver to rid himself of a thick, ropy, mucous discharge from his mouth and throat. If he can, he will probably stray away from home and trot slowly and mournfully along the highway or across country, meddling with neither man nor beast, unless they approach him, and then giving a single snap. The only exception to this behavior occurs in ferocious dogs which, during the earlier stage of excitement, may attack any living object in sight.

These symtoms of rabies are condensed from valuable information received from physicians of undoubted authority."

A Postmaster's Report.

When it was arranged for postmasters to send in quarterly reports, many queer documents were furnished. The following is on file in the post office department:

waterford, fulton c, ils.
July the 9, 1856

muster jimes buchanin, president of United States—Dear Sur Bean required by the instructions of the post office to report quarterly, I now foolfil that pleasin duty by reportin as follows. The Harvestin has been goin on pretty well and most of their labors have got their cuttin dun. wheat is hardly an average crop, on rollin lanscorn is yellowish and wont cut morn ten or fifteen booshils to the aker the health of the communities is only tolerable meesils and colery have broken out about 2 and a half miles from hear, thair are a powerful awaknen on the subjec of religun in the potts naborhood and meny souls are bein made to know their sins forgiven miss nancy Smith a near nabor had twins day before yisterday and one of them is a poor scraggy thing that wont live out half its days that is about all i know and have to report at present quarter give my respect to Mrs Buchanin and subscribe myself yours Trooley

Abigail jenkins
p m at fulton Co ils

"Has it ever occurred to you," says J. H. Allen in Dixie, "to think of the unscientific absurdity of the modern parlor stove? Here we have an apparatus built for the express purpose of radiating heat, and yet so constructed that it will give out the minimum amount of radiation. Everything that can be nickel-plated receives such a coating, and mica doors are used in great prefusion, and yet the mica radiates but eighty per cent. of the heat of black meal and nickel but twelve per cent., so that the good housewife who is delighted with the beauty of her parlor base-burner is probably burning two or three times the amount of coal that she would be called upon to burn if she should strip off all of the ornamentation and content herself with something black that is scientifically useful.

The Pilot, of Boston, says that an example which Catholics might profitably follow as to methods of raising money for religious purposes has been set by some Anglican ladies in London. They have organized under the title of "The Society of Church Beggers," with distinct purposes to abolish fairs and bazars, and offer personally to collect for any church or charity whose representatives will promise not to have recourse to these objectionable methods. The arguments they use are, that church fairs are not in churchly spirit and that, if a good cause be properly presented, people are reasonable enough and religious enough in main to give without getting some trivial sweetmeat or ornament in exchange for their money.

A GENTLEMAN who was fishing on Seventh Lake in New York a few days ago became tired and sleepy. So he anchored his boat near the shore in a shady spot and went to sleep. After while he was awakened by something blowing upon his face, and when he opened his eyes he saw a big buck standing to his belly in the water beside the boat and with his nose close to the fisherman's face. The gentleman lay quite still rather enjoying the situation. About that time another boat came around the corner into the little cove, and the buck with a bound disappeared in the woods.

ANY additional duty on hempen rope can not fail to injure the infant lynching industries of Ohio and the Southern States.—Detroit Tribune.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 15, NO. 2 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, AUGUST 6, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 11.--Polished Solid Oak 5-Drawer Chiffonier, 53 inches high, 30½ inches long, 18 inches deep. It is well constructed and has good locks on each drawer. Special price, (Orders promptly filled).

$3.39

Our success is not accidental. It is the reward of 48 years of honorable business. Our experience in the Furniture and Carpet business is yours for the asking. Our immense illustrated catalogue of Furniture, Oil Cloths, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Bedding, Springs, Steel Beds, etc., is free to all who write for it, and we pay all postage. If you ask your local dealers' advice you will not send for our catalogue, as he will lose a customer. If you consult your pock-t-book and want double value for your dollars, you will deal with the manufacturers. Send your name on a postal now.

Julius Hines & Son
BALTIMORE, MD.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

The Pocahontas Times.

THE INSTITUTE.

During the coming week, the teachers of Pocahontas county will be among us, and their presence is hailed with more than ordinary pleasure and interest.

Impressions will be made and influences will be set in motion that will be as far reaching as the immortal in humanity has consciousness and power of action. The timely suggestion of the superintendent of schools has no doubt been considered and all truly worthy teachers have been enthused and will endeavor to make this one of the best institutes ever convened. Blessed as these teachers are with applying minds, studious habits, and retentive memories, they have much to encourage them to make the best of their opportunities, and go forth to meet their pupils prepared by precept and example to show them how to live and what to do to make their lives worth living.

These teachers have the good, yet responsible, fortune to be living and working in the closing years of the most remarkble centuries of the world's history. It is no time to be droning or dreaming that life is a mere pastime or for sensual enjoyment, but to be intelligently awake, up and doing the duties in hand, with hearts for any fate

"Still achieving, still pursuing,
Learn to labor and to wait."

During the next week our town will be given up to be run, not by the new woman, but by as pretty a bevy of ladies, who if not new are not old, as ever bloomed on the hills or in the vales of any county in West Virginia, and visiting young men to correspond.

The institute then is soon to be here, and the welcome presence of the teachers and instuctors will enliven our streets and homes.

We would suggest that congenial friends pair off and discuss the merits of the English and American methods of spelling somewhat after this fashion:

LADY.—I am rather in favor of of the English than the American mode of spelling."

GENTLEMAN.—"Yes?" Thus interrogatively expressing his surprise that such should be the case.

LADY.—"Yes indeed! Take parlour for instance; having 'u' in it makes all the difference in the world." S. C. R.

* * *

THE Princess Dowager of China seems to be in a very unhappy state of mind. It appears that Prince Tsai did not congratulate her on her recent birth day, and refused to worship at the shrine of his ancestors. She has sentenced him to a dungeon for life. He is deprived of his royal title, publicly punished on the bare back with bamboos until he pleads for mercy and shut up and fed on spare diet until he manifests regret for his conduct. This stern old lady is the Queen Victoria of the Chinese. The first lady of the Flowery Kingdom.

* * *

THE Chinese Government, after so long a time, seems to have caught the prevailing military epidemic, and is about to reorganize the army on German military principles, and orders for rifles have been placed with German manufacturers. A new fleet will be fitted out as soon as possible. English parties get the contract for new vessels, and Germans the other half. The Armstrongs have been spoken to for the guns needed for the new fleet.

* * *

"WANT to ride a bicycle, do you?" snapped the old man. Your mother never went whizzing about on a wheel."

"Yes," retorted the dutiful daughter, "that is just what ma told me. She says that maybe if she had she would have caught a better looking man."—Indianapolis Journal.

* * *

GUSHING VISITOR—I should think there would be always something new to see in this great city with its teeming millions!

Matter-of-fact Resident—Ye-es, of course—but teaming ain't what it used to be. Everybody rides bisickles now.—Chicago Daily Tribune.

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

One of the most substantial and prosperous citizens of our county in its formative period was the late William Sharp, Esq., near Verdant Valley. He was a son of William Sharp. senior, who settled near Huntersville, and whose dwelling was near where the new road around the mountain leaves the old Green Bank road. Traces of it yet remain near the roadside, and may be easily noticed by persons passing that way. He had scarcely attained his majority when he and Elizabeth Waddell were married at Alexander Waddell's. This worthy couple at once settled in the woods and opened up a fine estate, out of a forest noted for the tremendous size of its walnut, redoak, and sugar maple trees, and reared a worthy family.

In reference to their sons and daughters the following particulars have been mainly learned from his daughter, Mrs Martha Dilley, near Dilley's Mill.

James Sharp, the eldest son, married Athelia Martin and lived on Brown's Creek, on the farm now owned by Amos Barlow, Esq. His son William died at home. Hanson died in Camp Chase, O. George died a prisoner of war. His daughter Elizabeth married Thomas Logan, in Randolph; and Sarah has her home with her sister, Mrs Logan.

William Sharp, junior, married Rachel Dilley, daughter of the late Martin Dilley, of "The Hills," and settled on lower Elk near Linwood (Big Spring.) His sons Harmon, Silas, and Hugh ~~are~~ well-known citizens. Bernard fell mortally wounded at Duncan's Lane. Henry was wounded near William Gibson's, on Elk, and died of his wounds. Luther was shot near his father's home by a scouting party. All three of these sons were Union soldiers. Mary Ella, the only daughter, died at the age of six years.

Alexander Sharp, son of William Sharp the settler, married Mary Dilley, sister of Rachel just mentioned, and settled on a section of the old homestead. His only child is Mrs Hannah Johnson, and lives at her father's.

Jacob Warwick Sharp, son of the Verdant Valley pioneer, married Elizabeth McNeel, daughter of the late Isaac McNeel, of the Levels, and lived on the old homestead. In reference to his family the following particulars are given.

William married Julia Moore, daughter of Isaac Moore, Esq. and and lives at Edray. His daughter is Mrs James W. Price, M. D.

Paul married Eveline Moore, Julia's sister, and lives on the Greenbrier River at the Bridger Place. Isaac married Miami, eldest daughter of Taylor Moore, and lives near Edray. Giles married Katie Cochran, daughter of the late Captain William Cochran, of Stony Creek, and lives on the homestead. Jacob, junior, died in childhood. Elizabeth married J. R. Poage, and Catherine married Quincy W. Poage, his first wife. These are sons of the late Colonel Woods Poage, and reside at Poage's Lane. Ann is Mrs S. B. Moore, near Edray. Francis married A. Neal Barlow, and lives on a section of the old homestead. Magdalen died in childhood. Jacob W. Sharp died but recently, much lamented by a very large circle of friends and relatives.

John Sharp, son of William the settler, married Sally Johnson, daughter of the late William Johnson, on the Greenbrier, and lives near Marlinton. His sons are Henry, Hugh, Ewing, James, and David. Mary is Mrs Frank Dilley; Nancy is Mrs Ervine Wilfong; Martha is Mrs James Wilfong; Susan is Mrs Amizi Ervine.

Elizabeth Sharp, daughter of the venerated settler, married Hugh McLaughlin, near Huntersville, and is yet living over 95 years of age. (1897.)

Jane Sharp, another daughter, married James Hanson and settled in Galla County, Ohio. Her children were William, John, Lydia, Elizabeth, and Catherine.

Mary Sharp, daughter of William the ancestor, married David Gibson, Esq., and settled on Elk, where Robert Gibson now lives. Her children are mentioned in the Gibson sketches.

Rebecca Sharp, another daughter of the ancestor, William Sharp, married William Moore, son of the late Aaron Moore, on Greenbrier River, and settled on the Crooked Branch of Elk, on the place now owned by her son, Jacob S. Moore. Her children were Mary Jane who married John McLaughlin, son of Major Daniel McLaughlin, and settled beyond Green Bank. Elizabeth married Joseph C. Gay, and lives on Elk Mountain near the old home. Mr Gay was a noted Confederate scout, and is a prosperous citizen. Matthias Moore married Jennie Mays, and lives in Botetourt County, Virginia. C. L. Moore married Mary Martha, the only daughter of Lieut. James McLaughlin, who died of wounds at Winchester during the war. Jacob Sharp Moore married Harriet Gay, daughter of the late John Gay, Esq., near Marlinton, and lives on the homestead. Nancy Moore married Jonas Simmons, and lived at Mingo, Randolph County.

Anna Sharp, daughter of William the settler, married Alexander Stalnaker, and settled in Randolph County. Her daughter, Mary Stalnaker, married Bryson Hamilton, of that county.

Ellen Sharp married Warwick Stalnaker, of Randolph County. Her daughter Lizzie became Mrs Dr David Gibson, of the same vicinity.

Nancy Sharp, another member of the settler's family married Jacob Cassell, from Back Alleghany, and went to Illinoii, and are living at Woodstock, Illinois.

Martha Sharp, youngest daughter of the pioneer, married Andrew Dilley and settled on Thorny Creek. There were three children, two sons and a daughter. Hanson Dilley married Caroline Stalanker, of Randolph County, and lives at Dilley's Mill. Amos Dilley married Minta Dilley, daughter of Ralph Dilley, near Dilley's Mill, and located on Thorny Creek.

The daughter Elizabeth Frances died at the age of two years. Mrs Dilley now lives at the old Dilley homestead. Her husband died a year or so since, a very estimable citizen.

Thus far the writer has been able to furnish some historical items that illustrate the family history of two very estimable persons. These people were the intimate friends and neighbors of Jacob Warwick and his wife Mary Vance. Mrs Warwick cherished feelings of special friendship for Mrs Elizabeth Sharp. Mrs Sharp did all she could to encourage Mrs Warwick in her efforts to conduct a Sabbath school near where the Friel cabin stood. Mrs Warwick, tho so weak, as to require the servants to lift her on her horse and help her off, would leave her home at Clover Lick at an early hour, meet her Sunday-school, spend several hours reading the Bible and giving good advice. Then she was lifted on her faithful horse to go home with Mrs Sharp, take dinner and a good rest, and then about the cool of the evening wend her way back along the narrow, steep, and rugged road. The aged Mrs McLaughlin says that some of the best advice she ever had was at this Sunday-school, carried on by Mrs Warwick and her own mother, Mrs Sharp.

Mr Sharp lived to a very advanced age, having survived his wife many years. He lived to see his children married and settled. His appearance was venerable, and nature had done very much for him in the way of natural endowments of mind and vigor of body.

He first saw the young person that he married at Thomas Drennan's, near Edray, where she spent a week or two spinning flax. While she was there a preacher happening to come along, (believed to have been Bishop Asbury), Mr Drennan drummed up a congregation, and among those present was a young and bashful youth with a new coonskin cap that he seemed to set a great deal of store by. Miss Waddell seemed to think it was very funny, and when she went home had a good deal to say about the ugly, funny-looking young man she had seen at the meeting. The mother remonstrated and said: "O Betsy, don't talk so; that young chap will be to see you, first thing you know."

Sure enough he did slip in, and found Betsy not exactly "robed and ready" either. She had just finished and hung out "a wash," and by way of a restful change was performing on her spinning-wheel, in short petticoat, chemise, and barefooted. Having shown him a chair she resumed her performance at the wheel, and as he meant business and time was precious, matters were pretty well arranged by midnight.

These young people thus being all the world to each other and not afraid to work their cabin home was an earthly paradise. A fine estate was opened up, a worthy family was reared, and the way prepared for many worthy families to have a local habitation and a name in a goodly land. The influence of these good people was in the interest of untiring industry, honest dealing, generous hospitality, and patriotic citizenship.

W. T. P.

* * *

Don't Go to Alaska.

"Don't go to Alaska" is the advice of S. S. Lebock. He is interested in mining ventures in the Black Hills, Colorado, and Mexico, and has prospected for gold in California, South Dakota, Colorado and Mexico, and South Africa, and is among the most experienced miners in the country.

"Whats all the world to a man when his wife's a widdy? He may bring back a meal sackful of dust from the diggings, but if he has to travel in a pine box himself, what good can it do him? I took a scoot up the Yukon two years ago, and, tho too old for hard work myself, talked with many miners, inspected a number of claims, and formed my own opinion of the country. I wouldn't stay if the ground were covered with nuggets the size of brickbats.

'I suppose that I have conversed with at least 50 graduates from the Alaskan mines—among them several of whom had done well. Not one but swore he wouldn't go back if he knew he could treble his gains. And they tried it when it was comparatively easy. Supplies were high, but they were to be had by any one who could pay for them. In this new El Dorado they are frequently not to be had at all—for love or money. A man who is snowed in without provisions in a lonely gulch can starve with millions in his pockets.

"If the prospector does not starve he freezes. If he does not freeze the musquitos eat him alive in the summer. Most people think they can stand musquito bites for a fortune but they have never seen the Alaska article. They literally drive their victims insane. There are plenty of well authenticated cases on record. If he does survive the awful rigors of the climate, the pangs of hunger, and the bites of ravenous insects, he returns home broken in health, to spend all he has made on doctors and nurses.

"And, maybe he does not make a cent. One would suppose to read the stories now in circulation that every man is sure of a fortune. That is all bosh. They told the same stories of California in '49. Every man who returned corroborated the wildest accounts. He admitted gold prospecting had always been gambling in the past, but asserted that nuggets were so thick in California that they could not be missed. Mining is a lottery everywhere, in Alaska as well as in California, Mexico, Australia or Africa. For every man who makes his pile a thousand go broke and a hundred lose their lives.

"Many people have asked my advice on Alaskan mining, and I have invariably counseled them to stay at home. If they must prospect they had better try Colorado or the Black Hills. Money is being made in both places. The winnings are not so large but the venturer does not stake his life on the cast.

* * *

ABSURD ALL ROUND.—"Isn't it absurd what ideas people in small towns have of large cities?"

"Yes; there's just one thing more absurd."

"What is that?"

"The ideas people in large cities have of small towns."—Chicago Post.

"A little more than a year ago, my hair began turning gray, and falling out, and although I tried ever so many things to prevent a continuance of these conditions, I obtained no satisfaction until I tried Ayer's Hair Vigor. After using one bottle, my hair was restored to ✻

How Old are You?

It makes no difference whether you answer or not. It is always true that "a woman is as old as she looks." Nothing sets the seal of age upon a woman's beauty so deeply, as gray hair. The hair loses its color generally from lack of nutrition. If you nourish the hair, the original color will come back. That is the way that the normal color of the hair is restored by

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

✻ This testimonial will be found in full in Ayer's "Curebook" with a hundred others. Free. Address J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

"Is that Stonewall Jackson?"

The New York Sun prints an account of some concerts given at the Windsor Hotel by the Stonewall Jackson Band of Staunton, Virginia, while it was in New York participating in the Grant Day ceremonies. In connection with one of them, a strange and amusing occurrence is reported:

The first concert was held on Monday evening, when President McKinley arrived. It was a big success, and afterwards the members of the band crowded around General Gordon and shook hands with him. A well dressed man with a sandy mustache sidled up to one of the spectators, and pointing to General Gordon, said:

"Is that Stonewall Jackson?"

The spectator turned toward the questioner with a quizzical look, but, noticing that the man was apparently in earnest, said with a smile:

"No. I am trying to find out who he is."

Congressman Tate, who was talking with General Gordon, left him for moment, and was buttonholed immediately by the sandy mustached man.

"Excuse me, sir, was that gentleman Stonewall Jackson that you were talking to?"

The Congressman glared at the sandy mustached man, apparently undecided whether he was the subject of a Northern affront or not.

"No, sir; it was not," said the Congressman.

"Well, when will he arrive?" quered the sandy-mustached man.

The guileless expression of the questioner caused the Congressman to smile as he said:

"My dear sir, a short course of United States history would do you a world of good."

The Congressman then walked off. The sandy-mustached man was last seen receiving an explanation from the hotel clerk.

* * *

IN relating the death of a pious citizen, a rural correspondent concludes with this verse:

"His life was square and level,
Ere death had set him free
He said: 'I see the devil,
But he Can't Git Me!'"

—[Exchange.

* * *

The Court Came Back.

Judge Randolph, of the Kansas District Court, was one of the frontier judicial officers who believed in upholding the dignity of the bench, and as well tenacious of his own personal honor.

A divorce suit, in which a gray-haired veteran of the late war was plaintiff, came up before him while he was on a circuit out in a prairie county. The rude court-room was filled with spectators, and the old man seemed unwilling to go on the stand in his own defence.

"I am not going to grant divorces without good reasons," announced the Court; and the plaintiff went to the chair that served as a witness box.

"Now," said the attorney, "tell us just what your wife did to make you leave her."

The witness looked appealingly at the judge.

"Answer the question," was the order.

"Well, she called me names."

"That is not ground enough for a divorce," said the Court, sternly.

"And she neglected me."

"Is that all?"

"And she said I was a coward and a sneak, because I went to the war and came back alive. She said all the brave and worthy men died in battle, and only cowards and traitors came home and——"

"That will do sir; the decree prayed for in your petition is granted," broke in the judge. "I want you to understand, sir, that this Court went to the war, and spent four years there—and the Court came back, too."—Greenbrier Independent.

Pine-Bark Boats.

Everybody is familiar with the birch-bark boats, or canoes, of the American Indians, but the fact is not so well known that some of the aboriginal inhabitants of the western shore of this continent were accustomed to make boats of pine-bark. A model of one of these in the Smithsonian museum served recently as a text for a talk by Prof. Otis T. Mason on the evolution of boats. The boat in question was, he said, an exact representation of those in use along certain parts of the Columbia River. It is made of the whole skin of a pine-tree, which is turned inside out, the ends being cut obliqely and drawn together in such a manner that the vessel has a pointed ram under water at each end. Directly across the Pacific Ocean from the Columbia is the River Amur in Asia. Professor Mason thinks the fact that similar boats are found on the Amur may have a bearing on the problem of former emigration from Asia to North America.—Youth's Companion.

* * *

THE Evangel, of Baltimore, has an editorial concerning a work of co-operation, begun six years ago in Maine, between the five leading religious denominations of that state, by which it was agreed when one denomination occupied a sparsely settled community the others would not try to establish churches in that territory. The Congregationalists, Methodists, Free-Baptists, Christians, and Baptists entered into this agreement and appointed an interdenominational committee to carry out this policy. Recently a conference was held and all concerned express themselves as pleased with the working of the plan. It is claimed that such comity saves a great deal of friction between the denominations, and also a considerable sum of state mission money.

* * *

HOT weather prompted Consul General Lee to do a dreadful deed which for the benefit of American readers, the Havana La Cyrta del Sabado describes in its own English: "He has the discourtesy of assisting an official act in lesser clothes, in a salon where the portrait of our noble queen, model of all virtues, was ostentated, sittin in light apparel." In other words, General Lee worked in his shirt-sleeves in a room that contained a picture of the Queen of Spain. For this offence La Carta prays that "his destitution may soon come."

* * *

THE July reports of the Department of Agriculture indicate a more than usual favorable condition of the winter wheat crop in tne principle winter wheat-producing states. What is called the statistical position of wheat, by which is meant the prospect of a new crop, viewed in connection with the supplies on hand, and with foreign crop prospects, is the strongest for several years. The world's available stacks, the second week in July, did not amount to more than 75,000,000 bushels, which is the smallest like total for about ten years; and the crop prospects in India and Europe were encouraging, while in the United States they pointed to a large yield.

* * *

THE pleasures of tourists visiting the Alps will be much hindered by one of the most terrible hail storms on record. Crops and fruit trees have been virtually destroyed, buildings damaged and telegraph wires torn down. General consternation prevails in the districts effected, so damaging have been the effects of the hail and hurricane.

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, Aug. 6, 1897.

Entered at the post-office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

THE SOLAR ECLIPSE.

Thursday, July 29, the earth suffered an eclipse, and the effect was observed with interest in this town. A great number of smoked glasses were made, and the natives looked at the sun and made remarks about his royal highness One reckoned the eclipse to be like an "underslit out of the left ear," a term used in marking sheep. Another said it was more like a piece bit out of a ginger cake.

Great was the difference of these latter day scoffers from what their conduct would have been had they lived in ancient times. The man who had said such a thing in the days of the Roman empire would have been carried away and crucified. The people then joined in prayer and lamentations to help the sun or the moon out of the great trouble. To the ancients, also, they were out of the order of nature and presaged dire events. To ascribe them to natural causes was blasphemy punished by law. When the moon was eclipsed, the Romans (who made the moon feminine) supposed that Luna was in the pains of labour, and all the people turned out with brazen instruments, making a great noise, and in fact causing Rome to howl, thereby thinking that they gave her ease in her great affliction. The Chinese still think that an eclipse is caused by dragons and other things trying to eat the sun or the moon, and they turn out with drums and brass kettles to scare the monsters awaw. With us we confine these solemn ceremonies to hiving bees.

The prediction of an eclipse of the moon was made by the ancients long before they ascribed the cause to natural events. They noticed that after 223 moons, or 18 years and 11 days, the moon was in the same part of the heavens, nearly, and that an eclipse might be expected. When the moon suffers an eclipse it appears the same to all who can see the moon at the time, and occurs when the moon is at the full. In the case of solar eclipses the Chaldeans and other ancient hoodoo people were not able to predict so accurately, for the reason that tho the period of eighteen years and eleven days was the same, yet the eclipse was not visible alike from all parts of the world, and as they did not know of the western hemisphere the mound-builders of America often witnessed an eclipse that was billed to appear in Chaldea.

The eclipse of last Thursday is the last solar eclipse that will be visible in West Virginia for three years, when we will be treated to a total eclipse of the sun,—the most terrifying phenomenon of nature. The darkness comes almost instantly and the stars and planets are visible at midday. The strangeness of the light is the most terrible part of it; it is not like any gloom of night or twilight which we have ever known. The sun has around it a corona of light that fills the eclipsed portion of the earth's surface. One writer describes the total eclipse of July, 1860, in Spain: "When the sun was reduced to a small crescent, the shadows of all objects were depicted with great sharpness and blackness, reminding one of the effects of illumination with electric light. The sky at this period assumed an indigo tint, and the landscape was tinged with a bronze hue."

THE LYNCHING QUESTION.

A great many people of both colors believe that lynching for the nameless crime is justifiable, or at least a necessary evil. The Dexter Avenue Baptist Church, of Montgomery, Alabama, the largest colored congregation in the South, split because the pastor preached that the better class of negroes held that negroes who assaulted white women should be summarily dealt with by men after the manner an outlaw, a wild beast, or a mad dog is put out of the way.

The row culminated in Deacon Patterson, editor, being shot and killed by Deacon Pritchett, while making a personal assault on the pastor in the pulpit of the church last Sunday.

Virginia threatens to take away their free schools, and the negro associations are starting a crusade to prevent the recurrence of the crime for which negroes are lynched in that State.

The utterances of Northern papers, which cannot or will not see that people who commit the crime of lynching have been terribly provoked and have much to fear, are intolerant, and draw forth spirited replies, which read in cold blood seem to set law and order aside. The North should realize the fact that when the negro was freed the country at large is responsible, to a certain extent for the awful degenerarion that was certain to follow in a large proportion of a race that had never been taught self-government. Let the North preach one-half against the evil which causes a negro to assault a white woman as it does against "lynch law," and let the intelligent colored population do the same, and the crime will be lessened by attacking the disease in the first stage rather than in the second.

Lynch law does not seem to be modern. In the 23d chapter of Acts we read of more than forty Jews who banded together under a curse that they would neither eat nor drink until they had killed Paul. Paul's nephew got wind of the matter and told Paul, and Paul had him taken before the Circuit Judge; and, acting privately, the sheriff took a strong guard of 270 men at the night and took him to an adjoining county, where he was taken before the governor of the State. The reader will observe that the number forty is about the ordinary sized mob, but their binding themselves not to drink is unusual. Also the Jews of those days were very different from their descendents.

RAILROAD NEWS.

The air is thick with rumors of railroads. The Greenbrier Valley, in which we live, is one of the richest and most extensive basins of the State. The river is 170 miles long, 130 miles of which is without a railroad. There is an average width of at least fifty miles, in an air line, between any railroad stations. On every side we hear news of early building of railroads in the Greenbrier Valley, from apparently different sources, but nothing definite. The Bath News says that railroad men about the Hot Springs, where magnates congregate, say that there are strong indications of a railroad being built this season from the White Sulphur to Marlinton.

The Charleston Gazette prints the following:

> It is reported that the C. & O. will at once begin the construction of a railway up Greenbrier, and that trains will be running to the Forks of Greenbrier before the close of the present year. In that event the West Virginia Central will probably build a road south to a connexion with the C. & O. at that point.
>
> If the report is correct concerning the likelihood of the road from Charleston to Sutton being purchased by the C. & O., then it would seem that the New River Valley would be avoided by a roundabout way from White Sulphur Springs by way of Marlinton to Charleston.

From the above it would seem that we are on the eve of railroad development in this county, and we trust this news may prove true, but we must not be too sanguine. From reliable information in our possession it would seem that this plan for extension was not originated with any railroad company, but the whole scheme originated with private landholders, and is dependent upon a land deal whereby enough land must be hypothecated to guarantee the funds. The enterprise seems to have been encouraged by the C. & O. people, but if there is failure at any point then all this railroad talk will go up in smoke, as have the various attempts made in the last few years to get a road in our county.

THE WEST VIRGINIA MINERS.

It is not often that one finds a case more clearly understood and more fairly expressed than in what is written by a correspondent of the New York World about the West Virginia miners. By operating in the thick coal veins of West Virginia for less than miners do in Ohio and Pennsylvania they enable their employers to meet higher freight rates and secure steady contracts, and thus have steady employment. Therefore, like De Armitt's men in Pennsylvania, they are satisfied with less wages, and yet regular work, and are thus in friendly touch with their employers. With West Virginians, especially in the Fairmont region, it is "Howdy Tom, lend me a five until pay day," and Tom the operator lends it without turning a word. Moreover, the miner who owns a home near the mine is in a sense tied to the soil. Thick veins to dig in and a home of his own far from towns make it hard for the West Virginia miner to risk what is in hand for a sentiment. West Virginians feel sore too over their desertion some years since.

Under existing arrangements they have made more money than any others, and are to-day receiving "big money." In a few words the West Virginia miners are comparatively too prosperous to risk all in sympathy for others, and that too with a very remote prospect of any real benefit to themselves in the outcome. There are natural causes at work that prevent any permanent settlement of the pending questions by the means now proposed as all will find sooner or later. What is needed is a flexibly wise adaptation of unchanging principles of right to the changing circumstances that confront operators and operatives in their mutual relations.

A CASE of tremendous importance is pending in the Supreme Court in regard to building and loan associations. The courts of Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, Alabama, and Texas have held that for a building and loan association to charge more than six per cent. was usury, and it is expected that our Supreme Court will hold that the statute enabling such associations to charge more is unconstitutional. In this case a deathblow will be struck at all building and loan associations, and hundreds of our citizeds hold stock in them. But as millions of money is invested in the State by foreign associations—which draw 15 to 20 per cent. annually, it will be of greater benefit, on the whole, to the citizens of the State.

A SERIOUS revolt has appeared among the tribesmen in India against their British masters. At Camp Malokand there has been a series of desperate assaults last Wednesday and Thursday, lasting most of two nights. Thirteen of the British soldiers were killed and thirty wounded, one of the wounded being the gallant Lieutenant Castello. The tribesmen lost one hundred. The ammunition is about out, and it is feared the supply may give out before help arrives. It is believed forty thousand of the tribesmen have joined Mad Mullah, the rebel leader, and if it be true, the enemy is collecting in large force; and ammunition scarce, it threatens to go hard with the English troops. At all events very severe fighting may be expected.

IT appears from late authentic advices that the Spanish government in Cuba is in deplorable financial distress. Since January last forty millions due the army and eighteen millions due the navy. Money being lacking also for provisions and clothing, food is taken by force in the country towns; but clothes and shoes are more difficult to get hold of, as money is required for such supplies. Hence it is the soldiers present a pitiful appearance and look more like an army of Weary Willies commanded by official Dusty Rhodes than the military representatives of a proud European nation. "Pride goes before destruction and a haughty spirit before a fall."

AT Mt. Govern, Pennsylvania, there occurred last Thursday morning the first collision between the law and the striking miners. Jim McManus, Tom Hayes, Ted and Andrew Savage were arrested and taken to Washington City, charged with trespass on the Allison property, in contempt of an injuction granted by Judge McIlvane. The complaint is they loitered along the path leading to the mine and abused the men going to work with such epithets as "black sheep," "scab." and singing "We'll hang black sheep to a sour apple-tree" to the tune of "John Brown's body lies moldering in the grave." They were put under bail to answer the charge on Monday.

UNDER the new tariff bill sugar ought to be grown in every State until sugar falls to four cents per pound.

GRAFTON has a new bank,—of Charles R. Durbin is cashier. Colonel John T. McGraw is a director.

Fertilizers.

We want to call the attention of our farmer friends to the fact that we are again ready to offer them the celebrated brands of

Allison & Addison
and Old Dominion Goods.

They have been in the market over a quarter of a century and they are proven to be the best. Wait, and we will see you in a few days, and cannot be undersold.

Thanking you for the past patronage, we are yours respectfully,

SYDENSTRICKER & BEARD,
Academy, W. Va.

LOOK HERE!

WHAT YOU WANT IS—

To know where you can buy 100 cents' worth for 1 $. I will tell you. Come to my store. I don't mean to say I will sell you the largest load for the least money,—but that I will give you the best bargains to be had in "town." I am closing out my stock on hands, and for the next thirty days will sell you goods at nearly COST, FOR CASH, or good produce, such as Ginseng, Beeswax, &c.

Note these prices: Good Prints, from 4c to 6c, Scotch Lawn 5c, Satteen 8½c, Ginghams, 6½, Cable twill 11c, Cambric 4½ & 5c, Ticking 15c, Table Oilcloth 16c, Over Shirts 19c to 60c, Overalls, 35c to 90c, Jeanes 85c and $1.15, Suspenders, 10c to 45c, Hose 5c to 18c, Half Hose 5 and 15c, Lady's Shoes from $1 to $1.50, Lady's Oxfords, 90c to $1.00, Misses Shoes 85c to $1.25, Men's Shoes, $1.25 to $1.90, Tobaccos, 23c to 55c, Arbuckle Coffee, 12½c, Mowing Scythes 45c and 65c, Snaths 40 and 50c, Hay Forks 30 and 40c. Other goods proportionately low.

Call and be convinced that you can get bargains of me for cash.

Submissively yours,

G. L. HANNAH,
YELK. W. VA.

ALEGHANY COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

ALDERSON, W. VA.

Fifth Session Opens Sept 16, 1897.

The Institution offers good advantages to young men and women to prepare them for teaching, business, or the higher classes in colleges and universities.

Healthful location. No barrooms. Undenominational,—but pupils are surrounded by a healthful christian atmosphere. Discipline strict.

TERMS: Tuition in Academic Department, $36 for session of nine months. Board $100. Board cheaper in private families.

REV W. S. ANDERSON, A M
July 16. Principal.

Notice to Tresspassers.

All persons are hereby notified not to trespass (under penalties of the law) by fishing, hunting, leaving fences or gates open, gathering berries, or in any other way, upon the lands of William M. McAllister on the waters of Elk River, in the County of Pocahontas, and State of West Virginia.

Given under my hand this the 16th day of July, 1897.

H. B. GAY,
for WM. M. MCALLISTER.

Lee Military Academy.

Offers the very best opportunities for Preparatory or Business course at lowest rates. In healthful climate with best social surroundings, no saloons, the building in beautiful grove, with large grounds,—its natural advantages are far above the average.

Instructors of large experience and broad culture. A well-selected library of above 1,000 volumes. Most approved methods of instruction. Courses in all high school branches to fit for any college desired; also complete business course in Bookkeeping, Shorthand, and Type-writing. Careful physical training.

Only young men of good character and studious habits desired.

Address,
JAMES M. LEE, A. M., Prin.,
Lewisburg, W. Va.

July18 8w

COMMISSIONER'S NOTICE.

Commissioner's Office,
Marlinton, W. Va
June 21, 1897.

Alex. W. Rider's Administrator
vs.
John Rider, et als.

Pursuant to a decree rendered in the above styled cause on the 16th day of June, 1897, I will proceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, West Virginia, on the 1st day of September, 1897, to take, state, and report the following matters of account, towit:

1. A settlement of the accounts of J. C. Arbogast, Administrator, or his successor.
2. A statement showing whether or not all of the debts of the said A. W. Rider have been paid, and if not the amounts unpaid and to whom due.
3. A statement showing whether or not there are any monies in the hands of any commissioners or receivers of this court which are assets in this case, with the amount thereof and whence derived.
4. Whether or not all of the lands of the said A. W. Rider have been sold as directed by his will, and if not the location acreage and value thereof.
5. Any other matter, &c.

W. A. BRATTON,
Commissioner in Chancery.

DON'T MURDER YOUR BEES!

It is a very poor return for the work of a hive of bees to kill them to get one season's crop of honey.

Use the Ware Hive.

Get acquainted with your bees. Help them to fight the worm hat destroys them, and they will reward you with the best of honey in marketable frames,—and you can eat your honey and have a clear conscience.

T. C. Ware,
Valley Head, W. Va.

Commissioner's Notice.

Office of S. B. Scott, Jr., com'r.
Marlinton, W. Va., July 30, 1897.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, made on the day of June, 1897, in a cause therein pending, entitled—

Johnson & Guinn
vs.
Cochran & Hamrick,

I will proceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, West Virginia, on the 25th day of August, 1897, to take, state, and report to court the following matters of account, viz:

1st—An account showing the several liens on the land in the bill and proceedings mentioned, with their several legal dignities and priorities.

2d—Whether or not said land will in five years rent for a sum sufficient to pay the liens thereon.

3d—Any other matter deemed pertinent by the commissioner or required by any party in interest to be specially stated.

Respectfully,
S. B. SCOTT, Jr., Commissioner.

NOTICE TO LIEN HOLDERS.

All persons holding liens, by judgment or otherwise, on the real estate or any part thereof of F. S. Cochran and J. P. Hamrick:

In pursuance of a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, made in a cause therein pending to subject the real estate of the said F. S. Cochran and J. R. Hamrick to the satisfaction of the liens thereon, you are hereby required to present all claims held by you and each of you against the said F. S. Cochran and J. R. Hamrick, which are liens on their real estate or any part of it, for adjudication to me at my office in the town of Marlinton, Pocahontas County, West Virginia, on or before the 24th day of August, 1897.

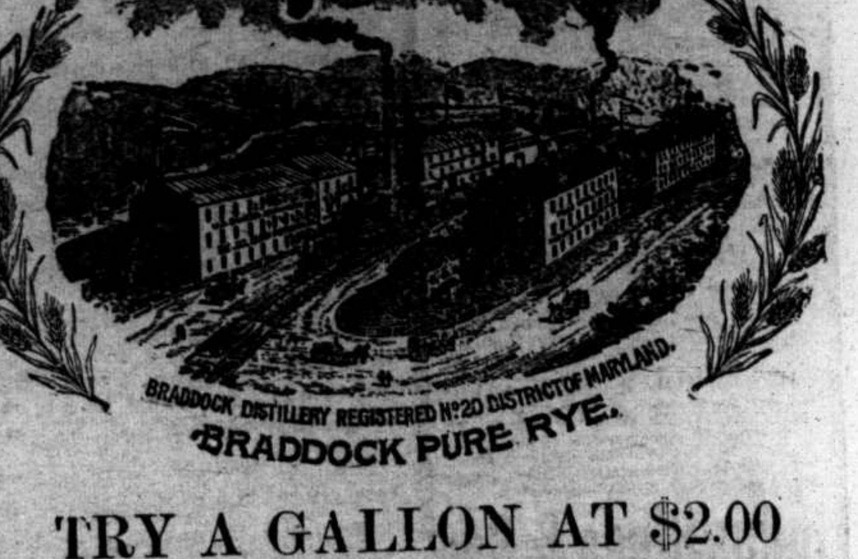
Given under my hand this 30th day of July, 1897.

S. B. SCOTT, Jr., Comm'r.

The Greatest Medicinal Whiskey the World has Ever Known.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE AND BARLEY MALT.

SMOOTH, SOFT, RICH, RIPE, MELLOOW AND CHEMICALLY PURE, A RECOMMENDATION IN ITSELF.



THE JAMES CLARK DISTILLING CO.
BRADDOCK DISTILLERY REGISTERED No. 20 DISTRICT OF MARYLAND.
BRADDOCK PURE RYE.

TRY A GALLON AT $2.00

Mail Orders solicited either great or small and receive our personal and prompt attention. Drop us a postal for price list. Don't use inferior goods but mail us your orders; we can save you money and perhaps your health.

JAS CLARK DISTILLING CO., JNO. McQUAIDE Mngr.

Distillers of Braddock Pure Rye, Wholesale and Retail Liquor Dealers.
20 and 22 South New St., Staunton, Va.

PLOW REPAIRS.

We have at last succeeded in making arrangements

To supply Points for the Ronceverte Plow.

Full stock now on hand
Send in your orders early

We are Factory Agents for

SILVER STEEL and IMPERIAL PLOWS,
also BEST HILL-SIDE PLOW on Market,

Don't Forget

THE WONDER AIR TIGHT HEATER
this Fall.

Simms & Co.,
Opp. Passenger Depot, RONCEVERTE, W. Va.

KEEP YOUR BOWELS STRONG ALL SUMMER!

CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
CURE CONSTIPATION
REGULATE THE LIVER

10¢ 25¢ 50¢ ALL DRUGGISTS

A tablet now and then will prevent diarrhœa, dysentery, all summer complaints, causing easy, natural results. Sample and booklet free. Ad. STERLING REMEDY CO., Chicago, Montreal, Can., or New York. 270

50 Reasons

—WHY—

You should trade with Sol Davis, Green Bank

1 Low Prices
2 Best of Goods
3 Quality unsurpassed
4 Great Variety
5 Polite Attention
6 Every Deal a Bargain
7 Guaranteed as Represented
8 Glad to Please You
9 Full Value for your Money
10 Latest Styles
11 An Easy Selection
12 You get Satisfaction
13 You are Protected
14 No Advantage Taken
15 A Fair and Square Deal
16 You Save Money
17 The Goods are Reliable
18 A Complete Stock
18 Great Inducements
20 All kinds of Produce Taken
21 Highest Market Prices Paid
22 Fancy Prices unknown
23 Meritorious Stock
24 Prices that Please
25 Customers Leave Smiling
26 No Disappointment
27 You Find What You Want
28 What you Buy is Choice
29 A Guarantee of Goodness
30 Your Patronage Appreciated
31 Store Freshly Stocked
32 Popular Goods
33 Popular Prices
34 Headquarters for Bargains
35 We Under buy
36 We Undersell
37 Leaders of Trade
38 Always a Rare Choice
39 You Get Honest Goods
40 Golden Opportunity
41 Profit Sharing
42 Cream of the Market
43 Best Place to Buy
44 Promises Kept
45 Statements Verified
46 Your Welcome Assured
47 Inspection Solicited
48 Not Urged to Buy
49 Stock Carefully Bought
50 You get the Best & Cheapest

Head to foot Outfitter for Men, Women, and Children. Yours for Business,
Green Bank, W. Va. SOL. DAVIS.

We have a plan by which Farmers can get
TOOL CHESTS FREE

Containing of first-class quality (guaranteed) every tool—Axes, Saws and Planes included—necessary to repair vehicles, machines or build a house. Three two-cent stamps and the name of this paper required for particulars. Powell Fertilizer & Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor.

VOL. 14, NO. 25 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, JANUARY 15, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR.

Gen. G. W. C. Lee has resigned the Presidency of Washington & Lee University. It is rumored that the position will be tendered to Hon Wm. L. Wilson, and the salary raised from two thousand to five thousand dollars.

It is reported the largest carpet-factory in the world, located at Yonkers, New York, has closed. Four thousand men are now at leisure. The immense iron works at Zanesville, Ohio, have suspended operations for the present. It is sad to hear of such events so early in tne winter. It is to be hoped, however, that in due time our people will adjust themselves to the changed and changing condition of industrial affairs, and be able to appreciate the meaning of Shakespeare's memorable expression: "Sweet are the uses of adversity."

The Hollanders who settled New York are well known to our school children. Miles Standish, the May Flower and Plymouth Rock are perhaps more familiar to our teachers and their pupils than Bible stories. But of their own ancestors, who they were, what they did what they suffered and what influence the work of their arms and brains had upon the destinies of the American nation, is virtually a blank plage to them. It is to be hoped that all this will be changed in due time, that attention will be so directed to this subject of historical investigation, that our people will become acquainted with ancestral history, that they wlll try to perpetuate the influence of their wothy fathers and keep in mind and practice their principles.

It is cheering to the friends of bimettalism to learn that Senator Wolcott and General F. A. Walker, at Mr McKinley's request, go to Europe to find out how foreigners feel about having an inter-national bi mettallic conference. Their information will be communicated to the President on their return, who will be Prelsdent by that time. If their report is favorable, then steps will be taken at once for the conference. If unfavorable, then the President, may be supposed, will will feel justified for doing nothing in the matter, but give his time and attention to the tariff and all that it implies. It is hoped by the friends of bi-mettalism, of all parties, that Messrs Wolcott and Walker may find a sentiment so influential as may lean to the conference at an early day, and the President may be relied on to push the matter to a conclusion. Four members of the Salisbury administration in England are bimettalists. The Bimettalic League of Great Britain has for its members some of the most influential financiers of the kingdom. Pulic sentiment in France is overwhelmingly friendly to bimettalism, for it brought the republic triumphant and solvent through a long monetary crisis that severely injured other nations. It was bimettalism that helped France to pay the German war-debt comparatively easy and without a heavy strain upon her resources. The people of Germany are anxious for a change from their gold standard to bimettalism. This is all encouraging, but the gloomy part of the money situation comes in sight when it is remembered that the interests of the money centres in London, Paris, Berlin, Wall and Bond Streets, in New York; and La Salle Street, in Chicago, are unalterably opposed to bimettalism. It looks as if there may be great reason to fear that these money centres may in the future, as in the past, defeat all attempts to secure justice to the people at large, who suffer from an appreciating unit of value. Now if these gentlemen on their return should show that all such fears are unnecessary, then millions of their countrymen and millions of foreigners will honor them with sentiments of highest esteem. Let the issue be what it may, this movement on the part of Mr McKinley proves that the Republican Party, represented by him, agrees with the Bryan Democrats that the present monetary standard and system are injurious, and that bimettalism is to be desired.

To Tell the Age of a Horse.

To tell the age of any horse,
Inspect the lower jaw of course;
The six front teeth the tale will tell,
And every doubt and fear dispel.

Two middle nippers you behold
Before the colt is two weeks old.
Before eight weeks two more will come,
Eight months the "corners" cut the gum.

The out side grooves will disappear
From middle two in just one year.
In two years from the second pair;
In three, the corners, too, are bare.

At two the middle nippers drop,
At three the second pair can't stop.
When four years old the third pair goes,
At five a full new set he shows.

The deep black spots will pass from view
At six years from the middle two.
The second pair at seven years,
At eight the spot each "corner" clears.

From middle "nippers" upper jaw
At nine the black spots will withdraw;
The second pair at ten are white:
Eleven finds the corners light.

As time goes on, the horsemen know,
The oval teeth three sided grow;
They longer get, project before
Till twenty, when we know no more.—The Horseman.

The Cleek Family.

As one passes from Driscol towards Frost the attention is first drawn to the "Lockridge farm," once so noted for its beautiful and extensive meadows and hospitality. Adjoining this attractive property aee two or three pleasant homesteads, now occupied by Messrs Peter L. Cleek, William H. Cleek, and Benjamin F. Fleshman.

The ancestor of the Cleek relationship in Pocahontas County was Michael Cleek, who was one of the earlier pioneers to occupy this attractive portion of the Knapp's Creek valley, and came from Bath County. His wife was Margaret Henderson Crawford, whose father was from Lancaster, Pennsylvania, and lived in Bath County, near Windy Cove. Michael Cleed opened the lands now possessed by the persons just named, who are his grand-children.

With the exception of two or three very small clearings, it was a primitive, densely unbroken forest of white-pine and sugar-maple. He built a log-cabin on the site of the new stable, and some years subsequently reared a dwelling of hewn timber, now the old stable at Peter L. Cleek's. Near the Cleek gate opening on the public road are the remains of a chimney, indicating the spot where Knapp Gregory, a pioneer hunter, had his camp. It is from this man the creek derives its present name, that flows nearby. This is perhaps the first clearing ever made in the present limits of Pocahontas. The last seen of Knapp Gregory was at the Lockridge fording. His sudden and mysterious disappearance was never certainly explained. The prevailing opinion, however, was that he was "put away" by some reckless adventurers who were here after no good, and possibly fugitives from justice, escaping from older settlements north or east.

The late John Cleek, father of Peter and William, and who was the oldest of the family, could just remember when his parents settled here. They came out by the way of Little Back Creek, crossing the Alleghany opposite Harper's. His mother carried him in her lap, horseback, all the distance from Windy Cove.

Michael Cleek's family consisted of three sons, John, William, and Jacob; and three daughters, Elizabeth, Barbara, and Violet.

Elizabeth married Jesse Hull, of Anthonys Creek. Their children were William Crawford, lately a merchant at Edray; John, who died in the war; Jesse; Andrew; Margaret, who married and become Mrs James McDermott, on Little Anthonys Creek; Eveline married Benjamin F. Fleshman, whose daughter, Margaret, is now Mrs William H. Cleek; Alcinda became Mrs Tyler Stephenson, of Bath County; Charlotte married Frank Fertig, of Anthonys Creek.

Barbara and Violet, the other daughters of the pioneer Michael Cleek, died in early childhood of the "cold plague," and their brother Jacob died of the same disease aged eighteen years.

William Cleek never married, and spent most of his life with his brother John. The attachment these brothers had for each other was noticed and admired by all their acquaintances. They never seemed so well contented as when in each other's company. His wit and good humor was remarkable. If all his funny, harmless anecdotes could be recalled and written up one of the funniest books in the world would result, and nobody's feelings wounded thereby. He could be facetious without hurting anyone's feelings, a gift rarely possessed by humorists. He told most of his jokes on himself.

It now remains to make further mention of John Cleek, the eldest son of Michael Cleek's pioneer home. He married Phebe Ann, a daughter of Peter Lightner, who once owned the property now possessed by the families of Francis and Hugh Dever. A sketch of the Lightners is in course of preparation, when more will be said about the venerable Peter Lightner.

John Cleek spent his life on the home farm. His family consisted of three sons, Peter Lightner, William Henderson, and Shelton Washington. The daughters were Mary Ann, Caroline Elizabeth, Alcinda Susan, Margaret Eveline, and Eliza Martha.

Mary Ann was first married to the late Josiah Herold. She was left a widow, and afterwards married William C. Hull. Her daughters are Mrs Patterson Poage and Miss Tokey Hull, near Edray.

Caroline Elizabeth married the late Lanty Lockridge. Her sons are in the far West. Alcinda Susan became Mrs Hugh Dever, and is now in Nebraska. Margaret Eveline married Renick Ward late of Randolph County, now in Colorado. Eliza Martha became Mrs B. F. Fleshman, and now lives on a part of the old homestead, as already stated.

As to the sons of Mr and Mrs John Cleek, Shelton Washington died at the age of eighteen months.

William Henderson Cleek married Miss Margaret Jane Fleshman, and now occupies one of the nice homesteads already referred to near the public road. Mrs Cleek was the eldest daughter of B. F. Fleshman, Esq.

Peter Lightner Cleek married Effie May, only daughter of the late Andrew D Amiss and Mrs Eveline Amiss. The pleasant home occupied by Mr P. L. Cleek is near the original site, across the valley from the public road, and near the foot-hills of the Alleghany. Formerly the main road passed by the old Cleek homestead, crossing and re-crossing the valley for the convenience of the residents. Thus the traveler would cover a good many miles in making but little progress in direct distance, as matters were in former times.

Mrs Eveline Amiss, sister of Isaac McNeel, Esq., at Mill Point; and also of the Hon. Mathew John McNeel, of the Levels, makes her home with Mr and Mrs P. L. Cleek

When a person visits such homes as this group, and others of similar type often to be found, it is gratifying to believe, all over our county, he is prepared to realize the truth of what the poet says: "God made the country, and man made the city." Yet the people will never be satisfied until there be a city at Driscol Huntersville, Marlinton, Hillsboro, Dunmore, Green Bank, Edray, Dilleys Mill, or Frost, from the longings one hears so frequently expressed in moving around.

W. T. P.

Facetious Passenger.—How often, conductor, does your trolley car kill a man?

Conductor (tartly)—Only once.

She—I hear you said I talked too much.

He—No, I said you talked all the time.

Bicyclists are advised not to coast in summer or scorch in winter.

"I am surprised that Jones should turn out such an incorrigible liar."

"I'm not. What else could you expect from a man with a hook nose and fishy eyes."

(Fish liar joke. Form 11,367.")

The Weekly Letter.

The friends of humanity are cudgeling their brains to prevent the vast amount of misery and mismating that is caused by American girls marrying foreign, no-account noblemen, for whereas their money-making fathers are only worried over the getting of a legal title to as much real and personal property as possible, the daughters have set their hearts on a different sort of an acquisition, and wish to secure legal titles for themselves. It seems to me that the American heiresses lack organization. If they would get together all would be well, and the effete nobility would not be able to bear off a rich tax-payer because she is afraid it will not be good form if she does not marry a titled foreigner, no matter how much of a degenerate he may happen to be.

It is thought that the recent experience of the Baroness Poppenheim, who was a Miss Wheeler, of Philadelphia, will have a good influence upon the American heiresses. This lady, who stood well in the great city of Philadelphia, and who was able to go almost any where there she desired, is not recognized in the Court of Bavaria in any sum whatever,—by which I suppose they mean she was remanded without bail. That the lovely Miss Wheeler should have mentally blind-folded herself and compelled herself to marry the heavy swelled German Poppenheim, and be treated to the unlovely cold shoulder of a German court, seems a just retribution to a girl who was untrue to herself, her womanhood, and her country. The late Miss Wheeler must have a depraved taste, for I cannot imagine how anyone who, like that lady, is able to put up at the best hotel in the town, should wish to trespass on the hospitality of the King of Bavaria.

If our girls had a better organization they could very soon make it bad form to marry any nobleman whatever, because it is well-known that if those hoodoo things were worth having our own government would give them to us. Make it a case of noblesse oblige, and maybe the fine young lady, whose grand-father dug ditches for a side of meat, will refuse the count and shame the devil. The chances of "Baron Ringworm" will not be worth a "continental" then.

I am opposed to the State of Nebraska legislating against girls marrying any one whose name has a handle to it, for, while it shows how progressive a State Nebraska is, still if you tell the girls that they can't do a thing they will "show you."

There is one point in justice to our opponents, the gentlemen from Europe, that we must mention. We will suppose that once upon a time there was a very beautiful young lady, and she was all that fancy painted, lovely and divine, and she was rich beyond the wildert dreams of avarice; and it came to pass that many men sought her hand in marriage, but as yet she had not met her fate. At last, however, at a ball given in honor of the God of Good Times, she was introduced to a good young man, who fell in love with her, and, finally, told her that he could not do without her. And she seeing that he was a man amongst men, as well as amongst women; and that he was the only man among the many thousands whom she had seen and studied who could make her really happy; and that here was the life that could complete and content her own, surrendered unconditionally and was glad of the chance.

But then came the rub. The man had had the misfortune to be born poor; and not only that, in a foreign country, and on him had had descended a title and a name which had never been dishonored. He stood as the representative of one of the purest and best families of his land, whose fortunes had declined because they had not been restored in the many many questionable ways employed by so many of the great families.

They were happy, and had not taken into consideration what the world would say. A spiteful squib in a daily paper woke the man. He asked his sweetheart if she could bear the publicity that the New York Sunday Gouger would give their affair; but she loved him with the love that casteth out fear, and smiled on his apprehensions. Then came her father howling the Monroe Doctrine, and wishing her to marry his boyhood companion, who was a self-supporting millionaire, a widower with a neglected family of children. He was bald and had a mustache that was too large for his face. He weighed 280 pounds and was of short stature. He had an unholy color about the face, and was always a "wiping of hisself" with a red bandanna hrndkerchief. But why euumerate. The woman did as all true women do, and married the man she loved, and the man who could make her happy.

The New York papers went into convulsions when the wedding came off, but it did not make it wrong for those young people to marry; and they reaped the reward of their pluck by living happily ever afterwards.

An Incident of Long Ago.

Many years ago, far back in the past, a touching incident came under my observation that I may be permitted to relate. If for no other reason than its intimate connection with one whose name is a household word in the literary world. I mean the name of Mrs Margaret E. Sangster, with whom the readers of The Times feel well acquainted, doubtless. But to my "incident."

Well,—(what would stories, real or fanciful, do without that word!) this is a sad true story, remember.

The wintry cold was severe, the ground thickly covered with snow and the river, to boys' delight, as thickly thickened with the best skating-ice. School-hours were over for the day, and of course the main attraction for the boys (girls had not dreamed skating then; the world certainly moves, as Galileo might still say, were he alive,) repaired to their wide icy field to have a merry time. Among those boys, and as gay as any of them, was a little fellow named Munson, (Richard, perhaps, I forget his first name), and Munson was the maiden name of Mrs M. E. Sangster.

The exhilerating sport continued until, sadly, the Munson boy struck an air-hole in that Hoosic River. Like an arrow he darted into the hole and was seen no more. The skating ceased. Men were warned, and speedy, diligent efforts were made to recover my friend "Margaret's" cousin, but in vain. Long ere the poor boyish form was found had the breath of life fled.

This sad event occurred many years ago, but it often comes to my mind.

A. L. P.

A Song of Hope.

THE "HULL HOUSE" PRIZE POEM.

After an examination of over twelve hundred manuscripts, judges in the Hull House prize competition for people's song's, announced their decision. Mary A. Lathbury's original poem, entitled "A Song of Hope," which received the highest prize, is as follws:

Children of yesterday,
Heirs of tomorrow,
What are you weaving?
Labor and sorrow?
Look to your looms again;
Faster and faster
Fly the great shuttles
Prepared by the Master,
Life's in the loom,
Room for it—room!

Children of yesterday,
Heirs of tomorrow,
Lighten the labor
And sweeten the sorrow,
Now, while the shuttles fly,
Faster and faster,
Up and be atit—
At work with the master.
He stands at your loom,
Room for him—room!

Children of yesterday,
Heirs of tomorrow,
Look at your fabric
Of labor and sorrow.
Seamy and dark
With despair and disaster,
Turn it—and lo,
The design of the Master!
The Lord's at the loom,
Room for him—room!

Where is the man who said the tariff was not an issue?—The New York Press.

Plantation Pictures.

Morning:

"Oh, mis'ry in de mornin'
Comes wid de turnout horn.
An' mo' an' mo' o' mis'ry
Befo' the day is gone!
From Monday on to Sadday,
Ontell de sun go down,
Hit's nuttin' else but mis'ry
For all de yeah aroun'.

"I hates to heah dem roosters
Befo' de sun is riz,
I feel so stiff an' po'ly
An' full o' rheumatiz;
I's got de bad plumbago
All up an' down my back,
An' eberp step I trabbels
I heahr my knee-j'ints crack.

"Hit ain't no use to grumble,
'Case when dat horn done blow
Dar ain't no time to tarry,
You got to swing de hoe;
You's got to shake an' shiver
Wet wid de mornin' dew,
An' woen de sun gits higher
Wid swet wet, thew an' thew.

"Hit's grapplin' wid de tie-vines,
Hit's diggin' in de row,
De mo' you chop de grass dar
De mo' hit seems to grow;
My arms an' back is achin',
An' sho'ly I'll drap dead
Ef soon dat sun a-shinin'
Don't git right overhead."

Noon:

"Dar goes de horn for dinner!
Whooppee! You heahs it toot!
Oh, come on, boys, I'll run you
For home! Come, shake yo' foot!
I bets I beats you plowmens
Upawn yo' swif'est mule,
An doan' mistook dis nigger
For nary pokin' fool.

"You sees dat smoke a-quirlin'
Above my chimney top?
You better jes' believe you
Dar's sumpen dare to sop;
I smells dat po'k a-sizzlin'
An' tas'e dat catfeesh fry—
I'll be de fus' to git dar,
I bets I does or die.

"Hya! hya! O Sam, I beat you!
Yo' mule ain't got no pace—
De bes' on dis plantashun—
Does you know how to race?
Ef dar had been a possum
A-bakin' in de pot,
I could a' beat de boss's
Bay buggy mar's bes' trot."

Night:

"T'ank Gawd dis is ended,
An' when dat yaller moon
Gits white an' bright an' higher
I's gwine to cotch a coon.
A heavy dew is fallin',
Hit's good to leave de scent;
I'se gwine to give dem varmints
A little worriment.

"Dar's mis'ry in de moruin'—
But bes' lef' dat alone:
De res' dat comes wid night-time
Is all I calls my own;
I'll drap dem stiff rheumatics
Ontell de roosters crow,
An leave off dat plumbago
Ontell de turnout blow."

—Times-Hrrald.

Our Flag in England.

An English friend of the Companion and of the United States, at Oxford, England, writes to us that when the Prince and Princess of Wales lately visited that town with their hosts, the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough, the stars and stripes were to be seen everywhere. The biggest flag that hung out across the busiest street was the American flag. He says also that at Christmas it is a common custom to use almost as many little American flags as Union Jacks and Royal flags in decorating the Christmas trees. He adds:

'And the school children and other children for whom these trees are got up all know it, and learn to look upon the British and American flags side by side as those of two brother nations. I am not thinking of Christmas trees in any specially 'Americanized' spot (if such there be), but in country parishes and town school celebrations. Curiously enough I never heard any one refer to it or speak of it as exceptional—it is done as a matter of course, as being the natural thing to do.

"It is a sort of quiet, friendly feeling that has long been growing, and finds one of its expressions in this very simple, unemotional shape, but I am glad to think that our children here learn to look upon the American flag as they do,"

We are able to confirm this statement, from a pleasant remembrance of numerous American flags displayed in the streets of Newport and Carisbrooke, in the Isle of Wight, through which the Princess Beatrice was to pass on her way to open a bazaar at Carisbrook Castle in the summer of 1895.

It is to be feared that a similar display of English flags, with the stars and stripes, on a festive occasion in an American city would draw upon those who used them a strong suspicion of disloyalty.—The Youth's Companion.

Pay your subscription.

West Virginia's Lumber and Tariff.

Mr A. W. Winchester, of Buckhannan, told some home [illegible] to the members of the ways [illegible] committee of the house [illegible] sentatives, in arguing for a [illegible] on lumber Thursday. Mr. Winchester is a practical lumberman and is an authority with a nation[illegible] reputation. Hi[illegible] [illegible] throughout [illegible] attention [illegible] ner [illegible] lumber [illegible]

There ha[illegible] times theoretical argum[illegible] to the committee, but [illegible] Winchester began, the [illegible] of protection and all the [illegible] of the committee soon [illegible] that instead of a dreamy theor[illegible] he was a practical lumberman who knew what he wanted and could from experience. He went right at the heart of the subject and remained there until he had told the committee some impressive facts.

West Virginia, Mr Winchester said, is the most truly American state in the Union, and then he got down to business and told what West Virginia needs, and what is the matter with one of her greatest industries, as follows:

We do n't need scientific forestry down our way. The growth of our timber is so rapid that the forets restore themselves without artificial help as fast as they can be cut away. I can show you strips of country there, which used to be main highways and wagon roads thirty years ago, which are now covered with spruce saw logs. Why do n't we use all this timber? Because Canadian lumber comes in so cheap that we can't afford to pay for the labor of cutting and milling ours. The only use we can make of it is to strip off its tan bark and sell that. So you may go along there for miles and miles and see the withered, bare, blighted-looking trunks going to waste, either rotting or offering food for forest fires, and thus not bringing anything in return, but being a positive menace to the whole country around.

Talk about labor. Why, we have in our West Virginian mountaineers not only the cheapest laborers in the country, but the most skillful axmen. They make every thing they use, from the house they live in down to their coffe mills, with no tool but an ax. And these are the people who are allowed to suffer for lack of renumerating work in the midst of nature's lukuriance because we havent any means of keeping out foreign competition. We are supporting the foreign capitalist and the foreign laborer, and letting the best of our own remain in hurtful idleness.

All this is true as gospel. Since the tariff was taken from lumber by a free trade Congress the industry has languished. Mr Winchester's argument is not involved nor theoretical. It is enough to state facts as they are—the actual result of free trade, and it is gratifying to note, according to the newspaper accounts, his speech made a deep mpression upon the committee.

The people of West Virginia voted for protection to their lumber and coal and manufactories quite as much as they voted sound money, and Mr Winchester was echoing their sentiments expressed at the polls. Our Democratic friends who do not undershand why the state has been revolutionized politically might find an explanation in the lumber camps, where matters are just as Mr Winchester has described them.—Wheeling Intelligencer.

Moving the Well.—A family have recently taken into their employ a rosy cheeked Irish maid-of-all-work, say that her blunders cause them amusement enough to compensate for any trouble they entail.

One day, the man of the house stated in Bridget's presence that he intended having a wood-house built on a piece of ground which at that time enclosed a well.

"And sure, sorr," said the enquiring Bridget, "will you be moving the well to a more convanient spot when the wood house is builted?"

A smile crossed her employer's face and instantly Bridget saw she had made a mistake of some sort.

"It's meself that's a fool, I'm thinking," she said hastily bound to retrieve herself, "av course when the well was moved ivery drop of wather wound rin out av it."

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 15, NO. 3 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, AUGUST 13, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 11.--Polished Solid Oak 5-Drawer Chiffonier, 53 inches high, 30¾ inches long, 18 inches deep. It is well constructed and has good locks on each drawer. Special price, (Orders promptly filled).

$3.39

Our success is not accidental. It is the reward of 48 years of honorable business. Our experience in the Furniture and Carpet business is yours for the asking. Our immense illustrated catalogue of Furniture, Oil Cloths, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Bedding, Springs, Steel Beds, etc., is free to all who write for it, and we pay all postage. If you ask your local dealers' advice you will not send for our catalogue, as he will lose a customer. If you consult your pocket-book and want double value for your dollars, you will deal with the manufacturers. Send your name on a postal now.

Julius Hines & Son
BALTIMORE, MD.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

John Hartman Ruckman.

Among the citizens of our county in later years from the forties to the sixties that took a lively interest in everything that promised to promote the interests of education, morality, and the prosperity of the county generally, John H. Ruckman, Esq., deserves more than a brief notice.

He traced his ancestry to one Samuel Ruckman, a native of England, and born in 1643. The Ruckmans had lived awhile in North-East Wales, bordering England, and thence came to Long Island, New York, in 1682. Thomas Ruckman, son of Samuel the Welsh emigrant, was born on Long Island, in 1682, and his son James Ruckman, another link in the ancestral chain, was born in New Jersey in 1716. James Ruckman's son David Ruckman was born in New Jersey in 1747. David Ruckman is the progenitor of the Ruckman relationship in Highland and Pocahontas Counties. He came to what is now south-east Highland, Virginia, and settled in lower Back Creek Valley, about 1784. The place is now occupied by William Price Campbell, Esq., whose wife is a daughter of Colonel David Ruckman, a grandson of the pioneer and called for him.

The settler married a New Jersey wife, who seems to have been a lady of high aspirations, and longed for something far better than she could have in New Jersey. Marvellous accounts seemed to have been reported about the beauty, wealth, and happiness of southern homes. That in Virginia people lived in houses with earthen floors, discarding the use of wood. She seems to have gathered from this that the floors were of mosaic work, such as princes have about their homes in the old country. Upon reaching the place of destination and finding what earthen floors meant on the Virginia frontier, her disappointment was so intense that she wished to return at once; but circumstances were such that this was impossible, and so the situation was accepted, went to work and a home was reared out of the Virginia forest. Her name was Susannah Little.

David and Susannah Ruckman were the parents of four sons and four daughters. Elizabeth, Sophia, Mary, and Hannah. Samuel, John, James, and David Little. One of the these worthy people, David Ruckman, died on the homestead reared by their own industrious, mutually helpful efforts, July 11, 1822, and is buried on a gentle emnence that overlooks the scene of the toils and cares from which they now so silently rest. She survived and came to Pocahontas with her son David, and died about 1845, far advanced in the eighties.

John H. Ruckman, in whose memory this biographic paper is especially prepared, was the eldest son of Samuel Ruckman, Esq., of Highland County, Virginia. Samuel Ruckman just named was the eldest son of the pioneer, and was born in New Jersey, November 17, 1783. His first wife was Nancy Hartman, from beyond Greenbank. They were married July 18, 1809, and settled on Back Creek. There were one son, John H., and two daughters, Mary and Nancy, in the first family. Samuel Ruckman's second wife was Margaret Slaven, from Pocahontas County, and her children were James, Elizabeth, Asa, and David VanMeter.

Mary Ruckman married Isaac Gum. She is survived by two sons Isaac and Aaron Gum.

Nancy Ruckman was married to William Wade, went west, and is survived by several children, names not in hand.

James Ruckman died in youth.

Elizabeth Ruckman was married to John P. Ervine. She is sruvived by her three children, James, Mary and Anna.

Asa Ruckman married Cornelia Brown, and went west.

David V. Ruckman married Anna Herring, daughter of the late Bethuel Herring, of Augusta county. Their children were Kate, who is Mrs Wise Herold; Lucy, now Mrs Edward Wade; Anna Laurie, now Mrs William Price Campbell; Margerie is the wife of Rev Cocke, of Missouri; Sarah is at home; David Glendye Ruckman lives in Augusta; Samuel Ruckman a youth of more than ordinary promise died when a student.

Col. D. V. Ruckman's second wife was Miss Lizzie Eagle, of Doe Hill, Highland County, daughter of the late Samuel Eagle, Esqr.

John H. Ruckman, Esq., was born in Highland County (then Bath) November 11, 1810. He married Mary (Polly) M. Bruffey November 7, 1833. She was a daughter of Patrick Bruffey, Esq., and his wife, Ann Slaven. He first settled at the old homestead on Back Creek, and then moved to Pocahontas, about 1845, to the Bradshaw place, near Mill Point. He finally located on the Greenbrier, opposite the Stamping Creek junction, where he built a fine residence and spent several years. Mr and Mrs Ruckman were the parents of eight children: Caroline, Sydney, Charles, Samuel, James A., William Patrick, David Newton and Polly Ann. It is a sad reflection that not one of these sprightly sons and daughters is now alive.

Caroline became Mrs William J. Cackley, near Mill Point, and died soon thereafter; Charles Ruckman was a Confederate soldier, became a prisoner of war, and was for some time at Fort Delaware, and, on his return homeward, died at Baltimore from the effects; Samuel Ruckman, a younger Confederate soldier, died of sickness at Green Bank, occasioned fatigue and exposure; James Atlee Ruckman died in battle at Port Republic, Virginia; William Patrick, David Newton and Polly Ann died in childhood.

Sidney Ruckman, the eldest of of the sons, was a Confederate soldier and survived the war. He married Almira Campbell, daughter of the late William Campbell, Esq., who at the time occupied the home opened up by David Ruckman, the pioneer. It was the writer's pleasure to officiate upon the occasion, and was made the recipient of one of the most liberal fees ever known to be given for such a service in that vicinity. After all the perils of war, he came near losing his life in a time of peace in a rencontre, that is alleged to have been the principle reason of the famous Atchison lynching at Monterey. It is reported that all this was done in direct opposition to Sidney's wishes, and that he was always sorry it ever happened, as he felt himself fully able to take care of himself.

He finally went to Oklahoma, and on his way to meet and bring home his wife, visiting in Kansas, he died under sudden and sad circumstances September 7, 1896, at the hands of suspected parties, who were pursued and dealt with in a very summary manner. He is survived by his wife and two sons. The young men are reported to be very promising and bid fair to make first-class citizens. Their names are Charles and William Ruckman.

John H. Ruckman's second wife was Mary J. Wooddell, near Green Bank, a sister of Mrs M. P. Slavin, at Marlinton. In 1863 he sold out his possessions in Pocahontas and moved to Georgia, where he died some years since. Mrs Ruckman has married again, and is now Mrs M. J. Wilson.

Thus has the compiler been able by the assistance of Mrs Mary Cackley and her nephew, Wallace Ruckman, to present what has been done herewith illustrating the history of a very good citizen in his day and generation.

The writer cherishes the memory of this man with feelings of special interest. He owes something in the way of mental stimulus to his influence.

"William, do you know that if you were to try, you might become something of a man in time? My advice is, set your aim high and see what it may all come to you yet."

"Well, Mr Ruckman, you talk differently from what I generally hear about myself. A person, who knows me much better than you do, told me that I was about the biggest fool in all this country, and sometimes I feel as if it might be so."

"Well you just listen to what I say and try to make the best of yourself, and let us see what may it come too."

Some little time after this interview, I was at his house for dinner and, when we took our places, he invited me to invoke a blessing, and so at his table my first effort of the kind was ever made.

For some years we were confidential friends, but finally our paths drifted far apart and we saw and knew but little of each other face to face, but in memory he was often present to my mind, and he is now, as I pencil these memorial paragraphs, seemingly near enough to grasp his hand and greet him the time of day. He was a scrupulous member of the M. E. Church, an ardent advocate of temperance and intensely devoted to welfare of his country. For his country he gave his prayers, his means and his sons, and finally his grey hairs went down to the grave with nothing more that he could do or suffer in the way of obedience to the Divine will.

There is a calm for those who weep,
A rest for weary Pilgrims found,
They softly lie, they sweetly sleep
Low in the ground.

W. T. P.

Navigating a Cow.

When I was down on Cape Cod last summer I heard an amusing story about an old sea captain and his cow. Captain Peterson, after sailing the sea for more than forty years, finally retired to a little farm near Barnstable, where he settled down with a horse, cow, and two or three dozen hens. His cow tho a lank and rather stubborn creature, was said to come from very good stock, and when the Barnstable people took it in their heads to have a fair, Captain Patterson determined to exhibit his cow.

But when the day came to drive her to the grounds the cow showed that she had a mind of her own and would not budge a step beyond the gate. In vain the old Captain tugged at the rope, pummelled her sides, and pushed her flanks. The cow wanted to go to pasture, and was bound she wouldn't go to the fair.

Captain Patterson's patience was very nearly gone, when suddenly an idea occurred to him. Tho he was not strong enough himself to force the cow to go to the fair, his training suggested something that was. Tying the cow to the gatepost, he went up into the loft of his barn and threw down an old sail stepped to a dory mast. Then he put a horse's blanket belt thro an iron ring, strapped the belt around the cow, inserted the end of the mast in the ring, and bound the mast to the side of the cow with some fifty feet of rope.

The wind blew "quartering" and when the Captain untied the cow raised the sail the canvas was swelled out over the cow's back and away she went "sidling" down the road, mooing and lunging, and trying to stop herself in vain. Capt. Patterson seized her tail, and, using it as a rudder, guided her skilfully in the right direction. With every fresh puff of wind the obstinate cow would be hurried along faster, while the dust blew up in clouds, and the sail flapped and tugged, while Capt. Patterson held the mainsheet with one hand and the cow's tail in the other.

It was a hard voyage for both of them, but not a long one; and when they came in sight of the fair gound everybody ran out to see the remarkable sight of a cow being sailed thro the streets like a ship. Cheers and laughter filled the air, and when the Captain finally whiled his cow around at the gate of the fair ground and brought her neatly "up into the wind," the shout that arose might have been heard two miles away.

Unfortunately, Capt. Patterson's cow did not take one of the prizes for blooded stock, but the Captain himself was given a special prize by the fair commissioners for "the best device for getting balky cattle to market."—The Outlook.

PROF A. D. HOPKINS, of the University, has discovered a new variety of dewberry in the Preston County Glades. It is bright red in color when ripe, and has delicious flavor.

THE wheat crop of Berkeley County is estimated at 500,000 bushels; the wheat unusually fine.

AN OPEN LETTER.

In compliance with the reqnest of Captain W. L. McNeel and others, we lay before our readers the following communication from Mr C. Z. Hevener, recently a citizen of Marlinton, and bespeak their sympathies as he so pathetically pleads for in the sad afflictions, past and present, that have befallen him and his family:

Editor of The Pocahontas Times:

Dear Sir—With an aching heart I write you something for publication about the troubles I have had since I left Marlinton, August 19, 1895.

Upon leaving Marlinton I went to Lowell, W. Va., where I failed to get work sufficient to support my family. October 18, 1895, I moved to the White Sulphur where on the 1st day of March, 1886, I came down with typhoid fever and was given up by several doctors to die. For eight weeks I knew of nothing that was going on.

On May 9th, 1896, Willie took the fever, and my beloved wife was very careful to wait on us both thro our sickness. She became greatly dissatisfied with the people here, and so, July 30, 1896, I went to Back Creek, two miles from the old Sweet Springs, to blacksmith for E. A. Huddleston's saw mill.

July 20th a freshet washed the log road away and business was suspended. August 13, I came to Burr's Valley, twelve miles south west of Huntersville, to blacksmith for Capt. Peters' camp, with T Lester foreman. Here I worked until January 7, 1897. January 15, 1897, I came to Captain W. L. McNeel's, near Hillsboro, where I am now at work with a breaking heart, two children and an insane wife.

June 30, Mrs S. E. Hevener, my wife, was judged insane by Justice Curry and Drs McClintic and Larue. Such is an account of wanderings and troubles, and my condition is very distressing. I have my two children to provide for, which I am more than willing to do if God gives me health and strength. I ask the good people of the surrounding country to give me a fair chare of their patronage, for I am more than willing to work.

I am thankful for sympathizing friends, such as Capt. W. L. MacNeel and family and all the neighbors around me.

I am not a professed follower of Christ, tho at times I feel like leaving the world and following Christ. I am one of the twelve children of Zebulon Hevener, deceased, of Mountain Gove, Virginia, and the only one of the family now living that does not belong to the church, so I suppose I have all my trials and troubles to bear by myself.

I wish to ask all praying people to pray for me, as I can't pray for myself. I hope we will all know each other better, when the mists have rolled away. I now think of what has often been told me, "Ask and you shall receive, knock and it shall be opened unto you;" and then I think of the passage of Scripture which says, "The prayers of the wicked availeth nothing." Now this is why I ask the righteous people to pray for me.

Shakespeare says that loud singing, talk and whistling is not happiness. that sometimes it is to drown truth. I can say by self-experience that this is correct. Hoping that my many friends will have sympathy for me in my troubles and help me all they can.

Your friend,
C. Z. HEVENER.

Academy, July 26, 1897.

A Fortune in a Kernel of Wheat.

Talking about wheat stories, the first one of the season comes from George Leavitt. George says that in the spring of 1894 he was at George Fifer's place, near Rutten postoffice, and his attention was attracted by a small drill of wheat in Mr Fifer's garden. He asked regarding it and was told by Mr. Fifer that in 1893 he killed a wild goose and in cleaning it he found a kernel of very peculiar wheat. He saved it and planted it the following spring, raising four heads, one of which contained 109 kernals. Mr Levitt has watched this wheat each year with considerable interest, and recently had another talk with Mr Fifer about it. The latter has continued to plant what he had harvested the previous year and this season has 1½ acres in. He says that in ordinary seasons this wheat will yield from from 40 to 60 bushels to the acre. He intends to place it on the market in 1899 and will sell it for seed at $2 per bushel. The wheat is a hard red color, and as hard as our Fife wheat. Some of the heads last season measured 6½ inches in length and contained four rows of kernels. Mr Levitt believes that this variety will be the wheat of the country when it is once placed on the market.—North Dakota Free Press.

Sarsaparilla Sense.

Any sarsaparilla is sarsaparilla. True. So any tea is tea. So any flour is flour. But grades differ. You want the best. It's so with sarsaparilla. There are grades. You want the best. If you understood sarsaparilla as well as you do tea and flour it would be easy to determine. But you don't. How should you ?

When you are going to buy a commodity whose value you don't know, you pick out an old established house to trade with, and trust their experience and reputation. Do so when buying sarsaparilla.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla has been on the market fifty years. Your grandfather used Ayer's. It is a reputable medicine. There are many sarsaparillas. But only one Ayer's. IT CURES.

Lincoln's Warning.

(Appendix Congressional Globe, 37th Congres, p 4.)

Persons given to ponder political words of soberness and truth will find much to think about in what President Lincoln said about the tendency of affairs, many years since. Whoever reads this and unstands its import need have no trouble to decide how to place his vote where it will do the most good.

Monarchy itself is sometimes hinted at as a possible refuge from the power of the people. In my present position, I could scarcely be justified were I to omit raising a warning voice against this approach of returning despotism. It is not needed nor fitting here that a general argument should be made in favor of popular institutions; but there is one point with its connections not so hackneyed as most others, to which I ask a brief attention. It is the effort to place capital on an equal footing with, if not above, labor in the structure of government. It is assumed that labor is available only in connection with capital, that no body labors unless somebody else owning capital somehow by the use of it induces him to labor. * * * * Labor is prior to, and independent of, capital. Capital is only the fruit of labor, and could never have existed if labor had not first existed. Labor is the superior of capital, and deserves much the highet consideration. * * * * No men living are more worthy to be trusted than those who toil up poverty; none less inclined to take or touch ought which they have not honestly earned. Let them beware of surrendering a political power which they now possess, and which, if surrendered, will surely be used to close the door of advancement against such as they, and to fix new disabilities and burdens upon them till all of liberty shall be lost.

IT IS something rather difficult to explain, yet it is a well known fact and but rarely called in question, it is far easier to coast down hill than to draw the sled or coasting board up hill. Sometimes this discourages persons and they cease to find pleasure or joy in coasting. While the reason may not be very apparent, yet experience makes it self-evident, that if it were coasting down hill all the time and no climbing up to be done, we should become but little better than the sleds that carry us. For a time there would be pleasurable exhileration, but we should soon loose our vigor and our health, and then there would be no pleasure in the act. The up hill work is what develops the capacity to enjoy the pleasures sought and imparts healthful vigor. On this principle the plan of a successful life is arranged. Constant effort in the way of endurance and resistance is the main condition on which a beautiful, happy life can be achieved with the materials of a human experience. When this comes to be realized, then we aim to place our feet firmly on the first step of the Golden Stairs, whose landing is near the presence of God where there is fullness of joy and pleasures for ever more. The noble accept the situation and patiently toil upward.

AS WHITE officials refuse to serve under the negro Collector of Georgia, it seems likely that the collecting business will be entirely in the hands of negroes.

"Nearer to Thee."

They were singing, sweetly singing
And the song melodiously
On the evening air was ringing,
"Nearer, O my God, to thee!"
In my eyes the teardrops glistened
As it stirred the twilight dim,
And I wondered as I listened
If it brought them nearer Him.

Were they like the wanderer weary,
Song and life in sweet accord,
Resting in the darkness dreary
In that nearness to the Lord?
Had the Spirit ever sought them,
To be slighted or denied?
Had that dear song ever brought them
Closer to the Savior's side?

I have heard its music often,
Felt its meaning deep and sweet,
And my weary heart would soften,
Singing at my Master's feet,
'Nearer thee'—O precious feeling!
Nearer thee in gain and loss;
Nearer thee when I am kneeling
In the shadow of the cross!

Nearer thee when love descending
Falls in blessing on my head;
Nearer thee when I am bending
O'er the graves that hide my dead!
Nearer thee in joy, in sorrow,
'Tis the same where'er I roam;
Nearer thee to-day, tomorrow,
O my king, my Christ, my home!

—Frank L. Stanton.

A Remarkable Case of Chronic Diarrhoœa.

In 1862, when I served my country as a private in Company A, 167th Pennsylvania Volunteers, I contacted chronic diarrhoea. It has given me a great deal of trouble ever since. I have tried a dozen different medicines and several prominet doctors without any permanent relief. Not long ago a friend sent me a sample bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after that I bought and took a 50 cent bottle; and now I can say that I am entirely cured. I cannot be thankful enough to you for this great Remedy, and recommend it to all suffering veterans. If in doubt write me. Yours gratefully, HENRY STEINBERGER, Allentown, Pa. Sold by druggists.

A maid with a duster
Once made a great bluster
A-dusting a bust in the hall
And when it was dusted
The bust it was busted,
And the bust is now dust.
That is all.

—Princeton Tiger

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

IT is always gratifying to receive testimonials for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and when the endorsement is from a physician it is especially so. "There is no more satisfactory or effective remedy than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes Dr R. E. Rodey, physician and pharmacist, of Olney Mo.; and as he has used the Remedy in his own family and sold it in his drug store for six years, he should certainly know. For sale by druggists.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor
VOL. 15, NO. 4 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, AUGUST 20, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 11.—Polished Solid Oak 5-Drawer Chiffonier, 53 inches high, 30¾ inches long, 18 inches deep. It is well constructed and has good locks on each drawer. Special price, (Orders promptly filled).

$3.39

Our success is not accidental. It is the reward of 48 years of honorable business. Our experience in the Furniture and Carpet business is yours for the asking. Our immense illustrated catalogue of Furniture, Oil Cloths, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Bedding, Springs, Steel Beds, etc., is free to all who write for it, and we pay all postage. If you ask your local dealers' advice you will not send for our catalogue, as he will lose a customer. If you consult your pocket-book and want double value for your dollars, you will deal with the manufacturers. Send your name on a postal now.

Julius Hines & Son
BALTIMORE, MD.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

The Poage relationship claims a place in the annals of our county, and some attention will be given to them in this sketch.

The Poages are of pure Scotch-Irish ancestry, and were among the parties that suffered in the seige of Londonderry. The line of descent can be traced to two brothers, Robert and John Poage, who "proved their importation at their own charges" at Orange C. H., 1740. The Pocahontas Poages are the descendants of Robert Poage, who settled between Staunton and Fort Defiance, and was among the first to occupy that attractive portion of the famous valley of Virginia. Robert Poage's wife was Elizabeth Preston, whose family settled in the vicinity of Waynesboro with the pioneers about 1740. Their son John married Mary Blair and settled near the Poage homestead in Augusta.

William Poage, one of John Poage's sons, married Margaret Davies, and settled in the Little Levels at the place where Charles W. Beard. Esq, now resides (1897) about 1782. Mrs Poage died in 1843 aged 98 years. Their children were William, George Washington Moses Hoge, Samuel Davies, and Elizabeth.

William Poage, junior, married the widow Nancy Gatewood, a daughter of Major Jacob Warwick and Mary Vance his wife, and lived at Marlin's Bottom, now Marlinton, early in the centnry.

Major William Poage's daughter Rachel was married to the late Josiah Beard, of Locust. They were the parents of Hon W. T. Beard, Charles W. Beard, John G. Beard, Samuel J. Beard; Henry Moffett Beard; Agnes Beard, now Mrs Alvin Clark, near Hillsboro; Joel Early Beard, a Confederate soldier, died during the war; Wallace Warwick Beard, Edwin L. Beard, Sabina, now Mrs George S. McNeel, near Hillsboro; and Margaret, now Mrs Washington Levisay, at Frankford, Greenbrier County.

Josiah Beard, Esq., is to be remembered as the first clerk of Pocahontas County. and a person of the highest character for all that makes a true Christian patriot, and of his children it may be said they are worthy sons and daughters of a very worthy father and mother.

Mary Vance Poage was married first to Robert Beale of Botetourt, and settled on Elk, where he died, leaving one daughter, Margaret Elizabeth Beale. There was another child that died at the age of a few months. When it was buriee the father walked around the grave and then looking upward with his tearful eyes said: "Our God in Heaven only knows who will be the next to be buried here; it may be myself." Four weeks from that day he too was carried there and buried by his heartbroken friends and neighbors, and is spoken of by the old people at this day as one of the most solemn buryings they were ever at in their lives.

Mrs Mary Beale was married the second time to Henry M, Moffett, Esq., clerk of the county, and lived at Huntersville and then at the Levels. Margaret Beale, her eldest daughter, became Mrs G. B. Moffett, an eminent physician. Their sons, Robert and James Moffett, live in St. Louis and Chicago, employed in the Standard Oil business. Sally Moffett became Mrs Alexander McChesney, late of Charleston, West Virginia. Martha Moffett is now Mrs Hall, near Philippi, Barbour County. Mary Evelina Moffett is Mrs William P. Thompson, of New York City, who was a Colonel in the Confederate service. Rachel Moffett is now Mrs Robert McChesney, of Lewisburg. George H. Moffett became a lawyer, Speaker of the West Virginia Legislature, distinguished editor, and is now railroad attorney and resides at Parkersburg.

Colonel William Woods Poage son of Major William Poage, married Julia Callison, of Locust, and settled on the old homestead, finally moved to Poage's Lane, where Woods Poage now reside. Lieut Moffett Poage, killed in the war, was also his son. Lieut Poages only child, Mrs Sally W. Beery, lives at Mt. Clinton, Virginia.

Margaret Davies Poage was married to the late James A. Price, of Botetourt County, Virginia, and settled at Marlin's Bottom on a section of the Poage homestead. Her children were William T. Price; Elizabeth, who became Mrs Allen Burner. Her son, George A. Burner, lives in Minneapolis. James Henry Price, Josiah Woods Price, Eugenia Frances, who became Mrs Franklin Cochran, John Calvin Price, Andrew Gatewood Price, who died at Point Lookout a prisoner of war, July 6th, 1864. He was of the Bath Squadron. Nancy Warwick Price, Mary Margaret Georgiana, now Mrs A. M. McLaughlin, near Lewisburg, W. Va.; George Junkin Price, and Samuel D. Price.

Moses Hoge Poage, son of William Poage the Levels settler, married Martha McDannald, of Windy Cove, Bath County, and settled on the place now held by Alvin Clark, Esq. Their sons and daughters were William, Franklin, Cyrus H., Davis Brown, Elizabeth who became Mrs George Van Eman, a Presbyterian minister; and Mary Poage, who became Mrs Hanna. Late in life Moses H. Poage emigrated to Missouri.

George Washington Poage married Miss Rankin and settled on the place now occupied by Preston Clark, Esq. The children of the first family were William, who was killed by a falling tree; Rankin, who married Nancy Wolfenbarger, settled where the late Rev M. D. Dunlap resided. He finally went west. James R. Poage, late of Edray, West Virginia. Mrs Ann Wanless, wife of Ralph Wanless, in the Hills, and mother of Rev G. P. Wanless, an eminent Methodist minister; Mrs Elizabeth Burner, second wife of the late George Burner, of Travellers Repose.

Mr George W. Poage's second wife was Elizabeth Beard, sister of Josiah Beard, mentioned elsewhere in this sketch. The children of the second family were George Washington, Poage, junior, Samuel Davies Poage. John B. Poage, and Elizabeth Poage, who became Mrs William P. Hill.

Mr George W. Poage was a person of fine appearance, and his resemblance to the portraits of Washington of whom he was a namesake was frequently remarked upon. An evergreen prayer-meeeing was conducted at his house on silent Sabbaths. He loved to "wail with judicious care" the hymns and tunes that were once sung by the Covenanter ancestry in Scotland. While there was much singing, and much reading, and much praying, but few things were sung, read, and prayed, and so the minds of the worshippers were concentrated on the few things needful—the forgiveness of sins through the blood of Jesus, a new heart and a right spirit. Advanced in years, Mr Poage went west with his family and settled in Missouri.

Samuel Davies Poage, youngest son of William Poage, senior, married Miss Rebecca Arbuckle, of Lewisburg, sister of the late Captain Charles Arbuckle, of Texas, and lived at the old homestead. He had been educated for the Presbyterian ministry, but declined the exercise of its duties thro a morbid sense of unworthiness, unfitness for assuming duties so sacred and responsible as he regarded ministerial vows demanded. He was a faithful helper in the prayer-meetings led by his venerable brother George Poage. While attending school taught by Rev Joseph Brown at the Brick church the writer boarded in Mr Poage's family. He has heard him in secret prayer in his private room long after midniget, such were his devotional habits. It mattered not how cold the night might be, Mr Poage would spend hours in that room in secret devotions, and oftentimes he would come out with his features all radiant with ecstatic, emotion.

Elizabeth Poage, daughter of wife of Calonel John Hill, son of Richard Hill, so often mentioned in these biographic notes as a pioneer and scout. Hillsboro was named after him. The names of their children were Richard, William, John, Thomas, Robert, Davis, George, Margaret, who became Mrs Chesly K. Moore; Nancy who was married to William McMiilion head of Spring Creek; Elizabeth, and Mary.

Colonel Hill late in his life felt it his duty to remove west. It was one of the most mournful episodes that ever occurred in the social history of the Levels when Moses Poage, George Poage, and Colonel Hill set out for the west with their families in order to seek new homes in their old age. The most of these persons located in Daviess County, Missouri, and many of their descendants are in that State which has been to so large extent occupied by Virginia people as to be regarded as a new Virginia.

William Poage, senior, was a Presbyterian ruling elder and virtually the founder of the Oak Grove Presbyterian church. Some of the first religious meetings conducted by Presbyterian ministers in this region was at his house. When the pulpit would be vacant years at a time there would be religious services at his home or the home of one of his sons, who were also elders. Visiting friends from from Kentucky brought with them the revival spirit that has rendered the early history of Kentuck so famous, and it broke out in the Levels in 1801. Parties in Augusta heard of it, and came over to see and hear what it all meant.

The pastor of the Old Stone Church, Rev William Wilson, a relative of the Poages, and fifteen or twenty of the young people also relatives came over together. They became imbued with the spirit of the moment and went back singing and praying as they traveled along. The effect upon the home people in the valley as they rode up singing and praying was overwhelming; and from that point the old Stone Church, the revival influence went all over the State, wherever there were Presbyterian congregations, and the results are visible at the present time tho so so nearly a hundred years ago. So it appears a great matter was kindled by a little watchfire that had been kindled in the old Poage homestead.

May it be that all having the blood of such an ancestry in their veins strive to be worthy of it, and and ever be thankful that they are the sons and daughters of an ancestry that has passed into history and, what is far higher and better, the children of such as have passed into the skies.

W. T. P.

VERBAL REVERBERATIONS OF THE INSTITUTE.

The past week has been one of genuine social enjoyment, mental and moral improvement, owing to the presence of the Teachers Institute at Marlinton.

Parties, who had looked upon Institutes as a nuisance, publicly announced a decided change in their views, and now looked upon Institutes, conducted as this has been, as something next to indispensable to the attainment of best results in school work.

A very marked mental quickening was apparent in the attention given, and the questions that were propounded by the teachers. One of the teachers brought up the query, "Where would we come out at were a tunnel projected thro the earth?" Some thought, 'China, of course,' another India, but the querist himself, against all odds, contended the coming out place would be in the Southern Ocean, not far from Australia. This querist has not spent his life on Hill's Creek for nothing.

A visitor, a citizen of marked prominence in County affairs, gave a talk on the uses of history as the means of learning the lessons of experience without undergoing the hardships entailed by actual experience. This idea was illustrated by pertinent object lessons. One learns by experience that fire will make sore fingers; a second person the first what fire will do without getting his own fingers burnt if he will heed what is told him,

Prof. Rucker impressed it upon the teachers to take special pains to interest pupils in history. He thought mountain boys, in their limited environment, and with so few opportunities in sight would be stimulated and encouraged to high endeavors, were they to learn that limited opportunities are no real barrier to to highest success. Jefferson, with his wealth and college advantages, was matched Hamilton with his poverty and self imparted education. John Q. Adams, with all his wealth, early advantages and wonderful learning, found his peer in Henry Clay, "the Mill-boy of the Slashes." Other examples equally pertinent were mentioned.

Another citizen visitor 'waked up things' by calling for the correct analysis of the famous couplet: "The swan, on still St Mary's Lake, float double, swan and shadow." St Mary's Lake was from being still while this discussion was going on, and the swan was doubled up sure enough.

A self invited speaker, in his remarks at one of the evening entertainments, recommended the Bible as ,the newest thing now out' in the way of reading, and the phenominal craze for something new and fresh in reading matter could not be more effectively satisfied than by an attentive and intelligent perusal of the Bible. As water is the drink of all drinks, so the Bible is the book of all books. By going west sufficiently far one gets into the east, so by going into the oldest things sufficiently far, one may come into what is 'newest and freshest.'

Prof Lowe insisted upon teachers giving their pupils good, nourishing mental food and a plenty of it, if they wanted to develop robust and strong minded pupils. He gave this as an object lesson: "A farmer hired a hand to cut some meadow. The work did not progress to his satisfaction and he complained of it to a friend. The friend went to the meadow and found the hand at work, cutting a very slow and narrow lick, and muttering to himself:

"Milk and whey,
Milk and whey
Three times a-day."

He returned to the house and told the farmer that it would be well to make a change in the diet, and give his hand pleanty of fried bacon and eggs, and see what it would come to. The farmer acted on the suggestion and gave the hand a square meal as hinted at, and the visitor went down to the meadow to see how it was after dinner. He found the mower swinging a swift and vigorous lick, and singing to himself:

"Bacon and eggs,
Bacon and eggs;
Look out for your legs."

The teachers were left to make for themselves the intended use of the parable.

While the effects of alcoholism were under discussion, a scene transpired that surpasses anything for pathos and moral courage that has ever taken place in the history ot this Institute, and perhaps of any other in our State. With his honest eyes suffused with regretful tears and with broken words Prof. Rucker alluded to former meetings of the Institute which he had attended when a part of the outfit he had provided was a jug of whiskey, and under its influence he had time after time lectured to the teachers of this county. Hereafter, God helping him, he would forever have nothing more to do with strong drink. And now when he meets a youth with breath perfumed with cloves or peppermint drops he would fain take him lovingly by the hand and lead him around some building to be to themselves, not to give him red liquor, but to advise him "look not upon the wine when it is red, when it giveth its color to the cup, or moveth itself aright, for at last it biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder." O that everything that is pure, lovely and of good report could be combined to pulverize the

"I don't believe there ever was so good a pill made as Ayer's Cathartic Pills. They will do all you recommend them for and even more. When I have a cold and ache from head to heels, a dose or two of these pills is all the medicine needed to set me right again. For headache,*

Pill Clothes.

The good pill has a good coat. The pill coat serves two purposes; it protects the pill, and disguises it to the sensitive palate. Some coats are too heavy; they won't dissolve, and the pills they cover pass through the system, harmless as a bread pellet. Other coats are too light, and permit the speedy deterioration of the pill. After 30 years exposure, Ayer's Sugar Coated Pills have been found as effective as if just fresh from the laboratory. It's a good pill, with a good coat. Ask your druggist for

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

* This testimonial will be found in full in Ayer's "Curebook," with a hundred others. Free. Address: J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

and adder from our homes.

Among the last things done was to adopt by a rising vote a resolution in memory of Miss M'Quaide Beard, whom the Heavenly Teacher had taken to Himself since the last meeting of the Institute.

S. C. R.

No Ordinary Passion.

For nearly an hour Horatio Dexter had been upon his knees in front of Flavia Johnson, pouring out his love. His was no ordinary passion. He had worshipped the beautiful girl from the moment his eyes had first looked into hers.

"Flavia," he implored, "have mercy! Can't you see that if you will not become my wife there will be no hope for me?"

"No, don't say that," she returned in low, sweet accents; "you will get over it. Three years ago Titus Henderson told me the same thing. Now he is married to another, and the father of twins. I know that he is happy. You will forget me as he has forgotten me. You will meet some one else and love her, and then, in good time, be happy with your twi—I mean your family, as he is."

"Ah," he bitterly replied, "others may be happy with their twins. I do not care for them. You—you Flavia, are what I want. You are the pole star of my existence. Say that you can learn to love me. Say that I may at least hope. Do not compel me to go away and destroy myself! Save me, Flavia, save me!'

"Poor boy!" she said, stroking his curls, "I am sorry for you. I wish I were not so lovely. It is terrible, this thing of driving people mad for love of me. I will give you a little lock of my hair, which you can wear next to your heart. Perhaps that will help you get over it."

"No! No!" he sobbed, "I don't think a lock of hair on my heart would do a bit of good. It would only tickle me. I am very ticklish Flavia. Keep your hair. Now I'm going to give you just one more chance. Will you or will you not be mine?"

She bent and pressed her rich, ripe lips against his forehead, and then replied:

"Alas! I cannot; I am promised to another, who makes more money in a day than you earn in a week. It nearly breaks my heart to tell you this, but you have forced me to do so. Were things arranged differently, I could be happy with you, for love is knocking at the door of my heart."

Horatio Dexter got up, looked to see if his trousers were badly bagged at the knees or not, and then, in cold, harsh tones, said:

"Well, inasmuch as it seems to be a money transaction with you, I suppose I ought to pay you something for the time you have wasted in hearing my story. How much do I owe you?"

Drawing herself up like an angry princess, she said:

"You insult me, sir! Go, before I call my father, who stands 6 feet 2 in his socks and weighs 197 pounds.

So he departed, saying:

"The day will come when you will be sorry that you permitted the desire for money to kill your love."

That was five years ago. To-day she is a grass widow, living upon a miserable alimony of $14 per week, while he has a political job with a salary and fees of $12,000 a year, and clerks, hired at the expense of the public, to do the work.

Often does the now miserable woman say to herself:

"What a fool I was! I might have known from the businesslike proposition he made that night that he could n't loose.—Cleveland Leader.

The Inscription on the Old Gun.

The mystery that hangs about the crack shot and the veneration that men feel for an old firearm that has a reputation for accuracy, must have rendered very interesting a gun of which an account S. Canfield. It was in Louisiana, in one of the old houses with wide verandas, with which the Attakapas County is dotted. The gun was a hundred years old if it was a day and five feet if it was an inch, and its metal could be cut with a knife. Its locks were richly arabesqued and its stock was of the finest walnut.

It had been a been beauty in its time, and had cost much gold. The family who owned it was of the best blood of France. Originally fired with flints, the gun had been altered to meet the more modern demand of the percussion cap. Handmade from muzzle to butt, it was singularly graceful throughout its great length, and "balanced" beautifully.

Upon one side of the stock was an inscription in letters of silver, as follows:

"Legere et scabere pedagogi est, sed optime collineare est Dei."

This may be called a sort of schoolboy Latin for the idea: "Reading and writing are to be learned of the schoolmaster, but a crack shot is the work of God."

Mr Canfield declares that a marksman of talent may derive his proficiency from practice, but a marks man of genius "born so." To all appearances these born marksmen make their calculations as to wind and light instinctively, in the lift of the weapon from the hip to the cheek, without thinking anything about it.

Some of the greatest shooters in the world have never been heard of outside their own limited personal acquaintance. One of these, whom Mr Canfield met on the Rio Grande, would, with the ordinary forty-five calibre single-action Colt's revolver in his hand,—a force-ball weapon with which it is very difficult to obtain accuracy,—spin upon his heels and clip the small red apples fsom the edges of leaves of the cactus plants thirty yards distant. With the same weapon he would break a brick thrown into the air, and then smash one of the pieces before it reached the ground.

With a Winchester rifle, pumped with such rapidity that the shots could not be counted, he would bore his initials, "J. T.," into the trunk of a tree at a distance of fifty yards.

Wild turkeys in flight, peccaries tearing thro the chapparrel, and antelopes flying in desperate bounds were all one to him; and one of his amusements was scalloping tin-plates nailed against posts by striking their edges with half the bullet.

Such a marksman as this must surely have been "born, not made."

A Remarkable Case of Chronic Diarrhoea.

In 1862, when I served my country as a private in Company A, 167th Pennsylvania Volunteers, I contacted chronic diarrhoea. It has given me a great deal of trouble ever since. I have tried a dozen different medicines and several prominet doctors without any permanent relief. Not long ago a friend sent me a sample bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after that I bought and took a 50 cent bottle; and now I can say that I am entirely cured. I cannot be thankful enough to you for this great Remedy, and recommend it to all suffering veterans. If in doubt write me. Yours gratefully, HENRY STEINBERGER, Allentown, Pa. Sold by druggists.

IT is always gratifying to receive testimonials for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and when the endorsement is from a physician it is especially so. "There is no more satisfactory or effective remedy than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes Dr R. E. Rodey, physician and pharmacist, of Olney Mo.; and as he has used the Remedy in his own family and sold it in his drug store for six years, he should certainly know. For sale by druggists.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, Jan. 15. 1897.

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year $1.50 will be charged.

Entered at the post-office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

ONLY forty-six more days of Cleveland.

MAJOR McKINLEY intends to protect us in spite of ourselves.

ALL that State Senator N. C. McNeil lacked when he passed through Academy on his way to Charleston was a chaperone.

THE failing bank must surely fail to appreciate the happy deliverance of the country from the free silver fanatics.

GOVERNOR O'FERRALL is doing all he can to build up the Republican Party in Virginia, in opposition to the party which placed him in power.

IT seems likely that Lawyer Choate can count upon one vote, and only one, in the New York Assembly for the United States Senatorship. Hon T. C. Platt proved too much for the corporation lawyer.

LAST Friday was Andrew Jackson Day, January 8, in commemoration of his signal victory over the British troops at New Orleans. Last year might be called Andrew Jackson's Year, for all the patriots in the country had mounted the stump and insisted upon the lawmakers taking Jackson for their model, and expounding Jackson's ideas of political economy. Very interesting are some of the memoirs of this man. His father died three days before his birth, and as a child he experienced the bitterest poverty. He had two brothers who lived obscure lives, and of whom we have no special note. Jackson was of a very intense nature, and he loved or hated with all his might. No one was regarded with indifference. He married a beautiful grass-widow,—both believing a divorce had been granted The wedding was followed by another in three months, it having been discovered that no divorce had been granted at the time of the first marriage. His wife was one of the best of women. A political scheme was to have Jackson killed in a duel. He was compelled to challenge a professional duelist, and a dead-shot. Owing to the manner in which he dressed his opponent, Dickinson, failed to shoot him through, and only wounded him in the side. Then Jackson very deliberately killed him, cocking and sighting his pistol after his adversary had fired. Calhoun was one of Jaskson's bitterest political foes. When Calhoun threatened to "nullify" Jackson was about to hang him, and in this manner put down the rebellion. It is quite possible Grover Cleveland is popular compared with the feeling with which the people regarded Jackson in his time.

SOME of the more sensational events of the past week or two pertain to banks and their sudden suspensions. Quite a number have failed, and the failures do not seem to be confined to any particular section; Chicago, St. Paul, Selma, and Baltimore, along with with other places here and there, have their troubles. The most startling feature of all this financial disturbance is the number of self-murders among the officials. In Chicago, Mr W. A. Hammond, Vice-President of the failing National Bank of Illinois, rose about 2 o'clock, January 2, kissed his little boy, went to the lake and drowned himself. In Baltimore, January 4th, Richarp Cornelius was found to be liable for a shortage of sixty thousand dollars. He was cashier, and had been in the employ of the bank for forty-two years. Soon as notified he left the bank, at 10 o'clock, and at 1:15 in the afternoon his lifeless body was found in the duck pond at Druid Hill Park. He was eminent in religious circles, and was a local preacher. In Selma, Alabama, a bank official of the highest eminence, on the collapse of his bank, went to the church of which he was vestryman, spent hours kneeling at the altar, and when about to be found by his son and others, shot himself and died at once. The "strange" feature about these failures it is denied by the published accounts that the stringency of the times had anything to do with the causes leading to suspension. There is nothing serious laid to the charge of any of the suiciding officials up to the moment of discovery. While it may be true that the present monetary condition may not have caused these failures it is very certain that collapses under such strange circumstances will seriously undermine confidence, and there is no telling where the run on banks, owing to want of confidence, will end.

S. C. R.

An Interesting Manuscript.

In 1822, Alexander Campbell, ancestor of the Campbells of Highland County, returned from a stay of three years in Howard County, Missouri, to his old home near head of Jackson's River, then Pendleton County, Va. The property is now owned by George Dudley. His wife, Margaret Brown, of Augusta County, died on the journey back while passing thro Indiana. James Campbell, one of the sons, kept a diary of their journey, and describes very minutely the details of each day's progress.

August 10, 1822, the party crossed Locust Creek on a "rotten, crazy bridge," and camped a mile beyond Jordan's, near which was a camp-meeting going on, which the party attended. "There was a large crowd and much stir among the people."

August 11th, Sunday morning, up very early and started, but not before a large company of people from the camp-meeting had gathered to see the tame elk that was brought from Missouri. Upon passing Major Poage's, he came out and went with the party about a mile to hear the news from Missouri. They came to Cackley's, and failed to get grain, and then went on to the forks of the road, where they camped, and succeeded in getting some sheaf-oats from William Cackley.

Thence they passed up Beaver Creek, camped at Cumming's, thence past Bradshaw's, (Huntersville), up through the gap, "which was very rocky," and camped at the "Lockridge place." Thence to John Moore's and camped. The next day passed Levi Moore's, fed at "The Cabins," and in the evening reached Back Creek. "Here every thing looked familiar." Kind friends had heard of their homecoming, and had swept and garnished the premises, and welcomed their old neighbors back again. All this was very consoling to the father and his motherless sons, after the wearisome journey and the sad vicissitudes of the past three years.

With a covered wagon and seven horses and a tame elk, Mr Campbell, eight sons, and two or three other persons, traveled a thousand miles. They ferried the deep rivers, had steep hills to climb, rugged roads to pass over, and spent most of the nightt camping by the wayside. All the particulars are graphically recorded in the diary kept by James, the eldest son, then a youth about twenty years of age.

Miss Mattie Campbell and others are putting the interesting contents of the worn and faded manuscript into a form for preservation, and will be read with increasing interest as the years go by.

Bradshaw Assigns.

We have very meagre information concerning the assignment of J. B. Bradshaw, of McDowell, but it is evidently the most important bankruptcy that has ever taken place in highland County. From reports it seems that the liabilities are about $40,000 and assets $15,000. The deed of assignment was recorded in Monterey, on Christmas day, and a sale of the personalty was to have been held on the 14th instant.

We learn that one of the most important creditors is Mr Uriah Hevener, of Green Bank.

In addition to the assignment, Mr Bradshaw confessed judgment for $3,000 in favor of his wife, that being the amount which she had put into his business. Mrs Bradshaw was a Miss Wamsley, of Randolph.

Anyone who knows the genial Highland speculator will be sorry to hear of his misfortunes. He was one of the most progressive of men, and has done much for the county of Highland. His establishing a store at the boom town of Buckhannon some years ago doubtless had much to do with the present shortage.

He has suffered losses in other and less important ventures. One of his first reverses was some ten years ago, when he was security for a contractor to build the road from Warm Springs to the Pocahontas County line. The contractor threw up the job, and he had to finish it at a very considerable loss.

There is no doubt that in his business career Mr Bradshaw was the busiest man in Highland Co. He enjoyed the distinction of being merchant, farmer, road contractor, hotel keeper, cattle dealer, mail contractor, owner of hack-lines, guardian, and receiver, and it is quite possible that it is a case of too many irons in the fire.

His many friends wish him a satisfactory adjustment of his affairs, and much success in business yet.

Obituary.

Mrs Ella Lee Dysard, wife of L. J. R. Dysard, near Travelers Repose, died very suddenly, December 20th, after an illness of a few days, aged 30 years. Her parents were Mr and Mrs David McGlauphlin (now dead), of Driftwood, this County (Pocahontas.)

In the spring of 1892 Mr and Mrs Dysard moved from Driftwood to Travellers Repose, where they have resided ever since. (Mr Dysard is our esteemed merchant.)

In all the relations of life, as wife, mother, and neighbor, she tried to meet her duties. She was an energetic, wide-a-wake, and a tender-hearted lady. She had been a professing Christian ever since her youth, and was a member of the M. E. Church, South.

"Life's duty done, securely laid
In this her last retreat,
Unheeded o'er her silent dust
The storms of life may beat."

She is mourned by her bereaved husband; her little son, Pearly, aged 4 years; and daughter, Mamie, aged 2; and many friends and relatives. Tho her decease was so unexpected, yet all who know her feel that it was safe.

A large concourse attended her burial at her home "grave-yard" at the McGlaughlin Church, which services were conducted by Rev J. C. Jeter. May God's blessings ever be with her bereaved husband, her two little children, as well as her brothers and sister.

"Asleep in Jesus! blessed sleep
From which none ever wakes to weep:
A calm and undisturbed repose,
Unbroken by the dread of foes.

"Asleep in Jesus! peaceful rest,
Whose waking is supremely blest;
No fears, no woes shall dim the hour
Which manifests the Savior's power.

"Asleep in Jesus! far from thee
Thy kindred and their graves may be;
But there is still a blessed sleep
From which none ever wakes to weep"

E. F. B.

Highland Recorder please copy.

Travelers Repose, Jan. 4, 1897.

Died, at her home at Academy, on Friday, January 8, Mrs Marshall Peatt, from pulmonary troubles, at the advanced age of seventy-eight. This estimable lady has been a great sufferer for many years. She leaves surviving her, her devoted husband, Dr Marshall Peatt; and her daughter, Mrs Jas. Isabell. She was a member of the Atkinson family. One brother and several sisters are still living.

Her husband Dr Marshall Peatt, a "Doctor of the Old School," has been retired from active practice for a number of years. The married life of this worthy couple was especially beautiful. For fifty-eight years they had wandered hand in hand down the vale of life bearing each others burdens, and sharing each others joys.

The funeral was from the residence on Saturday, and the remains were laid at rest in the grave-yard of the old Oak Grove church.

Order of Publication.

State of West Virginia, County of Pocahontas, to wit:

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court for said county, on Monday, Janaury 4th, 1897,

Quintilla M. Burrows, Plaintiff
vs.
A. G. Burrows, Defendant,

The object of this suit is to procure a divorce by the plaintiff from the bonds of matrimony with the defendant; and it appearing from affidavit filed, that the defendant, A. G. Burrows, is a non-resident of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that he do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order, and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit.

Witness: J. H. Patterson, Clerk of said Court, this 5th day of January, 1897.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

NOTICE TO TAKE DEPOSITIONS.

To A. G. Burrows, take notice, that on the 26th day of February, A. D., 1897, between the hours of six o'clock, a. m., and six o'clock p. m., at the residence of Quintilla M. Burrows, near Marlinton, in Pocahontas County, West Virginia, I will take the deposition of myself, and others, to be read as evidence in my behalf, in a certain suit in chancery now pending in the Circuit Court of the County of Pocahontas, and State of West Virginia, in which I am plaintiff and you are defendant.

If from any cause the taking of said deposition shall not be commenced or completed on the day aforesaid, the same shall be continued from day to day, or from time to time, at the same place and between the same hours, until the same shall be completed.

QUINTILLA M. BURROWS,
By Counsel.

H. S. Rucker, solicitor.

Lee Military Academy.

Spring term of 18 weeks begins February 1st. Pupils can enter any time. A first class school for boys. Prepares for college or business. Thorough academic, preparatory and business courses.

Located in a fine grove. Best Christian influences, no saloons, no distractions.

Tuition, $50 and $85. Board from $10 to $15 per month.

JAMES M. LEE, Principal,
Lewisburg, W. Va.

The Pocahontas Times,

All Home Print,

Affords the People of Pocahontas County one of the best papers for the price in the State.

$1.00 per Year

GIVES YOU YOUR COUNTY PAPER.

SUBSCRIBE!

Advertise your Wares and Wants
Our rates are always low enough to warrant your patronage.

• • • •

Our Job Department has been renewed, and we guarantee satisfaction. Wedding invitations and all kinds of work done on short notice

WE HAVE THE BEST PRINTING PLANT OUT SIDE A LARGE TOWN IN THE STATE.

Now is the time to Subscribe!

The Business World

Is like the human body, in some respects. Both have their ups and downs—sick spells, and both need tonics after the crisis is over, to quicken, in one case, the life blood, and in the other the demand which sets the wheels of trade humming. It is my business to offer trade reviews to the cash customer.

HERE THEY ARE:

Woman's Fine Dongola Button Opera Toe, $1

Outings in Plaids, nice patterns, 5c

Black figured Dress Goods latest effects, 12 1-2c

All wool black, blue and grey Ladies Cloth, 22c to 30c

Men's Macintosh, black diagonal surface, $3.

I have refrained from making any extended remarks on the above on the principal that Good Wine Needs No Bush.

THE VALUES

STICK RIGHT OUT UPON EXAMINATION AND TRIAL OF THE GOODS.

PAUL GOLDEN

SOL DAVIS'
Big Store.

Our Holiday stock is large, our goods new, our prices low, the latest in style, the finest in quality, the utmost in variety. The presents you want, at the prices you like, are all included in our splendid line of Clocks Jewelry, Acordeons, Albums, Blankets, Mufflers. Scarfs, Picture Frames, Linen Goods, cutlery, Gloves, Mackintoshes, Trunks, Umbrellas, Blinds, and

GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS

—EVERYTHING AT HALF PRICES—

We quote prices on a few things

Arbuckle Coffee	10½c	Good Pure Candy	10 cents
Good Green Coffee	18c	Working Pants well made	85 cents
Granulated Sugar	6¼c	Mens Suits from 4 50 up
6 Pounds Good Soda	25c	We have some of the finest Raisons
Cakes, Oranges, and Lemons,		Prunes, Figs,

Appropriate, sensible gifts for old and young are features of this stock, which commends itself to holiday buyers. If you want to make few or many, cheap or costly, presents, this is your best chance. It will be impossible to make a mistake in your holiday buying if you select from the fair-priced stock of

SOL, DAVIS,
Green Bank, W. Va.

HEAD TO FOOT OUTFITTER.

LIGHTNING HOT DROPS

CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhoea, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.

HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals and Bugs, etc.

Tastes Good. Smells Good.

BREAKS UP A COLD.

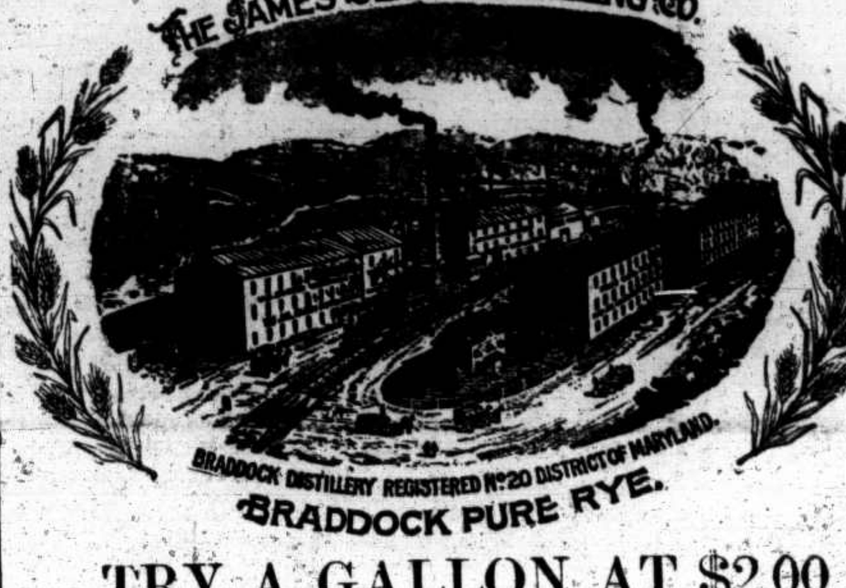
SOLD EVERYWHERE—25C AND 50C PER BOTTLE. NO RELIEF, NO PAY.

HERB MEDICINE CO. [Formerly of Weston, W. Va.] SPRINGFIELD, O.

The Greatest Medicinal Whiskey the World has Ever Known.

BRADDOCK PURE RYE
AND BARLEY MALT.

SMOOTH, SOFT, RICH, RIPE, MELLOOW AND CHEMICALLY PURE, A RECOMMENDATION IN ITSELF.



THE JAMES CLARK DISTILLING CO.
BRADDOCK DISTILLERY REGISTERED No. 20 DISTRICT OF MARYLAND.
BRADDOCK PURE RYE.

TRY A GALLON AT $2.00

Mail Orders solicited either great or small and receive our personal and prompt attention. Drop us a postal for price list. Don't use inferior goods but mail us your orders; we can save you money and perhaps your health.

JAS CLARK DISTILLING CO., JNO. McQUAIDE Mngr.

Distillers of Braddock Pure Rye, Wholesale and Retail Liquor Dealers.
20 and 22 South New St., Staunton, Va.

THE GREAT RALLY.

COME TO OUR STORE FOR BARGAINS

We are undersold by none; our prices talk for themselves; some may claim to sell low, but we are always the lowest.

Men's	$7.00	Overcoats	for	$4.75.	Men's $12.00 Suits for	$8.00
"	10.00	"	"	6.00	" 50c Undershirts for	25c
"	12.00	"	"	8.00	Ladies 60c " "	35c
"	4.00	Suits	"	2.75	25c Suspenders "	15c
"	8.00	"	"	5.00	Everything else in proportion.

Other goods proportionately.

We are closing our winter boots very low. We will take in exchange for goods, Gold, Silver, Green backs, Beeswax, Ginseng, and Fur. We have been buying FUR for seven years and can pag higher for fur than most buyers. As soon as the season opens we will begin to buy, so don't forget us.

Yours for Business,

Linwood, W. Va. L. D. SHARP.

Duke! Duke!

HIGH GRADE BICYCLES!

1896 Model.

Frame long head and wheel base. Made from best cold drawn steel tubing, narrow tread, 28inch wheels, Wood Rims, Nickeled Spokes, M and W. Quick-Repair Tire. All connexions drop forged steel. Ball bearing to every part; bearings made from the best steel, tempered and ground, dust proof, 6 inch cranks, Rat trap or Rubber Peddles, one-fourth inch Humber Chain with hardened rivets and centers. Drop-forged steel sprockets, T pattern saddle post, Garford Saddle, 68 inch gear, weight 24 lbs.

Price, $50.00.

1895 Model Duke, 27lbs., Price, $40.00

A full and complete stock of Bicycle Sundries and Repairs, cyclometers, Lamps, Bells, &c. Repairing of all kinds a specialty

Send us your broken bicycles and we can make them good as new

RESPECTFULLY,

RONCEVERTE, W. VA Eagle AND Ott.

CLOSING OUT SALE!

Intending to remove from Marlinton as soon as I can get my business closed out, I will sell my present stock of goods at a lower rate than goods have ever been sold here before, Come in and get bargains.

All persons owing me will call and settle, or their accounts will be placed in the hands of an officer.

S. W. HOLT

MARLINTON, W. VA.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 15, NO. 5 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, AUGUST 27, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 11.—Polished Solid Oak 5-Drawer Chiffonier, 53 inches high, 30½ inches long, 18 inches deep. It is well constructed and has good locks on each drawer. Special price, (Orders promptly filled).

$3.39

Our success is not accidental. It is the reward of 48 years of honorable business. Our experience in the Furniture and Carpet business is yours for the asking. Our immense illustrated catalogue of Furniture, Oil Cloths, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Bedding, Springs, Steel Beds, etc., is free to all who write for it, and we pay all postage. If you ask your local dealers' advice you will not send for our catalogue, as he will lose a customer. If you consult your pocket-book and want double value for your dollars, you will deal with the manufacturers. Send your name on a postal now.

Julius Hines & Son
BALTIMORE, MD.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

This paper is prepared to pay a tribute to the memory of a pioneer citizen of our county, the late David Hannah, Esq., of the Old Field branch of Elk. He was a son of David Hannah, senior, who was the progenitor of the Hannah family, one of the oldest in Pocahontas. David Hannah, senior, was a native of Ireland. He married a Miss Gibson, who was reared in Augusta County, Virginia, and upon his marriage with Elizabeth Gibson settled at the mouth of Locust Creek soon after the Revolutionary war. He possessed some practical knowledge of medicine of the botanical school, and did a good deal of practice in frontier times. He was probably the first person that ever practiced physic in lower Pocahontas. Doctor and Mrs Elizabeth Hannah were the parents of six daughters and four sons.

Ann became Mrs Joseph Oldham and Lucinda married William Oldham, their homes were near the source of Locust Creek. Mary Hannah was married to John Molohan and lived in what is now Webster County. Elizabeth Hannah became Mrs William Bennett and lived in Harrison County, W. Va. Jennie Hannah was married to the late Samuel Whiting, on Drooping Mountain, where the Whiting family now lives. Her son Ebenezer married Sallie McMillion and lived on the Whiting homestead. Nancy Hannah became the wife of James Cochran, and lived near the Greenbrier border.

William Hannah and John Hannah died in early youth.

Joseph Hannah married Elizabeth Burnsides on Greenbrier river, and settled on Elk where the venerable John Hannah his son now lives over eighty years of age. Materials for a sketch of Joseph Hannah's family are in hand and may appear in due time.

David Hannah, junior, the subject of this article, married Margaret Burnsides on the Greenbrier east of Hillsboro, a daughter of John Burnsides and his wife Mary Walker, of Augusta County. Her family and the family of General J. A. Walker, of Wythville, Virginia, are closely related. He was one of the last commanders of the Stonewall Brigade. He settled on Elk where William Gibson now lives; and reared a large family of worthy sons and daughters.

Isabella Hannah was married to the late John Varner, Esq., and settled at Split Rock, a few miles down Elk, and built up a good home with their industry and economy. Their children were Margaret, now Mrs Clinton Slanker; David Varner, a Confederate soldier killed in war; Mary Varner, afterwards Mrs Robert Wilson, and lived near Lexington, Virginia. John Varner and Samuel Varner, at Linwood; Susan Varner, now Mrs William Snyder, in Iowa; William Varner, at Old Field Branch; Alice Varner became Mrs John Stewart, near Valley Head, Randolph; Jennie Varner was married to Hamilton Snyder and located in Taylor County, Iowa; Benjamin Varner married Ella Moore, of Knapp's Creek, lived a while on the Split Rock homestead, and finally moved to Iowa, where he now resides.

Elizabeth Hannah, daughter of David Hannah, junior, was married to Marinus J. Van Reenan, and settled in Iowa. Mr Van Reenan was a native of Holland. His father's family was attached to a band of Holland emigrants who were induced to colonize on Laurel Run, in 1842, by the Rev John Schemerhorn, of New York. The Highlands of Pocahontas were not congenial to persons from a populous Holland city in the Netherlands, and after grievous privations the colony disbanded. Some went west, others remained in Pocahontas and are excellent people. The Stultings came in this band also. The names of Elizabeth Van Reenan's children are David, Robert, and Mary.

John Burnsides Hannah, son of David Hannah, junior, the subject of this biographic sketch, married Margaret McClure and located on part of the "Old Field" homestead where he now lives. The following particulars are given in reference to their children: Mary is now Mrs John Beverage, near Clover Lick; Samuel David married Amanda Moore and settled on the Hogsett place; Wallace died while young; William Boude Hannah, late of Frost, whose wife was Miss Birdie Dilley; John Ellis Hannah married Malinda Catherine Sharp, and settled on the homestead; Nancy was married to Fletcher Dilley, and lives near West Union; Ivie Viola, Edgar Russell, and Lena Mary died while young.

David Hannah, the third of the ancestral name, was first married to Rebecca Moore, daughter of the late Isaac Moore, Esq., of Edray; second marriage to Miss Margaret Jane McClure, daughter of Arthur McClure, lower Pocahontas, and settled in Iowa, thence moved to Missouri. The names of his children were James, Joseph, Mary, Margaret, and Julia.

Robert Hannah, of David Hannah the pioneer, married Jennie Burk and settled in Iowa. John is the name of the only one of his children known to the writer.

William Hannah, one of the twins born to Mr and Mrs David Hannah of pioneer memory, mar. Catherine Rhineheart, of Randolph County, and settled on Pine Flat, head of Swago. William's family were three sons and a daughter. His son James married Maggie Auldridge, a daughter of Thomas Auldridge, and lives near the head of Dry Creek. Eugenius married Jennie Kellison and lives near Poage's lane. Margaret is Mrs Kenny Kinnison, on Swago. Burleigh married Miss Lula Perry on the Greenbrier.

Joseph Hannah, the other twin son of the pioneer, married Elizabeth Cool, daughter of Mr and Mrs John Cool, of Webster County, and lives in that county.

The foregoing particulars illustrating the family history of David Hannah, senior, have been largely gathered from the reminiscences of his son, John B. Hannah, Esq., and the compiler would hereby make grateful mention of the important assistance given.

The writer remembers the personality of the venerable pioneer very vividly. In early youth I saw him frequently, and he was very interesting to me from the fact Mr Hanna had been off to the war of 1812. To me an old soldier seemed more than human. He had an interesting way of relating his adventures, and was fond of talking about the war, He was at his best when telling how he felt when aroused one morning before day to get ready for an attack as the British were reported as coming. He arose and put on his accoutrements quickly as possible and took his place in the ranks and moved off to fight. His hat kept falling off as he marched until it became so troublesome that he was determined to find out the reason why it would not stay on his head. It had never been so hard to keep on before because it was a good fit. When the troops halted he examined his head and found the hairs were all on end stiff as bristles and were pushing the hat off fast as he had put it on. The hair kept stiff until the order was given to return to camp, when it all became limber enough then and the hat was no more trouble. He found out afterwards that the whole affair was a make believe scheme to try the new soldiers to find out how they would conduct themselves when ordered into battle. This was near Norfolk.

The story, however, he seemed the most fond of telling was about his experience in the hospital tent. Before his term of service had expired he was prostrated by fever and given up as a critical case, and very strict orders were given not to let him have a drop of anything cool to drink. He noticed that there were whiskey and water on the table for the nurse's use and he determined to have some at all hazards. The attendant came to him and found the young soldier so weak and stupid that he seemed to know nothing, and was unable to lift even his hand.

So the hospital man thought there would be no risk to run were he to leave the bottle and pitcher on the table while he would step out and get some fresh air, Soon as his back was turned the sick soldier crawled to the table, mixed the liquor and water, and drank till he could drink no more, and crawled back to his bunk, and when the nurse returned he was surprised to find his patient apparently asleep and the skin showing a tendency to moisture. Finally the sweat broke, and when he had possumed long enough he opened his eyes when the doctor came to look at him, and he seemed greatly pleased with the change in the patient's condition.

"You were mighty near gone, old fellow, and if we had not kept cold water away from you where would you be now?"

The soldier kept his secret, and as he was beginning to get stronger the liquor was kept out of sight, He thought he would have mended much more rapidly if things had been left on the table as before.

The old soldier worked hard in building up his home, and the privations he and his family had to endure would seem unbearable now He was kind and hospitable to a fault, ready to share the last he had with the visitor that might desire shelter and food. He was much esteemed by all of his acquaintances.

Finally the end came. One of the prettiest places near his home was selected and they placed him to sleep under the green sod that his own hands had helped to clear away.

W. T. P.

CORRESPONDENCE.

The open letter that appeared in The Times two or three weeks since has attracted considerable attention. It has awakened inquiry in reference to the question whether it is worth while for "the wicked" to pray. To our great surprise we learn that it is a very prevalent opinion that the 'prayers of the wicked availeth' nothing, and for that reason numbers of people abstain from prayer themselves and rely upon the prayers of others, "the righteous," for such divine influence to be communicated to them as will make it worth while to try to pray for themselves.

We can see some show of reason why such a view should be so common, but will not mention it now. The columns of this journal is not the proper place for such a discussion as a statement of the reason would occasion; hence it is we wish all reference to the open letter to close with this article. We lay before our readers the following judicious and timely observations offered by the Rev Moses May, a venerable minister of the M. P. church:

"I wish to say this to the writer of the "open letter" that he has my most sincere sympathy and earnest prayers. It is true the Apostle James says: "The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much," (James v. 16) but nowhere is it said in the Bible that 'the prayer of the wicked availeth nothing.' The Pharisees said: 'We know that God heareth not sinners'—John ix 31, but such are not good authority for those who have confidence in Christ or wish to be Christians. There is a difference between impenitent and penitent sinners. God is ready for Christ's sake to hear the prayers of all truly penitent sinners for pardon of their sins and peace.

"Our friend should not be so despondent, for there is no real reason for anything of the kind. The Publican prayed 'God be merciful to me a sinner,' and went down to his house justified rather than the other who had such a happy good opinion of himself. This man confessed his sins to God and God heard him, therefore it is false that God heareth not penitent sinners, The dying thief was a great sinner, Christ heard him and saved him at once, not hesitating a moment in this case; neither will he in any case when the sinner is sincerely penitent. Dear brother, pray for yourself earnestly and often and it will not be long until you will be able to bear your troubles with a degree of patience and resignation that will surprise you."

A Hatfield Tragedy.

James Felts killed Caleb Hatfield and Joe Mallard in Mingo County last week. The account of affray is given as follows:

The double killing took place at Chaud's Gap, which is about ten miles away from here, and is on a ridge of the Cumberland Mountain, just across the West Virginia line. All three of the men engaged in the tragedy were young and there had never been any open antagonism between them. They met at Pineville on Sunday and had a 'good time' drinking. They left there in the afternoon and rode on their mules over the mountrins to Chaud's Gap. It was getting late then, and, as they had plenty of moonshine whiskey with them and several packs of cards, Mallard proposed that they camp for the night and have a game.

The others, assented, and, building a campfire, they began to enjoy themselves. They played and drank all night, and tho luck had gone first one way and then another it finally settled against Felts. By morning Hatfield and Mallard had all of his money. They were very drunk, and when Felts had lost his last dollar he was desperate, He put up his saddle and bridle and lost them. Then he staked his mule against $10, and that went too.

'It hain't in a Felts to git the best er a Hatfield," sneered Caleb as he raked in the last chips.

'Naw; you bet they cain't,' assented Mallard. 'Yer uncle Cap showed Jim's uncle that 'onct, didn't he?'

Cap Hatfield had killed Jim's uncle in a card game and Jim resented the reference.

'Mebbe Cap Hatfield did,' he snapped, 'but it's more'n any of his family kin do.'

Caleb laughed in a drunken fashion and declared that he guessed he could do as much as his 'uncle Cap.' Felts paid no attention, and Mallard helped along the quarrel with a slap on Felt's face. Felts struck at him and then Mallard threw the contents of a half-empty jug of whiskey in Felts' face and told him to get out of the way.

'I'll put you out of the way Joe,' the young fellow yelled, and he drew his revolver. Before he could pull trigger young Hatfield had drawn a knife and was coming at him with death in his looks. Felts turned and ran behind a tree, beginning to fire as he fled. He dropped Hatfield at the first shot with a bullet in his leg and then put another ball through Hatfields heart.

Meantime Mallard had drawn his revolver and was trying to fire when Felts dropped him from cover and finished the tragedy by emptying every remaining bullet into his body.

Felts surrendered, and as there were no witnesses his story will probably go.

Causalties in Greenbrier.

From the Ronceverte News of last week we learn of the following accidents:

R. H. Boone, of Irish Corner, had three horses killed by lightning on August 10.

Milton Brown was bitten by a copperhead at the spoke and wheel factory, Ronceverte. He was struck on the finger. The wound was washed out, a chicken cut open and placed on it, stimulants administered, and a ligature placed to retard swelling. and no ill effects were experienced.

James Grove, an Englishman, coachman for Mr A. D. Bruce, of White Sulphur Springs, was killed in a runaway accident at the Springs. The horse became frightened at a perambulator and ran away. Deceased was 34 years old, and leaves a wife and three children in England.

Captain John Peters found two men, C. J. Shumaker and W. L. Shumaker lying between the tracks on the C. & O. at Ronceverte. One was dead and the other was seriously wounded. The men were brothers, aged 20 and 26 years, and lived near Alleghany Station. They had been riding on a freight train and probably jumped or were thrown from it.

W. T. Patterson, a former logger in the employ of the St. Lawrence Company, was shot and killed at Cumberland Gap, Tennessee, by W. C. Clark, son of the proprietor of Clark's Circus. Patterson was trying to force his way into the tent when he was killed. After leaving West Virginia Patterson changed his name to William Miller and was the main prosecuting witness in the Kentucky Colson murder case just ended.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy always affords prompt relief. For sale by druggists.

Bubbles or Medals.

"Best sarsaparillas." When you think of it how contradictory that term is. For there can be only one best in anything—one best sarsaparilla, as there is one highest mountain, one longest river, one deepest ocean. And that best sarsaparilla is——?.... There's the rub! You can measure mountain height and ocean depth, but how test sarsaparilla? You could if you were chemists. But then do you need to test it? The World's Fair Committee tested it,—and thoroughly. They went behind the label on the bottle. What did this sarsaparilla test result in? Every make of sarsaparilla shut out of the Fair, except Ayer's. So it was that Ayer's was the only sarsaparilla admitted to the World's Fair. The committee found it the best. They had no room for anything that was not the best. And as the best, Ayer's Sarsaparilla received the medal and awards due its merits. Remember the word "best" is a bubble any breath can blow; but there are pins to prick such bubbles. Those others are blowing more "best sarsaparilla" bubbles since the World's Fair pricked the old ones. True, but Ayer's Sarsaparilla has the medal. The pin that scratches the medal proves it gold. The pin that pricks the bubble proves it wind. We point to medals, not bubbles, when we say: The best sarsaparilla is Ayer's.

Resolutions Submitted by the Pocahontas County Institute.

Resolved 1st—That we heartily endorse the action of our School Book Board in the selection of the books adopted.

2d—That we denounce the compulsory school law as passed by our recent Legislature as as a miserable makeshift, and cannot possibly accomplish that for which it was intended.

3d—That the Legislature enact a law making the minimum salary of teachers not less than $30, $25, and $20 respectively.

4th—That we favor a law allowing trustees some remuneration for their services as public officers.

5th—That the Boards of Education have the school lots fenced and the houses painted.

6th—That we heartily endorse the stand taken by Prof. J. T. Rucker against intemperance and kindred vices.

7th—Whereas it has pleased the Almighty God, in His wisdom, to remove from our midst our beloved fellow teacher, Miss McQuaide Beard, Resolved that we tender our heart felt sompathies to the bereaved family.

8th—That we recognize in Professors Rucker and Lowe thorough, practical and efficient instructors, and respectfully ask our worthy State Superintendant to return them again next year.

9th—That we extend a vote of thanks to the County Court for the use of the Court-house in which to hold the Institute.

10th—That the thanks of this Institute are due, and are hereby tendered, to the people of Marlinton for their kindness in assisting us in our evening exercises, and also for their hospitality.

11th—That we recognize in Professor D. L. Barlow an able and efficient County Superintendant, and that we extend to him our sincere thanks for his kindness and interest manifested in the cause of Education.

12th—That we favor raising the teachers fund by State taxation and the building fund by local taxation.

13th—Uhat a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Pocahontas Times and the West Virginia School Journal

C. B. GRIMES.
M. G. MATHEWS,
WM. R. SUTTON,
T. A. BRUFEEY,
JOHN S. MOORE,
JOHN B. GRIMES,
MISSES RELLA F. CLARK,
ALLIE BAXTER,
BESSIE PATTERSON,
LILLIE FRIEL,
SULA BURNER,
ANNETTE LIGON, Committee.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube, When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and billiousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

A Remarkable Case of Chronic Diarrhoœa.

In 1862, when I served my country as a private in Company A, 167th Pennsylvania Volunteers, I contacted chronic diarrhoea. It has given me a great deal of trouble ever since. I have tried a dozen different medicines and several prominet doctors without any permanent relief. Not long ago a friend sent me a sample bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after that I bought and took a 50 cent bottle; and now I can say that I am entirely cured. I cannot be thankful enough to you for this great Remedy, and recommend it to all suffering veterans. If in doubt write me. Yours gratefully, HENRY STEINBERGER, Allentown, Pa. Sold by druggists.

In the Atlantic Monthly of this month Mr John Muir, who made known to the world the great glacier in Alaska which now bears his name, begins a discussion of "The American Forests" in these words: "The forests of America, however slighted by man, must have been a great delight to God; for they were the best He ever planted. The whole continent was a garden, and from the beginning it seemed to be favored above all the other wild parks and gardens of the globe." He goes on to describe the preparation made for the trees, and the planting of the groves with five hundred species of trees, "all of them in some way useful for man, ranging in size for twenty-five feet in height and less than one foot in diameter at the ground to four hundred in height and more than twenty feet in diameter—lordly monarchs proclaiming the gospel of beauty like apostles." He tells how these magnificent forests have been ruthlessly destroyed, "and the smoke of their burning has risen to heaven more than two hundred years." He proclaims to those who have ears to hear that every other civilized nation has been compelled to protect its forests and arrays unanswerable reasons for preserving a large portion of those remaing within our boundaries—"to save them from fools.

IT is always gratifying to receive testimonials for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and when the endorsement is from a physician it is especially so. "There is no more satisfactory or effective remedy than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes Dr R. E. Rodey, physician and pharmacist, of Olney Mo.; and as he has used the Remedy in his own family and sold it in his drug store for six years, he should certainly know. For sale by druggists.

THERE is no occasion for alarm. The last legislature did not abolish the jurisdiction of the circuit courts by making a clerical error and referring to Section 2 of chapter 112 of the code. The preface of the act explains in such a way that no person could be deceived. The mistake was apparent on the face of the act.

A MAN in Kansas brings suit for divorce for the reason that his wife had drunk thirty gallons of wine which he had stored in his cellar for his own consumption.

THE grisley, discolored, and uncouth beard can be made to appear inviting by Buckingham's Dye, which colors an even brown or black; may be applied at home.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

To Cure Constipation Forever.

Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 15, NO. 6 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, SEPTEMBER 3, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 11.—Polished Solid Oak 5-Drawer Chiffonier, 53 inches high, 30½ inches long, 18 inches deep. It is well constructed and has good locks on each drawer. Special price, (Orders promptly filled).

$3.39

Our success is not accidental. It is the reward of 48 years of honorable business. Our experience in the Furniture and Carpet business is yours for the asking. Our immense illustrated catalogue of Furniture, Oil Cloths, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Bedding, Springs, Steel Beds, etc., is free to all who write for it, and we pay all postage. If you ask your local dealers' advice you will not send for our catalogue, as he will lose a customer. If you consult your pocket-book and want double value for your dollars, you will deal with the manufacturers. Send your name on a postal now.

Julius Hines & Son
BALTIMORE, MD.

GOOD SALARIES!
LIFE POSITIONS
IN UNCLE SAM'S SERVICE

are within the reach of all; male and female. Now is the time to prepare yourself and get in line. Full information relating to Government positions and how to obtain them, salaries paid, scope and dates of examinations, &c., &c., given cheerfully by the NATIONAL CIVIL SERVICE INSTITUTE, 142 N. Y. Avenue, Washington, D. C.

YOUR FORTUNE

is your health. Your happiness is your strength. Keep the Head and Throat clear and healthy and your mind and brain is always at rest and ease. CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER is the greatest relief to mankind in all head troubles. CURES COLDS, SORE THROAT, CATARRH. That awful odor of Catarrh disappears by its use. Wonderful in Hay Fever and Asthma. ☞ BUY ONLY CUSHMAN'S. If you can't get it at Druggists send for it. By mail, 50 cents. Send for Book on Menthol, free. CUSHMAN DRUG CO., VINCENNES, IND., U. S. A.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATT'Y. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

Mr William Edmiston, in whose memory this biographic paper has been prepared, was one of the early settlers of the lower Levels. He seems to have been born and reared in upper Greenbrier, near Falling Spring, and his ancestry came from Augusta County. He was evidently of English descent; tho his ancestry was from the north of Ireland and called Scotch-Irish and known as such among the Greenbrier pioneers.

His wife was Rebecca Walkup, from the Falling Spring vicinity, where there are families of the name now residing. She was a sister of the late John Walkup, of Falling Spring, a greatly respected citizen and exemplary Christian man. One of her sisters was the wife of Samuel Beard, who was in his day a person greatly esteemed for his elevated manly character. Samuel Beard was a brother of the late Josiah Beard, and his home was in Renick's Valley.

Upon his marriage with Rebecca Walkup Mr Edmiston settled a few miles south of Hillsboro, on lands now adjoining the farm known as the Pocahontas County Infirmary, which lands are now in the possession of Mr F. A. Renick and others. Their family consisted of one son, James Edmiston, and four daughters Rebecca, Jennie, Mattie, and Margaret.

James Edmiston married Miss Margaret Woods, of Nicholas county. He settled on Cook's Dry Run at "The Sinks," which is now known as the Peter Clark Place. The names of James Edmiston's children known to the writer were Samuel, William, Christopher, and Rebecca. This daughter Rebecca became the wife of Jackson Edmiston, son of Andrew Edmiston, a brother of William Edmiston.

Early in the forties James Edmiston sold his possessions to the late Addrew Johnson, and migrated to Iowa, where many of his descendants now live.

Rebecca Edmiston, daughter of William Edmiston, became the second wife of Jonathan Jordan, son of the pioneer merchant.

Jennie Edmiston was married to Isaac Hill, son of the venerated Richard Hill, the pioneer. The names of her children were William, Richard, Nancy, and Rebecca. Upon Mr Hill's decease she and her family removed to the State of Iowa.

Martha Edmiston married Geo. Hill, the youngest son of Richard Hill the pioneer, and settled on Hill's Creek and spent her life there. Her son Franklin Hill is in Putnam County, West Virginia. Isaac Hill now lives on Bruffey's Creek. Her daughter was married to John Bruffey, Junior, and settled in Jackson County.

Margaret Edmiston, the fourth daughter of William Edmiston, was married to George McCoy, moved to Cedar County, Iowa, and were among the first settlers of their vicinity and grew up with the development of that renowned county. William McCoy, their son, could not forget the girl he left behind, but returned to Pocahontas and married Elizabeth Grimes, daughter of the late Hon John Grimes.

These few particulars illustrating something of the family history of these good people have been laid before our readers with the assistance of the late Mrs Nancy Callison and the venerable James McCollam. The writer has some remembrance of these persons personally, but not very distinct as to any important impressions.

Mr Edmiston and the late Samuel Davies Poage were congenial friends and attached Christian brethren, tho of different persuasions and rather strenuous in their respective doctrinal views. This indicated that their hearts were imbued with a pious fervor that got the better of their mere intellectual doctrinal notions. They agreed to disagree, and not mar their Christian fellowship with vain wrangling about their respective creeds and formalities.

Mr Edmiston's piety was of the highly emotional, demonstrative type, and for years his emotions seemed to be the first to kindle and burn with the holy fervor that makes religious exercises so interesting to many persons. His Christian character was above reproach and all regarded him as sincere. He was looked up to as a model Christian, and had it not been for the somewhat counteracting influence exerted by Nathaniel Kinnison, a silent, calm Israelite indeed, in whom there was no guile, the impression might have been no one could expect to be a model Christian like Mr Edmiston without his zeal and demonstrative fervor.

Such might have been the impression, but when the characters of Nathaniel Kinnison and Davies Poage were considered the impression prevailed there were different ways in which people could be warm-hearted, genuine Christians, and so there was mutual respect and lovely Christian fellowship.

For many years Mr Edmiston was a pillar in the M. E. Church, and the secret of his influence was his lovely Christian deportment. Nathaniel Kinnison was also a pillar in the M. E. Church, but his piety was that developed in the calm retreat, the silent shade, that seemed to him by God's bounty made for those who worship God, so suitable for personal prayer and praise to the unseen tho ever present one.

When far advanced in life, Mr Edmiston vacated his old pleasant home amid the gently rolling lands pleasant groves and fruitful orchards for a home on Hill's Creek, and his last days were spent amid the inviting scenes that surround the place where Daniel Peck now lives.

The writer feels grateful that he ever knew this good old man even to a slight extent, and may the time never come when the presence of persons of like Christian fervor, generous, liberal, fraternal impulses cease to exist; for should such a dire calamity befall the county then envy, strife, confusion and many evil works will be tolerated,—all in the name too and for the sake of religion.

As I write I seem to see and hear William Edmiston as he appeared more than fifty years ago in prayer-meetings at Colonel John Hill's or Nattie Kinnison's singing as he only could sing:

"Blest be the tie that binds
Our hearts in Christian love,
The fellowship of kindred minds
Is like to that above.

"Before our Father's throne
We pour our ardent prayers,
Our fears, our hopes, our aims are one,
Our comforts, and our cares.

"This glorious hope revives
Our courage by the way;
While each in expectation lives,
And longs to see the day.

"From sorrow, toil, and pain
And sin we shall be free;
And perfect love and friendship reign
Through all eternity."

Whoever writes fifty years hence about the people now living may it be his privilege to write about many persons who loved Christ most of all and their neighbors as themselves, as William Edmiston had the reputation of doing.

W. T. P.

"Sy-faxing with his Ju-spicy."

In the West when a young man gallivants around the country with his sweetheart the people call it "sy-faxing." It is therefore no uncommon sight to see a nice young man sy-faxing with his ju-spicy.

JOHN and Henry Webber, who had been separated forty years, during which they had exchanged letters once, met by accident in a grocer shop at Presque Isle, Me. John lives in Maine and Henry in Idaho. Henry had come East to see what changes had been made in his absence.

ONE of Caribou's bright four-year-old girls, in answer to the question, surprised and amused her hearers. The conversation among the older people was in relation to heaven, and some one asked the little miss if she did not want to go to heaven when she died? The young girl turned, looked at her father, and said: "No! I don't I don't want to go to heaven. I want to go where papa goes."—Kennebeck Journal.

CONFEDERATE DOCUMENTS.

Minutes Moffett Poage Camp.

At a called meeting of Moffett Poage Camp No 949 U. C. V., held at the court-house at Marlinton on August 14, 1897, Camp was called to order by H. A. Yeager, Commander, and minutes of last meeting read and approved.

Committee on By Laws reported and asked an extension of time which was granted until next meeting.

Committee on History made a partial report, and were instructed to continue their work and report to future meetings of the camp.

E. D. King, late a member of of 47th Cavalry Battallion (Mosby's), was admitted as a member of this camp.

Comrade George M. Kee tendered his resignation as adjutant of the camp, he having been appointed adjutant of the First Brigade West Virginia Veterans, which said resignation was accepted, and comrade E. D. King was elected adjutant of this camp in his stead.

The question as to what action this camp will take in regard to the reunion proposed by others, (a notice of which was published in June, 1897), the camp decided to assist and do every thing in its power to facilitate the movement under the direction of the county organization; and there being a number of visiting comrades from other sections of the county present, on motion the proceedings of the camp were closed and the comrades present resolved themselves into a county meeting with H. A. Yeager as chairman and George M. Kee secretary.

On motion it was unanimously decided to hold a reunion, and Thursday, September 30, 1997, was agreed upon as the day.

Executive Committee.

H. A. Yeager, Chairman.
Levi Gay.
G. W. Siple,
C. L. Moore,
M. J. McNeel,
A. C. L. Gatewood.

This committee shall have general oversight of preparations for the reunion.

Committee on Location, Etc.

E. D. King, Chairman.
Thomas Criser,
Thomas Courtney,
G. H. McLaughlin,
J. H. Patterson,
George M. Kee.

This committee's duties shall be to select the grounds at Marlinton and prepare the same for speakers and audience.

Committee on Finance.

W. H. Auldridge, Chairman
Levi Waugh,
H. P. McLaughlin,
W. H. Grose,
S. B. Hannah,
C. B. Swecker.

The committee on location and grounds was authorized to provide lemonade stands, cigars, confections, etc., to be sold on the grounds, the proceeds to be applied toward defraying the expenses of the reunion; and all other persons are requested not to erect stands or expose such articles for sale on or near the grounds.

Colonel A. C. L. Gatewood was directed to secure a suitable number of flags to be disposed of on grounds for the same purpose.

On motion the committee on arrangements, heretofore published, is continued, whose duty it shall be to arrange for supplies and have the management of dinner on the grounds, which shall be free to all persons in attendance on that day, and the executive committee are directed to select a committee of three ladies from each district to assist the committee on arrangements,—their names to be sent in to the chairman of the executive committee in time for publication.

It is ordered that the executive committee shall meet at the call of their chairman to arrange for speakers and to prepare a suitable program which shall be published hereafter.

On motion, the meeting adjourned.

H. A. YEAGER, Commander.
GEORGE M. KEE, Secretary.

Circular.

Headquarters West Virginia Division United Confederate Veterans.

Comrades:—A third of a century has passed since the war was ended. The history of the Commands, which were in the Confederate Army from the territory now West Virginia, remains yet to be faithfully and truthfully told.

Our dead, many of whom fell in battle, others who died prisons, still lie, scattered, where first interred, in now almost forgotten graves.

The United Confederate Veterans must build their grand Memorial Hall and Temple.

In a few short years, all who now survive, will have passed away. Our present duty is sacred—we must "be up and at" work. "The night cometh when no man can work."

1. New camps should be formed throughout the State as rapidly as possible. Fifteen or more old soldiers can form a Camp. For information address General George Moorman, No. 824, Common St., New Orleans, La., or these Headquarters.

2. Each Camp is urged to see that not only the history of the respective commands to which its members may have been attached, but the history of each soldier who to the war from the County in which the camp is located, be speedily written or printed, and copies furnished to these Headquarters for proper use in the publication of general history. Camps should be called together, committees appointed and means odopted to carry speedily forward this great work.

3. Our scattered dead should be gathered by the living into well cared for grounds, and memorial stones stones should mark their graves.

4. The graves of our heroic dead whether near our homes, or around some former prison house, should never be forgotten, and on Memorial Day, flowers, "sweet emblems of a glorified humanity," should be gently laid upon them.

5. The grand Memorial Temple of our Southland, its "Battle Abbey," should be aided by every means within our power.

Over twenty-two hundred of our died lie buried at Camp Chase, Ohio. Large numbers died at other prisons. There are thousands of graves within our State. In Pocahontas County alone there are, as I am informed, perhaps fifteen hundred, who were killed in battle or died of disease, in scattered graves. I mention these facts as an incentive to action.

To the performance of the patriotic duties thus outlined I most earnestly invite your attention and ask your heartfelt cooperation.

Commanders of Camps will make the subject of this circular letter known.

Ladies throughout the State, whose sympathies we have, are earnestly asked to lend their aid.

Newspapers can do much good service by giving notice of our objeccts and purposes.

ROBERT WHITE,
Maj. Gen'l. Div.
A. C. L. Gatewood,
Adj. Gen'l. and Chief of Staff.

A Bee Hunt.

An Australian savage comes up to an Irishman's idea of human skill, for he "bates the bees." A native seldom fails to get honey when he discovers the bee he has been watching for. The following description of a native's bee hunt is given in Mr Arthur's "Kangaroo and Kauri."

Warruyallah, the chief of a tribe went with two small nets to a small pool, filled his mouth with water, and then lying down, his head hanging over the pool, he remained quiet for an hour, apparently studying his own reflection in the water. Then the hum of a bee was heard. Buzz-z-z it went over the pool, round the black's head, now on one side, now on the other, now close to his ear, but not a motion betrayed the bee hunter.

But when the bee, dropping close to the water, gave notice by its change of tune that it was about to sip, the chief, with a snort, squirted the water from his mouth over the little "buzzer." Before it had time to recover from its unexpected douche he seized it dextrously by the wings.

Then he prepared it for the chase by fastening to it a bunch of wild cotton with some gum. The bee was let go. It made for the hive, slowly at first, on account of its novel burden, which impeded its progress and showed a sign in air for the chief to follow. Over bramble and brake went the chief accompanied by the men of his tribe, and in half an hour halted at the foot of an immense gum tree, into whose top the bee had gone.

The chief mounted quickly, cutting notches into the bark by his stone tomahawk. In a short time he brought down a quantity of honey-comb a small part only of which contained honey. The Australian bees are stingless.

The Blue and the Gray.

Both men and women are apt to feel a little blue, when the gray hairs begin to show. It's a very natural feeling. In the normal condition of things gray hairs belong to advanced age. They have no business whitening the head of man or woman, who has not begun to go down the slope of life. As a matter of fact, the hair turns gray regardless of age, or of life's seasons; sometimes it is whitened by sickness, but more often from lack of care. When the hair fades or turns gray there's no need to resort to hair dyes. The normal color of the hair is restored and retained by the use of

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

Ayer's Curebook, "a story of cures told by the cured." 100 pages, free. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

The Duke of Wellington at Home.

In Dean Hole's "Memories" are related several anecdotes of the Duke of Wellington, the first of which shows that he had the modesty common among great men that is unconscious of its own greatness.

He met a lady who was going up the steps to see the model of Waterloo, and remarked to her:

"Ah, you're going to see Waterloo. It's very good—I was there you know."

A bishop was once preaching in the Chapel Royal of St. James, when he was much perplexed by the conduct of the verger, who at the close of the sermon opened the door of the pulpit and suddenly closed it with all his force, so that the noise rang thro the building.

"He informed in a whisper," reports the bishop, "that his Grace the Duke of Wellington was asleep and that, not liking to touch him, they adopted this method of arousing him from his slumbers." This ingenious simulation of a bombardment never failed to stir the old warrior.

Wellington left behind him three memorial sentences. "Education without religion would surround us with clever devils." To a verger who pushed aside a poor man who was going up before him to the alter, with the words, "Make way for his Grace the Duke of Wellington," he said, "Not so; we are all equal here." And when a young clergyman was speaking in disparagement of foreign missions, he rebuked him with:

"Sir, you forget your marching orders, 'Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature."

THE following from The Pacific may act as a deterrent to some infected with the Klondyke gold craze: In his "Story of the Mine" Mr C. H. Shinn says the site of what in later years has been known as the "Big Bonanza" was once in the undisputed possession of four men. Two were the original discoverers of the mine, and the other two were admitted as partners because they had a prior claim to a spring which furnished the only available water to wash the gold. At first the pans of surface dirt yielded on an average from $40 to $50 apiece. Underneath was the great quartz lode which, during one later period of five years, yielded $105,000,000. Mr Shinn says of one of the four what has been true of thousands grasping for money: "Comstock was wildly avericious when mining, and as wildly extravagant with his gold when obtained. He bought whatever took his fancy, and gave it away the next minute. His only pleasure seemed to be in spending money, and most of his comrades were very much like him in this respect." Penrod, who held the title to the spring, "sold his claim in the mine for $8,500 toward the close of the year, and soon spent all his money." Comstock, the bombastic boss of the camp, "two months after the ledge was struck sold all his interest for $11,500. He lost every dollar he had, wandered off on lone prospecting tours in Nevada and the Rockies, and finally committed suicide in Montana." "McLaughlin, one of the original discoverers, sold for $3,500, and a few years later was cooking for a gang of men for forty dollars a month. He died a pauper, and was buried at public expense." O'Riley, the other discoverer, "hung on longer than than anyone else, and sold his claim for $40,000. This he spent in stock speculation, and finally died in an insane asylum." With all it was a fascination to get something to spend, and in the getting and the spending they bartered body, intellect, character and soul; and, before what might have been their allotted time, they went into eternity, bankrupt.

Fair Inez.

Oh, saw ye not fair Inez?
She got upon a bike,
And folks that saw her start declare
They ne'er beheld the like;
She wore a pair of bloomers,
A dickey and a vest;
The neighbors held the wheel for her—
Fair Inez did the rest.

And with the lovely Inez
A gallant cavalier
Rode down the 'pike to teach her
To peddle and to steer;
He whispered airy nothings,
He boldly scouted fear,
Until he struck a jagged rock
And landed on his ear.

I saw the lovely Inez
Descend upon the shore,
And there was dust all over
The bloomers that she wore!
Upon her face she landed,
She's beautiful no more—
I'll wager such a mixed-up mess
Was never seen before.

Alas! alas! for Inez,
She went away with song:
With ribbons on her handle bars,
And shoutings of the throng!
She came back all disordered,
Nor brought her wheel along—
The doctor says 'twill be a month
Be fore she's well and strong.

[—Cleveland Leader.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY.

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of CATARRH that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886. A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

"My boy came home from school one day with his hand badly lacerated and bleeding, and suffering great pain," says Mr E. J. Schall, with Meyer Bros.' Drug Co., St. Louis, Mo. "I dressed the wound, and applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely. All pain ceased, and in a remarkably short time it healed without leaving a scar. For wounds, sprains, swellings and rheumatism I knew of no medicine or perscription equal to it. I consider it a household necessity." The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by all druggists.

HENRY LAUMAN of Baltimore shot at a black-snake while hunting in the Blue Ridge mountains near Buena Vista, and missing it ran away. The snake pursued him. He tripped on a vine and fell. The snake coiled around his his body and was squeezing him when a woodshopper rescued him and killed the snake. It was six feet seven inches long.

A Cure for Bilious Colic.

RESOURCE, GA.—I have been subject to attacks of bilious colic for several years. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is the only sure relief. It acts like a charm. One dose of it gives relief when all other remedies fail. —G. D. SHARP. For sale by druggists.

A MAINE farmer grubs stumps by building a fence around them, poking some wheat under them in holes made by a crowbar, and then turning two hungry hogs loose in the enclosure. The hogs root for the wheat and break up the dirt so that the stumps may be dragged out easily.

THE assertion that some day man will be a hairless animal is scorned by scientists. Already Hall's Hair Renewer is accomplishing wonders in averting baldness.

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, Sept. 3, 1897.

Entered at the post-office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and first Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, and the fourth Tuesday of June and September—June is levy.

FROM a private letter we learn that an earthquake shock was felt in Giles County last Friday.

THE Eastham murder case from Tucker County will come up before the Supreme Court at Charlestown, September 2. Judge Dent, on motion of Colonel McGraw, issued a writ of habeas corpus. The regular grand jurors of Tucker County have refused to make an indictment against Eastham for felony, and an indictment for murder was only secured by summoning a special grand jury.

THE Mayoralty of Mew York is being looked after by men both high and low. It seems to be all the field for good government against Tammany Hall. The good government has had a try at governing the city for some time, and it immediately followed the infernal bad government of Tammany Hall. Why should they fear that the people might choose bad government with their recent experience.

THE Greenbrier District Conference of the M. E. Church held its annual session at Edray last week. The other meetings at this church were about twenty years ago at Hamlin Chapel and in 1887 at the present church. This conference is one of the four forming the Virginia Conferance and comprises the Counties of Rockingham, Augusta, Highland, Bath, Alleghany, Monroe, Summers, Greenbrier, Pocahontas, Pendleton and Hardy. The sermons were greatly appreciated by the hearers and the business of the conference was of a very interesting nature to anyone interested in workings of judicial assemblies. The next session will be in Pendleton County.

CONGRESSMAN DORR must like the McDowell Recorder. It seems that Mr Dorr was accused of ungentlemanly conduct on a train, and the matter had been dropped, as libels on public men are not uncommon. It had never been aired in the filthy newspapers. Then comes the Recorder and publishes the whole affair under the guise of a friend wishing to explain, and the public got the whole affair. The Recorder is a Republican paper, and one of the kind of friends that Mr Dorr may well pray to be saved from. Mr Dorr's friends see now that the Democratic press has got a chance at him thro the McDowell paper, that this Republican paper has the whole blame of the publicity resting upon it. The Charleston Gazette has been saying mean things. The Fayette Republican, Dorr's staunchest advocate, is of the opinion that the Recorder is antagonistic to Dorr. Long live hipocrisy!

SEVEN prisoners broke jail at Welch, McDowell County, last week, by breaking the bars of their cell and digging through a brick wall. Among the number was Seymour Gray, who was under sentence of death, to be hanged September 2 for murder, and Sam Gossip, who killed a policeman at Keystone, August 21. Within the last month or two, prisoners have broken jail in the following counties that the writer calls to mind: Pocahontas, Fayette, Summers, Wood, McDowell, Ritchie, Mingo, and Webster. Victor Hugo had the following passage for the prisoner who escaped:

 "Had he, illumined by that frightful thirst for liberty which changes precipices into moats, iron bars into reeds, a cripple into an athlete, a gouty patient into a bird, stupidity into instinct, instinct intellect, and intellect into genius invented and improvised this mode of escape? No one ever knew. It is not always possible to explain marvels of an escape; the man who breaks prison, we repeat, inspired. there is a flash in the mysterious light of the flight; the effort made for deliverance is no less surprise than the soaring toward the sublime."

THE MARLINTON REUNION.

The Confederate reunion to be held at Marlinton, September 30, will bring more people to this place than ever assembled on one spot in Pocahontas before. Not less than 5,000 people is the most conservative estimate. Confederate soldiers are coming from Bath, Highland, Greenbrier, Randolph, and all the counties near. There will be three brass bands—from Monterey, Warm Springs, and Academy. The clans will gather as they did in Scotland to the call of Roderick Dhu, and the evening before the reunion the hospitable people of Pocahontas will entertain a host of visiting friends. The next day the crowds will converge towards the town of Marlinton and there assemble in procession and march to the assembly grounds, where the patriotic utterances of the orators will delight old and young, the blue and the gay.

The Pocahontas families will bring hampers filled with good things to eat as only Pocahontas know how to fill them, and there will be abundance for every visitor of the reunion and every stranger within our gates.

One of the great features of the parade will be the horseback procession of pretty girls and their gentlemen escorts. It has been suggested that the same general uniform that was adopted by the girls of Monroe County be used: White waist with red sailor collar and red cuffs, with white stars in corner of collar; black or dark skirt. Sash, red white and; blue cap with thirteen white stars on band. This will have a pretty effect, but in case a lady finds it inconvenient to make this uniform she can ride in this killing line in white waist and dark skirt. As the young men's decorations can be gotten in less time, the announcement of their uniform will be made later. It is not necessary for prospective riders to register their names with the committee in advance, and colors can be obtained on the ground on the day of the parade.

As nearly a month must elapse before the day the full arrangements have not been made, but in our next three issues we will keep the people fully informed as to the program and principal features of the day. Everybody must join in extending the hospitality of the county to our visitors.

Some six or seven hundred men went from this county to the war on the Confederate side, and this was the scene of much activity in the campaigns. General Robert E. Lee pitched his first tent in this county. Wherever you go continually you hear old soldiers say that they have marched thro this county. This opportunity will afford meetings of men who have not seen each other since they were separated in the smoke of a battle field, and it is the pleasing duty of Pocahontas people to give our visitors a good time.

Union entertained 10,000 people at its reunion last Wednesday, and we can do the same if the occasion arises.

SOME ONE visiting the Nashville Centennial, while he saw much to please him, had his pleasure much hindered by the way Southern people treat the letter "r." He heard the expression "foah dooahs to the right." It may be he had never noticed nearer home any thing said about "noosepapers," and "institootions," and "cricks." It seems there are peculiarities of speech in different parts of our grand old Union. New English dialect may sound queerly to our hearing, but possibly not quite so much as the rough plain speech of the remote north-west and south-west does to the New Englanders.

MT. ST. ELIAS has at length been scaled, and the exact heighth is 18,060 feet. The estimated height had been 18,100 feet. All expeditions heretofore attempted have failed, but a party of Italian members of the Alpine Club with Prince Luigi at its head accomplished it. The ascent took eleven hours.

IT was norated around that Judge Okey Johnson had said that the striking miners ought to get out an injunction to restrain the coal operators from hiring new men and turn the tide of injunctions in their favor. The Judge is highly indignant, and declares he has never given an opinion that such was law.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets. Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

Pocahontas County Farmers' Institute.

THURSDAY & FRIDAY, SEPT. 2 & 3.

Program.

Institute opens at 10 A. M.

Music.

Prayer - Rev William T. Price.
Address of Welcome, E. I. Holt.
Response, - J. M. Sydenstricker
Economy in County Government, - - - H. S. Rucker.
General Discussion.
Music - - - - Recess.

AFTERNOON SESSION—2 P. M.

Music by Choir.
Road-making - Clark Mann.
General Discussion.
Raising Lambs for Profit, - - - - M. A. Dunlap
General Discussion.
Winter Care of Cattle, - - - - T. F. Callison.
General Discussion.
Query Box. Music.
Adjournment.

Friday Morning, 10 a. m.

Music by Choir.
Prayer, - Dr D. S. Sydenstricker
Stimulating & Nutritive Manures, F. A. Renick and R. W. Hill.
General Discussion.
Why have Prices of Farm Products Failed? M. J. McNeel.
General Discussion.
(Subject to be Selected) - - - - C. C. Brown.
General Discussion.
Gardening and Fruit Growing as a Calling, - C. J. Stulting.
General Discussion.
Query Box. Recess.

AFTERNOON SESSION—2 P M.
(in brief.)

The Farmer as an Educator, - S. B. Hanna.
How Can We make the Farm Pay G. P. Moore & Henry Barlow
(Subject to be Selected) - - - - J. M. Sydenstricker Organization of Institute Society.

ADJOURNMENT.

Commissioner's Sale.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, rendered at the June term 1897, in the chancery case of the Clifton Forge Grocery Company vs. C. C. Arbogast and others, the undersigned special commissioners will on the

5th day of October, 1897

proceed to sell at public auction to the highest bidder at the front door of the Court-house of Pocahontas County the following tracts or parcels of land, situated near Green Bank, in said Pocahontas County, containing:

181 Acres of Land

It being the land inherited by said C. C. Arbogast from his father, Adam Arbogast, dec'd. Said land comprises a very valuable farm.

Said land is sold subject to the dower interest of Mrs Adam Arbogast.

Terms of Sale—So much cash in hand as will pay costs of suit and expenses of sale, and for the residue upon a credit of six, twelve and eighteen months from day of sale, with interest from date, the purchaser executing bonds with good personal security for deferred payments.

H. S. RUCKER,
W. A. BRATTON,
Special Commissioners.

I, J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk of the circuit court of Pocahontas county, de certify that the above named Special commissioners have executed bonds as required by law.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

Commissioner's Notice.

Commissioner's Office,
Marlinton, W. Va.
Sept. 1, 1897.

B. M. Yeager
vs.
J. H. Buzzard, Constuble, and others.

Pursuant to a decree of the circuit court of Pocahontas County, W. Va., rendered at the April term, 1897, and June term of said court in the above entitled case, I will proceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, W. Va., on the 24th day of September, 1897, to take, state, and report to court the following matters of account, to-wit:

1—An account showing what amounts were due from J. C. Arbogast, S. P. C., to the several school districts in this county on the 1st day of July, 1893.

2—An account showing what amount was due from said J. C. Arbogast, as sheriff of this county, to said districts when the tax tickets referred to in the bill were turned over to Levi Gay.

3—What amount said Levi Gay had paid on said indebtedness.

4—What amount of outstanding school orders drawn by said districts therh now are, and to whom due.

5—whether or not B. M. Yeager became chargable with any of the balances due from J. C. Arbogast, S. P. C., to said districts at the date when the new bond of 1893 became operative.

6—whether or not J. C. Arbogast was insolvent when said bond of $10,000 was given under section 46 of chapter 45 of the code, on which B. M. Yeager and Adam Arbogast were his sureties, became operative.

7—whether or not there was any election made by J. C. Arbogast to charge himself under the new bond with the balances found due under the old bond, and whether said election was ratified by the said several districts

8—what amount of money collected by Levi Gay on the tickets turned over to him by J. C. Arbogast is in his hands —collected from the tax-tickets of 1893, 1894, 1895.

9—Any other matter specially stated, deemed pertinent by himself or rexuired by any party in interest to be so stated.

At which time and place you may attend.

W. A. BRATTON.
Commissioner.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets. Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

LOOK HERE!

WHAT YOU WANT IS——

To know where you can buy 100 cents' worth for 1 $. I will tell you. Come to my store. I don't mean to say I will sell you the largest load for the least money,—but that I will give you the best bargains to be had in "town." I am closing out my stock on hands, and for the next thirty days will sell you goods at nearly COST, FOR CASH, or good produce, such as Ginseng, Beeswax, &c.

Note these prices: Good Prints, from 4c to 6c, Scotch Lawn 5c, Satteen 8½c, Ginghams, 6½, Cable twill 11c, Cambric 4½ & 5c, Ticking 15c, Table Oilcloth 16c, Over Shirts 19c to 60c, Overalls, 35c to 90c, Jeanes 85c and $1.15, Suspenders, 10c to 45c, Hose 5c to 18c, Half Hose 5 and 15c, Lady's Shoes from $1 to $1.50, Lady's Oxfords, 90c to $1.00, Misses Shoes 85c to $1.25, Men's Shoes, $1.25 to $1.90, Tobaccos, 23c to 55c, Arbuckle Coffee, 12½c, Mowing Scythes 45c and 65c, Snaths 40 and 50c, Hay Forks 30 and 40c.

Other goods proportionately low.

Call and be convinced that you can get bargains of me for cash.

Submissively yours,
G. L. HANNAH,
YELK. W. VA.

ALEGHANY COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

ALDERSON, W. VA.

Fifth Session Opens Sept 16, 1897.

The Institution offers good advantages to young men and women to prepare them for teaching, business, or the higher classes in colleges and universities.

Healthful location. No barrooms. Undenominational,—but pupils are surrounded by a healthful christian atmosphere. Discipline strict.

TERMS: Tuition in Academic Department, $36 for session of nine months. Board $100. Board cheaper in private families.

REV W. S. ANDERSON, A M
July 16. Principal.

Lee Military Academy.

Offers the very best opportunities for Preparatory or Business course at lowest rates. In healthful climate with best social surroundings, no saloons, the building in beautiful grove, with large grounds,—its natural advantages are far above the average.

Instructors of large experience and broad culture. A well-selected library of above 1,000 volumes. Most approved methods of instruction. Courses in all high school branches to fit for any college desired; also complete business course in Bookkeeping, Shorthand, and Type-writing. Careful physical training.

Only young men of good character and studious habits desired.

Address,
JAMES M. LEE, A. M., Prin.,
Lewisburg, W. Va.
July18 8w

Commissioner's Sale.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, rendered on the day of June, 1897 in the chancery cause of W. H. Hull vs. Mary E. Tallman et als the undersigned special commissioner will on the

5th day of October, 1897,

at the front door of the court house of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, proceed to rent at public auction to the highest bidder a tract of

100 ACRES OF LAND

Situated on the waters of Spillman Run in said Pocahontas county, sold as the land of the defendant Mary E Tallman, it being the land purchased by her of Eliza and Dallas H Galford by deed, dated May 12, 1893, it being a part of of lot No. 10 of the Charles Gallagher survey of 32,000 acres.

Terms of Sale: Cash in hand sufficient to pay costs of suit and expenses of sale, and as for the residue upon a credit of six, twelve, and eighteen months from day of sale in equal installments, the purchaser giving bonds with good personal security, the title to be retained as ultimate security.

H. S. RUCKER
Special Commissioner

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas county certify that the above named special commissioner has given bond as required by said decree.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

ACADEMY, W. VA., June 9, '97. —Notice is hereby given that the firm of E. H. Moore & Co. has been this day dissolved by mutual consent, and its obligations are assumed by the undersigned. All parties owing said firm are requested and expected to make immediate settlement.

Yours respectfully,
TAYLOR & MCELWEE,
Successors to E. H. Moore & Co.

Commissioner's Sale
—OF—
VALUABLE LAND IN POCAHONTAS COUNTY, W. VA.

By virtue of a decree of sale entered on the day of June, 1897, in the chancery cause of R. S. Turk, Special Commissioner, versus John T. McGraw, and others, pending in the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, the undersigned special commissioners will proceed on Tuesday, October 5, 1897,

in front of the court house door of said county to sell publicly to the highest bidder the following real-estate situated in Pocahontas county, to wit:

3900 ACRES OF LAND.

Lying on Knapp's Creek in said county, adjoining the lands of William Curry and others, formerly belonging to the estate of William Skeen, deceased.

This land is covered with virgin forests of white oak, white pine, and other valuable timbers, and is also reputed to have on it valuable iron ore. It lies along the bank of Knapps Creek in such a way that the lumber can be easily floated from it to market.

Terms of Sale: One third of the purchase money cash in hand and for the residue bonds with approved personal security will be required, falling due in six and twelve months from day of sale, with interest from date, a lien to be retained as ultimate security.

JOHN W. STEPHENSON
GEORGE A. RIVERCOMB,
H. L. GARRETT,
J. T. McALLISTER,
L. M. McCLINTIC,
Special Commissioners.

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the circuit court of Pocahontas, do certify that John W. Stephenson, one of the above commissioners, special receiver in said cause, has given bond as required by said decree.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

Commissioner's Sale.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, rendered on the 9th day of April, 1896, in the chancery cause of Jacob Sheets, administrator, vs. Rachel E. A. Sheets and others, the undersigned special commissioners will proceed to sell on October 5, 1897,

in front of the court house of Pocahontas County, at public auction to the highest bidder, two certain tracts of lands comprising the real-estate of Jacob Sheets, deceased, on Back Alleghany Mountain; one containing 135 acres of land, conveyed to said Jacob Sheets by J. H. Arbogast and wife, by deed dated on the 28th day of April, 1877; the other tract containing 164 acres conveyed to said Sheets by W. A. Gum and others, by deed dated 27th day of June, 1878.

All of the timber on said 164 acre tract has been sold to the St. Lawrence Boom and Manufacturing Company. A part of the said tract of 135 acres, comprising 74 acres, is set apart and assigned as the dower of the defendant, Rachel E. A. Sheets in the lands of Jacob Sheets deceased, the Rachel E. A. Sheets having a life estate in said 74 acres, the remainder of which only will be sold. For a more particular description of this said dower interest reference is made to said decree of the 9th of April, 1896.

Said land is partially improved, and has on it a comfortable dwelling and outhouses.

Terms of Sale: Sufficient cash in hand to pay the cost of this suit and expenses of sale; and upon a credit as to the residue of the purchase money of six, twelve, and eighteen months in equal installments, bearing interest from the day of sale, the purchaser giving bond for said deferred installments with good personal security and retaining a lien on said land as ultimate security.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
Special Commissioner.

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, do certify that the commissioner above has executed bond as required by law.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE
OF
SCHOOL LANDS.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas Chunty, West Virginia, rendered on the day of April Term, 1897, in the chancery cause of State of West Virginia vs. George L. Clark et als, the undersigned Commissioner of School Lands of Pocahontas County will proceed on the

5th day of October, 1897,

at the front door of the court house of said Pocahontas County, to sell at public auction to the highest bidder the following tracts of land forfeited for the non-payment of taxes for five years, namely:

A tract of 304 acres situated on Thorny Flat, on Elk, in Pocahontas County, West Virginia,

and

1633 acres adjoining the 304 acres, both formerly the property of E. H. Hull's estate, and forfeited in the name of George W. McDanald.

B. M. YEAGER,
Commissioner of School Lands of Pocahontas County.

WANTED—TRUSTWORTHY AND ACTIVE gentlemen or ladies to travel for responsible, established house in Pocahontas County. Monthly $65 00 and expenses Position steady. Reference. Enclose self-addressed stamped envelope.—The Dominion Company, Dept. W. Chicago.

IT TICKLES YOU
THE INSTANT RELIEF YOU GET FROM
LIGHTNING HOT DROPS.

CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.
HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals, Serpents, Bugs, etc.
BREAKS UP Bad Colds, La Grippe, Influenza, Croup, Sore Throat, etc.

SMELLS GOOD, TASTES GOOD.

SOLD EVERYWHERE AT 25C AND 50C PER BOTTLE. NO RELIEF, NO PAY.

HERB MEDICINE CO. [Formerly of Weston, W. Va.] SPRINGFIELD, O.

Fertilizers.

We want to call the attention of our farmer friends to the fact that we are again ready to offer them the celebrated brands of Allison & Addison and Old Dominion Goods.

They have been in the market over a quarter of a century and they are proven to be the best. Wait, and we will see you in a few days, and cannot be undersold.

Thanking you for the past patronage, we are yours respectfully,

SYDENSTRICKER & BEARD,
Academy, W. Va.

PLOW REPAIRS.

We have at last succeeded in making arrangements

To supply Points for the Ronceverte Plow.

Full stock now on hand
Send in your orders early

We are Factory Agents for

SILVER STEEL and IMPERIAL PLOWS, also BEST HILL-SIDE PLOW on Market,

Don't Forget

THE WONDER AIR TIGHT HEATER this Fall.

Simms & Co.,
Opp. Passenger Depot, RONCEVERTE, W. Va.

Immense Stock
OF NEW GOODS AT GOLDEN'S—For Old and Young.

The Pocahontas Times.

Hear, Land o' Cakes and brither Scots,
Frae Maidenkirk to Johnny Groats,
If there's a hole in a' your coats,
I rede ye tent it;
A chiel's amang you takin' notes,
An' faith he'll prent it.—BURNS

Local Events.

THE University begins September 8, with indications of an increased attendance.

THE peach trees in the Hills are burdened with luscious fruit, and visions of "peaches and cream" regale the epicurean imagination.

THE acts of the last legislature were given to the binder August 6, and will be delivered this month some time.

THE singles tennis championship of Pocahontas County will be contested on the Mingo tennis courts, Tuesday, September 7.

OUR attention was called to what must be a savory dish, which is soup made of the heads of suckers, a common fish in these waters. This would be a great stew.

Mr and Mrs C. A. Yeager and Misses Maud and Sallie Yeager are at Green Bank attending the nuptials of Mr Waddell Arbogast and Miss Leila Hull, eldest daughter of W. H. Hull, Esqr.

THE negro, Jerry Brown, was hung at Fayetteville last week and the authorities made such a bungle of the job that the man lived twenty-five minutes dangling from the rope. The convulsions of the body were terrible.

MR WILUM WANLESS, an aged citizen near Mt. Tabor in "The Hills," died at his residence on Friday the 27th, at an advanced age. He was a son of the late Ralph Wandless, and a grand-son of George W. Poage, formerly of the Levels.

PAUL GOLDEN, Marlinton's enterprising merchant, has bought out the S. W. Holt stock of goods and is busy moving into new quarters this week. Golden does not hide his light under a bushel, and so we may expect to hear of some startling low prices that will cause a commotion in mercantile circles.

GILMER COUNTY is in a state of excitement over the story of a little girl named Roberts. She says that on coming thro some woods she found the severed head of a severed head of a woman, and that she picked it up and carried it until a strange man came out of the woods and took it [illegible] told her to be gone. Search was made for evidence of the murder, but nothing was discovered.

A STRANGER in town the other day said that when he was a boy he hunted squirrels with a musket transformed into a smooth bore. Shot being scarce he was in the habit of using nails or small stones. One day he shot a gray squirrel on the side of a tree and tho it was killed it did not fall off the tree. On examination it was found to be nailed to the tree. A shingle nail had been driven thro the squirrel into the tree.

A FAMILY in "The Hills" is domesticating a very fine groundhog. It makes a lively, interesting pet, and shows great attachment for one of the children who feeds it and plays with it. About dinnertime it is much in evidence, but wants something nicer than the crumbs that might fall from the table. It seems to be out of temper and ready to pinch feet and shins of the guests unless it is given something nice from the hand, when it will retire with a biscuit and consume it in a very dainty manner, sitting erect and holding the food in its hand-like paws.

THE marriage of Rev. Henry W. McLaughlin, of Fayette County, and Miss Nellie Brown, of Lewisburg, was set for Tuesday of this week to take place at the residence of Rev R. L. Telford. The groom is a talented minister of the Presbyterian Church. and was born and reared in Pocahontas, at the place where Marlinton is now situated. He is a son of Mr A. M. McLaughlin, of near Lewisburg. The bride is one of Lewisburg's most popular and accomplished young ladies and a lineal descendant of Mary Moore the captive of Abb's Valley. She is the daughter of Rev. John Brown. They will reside at Fire Creek, Fayette County, where Mr McLaughlin has a charge.

THE surveying corps of the C. & O. R. R. is making a careful and elaborate survey down the banks of the Greenbrier from the forks of that River. In addition to the large force brought with them, they have hired nine axemen for three months. It is reported that three routes are to be surveyed, and the branching off point to be either White Sulphur or Ronceverte. The three routes will be paralel, run north and south, and pass either Driscol, Huntersville, or Marlinton. The route down the River bank will be the Marlinton route. It is estimated that a road built on the river will cost the most, but it will be the most valuable. If that route should be left unoccupied there is a farther danger that after a railroad built elsewhere had developed the County, that it might afford a route for a rival line which would cut off the trafic created by the first road.

THE chop and feed mill has been moved to King's planing shops, where it will continue to operate on Fridays as usual.

THE Bank of Lewisburg has bought the site of the Stratton hotel and will build a large building with bank offices and store rooms on the ground floor and hotel overhead.

HARRISONBURG, Virginia, is to enlarge its water supply and is thinking of expending $50,000 in bringing water from Plaugher's Hole in Dry River, twelve miles away.

THE Presbytery of Greenbrier will meet at Union, Monroe County, on Wednesday evening, September 8th. Ruling elders Allen Levisay or G. M. Kee represent the Marlinton congregation; elders Dr Patterson or J. H. Doyle, Huntersville.

DOG DAYS closed up Friday. and it is time that the Greenbrier Independent was restraining that independent herald, Wm. H. Sawyers, of Hinton. He has made good use of the freedom accorded him by the autocratic Greenbrier paper, and has written a number of fiery articles in his inimitable, ante-bellum style during the past season of dog days. It is time now that the Greenbrier Independent should cork him up.

MESSRS St Andrew and Edgar Myers, from the Valley, brought out forty-three cattle to Clover Creek last week. About thirty of them were wearing large cattle bells. The writer met them in a narrow forest defile near Frost and the racket gave his horse a "fit of conniptions." The tintinabulation was such that he has heard nothing equal to it since his college days when the students were out "on a calathump."

MRS JEFF MOORE had an adventure with a moccasin or "house-snake." About dusk a large specimen was seen coming through the floor of the perch and near the door of the dwelling having a very large rat in its mouth. While parties about the house were looking for something to fight the snake with it suddenly disappeared. In her search for the reptile Mrs Moore reached up and put her hand on a towel that was hanging near where the snake had been seen, and felt something move, and on drawing back her hand the snake put out its head from behind the towel. She pointed it out and a person that was near dispatched it at once.

PASSING by a field enveloped in [illegible] well-known teacher of the public school ploughing for wheat. There seemed to be no brush or briers in sight, and what the smoke meant was a question. It was all made plain when the venerable Morgan Grimes emerged from a fence corner and told the writer he had about put in the whole day burning "bumble bee" and "yellow jacket" nests, the like he had never seen or heard of before. While resting under the shade of a tree with a stump for a writing desk, the writer interviewed Mr Grimes, who furnished material for a long forthcoming chapter of biographic notes.

A WORKMAN, while clearing a new ground near Bluff City, Tenn., ten miles south of Bristol, dug up an old brass kettle of about six gallons' measure, which appears to be a relic of the famous pioneer hunter, Daniel Boone. The kettle was found among the roots of a bush which was being removed. A heavy crust had formed on the exterior. This was removed as nearly as possible, and on one side of the kettle, near the rim, was discovered, rudely carved this inscription: "D. Boone, 1760." The kettle was discovered on the farm of Benjamin Webb, which is ten miles distant from the noted beech tree on which Boone carved the following: "On this tree D. Boone cilled a bar, 1760."—Exchange.

MR RALPH DILLEY, in the vicinity of Mt Zion in the Hills, had a thrilling experience with a pair of immense rattlers a week or so since. About dusk his dog began to bay something near the porch, and on going out to see what it was found a large black rattler at bay. He dispatched it and went into the house. It was not long before the dog seemed to be more excited than before and about the same place. He went to see what the trouble was and found that a yellow rattler was at bay. He procured a hay-fork and pierced its head, and it was with difficulty he got it killed, it was so large and strong. Pronounced by all who have seen it to have been the largest ever seen in that vicinito.

Personal Mention.

Mr T. A. Sydenstricker and family spent Sunday in Marlinton.

W. A. Bratton and wife have returned from an extended trip to Virginia.

We would acknowledge the receipt of interesting papers from Mr Arthur Lawson, of Brayton, Carlisle, Cumberland, England. From The Whitehaven News we learn of an interesting cricket match played at Maryport by "Fathers vs. Sons of Cumberland," in which the Fathers were defeated. By some occult means, Mr. Arthur Lawson's name appears on the side of the Fathers!

Greenbrier District Conference, M. E. Church.

This body of ministers and laymen convened at the church at Edray. W. Va., on Thursday, Aug. 26, 1897, to engage in the work of its twenty-second session, pursuant to notice. Rev C. M. Fultz preached the opening sermon on Wednesday night.

The regular order of business and public worship was: Conference session 9 o'clock A. M., preaching at 11; preaching at 2 P. M., conference after until 5 o'clock, then preaching at 8 P. M. Dinner on the ground. The Sunday services were after the usual order—three services during day and night.

List of delegates:

Revs D. C. Hedrick, P. E., Ronceverte; J. E. Allender, Ronceverte; J. D. Mays, John Adamson, Annex, Va.; M W. Atkinson, Blue Sulphur Springs; W. A. Sharp, C. B. Van Reenan, George P. Moore, Edray; T. W. Hogsett, Mill Point; R. R. Little, Linside; S. C. Morgan, Lobelia; R. N. Hartness, Howard Wade, Mill Gap, Va.; R. H. Clark, Keenan; C. M. Neff, Buck; C. M. Fultz, Upper Tract; Thomas Clutterbuck, Frost; C. C. Arbogast, Green Bank; G. S. Weiford, Dilleys Mill, George P. Hannah, Sweet Chalybeate Springs. Va.; J. W. Sampson, Ronceverte.

During all the services the attendance of people was exceptionally good, and on Saturday and Sunday large crowds assembled at each service. The behavior of the people was all that could be desired, and the young people deserve special praise for their gentility and evidence of refinement.

There were present seventeen preachers, traveling and local. The greater part of the preaching was full of the unction of the Holy Spirit, and some of the sermons were excellent both in diction and thought. It would be invidious to particularize, but one of the ministers presented the temperance work uniquely by his proposition that "Young men were more careful and particular as to their company than young ladies."

All of the routine business of the Conference was disposed of in a very pleasant and prompt manner by the chairman, Rev D. C. Hedrick,—no hitches or jars.

There were eighteen laymen present who were delegates, besides quite a number of visitors from various sections. Pretty young ladies seemed to predominate, altho this is no leap year.

The Conference resolved itself into a committee of the whole, and reported for passage and did adopt by nearly a unamimous vote, a res- [illegible] the Conference, (except the seriously ill), who have failed to observe and obey the disciplinary requirements as to reports to this body, and also indicating that delinquents in this matter would seriously affect their standing as members of the district conference.

A resolution was adopted by unanimous vote indicating that Methodist people who do not read Methodist literature cannot be full fledged Methodists.

In pursuance of resolution to that effect. dear Mr Editor, I hand you the foregoing synopsis of proceedings for publication, deeming them sufficiently full, for space in your paper kindly offered to us.

Conference adjourned Saturday, Aug. 28. GEORGE P. MOORE.

Confederate Camp.

At a meeting of the Confederate Veterans of Green Bank District on August 27, 1897, Colonel A. C. L. Gatewood organized a camp of Confederate veterans to be known as the John S. Hoffman Camp, in in honor of Colonel John S. Hoffman of the 31st Virginia Infantry C. S. A.,—with twenty-eight members. The following officers were elected:

John R. Warwick, Commander.
William H. Collins, 1st Lieut.
J. C. Beard, 2d Lieut.
W. B. Hudson, 3d Lieut.
W. H. Hull, Adjutant.
Andrew Sheets, Quarter Master.
R. N. Gum, Officer of the Day.
Peter H. Warwick, Serg.-Major.
William L. Brown, Treasurer.
Dr C. L. Austin, Surgeon.
Dr L. L. Little, Ass't. Surgeon.
J. F. Patterson, Chaplain.
George B. Sutton, Color Ser'gt.
John E. Gum, 1st Color Guard.
Geo W. Kessler, 2d Color Guard.
William H. Sheets, Vidette.

LADY members of Committee on arrangements for reunion:

Green Bank District—Mrs John R. Warwick, Mrs Wm. L. Brown, Mrs Uriah Hevener.

Huntersville District—Mrs J. J. Beard, Mrs T. J. Williams, Mrs M. A. Friel.

Edray District—Mrs A. C. L. Gatewood, Mrs Dr Ligon, Mrs J. H. Patterson.

Levels District—Misses Mary I. McNeel, Delia Edgar, Glenna Hill.

It is suggested that three young ladies and three young gentlemen be appointed from the Green Bank, Huntersville, and Edray districts, by the members of the executive committee from each district, to assist those already named. Their names to be forwarded to the undersigned at once.

H. A. YEAGER, Chairman.

To Cure Constipation Forever.
Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c.
If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

Knapp's Creek.

Gathering black berries seems to be the order of the day.

J. A. Moore is off to Millboro.

Hon. William Curry spent a week with I. B. Moore, Esqr.

Mrs Fultz and son are spending a few days with Mrs J. W. Lantz.

Mr and Mrs Lanty Herald made a flying trip to Highland.

Mrs Jacob Moore spent some days with her daughter, Mrs Malcomb.

Rev Henderson and family have returned home, after some days at A. W. Moore's.

Miss Maud Eskridge is to teach the Sunset school.

John Shrader drives a new wagon and buggy.

Price Moore is trying to ride his bicycle.

The postoffices are being adjusted according to the new administration.

A new school has been started at Driscol.

Threshing has been postponed until winter.

Mrs Margaret Harper visited her nephew, George Ginger, of Huntersville, last week.

Why not have the Singing Association at Frost. MUM.

Hillsboro.

Fine weather and good crops, but money is scarce. Prosperity has not struck us yet.

The whistle of the thresher is heard in different directions; the wheat is turning out well.

Mr Frank Moore threshed 190 bushels of buck-wheat.

Dr McClintic and family left for Bath County, last Saturday, on a visit.

Quite a number of our people went to Edray to attend the district Conference.

Maj. J. M. Lee was here drumming for his school last week. He is now in the upper part of the County.

John Bolton, Esq., will move to Greenbrier soon to take charge of a large farm near Lewisburg.

Will Burns is having his house painted which adds much to its appearance.

E. I. Holt has returned from a visit to his sick father, and reports him much better.

Died, August 27, an infant child John Hill.

Capt. W. L. McNeel is lively and cheerful, but cannot walk.

Sidney Payne bought 108 hogs, from Henry Clark, which he will fatten for the fall and winter market.

John Sydenstricker has returned from a surveying tour up Greenbrier River. He thinks the rail- [illegible]

Dilleys Mill.

We had an excellent rain which revived things very much.

Rev Parrott closed a series of meetings at Bethel August 26, with good results.

Rev W. T. Price conducted Sacramental Services at Mt. Vernon August 29.

Some of our people attended the district Conference at Edray.

Mrs John McCutcheon and Mrs Ida Bird were visiting Mrs F. M. Dilley on Saturday.

George Bambrick is off to Beverly and Elkins this week.

The sick people in the Frost district are improving.

Mr Ralph Wanless, near Mt Tabor died on Friday, August 27, and was buried on the old Wanless place. He had been sick for several weeks.

Rev Clutterbuck will preach at Mt Zion September 5.

J. H. McCarty, of Lobelia, was around hunting a school. He will teach the Busard school.

J. W. McCarty will teach the Mt Tabor school.

Miss Lura Moore, one of our most charming young ladies, made a flying trip to Huntersville last week.

James F. Hively and son Clinton have gone to Pendleton County on a pleasure trip. Mr Hively will teach the Cove Hill school this winter.

Rev Fultz preached at Frost as he went to conference.

YOURS TRULY.

Are You Thin?

Look about you! See for yourself! Who suffer most from sleeplessness, nervousness, nervous dyspepsia, neuralgia, despondency, general weakness? Who are on the edge of nervous prostration all the time? Those who are thin, Opium, chloral, bromides, headache powders, only make matters worse. Iron and bitters are only stimulants. To be cured, and cured for good, you need a fat-making food. You want new blood, rich blood; and a strong nerve-tonic.

SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites is all this. It feeds the tissues, makes rich blood, and strengthens the nerves.

Book about it free for the asking.

For sale by all druggists at 50c. and $1.00.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

Green Bank.

Bass fishing, haymaking and gathering black berries are now in order.

Jeff Williams has purchased Mrs Nancy J. Bird's farm, and has been harvesting there this week.

W. B. King, of Marlinton, who made such a fine showing as a foot ball player and school teacher last winter, will teach for us again at Oak Grove.

Almost the entire population of Green Bank district are on Cheat Mountain gathering black berries, this week, which are very plentiful.—[Delayed.]

W. R. Smith's College, Lexington, Kentuckey,

Is where hundreds of clerks, farmer boys and others have invested $90 for tuition and board for an education and are now getting $1,000 and over a year. Read ad. and keep this notice for reference. Remember in order that your letters may reach this college to address only W. R. SMITH. Lexington, Ky.

Commissioner's Sale.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, entered in the chancery cause of Caroline E Warwick's Exor's. vs. Caroline E. Warwick's heirs and others, on the 15th day of June, 1897, the undersigned special commissioners will on the

5th DAY OF OCTOBER, 1897,

at the front door of the court-house of Pocahontas County, proceed to sell by way of public auction to the highest bidder the following tracts of land of which said Caroline E. Warwick died seized:

142 Acres.

A tract of 142 acres of land, the largest tract of the "Home Place." Mostly improved land. Bluegrass region. Situated on waters of Stony Creek, in said county. Valuable buildings, dwelling-house, barn and out buildings.

22 Acres.

A tract of 23 acres adjoining the above named tract. This land is known as the 'Sulphur Spring Lot,' and has on it the well-known sulphur spring. Improved land with tenant house, etc.

54 Acres.

Adjoins Sulphur Spring Lot. Is nearly all improved land.

77 Acres.

On Knapps Creek, in said county, adjoining the lands of Montgomery Friel and others. Unimproved. The timber on this tract [illegible]

Terms of Sale—So much cash in hand as will pay costs of suit and expenses of sale; and for the residue, the sum of $650 in six months from day of sale, and the residue upon a credit of one, two, and three years from day of sale, in equal installments, bearing interest from date, the purchaser executing bonds for same with good personal security, the titles to be retained as ultimate security.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ANDREW PRICE,
Special Commissioners.

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Pocahonts County, do certify that the commissioners above have executed bond as required by law.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

The Great Earthquake.

We do not wish to shock you, as did the earthquake some time past, but we want to give you a few pointers. We have pulled price-raisers down and cleared the path to Bargaindom. There are no tricks or illusions about our business methods—we give prices and goods that bear the light of investigation.

We are constantly outdoing our own past brilliant doings in value giving. Honest, Palpable, Bonafide Bargains are what you want and always get here. We are undersold by none.

—SOME PRICES.—

1 dozen ½-gallon Mason Jars, 95c
1 pound Cornstarch, 5c
Peaches, 10c per can
Best Brown Sugar, 5c
Granulated Sugae, 6c
Good quality 3 prong Hay Fork, 25c
Hickory Home-made Cradles, $2.50
Good Prints, 3½ 5½ per yard.
Apron Ginghams, 5c per yard
Best Ticking, 14c per yard
Choice whole grain rice, 6c
Good quality Cuff-holders, 7c pair
24-inch Turkey Red Had'kfs, 5c each
Good quality Glass Tumblers, 25c set
Tobacco, from 20 to 40c
Wool Pants, 85c

—Other Goods Proportiocately Low—

We invite you all to come in and see what great bargains we are constantly putting on our shelves.

Yours for Business,
"High Quality and Low Prices"
L. D. Sharp.

A Cure for Bilious Colic.

RESOURCE, GA.—I have been subject to attacks of bilious colic for several years. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is the only sure relief. It acts like a charm. One dose of it gives relief when all other remedies fail. —G. D. SHARP. For sale by druggists.

NO USE TALKING About Hard Times

When One Dollar will Buy as Much at SOL. DAVIS' as Two Dollars will Buy at Other Stores.

I have literally plunged the knife into even my former low prices to quicken sales, and the result is seen in the increased number of customers at my store. Do you want to share in the Bargains now offered in

CLOTHING, BOOTS, SHOES, DRY GOODS, NOTIONS, &C.,
If so call at SOL. DAVIS', GREEN BANK, WEST VIRGINIA.

I will quote prices on a few things:

6 Spools Clark's O. N. T. Cotton for 25c
75 good Envelopes (3 packs) for 10c
72 sheets Ruled Note Paper for 10c
3 doz. (36 boxes) Matches for 25c
5 Boxes Essence of Coffee for 10c
1 dz ½gallon Mason Jars for $1.00

7lbs good 20c Coffee for $1.00
1lb good Chewing Tobacco for 25c
Mens' Laundried Shirts, white or colored, 50c
Calicoes, fast colors, 5 and 6c
Ginghams per yard 5 and 6c.

I am compelled to sell off my stock before putting in FALL and WINTER goods,—and I expect to put in a large and complete stock for the Fall. I have also lowered the prices of all other goods in general. Come in early as possible and get the choice selection. This is not a special sale, but you will find I am constantly selling goods below regular prices for SPOT CASH.

YOURS FOR LOW PRICES,
SOL. DAVIS,
Green Bank, W. Va.

To the Public:

In order to close out our present stock of goods, we will offer for sale from this date to September 1st, 1897, all the goods which we have in hand at this time at from 5 to 10 per cent discount FOR CASH.

We will give a few prices for Cash:

DRESS GINGHAMS, 6 to 7cts

BEST PERCALES, 8½cts

DOMES. GINGHAMS, 5cts.

BLEACHED COTTONS, 7 to 8½cts

ARBUCKLE COFFEE, 15cts

GREEN COFFEE, 12½ to 20cts.

BEST CALICOES, 6cts.

[illegible]
TAYLOR & [illegible]
Successors to E. H. Moore & Co.
ACADEMY, W. VA.
Jell

PLEASE NOTICE

I am selling cheap and am paying the best price for your produce. My house is now full of bargains and will sell than anyone else for cash or your produce. But don't forget that money is ahead of everything. I am for strictly cash or produce.

A Little bit Cheaper

I have a few Summer Goods left to be closed out at Cost and Carriage

I have my fall stock on hands; a nice line of goods. Here are a few prices—

Green Coffee 12½ to 15c
Sugar 6 to 7
Gingham 5½ to 8
Good Shoes, $1.00 to $1.85.
Yarn 75c to 85c

Arbuckle Coffee 15c
Calico 4½ to 7
Cotton Cloth 5 to 9
Flannels 20 to 28
Masons Jars qt 75c ½g 95

Five per cent. off for Cash. On goods in quantity a further discount.

FOR PRODUCE.—Butter, 12½c; Eggs, 8c; Chickens, 6c gross.

Regular good goods—no shoddy. Call for prices—you will be treated right.

Thanking my customers for their liberal patronage, and trusting that others will come from a distance to examine my goods, I am Yours truly,

S. J. BOGGS,
—HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.—

Notice

Hereafter you can get Cabinet Photos at $2.50 per doz. Cards 1.50 per dozen—Cash with order.

ENLARGING, any size and stye, the cheapest you have ever heard of in this county.

Respectfully,
J. H. LANDES, Photographer

P. S. I shall continue to mend shoes, neatly, as heretofore; but will not undertake shoemaking complete. J. H. L.

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

SEALED bids will be received by the Secretary of the Board of Education of Huntersville District, at his office in the town of Huntersville, Pocahontas County, W. Va, until Saturday at noon, September 25, 1897, for the construction of a school-house on Beaver Creek in said district, according to the plan and specifications now on file in the office of said Secretary.

Said building is to be completed and ready for use by the 1st day of December, 1897. Each bidder is required to accompany his bid with a bond with good personal security in a penalty of double the amount of said bid conditioned for the faithful performance of his contract.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

W. H. GROSE, Secretary.

HARNESS & SHOEMAKING.

If you want any work in my line —Harness and Shoemaking—I will be in my shop ready to wait on you for cash or produce in hand.

Thanking you for past favors, I am yours for business.

Respectfully,
J. H. CURRY,
Green Bank, W. Va

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 15, NO. 7 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, SEPTEMBER 10, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 11.—Polished Solid Oak 5-Drawer Chiffonier, 58 inches high, 30½ inches long, 18 inches deep. It is well constructed and has good locks on each drawer. Special price, (Orders promptly filled).

$3.39

Our success is not accidental. It is the reward of 48 years of honorable business. Our experience in the Furniture and Carpet business is yours for the asking. Our immense illustrated catalogue of Furniture, Oil Cloths, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Bedding, Springs, Steel Beds, etc., is free to all who write for it, and we pay all postage. If you ask your local dealers' advice you will not send for our catalogue, as he will lose a customer. If you consult your pocket-book and want double value for your dollars, you will deal with the manufacturers. Send your name on a postal now.

Julius Hines & Son
BALTIMORE, MD.

$1.00 Per Month Tuition MAKES A LAWYER.

Methods new and satisfaction guaranteed. For particulars address WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE LAW SCHOOL, 1420 N. Y. Ave., Washington, D. C.

SELL YOUR BRAINS HAVE THEM PATENTED and put on the Market. Millions in it. All kinds of Patent Business skillfully handled. Address NATIONAL INFORMATION BUREAU, Washington, D. C.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

[illegible]

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

The Callisons of Locust have a claim for special recognition in our biographical sketches as one of the oldest families of southern Pocahontas. Members of that relationship have done a great deal in developing their section, and have shown what can be done with our soil in our climate by well applied energy and industry. The progenitor of this relationship, so far as it is traceable, was James Caliison, senior. This person and his wife Elizabeth were natives of Ireland, but, as the name indicates, were of English origin. No doubt the Callisons were among the families that King James the First encouraged to settle in the north of Ireland.

Late in the previous century it appears that James Callison went from Greenbrier County to Granger County, Tennessse, and made a permanent settlement and reared his family. The sons of James Callison the emigrant, and Elizabeth his wife were James, Anthony, Isaac, Jesse, Samnel, and Elisha. Their daughters were Rebecca, Abigail, Mary, Nancy, and Ruth. In reference to the whereabouts of most of these sons and daughters but little has come to our notice.

Isaac Callison, son of the emigrant, settled in the Meadows or south-west Greenbrier, where some of his descendants now live.

Col. Elisha Callison, another son of the emigrant and pioneer, married Margaret Bright, daughter of David Bright of Greenbrier, and lived on the noted Callison homestead near Lewisburg.

About 1782, James Callison, another son of the pioneer emigrant, came from Tennessee to Locust, now Lower Pocahontas, and settled on a tract of 164 acres, preempted some years previously by his father. Soon after locating on Trump Run Mr Callison took a great fancy to Miss Susan Edmiston, the charming daughter of James Edmiston, senior, who was then living on the farm now owned by George Callison, a grand-son of the lovely woman just referred to. James Callison and Susan Edmiston his wife were the parents of five sons and two daughters, concerning whom we are able to give the following particulars.

William Callison married Hannah Ray, and settled in Nicholas County.

Isaac Callison married Nancy Jordan, sister of the late Mrs Mattie Beard; lived awhile in Nicholas County, and afterwards returned to Pocahontas.

James Callison married Rebecca Gillilan, daughter of John Gillilan, Esq., and settled in Missouri.

Josiah Callison married Nancy Hill, daughter of the late Thomas Hill, Esq., who was a son of Richard Hill, the pioneer. They spent their days at the old homestead, and were the happy parents of five sons and three daughters. We give the following particulars in reference to Mr and Mrs Josiah Callison's family:

James Callison married Ellen Alkire, of Lewis County, West Virginia, and settled in Greenbrier where he died in 1885. His widow and two children now live in the State of Kansas.

Thomas F. Callison has been married twice. His first wife was Minta Myles, of Greenbrier County; and his second marriage was with Jane Myles, a cousin, and he now lives near Locust. It is on his lands coal has been recently discovered, and promises good results far as developed.

William Callison married Fannie Whiting, daughter of Ebenezer Whiting on the summit of Drooping Mountain, and lives on Locust Creek a mile or so from its source. Locust Creek springs from the base of Drooping Mountain a full sized creek, receiving but little volume from visible tributaries on its course to the Greenbrier.

George Callison's wife was Miss Mandie McNeel, daughter of Captain William L. McNeel, and his residence is at Hillsboro on the place occupied so long by the late Colonel John Hill.

Richard Callison married Miss Fannie Beard, daughter of Charles W. Beard, Esq., near Hillsboro, and he lives on the old Trump Run Homestead, near Locust.

All of these sons are among the more prosperous citizens of lower Pocahontas. They are devoted to farming and managing live stock. Thus contributing very much to the substantial prosperity of our county.

Martha Callison, daughter of Mr Josiah Callison, was married to James K. Bright, Esq., and their home is at Hillsboro.

Mary Callison, the other daughter, was married to Lorenzo Reger, and their residence is in Roane County, West Virginia.

Jemima Callison became Mrs Jesse Bright, near Frankford, in Greenbrier. She died in 1886.

The other branch of the Callison relationship in our county is represented by the descendants of Anthony Callison, a son of James Callison, the emigrant from Ireland. Anthony Callison was reared in Tennessee, and soon after coming to Virginia he lost his heart in Greenbrier County, and he and Miss Abigail McClung were married and settled an lands adjoining the possessions of his brother, James Callison. These persons were the parents of six sons and four daughters.

Abram Callison married Frankie Blair, from North Carolina, a sister of the late Major William Blair near Hillsboro, and after living a few years in Pocahontas went to North Carolina.

Joseph Callison married Elizabeth Bright, of Greenbrier.

Isaac Callison married Huldah Hickman, in Bath County, Virginia, and moved to Indiana.

Anthony Callison, junior, was married to Miss Martha Hill, and settled in Indiana.

Israel Callison married Mary Bright, sister of Joseph's wife, lived many years on the old homestead, and finally moved to Illinois

Elisha Callison located in the Meadows of West Greenbrier.

Margaret Callison, daughter of Anthony and Abigail Callison, became Mrs William Burnsides and went to Indiana to seek a home.

Elizabeth Callison married Jonathan Jordan, and they lived on Cook's Dry Run, the place lately occupied by Peter Clark, deceased, and now owned by Sherman Clark, Esq. It was here she died. Her twin sons John and Anthony also died.

Abigail Callison became the wife of James Gay, one of Robert Gay's sons, the pioneer, and they settled in Indiana.

Julia Callison, the youngest daughter, married when she was just past fifteen the late Colonel William Woods Poage, They lived awhile at Marlin's Bottom, now Marlinton, and then moved to Poage's Lane, near Clover Lick. Her sons William Anthony and Henry Moffett were slain in the war between the States. They were regarded as remarkabiy brave soldiers. Henry Moffett was a lieutenant in the Bath Squadron. One of the Pocahontas camps of Confederate veterans is named for him—the highest honor to his memory in the power of his comrades to confer. Her eldest daughter, a beautiful promising person, was fatally injured by flames right before her mothers eyes. Her surviving daughter, Ella Burr, lives in Mississippi. Her sons Quincy Woods and John Robert live on the grand old homestead near Clover Lick with their interesting families. The writer will ever cherish the memory of Mrs Julia Poage as one of the kindest friends of his boyhood and early manhood.

The writer has thus far been enabled to make a brief contribution to the history of the Callison relationship which deserves an important place in the annals of our county. It makes him feel sad to think that the kind friend, (Mrs Nancy Callison), who so patiently furnished him the information without which this paper could not have been written, is not here to receive the thanks that are so justly due her. It looks now like it was a special providence that permitted us to meet at the time when we did, and is so regarded by the compiler. Her bright and pleasant way of recalling the reminiscences of friends and acquaintances was something like which one cannot expect to witness very often now, as so few are left to rehearse the story of that past which was once a living present to them.

These people whose lives make up the past, whose history so few survive to repeat, sowed in tears, in privations, and hardships what we who now live are reaping in a joyful harvest. What they sowed in tears we the living may reap with grateful joy if we have proper appreciation of what they did and suffered in their day and generation. Let us not forget that the frugality, industry, and careful attention to duties that enabled them to secure this goodly heritage is all important for us to observe and imitate in order to keep it all from slipping away and vanishing from our reach. Like busy bees our pioneer friends all over our county tried to improve every shining hour, and turn to some good account every opportunity in sight, no matter how hard it may have seemed. It has been well said that those who look only for easy places will finally round up in the hardest places and have no way to get out except by death. W. T. P.

White Horse Shares.

A New Yorker was steated in an office in Gunnison City, Colorado, one day, when a grizzly looking old chap entered and asked if that was was the place where they sold shares of the White Horse Silver Mine. Being assured he was in the office of the company, he observed:

"I have heard of the White Horse spokon of as a likely mine."

"It certainly is. We took $10,004 worth of oar out in one day."

"Phaw! She must be just old richness! How many men have ye got to work?"

"Oh, about three hundred."

"Have ye, tho? And are the sheers going off purty lively?"

"Shares are selling like hot cakes and we have only a few left. Everybody says the White Horse is a big investment."

"What are sheers worth today?"

"I will sell you at ninety-five, tho I know they will be worth face value tomorrow."

"Well, that's better; there's a hundred sheers which you sold my yard yesterday for twenty dollars. I went over to the mine, found nothing but a hole in the ground and a dead mule, and I told him I'd come up and get his money back or do some shootin'! I'm tarnal glad they riz from twenty to ninety-five. That will give my pard his money back, and buy me a winter outfit besides. Here's your sheers, and let's see the color of your money!"

"But, sir, we—"

"Pass out the cash!" said the old man, as he rested the edge of his shooter on the edge of the counter.

The company had left his revolver in his overcoat, and he did not believe the New Yorker would shoot for him. After a look around he began counting out the money with a bland, and as he made the change he said:

"Certainly, sir—greatest of pleasure, sir. Sorry you did n't hold them one day more, and get the full face value!"—Exchange.

Daddy Kipling.

"What's that so white that walks the floor?" said folks-on-parade
"It's Daddy Rudyard Kipling," the London doctor said;
"He's the father of another boy—
he wants to get to bed,
But he's walkin' of the baby in the mornin'!"

"What's that, what's that, that squalls so loud?" said folks-on-parade.
"It's little Kip with colic," the London doctor said;
"And the older Kip is painting
all the furniture in red,
And he's swearin' at the baby in the mornin'!"—Exchange.

Suicide at Elkins.

George R. Gobbert, 28 years of age, a wealthy contractor, locked himself in his room at the Randolph Hotel and fired a 38-calibre bullet thro his heart. He had been an ardent suitor for the hand of Miss Grace Riley, and they were engaged. Miss Riley's parents objected, and Miss Riley obeyed their wishes. For three days Gobbert had not been able to get any word from his sweetheart.

Gobbert left a letter for Miss Riley, which is not made public, and one to his father giving business directions. In it Gobbert said he felt that he was going crazy.

Big Land Deal.

One of the largest transactions of years in West Virginia has just been completed by the sale of the greater part of what is known as the Cheat River wilderness to a New York syndicate, of which Cornelius Vanderbilt, Dr W. Stewart Webb, and J. McKay Twombley are the principals. This syndicate has purchased from Hon. John T. McGraw, Member of the national Democratic committee from West Virginia, a tract of about 300,000 acres for sum of $520,000. A small fraction of this amount is represented by the interest Mr McGraw retains in the syndicate.

The tract purchased is about fifty miles long and averages about ten miles in width. It lies along the middle of the eastern border of the State of West Virginia, its northern boundary beginning near Horton, the present terminus of the railroad built by the Leather Trust to reach the timber lands from which it has been taking tanbark. The railroad extends from Horton northward and intersects the West Virginia Central at Parsons. Extending in a southwestwardly direction, the lands purchased include all the territory about the headwaters of Cheat River and between the forks of the Greenbrier. Both rivers have their sources in the Alleghany mountains, which are the eastern boundary of the tract, as well as the dividing line between Virginia and West Virginia, and in the Greenbrier mountains, which form the western limits of the southern part of the tract.

The territory covered by this purchase is immensely rich in coal marble and iron, but the timber which covers it makes the most tempting field. White pine, poplar, spruce and hardwoods are found in perfect forests. The action of the State of New York in stopping the cutting of timber in the Adirondack region took out of the market one of the largest sources of supply of spruce lumber. This wood is largely used in the manufacture of pulp wood for wood pulp mills, and this field which the syndicate will open up is the largest and most available to take the place of the New York spruce forests.

The sydicate which has bought the McGraw tract has also acquired control of the Leather Trust railroad. A construction force will proceed at once to build an extension of about 110 miles from Horton, the present terminus, down the valley of the Greenbrier mountains to the forks of the Greebrier River. From this point it will follow the course of the Greenbrier River to a point just north of the White Sulphur Springs. It is not yet determined whether a short cut will be made from here across the mountains to White Sulphur, or the longer but easier course at Greenbrier River will be followed to Ronceverte. In any case, connexion with the Chesapeake and Ohio railway will be made at one of these points.

The new railroad will tap a portion of the State hitherto entirely undeveloped through lack of transportation facilities. It has, probably, the largest amount of readily available tonnage in sight of any road of its length in the South. Through its connections with the Chesapeake and Ohio at Ronceverte or White Sulphur Springs, and with the West Virginia Central at Parsons, through which shipments can be made east or west via Baltimore and Ohio at Cumberland, or Pennsylvania railroad at Hyndman, it will command a liberal choice of routes to all the great markets of the country, and be in a position to shape rate to its advantage through the three competing lines.

The effect on the country thro which the railroad will pass will be immediate, as its projectors will push forward the erection of sawmills, wood pulp mills, and tanneries at once.

The old residents of the State will view with regret the building of this railroad, as it cuts through the heart of the "Wilderness," the last great tract of wild lands left in the State. This section has long been famous for its game, and it is said that more deer have been killed about the "Forks of Greenbrier" than any place in the east. —Charleston Gazette.

WE have the pleasing information to give our farmer friends that the new tariff increases the price of sugar but lowers the duty on diamonds. Would it not be well for them to make the best of this resplendent opportunity and furnish the girls with diamond rings, at least more especially those who are willing to do without sugar in in theirs.

The The The
Best. Rest. Test.

There are two kinds of sarsaparilla: The best—and the rest. The trouble is they look alike. And when the rest dress like the best who's to tell them apart? Well, "the tree is known by its fruit." That's an old test and a safe one. And the taller the tree the deeper the root. That's another test. What's the root,—the record of these sarsaparillas? The one with the deepest root is Ayer's. The one with the richest fruit; that, too, is Ayer's. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has a record of half a century of cures; a record of many medals and awards—culminating in the medal of the Chicago World's Fair, which, admitting Ayer's Sarsaparilla as the best—shut its doors against the rest. That was greater honor than the medal, to be the only Sarsaparilla admitted as an exhibit at the World's Fair. If you want to get the best sarsaparilla of your druggist, here's an infallible rule: Ask for the best and you'll get Ayer's. Ask for Ayer's and you'll get the best.

WILL PARALEL THE B. & O.

Revival of Talk of Another West Virginia Railroad.

Baltimore dispatches state that the company, which contemplates the construction of a line from Baltimore to Cincinnatti, has filed for record at Baltimore a mortgage for $18,000,000, covering the property and franchises of the company given to the Manufacturer's Trust Company to secure an issue of 5 per cent. bonds. E. A. Hayt, of New York, is named as president and E. L. Suffren, of New York, as secretary. The company was organized some sixteen years or more ago and was incorporated in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and Ohio. The Baltimore Sun states that the charter provides for a line running thro Anne, Arundel Howard, Frederick and Montgomery Counties, Maryland; Loudoun, Clark and Frederick Counties, in Virginia; Jefferson, Hampshire, Hardy, Grant, Pendleton, Randolph, Pocahontas, Webster, Braxton, Nicholas, Clay, Kanawha, Putman, Cabell and Mason Counties, in West Virginia; Gallia, Jackson, Pike, Highland, Brown, Clermont, Hamilton, Scioto and Adams Counties, in Ohio. Some surveys were made in 1881 and a construction company was organized to build the road, but no work beyond surveys appears to have been done. According to the original plans it was proposed to cross the Ohio River above Ironton, Ohio, and make a direct line to Portsmouth, from which point to Cincinnatti, it was proposed to absorb the Cincinnatti & Virginia. By consulting the files of The Railway Age we find the following in regard to the project in the issue of December 1, 1881:

"This company has been organized to carry into effect an old plan for constructing a railway from Baltimore to Cincinnatti parallel witn the Baltimore & Ohio. According to the prospectus the projected line follows the notrh bank of the Ohio from Cincinnatti to Gallipolis, 150 miles; crosses the Ohio at Gallipolis, and traverses the bank of the Great Kanawha River to Charleston, 54 miles, when it connects with the Chesapeake & Ohio system; follows the bank of Elk River, northeasterly to its headwaters in the Alleghany Mountains, 160 miles; follows the valley of the Scuth Branch of the Potomac to Moorfield, 60 miles; crosses the country by way of Leesburg and Winchester to the Potomac River, 104 miles; crosses the Potomac at Edward's ferry, and follows a direct line to Baltimore 57 miles. The length of the route is 601 miles and for two-thirds of the way along the banks of rivers. The line as projected touches 208 towns of which number 188 have no railway connection. The prospectus estimates the maximum cost of a first class steel rail, single-track railroad at $25,000 per mile or $15,000,000 for the entire 600 miles of road. To this is added an estimated expenditure of $10,000,000 for depots, elevators, rolling stock and telegraph lines."—The Railway Age.

ONE of the most alarming things that has come under our notice recently is to the effect that in some southern sections citizens are leaving their farms and moving their families to towns for safety, being afraid to leave their families alone in their country homes to attend their fields or other affairs requiring absence from the house. It looks as if mounted police may become a feature of rural society and be on patrol all hours of the twenty-four. It is claimed the expense would not be great, and the tendency would be to suppress all manner of lawlessness.

OBITUARY.

Howard Dilley, son of Amos J. and Minty V. Dilley, died July 26, 1807, aged seventeen years, two months and twenty-five days.

It has been said that "Death leaves a shining mark." This was truly examplified in the death of tnis young man. He was ill only a few days with typhoid fever, but bore his afflictions patiently, not a murmur was heard to escape his lips. To know him, was to love him. He always wore a smile and met his friends with kindly greetings.

It seems sad that one so young and full of hope should thus be cut down in the morning of life. But we know that He, who ruleth over all, is too wise to err, and too kind to needlessly afflict his children. We trust that his parents and friends may be resigned to the dispensation of God's Providence. He was always known to be a moral young man, and was a penitent at the altar. During his illness he was often heard to pray, and just before he closed his eyes in death, a bright smile illuminated his countenance. We trust that he is resting from his labors, and that his parents, brothers, sisters and friends may meet him again on the Glorified Shore where sad partings never come. A FRIEND.

THE ingenuity of the book agent has not been exhausted, if an incident which occurred the other day in a lawyer's office downtown is to be taken as characteristic. The principle partner is one of the best known lawyers of the New York bar. One day last week a woman came into the outer office, and, asking for the head of the firm, said that she was anxious to see him on important business. The clerks gave her the stereotyped answer. Mr So-and-So was busy but one of them offered to take in her name. She then produced a card to which she added some words in pencil. The clerk glanced at it and saw that beneath her name she had written "A woman with a history." He gave it to his employer who was indeed busily engaged. The unusual card attracted his attention, and the young woman was shown into his office. She gave no evidence of having had a history, and seemed rather a businesslike, cheerful young person.

"I wrote on the card," she said, "that I have a history. That is true. It is one of the best of the United States that was ever published and it is the cheapest." Continuing the description so rapidly that there was no time for the lawyer to interfere, she told him all she wanted to before he called a clerk to show her out. She did not succeed in selling a copy of her book, but she got nearer the great man than any book agent had ever done before.—New York Sun.

"My boy came home from school one day with his hand badly lacerated and bleeding, and suffering great pain," says Mr E. J. Schall, with Meyer Bros.' Drug Co., St. Louis, Mo. "I dressed the wound, and applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely. All pain ceased, and in a remarkably short time it healed without leaving a scar. For wounds, sprains, swellings and rheumatism I knew of no medicine or perscription equal to it. I consider it a household necessity." The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by all druggists.

BALDNESS is nothing new; it dates back to the early ages. How to restore the hair is modern. Hall's Hair Renewer, the best product of science, will restore it.

The Pocahontas Times.

Hear, Land o' Cakes and brither Scots,
Frae Maidenkirk to Johnny Groats,
If there's a hole in a' your coats,
I rede ye tent it;
A chiel's amang you takin' notes,
An' faith he'll prent it.—BURNS.

Local Events.

NOTICE the landsales advertised for October court.

A BLACKSMITH shop is being erected in east Marlinton for B. N. Rayburn who will come here from Valley Head.

SET your stakes to come to court two weeks earlier this year than before. County court meets the last Tuesday of this month.

THERE has been frost in various sections of the county this week and last but not enough to do any damage.

THE Ronceverte buyers were offering 75 cents for wheat last week. At Frankford some sold for 78 cts. The wheat boom was not well bolstered up.

TWENTY-FIVE teams went to Ronceverte last week after fertilizer. Most of it was destined for the Levels. Farmers there use about 100 lbs. to the acre.

IN building the railroad from Elkins to Huttonsville, Senator Davis brought certain contrary landowners to terms in the matter of a right of way by threatening to turn the line aside from Beverly and make a flag station near the town.

THRESHING shows wheat and buckwheat to be turning out above the average. The oats crop is below. The corn crop is very good. Farmers wonder where they will get stock to eat their hay. In one field of about ten acres on Knapps there are eleven new stacks and nine old ones.

NEARLY a hundred sheep have been killed by bears on Middle Mountain within the past few months. Fifty or more were of Mr L. Tuke's flock, and Messrs James Gibson, Sam Varner, and others are losers. Various hunts have been organized, but thus far no bears have been killed except one cub caught in a trap.

A MAN, nearly naked, passed thro town last Friday looking neither to the right nor left. He had on a coat which was ripped up the back to the collar, showing that the other articles of apparel were wanting. A pair of tattered overalls reached to his knees. He had an old pair of overshoes on his feet. He made no halt and did not seem to be begging.

MARRIED: At Newport, Rhode Island, September 1, Mr William Page Thomson, owner of Brookdale Farm, N. J., and Miss Edith Blight, of New York. The bridegroom is the son of the late Captain W. P. Thompson who married Miss Lina Moffat, of this county. The bride belongs to one the oldest and most exclusive of New York families.

THE County Court ought to give the people of Clover Creek, Driftwood and Back Alleghany a bridge across the Greenbrier. A substantial wagon bridge would not cost very much. The plan of building a foot-bridge has been abandoned temporaily on account of a difference of opinion as to the proper place to build it. Back Alleghany is a good taxpaying community and has had only one appropriation from the county funds and that for only $75.

HERE is something that makes the mouth water on a warm day. In Westmoreland county a melon-raiser pulled seventy six melons, which he sold for one cent each. The rail-road facilities cost him $11.04 the commission merchant lifted six cent. The account stood about this way, leaving the shipper 34 cents in debt to the commission dealer. Let the rail-road and commission man come this way fast as possible, we want a mess of melons and that bad.

WATCH the Golden Store grow! In 1892 I occupied the Poage store-house; in 1894 I moved in Marlinton to a considerably larger building; now I have bought out Mr S. W. Holt's stock and am opening up my new goods in the Holt store-house. Those who are on a keen hunt for bargains will find a saving of 25 to 50 per cent, on a great many things, and especially on school shoes, in my goods. Never mind how I am doing it,—I can prove it to you better than I can tell it to you. I mean every word I say. P. G.

THE squirrels are here in great numbers and have hardly left a hickory nut on the trees. It is feared that the corn will suffer seriously. There was not a cartridge left in the stores last week. The greatly increased amount of squirrels and other game, is believed to be owing to the abundance of the food last winter. Last season will be long remembered on account of the mast, it was like to olden time. At one place in the Levels from some hickory on two acres of ground over seventy squirrels had been killed up to Saturday evening. There were still large numbers to be seen there. The squirrels strip a tree in the woods taking every nut on it.

Personal Mention.

Lou Yeager and Jim Smith left for the University last Monday.

Frank Hill will attend the Randolph-Macon. He is a Senior.

Mr and Mrs Alvin Clark spent a few days in Marlinton last week.

Hon Leland Kittle, of Beverly was here last week. He has re-his office of guager.

John Gay, son of Col Levi Gay will attend the Lee Military Academy at Lewisburg.

Misses Annie McNeel, of Academy, and Carrie Craig, of Craigsville, and Allen Edgar were in Marlinton last Saturday.

The Hillsboro Academy will be conducted by a Mr Terry, of Va. and Miss Virgie Sydenstricker, and will open September 16.

John Sydenstricker, son of Dr Sydenstricker, D. D., of Academy will attend Hampden Sydney the coming term.

Uriah Bird has returned from Addison where he went to recuperate after his attack of fever. He was much benefitted, gaining a pound of flesh per day while there.

Jack Forster leaves for his home in England on the 25th instant. The 'world' will hear of this young man as a crack jockey some day, and he's a jolly good fellow.

Rev Wm T. Price and Dr D. S. Sydenstricker are attending Presbytery in Monroe. Summers Kinnison of Academy will be placed under the care of Presbytery, intending to study for the ministery. He is in his third year at Hampden-Sydney.

County Seats in Randolph.

The people of Randolph are in a ferment over the removal of the county seat to Elkins. H. G. Davis, S. B. Elkins, and other citizens of Elkins, have made a proposition to the county court in writing to furnish temporary court-room, offices, fireproof vaults, jail, etc., for five years, if the county seat is removed to their town; and to erect buildings as good as those burned at a cost to the county not to exceed $19,000, with site furnished free, and to remove free of all cost the available material in the old court-house. The district of Mingo is very much divided over the question.

Farmers' Institute.

The farmer's institute was extremely interesting to those who attended, and a vast amount of information was imparted. It seems very wonderful that more farmers did not attend, but the members of the board believe that in time the sessions of the institute will be thronged in this county as in other counties. Hons J. M. Sydenstricker and C. C. Brown were in charge. The following organization was effected:

President, Isaac McNeel.
1st Vice Pres., E. N. Moore.
2d Vice Pres., George R. Curry,
Secretary, T. A. Sydenstricker.

Tennis Tournament At Mingo.

Tuesday the Messrs Hebden entertained friends at "Askham," the occasion being a tennis tournament. N. and C. Price, from Marlinton, were beaten in singles and doubles by R. and L. Tuke and Ernest Hebden, A number of mixed doubles were played, in which S. L. Grews, O. Miles, and Miss Forster were noticeable.

NOTICE:—All per ons indebted to me will please settle while I am in Marlinton this week.

S. W. HOLT.

A GARTER snake was killed near here by Moff Waugh which was about three feet long and which had sixty-four live snakes inside of it, each about seven inches long. Jasper Friel counted the snakes. It has been often alleged that some serpents when alarmed swallow their young and eject them again after reaching a place of safety. There remains considerable doubt on this question and it is likely that the alleged proofs of it, from living ones issuing out of the body of the parent when crushed, are to be accounted for by the ovoviviparous mode of generation. As a rule non-venomous serpents lay eggs, depositing them in a heap of decaying vegetation and leave them them to be hatched, paying no attention to them. Venomous serpents hatch the eggs hatch their eggs inside of them, and thus they are termed ovoviviparous. This would indicate that the garter snake, tho not poisonous, belongs to the latter class.

That was a queer blunder committed at the M. P. conference at Harrisville last week. Two young men were ordained as ministers with impressive and solemn ceremony, and duly pronounced full-fledged divines, when to the consternation of the conference it was discovered that the wrong men had been invested with the holy office. It seems that Rev. R R Rice and Rev. T F Goode who had passed their final examinations were to be ordained, but for some unaccountable reason the names of J A Alman and A F Hess, who lacked two years of completing their studies: were called. The latter didn't seem to know "where they were at," and stepped to the front and submitted them selves to the master of the cermonies. It was a simple case of fore-ordination so to speak, and at the evening service, Messrs Goode and Rice were duly ordained,—Gazette.

Dunmore.

Cam McElwee spent Saturday night in town.

Miss Otie Cackley is visiting here.

Mrs N. D. Swecker, Stonewall, and K. D. Swecker made a trip to Driscol last week.

Miss Bessie Patterson commenced her school at the McLaughlin school house on Back Alleghany last Monday.

H. M. Lockridge and Dan O' Connel were in town Tuesday. Mr Lockridge has the mail route from Huntersville to Travelers Repose and has a hack on both ends which makes it convenient for travelers and their baggage.

Ab Jones, Sam Hall, Misses Grace and Mamie Eagle all of Doe Hill are out on a visit.

J. O. Wade, Doc Terry and M. Metheny of Highland were in town Monday.

Last Friday Stonewall and Harry Moore killed 41 squirrels. Stonewall fired 22 shots and killed 21 squirrels. The first time his gun went off he killed two squirrels.

Robert M. Pritchard and family of the Healing Springs are visiting his parents.

Dr J. B. Lockridge was up to see Samuel Sheets who is sick at this time.

Quite a number of our young people went to Clover Lick Tuesday night.

Every man in the county ought to go to the reunion and take his family and make up the largest crowd ever seen in the county. To make the reunion a success every body should work for it.

Dr Sydensticker preached io a large congregationas Green Bank last Sunday.

JOHN SLICKHAMMER.

Sept. 3, 1897.

A little frosty but no damage done. We are getting very dry.

Col John Driscol was up last week.

Maj. Dan O'Connell and H. M. Lockridge were in our neighborhood getting a right of way for a railroad.

William Siple took his family to Marlinton last Sunday.

B. M. Yeager and his two sons were in town Sunday. Mr Yeager will go to Grafton. His sons Lou and Sterling were on their way to school at Morgantown and Romney respectively.

Dunmore mill is running day and night.

The railroad surveyors are encamped on Greenbrier River at the mouth of Leatherbark.

Samuel Sheets is down with typhoid fever. Dr Little is waiting on him.

Miss Icie Hannah of Frost is down with typhoid fever.

Ed Wimer, tinner, of Crabbottom, was in town Saturday.

Uncle Washington Moore of Knapp's Creek spent several days here with friends. It had been several years since he had been in Dunmore.

Rev C. M. Caldwell left Monday for Presbytery.

C. A. Yeager and family were in town Monday.

Misses Ella and Nelia Pritchard are rusticating at the Healing Springs.

Miss Bertha Sharp is giving lessons in embroidery.

The Glade Hill Church will be dedicated the 19th inst. Come all and bring your dinners.

The people of Green Bank want the singing convention there this fall.

C. B. Swecker will furnish the Hawley wood pumps complete, the best pumps in use,—from 12 to 30 feet long from $8 to $10 at Dunmore. Cash in advance.

Another thousand people went to Cheat Mountain this week for blackberries.

The road overseers ought to throw the loose rock out of the road.

About three hundred people attended the dance on Elk.

No wonder that prosperity is coming. There is a shortage of wheat in the old country of six hundred million bushels. We are exporting grain and cattle.

Are You Thin?

Look about you! See for yourself! Who suffer most from sleeplessness, nervousness, nervous dyspepsia, neuralgia, despondency, general weakness? Who are on the edge of nervous prostration all the time? Those who are thin, Opium, chloral, bromides, headache powders, only make matters worse. Iron and bitters are only stimulants. To be cured, and cured for good, you need a fat-making food. You want new blood, rich blood; and a strong nerve-tonic.

SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites is all this. It feeds the tissues, makes rich blood, and strengthens the nerves.

Book about it free for the asking.

For sale by all druggists at 50c. and $1.00.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

Reunion Notes.

Executive committe will meet to-day to complete the program, appoint reception committee, committee on decoration, etc., which will be published in full next week.

A vast amount of work remains to be done, but if everyone favorable to the enterprise will give a helping hand and cooperate with the various committees we will have a day long to be remembered as a crowning evidence of fraternal union. Let the finance committee take immediate steps to procure such financial aid as they can to assist in defraying expenses. In this issue will be found the names of the committee on arrangements, appointed last June. Let each one of them go to work to interest those who may be willing to donate supplies for the free dinner. Let the work be done systematically and energetically. Provision will be made for storing all supplies coming from a distance.

Every thing possible will be done to secure the comfort of visiting comrades.

Union veterans and their families will be welcomed.

A pleasant feature of the parade will be the cavalcade of uniformed young ladies with their escorts. All who propose to ride in this procession should send in their names to Miss Annette Ligon, at Clover Lick, at an early date. Suitable material for uniforms will be ordered for those who wish them.

H. A. YEAGER,
Ch'r. Ex. Com.

W. R. Smith's College, Lexington, Kentuckey,

Is where hundreds of clerks, farmer boys and others have invested $90 for tuition and board for an education and are now getting $1,000 and over a year. Read ad. and keep this notice for reference. Remember in order that your letters may reach this college to address only W. R. SMITH. Lexington, Ky.

A Cure for Biilous Colic.

RESOURCE, GA.—I have been subject to attacks of bilious colic for several years. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is the only sure relief. It acts like a charm. One dose of it gives relief when all other remedies fail. —G. D. SHARP. For sale by druggists.

Commissioner's Sale of Land.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, entered in the chancery cause of Jos. F. Moore vs. Jacob W Marshall and John T McGraw, at the April term, 1897, the undersigned commissioner will on Thusday the 7th day of October, 1897, in front of the court-house of said county, proceed to sell at public auction to the highest bidder that certain parcel of land containing 565 acres, more or less, lying on the west side of Elk River on Laurel Run waters in said county adjoining the lands of John Hannah and others.

Terms of Sale:—One third of the purchase money cash on the day of sale, and the residue in equal installments falling due in six and twelve months from that day, and bearing interest from that day, and taking from the purchaser bonds with good personal security for the deferred payments, and retaining the title to said land as further security.

CHARLES P. JONES,
Commr.

I, J. H. Patterson, clerk of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas county certify that the above Special Commissioner has given bond as required in said decree.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clk.

Order of Publication.

State of West Virginia. Pocahontas County, to-wit:

At rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of said county on Monday, September 6th, 1897.

State of West Virginia
vs.
J. W. F. Allemong, J. B. Blyholder and others Defts.

The object of this suit is to sell for the benefit of the School Fund 130 acres of land, assessed in the name of J. W. F. Allemong, and forfeited for the non payment of taxes thereon for the year 1893; also a tract of 710 acres assessed in the name of J. W. F. Allemong and forfeited for the non-pament of taxes thereon for the year 1893; and a tract of 1600 acres assessed in the name of J. B. Blyholder, and forfeited for the non payment of taxes thereon for the year 1894; all of said tracts of land are situated in Pocahontas county, West Virginia.

This day came the plaintiff by its attorney and it appearing by affidavit filed, that the said defendants J. W. F. Allemong and J. B. Blyholder, are non residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

L. M. McClintic }
J. W. Yeager } p. q.

To Cure Constipation Forever.
Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c.
If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

Church Notes.

The memorial service in memo of Mrs Mary A. Carter, relict of Dr P. D. Carter, will be held Edray, at the M. E. Church, Sunday, September 19. (3rd Sunday) 1897, conducted by Rev. George P. Moore.

THE new church, Wesley Chapel, in the vicinity Glade Hill, Pocahontas County, West Virginia, will be dedicated on the 3rd Sunday of September by Rev. J. D. Martin, Presiding Elder of Lewisburg District.

J. M. EAVEY, Pastor,
Green Bank, West Virginia.

Rev J A Perry, of the M. P. Church has been sent back to Marlinton Circuit for the following year. The Annual Conference has just been in session at Harrisville W. Va. Rev G S Auvil is placed at St. George and Rev W H Hart at Aubrn. We have just received the initial number of the West Virginia Protestant published at Harrisville. It is the West Virginia organ of the M. P. Church, and is a large 8pp paper with subscription $1 00 per year. The editors are Messrs M. L. Helmick and O. D. McKeever.

Commissioner's Sale.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, entered in the chancery cause of Caroline E Warwick's Exor's. vs. Caroline E. Warwick's heirs and others, on the 15th day of June, 1897, the undersigned special commissioners will on the

5th DAY OF OCTOBER, 1897,

at the front door of the court-house of Pocahontas County, proceed to sell by way of public auction to the highest bidder the following tracts of land of which said Caroline E. Warwick died seized:

142 Acres.

A tract of 142 acres of land, the largest tract of the "Home Place." Mostly improved land. Bluegrass region. Situated on waters of Stony Creek, in said county. Valuable buildings, dwelling-house, barn and out buildings.

22 Acres.

A tract of 22 acres adjoining the above named tract. This land is known as the 'Sulphur Spring Lot,' and has on it the well-known sulphur spring. Improved land with tenant house, etc.

54 Acres.

Adjoins Sulphur Spring Lot. Is nearly all improved land.

77 Acres.

On Knapps Creek, in said county, adjoining the lands of Montgomery Friel and others. Unimproved. The timber on this tract has been sold.

One-third of 84 Acres.

The undivided one-third of a tract of 84 acres situated on Knapps Creek in said county, it being the same tract redeemed by the heirs of George E. Craig, deceased. by decree of said court at April term, 1897. The timber on this tract has been sold.

Terms of Sale—So much cash in hand as will pay costs of suit and expenses of sale; and for the residue, the sum of $650 in six months from day of sale, and the residue upon a credit of one, two, and three years from day of sale, in equal instalments, bearing interest from date, the purchaser executing bonds for same with good personal security, the titles to be retained as ultimate security.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ANDREW PRICE,
Special Commissioners.

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Pocahonts County, do certify that the commissioners above have executed bond as required by law.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

The Great Earthquake.

We do not wish to shock you, as did the earthquake some time past, but we want to give you a few pointers. We have pulled price-raisers down and cleared the path to Bargaindom. There are no tricks or illusions about our business methods—we give prices and goods that bear the light of investigation.

We are constantly outdoing our own past brilliant doings in value giving. Honest, Palpable, Bonafide Bargains are what you want and always get here. We are undersold by none.

—SOME PRICES.—

1 dozen ½-gallon Mason Jars, 95c
1 pound Cornstarch, 5c
Peaches, 10c per can
Best Brown Sugar, 5c
Granulated Sugae, 6c
Good quality 8-prong Hay Fork, 25c
Hickory Home-made Cradles, $2.50
Good Prints, 3½ 5¼ per yard.
Apron Ginghams, 5c per yard
Best Ticking, 14c per yard
Choice whole grain rice, 6c
Good quality Cuff-holders, 7c pair
24-inch Turkey Red Had'kfs, 5c each
Good quality Glass Tumblers, 25c set
Tobacco, from 20 to 40c
Wool Pants, 85c

—Other Goods Proportioately Low—

We invite you all to come in and see what great bargains we are constantly putting on our shelves.

Yours for Business,
"High Quality and Low Prices"

L. D. Sharp.

To the Public:

In order to close out our present stock of goods, we will offer for sale from this date to September 1st, 1897, all the goods which we have in hand at this time at from 5 to 10 per cent discount FOR CASH.

We will give a few prices for Cash:

DRESS GINGHAMS, 6 to 7cts
BEST PERCALES, 8½cts
DOMES. GINGHAMS, 5cts.
BLEACHED COTTONS, 7 to 8½cts
ARBUCKLE COFFEE, 15cts
GREEN COFFEE, 12½ to 20cts.
BEST CALICOES, 6cts.

ALL OTHER GOODS IN PROPORTION.

TAYLOR & McELWEE,
Successors to E. H. Moore & Co.
ACADEMY, W. VA. Je11

NO USE TALKING About Hard Times

When One Dollar will Buy as Much at SOL. DAVIS' as Two Dollars will Buy at Other Stores.

I have literally plunged the knife into even my former low prices to quicken sales, and the result is seen in the increased number of customers at my store. Do you want to share in the Bargains now offered in CLOTHING, BOOTS, SHOES, DRY GOODS, NOTIONS, &C.,

If so call at SOL. DAVIS', GREEN BANK, WEST VIRGINIA.

I will quote prices on a few things:

6 Spools Clark's O. N. T. Cotton for 25c
75 good Envelopes (3 packs) for 10c
72 sheets Ruled Note Paper for 10c
3 doz. (36 boxes) Matches for 25c
5 Boxes Essence of Coffee for 10c
1 dz ½gallon Mason Jars for $1.00

7lbs good 20c Coffee for $1.00
1lb good Chewing Tobacco for 25c
Mens' Laundried Shirts, white or colored, 50c
Calicoes, fast colors, 5 and 6c
Ginghams per yard 5 and 6c.

I am compelled to sell off my stock before putting in FALL and WINTER goods.—and I expect to put in a large and complete stock for the Fall. I have also lowered the prices of all other goods in general. Come in early as possible and get the choice selection. This is not a special sale, but you will find I am constantly selling goods below regular prices for SPOT CASH.

YOURS FOR LOW PRICES,

SOL. DAVIS,
Green Bank, W. Va.

PLEASE NOTICE

I am selling cheap and am paying the best price for your produce. My house is now full of bargains and will sell than anyone else for cash or your produce. But don't forget that money is ahead of everything. I am for strictly cash or produce.

A Little bit Cheaper

I have a few Summer Goods left to be closed out at Cost and Carriage

I have my fall stock on hands; a nice line of goods. Here are a few prices—

Green Coffee 12½ to 15c
Sugar 6 to 7
Gingham 5½ to 8
Good Shoes, $1.00 to $1.85.
Yarn 75c to 85c

Arbuckle Coffee 15c
Calico 4½ to 7
Cotton Cloth 5 to 9
Flannels 20 to 28
Masons Jars qt 75c ½g 95

Five per cent. off for Cash. On goods in quantity a further discount.

FOR PRODUCE.—Butter, 12½c; Eggs, 8c; Chickens, 6c gross.

Regular good goods—no shoddy. Call for prices—you will be treated right.

Thanking my customers for their liberal patronage, and trusting that others will come from a distance to examine my goods, I am Yours truly,

S. J. BOGGS,
—HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.—

Notice

Hereafter you can get Cabinet Photos at $2.50 per doz. Cards 1.50 per dozen—Cash with order.

ENLARGING, any size and stye, the cheapest you have ever heard of in this county.

Respectfully,
J. H. LANDES, Photographer

P. S. I shall continue to mend shoes, neatly, as heretofore; but will not undertake shoemaking complete. J. H. L.

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and billiousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

SEALED bids will be received by the Secretary of the Board of Education of Huntersville District, at his office in the town of Huntersville, Pocahontas County, W. Va., until Saturday at noon, September 25, 1897, for the construction of a school-house on Beaver Creek in said district, according to the plan and specifications now on file in the office of said Secretary.

Said building is to be completed and ready for use by the 1st day of December, 1897. Each bidder is required to accompany his bid with a bond with good personal security in a penalty of double the amount of said bid conditioned for the faithful performance of his contract.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

W. H. GROSE, Secretary.

HARNESS & SHOEMAKING.

If you want any work in my line —Harness and Shoemaking—I will be in my shop ready to wait on you for cash or produce in hand.

Thanking you for past favors, I am yours for business.

Respectfully,
J. H. CURRY,
Green Bank, W. Va

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners.

"Montani Semper Liberi!"

Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 15, NO. 8

MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, SEPTEMBER 17, 1897.

$1.00 PER YEAR

No. 11.—Polished Solid Oak 5-Drawer Chiffonier, 58 inches high, 30½ inches long, 18 inches deep. It is well constructed and has good locks on each drawer. Special price, (Orders promptly filled).

$3.39

Our success is not accidental. It is the reward of 48 years of honorable business. Our experience in the Furniture and Carpet business is yours for the asking. Our immense illustrated Catalogue of Furniture, Oil Cloths, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Bedding, Springs, Steel Beds, etc., is free to all who write for it, and we pay all postage. If you ask your local dealers' advice you will not send for our catalogue, as he will lose a customer. If you consult your pocket-book and want double value for your dollars, you will deal with the manufacturers. Send your name on a postal now.

Julius Hines & Son
BALTIMORE, MD.

SELL YOUR BRAINS HAVE THEM PATENTED and put on the Market. Millions in it. All kinds of Patent Business skillfully handled. Address NATIONAL INFORMATION BUREAU, Washington, D. C.

$1.00 Per Month Tuition MAKES A LAWYER.

Methods new and satisfaction guaranteed. For particulars address WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE LAW SCHOOL, 1409 N. Y. Ave., Washington, D. C.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATT'Y AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

Among the well-known citizens of our county from the twenties to the forties was Martin Dilley, Esq. It is believed that he was a native of Maryland and of Quaker descent. His wife was Hannah Moore, daughter of 'Pennsylvania' John Moore, the pioneer, and he located near Dilley's Mill, where his son the late Andrew Dilley lived. Here he settled in the virgin forest and rescued from the wilderness quite a large estate and accumulated an ample competency His home was known far and near where a bountiful hospitality was dispensed, and a cordial welcome awaited strangers and friends alike.

In reference to his family the following particulars have been gleaned from the reminiscences of some of his surviving friends.

His son John Dilley married Isabel (Ibbie) Dilley, daughter of Henry Dilley, a brother of Martin Dilley. John Dilley's daughter Margaret married Samuel Sutton near Green Bank, where she now lives. Jeremiah Dilley, a son of John Dilley, married Margaret McCarty, daughter of Daniel McCarty. Clayton Dilley married Mary Moore, daughter of James Moore. Clark Dilley, a Union soldier, married Margaret Arbogast, daughter of Rev Henry Arbogast, who was slain during the war, between Frost and Glade Hill.

John Dilley's second marriage was with Naomi McNeill, daughter of John McNeill, Esq., late of Swago. The children by the second marriage were as follows:

Hannah Jane married Wesley Irvine and lives near Verdant Valley. George Dilley married Amelia Warwick. He died in Lewis County. His widow married Hopkins Wanless and now lives near Dilley's Mill. Register Dilley lives in Iowa. Wilson Dilley married Margaret Rush, and lives on Brown's Mountain. Fletcher Dilley married Nancy Hannah, on Elk, and lives near West Union. Kenney Dilley is a journeyman printer, and founded the Pocahontas Herald at Huntersville, 1893. Davis Dilley at home. Summers Dilley married Amanda McLaughlin and lives on Elk. Peter Dilley married Georgiana Hamilton and lives on Knapp's Creek. Rebecca Dilley became Mrs Gratton S. Weiford and lives on the old homestead.

Elizabeth Dilley, daughter of Martin Dilley, was married to Peter Yeager and lived at Travelers Repose, where Peter Yeager her son now lives. Her other childrsn were Martin and Ella Yeager.

Ann Dilley married William Sharp and lived on Thorny Creek, where Lindsay Sharp now lives.

Martha Dilley married William Cleek, of Bath, Virginia, and lived near Windy Cove. Her sons were William and Charles Cleek. Her daughter Ann Cleek married Geo. Simpson. Sarah Cleek was married to William Simpson, and both lived in Bath.

Rachel Dilley married William Sharp, junior, and lived near the Big Spring of Elk. Her daughter Ella died at the age of six years. Her sons Bernard, Henry, and Luther were Union soldiers and died of wounds received during the war. Hugh, Silas, and Harmon are well-known prosperous citizens living on and near the homestead.

Mary Dilley married Alexander Sharp, near Verdant Valley, and lived on a part of the William Sharp homestead. Her only child is Mrs Hannah Johnson.

Andrew Dilley, Martin Dilley's second son, married Martha Sharp, youngest daughter of the late William Sharp, senior, and settled on the homestead. His family were two sons and a daughter. Hanson, Amos, and Elizabeth Francis, she died aged two years.

Amos J. Dilley married Araminta, daughter of Ralph Dilley, near Mount Zion in the Hills, and settled on Thorny Creek. Their children were Missouri Frances, now Mrs George A. Fertig; William Andrew; Noah Patterson, Howard Dennis, lately deceased; Uriah Hevener, Elizabeth Martha, Virgie May, Ernest, and Everett Amos.

Hanson Dilley married Caroline Stalnaker, and settled at Dilley's Mill of which he is the present owner.

John Dilley and Andrew Dilley were worthy sons of their very worthy father, Martin Dilley. In his day Martin Dilley was one of the most widely known of Pocahontas citizens, and his presence and character reflected credit upon the citizenship of the county in the estimation of those coming from abroad. He was of that type of citizenship of which any county might be considered fortunate to possess. As a member of society Martin Dilley was worthy of high esteem because of his energy, industry, attention to his own business, honest economical thrift, and exemplary morals. He owned a family of slaves to whom he was very indulgent and lenient.

For many years on public occasions at Huntersville—musters, superior courts, and Presidential elections—"Dilley's George" was usually one of the most conspicuous figures in the crowd as the vendor of ginger-cakes, apples, and cider. He would be dressed "fine as a preacher," very dignified in his manners, and would count out the cakes and deal the cider as if it made no difference to him whether you wanted any or not. He put on very sanctimonious airs trying to look and act like the preachers, and the imitation of tone, look, and gesture was quite a success. The articles he vended were the admiration of the whole county, and the parsonic old colored man found it remunerative, and all was owing to the indulgence of his benevolent master.

Some years before his decease, Martin Dilley was waylaid, fired upon and severely wounded at the bend of the road a mile or more east of Driscol. The event startled the whole county, and was one of the most pathetic and tragical scenes ever enacted in our county.

Mr Dilley deserves to be remembered as one of the more substantial and useful citizens of his generation. He should be held in esteem for what he accomplished in developing his part of our county, for he demonstrated that a rich reward awaited the diligent worker, and that an ample competence could be secured by such in spite of natural obstacles of dense forests, rugged soil, and seemingly capricious climate.

A chilly, rainy evening in April, 1847, the writer spent under the roof of this good old man, and shared the comforts so profusely provided. And he will ever remember how impressively the venerable man stood up, repeated and sang these words:

> We lay our graments by,
> Upon our beds to rest,
> So death will soon disrobe us all
> Of what we here possess.
>
> And when we early rise
> And view the unwearied sun,
> May we set out to win the prize
> And after glory run.
>
> And when our days are passed
> And we from time remove,
> O may we in thy bosom rest—
> The bosom of thy love.

Then he had us to kneel, and he the "priest and father" led in the family devotions preliminary to retiring for the night's repose. Such are the homes whence true peace and genuine prosperrty come forth to bless our people at large, and may there be many such.

W. T. P.

A DOUBTFUL WITNESS.—When Hamlin Garlin was gathering material for his life of Grant he spent a day or two in Atlanta, where he met an old Virginia negro who said he had witnessed Lee's surrender. Garland was interested and questioned him closely.

"You say you were present when Lee surrendered."

"Dat I wuz, suh!"

"Did you see Lee give up his sword?"

"No, sir, I didn't! Ginerul Lee give up he sword? Not him! Dey tried ter take it fum him, but he made a pass at one er two er dem, an' dey lef off—I tell you!"

"And where was Grant all that time?"

"Oh, he wuz right dar, suh! En be tol' em he did: 'Well, boys, let him keep he weepon. He can't do much damage, kase he done whipped, anyhow!"—Atlanta Constitution.

OUR GREAT REUNION.

The executive committee met last Thursday at the court-house and transacted a great deal of the preliminary work incidental to handling and providing for such a great concourse of people as will be seen at Marlinton that day. The citizens of the town are especially urged to decorate their dwellings and business houses for the occasion, and the indications are that every man, woman, and child will do all they can to beautify the village and provide comfortably for its visitors.

The committee has selected the beautiful grove back of the residence of B. M. Yeager (the Harper McLaughlin place) for the grounds. Here the grass grows green underneath the leafy sugar-maples. The grounds will be on the bank of Knapps Creek, one of the clearest of West Virginia streams. The procession will form near the Greenbrier bridge, about a mile distant. They will march to the corner of Main Street and Fourth Avenue and turn in by the temporary court-house, thence by the brick court-house to the scene. The order in which they form will be as follows:

The parade forms on Camden Avenue, the young ladies and their escorts south of the Presbyterian church and the veterans across the turnpike to the north. The procession will defile into Main Street at the drugstore in the following order:

The Hillsboro Cornet Band.

The young ladies cavalcade, headed by the Pocahontas chapter of daughters of the Confederacy. The young ladies will endeavor to obtain the following uniform:

White waist with red sailor collar and red cuffs, with white stars in corner of collar; black or dark skirt. Sash—red, white, and blue; cap with thirteen white stars on band. If the morning is cool of course they will wear cloaks.

Their escorts will wear white caps and sash of red, white, and red. Let no young lady refuse to ride because she is not decorated with stars and stripes, for our blue grass girls and blue grass horses will be a sight altogether lovely even should they be dressed in any old thing.

Then follows the Monterey brass band.

Then the Confederate veterans of Pocahontas, mounted, by camps

Pocahontas Camp. No. 873.
Moffatt Poage Camp, No. 949.
Camp Burgess, No. 929.
John S. Hoffman Camp, No. —
Visiting veterans mounted and on foot.

All who do not find in convenient to bring horses will march on foot. All Confederate veterans far and near are urged to be in the parade.

The speakers will await the procession at the corner of the temporary court-house. After the young ladies' cavalcade has passed they will open ranks to right and left and the veterans will pass through followed by carriage containing the orators. On reaching the grounds the ranks of the veterans will open and allow the speakers and the young ladies to pass through to the stand.

Parade forms at 10 A. M.
Speaking begins at 11 A. M.
Dinner free for all.

After dinner the veterans will form by their old organizations and march on the grounds.

These organizations will be present, and possibly others.

Pocahontas Riflemen, Major J. C. Arbogast, Green Bank.

Pocahontas Rescues, Huntersville, Captain Jacob W. Mathews.

Company —, 19th Cavalry, Captain William L. McNeel.

Company I, 19th Cavalry, Captain J. W. Marshall.

Bath Squadron, Colonel A. C. L Gatewood.

The chief marshall of the day is Adjutant-General A. C. L. Gatewood, who will select his own staff.

The officers of the Pocahontas camps are hereby called to meet at the court-house at 8:30 A. M. and effect a regimental organization.

On Wednesday night before the 30th there will be a musicale given in the town of Marlinton for the benefit of the association.

All stands and booths on the grounds will be under the auspices of the camps, and it is understood that no intruder will erect stands on the grounds that day to interfere with the proceeds that may accrue for the worthy object of caring for the Confederate dead. In this connection the help of the ladies by contributions of cream and cake is solicited.

Of course Union veterans, their families and friends are cordially invited to be with us that day.

Badges free for all veterans.

About 1000 flags have been ordered—both United States and Confederate.

Next meeting of the executive committee, Saturday, September 18, 1897, at court-house.

The indications are that the whole county will move en masse and invest Marlinton that day. Allready many a horse is being plied with grain and rubbed with assiduous care to be looking his brightest and best that day.

All committees hitherto appointed are retained and expected to work.

Committee to receive speakers: L. M. McClintic and W. A. Bratton.

Reception committee, to provide for all visiting veterans: L. M. McClintic, Dr J. M. Cunningham, Dr Price, W. A Bratton, E I Holt.

Committee on Decorations and Construction: Andrew Price, E. E. King, S. B. Scott, jr., Norman Price, J. A. Sharp, J. F. Killingsworth, Larry May, C. A. Yeager, John Maupin, Harvey Maupin, William Siple, William Irvine, S. L. Brown, Uriah Bird, John A. McLaughlin, Jas. Patterson, Mrs J. M. Cunningham, Mrs Andrew Price, Misses Mollie Smith, Daisy Yeager, Maud Yeager, Anna King, Meta Courtney, Fannie McLaughlin, Hattie Patterson, and Susie Price. The above are expected to take the lead in decorating the town. Other members of this committee are Mesdames E. I. Holt, James A. Larue, T. A. Sydenstricker, C. A. Eskridge, E. L. Beard, J. B. Lockridge, C. L. Austin, Misses Mattie Hevener, Emma N. Warwick, Mrs S. S. Varner, Mrs William Cameron.

Luncheon Committee: Mesdames John R. Warwick, William L. Brown, Uriah Hevener, Mac. Yeager, J. J. Beard, T. J. Williams M. A. Friel, A. C. L. Gatewood, Ligon, J. H. Patterson, W. W. Beard, William H. Auldridge, Preston Clark, L. M. McClintic, W. A. Bratton, Misses Mary Irene McNeel, Delia Edgar, Glenna Hill, and Maggie Patterson.

The province of this committee is to take charge of the dinner; they are to appoint their own assistants. This is a very important committee.

Committee to enlist young ladies and gentlemen to ride in ladies cavalcade:

Green Bank—Misses Lucy Siple, Flora Moomau, Gertie Yeager, Ella Pritchard; Hunter Moomau, Jesse Warwick, Robert Oliver, Joe Hannah.

Huntersville—Misses Lily Curry, Grace Harper, Myrtle Herold; H. P. Patterson, John A. Moore, Howard Barlow.

Edray—Misses Annette Ligon, Myrtle Varner, Flora Moore, Fannie McLaughlin; Eugene Gatewood, A. R. Gay, Walker Yeager, Yancey Ligon.

Levels—Misses Anna Wallace, Virgie Sydenstricker, Rella Clark, Pauline McNeel; Summers McNeel, Forest Hill, J. W. Beard, Norval Clark.

These district committees should meet at once and get their forces in readiness.

A SOUTH end apothecary displays bicycles in his window. This is probably because bicycles are now so plenty that they have become a drug in the market.—Boston Transcript.

A SUIT of blood-stained clothes, found beneath some rocks in Cheat river and blood spots on the rocks along the shore near by, are the central facts of a supposed murder mistery up about Kingwood. It is being investigated.—Ex

Sweetness and Light.

Put a pill in the pulpit if you want practical preaching for the physical man; then put the pill in the pillory if it does not practice what it preaches. There's a whole gospel in Ayer's Sugar Coated Pills; a "gospel of sweetness and light." People used to value their physic, as they did their religion,—by its bitterness. The more bitter the dose the better the doctor. We've got over that. We take "sugar in ours"—gospel or physic—now-a-days. It's possible to please and to purge at the same time. There may be power in a pleasant pill. That is the gospel of

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

More pill particulars in Ayer's Curebook, 100 pages. Sent free. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

THE CUBAN SITUATION.

Our readers need not be much surprised to hear some exciting news about Cuba, about or soon after the soldiers' reunion at Marlinton. In the estimation of a well-informed party it appears morally certain that when the United States minister to Spain is ready for business about the first thing he holds instructions for is to inform the Spanish authorities that the Cuban war should cease, and offer the good services of the American government with a view to the immediate independence of the Cuban republic. Mr McKinley's words may be softer than butter, but to the Spaniards they mean war, and his offers of assistance will be rejected with such anger and contempt as only a Spaniard can juslty express.

Mr Woodford has been aroused to see our ambassadors to France, England, and Germany, and what they have been saying about Cuba would make interesting reading. In his polite way Mr Woodford will tell the Spanish authorities how interested the United States have become in speedily ending a barbarous and devastating war so near the American coast. It is sometimes the case that a blister externally applied will relieve a severe internal ailment. It would look as if Dr McKinley has about concluded that a blister of Spanish fly preparation might soothe and allay the internal fevers and disturbances that have been so disagreeable to our own people at home, and seem to be getting but little better with the treatment heretofore used.

From all that we can gather it is the opinion of those in authority is is evident that the time for heroic treatment has about supervened, and when Minister Woodford reaches Madrid and opens up for business stirring events may be looked for. There will be talk of war and there may be war, but let that be as it may; the plans are all in course of development and Cuba will be lifted from the dust, her tears wiped away, and her liberties as fully assured as the powers of the United States can guarantee.

S. C. R.

"My boy came home from school one day with his hand badly lacerated and bleeding, and suffering great pain," says Mr E. J. Schall, with Meyer Bros.' Drug Co., St. Louis, Mo. "I dressed the wound, and applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely. All pain ceased, and in a remarkably short time it healed without leaving a scar. For wounds, sprains, swellings and rheumatism I knew of no medicine or perscription equal to it. I consider it a household necessity." The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by all druggists.

IT was a lucky thing for poor Mr Dingley that some villian did not slip a free trade clause in his tariff bill when he wasn't looking.—Detroit News.

NEURALGIA, and long depression cause the hair to turn gray prematurely. Hall's Hair Renewer will restore the color, and prevent the hair from falling.

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

LOBELIA.—Delayed.

Dry and warm.

Threshing is in full blast, and wheat is turning out finely. Some of our farmers have threshed 200 bushels. 20 years ago 40 bushels was a big crop for this county; therefore, you see, there is some advance in farming.

John Eggleton and wife, of Friars Hill, were the gusts of W. B. Hill last week.

Rev Dills and Morgan are holding services on Bruffeys Creek.

We learn that Owen Adams is very sick about fourteen miles from here.

Remus Hill started to Camden to day for Miss Mabel Lewis.

Plenty of squirrels in this section. Hill & Co. killed fifty last week.

J. E. Mcmillion commenced his school to-day at Locust.

Rev Hodges returned last Saturday from the Baptist association and reports a nice time.

Miss Luna Himes, of Trout, W. Va., and brother stopped over a few days on returning from Conference.

W. B. Hill found a coal mine on his farm one mile from Lobelia. Elevation 30 feet above creek. Valuation $1,000.

The law forbids the killing of deer for five years; turkeys, pheasants, quail, ruffed grouse for two years from passage of same, so be careful and do not let your gun go off. Bears and rabbits are all that is left for sportsmen.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY,

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of CATARRH that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886. A. W. GLEASON,
Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.

Guaranteed tobacco habit cure, makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggists.

THEY talk about Cleveland's but look at McKinley's!—Chronicle-Telegraph.

To Cure Constipation Forever.

Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

WHAT the Ohio Populists need is a referee instead of a referendum.—Detroit News.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.

Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

THE advance agent of prosperity has been follow by his performance and everybody has a right-good show.—The North American.

To Cure Constipation Forever.

Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

IN passing from Walker to Walker it is to be hoped that President Andrews has not exchanged the frying-pan for the fire.—Boston Transcript.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor
VOL. 15, NO. 9 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, SEPTEMBER 24, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 11.--Polished Solid Oak 5-Drawer Chiffonier, 53 inches high, 30¾ inches long, 18 inches deep. It is well constructed and has good locks on each drawer. Special price, (Orders promptly filled).

$3.39

Our success is not accidental. It is the reward of 48 years of honorable business. Our experience in the Furniture and Carpet business is yours for the asking. Our immense illustrated catalogue of Furniture, Oil Cloths, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Bedding, Springs, Steel Beds, etc., is free to all who write for it, and we pay all postage. If you ask your local dealers' advice you will not send for our catalogue, as he will lose a customer. If you consult your pocket-book and want double value for your dollars, you will deal with the manufacturers. Send your name on a postal now.

Julius Hines & Son
BALTIMORE, MD.

SELL YOUR BRAINS HAVE THEM PATENTED and put on the Market. Millions in it. All kinds of Patent Business [illegible] fully handled. Address NATIONAL [illegible]

$1.00 Per Month Tuition MAKES A LAWYER.

Methods new and satisfaction guaranteed. For particulars address WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE LAW SCHOOL, 1420 N. Y. Ave., Washington, D. C.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

The Brown relationship trace their ancestry to Joseph Brown. He was of Scotch-Irish stock. His wife was Hannah M'Afferty. They lived a few years in Bath County, on the Bull Pasture, thence removed and settled on lands now owned by William C. Mann, near Edray. Some fruit-trees and a fine spring indicate the place where they lived, about three-fourths of a mile east of Mr Mann's residence.

Mr Brown died in a few years after settling here, but was survived by his widow for many years. She became suddenly blind and remained so for twenty years. She spent her time in knitting and taught many of her grand-daughters to knit. Among them was the late Mrs Thomas Nicholas. Mrs Nicholas would often tell how her grandmother would take her little hands into her hands and put them through the motions until she could knit herself. A few years [illegible] Mrs Brown recovered her sight as quickly as she had lost it, and could count chickens and geese forty yards away.

The widow Brown's daughters Polly and Hannah lived and died at the old home.

Rachel Brown was married to William Brock, and settled on the homestead.

Ann Brown became the wife of Jeremiah Friel, progenitor of the Friel relationship, and lived on the Greenbrier where Jasper Friel now lives.

Elizabeth Brown married a Mr McGuire, and lived in Nicholas.

Joseph Brown, junior, went to Nicholas County. His son Wesley Brown, a Confederate, soldier, was at Edray during the great war between the States, and made himself known to his relatives.

John Brown was a soldier in the war of 1812, and never returned.

Josiah Brown, in whose memory this sketch is specially pseparped and published, was the eldest of Joseph Brown's sons, and he married Jennie Waddell, a daughter of Alexander Waddell and Ellen Rouss his wife, near Mill Point. Josiah Brown was born June 22, 1777, his wife was born April 4th, 1771, married in 1799, and settled on the western section of the Brown homestead. Traces of the settlement yet to be seen near Mr Mann's residence. They were the parents of seven daughters.

Eleanor Brown, born August 6, 1802, was married to Zecheriah Barnett, from Lewis County, W. Va. Mr Barnett settled on a section of the Brown homestead, on land now owned by Andrew M. McLaughlin. In reference to her family the following particulars are given: John Wesley Barnett died died young; Josiah Barnett, John Andrew Barnett died in youth. Sarah Jane Barnett was married to George McLaughlin, late of Driftwood. He was a faithful Confederate soldier. Hannah Barnett became Mrs William Townsend. Martha Barnett lately deceased.

James Barnett, Thomas Barnett, Stephen Barnett, and Newton Barnett are well-nnown citizens near Driftwood. The three first named were Confederate soldiers.

Hannah Brown was married to Jacob Arbaugh, who was from near Mill Point, and first settled on Sugar Tree Run, a part of the Brown homestead. Her children were Eliza Jane, Susannah Simms Lauretta Frances, Nancy Caroline, John Allen, George Brown, James Marion, William Hanson, and Joseph Newton.

John Arbaugh was a Confederate soldier, and died in 1861 at the Lockridge Spring, near Driscol. George and James passed through the war. George was in the 31st Regiment of Virginia Infantry.

Shortly after the war Jacob Arbaugh moved to Johnson County, Missouri, which he jocularly referred to as his twentieth change of homes since his marriage.

Jennie Brown, born October 9, 1805 was married to John Friel, son of Jeremiah Friel the pioneer, and settled on a section of the Friel homestead on the Greenbrier River. They were the parents of three sons and three daughters. Fuller particulars respecting her family will appear in another paper

Ann Brown, born December 9, 1806, was married to James Courtney, and first settled on a part of the homestead. Their children were Andrew Jackson, Thomas, George Washington, Hanson, who died at the age of six years; Jane, who is now Mrs Adam Gliger; Julia, who is Mrs James Rhea; and Hannah Gay, who is now Mrs Godfrey Geiger.

Andrew Courtney was a Confederate soldier and died a prisoner of war at Fort Deleware. Thomas Courtney was also a Confederate soldier, survived the war, and now lives near Marlinton. George W. Courtney was a Confederate soldier, survived the war, but died near Buckeye about the year 1887.

Martha Brown, born February 14, 1808, was married to William Waugh, son of Samuel Waugh the pioneer, and settled at the old home. Martha was known in her family as "daddy's boy," since she she was constantly out of doors with her father. She could harness the teams, plough, or drive the sled as occasion required. She was the mother of ten children--Davis, Zane, Robert, Enos, Ozias, William Clark, Jane Miriam, Mary Ann, and Almira. She died in Missouri, having lived awhile in Upshur County, West Virginia, then in Iowa.

Miriam Brown was born Augus-6, 1810, was first married to James Walker Tyman, a native of Augusta County. Mr Tyman was a school teacher. They first settled on Elk where they lived two or three years. He and Robert Beale were friends and worked together in a sabbath school that was attended by the Gibsons, Varners, Hannahs, Mealys, and others. The land he worked on Elk had been a part of David Hannah's, and is now owned by John B. Hannah.

Mr Twyman put out a field of corn that grew finely and was very promising. But early in August there was a heavy frost, he became discouraged, gave up his land, and moved to Greenbrier River to land given Mrs Twyman by her father, Joseph Brown. Here he taught school, having the Friels, Moores, and Sharps for pupils. Mr Twyman had business in Huntersville the 17th of January, 1834, and on his return was drowned in Thorny Creek. His body was found on the 19th and buried the 20th. The Greenbrier home was just above the "Bridger Place." Their daughter Mary Frances is now Mrs Otho W. Ruckman, on Indian Draft.

Mrs Twyman's second marriage was to the late Thomas Nicholas, on Indian Draft, near Edray. Mr Nicholas was a skillful mechanic, a much respected and prosperous citizen.

Mary Brown, born April 13, 1812, and was married to Jacob Waugh, and lived in Buckhannon. Jacob Waugh was a prominent citizen of Upshur County. Mrs Mary Waugh was the mother of fifteen children, fine only lived to be grown. Her sons were, Brown, Enoch, Homer, and John William. The daughter, Leah Waugh, was the third wife of the late Dr Pleasant Smith, of Edray.

With the patient assistance of Mrs Mary F. Ruckman it has been put into the writer's power to furnish the preceding biographic particulars illustrating the family history of Josiah Brown, one of the early settlers of our county.

His history was one of humble toil and self-sacrifice for the good of his family. In the course of his life he endured great personal suffering and afflictions. He was bitten twice by rattlesnakes when in the ranges looking after his livestock. Once he was with his neighbor the late William Sharp, who cared for him and helped him home. The second time he was alone, and it is believed he saved his life by putting his lips to the punctures end thus extracted the poison. Finally a strange sore appeared in the corner of one of his eyes and spread over most of the right side of his face. Many believed this sore was the result of the snake bites. It caused him excruciating sufferings that were greatly intensified by the efforts of sympathizing well-meaning friends to give him relief.

Sad and pathetic memories of his brother John Brown seemed to be ever haunting his mind, and the tears seemed to be ever ready to flow at the mention of his name.

In the war of 1812 Josiah Brown was drafted for service at Norfolk, Virginia. John Brown, a younger brother, being unmarried, volunteered in his brother's place, and was accepted, and was ordered to report for service at the Warm Springs. John seems to have been a very pious youth. On the evening before his departure for the seat of war he came over to his brother Josiah's to bid them all farewell and have one more season of social prayer and supplication. Then as he went away over the fields he was heard singing:

"When I can read my title clear
To mansions in the skies,
I'll bid farewell to every fear,
And wipe my weeping eyes.

"Let cares like a wild deluge come
And storms of sorrow fall,
May I but safely reach my home;
My God, my Heaven, my all!"

This was the last that was ever seen or heard of him by his brother Josiah's family, as he never came back from the war. His remains are somewhere near Norfolk or perhaps most probably at Craney Island.

Truly, Josiah Brown's history is a sad and touching one. He now knows, no doubt, what Moses meant when he prayed: "Make me glad according to the days wherein thou hast afflicted me and the years wherein I have seen evil."

W. T. P.

ABOUT MONROE COUNTY.

The town of Union is located in a charmingly picturesque region. It is convenient to renowned summer resorts. The railroad is sufficiently near to secure its facillities of transportation and travel without the din and annoyance those endure who live immediately on the railroad. There are four churches, whose pews are largely occupied by persons from the surrounding country. There seems to be no apparent lack of congeniality between the town and country people. The country people are proud of their town, newspaper, official and professional citizenship, while the town people are ever speaking in praise of their country friends.

The history of Union society is adorned by the names of such eminent persons as Senators A. F. Carpenter and Frank Hereford, Gen Chapman, member of Congress, and his son, Capt. Chapman commander of Chapman's Artillery Company, composed of the flower of young Monroe patriots, and did such gallant service.

It is near Union that Judge A. N. Campbell lives, the brave soldier, the pure Judge, and model Christion gentleman, and who is held in such high esteem by so very many of our readers.

For many years the eminent Divine, Rev. Dr. Houston, resided in Union, one of the grandest men of his time then living in West Virginia. To his influence and instruction is due very much of the intelligence and refined culture and elevated type of piety for which a certain element of Monroe society is distinguished.

It was the writer's pleasure to meet in the editorial room of the Monroe Watchman the young Editor, A. S. Johnson, who is rapidly coming to the front as a live, progressive journalist. His history is one that illustrates how a youth of good morals, dilligent application, and ever ready for any service, so it be honest and useful, can rise and be power for good in the community, in spite of serious drawbacks.

Much to the credit of Union society is the esteem and respect that is shown to Robert Crebs, a young master mechanic, who is devoted to his calling. Much of his hardly earned gains have been lavishly spent in the care comfort of an invalid parent and sisters, an example of self-sacrifice but rarely equaled. He is a worthy brother of his accomplished and useful sister, Miss Ella Crebs, organist, a distinguished teacher of high schools, and housekeeper for her brother Robert.

The more I write about Union, the more comes to my mind, and the more difficult appears the effort to do the interesting subject the justice it so richly deserves, and so the writer would conclude by remarking that to him it is a matter of proud congratulation that in West Virginia there is such a County as Monroe, and that Monroe has such an interesting county town as Union.

As our people are contemplating a reunion at an early day, it may perhaps interest them to listen to some faint echoes of the Monroe Reunion that came off so recently with such a tremendous out pouring of the patriotic citizenship of Monroe and adjoing counties. Such another gathering is hardly to be be looked for in this generation. The almost universal opinion is that, as it was arranged, it was a melancholy instance of "vanity and vexation of spirit," and keenly felt disappointment of cherished expectations, and of every thing turning out differently from what was anticipated. It seems there was "too much chin music;" to use the terse language of one of the bravest of the brave, an old artillery "rammer." "There was too much chin music, and too little band music, and too little time for shaking hands, jokes, happy greeting words, and working the jaws on the good eatin's." Now, if the Marlinton manngement will take the cue from this brave old "rammer," happy memories will be carried home by all that may be present, unless it be the "chin musicians." Thousands of people are ready to say that there may be too much of a 'good thing,' of the kind hinted at, when reunions are on hand.

Three or four miles from Caldwell, near the roadside as one travels towards Union, is the comparatively hidden and unknown Organ cave. When it comes to be carefully explored and written up, it will take its place among the most picturesque and interesting objects of its kind in our State. The Irish Corner basin finds an outlet for it drainage here, as has been demonstrated. Some years since parties threw handfuls of wheat bran into the rivulet that disappears in this cavern, and the bran reappeared at the Nickell mill pond, on Second Creek about, four miles southward. Its tunnels and chambers have been explored for miles in various directions. The salt-petre rooms were worked in the war of 1812 and in the late war between the States. The nitrous earth seems to be very plentiful. Wooden shovels, hoppers and sleds used in 1812 have been found not so very long since in a room that had been overlooked for many years. This room is entered by a tunnel about as large as an oil barrel and seven or eight feet long. The earth was brought thro the tunnel in narrow sleds drawn by hand, by means of hickory wythes. There is a formation at one place bearing a striking resemblance to Fingals cave and is suggestive of a reed organ. When this formation is struck by something hard, sounds are produced in a variety of intonations, and hence the name Organ Cave. The primitive forests overshadow the entrance, and every thing around is awe-inspiring, and, in some respects, it is more impressive to approach this gloomy cavernous opening than it is to stand near the Natural Bridge in Virginia.

The late James Scott, whose home was near the eastern base of the "seven-mile" mountain beyond the Sweet Springs, had a singular fancy for rattlers. He lived as a bachelor and was a person of remarkable corpulency, weighing about three hundred pounds when at his best. He had tamed three or four immense snakes and they had the freedom of his bed-room. It was a favorite pastime with him to invite boys into this room on some playful pretext, and, when they would enter the room and break away from the unexpected snakes scattered about the floor, in their fright, he would shake all over with loud hilarious laughter. At night he would gather up his pets, giants of their kind, put them in bed, and sleep with them in his arms.

Rattlesnakes, Butterflies, and . . . ?

Washington Irving said, he supposed a certain hill was called "Rattlesnake Hill" because it abounded in—butterflies. The "rule of contrary" governs other names. Some bottles are, supposedly, labeled "Sarsaparilla" because they are full of . . . well, we don't know what they are full of, but we know it's not sarsaparilla; except, perhaps, enough for a flavor. There's only one make of sarsaparilla that can be relied on to be all it claims. It's Ayer's. It has no secret to keep. Its formula is open to all physicians. This formula was examined by the Medical Committee at the World's Fair with the result that while every other make of sarsaparilla was excluded from the Fair, Ayer's Sarsaparilla was admitted and honored by awards. It was admitted because it was the best sarsaparilla. It received the medal as the best. No other sarsaparilla has been so tested or so honored. Good motto for the family as well as the Fair: Admit the best, exclude the rest.

Any doubt about it? Send for the "Curebook."
It kills doubts and cures doubters.
Address: J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Mrs Ida Boone, the only daughter of Mrs Mary Caruth, who was for a time missionary to the Indians in the Indian Territory, is living near Organ Cave, Greenbrier County, wife of Mr William Boone. Among the curious things in her possession is a gourd bearing a striking resemblance to a baseball bat and could be readily taken for such at the first glance. It is about four feet in length and perfectly straight.

W. T. P.

WHEN WE WERE NON-JURORS

On the 16th day of September, 1861, Judge Robert M. Hudson held a whole term of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, Virginia, and adjourned it until the next term. Certain events transpired so that not another order was entered for over four years when we see Judge Harrison, of the 9th judicial circuit composed of the counties of Pocahontas, Monroe, Greenbrier, Mercer, and M'Dowell, entered an order in vacation, Aug. 17, 1865, oppointing court officers, who were: Robert T. Gay, Clerk; William Curry, Deputy Clerk; J. F. Wanless, Sheriff. The court-house at Huntersville not being in condition to hold court in, the first court was held at Wesley Chapel, at Hillsborough.

By looking at the files of the circuit court of Pocahontas County for the years 1865 to 1868 a large number of indictments for murder may be found against Confederate soldiers on account of persons killed in opposing the Confederate army in open fight. Some of these soldiers, in fact most of them, are those who stand highest in the estimation of the citizens of the connty and who are leading members in church and state. These cases were never tried. The fact that a state of belligerenxy existed in America from the year 1861 to 1865, seems to have been generally recognized by all the civilized world, with the exception of the grand juries of Pocahontas County of the courts when an ex-Confederate sympathizer was as distinctly a non-juror as any of the outlawed Jacobins who supported the Stuart kings of England.

When the citizens of this county are inclined to grumble at the irksomeness of jury duty, they should remember the condition of affairs when the privilege was denied them. In those days some of the men afterwards could sway the civil government of the county in whatsoever way they would, and were leaders of the dominant party had to lobby for their lives.

Judge Nathaniel Harrison, a State appointee, was on the bench. He has been hated uniformly by our people since his term of service here, but we have heard eminent lawyers declare that he was an excellent lawyer. His private character was not above reproach, if we can judge from the tales we still hear of him; and it is not uninteresting to study the signature with which each days proceedings were closed by him. Ordinarily it is bold and true, showing that he wrote a beautiful hand; while at other times it is so badly turned that it can hardly be read, indicating that the hand that held the pen was very tired or overcome. There is a tradition that soon after leaving here this judge died a pauper in the city of Denver.

At one of the courts an order shows that there was not an attorney present who could make oath that he had not borne arms against the United States or aided and abetted those in rebellion. Then the judge appointed Colonel J. W. Davis to prepare indictments and render such aid to the grand jury as they might require, "which he promptly and efficiently done."

On the 3d day of April, 1866, William Skeen, a practising attorney of Virginia, presented a full pardon and amnesty from the President of the United States and evidence that he had taken the oaths prescribed and that he had been a regular practising attorney of Pocahontas County since 1839, and that he was marked on the docket as counsel in 105 cases, but being unable to take the oath prescribed by the State of West Virginia his motion to practice law was overruled and exceptions taken.

It was about this time that Daniel Stofer, afterwards prosecuting attorney of this county, took the oath required by the State and was held in jail for perjury until the Supreme Court passed on the case.

The supreme court reversing the action of the circuit court convicting Daniel Stofer of perjury, the said Stofer moved the court to reinstate him as a practising attorney, but Judge Harrison took the view of the matter that the supreme courf had passed upon a technicality and had not decided the case upon its merits. and that out of respect for bench and bar the said Stofer should not come back and be reinstated.

At the April Term, 1870, Judge McWhorter held his first term here, and the first order made was allowing "Count" Stofer to qualify.

At this term of court other attorneys who qualified were John M. Lightner, Henry M. Mathews, William M. McAllister, Joseph Mayse, George H. Moffett, and Alexander F. Mathews.

With the disappearance of Judge Harrison, who resigned two years before his term expired, the fear with which the ex-Confederates regarded the courts wholly disappeared. In a short their disabilities were removed, and since then they have taken the liberty to remain in power to the extent of electing county officials with more or less regularity.

Examination for Teachers.

Teachers' examination will be held at Marlinton, West Virginia, October 6 and 7, 1897.

D. L. BARLOW,
County Superintendent Schools.

Art Exhibit.

I will give an art exhibit in the basement of the Methodist Church at Hillsboro, September 25, from 1 to 5 P. M. This exhibit will show the work of my class. The public is cordially invited.

MRS J. H. DILLS.

DISTURBANCE of the nervous system, and great sorrow, often cause the hair to blanch and fall. Counteract this and restore the color with Hall's Hair Renewer.

e Pocahontas Times.

r, Land o' Cakes and brither Scots,
e Maidenkirk to Johnny Groats, ere's a hole in a' your coats,
I rede ye tent it;
hiel's amang you takin' notes,
An' faith he'll prent it.—Burns.

Local Events.

B. M. Yeager says the prospect a railroad is very flattering and t he thinks we are right in it.

The public is invited to attend exhibit of Mrs J. H. Dills' art ss at Academy next Saturday.

The Wesley Chapel, at Glade l, was dedicated last Sunday by vs Martin and Wheeler.

The law protects wild turkeys, easants and partridges for two rs. This will at least prevent ir sale in the stores.

The railroad engineers moved ir camp to the mouth of Clover ek last Wednesday. From there expect to pitch their tents at Sharp's.

The usual services at Sunset the th Sabbath of September at 11 ock; Huntersville at night. eaching at Marlinton the first bbath at 11 a. m.; Hamlin Chapat 3 p. m.

It would be better for this town the railroad came to this point d went up Knapps Creek. It ould be better for the County at rge if it followed the meanderngs of the Greenbrier.

The recent talk of a railroad brings up a talk of long ago when road was being first spoken of up Elk. An old lady said, "I don't see how they can build a railroad up Elk, when the farmers can hardly get rails to build their fences."

Tuesday morning the ground was covered with frost. Ice a quarter of an inch thick was formed on water pails. The vegetation was frozen stiff, yet for some reason it was not blasted. Most are of the opinion that this was due to the extreme dryness of the air.

The writ of prohibition in the Eastham murder case from Tucker County was refused by the Supreme Court at its recent session. The writ of habeas copus also failed. The case is remanded to the Circuit Court of Tucker for trial under the indictment for murder.

Marion County is to have a County-seat war. The town of Manington proposes to build the court-house and jail free. Fairmont is the old County seat, and has a contract let for a County court-house to cost $200,000. There has been a good deal of work done on the foundation.

In our last issue we by mistake inserted in H. A. Yeager's letter all that part designating committee men, color of caps to be worn, and the arrangement with Mrs Cunningham for their purchase; which was the work of the executive committee. He was also made to say that three bands would be in attendance when his letter does not mention bands at all.

Forty squirrels were killed in one cornfield in the Levels in one day recently. It has ceased to be a laughing matter. One man reports that from a five acre field he does not believe there will be gathered a hundred undamaged ears In this town is a small hickory tree which has some nuts on it, and two squirrels were killed there Monday morning, right in the heart of the town, so to speak.

To judge from the contents of the Randolph County papers, the County seat controversy is a hot, dangerous fight. The proposition made by the town of Elkins has been termed bribery and corruption by Beverly adherents. Some Beverly men have called the number of new settlers "squatters" in a way that makes it a term of reproach. We, in this County, know of the animosities aroused by this kind of election, which in this County equaled in some respects the feelings engendered by the Civil War. To the honor of this County, be it said, that the Court-house question has not entered into the election of County officers, except to prove disastrous to those who attempted to use it.

A distressing drought has prevailed in Monroe and contiguous sections of Greenbrier for the past six weeks. This will make seeding quite late and hasten the cutting of corn. Much of the wheat, now selling for 80 cents at Ronceverte, weighs 64 pounds to the measured bushel. Some of the oats weigh several pounds more than the regulation weight. Railroad ties are selling for thirty cents apiece; sixteen or seventeen make a two horse load. Parties are hauling lumber and staves from the head of Little Creek to White Sulphur on terms that about pay for their "vittles and clothes," this is however much better than doing nothing. The traffic in staves seems to be something phenominal at the present time. A contractor at Union was instructed to procure some first class clear pine for a building he was fitting up. Upon going to Ronceverte he found the kind he wanted, but learned it was at fifty four dollars a thousand feet. He procured, as a makeshift, lumber rated at twenty-seven dollars per thousand. This lumber grew in Pocahontas. How is that for high?

Peter Oliver has been appointed postmaster at Green Bank.

All railroads lately have an increased business both in freight and passengers.

Corbett will give a boxing exhibition at the Lewis county fair at Weston.

Highland County has still great hopes of an electric road laid on the road bed of the Staunton and Parkersburg turnpike.

The mayor and town marshall of Cameron and a policeman were arrested for trespass on the complaint of a man who had been fined for disobeying a city ordinance.

The Alleghany Collegiate Institute, at Alderson, has had a very auspicious opening. At the beginning this year the school had twenty-five more pupils than last year.

Special Notice—All young ladies who expect to ride in the procession will prepare a red band with thirteen white stars for cap, as caps could not be secured with stars. Caps can be had at Mr. Cunningham's by Tuesday, the 28.

The frost Wednesday morning completed what the frost of Tuesday began. We have frosts every fall, and in fact every month in the year at this altitvde, so while some corn has been caught uncut still we should congratulate ourselves that we have had a reasonably long season.

Congressman Clayton, of Alabama says that prosperity has not struck the south. Wheat is good for the west. but cotton at a cent less per pound than this time last [illegible] all the planter has to buy at an increased price, the prospects are not very brilliant for the southern people.

Now when squirrels are so plentiful that many persons are killing them and not using them a receipt for a squirrel ragout may be in order. Boil the squirrel until done. Let it cool. Strip the meat from the bones and stew with onions and either cooked or uncooked potatoes. Season to taste. Break dry bread in it and serve hot.

The amount of interest that is being taken in the reunion is wonderful. None would have believed three months ago that any social affair could have so stirred the people of the county. Visitors to our county will see it when the eternal hills have put on the varied dress of fall, the coat of many colors. The people within reaching distance of Marlinton have made arrangements to entertain the visitors the night before and the night after. In the Levels, particularly, the committee has consulted with the various citizens, and they have systematicall provided for the visitors from Greenbrier and those who come from that direction. The denizens of Marlinton will all contribute towards the decoration of their houses and business places.

There is an interesting railroad survey on record in the clerk's office of the county court which lays off the route from Marlinton to the mouth of Clover Creek. It is the survey of the old Black Diamond road that was about to be built twenty years ago. The distance given by this survey from Huntersville to Clover Creek is 23 miles, to Marlinton seven and from thence 23 miles. Apparently it is an easy road to be built as long as they keep to the route on which the present engineers are working, but when they leave the Greenbrier and go up Clover creek to cross the divide to the waters of Elk the trouble begins. Cuts, trestles, tunnels, and fills follow each other in bewildering succession on an average grade of about two hundred feet to the mile. There are calculations for hundred thousands cubic yards of excavations of solid rock and loose earth. Thousands of cubic yards of masonry called for. We can well understand how this road struck terror to the souls of its promoters.

The Musicale of next week bids fair to be something worth seeing by all. The program will consist of entirely new features and the entertainment will not contain a feature that has been given here before. A one act tragedy, entitled the "Battle of Droop Mountain," will be put upon the boards for the first time, with that able histrionic genius, Mr Walker Yeager, playing the leading part. The scene is laid in a mountain home, five miles (a good running distance in those days) from the battle ground on the day of the battle. A Confederate soldier, a member of Captain McNeel's company, comes in covered with gore, and very much out of breath by his long run, and tells his wife all about the battle and how several of our prominent county men acted. The act ends by the arrival of a squad of Federal soldiers who capture the hero of Droop Mountain. Some of the tableaus will be beautiful. "The breadth of my love" by little George McClintic, and "Suanee River" by "Brack Uncle George Lee," will be particularly taking. Mr W. A. Bratton sings the "Raccoon and the Bee," so popular this season. The vocal and instrumental music by the ladies, the guitar, banjo and harmonica renditions, and some concert pieces by the Beverly band should make it the best thing ever given in the county. Admittance 25c; children 15c.

Personal Mention.

Miss Mabel Ligon went to Lewisburg to school this week.

Miss Bessie Edgar is attending school at Waynesboro.

Mrs Charles Arbuckle, of Missouri, is visiting in Pocahontas.

O. H. Kee has begun his duties as guard at the Weston Hospital.

Mrs Jeff Killingsworth has a slight attack of fever.

Dick Beard is around gathering up lambs, and expects to ship the same at an early date.

Mrs L. M. McClintic, who has been suffering from the effects of a fall, has about recovered from her injuries.

Presbyterial Notes.

Rev D. M. Layton, of Frankford Church, was nominated Commissioner to the next General Assembly, to meet at New Orleans, in May 1898. Rev Ben Harop, of Ronceverte, alternate. Ruling Elder Pollock, principal and Elder W. R. Dotson, alternate.

The next stated meeting of Presbytery will be at Lowell, April 27, 1898, at 7:30 p. m.

Rev W. T. Price tendered his resignation as pastor of the Marlin's Bottom and Huntersville churches.

Rev Ben Harropp preached the Presbyterial sermon on Perfect Sanctification; Collosions, 1: 22-23.

General Orders No. 1.

Headquarters Pocahontas camps
U. C. V., September 20, 1897.

The following will be the order of the line of march at the reunion September 30, 1897.

1st—The veterans will form on Camden Avenue, north of the drug store. The chapters of the Daughters of the Confederacy will form south of the road near the Presbyterian church, promptly at 9 a. m.

2d—The procession will move at 10 o'clock in the following order: The Mildred Lee chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy, headed by the Hillsboro Cornet Band, and followed by the "Julia Jackson" chapter from Hillsboro; then the "Belle Boyd" chapter from Green Bank, followed by ladies and their escorts not belonging to any of the above chapters.

3d—The Veteran Camps led by the Beverly Band will move in the following order: Chief marshall and staff followed by regimental officers and staff, followed by Pocahontas Camp, Colonel S B. Hannah; Camp Burgess, Captain M. J. McNeel; Camp Moffett Poage, Captain H. A. Yeager; Camp John S. Hoffman, Captain J. R. Wawick; followed by visiting veteran camps in the order as they may prefer, veterans on foot marching in the rear.

4th—The procession will move to the second arch where it will pass in review to the orators of the day. The chapters of ladies cavalcade after passing second arch will halt, open ranks, and allow the veterans to pass them, followed by the orators carriage. Immediately after they pass the chapters will close ranks, and led by the Hillsboro Band, will follow the veterans.

5th—The veterans in passing in review to the orators at the second arch will salute them by raising their hats above their heads with the right hand, holding the bridle rein in the left hand.

6th—The procession on reaching the grove. The veterans will halt. open ranks, and allow the orators followed by the chapters to proceed to the speakers stand.

7th—All officers will wear their insignia of rank on the coat collar as prescribed by the Confederate Army Regulations and will be obeyed and respected accordingly. All veterans will wear the badge pinned to the left lappel of the coat.

A. C. L. Gatewood,
Adj't. Gn. & Chief Marshall.

Tailor-made Clothing.—I will be in Marlinton during court with a full line of samples of dress goods for men of all kinds. I take measure and guarantee a fit. Prices from $8 to $25.

W. B. Hill,
Agent for The Chicago Tailors Association. Capacity 1,000 daily.

Growing Children

One-third of all the children die before they are five years old. Most of them die of some wasting disease. They grow very slowly; keep thin in flesh; are fretful; food does not do them much good. You can't say they have any disease, yet they never prosper. A slight cold, or some stomach and bowel trouble takes them away easily.

SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites is just the remedy for growing children. It makes hard flesh; sound flesh; not soft, flabby fat. It makes strong bones, healthy nerves. It changes poor children to children rich in prosperity.

Book about it free for the asking.
☞ No substitute for Scott's Emulsion will do for the children what we know Scott's Emulsion will do. Get the genuine.
For sale by all druggists at 50c. and $1.00.
SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

Serious Accident near Dunmore.

Harry Moore was shot in the hip by the accidental discharge of a shot-gun in the hands of Ed. Jackson, Monday morning. The two friends were out hunting squirrels, as they had been before several times this season. In passing a corn-field a squirrel ran along the zig-zag top of the rail-fence. Mr Moore was in front and ran after it with Mr Jackson following. It was at this juncture the gun was discharged through the owner stumbling. The entire charge entered the hip, at a distance of about eighteen feet, causing a serious wound. The gun was a 12-bore breech loader.

Mr Moore is a prominent farmer and is the owner of the beautiful place on the hill north of Dunmore known as the home place of his father, Isaac Moore.

With proper care and nursing the wound is not necessarily dangerous.

Attention, Sons of Confederate Veterans.

I will organize a Camp of Sons of Confederate [illegible] ton on Wednesday, S[illegible] at 4 p. m., at the Cour[illegible]. All sons of Confederate Veterans who would like to join will meet at the time and place above designated for the purpose of organizing a camp. This Camp will be under the supervision of the U. C. V. Camp of the County.

A. C. L. Gatewood.

Mildred Lee Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy.

"The brave will honor the brave vanquished none the less."

September 18, 1897, at Marlinton, W. Va., there was organized a chapter of Daughters of the Confederacy, named in honor of Miss Mildred Lee, youngest daughter of General Robert E. Lee. Object of this society: benevolent, historical, social, and memorial.

Miss Annette Ligon is President; Miss Fannie McLaughlin, Vice-President; Miss Annie King, Treasurer; Miss Susie Price, Secretary. Thirty-four members were enrolled:

Misses Mabel Ligon, Georgia Ligon, Myrtle Varner, Bessie Dysard, Allie Slanker, Mollie Slanker, Ella Varner, Minnie, Edna, and Mollie Kramer, Ella and Nelie Pritchard, Bertie Varner, Sallie Yeager, Maud Yeager, Daisy and Bettie Mann, Eliza Gatewood, Anna Price, Lynn Gay, Emma King, Edith Patterson, Hattie Patterson.

Mesdames A. C. L. Gatewood, M. P. Cameron, J. M. Cunningham, Sallie Ligon, S. S. Varner, J. C. Price, and Andrew Price.

Reunion Notes.

Executive committee met, according to adjournment, September 18, 1897.

On motion of committee on location the question of grounds was re-considered and re-affirmed, the grounds selected being those heretofore announced—the sugar grove near B. M. Yeager's residence.

The speakers' program will be as follows:

Address of Welcome, E. I. Holt.
Introductory, - T. H. Dennis.
Orator of the Day, J. A. Preston

E. D. King appinted superintendent of sales, and selects his own assistants.

Levi Gay elected treasurer.

The ladies of this neighborhood and adjacent sections are expected to contribute enough milk to supply the ice-cream counter.

The police force.—William H. Grose, Chief of Police, who selects special constables to the number of twenty-five to be known by the word Police in black letters on white paper.

Badges—Chief marshall and staff to wear red badges and red sash.

Reception committee, blue with white star and words "Reception Committee."

Cards are to be printed for stands "For the Benefit of the Confederate Soldiers Cemetary at Marlinton."

All persons in the county are appointed a committee of the whole to work for the success of the reunion.

W. C. Mann appointed general superintendent of dinner arrangements with instructions to confer with the several committees of arrangement in each district as to details and to select his own assistants.

Committee on Arrangements.

Green Bank District.—George W. Siple, Henry Hull, William Collins, Jack Spencer, Henry Sheets.

Huntersville.—Charles L Moore, H. P. McLaughlin, T. J. Williams, Peter Cleek, D. A. Fisher.

Ekray.—W. C. Mann, J. H. Patterson, Levi Waugh, J. C. Price, W. H. Brady.

Levels.—Edwin L. Beard, John Bolton, James Hultz, Frank A. Renick, W. H. Auldridge.

Academy, W. Va., June 9, '97—Notice is hereby given that the firm of E. H. Moore & Co. has been this day dissolved by mutual consent, and its obligations are assumed by the undersigned. All parties owing said firm are requested and expected to make immediate settlement.

Yours respectfully,
Taylor & McElwee,
Successors to E. H. Moore & Co.

Lobelia.

Dry and Frosty.

Corn cutting in full blast. Some of the best corn in the county on Hills Creek. G. W. Whiting was buying sheep in this neighborhood last week.

Rev Dills is protracting meeting at Bruffey's Creek, with some interest shown.

James Coopenhaven and Miss Good, daughter of Samuel Good, were married by Rev S. C. Morgan

Sheriff Hill says he has the best corn he ever raised. I think he had McK-nl-y seed.

Remus Hill on his return from Camden killed a rattler four feet one inch, 11 rattles and thick in proportion.

Rev Anderson has 35 pupils enrolled and 3 to 8 more to come.

P. Henry lost a check of $125 in the mails between Ronceverte and Pocahontas.

People are coming miles to the steam mill at this place. It is doing good work.

Died—Mrs Jane Mcmillion, of Friar's Hill, mother of our friend L. V. Mcmillion, of this county. She was a good mother.

Observer.

Dunmore.

Very dry and frosty.

R. M. Moore and E. H. Jackson were out squirrel hunting Monday morning about 10 a. m. E H. Jackson jumped off the fence and his shot gun went off accidentally. Harry Moore was about eighteen feet in advance. Between 240 and 250 squirrel shot lodged in his hip and thigh. They were on Renick Kerr's farm about 1½ miles from his home. Drs. Mooman and Austin rendered medical attention. He was carried home and is getting along as well as could be expected. The shot could not be extracted as they were too deep in the flesh.

Between five and six hundred people attended the dedicatory services of the Glade Hill church. This is the finest finished church in this or adjoining counties. Revs. Martin and Wheeler preached very able sermons. C. B. S.

Commissioner's Sale.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Greenbrier County, west Virginia, made at the June term. 1897 in the chancery suit of L. J. Williams and J. C. Patterson, Trustee, vs. W. H Overholt et al, I will sell at public auction to the highest bidder in front of the court house door, in Marlinton, Pocahontas County, on Thursday 14th day of October, 1897,

the following real estate belonging to W. H. Overholt, situated in Pocahontas County, west Virginia, viz:

1st. A tract of 25 acres of land, more or less, on Locust Creek, including grist mill and water power, known as the Beard Mill Property. This is a valuable mill and I am informed is in good condition.

2d. A body of timber lands lying on the east side of Greenbrier River, composed of several contiguous tracts, containing in the aggregate 2250 acres more or less. Some of the timber has been cut from said land and sold and is now lying on the land. The right is reserved to the purchaser to move said timber. This land is well timbered with white oak, white pine, and hemlock, and is accessible to Greenbrier River, where it can be easily floated to the booms of the St Lawrence Boom and Manufacturing Company at Ronceverte on the Chesapeake and Ohio railway.

3d. 350 acres of land on the head of Hills Creek, composed of two tracts, one of about 325 acres and the other about 25 acres.

4th. 50 acres adjoining W. McCoy and others, conveyed to W. H. Overholt by H. W. Hull.

Terms of Sale.

One third cash on day of sale, one third in one, and one third in two years from day of sale with interest, purchaser to execute bonds with good security for the deferred payments.

L. J. Williams, Commissioner.

Bond with security conditioned according to law has been filed with me by said commissioner, and approved.

Jonathan Mays, Clerk.

The Great Earthquake.

We do not wish to shock you, as did the earthquake some time past, but we want to give you a few pointers. We have pulled price-raisers down and cleared the path to Bargaindom. There are no tricks or illusions about our business methods—we give prices and goods that bear the light of investigation.

We are constantly outdoing our own past brilliant doings in value giving. Honest, Palpable, Bonafide Bargains are what you want and always get here. We are undersold by none.

—Some Prices.—

1 dozen ½-gallon Mason Jars, 95c
1 pound Cornstarch, 5c
Peaches, 10c per can
Best Brown Sugar, 5c
Granulated Sugae, 6c
Good quality 3 prong Hay Fork, 25c
Hickory Home-made Cradles, $2.50
Good Prints, 3¾ 5¾ per yard.
Apron Ginghams, 5c per yard
Best Ticking, 14c per yard
Choice whole grain rice, 6c
Good quality Cuff-holders, 7c pair
24-inch Turkey Red Had'kfs, 5c each
Good quality Glass Tumblers, 25c set
Tobacco, from 20 to 45c
Wool Pants, 85c

—Other Goods Proportiocately Low—

We invite you all to come in and see what great bargains we are constantly putting on our shelves.

Yours for Business,
"High Quality and Low Prices"
L. D. Sharp.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.
Guaranteed tobacco habit cure, makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggists.

The Song of the Train.

"With a michnai—ghignai—schtingal! Yah! Yah! Yah!
Eein—zwei—drei—mutter Yah! Yah!
She climb upon der shteeple
Und she frighten all der people
Singin' michnai—ghignai—schtingal! Yah! Yah!"

The Book Buyer is not sure that even Kipling has caught the song of the train any better than an old darkey who lived up in Nova Scotia some years ago, and who used to say that the train sang:

"I'll bet yo' fip de debbil yo' fo' yo' git to Baltimo'."

A Cure for Bilious Colic.

Resource, Ga.—I have been subject to attacks of bilious colic for several years. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is the only sure relief. It acts like a charm. One dose of it gives relief when all other remedies fail.—G. D. Sharp. For sale by druggists.

Jeweler.

I will be at Marlinton September 27, with a nice line of watches and jewelry, and will remain fifteen days. I will repair watches clocks and jewelry. All work warranted or no pay. Call and see me.

E. C. Hamrick,
Addison, West Virginia.

McClintic Home School,
HOT SPRINGS, VA.

An excellent school at moderate rates. Open October 1st.

Branches taught—English, Mathematics, Latin, French, and Music.

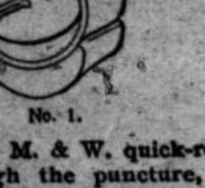
For further particulars address
Miss Maude Diffenderfer,
Principal.
McClintic House, Hot Springs, Va.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.
Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever.
10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

TIRES THAT LEAK.

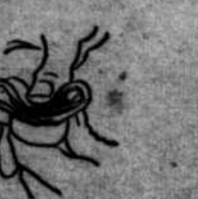
The Morgan & Wright single-tube quick-repair tire must be regarded as a distinct improvement in bicycle tire construction. It has the following advantages:

While punctures in it can be repaired with plugs, or semi-liquid injections, as well as in any other single-tube tire, it can be permanently repaired by using the quick-repair strip inside the tire. See cut No. 1.

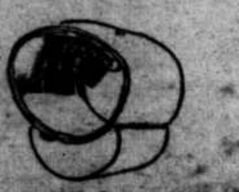


No. 1.

By injecting M. & W. quick-repair cement through the puncture, and then pressing down on the tire with the thumb, as in cut No. 2, the repair strip inside is picked up by the cement, thus closing the puncture, as in cut No. 3.



No. 2.



No. 3.

The Morgan & Wright single-tube quick-repair tire is guaranteed not porous. This is on account of the way in which it is made. Nearly every rider has heard of tires that "leak like a sieve."

Many tires rot, because water gets into the fabric between the two layers of rubber. The Morgan & Wright fabric is proof against moisture.

Everybody knows how comfortable Morgan & Wright tires are, and yet how seldom they puncture. This is due to the fabric.

Ask any bicycle dealer whether other tires last as long as Morgan & Wright tires. Ask, also, what the Morgan & Wright guarantee means. Morgan & Wright tires are repaired free of charge, at the factory in Chicago or at any of the Morgan & Wright free repair shops, located in the principal cities.

N. B.—When you have a puncture, get right off. Riding a tire flat, when it has a tack or nail in it, may damage it considerably.

To the Public:

In order to close out our present stock of goods, we will offer for sale from this date to September 1st, 1897, all the goods which we have in hand at this time at from 5 to 10 per cent discount FOR CASH.

We will give a few prices for Cash:

DRESS GINGHAMS, 6 to 7cts

BEST PERCALES, 8⅓cts

DOMES. GINGHAMS, 5cts.

BLEACHED COTTONS, 7 to 8⅓cts

ARBUCKLE COFFEE. 15cts

GREEN COFFEE, 12½ to 20cts.

BEST CALICOES, 6cts.

ALL OTHER GOODS IN PROPORTION.

TAYLOR & McELWEE,
Successors to E. H. Moore & Co.

ACADEMY, W. VA.

Jel1

PLEASE NOTICE

I am selling cheap and am paying the best price for your produce. My house is now full of bargains and will sell than anyone else for cash or your produce. But don't forget that money is ahead of everything. I am for strictly cash or produce.

A Little bit Cheaper

I have a few Summer Goods left to be closed out at Cost and Carriage

I have my fall stock on hands; a nice line of goods. Here are a few prices—

Green Coffee 12½ to 15c
Sugar 6 to 7
Gingham 5½ to 8
Good Shoes, $1.00 to $1.85.
Yarn 75c to 85c

Arbuckle Coffee 15c
Calico 4½ to 7
Cotton Cloth 5 to 9
Flannels 20 to 28
Masons Jars qt 75c ½g 95

Five per cent. off for Cash. On goods in quantity a further discount.

FOR PRODUCE.—Butter, 12½c; Eggs, 8c; Chickens, 6c gross.

Regular good goods—no shoddy. Call for prices—you will be treated right.

Thanking my customers for their liberal patronage, and trusting that others will come from a distance to examine my goods, I am

Yours truly,
S. J. BOGGS,
—HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.—

KEEP YOUR BOWELS STRONG ALL SUMMER!
CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
CURE CONSTIPATION
REGULATE THE LIVER
10¢ 25¢ 50¢
ALL DRUGGISTS
A tablet now and then will prevent diarrhoea, dysentery, all summer complaints, causing easy, natural results. Sample and booklet free. Ad. STERLING REMEDY CO., Chicago, Montreal, Can., or New York.

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, Sept. 17. 1897

Entered at the post-office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and first Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, and the fourth Tuesday of June and September—June is levy.

County Directory

Judge	J. M. McWhorter
Pros. Attorney	L. M. McClintic
Sheriff	R. W. Hill
Clerk County Court	S. L. Brown
Clerk Circuit Court	J. H. Patterson
Assessor	J. H. Buzzard
Com'rs. Co. Ct.	Amos Barlow C. E. Beard J R Warwick
Surveyor	George Baxter
Coroner	George P. Moore

BOARD OF HEALTH—Dr J. W. Price, L. M. McClintic, M. J. McNeel, R. W. Hill.

JUSTICES—Uriah Bird, Marlinton; A. C. L. Gatewood, Linwood; P. D. Arbogast, Green Bank; W. H. Grose, Huntersville; G R. Curry, Academy; T. A. Bruffey, Lobelia.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours: a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urin and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following the use liquor, beer, or wine, and over comes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail. Mention The Pocahontas Times and send your address to Dr Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Tee proprietors guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

THE ODELL TYPE WRITER.

$20 will buy the ODELL TYPEWRITER with 78 characters, warranted to do as good work as any machine made.

It combines SIMPLICITY with DURABILITY, SPEED, EASE OF OPERATION, wears longer without cost of repairs than any other machine. Has no ink ribbon to bother the operator. It is NEAT, SUBSTANTIAL, nickel-plated, perfect and is adapted to all kinds of typewriting. Like a printing-press, it producers sharp, clean, legible manuscripts. Two or ten copies can be made at one writing. Any intelligent person can become an operator in two days.

Reliablo Agents and Salesmen wanted. For Pamphlet giving Indorsements, etc., address,

ODELL TYPE WRITER CO.
358-364 Dearborn St. CHICAGO, ILL.

Mention this paper.

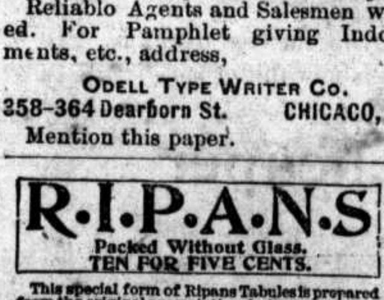
R·I·P·A·N·S

Packed Without Glass.
TEN FOR FIVE CENTS.

This special form of Ripans Tabules is prepared from the original prescription, but more economically put up for the purpose of meeting the universal modern demand for a low price.

DIRECTIONS.—Take one at meal or bed time or whenever you feel poorly. Swallow it whole, with or without a mouthful of water. They cure all stomach troubles; banish pain; induce sleep; prolong life. An invaluable tonic. Best Spring Medicine. No matter what's the matter, one will do you good. One gives relief—a cure will result if directions are followed.

The five-cent packages are not yet to be had of all dealers, although it is probable that almost any druggist will obtain a supply when requested by a customer to do so; but in any case a single carton, containing ten tabules, will be sent, postage paid, to any address for five cents in stamps, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York. Until the goods are thoroughly introduced to the trade, agents and peddlers will be supplied at a price which will allow them a fair margin of profit, viz.: 1 dozen cartons for 40 cents—by mail 45 cents. 12 dozen (144 cartons) for $4.32—by mail for $4.82. 6 gross (732 cartons) for $20.52. 25 gross (3,600 cartons) for $100. Cash with the order in every case, and freight or express charges at the buyer's cost.



Scientific American Agency for PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

GOOD SALARIES!
LIFE POSITIONS
IN UNCLE SAM'S SERVICE

are within the reach of all; male and female. Now is the time to prepare yourself and get in line. Full information relating to Government positions and how to obtain them, salaries paid, scope and dates of examinations, &c., &c., given [illegible] by the NATIONAL CIVIL SERVICE INSTITUTE, N. Y. Avenue, Washington, D. C.

GIVEN FREE EACH MONTH (During 1897)

4 First Prizes, each of $100 Cash.
20 Second " " " $100 Pierce Special Bicycles.
40 Third " " " $ 25 Gold Watches.

FOR Sunlight SOAP WRAPPERS

For particulars send your name and full address to Lever Bros., Ltd., Hudson & Harrison Sts., New York.

Order of Publication.

State of West Virginia, Pocahontas County, to-wit:

At rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of said county on Monday, September 6th, 1897.

State of West Virginia
vs.
J. W. F. Allemong, J. B. Blyholder and others Defts.

The object of this suit is to sell for the benefit of the School Fund 130 acres of land, assessed in the name of J. W. F. Allemong, and forfeited for the non-payment of taxes thereon for the year 1893; also a tract of 710 acres assessed in the name of J. W. F. Allemong and forfeited for the non-pament of taxes thereon for the year 1893; and a tract of 1600 acres assessed in the name of J. B. Blyholder, and forfeited for the non payment of taxes thereon for the year 1894; all of said tracts of land are situated in Pocahontas county, West Virginia.

This day came the plaintiff by its attorney and it appearing by affidavit filed, that the said defendants J. W. F. Allemong and J. B. Blyholder, are non residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
L. M. McClintic
J. W. Yeager } p. q.

Old Dominion Building & Loan Association.

—OF—

Richmond, - - Virginia.

J. TAYLOR ELLYSON, President.
E. A. BARBER, Treasurer.

DIRECTORS.

J. Taylor Ellyson, Normon V. Randolph, John B. Purcell, John S. Ellet, Frank T, Sutton.

Authorized Capital	$20,000,000.
Subscribed Capital	5,000,000.
Paid Up Cash Capital	1,500,000.
Assets	2,000,000.

Depository—State Bank of Virginia. Investment stocks cost $1.00 per share membership fee, and 60 cents per month afterwards—withdrawable after twelve monthly payments, and sooner in event of the death of the stockholder.

H. A. YEAGER, Agent.
MARLINTON, W. VA.

C. B. SWECKER,

General Auctioneer and Real Estate Agent.

I sell Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands Farms and Town Lots a specialty. 21 years in the business. Correspondence solicited Reference furnished.

Postoffice—Dunmore, W. Va., or Alexander, W. Va.

HIGH GRADE FERTILIZERS
SOLD DIRECT TO FARMERS.
Made from
Vegetable & Animal Matter.
Send for circulars.
AMERICAN REDUCTION CO.,
1514 to 1516 Second Avenue,
Pittsburg, Pa.

MARLINTON HOUSE.

Located East End of Bridge.

Terms.
per day - 1.00 & 1.50
per meal - - - 25

Good accommodations for horses at 25 cents per feed.

Special rates made by the week or month.

C. A. YEAGER. Proprietor

FEED, LIVERY —AND— SALE STABLES.

First-Rate Teams and Saddle-Horses Provided.

☞ Horses for Sale and Hire. ☜

SPECIAL ACCOMODATIONS FOR STALLIONS.

A limited number of Horses boarde.

All persons having horses to trade are invited to call. Young horses brokec to ride or work.

J. H. G. WILSON,
Marlinton w. Va.

LUMBER WANTED!

White Oak
Red Oak Cherry, Ash and Chestnut

DELIVERED AT RONCEVERE

All lumber sawed so as to be plump when seasoned. All culls and commons sawed 4-4. 1 and 2 cut 4-4 to 6-4.

JOHN PETERS.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets. Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

Great Mineral Discovery in West Virginia.

Under the personal direction of Mr R. B. Hansell, of Baltimore, Maryland, and also of the Geological Society of London, England, during the past few months extensive iron ore prospecting operations have been conducted for over sixteen miles on the Beaver Lick Mountain in West Virginia. An enormous bed of excellent iron ore has been discovered and exposed, together with manganese ore of high grade. In its wonderful capability to yield the ores needed in the iron and steel trade, it is evident, in the early future, this new mineral property will become a great and cheap source of supply. This discovery is in Greenbrier and Pocahontas Counties, immediately along the line of the proposed rail road from White Sulphur north thro these two counties to connect with what is known as the Dry Fork railroad near the headwaters of the Greenbrier. Mr Hansell has been for several months prospecting with a strong force, and has uncovered vast beds. The last find is said to be 60 feet thick.—Spectator and Vindcator.

Commissioner's Sale of Land.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, entered in the chancery cause of Jos. F. Moore vs. Jacob W Marshall and John T McGraw, at the April term, 1897, the undersigned commissioner will on Thusday the 7th day of October, 1897, in front of the court-house of said county, proceed to sell at public auction to the highest bidder that certain parcel of land containing 565 acres, more or less, lying on the west side of Elk River on Laurel Run waters in said county adjoining the lands of John Hannah and others.

Terms of Sale:—One third of the purchase money cash on the day of sale, and the residue in equal installments falling due in six and twelve months from that day, and bearing interest from that day, and taking from the purchaser bonds with good personal security for the deferred payments, and retaining the title to said land as further security.

CHARLES P. JONES,
Commr.

I, J. H. Patterson, clerk of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas county certify that the above Special Commissioner has given bond as required in said decree.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clk.

Order of Publication.

State of West Virginia, Pocahontas County, to-wit:

At rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of said county on Monday, the 6th day of September, 1897.

State of West Virginia,
vs.
J. B. Lowe and others.

The object of this suit is to sell for the benefit of the School Fund

1 A tract of 165 acres of land assessed in the name of J. B. Lowe, and forfeited for the non-payment of taxes thereon for the years 1893 and 1894.

2 Also a tract of 450 acres, assessed in the name of J. B. Lowe, and forfeited for the non-payment of taxes thereon for the years 1893 and 1894.

3 Also a tract of 230 acres assessed in the name of Oramel Barret, and forfeited for the non-payment of taxes thereon for the years 1893 and 1894.

4 Also a tract of 360 acres assessed in the names of Oramel Barrett and J. D. Price and forfeited for the non-payment of taxes for the years 1893 and 1894.

5 Also a tract of 250 acres assessed in the name of John E. Roller and forfeited for the non-payment of taxes thereon for the years 1893 and 1894.

6 Also a tract of 500 acres assessed in the name of John E. Roller and forfeited for the non-payment of taxes thereon for the years 1893 and 1894.

All of said tracts of land are situated in Pocahontas County West Virginia.

This day came the plaintiff by its attorney, and on his motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed, that the said defendants, J. B. Lowe, Oramel Barrett, J. D. Price, and John E. Roller are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect their interests in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
L. M. McClintic
J. W. Yeager } p. q.

Rescued Deer.

Man's relation to the wild creatures of the world is, in the present day, so commonly that of destroyer, that it is pleasant to read of a case in which man assumed the character of rescuers, and in which the rescued were not unappreciative of the kindness shown them.

In April of the present year two gentlemen of Bismarck, North Dakota, discouvered twenty-four deer hemmed in by ice and water above Bismarck. They were in a clump of bushes, shut in by the ice, neck-deep in water, and had become so thoroughly chilled that they had no power to save themselves.

The two men went to the spot in a skiff and cut a passage thro the ice, but even then they had to drive the deer along and compel them to swim a shore. The poor creatures were nearly chilled to death, and two of them were quite helpless on reaching land. These two were taken to a barn and thawed. They made no resistance when carried in, and submitted to having their legs rubbed to restore circulation.

Even when they could walk again, they seemed in no hurry to depart, probably finding their warm quarters more desirable than the icy water in which they had so long stood. They showed no distrust of their rescuers, and were manifestly grateful for the help they had received.

Twelve other deer were found on a cake of ice, and in was necessary to splash water on them to get them to swim ashore. Both parties of deer would have perished but for the humane exertions of the two gentlemen.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY,

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & CO., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of CATARRH that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886. A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimunials. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Order of Publication.

State of West Virginia:

At rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas county, on Monday, September the 6th 1897.

C. R. McDannald, Executor of Mary C. Bias Plaintiff
vs.
Levi Gay, late Sheriff of Pocahontas county, and as such Administrator of J. W. W. Bias dec'd; Kate E. Cowan (nee Bias) wife of — Cowan, Mary Florence Adams (nee Bias) wife of Thomas Adams Margaret S. Long (nee Bias) wife of — Long; and Warwick G. Bias, in their own right, as distributees of Mary C. Bias, deceased, and also as grand children and heirs at law of a certain Margaret Gatewood, deceased, and Eliza J. Warwick, widow of James W. Warwick, deceased, and another heir of said Margaret Gatewood, and the said —— Cowan, and —— Long, whose first names are unknown, and the said Thomas Adams Defendants.

The object of this suit is to have sale of all of the real estate in Pocahontas county, devised by said Mary C. Bias to plaintiff and yet unsold, and for that purpose to have a partition of those lands in which she had only an undivided interest, if practicable, or if not practicable, then a sale of the whole and a distribution of the proceeds.

This day came the plaintiff by his attorneys and on their motion, and it appearing by affidavit filed that the said defendants, Kate E. Cowan, Mary Florence Adams, and Thomas Adams, her husband, Margaret S. Long, Warwick G. Bias, Eliza J. Warwick, and —— Cowan, and —— Long, are non-residents of the State of West Virginia, and the first names of Cowan and Long are not known to him, it is ordered that they do appear here in one month after the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk,
W. M. & J. T. McAllister, p. q.

DON'T MURDER YOUR BEES!

It is a very poor return for the work of a hive of bees to kill them to get one season's crop of honey.

Use the Ware Hive.

Get acquainted with your bees. Help them to fight the worm hat destroys them, and they will reward you with the best of honey in marketable frames,—and you can eat your honey and have a clear conscience.

T. C. Ware,
Valley Head, W. Va

Tutt's Pills Cure All Liver Ills.

To those living in malarial districts Tutt's Pills are indispensible, they keep the system in perfect order and are an absolute cure for sick headache, indigestion, malaria, torpid liver, constipation and all bilious diseases.

Tutt's Liver Pills

It Saves the Croupy Children.

SEAVIEW, VA.—We have a splendid sale Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and our customers coming from far and near speak of it in the highest terms. Many have said that their children would have died of croup if Chamberlain's Cough Remedy had not been given.—KELLAM & OURREN. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by druggists.

Commissioner's Sale.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, entered in the chancery cause of Caroline E Warwick's Exor's. vs. Caroline E. Warwick's heirs and others, on the 15th day of June, 1897, the undersigned special commissioners will on the

5th DAY OF OCTOBER, 1897,

at the front door of the court-house of Pocahontas County, proceed to sell by way of public auction to the highest bidder the following tracts of land of which said Caroline E. Warwick died seized:

142 Acres.

A tract of 142 acres of land, the largest tract of the "Home Place." Mostly improved land. Bluegrass region. Situated on waters of Stony Creek, in said county. Valuable buildings, dwelling-house, barn and out buildings.

22 Acres.

A tract of 22 acres adjoining the above named tract. This land is known as the 'Sulphur Spring Lot, and has on it the well-known sulphur spring. Improved land with tenant house, etc.

54 Acres.

Adjoins Sulphur Spring Lot. Is nearly all improved land.

77 Acres.

On Knapps Creek, in said county, adjoining the lands of Montgomery Friel and others. Unimproved. The timber on this tract has been sold.

One-third of 84 Acres.

The undivided one-third of a tract of 84 acres situated on Knapps Creek in said county, it being the same tract redeemed by the heirs of George E. Craig, deceased. by decree of said court at April term, 1897. The timber on this tract has been sold.

Terms of Sale—So much cash in hand as will pay costs of suit and expenses of sale; and for the residue, the sum of $650 in six months from day of sale, and the residue upon a credit of one, two, and three years from day of sale, in equal installments, bearing interest from date, the purchaser executing bonds for same with good personal security, the titles to be retained as ultimate security.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ANDREW PRICE,
Special Commissioners.

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Pocahonts County, do certify that the commissioners above have executed bond as required by law.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

Educate FOR A Situation.

Book-Keeping, Business, PHONOGRAPHY, Type-Writing Telegraphy

COPYRIGHTED.

Address WILBUR R. SMITH, LEXINGTON, KY., For circular of his famous and responsible COMMERCIAL COLLEGE OF KY. UNIVERSITY

Awarded Medal at World's Exposition.

Refers to thousands of graduates in positions. Cost of Full Business Course, including Tuition, Books and Board in family, about $90. Shorthand, Type-Writing, and Telegraphy, Specialties. The Kentucky University Diploma, under seal, awarded graduates. Literary Course free, if desired. No vacation. Enter now. Graduates successful. In order to have your letters reach us, address only, WILBUR R. SMITH, LEXINGTON, KY.

DO YOU TRAVEL

Are you going to take a trip? Do you suffer from Severe Headaches, Nervousness, Seasickness or Exhaustion? Why not prevent it all by using CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER. Help that headache, cure that nervousness and seasickness by the use of this Inhaler, the greatest stimulant and preventative known. Wonderful relief in Hay Fever and Asthma. IF YOU BUY CUSHMAN'S INHALER and you will always use it. If you can't get it at Druggists send for it. By mail, 50 cents. Send for Book on Menthol, free. CUSHMAN DRUG CO., VINCENNES, IND., U. S. A.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE.

All persons knowing themselves to be indebted to the estate of Jacob W. Sharp, deceased, will please settle at once.

All persons having claims against the said estate will please present then to the undersigned.

A. N. BARLOW,
Executor of Jacob W. Sharp, deceased.
September 16, 1897.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY,
Boston, Mass.
ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.,

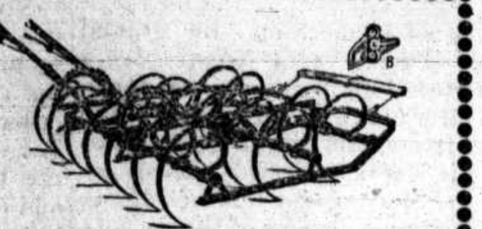
The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.



The Osborne

SPRING-TOOTH HARROW.

The frames are made in one piece of steel angle bar, and formed to withstand all strain without buckling or warping. The teeth in this harrow are so spaced that they will not trail each other, Pulverizing the ground thoroughly. The steel pipe tooth bars are mounted in maleable boxes secured to the frame, and will not bend or break. The peculiar shape of the teeth curling twothirds about the bar gives the greatest amount of spring possible, without straining the bolts, and because of their shape and fastening are stronger than used on any other harrow. By the levers the depth of work can be regulated while the harrow is in motion. The draft is steady and direct as the harrow has no side motion.

ALL THESE FEATURES COMBINED HAVE MADE THE OSBORNE CELEBRATED.

It has no EQUAL,—it never will have a SUPERIOR.

Call and examine the Osborne line consisting of—
BINDERS, MOWERS, RAKES, TEDDERS, HARROWS AND CULTIVATORS.

The most complete line of Farming Implements to be found in the State.

FOR SALE BY—

EAGLE & OTT,
RONCEVERTE, W. VA.

MESKER'S
STOCK TANK.

MESKER'S STOCK TANK

Made of Rustless Galvanized Iron.

MESKER'S
RUSTLESS STEEL TANKS.
Round or Square.
MESKER'S
Patent Portable Folding Steel Bath Tub.
Made with and without Hot Water Tank.
MESKER'S
RUSTLESS STEEL ROOFING.
MESKER'S
Hot Air, Hot Water and Steam } HEATERS.
Send for circulars and prices.
J. B. MESKER & SON, - Evansville, Ind.

SOLD ON AN Absolute Guarantee.

McDONALD'S
CELEBRATED WORM POWDERS
THE GREATEST WORM DESTROYER OF THE AGE.
EASY AND PLEASANT TO TAKE.

Smallest dose.
Easiest to take.
Entirely vegetable.
Most certain and never-failing Worm Destroyer EVER DISCOVERED.

Sold for a quarter of a century with continually increasing demand. Think a moment. Does this not mean merit?

125,000 Children yearly Sent to their Graves by Worms.

McDONALD'S
CELEBRATED WORM POWDERS
would have saved them all.
PRICE, 25c. PER BOX.
For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicines.
Manufactured only by the proprietor,
J. A. McDONALD,
Reedsville, Pa.

NEW Champion Washer.

Will wash Cleaner, Quicker, with more ease and less injury to the clothes than any machine now in use. Over 75,000 sold, all giving satisfaction.

Don't confuse this with the Washing Machines you have seen.

This is something entirely new.

Can not get out of order.

PRICE WITHIN the REACH of EVERYONE.

SEND FOR CIRCULAR.

Champion Washing Machine Co.,
310 West Pearl St., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

MADE UPON HONOR,
SOLD UPON MERIT.

PACKER BICYCLES

FULL OF BEAUTY,
GRACE AND STRENGTH.
EVERY WHEEL WARRANTED.
Responsible Dealers invited to Correspond with us.
MANUFACTURED BY
THE PACKER CYCLE CO.
READING, PA.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 15, NO. 10 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, OCTOBER 1, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 11.--Polished Solid Oak 5-Drawer Chiffonier, 53 inches high, 30¾ inches long, 18 inches deep. It is well constructed and has good locks on each drawer. Special price, (Orders promptly filled).

$3.39

Our success is not accidental. It is the reward of 48 years of honorable business. Our experience in the Furniture and Carpet business is yours for the asking. Our immense illustrated catalogue of Furniture, Oil Cloths, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Bedding, Springs, Steel Beds, etc., is free to all who write for it, and we pay all postage. If you ask your local dealers' advice you will not send for our catalogue, as he will lose a customer. If you consult your pocket-book and want double value for your dollars, you will deal with the manufacturers. Send your name on a postal now.

Julius Hines & Son
BALTIMORE, MD.

$1.00 Per Month Tuition MAKES A LAWYER.

Methods new and satisfaction guaranteed. For particulars address WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE LAW SCHOOL 1420 N. Y. Ave., Washington, D. C.

SELL YOUR BRAINS HAVE THEM PATENTED and put on the Market. Millions in it. All kinds of Patent Business skillfully handled. Address NATIONAL INFORMATION BUREAU, Washington, D. C.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

[illegible]

THE WAR BAG.

Stories of the War first Published in the Sixties.

I belonged to the horse cavalry of old Bedford, so called, in contra-distinction to the foot cavalry of old Stonewall. We would go out foraging sometimes, and our experience was very varied, and our success equally so. I never got completely put out but once, and that was by a good old country-woman, in Upper Georgia. I knocked at the door of a rather rude hut, and on being invited to enter, found the old lady of the house knitting a pair of socks and her daughter carding by her side. She gave me a look, partly benevolent, partly curious, and partly forbidding, and then broke in with the query:

You belong to a critter company doesn't you?

Cavalry soldier. Yes, madam.

Old Lady. (Turning to her daughter.) Thar now, Lizer Jane here's one of them critter company soldiers and me just done throwin' all the butter milk to the yaller sow's pigs!

Mike D——, a stalwart and jolly Irishman, living in Missouri, had long desired to vote, but was afraid to try to register, as it was well known he was a Democrat, and no loyal Registrar will enroll one of that persuasion in "free Missouri." Just before the registration day, Mike came out to the disgust of his friends and the delight of the "trooly loil," in favor of "nager aquality." He forestalled all argument by declaring the he was ready and willing to "bate any mon who daffered in opinion with him." He was of course registered without difficulty, and his vote being now secure beyond all peradventure, he explained what he meant by negro equality. "What I mane by nager aquality is this. d'ye mind, that one nager is aqual to another nager, and I'll whale ony mon that says he's any betther."

During the war, the Confederate prisoners at Rock Island were guarded by negro soldiers recruited at the South. Upon one occasion one of these sentinels hailed a prisoner with,

Whar you is gwine?

Prisoner—To the hydrant.

Loyal negro—Whar is dat?

Prisoner—I am going to get some water.

Loyal negro—G'lang Back. You done tole two tale about whar you 'se gwine.

On another occasion, a prisoner seeing a negro sentinel with his arms folded over his gun in the rain, trying to keep himself warm, made a rush past the careless sentinel and made his escape. The negro was so much astonished that he forgot his gun, but called hastily for the corporal of the guard: "Corporal of de ge-ard, corporal of de ge-ard, come here quick. One white man clar gone and de Lord know how many more is comin'."

Those who belonged to the Army of Northern Virginia know that to "run the blockade" was a very difficult thing, altho very frequently it was done, regardless of martial law or anything else. While the —— regiment was in camp near Orange Court House, Va., Tom S—— received permission to "go to town," took his "war bag" which han been previously arranging by placing two black bottles (one filled with water) of the same size and with corks alike, he sallied forth without a cent in his pocket, except one dollar of the "promise to pay," which he soon spent at one of the Sutler's tents for a tin of cider and a gunger. He sauntered around until he found the place, where some of the boys told him a fellow sold liquor on the sly, when entering he struch a bargain, that is, he was to pay $25, cash, for one quart of brandy. Tom quietly pulled out his bottle which was very quickly filled, and returned to his "war-bag," though very quietly; then feeling in his pocket he found, as he said to the dealer in liquor, that "he had left his pocket-book in the pants that he pulled off in camp." "That is very bad," said the liquor man. "Thunderation," said Tom, "it is too bad, but you just place this bottle and contents up there on that shelf and wait till I see a friend who is out here, so that I can get the money, and I will come back," and at the same time handed him a bottle, which was set aside as requested. Tom went on his way rejoicing that he had made such a good exchange—a bottle of water for a bottle of brandy.

survive, who, if questioned, would well remember how Tom S——(the tar-heel) ran the blockade with his never failing war-bag.

Every soldier knows how angry the boys will get, when tired and weary, if a bungling or martinet officer is long in putting them in position. On the night of the 6th of May, 1864, after a hard day's fight, Brig. Gen.—— of ——'s division. kept marching his brigade back and forward until a Yankee bullet would almost have been welcomed. One of Wright's Georgians seemed to appreciate the 'fix' of the baffled and befooled brigade and hallooed in a voice, which was heard above the growls, mutters and 'cuss-words.' "Boys, why don't you swap General —— off for a brush pile and set it on fire?" The brigade soon got into position!

Maj. W. was so persecuted with oath-taking during the four years of war that Boniface grew aweary of his life, and was ready to swear that he was willing to die. He had twenty seven specimens of oaths inflicted upon him by military officials, binding him to support every sort of political party, and in every possible way. He had been sworn in and out, back and forward, front and rear, until he took to it so naturally that whenever a stranger rode up to the hotel of which he was landlord, he came out and held up his right hand. This apparent willingness to swear anything bluffed a good many of the truly loyal, and he began to hope that his case was generally understood and that no more oaths would be required of him.

One day a long, lean, slabsided Yankee captain rode up followed by thirty boys in blue. Boniface went to the door, took off his hat, held up his right hand, and put on a solemn, reverential look.

Yankee. What dew yeou mean by standing thar with yeour hand up?

Boniface. Every officer who comes here swears me to something and I suppose you are going to put me through like the rest. I am ready.

Yankee. Waal, yeou are smairt. I'll swear yeou. Yeou dew solemnly swear yeou will get the best dinner yeou ken for 30 men in 30 minutes. There now yeou are through. Attention company! Prepare to dismount! Dismount!

Boniface never came out again to meet his guests with uplifted hand.

During the time that Allen occupied the gubernatorial chair of Louisana, he issued an order requiring all men, young and old, to organize into companies of minute men, whose duty it was to drill and be ready to assist the regular Confederate forces in case of State invasion. On one occasion the minute men of Bienville Parish, had been ordered out to serve a mock campaign of a week's duration. As they came "marching home with gay and gallant tread," the whole command was halted before a log cabin to permit an old man to go out of the ranks. Forthwith there issued from its doorway, a numerous progeny of Confederate towheads, joyfully crying:

"Yonder's daddy! yonder's daddy!" "Hush! hush! children," said the fond father, softly, waving them back with his hand. "I want to see if the old woman will know me with my soldier clothes on."

In the summer and fall of 1861, it was the misfortune of quite a number of young men, who wore the grey jacket, to be stationed for many weeks upon Valley Mountain in West Virginia. Nobody who was there can forget how the rain poured down day and night thro all those dreary weeks, and how the only "tap" for the poor soldier was the water which fell upon those everlasting hills. "Rations were scanty and corn meal the order of the day." Surgeon C., of the 21st Virginia regiment, was sitting at his tent door on one one of those bleak, gloomy days, wondering if the rain would never cease, wondering if we would finally succed in whipping the Yankees, when a Tennessee lieutenant came along looking the very picture of woe. Rumor said that the lieutenant was too fond of his cups when at home but here he was of necessity a member of a Total Abstinence Society. The Doctor, a wag in his way, and at all times ready and willing to beguile an idle hour with chat, calls in the lieutenant and minds of soldiers naturally came up, and the length of the war and its probable results were fully discussed.

"Well, lieutenant," said the surgeon, "after this much experience in the army, what do you think of war?"

The lieutenat looked out on the falling torrents, and visions of a cosy room at home, and decanters and glasses passed before him, heaving a deep sigh, he answered:

"I am no military man doctor, and therefore I am not able to express any opinion upon military matters, but I regard war as the most gigantic temperance movement the world ever saw.,,

---

At the battle of Lebanon, Tennessee, the 11th Texas cavalry belonged to John Morgan's command. It was made up of a set of brave and reckless men, thoroughly acquainted with all the peculiar accomplishments of their section, including the use of the lasso. Their skill with the lasso was often made available in procuring them certain luxuries, such as fat pig, fat turkey and fat chicken. On the day of the battle, one of the 11th lassoed a Dutch cavalryman in the Yankee service. He was a fat, thickset, surly fellow, with a stolid countenance, and as he sat squarely on his horse, giving a grunt of dissatisfaction when a playful twitch was made on the rope round his neck, he presented a spectacle of intense interest to the surrounding rebs. Approaching General Morgan, the Texan saluted him respectfully and told him that he had captivated the Dutchman at the end of his line.

Dutchy blurted out, "Ish you General Morgans?"

The General replied in the affirmative.

"Vell den, vot sort of a tam vay is dish of viten? You lets your mensh ketch a feller mit a hell of a r-r-ope rount mit his neck, so like a tampt tog. Dish is von hell's of a vay of vitin mit a tam r r-ope!"

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

Among the earliest settlers of the Elk region was Joseph Hannah, a son of Dr David Hannah, the Irish emigrant who lived at the mouth of Locust Creek. Some mention was made of his parents in a former sketch that need not be repeated here. Quite early in this century he married Elizabeth Burnsides, on the Greenbrier east of Hillsboro. She was a sister of the late Robert Burnsides. Soon after marriage he settled on the "Old Field Fork of Elk."

His home was on Mill Run near where William Hannah, a grandson, now lives. This immediate vicinity seems to have been a place of more than ordinary importance in prehistoric times. One of the most frequented Indian trails seems to have been from Clover Lick up the creek to the Thomas Spring, thence over the mountain, crossing at the notch near Clark Rider's farm; thence down by James Gibson's to Elk. Here the valley runs due east and west, which was noticed, evidently, by the Indians, and at the point midway between the east and west horizon a symbolic circle was constructed representing two colossal rattlesnakes in the act of swallowing each other. One light, the other darkness. The day seems to swallow the night and the night seems to swallow the day—as the Indian medicine man saw it—and this marked the process that seemed to destroy something while making other things alive. It was here religious rites of more than ordinary solemnity were performed preparatory for hunting and for war. Nearly a mile further down was the encampment where about two acres of land had been denuded of trees for camp fires, and this was the "old field" that gave this branch of Elk its name, and was the first piece of ground planted by Joseph Hannah.

Mr and Mrs Hannah reared a large family of well-behaved, industrious children. This family did a good part in the development of this thrifty section of our county. In reference to their children the following particulars are given.

Joseph, William, Robert, and Sally died in childhood or early youth.

John Hannah married Mary Sharp, daughter of Joseph Sharp, near Frost, east Pocahontas. Their children were Sarah Jane, who became Mrs Aaron Fowlkes; Marga-was married to the late George Gibson, near Marlinton; Martha Susan, now Mrs James Gibson; Amanda Pleasant, the wife of William Lee Hambrick; Mary Ellen who died young. Joseph Bryson Hannah. late a merchant at Frost, and whose wife was Elizabeth Moore, daughter of the late Isaac Moore, of Edray. Sheldon Clark Hannah, on lower Elk, whose wife was Martha Moore, daughter of Samuel and Nancy Beale Moore, near Marlinton. His children—Georgiana, Davis, Albert, Virgie, Effie, Clark, Hugh, Feltner, Jane, Lee, Freddie. Andrew Warwick Hannah, who wife was Dora Hannah, daughter of Henry White, near Driscol. His children Levie Sadie, Lucy, Mary, Maggie, Bessie, Marvin. William Hamilton Hannah, who married Sarah White sister of the person just mentioned. Their children Andrew, Willie, Myrta, Forest, Brysan, Carrie. George Luther Hannah married Emma Bell McClure, daughter of Arthur McClure, on Locust. She expired suddenly while attending public worship in Mary Gibson Chapel a few years ago, much lamented by attached friends and relatives. Henry Hannah, Peter Hannah, and John Hannah junior, died young during the late sad war between the States of our glorious Union.

David Hannah, son of the "Old Field" pioneer, married Hester Sickafoose from lower Crabbottom, and settled on Elk and opened a nice home. In reference to their children the following information is in our power to give.

Sarah Hannah was married to Silas Sharp, and settled near Linwood. Her son Luther David is a well-known merchant at the old homestead. Her daughters Mary Ella Frances is the wife of Robert Gibson, near Mary's Chapel, and Melinda Catherine is Mrs J. Ellis Hannah at the "Old Field."

Henry Hannah married Margaret McClure, and is now a merchant at Renick's Valley, Greenbrier County.

Another son Rev George P. Hannah married Leah Grimes, and his residence is at Rural Dale, Upshur County.

Melinda Hannah, a daughter of David Hannah, is now Mrs John Rose, and resides in Webster county near the Randolph border.

Mary Hannah was married to Samuel Gibson and settled near the parental homestead.

Otho and Joseph Hannah died young.

Jane Hannah, daughter of the pioneer, was married to the late Joseph Barlow, one of the sons of the venerated John Barlow, once of Stony Creek, and lived on Red Lick Mountain; settling in the unbroken forest and built up a nice home. Mr Barlow was occupied in a variety of industries in his mountain home. In connexion with clearing many acres of dense forest, he had a tannery, a blacksmith shop, cooper shop, made and repaired shoes, and could do neat cabinet work and carpenter work also. The number and variety of fruit-trees planted around his home is the wonder and admiration of all that have ever seen his orchard.

Mr and Mrs Barlow were the parents of two daughters and one son. Silas Barlow married Miss Duncan and lives on a section of the homestead. Mary Barlow is now Mrs Amos Gay and lives on a part of the homestead. It was the writer's pleasure to officiate at both marriages. Martha Barlow is in possession of the old home.

Elizabeth Hannah, daughter of the Elk pioneer, was married to Dr Addison Moore, and lived near Edray. Allen Moore, Esq., near Huttonsville, is her son.

Mary Hannah, another daughter of the venerable pioneer, was married to Henry Buzzard, and settled on Cummings Creek, near Huntersville.

Thus far has the writer been able to review the family history of Joseph Hannah, who was an interesting character in the pioneer history of Elk, with the assistance rendered by his son, John Han-years of age, and his widowed daughter Mrs Lizzie Hall, who is devoting her useful life to the care and comfort of her aged father. This assistance is hereby gratefully recognized, hoping they may feel it was not time or effort spent in vain in this attempt to keep their friends from being forgotton, and thus preserve a knowledge of their ancestral and family relationship.

Joseph Hannah was a person of impressive personal appearance. His memory was remarkably retentive and his conversational powers something wonderful. He had committed to memory, it is believed by some, the greater portion of the Bible, and he could recite the Scriptures for hours at a time,—having a special preference for the historical narratives of the patriarchs and the wanderings of the Israelites and the conquest of the promised land under Joshua. He saw in these historical narratives illustrations of the life now to be lived by Christian people, and it was one of the greatest pleasures of his old age to have his neighbors assemble and repeat these narratives in their presence. The same God that led Noah, Abraham, Moses, and Joshua was now the one to take care of humble, believing people amid the Elk mountains and lead them thro sorrows night and danger's gloom. His idea seemed to be that since all the good men in the Bible have passed over to the promised rest, God would make it his special business to care for and help along those who were trying to be but strangers and pilgrims in the earth.

He seemed to be fully persuaded that God cared just as much for him in the lonely recesses of the forest wilderness of the Elk region as he once cared for Moses during the forty years he was handling sheep in the desert wilds of Horeb. That with God there was no difference between Elk and Horeb, or if there was a difference it was in favor of Elk. The man of Horeb was now saje at homo, while the man on Elk was far away from home and needed special grace to help him on in his duties. Such seemed the filial way he reasoned about God and his relations to God, and who is prepared to say that he was not right in thinking that as a father pities his children so the Lord pities those that fear him.

Some years since an article written by a distinguished minister in Bath County stated that Simon Girty, the renegade, was summarily put to death by being burned in a log-heap by an enraged and desperate party of men in the Little Levels. Joseph Hannah was referred to as an eye-witness of the dreadful affair or as having some personal knowledge of it. Mr Hannah's children solemnly declare that they never heard their father say a word about such an occurrence happening to anybody in this county under any circumstances of provocation whatever. Simon Girty's grave is now to be seen near the city of Detroit, so he was not burned in a Pocahontas log-heap.

When a mere lad Joseph Hannah was sent by his father to Elk to look after the live stock in the range. He went to fort frequently with his family in his youth and early manhood. He was remarkably active in his movements and very fleet of foot. He would often tell of a jump he made when Richard Hill, Adam Bumgardner, one Mullins, and a colored man named Dick. Young Hannah and Dick were hoeing corn. The party just named explained to Dick what they were up to and Dick cheerfully promised to act his part. While the two were hoeing away a shot was fired from ambush, Dick fell and made a dreadful outcry, rolled and kicked about in seemingly terrible agony. Young Joseph Hannah fled precipitately towards the horse and in the race leaped a gully. When matters came to be understood and quiet restored, and Dick having gotten over his make-believe sufferings, the leap was measured and it was forty-two feet from track to track. Mr Hannah was fond of telling his friends that he had "jumped the decree." Forty feet was the "decree." "Decree" meant what "record" now means in races and athletic games. In "jumping the decree" he "broke the record" by two feet.

When the writer first remembers seeing Mr Hannah he was of very venerable appearance. His grey hair was combed back and plaited in a cue that hung down between his shoulders. The last time I ever saw him we were spending the night at Sampson Ocheltree's, in the winter of 1849. The two old men were in busy conversation until a late honr, and most of the talk was about the children of Israel and the dealings of God. The fire was getting low, the candle about burned out, when mother Ocheltree observed it was about time to get ready for bed. At this suggestion Mr Hannah arose and in a very soft solemn tone repeated the words and then sang:

"The day is past and gone,
The evening shades appear;
O may we all remember well
The night of death draws near.

"Lord, keep us safe this night,
Secure from all our fears;
May angels guard us while we sleep
Till morning light appears."

He then knelt in prayer and poured out his full heart in humble, trusting prayer,—in the tone and manner of a loving child to a kind and more loving father. The memory of that prayer, heard nearly fifty years ago, imparts a pleasant glow to my feelings while writing these memorial sentences.

W. T. P.

IT is not often we find a question and reply more to the purpose than the following instance: "Do you enjoy novel reading?" "Yes; one can associate with people in fiction that one would n't dare to speak to in real life."

IN THE prevailing talk about wealth, it may have occurred to few that the richest man in the world is Li Hung Chang, with his finger nails nearly a foot long. His wealth is put down at five hundred million dollars, and he could buy five hundred counties at the assessed value of Pocahontas. The next is John Rockfeller with one hundred and eighty millions placed to his credit. Then come the Duke of Westminster, Colonel North, Cornelius Vanderbilt, and Woh Qua, with a hundred million each. These six persons control over a billion dollars. We know of six men, as good by nature and far better by practice, who cannot control a billion mills, and are money kings too in their neighborhood.

"Your pills are the best in the world. I used to be annoyed with constipation until I began using them. Now I have no trouble of that kind any more and I attribute my recovery to the use of your valuable medicine. In the springtime of the year I always take your * Pistols and Pestles.

The duelling pistol now occupies its proper place, in the museum of the collector of relics of barbarism. The pistol ought to have beside it the pestle that turned out pills like bullets, to be shot like bullets at the target of the liver. But the pestle is still in evidence, and will be, probably, until everybody has tested the virtue of

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

* This testimonial will be found in full in Ayer's "Curebook" with a hundred others. Free. Address J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, Oct. 1, 1897.

Entered at the post-office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

CAPTAIN A. H. LEE, a London journalist who went to investigate the route to the Klondike has returned to his home and reports very discouragingly. He says that he has reliable authority for saying it has cost ten millions of dollars to extract about two millions of gold from this new gold mining region. He denounces the Klondike boom as an iniquitous conspiracy hatched by interested persons.

* * *

IT seems that our butternut friends in Georgia do not take kindly to the colored office holders. On September 5th a colored postmaster at Hagansville, who had been appointed in spite of protesting citizens, was shot to pieces. He was alive when found but cannot tell who did the shooting. These same Hagansville people have also declared their purpose to shoot any colored revenue officer that may visit their vicinity.

* * *

RECENT observations of the sunspots has awakened much interest among the astronomers. One expresses the opinion that a new planet is about to break away from the sun and it will be attended with consequences of a very dangerous character to the planetary system having the sun as a centre. One scientific writer thinks this event is foreshadowed in Revelation viii 8-11: "And the third angel sounded and there fell a great star from heaven burning as it were a lamp, and it fell upon the third part of the rivers and upon the fountains of waters. And the name of the star is called Wormwood; and the third part of the waters became wormwood, and many men died of the waters because they were made bitter."

* * *

SO FAR as European sentiment has developed with reference to American intervention in behalf of Cuba. Austria and Germany seem to be the more outspoken. A correspondent of a London paper writing from Vienna, September 24th, says that the general opinion there is that such action would be unjustifiable and that the propects is the Vienna Cabinet would intervene in favor of Spain should there be a conflict over Cuba. There is too much reason also for believing that Germany with Spain against America. Our statesmen never had more use for their thinking-caps than right now. "The President does not seem to see it in that way, as he is having a good time at the golf links and dining parties up in Massachusetts.

* * *

OUR attentive readers of current international events have no doubt been interested in the interchange of national courtesies between the Russian Tsar and the French President. Last Tuesday there was a scene of of rejoicing not recently witnessed as the President returned from his visit to St. Petersburg. These joyous demonstrations in Paris and St. Petersburg mean any thing but peace on earth, as matters now stand, any more than the dancing parties, fireworks, and the sky-rending cheers at New Orleans, Charleston, and Memphis, on passing ordinances of secession, meant peace in 1860. As public sentiment now prevails in Europe, only two combinations of powers are reasonable or logical. The nations of liberal governments as France, Italy, and England, might be expected to combine in opposition to reactionary governments, as Germany, Austria, and Russia. On such a basis matters might be balanced and peace maintained with some show of success. As it is now apparent from the developments of the past few weeks there is a combination, but the basis on which it is made is that of powers having what they desire against those not having what they feel they must have at all hazards. Austria, Germany, and Italy are in a measure contented with matters as they now are, while France and Russia have unsatisfied aspirations. The recently consummated duplex means war, while the triplex is in the interests of peace. The best that promises for the continuance of peace depends on the life of Francis Joseph, now a decrepit person nearly seventy years old.

"MARYLAND, MY MARYLAND."

Nothing seems to illustrate how West Virginia territory is coming to be appreciated as the boundary controversy between the two states Maryland has just set up another claim and wants about forty-five square miles of Preston County.

When Maryland was first laid off the boundary line was made to follow the Potomac to its westernmost source, and thence due north to the Pennsylvania boundary. Maryland has never been pleased with this arrangement and has often tried to locate its boundary line and has never succeeded in pleasing itself. Some years ago Maryland brought suit in the United States Supreme Court against W. Virginia, the object of which was to settle the boundary line between the two States. In 1890, Governor Fleming appointed attorneys George E. Price and S. L. Flournoy, of Charleston, to assist the West Virginia Attorney-General in the defence. Mr Price quite recently spent a good part of a month with Maryland surveyors on the line they are now claiming for the true boundary.

The history of the matter is about this: In 1746 the Fairfax Stone was placed at a spring declared to be the true source of the Potomac, and from this stone a line due north marks the western boundary of Maryland. Between 1820-'30 Maryland agreed upon the Fairfax Stone as the western end of its southern boundary, and in 1852 the State constitution so fixed it. And yet, nevertheless, since that time Maryland has presented several claims, all of which it is trying to enforce in the Supreme Court. The first of the Maryland claims amounts to about this: The South Branch of the Potomac, rising in Pendleton, being larger than the North Branch, therefore the Maryland line should trace the South Branch up into Pendleton County and thence run north to the Pennsylvania line. Were this allowed the outlines of Maryland and West Virginia would be materially modified. West Virginia would get the western part of Maryland, but would yield a part of the South Branch valley, the country around Piedmont and Keyser City, and a portion of the West Virginia Central Railroad.

The next claim Maryland presents is to the effect that even if the South Branch is not considered the main Potomac River, the line has not been run due north from the Fairfax Stone. Francis Deacons traced the present line in 1789, and it has been the actual line between the States ever since. In 1859-60 the Michler line was run, beginning at the Fairfax stone and sliced off a wedge-shaped section of West Virginia about a half mile wide at the northern end and coming to a point 36 miles south of the Pennsylvania line.

Mr Price has been with the corps of eighteen men recently sent out by Maryland to make another survey. This party discovered a spring about a mile and a quarter west of the Fairfax Stone from which there is a small stream trickling down until it reaches the little run that finally becomes the Potomac. The new surveying party claims this spring to be the westernmost source of the Potomac, and have run a line due north from it, thus taking from West Virginia a strip of land a mile and a quarter wide and 36 miles long.

The West Virginia attorneys make this contention that inasmuch the Fairfax Stone has been agreed upon and recognized for so many years as the western terminus of the southern boundary of of Maryland, and as that State so fixed it in its constitution in 1852, the only question really involved in the suit is as to which is right the Michler or the Deacons line north from the Fairfax Stone, and the only land in controversy the narrow wedge thiriy-six miles long and only half a mile wide at the widest part. West Virginia had a survey made in 1894 which followed the Deacons line, and will contest the adoption of any other line.

LIEUT. PERRY, the arctic explorer has just returned from Meteoric Island in the far northern regions. He brought with him a meteorite It measures twelve' by eighteen feet and weighs one hundred tons. Its composition is very similar to that of the material used for plate armor on war ships and looks like nickeled steel.

To Cure Constipation Forever,
Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c
If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money

HORTON, W. VA.

I will give the Pocahontas people a few items from this County.

The railroad line is extended to within four milee of the "Sinks."

The mills are all at work, except the pulp mill.

We have a good Sunday school at Horton.

It was very hot until last Friday, since then it has been rather cool and damp.

We are glad to say that Bland Courtney, who has been down with fever is able to be out again.

Business has started up in a new way since Cornelius Vanderbuilt bought the railroad company's interests here.

Rev Charles Goodrich preached his farewell sermon on September 12, at night. He will attend Conference, which meets on September 29.

Much excitement prevailed in Whitmer over the burning of a saloon and a dwelling house. The fire was caused by a can of tar exploding on a stove in Dearmitt's salooon. It was all the mill hands and others could do to keep the fire from spreading all over town. Neither house was insured.

On September 11, the people of this vicinity had a picnic in behalf of the Sunday School. They were early at their places at the platform in front of the company's store awaiting the arrival of the log train which took them to a quiet grove, about two miles above here, where they, as one family, spread their dinner on a neatly decorated table. Every one enjoyed themselves and after a luxurious dinner and supper about twenty-five took the excursion train and went up to the end of the railroad.

LILY.

NOTICE.

All parties knowing themselves to be indebted to us will please call at our store and settle the same on or before November 1, 1897, or we will be compelled to place your accounts in an officers hands for collection. We must have money to meet our obligations.

Respectfully,
HANNAH & HARPER,
Frost, W. Va., Sept. 18, '97.

Commissioner's Sale.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, rendered at the June term 1897, in the chancery case of the Clifton Forge Grocery Company vs. C. C. Arbogast and others, the undersigned special commissioners will on the

5th day of October, 1897

proceed to sell at public auction to the highest bidder at the front door of the Court-house of Pocahontas County the following tracts or parcels of land, situated near Green Bank, in said Pocahontas County, containing:

181 Acres of Land

It being the land inherited by said C. C. Arbogast from his father, Adam Arbogast, dec'd. Said land comprises a very valuable farm.

Said land is sold subject to the dower interest of Mrs Adam Arbogast.

Terms of Sale—So much cash in hand as will pay costs of suit and expenses of sale, and for the residue upon a credit of six, twelve and eighteen months from day of sale, with interest from date, the purchaser executing bonds with good personal security for deferred payments.

H. S. RUCKER,
W. A. BRATTON,
Special Commissioners.

I, J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk of the circuit court of Pocahontas county, do certify that the above named Special Commissioners have executed bonds as required by law.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

Commissioner's Sale.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, rendered on the day of June, 1897 in the chancery cause of W. H. Hull vs. Mary E. Tallman et als the undersigned special commissioner will on the

5th day of October, 1897,

at the front door of the court house of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, proceed to rent at public auction to the highest bidder a tract of

100 ACRES OF LAND

Situated on the waters of Spillman Run in said Pocahontas county, sold as the land of the defendant Mary E Tallman, it being the land purchased by her of Eliza and Dallas H Galford by deed dated May 12, 1893, it being a part of of lot No. 10 of the Charles Gallagher survey of 32,000 acres.

The timber on the above tract is reserved having been sold.

Terms of Sale: Cash in hand sufficient to pay costs of suit and expenses of sale, and as for the residue upon a credit of six, twelve, and eighteen months from day of sale in equal installments, the purchaser giving bonds with good personal security, the title to be retained as ultimate security.

H. S. RUCKER
Special Commissioner

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas county certify that the above named special commissioner has given bond as required by said decree.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

LOOK HERE!

WHAT YOU WANT IS—

To know where you can buy 100 cents' worth for 1 $. I will tell you. Come to my store. I don't mean to say I will sell you the largest load for the least money,—but that I will give you the best bargains to be had in "town." I am closing out my stock on hands, and for the next thirty days will sell you goods at nearly COST, FOR CASH, or good produce, such as Ginseng, Beeswax, &c.

Note these prices: Good Prints, from 4c to 6c, Scotch Lawn 5c, Satteen 8½c, Ginghams, 6½, Cable twill 11c, Cambric 4½ & 5c, Ticking 15c, Table Oilcloth 16c, Over Shirts 19c to 60c, Overalls, 35c to 90c, Jeanes 85c and $1.15, Suspenders, 10c to 45c, Hose 5c to 18c, Half Hose 5 and 15c, Lady's Shoes from $1 to $1.50, Lady's Oxfords, 90c to $1.00, Misses Shoes 85c to $1.25, Men's Shoes, $1.25 to $1.90, Tobaccos, 23c to 55c, Arbuckle Coffee, 12½c, Mowing Scythes 45c and 65c, Snaths 40 and 50c, Hay Forks 30 and 40c.

Other goods proportionately low.

Call and be convinced that you can get bargains of me for cash.

Submissively yours,
G. L. HANNAH,
YELK. W. VA.

McClintic Home School,
HOT SPRINGS, VA.

An excellent school at moderate rates. Open October 1st.

Branches taught—English, Mathematics, Latin, French, and Music.

For further particulars address
MISS MAUDE DIFENDERFER, Principal.
McClintic House, Hot Springs, Va

Lee Military Academy.

Offers the very best opportunities for Preparatory or Business course at lowest rates. In healthful climate with best social surroundings, no saloons, the building in beautiful grove, with large grounds,—its natural advantages are far above the average.

Instructors of large experience and broad culture. A well-selected library of above 1,000 volumes. Most approved methods of instruction. Courses in all high school branches to fit for any college desired; also complete business course in Bookkeeping, Shorthand, and Type-writing. Careful physical training.

Only young men of good character and studious habits desired.

Address,
JAMES M. LEE, A. M., Prin.,
Lewisburg, W. Va.

July18 8w

Commissioner's Notice.

Commissioner's Office,
Marlinton, W. Va.
Sept. 1, 1897.

B. M. Yeager
vs.
J. H. Buzzard, Constable and others.

Pursuant to a decree of the circuit court of Pocahontas County, W. Va., rendered at the April term, 1897, and June term of said court in the above entitled case, I will proceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, W. Va., on the 24th day of September, 1897, to take, state, and report to court the following matters of account, to-wit:

1—An account showing what amounts were due from J. C. Arbogast, S. P. C., to the several school districts in this county on the 1st day of July, 1893.

2—An account showing what amount was due from said J. C. Arbogast, as sheriff of this county, to said districts when the tax tickets referred to in the bill were turned over to Levi Gay.

3—What amount said Levi Gay had paid on said indebtedness.

4—What amount of outstanding school orders drawn by said districts therh now are, and to whom due.

5—whether or not B. M. Yeager became chargable with any of the balances due from J. C. Arbogast, S. P. C., to said districts at the date when the new bond of 1893 became operative.

6—whether or not J. C. Arbogast was insolvent when said bond of $10,000 was given under section 46 of chapter 45 of the code, on which B. M. Yeager and Adam Arbogast were his sureties, became operative.

7—whether or not there was any election made by J C. Arbogast to charge himself under the new bond with the balances found due under the old bond, and whether said election was ratified by the said several districts

8—what amount of money collected by Levi Gay on the tickets turned over to him by J. C. Arbogast is in his hands—collected from the tax-tickets of 1893, 1894, 1895.

9—Any other matter specially stated, deemed pertinent by himself or required by any party in interest to be so stated.

At which time and place you may attend.

W. A. BRATTON.
Commissioner.

HARNESS & SHOEMAKING.

If you want any work in my line—Harness and Shoemaking—I will be in my shop ready to wait on you for cash or produce in hand.

Thanking you for past favors, I am yours for business.

Respectfully,
J. H. CURRY,
Green Bank, W. Va

Commissioner's Sale

—OF—

VALUABLE LAND IN POCAHONTAS COUNTY, W. VA.

By virtue of a decree of sale entered on the day of June, 1897, in the chancery cause of R. S. Turk, Special Commissioner, versus John T. McGraw, and others, pending in the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, the undersigned special commissioners will proceed on Tuesday, October 5, 1897,

in front of the court house door of said county to sell publicly to the highest bidder the following real-estate situated in Pocahontas county, to wit:

3900 ACRES OF LAND.

Lying on Knapp's Creek in said county, adjoining the lands of William Curry and others, formerly belonging to the estate of William Skeen, deceased.

This land is covered with virgin forests of white oak, white pine, and other valuable timbers, and is also reputed to have on it valuable iron ore. It lies along the bank of Knapps Creek in such a way that the lumber can be easily floated from it to market.

Terms of Sale: One third of the purchase money cash in hand and for the residue bonds with approved personal security will be required, falling due in six and twelve months from day of sale, with interest from date, a lien to be retained as ultimate security.

JOHN W. STEPHENSON
GEORGE A. RIVERCOMB,
H. L. GARRETT,
J. T. McALLISTER,
L. M. McCLINTIC,
Special Commissioners.

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the circuit court of Pocahontas, do certify that John W. Stephenson, one of the above commissioners, special receiver in said cause, has given bond as required by said decree.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

Commissioner's Sale.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, rendered on the 9th day of April, 1896, in the chancery cause of Jacob Sheets, administrator, vs. Rachel E. A. Sheets and others, the undersigned special commissioners will proceed to sell on in front of the court house of Pocahontas County, at public auction to the highest bidder, two certain tracts of lands comprising the real-estate of Jacob Sheets, deceased, on Back Alleghany Mountain; one containing 135 acres of land, conveyed to said Jacob Sheets by J. H. Arbogast and wife, by deed dated on the 28th day of April, 1877; the other tract containing 164 acres conveyed to said Sheets by W. A. Gum and others, by deed dated 27th day of June, 1878.

October 5, 1897,

All of the timber on said 164 acre tract has been sold to the St. Lawrence Boom and Manufacturing Company. A part of the said tract of 135 acres, comprising 74 acres, is set apart and assigned as the dower of the defendant, Rachel E. A. Sheets in the lands of Jacob Sheets deceased, the Rachel E. A. Sheets having a life estate in said 74 acres, the remainder of which only will be sold. For a more particular description of this said dower interest reference is made to said decree of the 9th of April, 1896.

Said land is partially improved, and has on it a comfortable dwelling and outhouses.

Terms of Sale: Sufficient cash in hand to pay the cost of this suit and expenses of sale; and upon a credit as to the residue of the purchase money of six, twelve, and eighteen months in equal installments, bearing interest from the day of sale, the purchaser giving bond for said deferred installments with good personal security and retaining a lien on said land as ultimate security.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
Special Commissioner.

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, do certify that the commissioner above has executed bond as required by law.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE
OF
SCHOOL LANDS.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas Chunty, West Virginia, rendered on the day of April Term, 1897, in the chancery cause of State of West Virginia vs. George L Clark et als, the undersigned Commissioner of School Lands of Pocahontas County will proceed on the

5th day of October, 1897,

at the front door of the court house of said Pocahontas County, to sell at public auction to the highest bidder the following tracts of land forfeited for the non-payment of taxes for five years, namely:

A tract of 304 acres situated on Thorny Flat, on Elk, in Pocahontas County, West Virginia,

and

1633 acres adjoining the 304 acres, both formerly the property of F. H. Hull's estate, and forfeited in the name of George W. McDanald.

B. M. YEAGER,
Commissioner of School Lands of Pocahontas County.

WANTED-TRUSTWORTHY AND ACTIVE gentlemen or ladies to travel for responsible, established house in Pocahontas County. Monthly $65 00 and expenses. Position steady. Reference. Enclose self-addressed stamped envelope.—The Dominion Company, Dept. W. Chicago.

LIGHTNING HOT DROPS

CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.

HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals and Bugs, etc.

Tastes Good. Smells Good.

BREAKS UP A COLD.

SOLD EVERYWHERE—25c AND 50c PER BOTTLE. NO RELIEF, NO PAY.

HERB MEDICINE CO. [Formerly of Weston, W. Va.] SPRINGFIELD, O.

PLOW REPAIRS.

We have at last succeeded in making arrangements
To supply Points for the Ronceverte Plow.

{ Full stock now on hand }
{ Send in your orders early }

We are Factory Agents for
SILVER STEEL and IMPERIAL PLOWS,
also BEST HILL-SIDE PLOW on Market,

Don't Forget
THE WONDER AIR TIGHT HEATER this Fall.

Simms & Co.,
Opp. Passenger Depot, RONCEVERTE, W. Va.

Immense Stock
OF NEW GOODS AT GOLDEN'S—For Old and Young.

NO USE TALKING About Hard Times

When One Dollar will Buy as Much at SOL. DAVIS' as Two Dollars will Buy at Other Stores.

I have literally plunged the knife into even my former low prices to quicken sales, and the result is seen in the increased number of customers at my store. Do you want to share in the Bargains now offered in CLOTHING, BOOTS, SHOES, DRY GOODS, NOTIONS, &C.,
If so call at SOL. DAVIS', GREEN BANK, WEST VIRGINIA.

I will quote prices on a few things:

6 Spools Clark's O. N. T. Cotton for 25c
75 good Envelopes (3 packs) for 10c
72 sheets Ruled Note Paper for 10c
3 doz. (36 boxes) Matches for 25c
5 Boxes Essence of Coffee for 10c
1 dz ½gallon Mason Jars for $1.00
7lbs good 20c Coffee for $1.00
1lb good Chewing Tobacco for 25c
Mens' Laundried Shirts, white or colored, 50c
Calicoes, fast colors, 5 and 6c
Ginghams per yard 5 and 6c.

I an compelled to sell off my stock before putting in FALL and WINTER goods.—and I expect to put in a large and complete stock for the Fall. I have also lowered the prices of all other goods in general. Come in early as possible and get the choice selection. This is not a special sale, but you will find I am constantly selling goods below regular prices for SPOT CASH.

YOURS FOR LOW PRICES,
SOL. DAVIS,
Green Bank, W. Va.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 15, NO. 11 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, OCTOBER 8, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 11.—Polished Solid Oak 5-Drawer Chiffonier, 53 inches high, 30½ inches long, 18 inches deep. It is well constructed and has good locks on each drawer. Special price, (Orders promptly filled).

$3.39

Our success is not accidental. It is the reward of 48 years of honorable business. Our experience in the Furniture and Carpet business is yours for the asking. Our immense illustrated catalogue of Furniture, Oil Cloths, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Bedding, Springs, Steel Beds, etc., is free to all who write for it, and we pay all postage. If you ask your local dealers' advice you will not send for our catalogue, as he will lose a customer. If you consult your pocket-book and want double value for your dollars, you will deal with the manufacturers. Send your name on a postal now.

Julius Hines & Son
BALTIMORE, MD.

SELL YOUR BRAINS HAVE THEM PATENTED and put on the Market. Millions in it. All kinds of Patent Business skillfully handled. Address NATIONAL INFORMATION BUREAU, Washington, D. C.

$1.00 Per Month Tuition MAKES A LAWYER.

Methods new and satisfaction guaranteed. For particulars address WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE LAW SCHOOL, 1420 N. Y. Ave., Washington, D. C.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

[illegible] Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. [illegible]

5,000 PEOPLE.

THE REUNION THE BIGGEST THING THAT EVER HAPPENED IN THE COUNTY.

The success with which this great event passed off far exceeded the hopes of the most sanguine of its promoters. The people were there—they came in fine style—they were good humored, and they were well fed. When announcement was made in this paper that at least five thousand people were expected, many thought the statement was ridiculously high, and opinions were freely expressed it would be that many hundreds instead. But the actual count showed that there were over

5,000 People in the town of Marlinton that day. Every now and then somebody would guess at the number in the crowd and the estimates were put at from four to six thousand. But several partial counts were obtained by persons stationed at narrow points on the parade route. One man counted 3,500 and on looking up saw thousands still coming on their way to the grounds and gave up his job. Another held his place until the most of the people passed him and counted 4829. But a number were on the grounds before the parade started and the writer saw a large lot of people coming up the creek bank to avoid the dust of the other route. Another man counted 5,600. A number of persons who had been at the famous Union (Monroe County) reunions said that this crowd was to be compared very favorably with the crowds that assembled on those occasions.

The Parade.

The parade was pronounced by Mr Preston and others to be equal to the best they had ever seen on occasions of this kind. It was composed of the Marshall's staff, 110 mounted veterans, 98 veterans on foot, three chapters of Daughters of the Confederacy and their escorts and a camp of Sons of the Confedercy, and the speaker's carriages, followed by the unorganized masses of people on foot, in carriages, and on horse-back.

Colonel Gatewood, the field marshall, worked with his staff so expeditiously that the parade was ready on time, which was without precedent. It is said that the veterans were harder to form than the young people. On one side of the street the grassy avenenue was ablaze with the color of the hope of the land, while on the other the veterans sat their horses like statues, gray and grim.

Some perfectfully beautiful flags were waving aloft and banners bearing strange devices. The band music was enjoyed fully as much by the horses as by the people and every old standby was looking like a four-year-old colt. The infantry was formed with fifer of the David S. Creigh Camp at its head.

The girls of Pocahontas express themselves as being delighted with the uniform, the idea of which was borrowed by a man mind from the girls of Monroe. The man did not have any other lamp by which his feet could be guided, but he made no mistake. The neat Confederate gray suits of the Julia Jackson Chapter were much admired. The parade reached the grounds at eleven o'clock.

The committee had erected a reviewing stand at the Temporary Court-house and there Hon John A. Preston, Hon E. I. Holt, and Rev W. T. Price, chaplain of Pickett's Brigade, reviewed the procession. The young folks had led up up to this point but with admirable skill and horsemanship they opened their ranks and formed on either side of the street and the veterans and speakers passed through. At the grounds the veterans then leading opened ranks and the speakers and ladies cavalcade passed into the grounds. The Hillsboro Cornet Band led the young ladies and the Beverly Band headed the veterans.

The Music.

The Southern Band, of Beverly, 24 pieces, and the Hillsboro Band, 12 pieces, furnished an abundance of music for the affair. The Beverly band spent three nights in Marlinton and their music was greatly appreciated. The members of the band were very much concerned over the possibility of Beverly losing the court-house and did all they could for their town on their way to Marlinton and with Randolph voters while here. They played for the people frequently, seemed to have an endless repertoire of musical selections. Thursday night they gave the following program to a crowded house. One of the prettiest pieces of band music was composed by a member of the band, Mr John T. Reger, of Phillipi.

Thursday Evening, Sept. 30, 1897

Dixie Land," - - - Band
"The Blue and the Grey"—Original Song, John T. Reger.
Miss Mollie Smith, accompanist.
[The audience is requested to join in the last chorus—The Red, White and Blue.]

March, "G. M. B." Band.

Cornet Duo, . . Paluma, Messrs. Cornelius and Rowan. Band Accompaniment.

"Brown's March," trio. Reger. Messrs. Cornelius, Verzi, Blaker.

Waltz—Wedding Eve—Orchestra.

Selection—Brownie's Pic Nic—Band.

March—Indiana State Band—Southern Band.

Quartet—The Old Oaken Bucket, Messrs. Barlow, Rowan, Fitzwater.

Selection—'Till We Meet—Band.

Song, - - - - Dr. Barlow.

Trio—Cornets and Claronets—The Old Kentucky Home, Messrs. Blaker. Cornelius, Verzi.

Guitar Song, "The Cruel Hiss," John T. Reger.

Baritone Solo—"Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," variations—Band.

Song and Chorus—America is Good Enough for me. Messrs, Reger, Rowan, Weymoth, Barlow, Fitzwater.

Polka, Orchestra.

General Lee's March, Band.

Under the Beautiful Stars—Miss Daisy Yeager and Fannie MacLaughlin.

I Owe O'Grady Ten Dollars—W. A. Bratton.

Slide Trombone Solo - Grant

Bunch of Daisies, L. D. Robinson

The Fifer.

Speaking of music we must not omit to mention the fifer of the Greenbrier Camp. Fifer Shafer was not discovered in time to secure a drum for him, but he took his "weed" and marched at the head of the infantry and piped most beautifully. His modesty prevented him from heralding his arrival to the committee, and it was with feelings of utmost concern they learned that he had passed the night in a barn and had to hunt for his breakfast next morning. The next time he comes here to a reunion we will make up for the discomforts he experienced this time.

The Hillsboro Band.

The Hillsboro Band made exceptionally good music, and the county has a right to be proud that it has such a band. They appeared in brand-new uniforms and were led by Mr Kramer. of Ronceverte, their instructor.

In the Speakers' Stand.

The band played an accompaniment to 'Nearer My God, to Thee,' and the people sang. Rev W. T. Price offered prayer. Hon E. I. Holt gave an eloquent address of welcome and Hon J. A. Preston followed. We give a description of his address elsewhere.

Decorations.

The citizens of Marlinton responded most nobly to the appeals of the committee, or to their own innate idea of the fitness of things, and every house in Marlinton was ablaze with gay but not gaudy colors of the red, white, and blue. The committee decorated the temporary court-house building, the court-house, the grounds, and erected two arches and a reviewing stand. In the decorations the "stars and stripes" were mingled with the "stars and bars," knowing that the former is the flag under which we live, and the flag that can command the best that is in us. For decorative uniforms Mrs J. M. Cunningham must be thanked for her unwearying zeal in arranging and making the waists, caps, badges, sashes, etc.

The Grounds.

The place chosen was very beautiful. About five hundred feet of table was provided. Five stands were erected and the sale of the simple refreshments offerred footed $140.

The Grub.

We had dinner to burn. A two-horse team could not have hauled away the lunch left. There were eight large boxes unopened; and there never was as large a crowd as well fed, considering that every thing was done away from the haunts of men. Five thousand people in the woods on the shores of Knapp's Creek. This situation in Bible times was appalling. Five thousand people who had each taken a hurried breakfast by candle light on a frosty morning came on about nine hours afterward to be fed. And it was no soup house repast either. Every man there had a dozen different delicacies spread before him. There was roast-beef, hams cured to perfection, chicken, turkey, roast pig, roast pork, mutton, duck; the best butter in the world; the whitest bread; pickles galore; "spread"; cakes without end. Four hundred feet of table-cloth was spread without making a serious reduction of the boxes in the commissary tent.

Mr Preston was speaking in the distance when the word was given to eat. The people charged the table and taking a handful fell back, and in about ten minutes they had eaten up everything except the dishes. Then followed a food panic. Thousands were listening to the speech, and the patriotic ladies on this committee mobbed the quarter-master and he fled for his life. They were going to see that their beloved veterans did not miss their dinner, and they held it too, and nobody else got to eat, however nimbly they capered for a hand out.

The detachment fell in when the speech was over, and those who had had dinner came back to destroy some more. The stringency on the food market was relieved, and the hospitable ladies of Pocahontas were trying to get their delicacies eaten by the very men on whom they had turned a frozen face when they begged for a morsel of food after the market had contracted.

They had left enough to feed an army. One lady, a noted cook even in Pocahontas, almost tearfully declared that she was taking back more than she had brought with her. If ever there was a good cold luncheon served it was that one.

The dinner if the hospitable people had charged for it must have brought in hundreds of dollars, but they knew that they could not preserve that kindly, unselfish feeling that was so beautifully demonstrated that day, by raking around for dinner tickets and worrying people half to death by regarding every man who came to the table with feelings of distrust as to whether or not he had paid for his dinner or was stealing it. It was the crowning achievement of the hospitable people who live in this county, and their hospitality is widely known and appreciated.

Was It a Confederate Reunion?

Well, yes, but the "brave honored the brave" and those who had espoused the Union's cause were there; did what we did, brought food, enjoyed what we enjoyed, and in every thing participated in a way that the committee appreciated more than they can express. If anything had been needed to wipe out the bitterness that is said to have existed in this county during the war this would have done it.

The Reunion Oration.

The desire has been expressed that the admirable oration made by Hon J. A. Preston on reunion day should be published in full in The Times. Were this done it would have to appear in installments and the effect, intended to be produced, would be lost. It would be well for the Pocahontas Regiment of Confederate Veterans to have it appear in pamphlet form, for sale or distribution and the proceeds added to the monumental fund, should the distinguished orator consent to prepare it for such use.

This address gives a very clear and instructive analysis of the Confederate Soldier, and what it meant to be a veteran in behalf of "The Lost Cause." It presents the motives that prompted the thoughtful soldier to offer himself to the service of his country, and explains the principles by which he was guided when he had to decide under which banner he should battle, in the war between the States.

The friends of the 31st and 25th Regiments of Infantry, which Regiments were so largely composed of Pocahontas, Highland and Randolph companies, will never have an abler or more convincing presentation of the reasons why these regiments are to be remembered as among the most useful and heroic bodies of men attached to the Army of Northern Virginia, than this oration affords. Then too the 60th Regiment, Edgar's Battallion, the Bath Squadron, Greenbrier Cavalry, the 27th Infantry, and other organizations have complimentary mention made of them. A large element of the organizations last named consisted of men from Pocahontas, Bath, Greenbrier, and Monroe. Persons interested in the good name of the soldiers who fought and died, and of those yet living attached to the organizations mentioned in this oration, cannot afford to let it be forgotten or lost. Its way of presenting history may be disputed but never refuted so long as truth will be respected as an arbiter of mooted questions.

The review of the Lee—Grant campaign given in this oration is not surpassed by anything yet written or spoken about that memorable series of battles between one hundred and forty thousand Union troops commanded by Grant and Meade, and eighty thousand Confederate citizen soldiers led by Lee and his generals. The result of Lee's strategy (largely rendered effective by some of the regiments mentioned in this oration) was that instead of taking Richmond General Grant came within eleven hours of losing Washington City! There were quite a number of battle scarred veterans present who had been there which added zest to the speaker's words.

The speaker expressed his great respect for the Union veteran that went to the front and stayed there to the bitter end. Such Union veterans he conceded to be as brave and conscientious as the true Confederate antagonists, and such are to be held in honorable esteem.

General Grant's magnanimity towards the defeated Confederates was eulogized as one of the grandest instances of moral heroism yet found on record in all history. This should atone for whatever else may be deemed faulty, so far as Confederate veterans are concerned. Henceforth so far as the Confederate veterans have a voice the Union as it now is shall and must be preserved. And whenever an assault is made the blue and the grey will be found shoulder to shoulder keeping step to the march of the union as it is, one and inseparable, now and forever.

The orator implored that the truth be told in our school histories; it is no disgrace to be defeated; it is honorable to make a manly acknowledgment that the Confederates were defeated, and badly defeated at that. But let the truth be told. The eternal years of God are hers, and the obscured will not remain in obscurity, and the crushed to earth will rise again.

Notes and Incidents.

The street was packed with people from the court-house to the bridge, not counting the parade that passed up by Bird's Hotel.

Whenever the reunion had been mentioned there had been expressions of opinion that there would be great trouble in keeping order. As it happened not a drunken man was seen by the majority of the people. It was a very remarkable feature of the occasion.

Reunions should always be held the week before a grand jury meets An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Not a single arrest was made on the grounds.

Marlinton has no saloons, but a a couple of enterprising law breakers had brought on a supply of mean whiskey. The committee frightened them out pretty badly, and only a few insignificant bodies got poisoned.

A constant stream of buggies miles long came in on every road. A traveler who wished to cross the bridge was detained two hours before he could get a clear track.

As the parade passed up by the Marlin's Mountain the Chesapeake and Ohio engineers were surveying along the side of the road. One of them was brisk enough to say "Look out for the locomotive."

The night before ice formed on vessels of water. There was a chill in the air. The town was crowded and slept on floors in every room. At the Yeager Hotel a party of young people from Lewisburg occupied the dining-room.

Colonel Gatewood was moving constantly forming the procession, and was accompanied by a color bearer in little Ted King who carried the flag most faithfully.

Colonel Polk Ford, of Lewisburg, says the Pocahontas people can get up anything; and there is no doubt but what this one day put the county in a higher class—when we wring such a word of approbation from a Greenbrier citizen.

Captain H. A. Yeager worked for weeks on this thing, and wound up by filling the town so full of people that he had no place to board. He remarked sadly to a group of friends that it had knocked him out of a boarding place.

The Beverly Band very kindly serenaded this office, and it is with feelings of regret we think of how our pup howled an accompaniment to the music.

THOMAS LANIER CLINGHAM, of North Carolina, who like old Tom Newcome of tender memory, was sent to a public institution yesterday to end his days, was in his time a conspicuous figure in American public life. He was a member of Congress more than fifty years ago, and as a Senator took rank with the foremost men of that body in the days when the greatest men in the States were sent to the Senate. He was one of the most eloqent of the Southern orators in the Senate, and during the Civil War distinguished himself as a Confederate general. Clingman is now 85 years old and has been an inveterate tobacco chewer since his boyhood. He has always used natural leaf, and about three years ago he said that tobacco was the chief staff of life. He chewed a half a a pound a day, and for twenty-five years past has gotten up a couple of times nighly "to change quids." He said he expected to live until he was 90, if the tobacco crop of North Carolina held out. He was a delightful old man, and hated Grover Cleveland.—Charleston Gazette.

THE farmer's wife who takes ten dozen eggs to market and gets less sugar for them than she got for eight dozen three months ago, will not study a long time before she understands how a tariff bill that increases the price of sugar depreciates tqe price of eggs.—Gazette.

Drs. Maybe and Mustbe.

You choose the old doctor before the young one. Why? Because you don't want to entrust your life in inexperienced hands. True, the young doctor may be experienced. But the old doctor must be. You take no chances with Dr. Maybe, when Dr. Mustbe is in reach. Same with medicines as with medicine makers—the long-tried remedy has your confidence. You prefer experience to experiment—when you are concerned. The new remedy may be good—but let somebody else prove it. The old remedy must be good—judged on its record of cures. Just one more reason for choosing AYER'S Sarsaparilla in preference to any other. It has been the standard household sarsaparilla for half a century. Its record inspires confidence—50 years of cures. If others may be good, Ayer's Sarsaparilla must be. You take no chances when you take AYER'S Sarsaparilla.

A Good Day for Bears.

On Wednesday evening the citizens of McDowell were treated to an unusually large amount of genuine excitement, and as long as there is an old bear hunter left in these mountains he will bemoan the sad fate that kept him from being there with his Winchester, but the town boys needed drilling in this line, and they were swift in taking advantage of it.

No less than nine bears in a gang made a raid on the town, or rather the near by corn fields. The scarcity of mast in the Shenandoah and Buffalo Mountains is the reason given for their boldness. The alarm soon spread and in a short time a small regiment of men, boys and dogs, with all kinds of shooting-irons, were in hot pursuit.

In a short time there were only two bears left, and "bar" meat in McDowell went down, away down. The last we heard was that the remaining bears were being hotly pursued, and we suppose they were laid low before the close of the day. Dr Siron has two bloody scalps dangling from his belt and has the name of champion bear hunter of McDowell. We did not learn who killed the others.

This was the most exciting bear chase ever known to our people, and the strangest feature about it is that they were Augusta County bears, for thee came from Buffalo Mountain and the east side of the Shenandoah.—Highland Recorder.

Too Much Salt.

The New York Journal of Hygiene discusses what it calls "the salt habit"—the excessive use of salt in food. Some salt is necessary in food, perhaps; but many persons take it on articles with which it is unnecessary. They want their meat, fish, potatoes, melons, butter, tomatoes, turnips, bread, &c., positively salty. They hold that salt "brings out the flavor" and consider it in the same class with sugar—as a sweetener. The result is that the skin and kidneys are excessively taxed to get rid of the salt, and both are injured by it. Few people have healthy skins and it is believed that many cases of derangements of the kidneys are due to the salt habit. There is a reaction against it in progress. But little salt is required by the human body, and those who know this are disposed to discard the voluntary use of it altogether.

Gold in Jack Mountain.

For a long time it has been the talk that a Mr McCoy, one of the early settlers of the country, found gold on Jack Mountain, three or four miles from Monterey. This tale has in the last month been given new life by the coming into that section of two gentlemen from West Virginia, who have spent several days prospecting. We learn that they have found what they consider something valuable in the mineral line, and have sent away a large quantity of it for analysis.

The find is on W. P. Rexrode's land, and we have been informed that the prospectors have entered, or are about to enter, into an agreement with the owner of the property for the development of their discovery. Jack Mountain is large and, to all appearances, good for nothing, but stranger things than the finding of a gold mine in such places have happened.—Highland Recorder.

HERE is a chunk of hard sense from far-off Montana. The Helena Independent says: The joy over the fact that American steel is cutting under foreign prices in foreign markets is tempered by the fact that it is not cutting under foreign prices in the home market where it is protected.

THE beard usually turns gray first, and should be colored to correspond with the color of the hair of the head. Buckingham's Dye colors a natural brown or black.

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, Oct. 1, 1897.

Entered at the post-office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

AT the opening of the public schools of Sisterville over 800 pupils were enrolled. This erstwhile country hamlet and present oil metropolis now boasts of a population of over 3,5000.

AN organization of cripples has been perfected and 6,000 met in St Louis in convention. The object is to afford each other comfort and support. It was instigated by William Tower, who lost a leg as a railway conductor.

TAMMANY HALL has nominated Robert A. Van Wyck for mayor. As was expected, they did not say whether or not they still believe in Chicago, Bryan, and Free Silver. The contest will be between the Tammany man and the regular Republican candidate.

WITHIN the last week two suicides have occurred in West Virginia for love. A young lady in Bluefield drank carbolic acid, and Edward Evans shot himself. It is a pity that these two people had not met and committed matrimony instead.

WITH all the blast against Mark Hanna, we would as leave see him Senator from Ohio as any other member of his party. The reader can infer from this that we are either speaking well of Hanna or very ill of the other Ohio Republicans, as he may be inclined.

HON C. P. SNYDER, of Charleston, has secured a good consular appointment at Diaz, Mexico, with a salary of $2,500 attached. He has a mania for holding office, and seems to be destined to spend his life holding fat appointments. We would be glad to see him come back to the Democratic party for then we might be assured that victory was near at hand.

THE West Virginia M. E. Church Conference convened in annual session at Morgantown Wednesday morning; Bishop Mallalieu presiding. On calling the role, 154 ministers responded to their names. Rev J. Engle, secretary; Rev S. P. Crummett, statistical secretary; and L. W. Roberts, treasurer, were each re-elected to their respective offices. There are 191 pastoral charges included within the conference, and nine presiding elders. The membership of the church within the bounds of the conference is about 46,000.

THE famous McDonald trial at Charleston has terminated in his acquital. The exposures of official corruption in city and county affairs made in the impeachment proceedings have greatly aroused the citizens and they seem to think that forbearance is no virtue in their case. Their indignation grows more intense as the affair is discussed over the verdict in view of the evidence that was produced. The call for a meeting signed by thirty-five leading business and professional men is as follows, as found in a late issue of the Gazette- "A mass meeting of the citizens of Charleston, at the Courthouse, on Tuesday, September 28, at 8 P. M., is hereby requested and urged. The exposures concerning the city and county affairs, developed in the McDonald trial, make it imperitive that all citizens should assemble and consult for their common good.

THE chief mine inspector of West Virginia, J. W. Paul, reports the miners at work every where in the State except the Kanawha district. The Norfolk and Western is moving more coal than ever before, and the scarcity of cars is the only limit to the output of the mines. A week or so since 1,400 empties were brought in one day, but they did not last two days, as the output was about 800 cars a day. Everything on wheels holding coal is being used and sent off. Nearly all the men are at regular work on New River. In the Fairmont and Wheeling districts the miners are pushing things; some accepting operators' terms, while some of the operators, notably in the wheeling district, have agreed to the Ohio scale. This places the Kanawha district in such a condition that business is being lost, and unless operators and miners soon settle matters there will not be much to do when agreement is made.

THE REUNION DAY.

The thirtieth of September 1897 is to be noted as one of the most memorable days in the history of our county. This time had been selected for a reunion under the auspices of the Confederate veterans; and while promoting good feeling among the people by social amenities, and reviving friendships formed amid the stirring, perilous scenes of civil war, incidentally it hoped that something might be accomplished towards honoring the remains of the dead by gathering them to one place and marking the hallowed spot with a suitable memorial shaft. The day was such as we sometimes see in our happiest dreams. The forests that drape the surrounding hills overlooking Marlinton were radiant in their richest autumnal hues, and could not have been more appropriately beautiful had their umbrageous decorations been specially elaborated for the occasion. The location selected for the speaking and the reunion banquet is one of the most beautiful among all the charming and picturesqe points that make up Marlinton scenery. A half-mile southwardly from the court-house is a bend in the creek formed by a precipitous amphiteatre. Here there is a grove of large sugar maples interspersed with splendid specimens of the red oak and hemlock and fringed with laurel, while the creek with its pure, bright waters encircles the most of it. It was here the promoters of the reunion erected and decorated one of the finest grand stands for the accommodation of the speakers, marshalls, musicians, and priviledged guests from abroad that has ever been seen in our county. Seats were arranged for the camps of Confederate veterans, chapters of the Daughters of the Confederacy, and the Confederate Sons, and visiting Union veterans whose presence lent interest and pleasure to the occasion.

The exercises were opened by the Beverly Band playing "Nearer My God to Thee," after which the assembled thousands arose and sang the first and third stanzas with an enthusiasm hard to surpass, and then were led in prayer by the regimental chaplain, W. T. Price. E. I. Holt, Esq., delivered the address of welcome, that was well arranged and so expressed that all were impressed with the idea that they were never more welcome anywhere than just where they were at that moment. Hon. J. A. Prestou arose amid cheers that seemed to penetrate the overhanging skies. He spoke for more than two hours on the Confederate soldier and reviewed the Lee-Grant campaign of 1864 in his own peculiarly happy style that places him in the front rank of the West Virginia orators.

Long before the speaking ceased those who could not get in hearing were invited to eat and they were regaled with music and feasting. Then by the time the speaking was over those who were in hearing of the addresses had their turn at the well-filled tables, and so no one was left out, or if he was it was his own fault.

The music discoursed by the Hillsboro and Beverly bands was a charming feature of the occasion. It may be a long while before these bands will perform where nature has done so much to add charms to the effects of their performances. The echoes from the forest-clad amphitheatre and the softening influences of the grand umbrageous trees are aids to the best effects of melody that musicians are rarely favored with.

Late in the afternoon, Douglas McNeill, son of Capt James McNeill, whose absence was so much regretted, recited the charge at Gettysburg, where the high tide mark was reached and whence the fortunes of the Confederacy began to wane. After this the audience dispersed to their homes between four and five o'clock, and may all be happier and better from the grand enobling influences of this auspicious occasion.

After all that may have been done and said, the most interesting feature of the Confederate memorial day was the people themselves. On no previous occasion in the social history of Pocahontas has there been such a representation of the citizenship as was in evidence that auspicious time. Every nook and corner of this vast county, from the springs of Greenbrier to the romantic, moss-clad cliffs of Droop Mountain; from the shaded recesses of Black Mountain to the summits of the world-renowned Alleghanies and beyond the people came and mingled like blending streams into one vast sea. As the writer surveyed the thrilling scene and its significance opened up to his perceptions, he felt as never before what a grand future awaits our Pocahontas people could they be only reached and properly influenced and have their minds concentrated on things that are true, honest, just, pure, lovely, and of good report. Our people must be an improvable people, or they would not be here to revere the memories of Lee and Jackson, the inspiration of whose lives was drawn from Philippians iv: 8, just referred to. The sentiment of that verse was the ruling sentiment that moulded and shaped their characters and the characters of the noble ladies whose names are blended with theirs—Julia Jackson and Mildred Lee. There were hundreds present susceptible of becoming in character the peers of the model characters referred to; and character, after all, is the only thing we can take with us when we go hence as they have gone, taking nothing with them but their characters—all else is left below.

Many Revolutions.

A new revolution is brewing in Hayti. The new President, Tiresias Augustine Simon Sam, is not a man of much caliber, and his disagreements with his ministers and the state of depression from which the country has beeen suffering during the last twelve months have excited unrest.

Fouchard, minister of finance, is his prospective rival. Money is required to start things, and Fouchard, now in the United States, is supposed to be in quest of it. Events in Hayti are interesting, because it is to Hayti that Cuba will be assimilated if the elements dominant in Hayti become dominant in Cuba. Costa Rica also has trouble. Its consul in Nicaragua is in prison there. Its President, Iglesias, has been invested by Congress with extraordinary powers which will continue in force until after the coming election. There has been disorder and several arrests have been made.

Gautemaula's revolution continues. President Barrios has fortified his position by a change of cabinet. The rebels hold the port of Ocos.

A Chillian paper reports that President Erazuriz, of Chili, was hissed by the crowds at the Cathedrial recently—an unusual proceeding in a country remarkable for its regard for the decencies of of public life. Partisan feeling seems to be running high.

The Peruvian corporation which eight years ago shouldered Peru's debt of $200,000,000 in consideration of certain railway concessions is about to be "investigated" by a legislative committee. The State and then the corporation failed to keep the compact and the debt and concessions are now to "go."

Nicaragua is reported to have a new revolution. The city of Granada and town of Jintepec are said to be in the possession of the insurgents.

Disagreement at Canudos among "the fanatics" led by Conselhiero promises to give the Brazilian government a chance to suppress persistent rebellion in Bahia.—Baltimore Sun.

Green Bank.

Married: Last Wednesday, at the home of the bride, Lantis D. Wooddell and Miss Cora Conrad.

Died: Last Thursday morning, Mrs Grant Dilley, after a brief illness. She leaves three small children and a husband. Mrs Dilley was greatly loved and the family have the sympathy of the entire community in their great bereavment.

J. Asberry Sheets wears a big smile, its a fine boy.

Mrs C. B. Collins is very ill. She is not expected to live.

Rev Hedric preached eloquently at Liberty yesterday.

Joe Sutton, who drank wood alcohol is getting along very well and it is thought that he will get well.

W.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular perscription. It ic composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J CHENEY & CO., Props.,
Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by druggists, price 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

Company E, 26th Va. Battalion.

George M. Edgar, Colonel.

Captain, William Hefner, killed at Lewisburg.

1st Lieutenant, Joseph Scott, discharged, ill health.

2d lieutenant, Daniel Hefner, promoted Captain, 1863.

3d lieutenant, John Hefner, killed at Winchester, September, 1864.

1st Sergt., A. A. Cox, promoted lieutenant.

2d Sergt., Thomas Kirkpatrick, promoted lieutenant.

J. M. Hefner promoted 1st Sergt.

1st Corporal, Caperton Bobbit, killed at Winchester, October, 1864

2d Corporal, William Kirkpatrick in Idaho.

3d, L. Z. Hefner, on Authony's Creek.

4th, Lanty Scott.

5th, James Scott, gone to Missouri.

Amick, Assa, died in prison.
Amick, John
Alderman, Dallas, deserted, 1863
Alderman, Gib, " "
Bovoin, John
Bovoin, Lewis, died in prison, '64
Baker, Joseph
Buzzard, William C., deserted.
Boggs, William, died in prison 63
Boswell, William, killed at Lewisburg, '62.
Cackley, James V.
Campbell, George
Campbell, Thomas
Crane, John, killed at Lewisburg
Dysard, A. K.
Eakle, George
Feamster, John
Fifer, John
Gardner, Joseph
Graham, James
Hoylman, wounded in jaw.
Hefner, L. A.
Harper, Aaron
Hefner, Frank, gone West.
Honiker
Heltzel, Philip, killed at Lewisburg, 1862.
Humphries, Cavit
Humphries, Frank, died of fever
Hull, Jesse, gone West.
Jones, Ela
Jonas, Henry, killed in the West
Jones, David,
Johnson, John
Landras, Archable
Kelly
Kincaid, Larty
Kirkpatrick, Hamilton
Kirkpatrick, John
Kerr, George
Thomson, Robert, killed Kernstown, 1864.
McGraw, John
Malonia, Nicholas
May, William
McDermott, James
Neroman, James
Parkins, Joseph
Parkins, Zebulon
Persinger, Henry
Phillips, George
Phillips, Thomas
Rucker, J. A.
Ramsey, Reuben
Ripley, William
Ripley, James L.
Ripley, Mc
Ripley, John L.
Renvalas, Newman
Rank, James, killed at Lewisburg
Sevy, Henry
Sevy, George L.
Sevy, George A.
Stone, George
Stone, James
Smithson, John
Smithson, George
Scott, William
Thomson, John
Thomson, Dr
Watson, Joseph
Wade, John
Wade, Alfred
Wade, Morgan
Wade, Charley
Wiley, William
White, Richard
White, George

This company, 87 membert, was organized at White Sulphur springs June, 1861, as guides scouts for local defense of West Virginia, and was mustered into the 26th Virgin Battallion, 1st Brigade Breckinridge's Division.

Written by J. M. HEFNER, Orderly Company E.

Auction Sale!

I will offer for sale at public auction, on THURSDAY, OCT. 28, 1897,
at A. W. Moore's, on Knapps Creek, the following property:

1 pair Work Horses
2 Sets Harness
1 Grain Drill
1 Buggy and Harness
Forty or Fifty Thousand Feet of White Pine Lumber
1 Dehorning Machine Complete
Saddle and Bridles
Some Calves & Sheep
Other things, too numerous to mention

TERMS—12 MONTHS.

Respectfully,
John A. Moore
SWECKER, Auctioneer.

DO YOU TRAVEL

Are you going to take a trip? Do you suffer from Severe Headaches, Nervousness, Seasickness or Exhaustion? Why not prevent it all by using CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER. Help that headache, cure that nervousness and seasickness by the use of this Inhaler, the greatest stimulant and preventative known. Wonderful relief in Hay Fever and Asthma. ☞ BUY CUSHMAN'S INHALER and you will always use it. If you can't get it at Druggists send for it. By mail, 50 cents. Send for Book on Menthol, free. CUSHMAN DRUG CO., VINCENNES, IND., U. S. A.

LOOK HERE!

WHAT YOU WANT IS——

To know where you can buy 100 cents' worth for 1 $. I will tell you. Come to my store. I don't mean to say I will sell you the largest load for the least money,—but that I will give you the best bargains to be had in "town." I am closing out my stock on hands, and for the next thirty days will sell you goods at nearly COST, FOR CASH, or good produce, such as Ginseng, Beeswax, &c.

Note these prices: Good Prints, from 4c to 6c, Scotch Lawn 5c, Satteen 8½c, Ginghams, 6½, Cable twill 11c, Cambric 4½ & 5c, Ticking 15c, Table Oilcloth 16c, Over Shirts 19c to 60c, Overalls, 35c to 90c, Jeanes 85c and $1.15, Suspenders, 10c to 45c, Hose 5c to 18c, Half Hose 5 and 15c, Lady's Shoes from $1 to $1.50, Lady's Oxfords, 90c to $1.00, Misses Shoes 85c to $1.25, Men's Shoes, $1.25 to $1.90, Tobaccos, 23c to 55c, Arbuckle Coffee, 12½c, Mowing Scythes 45c and 65c, Snaths 40 and 50c, Hay Forks 30 and 40c.

Other goods proportionately low.

Call and be convinced that you can get bargains of me for cash.

Submissively yours,
G. L. HANNAH,
YELK. W. VA.

McClintic Home School,

HOT SPRINGS, VA.

An excellent school at moderate rates. Open October 1st.

Branches taught—English, Mathematics, Latin, French, and Music.

For further particulars address
MISS MAUDE DIFEENDERFER,
Principal
McClintic House, Hot Springs, Va

Lee Military Academy.

Offers the very best opportunities for Preparatory or Business course at lowest rates. In healthful climate with best social surroundings, no saloons, the building in beautiful grove, with large grounds,—its natural advantages are far above the average.

Instructors of large experience and broad culture. A well-selected library of above 1,000 volumes. Most approved methods of instruction. Courses in all high school branches to fit for any college desired; also complete business course in Bookkeeping, Shorthand, and Type-writing. Careful physical training.

Only young men of good character and studious habits desired.

Address,
JAMES M. LEE, A. M., Prin.,
Lewisburg, W. Va.

July18 8w

Commissioner's Notice.

Commissioner's Office,
Marlinton, W. Va.
Sept. 1, 1897.

B. M. Yeager
vs.
J. H. Buzzard, Constoble and others.

Pursuant to a decree of the circuit court of Pocahontas County, W. Va., rendered at the April term, 1897, and June term of said court in the above entitled case, I will proceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, W. Va., on the 24th day of September, 1897, to take, state, and report to court the following matters of account, to-wit:

1—An account showing what amounts were due from J. C. Arbogast, S. P. C., to the several school districts in this county on the 1st day of July, 1893.

2—An account showing what amount was due from said J. C. Arbogast, as sheriff of this county, to said districts when the tax tickets referred to in the bill were turned over to Levi Gay.

3—What amount said Levi Gay had paid on said indebtedness.

4—What amount of outstanding school orders drawn by said districts therh now are, and to whom due.

5—whether or not B. M. Yeager became chargable with any of the balances due from J. C. Arbogast, S. P. C., to said districts at the date when the new bond of 1893 became operative.

6—whether or not J. C. Arbogast was insolvent when said bond of $10,000 was given under section 46 of chapter 45 of the code, on which B. M. Yeager and Adam Arbogast were his sureties, became operative.

7—whether or not there was any election made by J. C. Arbogast to charge himself under the new bond with the balances found due under the old bond, and whether said election was ratified by the said several districts

8—what amount of money collected by Levi Gay on the tickets turned over to him by J. C. Arbogast is in his hands—collected from the tax-tickets of 1893, 1894, 1895.

9—Any other matter specially stated, deemed pertinent by himself or rexuired by any party in interest to be so stated.

At which time and place you may attend.

W. A. BRATTON,
Commissioner.

HARNESS & SHOEMAKING.

If you want any work in my line—Harness and Shoemaking—I will be in my shop ready to wait on you for cash or produce in hand.

Thanking you for past favors, I am yours for business.

Respectfully,
J. H. CURRY,
Green Bank, W. Va

PLOW REPAIRS.

We have at last succeeded in making arrangements
To supply Points for the Ronceverte Plow.

Full stock now on hand
Send in your orders early

We are Factory Agents for
SILVER STEEL and IMPERIAL PLOWS,
also BEST HILL-SIDE PLOW on Market,

Don't Forget
THE WONDER AIR TIGHT HEATER
this Fall.

Simms & Co.,
Opp. Passenger Depot, RONCEVERTE, W. Va.

IT TICKLES YOU
THE INSTANT RELIEF YOU GET FROM
LIGHTNING HOT DROPS.

CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.
HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals, Serpents, Bugs, etc.
BREAKS UP Bad Colds, La Grippe, Influenza, Croup, Sore Throat, etc.

SMELLS GOOD, TASTES GOOD.
SOLD EVERYWHERE AT 25C AND 50C PER BOTTLE. NO RELIEF, NO PAY.
HERB MEDICINE CO. [Formerly of Weston, W. Va.] SPRINGFIELD, O.

Immense Stock
OF NEW GOODS AT GOLDEN'S—For Old and Young.

NO USE TALKING About Hard Times

When One Dollar will Buy as Much at SOL. DAVIS' as Two Dollars will Buy at Other Stores.

I have literally plunged the knife into even my former low prices to quicken sales, and the result is seen in the increased number of customers at my store. Do you want to share in the Bargains now offered in CLOTHING, BOOTS, SHOES, DRY GOODS, NOTIONS, &C.,
If so call at SOL. DAVIS', GREEN BANK, WEST VIRGINIA.

I will quote prices on a few things:

6 Spools Clark's O. N. T. Cotton for 25c
75 good Envelopes (3 packs) for 10c
72 sheets Ruled Note Paper for 10c
3 doz. (36 boxes) Matches for 25c
5 Boxes Essence of Coffee for 10c
1 dz. ½gallon Mason Jars for $1.00
7lbs good 20c Coffee for $1.00
1lb good Chewing Tobacco for 25c
Mens' Laundried Shirts, white or colored, 50c
Calicoes, fast colors, 5 and 6c
Ginghams per yard 5 and 6c.

I an compelled to sell off my stock before putting in FALL and WINTER goods,—and I expect to put in a large and complete stock for the Fall. I have also lowered the prices of all other goods in general. Come in early as possible and get the choice selection. This is not a special sale, but you will find I am constantly selling goods below regular prices for SPOT CASH.

YOURS FOR LOW PRICES,

SOL. DAVIS,
Green Bank, W. Va.

The Pocahontas Times.

Hear, Land o' Cakes and brither Scots,
Frae Maidenkirk to Johnny Groats,
If there's a hole in a' your coats,
I rede ye tent it;
A chiel's amang you takin' notes,
An' faith he'll prent it.—BURNS

Local Events.

THE State Guards have just held their annual encampment at Charleston.

THE public school building at Pruntytown was burned last Wednesday. Loss about $5,000; loss about $1200.

A NEW paper has been started at Clifton Forge, called The Virginian. It is Republican in politics. Kirk Snyder is working in the printing office.

OUR County seems to be the object of a good deal of attenton. From the number of strangers who take an interest here and visit us, we infer that some people have some inside facts. Axtell, the railroad magnate, was in Pocahontas last week.

SEVERAL new cases of fever developed in Marlinton the past week. It is a malarial fever that is not considered especially dangerous, but which reduces the victim in a very few days. It is hoped that the frost will insure no more cases this year.

ON the day of the Reunion, Frank Thomson, who was riding a young mule, was thrown with great violence near the residence of B. M. Yeager. His collar bone struck a locust root and was broken in two places. The bone was set and he remained several days at Mr Yeager's' He was able to go home last Sunday and it will be a matter of a short time until he is about again.

A FEW weeks ago we made note of a tennis tournament between Cheyenne and Laramie, Wyoming, in which Paris Yeager, formerly of Marlinton, figured prominently. We learn from the Daily Boomerang that in the return match, played at Laramie, the Cheyenne representatives were again successful; thus demonstrating their superior skill as tennis players beyond the shadow of a doubt.

MRS JOHN G. BEARD and daughter experienced an accident on the Price Hill last Thursday. A horse driven by Lee Beard, of the Levels, became frightened and dashed into their buggy. The blow broke the harness of Mrs Beard's horse, and the occupants had barely time to get out of the buggy before it and the horse went over the precipitous bank on the lower side of the road. The main damage was breaking a pair of shafts.

PASSENGERS on the steamer Pocahontas, from Richmond, tell of an exciting and novel deer chase which occurred in the James River. Shortly after the steamer had passed Claremont a large buck was seen swimming in the stream. Those passengers who had revolvers fired a number of shots at the deer, but without effect. The deer passed the vessel, after which the boat was put about and the chase commenced. When the animal was reached a boat was lowered with several men in it and they captured the buck, bringing him aboard.

THE C. & O. R. R. engineers have been about this place for a few days, and on Monday moved their camp equipage to Dunmore, it is supposed to run another line. While here they finished the survey down the river, joining it to the survey completed in January, 1896, from White Sulphur to Marlinton by Driscol. The corps then did two days work about the town, surveying in every direction, and running a number of lines more or less parallel with each other. It is said that it makes a right difficult bend to come down Knapp's Creek and turn up the River. It is reported that the surveyors got a beautiful grade for a railroad up the river. They surveyed it an average elevation of thirty-five feet above low water mark. While here the tents were pitched at the mouth of Stony Creek. They are very comfortably fixed for camping out, their camp equipments loading three wagons.

MART BARNES has been suspicioned as being the owner of a "speakeasy" at this town for several weeks. He had a barber shop and people would wait around for days to get shaved at his shop rather than patronize the better barber shop of Mart McDowell, who only shaved peopie on the out side. Last week Justice Bird got information of his operations sufficiently to issue a warrant, but he got wind of it and fled the scene. He seems to have had a stock on hand and he removed it to some dense woods up the run. It speedily became known that the thirsty had only to go to a certain point and whistle and an answering whistle would tell them where to come. Bud Burner, C. P. C., and W. W. Tyree, special constable, used this means, and on hearing the wistle, Burner got off. As soon as Barnes saw who it was, he started to run, but two pistol shots passing near him made him stop. He waived his preliminary examination and was committed to jail to await the action of the grand jury. It is not certainly known whether he has United S a'es license or not.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Prof M. G. Matthews is teaching the Poage Lane school.

Mrs Flora Gay will teach the Edray school the current session.

J. L. Hechmer, of Grafton, has been in Marlinton for the past week.

Congressman C. P. Dorr spent several days in Pocahontas last week.

Miss Allie Baxter is teaching the Fairview school with an encouraging enrollment.

Miss Lucy Baxter opened the Pine Grove school, Monday October 4. This is her first session.

Anderson Barlow is building a nice barn on his Hazel Ridge farm near Hamline Chapel.

Mr and Mrs Charles Arbuckle have removed from their former home in Missouri, and will live on the Clover Lick farm at the site of the old Clover Lick house.

Among the visitors from Monroe to the reunion were Mr Alex. Campbell, of Union, and Miss Nettie Campbell, the accomplished daughter of Judge Campbell.

Ligon Marshall and John Yeager left Saturday to pursue medical studies; the former at the Baltimore Medical College and the latter at the University of Louisville.

Mr and Mrs Alvin Gay, of Edray. returned from their bridal tour last Friday. They came near meeting a serious accident at Covington, but fortunately escaped without injury.

REUNION PERSONALS.

George Cleek, Bath County Surveyor, was one of the reunion visitors. He was a member of the Bath Squadron and was indentified with it throughout the war.

Mr A. M. McLaughlin, of Lewisburg, was one of the visiting veterans of the Marlinton Reunion. He came near losing his life in the Imboden Raid and barely escaped capture at the Battle of Droop Mountain.

J. Andrew Warwick, lately of the State of Washington, was at the reunion. He was a Confederate lieutenant in the Bath Squadron, was wounded, and was ever held in high esteem for his gallantry and uflinching fidelity to the duties of a soldier.

Colonel Polk Ford, of Lewisburg, whose reputution as a brave and efficient soldier ranks with the highest of those who were to be found in the foremost ranks of danger's dark career when duty called. was at the reunion and assisted in conducting the parade.

Captain J. W. Marshall, of Randolph County, was able to be present reunion day and met several of those who were members of his command. He also assisted in managing the procession. The Captain looked as much like living as he moved with the column last Thursday as as he did when leading a charge more than thirty years ago. Sparks of the same old fire flashed from his eyes.

Captain John Adam McNeel, from Rockbridge, was honored with a seat on the speakers' stand. He expressed himself as more than pleased with the way things were managed. He was able to speak by the card, as he was one of the marshalls at the unveiling of Jackson's statue at Lexington a few years since, which was one of the most memorable days in the history of Rockbridge County.

Dr H. H. Jones, of Doe Hill, Highland County, was among the visiting veterans. He was one of the youngest of the Highland Volunteers that were among the first to volunteer at the beginning of the war and was in the expedition to Grafton. He belonged to the 31st Virginia Infantry, but being disabled by wounds early in the war he was honorably discharged, and thereupon entered Washington College and afterwards prepared himself for the medical profession and is now an eminent physician. He has a son who is demonstrator of anatomy at the Uninersity of Virginia.

Captain J. W. Johnson, Greenbrier County, was one of the distinguished Confederate visitors at the reunion. Among the reasons that his name will be remembered in Confederate history may be mentioned the fact that he was the original owner of Traveller, General Lee's war horse. In 1860 Captain Johnson put his colt on exhibition at the Lewisburg Fair and received a premium. The colt was named Jeff Davis, but when put into General Lee's possession his name became Traveller. Captain Johnson was one of the marshalls in the procession.

One of the touching and thrilling episodes occuring during the reunion oration was. when the speaker referred to Captain W. L. McNeel taking the battle flag from the wounded and falling standard-bearer and rescuing it from capture at the imminent peril of life. He spoke of the gallant veteran at home so prostrated by bodily infirmities as to render it impossible to be present in person, yet he was here in spirit and so let the sympathies of his comrades he wafted to him and their sincere regrets expressed that they were not to have him present. Whereupon enthusiastic cheers were given for the absent veteran in the body but present in his fondest thoughts.

DUNMORE.

Dry and frosty.

Earl Arbogast is doing very well at this writing.

Auctioneer Swecker will attend the Beverly court next week.

Miss Lucy Kincaid will commence the Dunmore school Monday next.

Rev D. C. Hedrick's meeting at Green Bank was largely attended on Sunday last.

Several of the farmers have hooped their hogs so they will hold slop.

Mr Lanty Wooddell and Miss Cora Conrad were married near Green Bank last week.

The railroad engineers are surveying in the neighborhood of Dunmore.

Miss Alice McLaughlin has commenced her school at the McLaughlin School-house. A big spelling match every Friday night.

Ed Jackson says, (in order to satisfy some people) he shot Harry Moore with a shotgun accidentally and not with a .44 Winchester.

H. M. Moore, who was shot some time ago, is doing very well, and thinks if he gets another load of shot or two in him he will be ball-bearing.

There is some talk of getting up a joint stock company at Dunmore for the purpose of building a first-class mill. Success to the enterprise.

The fall term of the Pocahontas County Musisal Association will be held at Green Bank, and we think a good time would be October 21, 22, 23. Let all take a part and make it a grand success.

Mrs Grant Dilley died at her home near Dunmore on the 30th of Septemder. She leaves three small children Her age was 21 years. Mrs Dilley was an affectionate wife and loving mother. The bereaved family has the sympathy of the community.

SALLY SLIPPER.

A Romantic Marriage.

THE following, taken from the Webster Echo, will be of interest to the friends of the parties named therein:

One of the last social events of the closing season at the Springs, was the marriage of Mr Marvin Carter to Miss Leva Gibson, at the Standard House, on Monday evening, September 6. The contracting parties are well known and prominent young people of Pocahontas County, and in a romantic spirit chose a journey across the summer mountains, and among the few friends gathered at this hospitable hostlery, joined their lives together for weal or woe. The bridal party left the following evening for Clarksburg to attend the fair.

Petit Jury.

S J Gay
R C Shrader
W H Bobbett
Ewing Sharp
J A Beverage
Uriah Beverage
J R Moore
W J Yeager
Martin Sutton
W L Harper
J A Sheets
J. W Riley
Aaron Moore
W H Cleek
John Doyle
C B Grimes
A J McCoy
Paul McYeager

M F Herold
Ellis McCarty
Pat Henry
Eugene Gatew'd
J A Clarkson
W E Overholt
J B Boggs
C P Collins
J W Moore
J H Hevener
Jacob A Gibson
W H Taylor
M Ruckman
Sam Good
M J McNeel
W C Mann
Lincoln Cochran
C M Wallace

Grand Jury.

S B Hannah, f.]
A S Gillispie
George M Kee
Robert Gibson
W A G Sharp
P M Harper
Geo Clendennin
W W Beard

B F McElwee
W R Sutton
Levi Waugh
Levi Gay
A C Moore
D B McElwee
Joel O Hill
J K Bright

Camp J. E. B. Stuart, Sons of Veterans.

On Wednesday of last week Colonel Gatewood organized a camp of Sons of Confederate Veterans, and named in honor of the noted cavalry leader General Stuart, with about thirty members and the following officers:

Captain, L. J. Marshall.
1st Lieut., Andy Oliver.
2d " John Yeager.
3d " Sam Sheets.
4th " Blake King.
1st Sergeant, Bob Beverage.
2d " Ed Burner.
3d " Amos Courtney.
1st Corporal, Willis Courtney.
2d " W. B. Ratliff
3d " Eugene Gatewood.
Chaplain, John Rorke.
Secretary, Andrew Gatewood.
Treasurer, John Pullins.

WANTED—Position to teach in private family or school, by a Virginia lady who holds a first-grade certificate and a diploma from Danville Normal School. Besides the common branches, will teach Latin, beginners in music. Art embroidery a specialty. Best references. Charges moderate. Address MISS L., care Pocahontas Times.

EVERY one desires to keep informed on Yukon, the Klondike and Alaskan gold fields. Send 10c. for large Compendium of vast information and big color map to Hamilton Publishing Company, Indianapolis, Indiana.

THE REUNION IN OUR TOWN.

There is joy among the people, far away in warring strife,
And our fathers take vacation from the dull routine of life,
And we'll have a gay reunion, yes. reunion in our town,
We'll hear the fife and bugle call all up the streets and down.

The trouble it would make us we deplored it o'er and o'er;
Anxiety from first to last was sitting at our door;
But the mother shopped and dressmade, doing all with painful care
To make her young folks on parade the very swellest there.

Ah the dear old place was crowded with a radiant, rapturous throng,
And each old war-scarred Johnny felt he owed the world a song,
When he saw the people coming from miles and miles away
And heard the speaker's voice ring out "Honor the men in grey!"

Oh the music, oh the speaking, oh the gorgeous pumpkin pies;
How the people feast upon them. choked with dust up to the eyes!
And as the good things vanished I could no more refute,
"A good cook's half the battle and all the world to boot."

'Twas over: that we'd reuned there could not be a doubt,
For Johnny had the toothache, ma said she was "all worn out,"
And the fever was giving "pa" a chase for marching in the sun;
And every one was nearly dead before the day was done.
But the doctors they look chipper as they gallop up and down,
And they say they love reunions—yes, reunions in the town.

SUSIE ALEXANDER PRICE.

Card of Thanks on Behalf of the Executive Committee.

On behalf of the executive committee for the reunion, I desire to thank the citizens of Pocahontas County generally for their liberal support. Over five thousand people were fed on the ground, and yet there was an abundance of provision left. To the several committees and other persons who aided to make the reunion a success our thanks are due for valuable assistance. Especially are we indebted to E D. King, chairman of the committee on grounds; for his untiring zeal, effective work, and intelligent management. We acknowledge material aid from the Marlinton Literary Society by a donation of funds arising from their entertainment.

Too much praise cannot be bestowed upon the ladies cavalcade, composed of the chapters of the Daughters of the Confederacy, and others with their escorts, who added so much to the effect of the parade and the pleasure of the occasion; nor do we forget to pay proper tribute to the organization of Sons of Veterans, who added materially to the effect of the parade.

To the Hillsboro Cornet Band and the Southern Band. of Beverly, wo are indebted for inspiring music, good appearance, and gentlemanly conduct.

We tender our thanks to Hon. John A. Preston for his able and patriotic address; to Hon. E. I. Holt for his address of welcome; and to our young friend Douglas McNeill for his oration en Picketts charge at Gettysburg. The thanks of all are due to Colonel A. C. L. Gatewood and his staff for the able manner in which the parade was handled. We congratulate the people of the county and visiting friends upon the splendid order and good behavior maintained throughout the day. Let us all be thankful to our all wise Ruler that no serious accid nt occur ed to mar the pleasure of the occasion.

Trusting that the reunion may have been the means of cultivating a more deep and lasting spirit of friendship and fraternal good will between all, I am, very truly, etc.,

H. A. YEAGER, Ch. Ex. Com.

THE Confederate Veterans of "John Burgess Camp" desire to thank the people of Little Levels district and especially the young people for the cheerfulness and good will with which they contributed to the success of the recent Reunion at Marlinton.

Respectfully,
M. J. MCNEEL, Commander.

The Southern Band.

The Southern Band from Beverly, West Virginia, was the first to put in its appearance at Marlinton with a view of participating in the reunion demonstration. This band was welcomed with hearty cheers and the music charmed many enthusiastic hearts, and the cheers went up with resounding echoes until lost in the silence of the stars on Tuesday night. This organization is one year old, and was instructed by F. A. Rowan, Esq., a young member of the Beverly bar, and consists of twenty-two members. attached to the choice familys of the town and country citizenship.

The following professional and industrial occupations are represented: Three printers, one lawyer, one doctor, two blacksmiths, one merchant, one tailor, one carpenter, one dentist, one shoemaker and one ex-post master. Competent critics pronounced the performances of this band as exceptionally good for the time it has been in practice.

DEATHS.

James Moore.

Died, at his residence near Marlinton, at five o'clock Monday morning, October 4, 1897, James Moore, aged 84 years and 6 months. He had been suffering the past six weeks of dropsical affection and heart trouble, but endured his afflictions with great fortitude and Christian submission.

In his sphere, Mr Moore was justly regarded as one of our best citizens. Early in youth he became a professing Christian, and for nearly seventy years was a member of the M. E. Church and in whose pale he died. He was a grandson of Moses Moore, the noted pioneer. His wife was Anna McNeill, daughter of Squire John McNeill, of Swago, who survives him, an aged and highly esteemed lady. J. Register Moore and Mrs Rachel Kee are his surviving children. A few days before his decease he was asked what portion of scripture had been in his mind as specially interesting and consoling. Without hesitation he replied: "The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want, and the rest." Whoever reads that 23d Psalm then will have an idea of the thoughts that comforted the soul of our departed friend and neighbor in the final hours. The Good Shepherd is Jesus, of whom it may be so sweetly said:

"Jesus can make the dying bed
Feel soft as downy pillows are
While on his breast he laid his head
And breathe his life out sweetly there."

W. T. P.

Captain J. W. Mathews, widely known in business circles as the cash er of the Lewisburg Bank, died suddenly at his residence last week. His age was about 56 years and was a brother of the late Governor H. M. Mathews. He was a Confederate veteran and has a good record as such. His daughter, Miss Mary Mathews, has been a frequent visitor at Marlinton and has many friends to sympathize with her in this sad bereavement.

Miss Lucy E. Amiss, a sister of the late A. D. Amiss., died in Washington City, September 28th, and was brought to New Erection Church, in Rockingham County, Virginia, for burial. She was 58 years of age and was a lady of much refinement and culture.

The Musicale.

The musicale was given Wednesday night, according to announcement. It was a good performance and netted the reunion fund $42. The music was of a very high order, and those having sufficiently sensitive ears appreciated it and all united in praising it, with the exception of a visiting farmer who has a better ear for a cracked dinner bell than he has for a piece of music, and he admitted that it did very well for the backwoods but was not quite up to a concert he had once heard in Grafton.

The burlesque on Droop Mountain was very well received. The Confederates were worsted in that engagement, and no effort was made to gloss over their defeat. The local hits were well taken, especially the one in which Colonel G. S. McNeel was made to say that he "woould sooner be George McNeel living than General Lee dead!" a memorable saying of that distinguished soldier, who never failed in a duty, but who was somewhat notorious for taking care of himself when it did not conflict with his duties as a soldier.

The tableaux were very beautiful. It was a good show and the results very gratifying to the management and audience.

NOTICE.

All parties knowing themselves to be indebted to us will please call at our store and settle the same on or before November 1, 1897, or we will be compelled to place your accounts in an officers hands for collection. We must have money to meet our obligations.

Respectfully,
HANNAH & HARPER,
Frost, W. Va., Sept. 18, '97.

Nourish Him.

That's the whole secret in a word. We can cure no disease unless we can keep up the patient's strength. And there's only one way to do that—feed him. But if the system refuses food? Then use SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites. It goes STRAIGHT TO THE BLOOD. stops the wasting, rekindles the vital fire, makes new flesh. and so renders a hopeful fight possible against ANY disease.

Especially is this so in bronchial and lung troubles, in the relief and cure of which Scott's Emulsion has won its reputation. Book about it free.

Scott's Emulsion is no mysterious mixture. It is palatable, non-nauseating and infinitely preferable to the plain oil. The genuine has our trade-mark on salmon-colored wrapper. Get the genuine.

For sale at 50 cts. and $1.00 by all druggists.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

Lightning Hot Drops—
What a Funny Name!
Very True, but it Kills All Pain.
Sold Everywhere. Every Day—
Without Relief, There is No Pay!

WANTED—TRUSTWORTHY AND ACTIVE gentlemen or ladies to travel for responsible, established house in Pocahontas County. Monthly $65 00 and expenses Position steady. Reference. Enclose self-addressed stamped envelope.—The Dominion Company, Dept. W. Chicago.

Notice to Tax-Payers.

The undersigned Sheriff of Pocahontas County will be at the following named places on the dates named during the month of October, 1897, for the purpose of collecting taxes:

Travelers Repose, Th'rs.	Oct.	21
Green Bank, Friday,	October	22
Dunmore, Saturday,	"	23
Frost, Monday	"	25
Huntersville, Tuesday,	"	26
Linwood, Wednesday,	"	27
Edray, Thursday,	"	28
Marlinton, Friday,	"	29
Lobelia, Thursday,	"	28
Academy, Saturday,	"	30

All persons paying their taxes in full on the above named days will be allowed a discount of 2½ per cent. R. W. HILL, S. P. C.

Commissioner's Sale.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Greenbrier County, west Virginia, made at the June term. 1897 in the chancery suit of L. J. Williams an J. C. Patterson, Trustee, vs. W. H Overholt et al, I will sell at public auction to the highest bidder in front of the court house door, in Marlinton, Pocahontas County,

on Thursday 14th day of October, 1897,

the following real estate belonging to W. H. Overholt, situated in Pocahontas County, west Virginia, viz:

1st A tract of 25 acres of land, more or less, on Locust Creek, including grist mill and water power, known as the Beard Mill Property. This is a valuable mill and I am informed is in good condition.

2d. A body of timber lands lying on the east side of Greenbrier River, composed of several contiguous tracts, containing in the aggregate 2250 acres more or less Some of the timber has been cut from said land and sold and is now lying on the land. The right is reserved to the purchaser to move said timber. This land is well timbered with white oak, white pine, and hemlock, and is accessible to Greenbrier River, where it can be easily floated to the booms of the St Lawrence Boom and Manufacturing Company at Ronceverte on the Chesapeake and Ohio railway.

3d. 350 acres of land on the head of Hills Creek, composed of two tracts, one of about 325 acres and the other about 25 acres.

4th. 50 acres adjoining W. McCoy and others, conveyed to W. H. Overholt by H W. Hull.

Terms of Sale.

One-third cash on day of sale, one-third in one, and one-third in two years from day of sale with interest, purchaser to execute bonds with good security for the deferred payments.

L. J. WILLIAMS, Commissioner.

Bond with security conditioned according to law has been filed with me by said commissioner, and approved.

JONATHAN MAYS, Clerk.

Tutt's Pills Cure All Liver Ills.

A Strong Fortification.

Fortify the body against disease by Tutt's Liver Pills, an absolute cure for sick headache, dyspepsia, sour stomach, malaria, constipation, jaundice, biliousness and all kindred troubles.

"The Fly-Wheel of Life"

Dr. Tutt; Your Liver Pills are the fly-wheel of life. I shall ever be grateful for the accident that brought them to my notice. I feel as if I had a new lease of life.

J. Fairleigh, Platte Cannon, Col.

Tutt's Liver Pills

Jeweler.

I will be at Marlinton September 27. with a nice line of watches and jewelry, and will remain fifteen days. I will repair watches clocks and jewelry. All work warranted or no pay. Call and see me.

E. C. HAMRICK,
Addison, West Virginia.

The Great Earthquake.

We do not wish to shock you, as did the earthquake some time past, but we want to give you a few pointers. We have pulled price-raisers down and cleared the path to Bargaindom. There are no tricks or illusions about our business methods - we give prices and goods that bear the light of investigation.

We are constantly outdoing our own past brilliant doings in value giving. Honest, Palpable, Bonafide Bargains are what you want and always get here. We are undersold by none.

SOME PRICES.

1 dozen ½-gallon Mason Jars, 95c
1 pound Cornstarch, 5c
Peaches, 10c per can
Best Brown Sugar, 5c
Granulated Sugae, 6c
Good quality 3 prong Hay Fork, 25c
Hickory Home-made Cradles, $2.50
Good Prints, 3¾ 5¼ per yard.
Apron Ginghams, 5c per yard
Best Ticking, 14c per yard
Choice whole grain rice, 6c
Good quality Cuff-holders, 7c pair
24-inch Turkey Red Had'kfs, 5c each
Good quality Glass Tumblers, 25c set
Tobacco, from 20 to 4 c
Wool Pants, 85c

—Other Goods Proportiocately Low—

We invite you all to come in and see what great bargains we are constantly putting on our shelves.

Yours for Business,
"High Quality and Low Prices"

L. D. Sharp.

KEEP YOUR BOWELS STRONG ALL SUMMER!

CANDY CATHARTIC Cascarets CURE CONSTIPATION

REGULATE THE LIVER

10¢ 25¢ 50¢

ALL DRUGGISTS

A tablet now and then will prevent diarrhoea, dysentery, all summer complaints, causing easy, natural results. Sample and booklet free. Ad. STERLING REMEDY CO., Chicago, Montreal, Can., or New York. 279

PLEASE NOTICE

I am selling cheap and am paying the best price for your produce. My house is now full of bargains and will sell than anyone else for cash or your produce. But don't forget that money is ahead of everything. I am for strictly cash or produce.

A Little bit Cheaper

I have a few Summer Goods left to be closed out at Cost and Carriage

I have my fall stock on hands; a nice line of goods. Here are a few prices—

Green Coffee 12½ to 15c
Sugar 6 to 7
Gingham 5½ to 8
Good Shoes, $1.00 to $1.85.
Yarn 75c to 85c

Arbuckle Coffee 15c
Calico 4½ to 7
Cotton Cloth 5 to 9
Flannels 20 to 28
Masons Jars qt 75c ½g 95

Five per cent. off for Cash. On goods in quantity a further discount.

FOR PRODUCE.—Butter, 12½c; Eggs, 8c; Chickens, 6c gross.

Regular good goods—no shoddy. Call for prices—you will be treated right.

Thanking my customers for their liberal patronage, and trusting that others will come from a distance to examine my goods, I am

Yours truly,
S. J. BOGGS,
—HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.—

We have a plan by which Farmers can get TOOL CHESTS FREE

Containing of first-class quality (guaranteed) every tool—Axes, Saws and Planes included—necessary to repair vehicles, machines or build a house. Three two-cent stamps and the name of this paper required for particulars. Powell Fertilizer & Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, Oct. 1, 1897.

Entered at the post-office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and first Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March and the fourth Tuesday of June and September—June is levy.

County Directory

Judge	J. M. McWhorter
Pros. Attorney	L. M. McClintic
Sheriff	R. W. Hill
Clerk County Court	S. L. Brown
Clerk Circuit Court	J. H. Patterson
Assessor	J. H. Buzzard
Com'rs. Co. Ct.	Amos Barlow C. E. Beard J R Warwick
Surveyor	George Baxter
Coroner	George P. Moore

BOARD OF HEALTH—Dr J. W. Price, L. M. McClintic, M. J. McNeel, R. W. Hill.

JUSTICES—Uriah Bird, Marlinton; A. C. L. Gatewood, Linwood; P. D. Arbogast, Green Bank; W. H. Grose, Huntersville; G R. Curry, Academy; T. A. Bruffey, Lobelia.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours: a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urin and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following the use liquor, beer, or wine, and over comes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail. Mention The Pocahontas Times and send your address to Dr Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Tee proprietors guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

THE ODELL TYPE WRITER.

$20 will buy the ODELL TYPE WRITER with 78 characters, warranted to do as good work as any machine made.

It combines SIMPLICITY with DURABILITY, SPEED, EASE OF OPERATION, wears longer without cost of repairs than any other machine. Has no ink ribbon to bother the operator. It is NEAT, SUBSTANTIAL, nickel plated, perfect and is adapted to all kinds of typewriting. Like a printing-press, it produces sharp, clean, legible manuscripts. Two or ten copies can be made at one writing. Any intelligent person can become an operator in two days.

Reliable Agents and Salesmen wanted. For Pamphlet giving Indorsements, etc., address,

ODELL TYPE WRITER CO.
358-364 Dearborn St. CHICAGO, ILL
Mention this paper.

R·I·P·A·N·S
Packed Without Glass.
TEN FOR FIVE CENTS.

This special form of Ripans Tabules is prepared from the original prescription, but more economically put up for the purpose of meeting the universal modern demand for a low price.

DIRECTIONS.—Take one at meal or bed time or whenever you feel poorly. Swallow it whole, with or without a mouthful of water.

They cure all stomach troubles; banish pain; induce sleep; prolong life. An invaluable tonic. Best Spring Medicine. No matter what's the matter, one will do you good. One gives relief—a cure will result if directions are followed.

The five-cent packages are not yet to be had of all dealers, although it is probable that almost any druggist will obtain a supply when requested by a customer to do so; but in any case a single carton, containing ten tabules, will be sent, postage paid, to any address for five cents in stamps, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York. Until the goods are thoroughly introduced to the trade, agents and peddlers will be supplied at a price which will allow them a fair margin of profit, viz.: 1 dozen cartons for 40 cents—by mail 45 cents. 12 dozen (144 cartons) for $4.32—by mail for $4.89. 6 gross (720 cartons) for $20.52. 25 gross (3,600 cartons) for $100. Cash with the order in every case, and freight or express charges at the buyer's cost.

Scientific American Agency for PATENTS
CAVEATS,
TRADE MARKS,
DESIGN PATENTS,
COPYRIGHTS, etc.
For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

YOUR FORTUNE

is your health. Your happiness is your strength Keep the Head and Throat clear and healthy and your mind and brain is always at rest and ease CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER is the greatest relief to mankind in all head troubles CURES COLDS, SORE THROAT, CATARRH. That awful odor of Catarrh disappears by its use. Wonderful in Hay Fever and Asthma. BUY ONLY CUSHMAN'S.

If you can't get it at Druggists send for it. By mail, 50 cents. Send for Book on Menthol, free. CUSHMAN DRUG CO., VINCENNES, IND., U. S. A.

GIVEN FREE EACH MONTH (During 1897)

4 First Prizes, each of $100 Cash.
20 Second " " " $100 Pierce Special Bicycles.
40 Third " " " $ 25 Gold Watches.

FOR Sunlight SOAP WRAPPERS

For particulars send your name and full address to Lever Bros., Ltd., Hudson & Harrison Sts., New York.

Order of Publication

State of West Virginia. Pocahontas County, to-wit:

At rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of said county on Monday, September 6th, 1897.

State of West Virginia
vs.
J. W. F. Allemong, J. B. Blyholder and others Defts.

The object of this suit is to sell for the benefit of the School Fund 130 acres of land, assessed in the name of J. W. F. Allemong, and forfeited for the non payment of taxes thereon for the year 1893; also a tract of 710 acres assessed in the name of J. W. F. Allemong and forfeited for the non-pament of taxes thereon for the year 1893; and a tract of 1600 acres assessed in the name of J. B. Blyholder, and forfeited for the non payment of taxes thereon for the year 1894; all of said tracts of land are situated in Pocahontas county, West Virginia.

This day came the plaintiff by its attorney and it appearing by affidavit filed, that the said defendants J. W. F. Allemong and J. B. Blyholder, are non residents of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that they do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect their interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
L. M. McClintic } p. q.
J. W. Yeager }

Old Dominion Building & Loan Association.
—OF—
Richmond, - - Virginia.
J. TAYLOR ELLYSON, President.
E. A. BARBER, Treasurer.
DIRECTORS.
J. Taylor Ellyson, Normon V. Randolph, John B. Purcell, John S. Ellet, Frank T, Sutton.

Authorized Capital	$20.000,000.
Subscribed Capital	5,000,000.
Paid Up Cash Capital	1.500,000.
Assets	2,000,000.

Depository—State Bank of Virginia. Investment stocks cost $1.00 per share membership fee, and 60 cents per month afterwards—withdrawable after twelve monthly payments, and sooner in event of the death of the stockholder.
H. A. YEAGER, Agent.
MARLINTON, W. VA.

C. B. SWECKER,
General Auctioneer and Real Estate Agent.
I sell Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands. Farms and Town Lots a specialty. 21 years in the business. Correspondence solicited Reference furnished.
Postoffice—Dunmore, W. Va., or Alexander, W. Va.

HIGH GRADE FERTILIZERS
SOLD DIRECT TO FARMERS.
Made from
Vegetable and Animal Matter.
Send for circulars.
AMERICAN REDUCTION CO.,
1514 to 1516 Second Avenue,
Pittsburg, Pa.

MARLINTON HOUSE.
Located East End of Bridge.
Terms.
per day - 1.00 & 1.50
per meal - - - 25
Good accommodations for horses at 25 cents per feed.
Special rates made by the week or month.
C. A. YEAGER. Proprietor

FEED, LIVERY
—AND—
SALE STABLES.
First-Rate Teams and Saddle-Horses Provided.
☞ Horses for Sale and Hire. ☜
SPECIAL ACCOMODATIONS FOR STALLIONS.
A limited number of Horses boarde.
All persons having horses to trade are invited to call. Young horses broke to ride or work.
J. H. G. WILSON,
Marlinton w. Va.

ALLEGHANY COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE
ALDERSON, W. VA.
Fifth Session Opens Sept 16, 1897.

The Institution offers good advantages to young men and women to prepare them for teaching, business, or the higher classes in colleges and universities.

Healthful location. No barrooms. Undenominational,—but pupils are surrounded by a healthful christian atmosphere. Discipline strict.

TERMS: Tuition in Academic Department, $30 for session of nine months. Board $100. Board cheaper in private families.

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

Hon John Gay, but lately of Marlinton, a citizen of marked prominence in the affairs of our county for forty or more years, deserves special mention in local annals. He was born May 26, 1804, on the place now occupied by his son, Levi Gay, Esq. His parents were Robert Gay and Hannah Moore, who were among the pioneers of our county as early as 1770. A sketch of these worthy persons has been already published in The Times.

John Gay was married in Huntersville June 24, 1834, to Miss Margaret B. Clark. She was born in Cecil County, Maryland, June 19, 1810. The whole of their married life was spent on the home farm. Their family consisted of eight children, four sons and four daughters.

Samuel M. Gay lives near Edray at the head of Indian Draft, a prosperous citizen. He was a Confederate soldier attached to the 31st Virginia Infantry, one of the most distinguished regiments in Lee's army. He was wounded in the battle of Strasburg, Va.

Levi Gay resides on the home place near Marlinton, and is a widely known citizen. He was also a Confederate soldier in the 31st Infantry, and was wounded at Spottsylvania Court House.

Edward lives with his brother Levi. James died in infancy not more than a year old. Hannah died in 1862 a grown young lady. Harriet died in 1861.

Susan first married Adam Young Her sons John Young and Adam Young are citizens of Pocahontas. Upon her second marriage she became Mrs D. A. Peck and resides on Hill's Creek west of Hillboro.

Ann Maria became Mrs Jacob Moore, and lives on upper Elk a few miles from Edray.

Sallie Hamilton died in 1857, 4 years of age.

By common consent this family was regarded one of the very interesting and pleasant families of the community and as neighbors not to be excelled.

For twenty-eight years Mr Gay was a justice of the peace, deputy-sheriff, and high sheriff and captain of the Stony Creek Company. He served three or four terms in the Virginia House of Delegates, 1839–41 and 1843-44. It was during one of his terms of service the charter for the Staunton and Parkersburg road was issued and its construction undertaken. The road was located by Engineer Crozet.

For many of the qualities that prepare for useful citizenship Mr Gay was justly distinguished. A solid conservative mind, judicious management of his business affairs and a high sense of personal honor His influence was ever on the side of intelligence, good behavior, and a conscientious administration of public affairs for the convenience and prosperity of the citizens. He seemed to realize to a gratifying extent that public office is a public trust and that the peoples money should be used as carefully as his own and expended where it was likely to yield the most serviceable returns So far as known to the writer he never used a cent for his own personal convenience or advantage. He was too cautious to risk anything in his hands officially, no matter how plausible the inducement might be. While it might have been in his power to realize very much by taking advantage of a serious stringency in the pecuniary affairs of the people by discounting paper and buying depreciated property, his better feelings restrained him and no one ever had any just reason for complaint.

In person and manners he was a model type of the pure Scotch Irish a stock of people that get the credit of being the first to move in the contest for American Independence. He lived to the age of eighty five, and carried his years so well that up to his final sickness his intellect seemed as clear as it ever was, and but slight indications of bodily decrepitude were discernable. Democrat, "Old Hickory" never had a more loyal admirer and adherent, nor Thomas Ritchie, of the Richmond Enquirer, a more attentive reader. Could his politics have been retained in the Government of our Nation, trusts, combines and millionaires would have been about as scarce as Guinea-hen teeth, and and the "Dollar of the Daddies" would have been the "unit of value" all along.

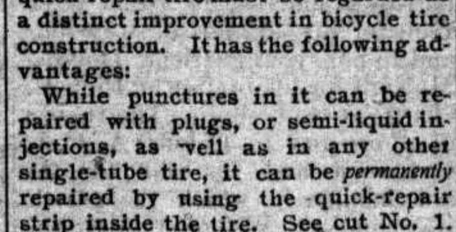
For a number of years he was a professing Christian, and his end was peaceful and hopeful. He and his devoted wife were not long separated in their decease, which occurred but a few years since. He died October 30, 1890. Mrs Gay was a very superior person, and the writer cherishes her kindness to him as among the most pleasant memories of his early life. With him her name shall live enbalmed with his praises. Beauty is vain and favor deceitful, but a woman that feareth the Lord, she shall be praised. She survived her noble husband but a few fleeting months. Her decease was sudden but very safe.

Their bodies repose in the Gibson grave yard, and their graves indicated by beautiful marbles placed there by their attached and dutiful children.

W. T. P.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular perscription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials, free.
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props.,
Toledo, Ohio.
Sold by druggists, price 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

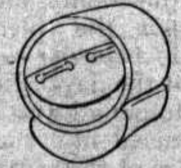


Educate FOR A Situation.
Book-Keeping, Business, PHONOGRAPHY, Type-Writing Telegraphy
COPYRIGHTED.
Address WILBUR R. SMITH, LEXINGTON, KY.,
For circular of his famous and responsible
COMMERCIAL COLLEGE OF KY. UNIVERSITY
Awarded Medal at World's Exposition.
Refers to thousands of graduates in positions. Cost of Full Business Course, including Tuition, Books and Board in family, about $90. Shorthand, Type-Writing, and Telegraphy, Specialties. The Kentucky University Diploma, under seal, awarded graduates. Literary Course free, if desired. No vacation. Enter now. Graduates successful. In order to have your letters reach us, address only, WILBUR R. SMITH, LEXINGTON, KY.

TIRES THAT LEAK.

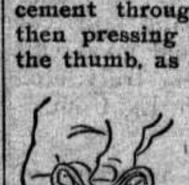
The Morgan & Wright single-tube quick-repair tire must be regarded as a distinct improvement in bicycle tire construction. It has the following advantages:

While punctures in it can be repaired with plugs, or semi-liquid injections, as well as in any other single-tube tire, it can be permanently repaired by using the quick-repair strip inside the tire. See cut No. 1.

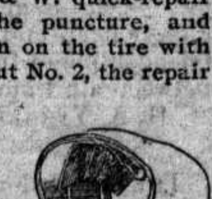


No. 1.

By injecting M. & W. quick-repair cement through the puncture, and then pressing down on the tire with the thumb, as in cut No. 2, the repair



No. 2.



No. 3.

strip inside is picked up by the cement, thus closing the puncture, as in cut No. 3.

The Morgan & Wright single-tube quick-repair tire is guaranteed not porous. This is on account of the way in which it is made. Nearly every rider has heard of tires that "leak like a sieve."

Many tires rot, because water gets into the fabric between the two layers of rubber. The Morgan & Wright fabric is proof against moisture.

Everybody knows how comfortable Morgan & Wright tires are, and yet how seldom they puncture. This is due to the fabric.

Ask any bicycle dealer whether other tires last as long as Morgan & Wright tires. Ask, also, what the Morgan & Wright guarantee means. Morgan & Wright tires are repaired free of charge, at the factory in Chicago or at any of the Morgan & Wright free repair shops, located in the principal cities.

N. B.—When you have a puncture, get right off. Riding a tire flat, when it has a tack or nail in it, may damage it considerably.

DO YOU TRAVEL

Are you going to take a trip? Do you suffer from Severe Headaches, Nervousness, Sleeplessness or Exhaustion? [illegible] CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER. [illegible]

Tutt's Pills Cure All Liver Ills.
Perfect Health.
Keep the system in perfect order by the occasional use of Tutt's Liver Pills. They regulate the bowels and produce A Vigorous Body.
For sick headache, malaria, biliousness, constipation and kindred diseases, an absolute cure
TUTT'S Liver PILLS

Commissioner's Sale.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, rendered at the June term 1897, in the chancery case of the Clifton Forge Grocery Company vs. C. C. Arbogast and others, the undersigned special commissioners will on the

5th day of October, 1897

proceed to sell at public auction to the highest bidder at the front door of the Court-house of Pocahontas County the following tracts or parcels of land, situated near Green Bank, in said Pocahontas County, containing:

181 Acres of Land

It being the land inherited by said C. C. Arbogast from his father, Adam Arbogast, dec'd. Said land comprises a very valuable farm.

Said land is sold subject to the dower interest of Mrs Adam Arbogast.

Terms of Sale—So much cash in hand as will pay costs of suit and expenses of sale, and for the residue upon a credit of six, twelve and eighteen months from day of sale with interest from date, the purchaser executing bonds with good personal security for deferred payments.

H. S. RUCKER
W. A. BRATTON
Special Commissioners

I, J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk of the circuit court of Pocahontas county, do certify that the above named Special commissioners have executed bonds as required by law.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

Commissioner's Sale.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, rendered on the day of June, 1897 in the chancery cause of W. H. Hull vs. Mary E. Tallman et als the undersigned special commissioner will on the

5th day of October, 1897,

at the front door of the court house of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, proceed to rent at public auction to the highest bidder a tract of

100 ACRES OF LAND

Situated on the waters of Spillman Run in said Pocahontas county, sold as the land of the defendant Mary E Tallman, it being the land purchased by her of Eliza and Dallas H Galford by deed dated May 12, 1893, it being a part of of lot No. 10 of the Charles Gallagher survey of 32,000 acres.

The timber on the above tract is reserved having been sold.

Terms of Sale: Cash in hand sufficient to pay costs of suit and expenses of sale, and as for the residue upon a credit of six, twelve, and eighteen months from day of sale in equal installments, the purchaser giving bonds with good personal security, the title to be retained as ultimate security.

H. S. RUCKER
Special Commissioner

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas county certify that the above named special commissioner has given bond as required by said decree.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE
OF
SCHOOL LANDS.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, rendered on the day of April Term, 1897, in the chancery cause of State of West Virginia vs. George L. Clark et als, the undersigned Commissioner of School Lands of Pocahontas County will proceed on the 5th day of October, 1897,

at the front door of the court house of said Pocahontas County, to sell at public auction to the highest bidder the following tracts of land forfeited for the non-payment of taxes for five years, namely:

A tract of 304 acres situated on Thorny Flat, on Elk, in Pocahontas County, West Virginia,

and

1633 acres adjoining the 304 acres, both formerly the property of F. H. Hull's estate, and forfeited in the name of George W. McDanald.

B. M. YEAGER,
Commissioner of School Lands of Pocahontas Count .

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE.

All persons knowing themselves to be indebted to the estate of Jacob W. Sharp, deceased, will please settle at once.

All persons having claims against the said estate will please present then to the undersigned.

A. N. BARLOW,

What is
CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY, Boston, Mass.
ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.,

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

The Osborne
SPRING-TOOTH HARROW.

The frames are made in one piece of steel angle bar, and formed to withstand all strain without buckling or warping. The teeth in this harrow are so spaced that they will not trail each other, Pulverizing the ground thoroughly. The steel pipe tooth bars are mounted in maleable boxes secured to the frame, and will not bend or break. The peculiar shape of the teeth curling twothirds about the bar gives the greatest amount of spring possible without straining the bolts, and because of their shape and fastening are stronger than used on any other harrow. By the levers the depth of work can be regulated while the harrow is in motion. The draft is steady and direct as the harrow has no side motion.

ALL THESE FEATURES COMBINED HAVE MADE THE OSBORNE CELEBRATED.

It has no EQUAL,—it never will have a SUPERIOR.

Call and examine the Osborne line consisting of—BINDERS, MOWERS, RAKES, TEDDERS, HARROWS AND CULTIVATORS.

The most complete line of Farming Implements to be found in the State.

FOR SALE BY—
EAGLE & OTT,
RONCEVERTE, W. VA.

SOLD ON AN Absolute Guarantee.
McDONALD'S
CELEBRATED WORM POWDERS
THE GREATEST WORM DESTROYER OF THE AGE.
EASY AND PLEASANT TO TAKE.
Smallest dose.
Easiest to take.
Entirely vegetable.
Most certain and never-failing Worm Destroyer
EVER DISCOVERED.
Sold for a quarter of a century with continually increasing demand. Think a moment. Does this not mean merit?
125,000 Children yearly Sent to their Graves by Worms.
McDONALD'S
CELEBRATED WORM POWDERS
would have saved them all.
PRICE, 25c. PER BOX.
For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicines.
Manufactured only by the proprietor,
J. A. McDONALD,
Reedsville, Pa.

NEW Champion Washer.
Will wash Cleaner, Quicker, with more ease and less injury to the clothes than any machine now in use. Over 75,000 sold, all giving satisfaction.
Don't confuse this with the Washing Machines you have seen.
This is something entirely new.
Can not get out of order.
PRICE WITHIN the REACH of EVERYONE.
SEND FOR CIRCULAR.
Champion Washing Machine Co.,
310 West Pearl St., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

MESKER'S
STOCK TANK.
Made of Rustless Galvanized Iron.
MESKER'S
RUSTLESS STEEL TANKS.
Round or Square.
MESKER'S
Patent Portable Folding Steel Bath Tub.
Made with and without Hot Water Tank.
MESKER'S
RUSTLESS STEEL ROOFING.
MESKER'S
Hot Air, Hot Water HEATERS.

MADE UPON HONOR,
SOLD UPON MERIT.
PACKER BICYCLES
FULL OF BEAUTY,
GRACE AND STRENGTH.
EVERY WHEEL WARRANTED.
Responsible Dealers invited to Correspond with us.
MANUFACTURED BY
THE PACKER CYCLE CO.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 15, NO. 12 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, OCTOBER 15, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 11.--Polished Solid Oak 5-Drawer Chiffonier, 53 inches high, 30½ inches long, 18 inches deep. It is well constructed and has good locks on each drawer. Special price, (Orders promptly filled).

$3.39

Our success is not accidental. It is the reward of 48 years of honorable business. Our experience in the Furniture and Carpet business is yours for the asking. Our immense illustrated catalogue of Furniture, Oil cloths, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Bedding, Springs, Steel Beds, etc., is free to all who write for it, and we pay all postage. If you ask your local dealers' advice you will not send for our catalogue, as he will lose a customer. If you consult your pocket-book and want double value for your dollars, you will deal with the manufacturers. Send your name on a postal now.

Julius Hines & Son
BALTIMORE, MD.

$1.00 Per Month Tuition MAKES A LAWYER.

Methods new and satisfaction guaranteed. For particulars address WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE LAW SCHOOL 1420 N. Y. Ave., Washington, D. C.

SELL YOUR BRAINS HAVE THEM PATENTED and put on the Market. Millions in it. All kinds of Patent Business skillfully handled. Address NATIONAL INFORMATION BUREAU, Washington, D. C.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

WEEK before last the town of Buckhannon was bereft of three wealthy and most prominent citizens. They were Daniel Carper, aged 89, Levi Leonard, aged 68, and Creed Hart, aged 57.

FOREST fires have been raging in southern Indiana, central Kentucky and central Mississippi. Owing to the severe drought the leaves and grass are like tinder. The noted Dismal Swamp is also on fire. Whence comes some of the recent smoke, perhaps.

MAJOR LEWIS GINTER, of Richmond, Virginia, died on the second of October. He was a person of great wealth and did much to improve the city. He was one of the wealthiest men in Virginia and among his achievements was the erection of the Jefferson Hotel in Richmond, which ranks among the finest hostelries in the South.

GEN. NEAL DOW, noted all over the country as the Maine Liquor Law promoter, and Pohibition candidate for the Presidency, died October the second at his home in Portland, Maine, aged 90 years. One of the truest friends of the home and country has passed away. His methods might be questioned, but his aims were unquestionable.

THE Charleston Gazette seems to be a very conscientous journal. It has been giving President McDonald a severe exposure, and came very near writing Monday for Sunday because William Barrett caught a fifty pound catfish at Point Pleasant on a late Sunday. Upon reflection the Gazette decided to let the moralites take care of themselves when it comes to the matter of fishing. Let way be made for the moral sprinkler, good is bound to come when the nasty dust is laid that's now blowing about.

A VERY disagreeable duty seems to have been met and discharged by a United States circuit judge in Tennessee. He declared the anti-cigarette law of that State to be in violation of the inter-state commerce clause of the Constitution of the United States. Judge Lurton says in rendering his decision that if the act were limited to cigarettes which have lost their character as imports by the breaking of the original packages, the Tennessee law would not be unconstitutional. Congress recognizes the interstate traffic in ardent spririts in original packages as lawful commerce, so also is the cigarette traffic in original packages is legal. The Judge also says that while he comes to this decision without hesitation, yet he is "reluctant to break down a statute aimed at the suppression of an evil of a most pronounced character." It is hoped our West Virginia law makers will do something to keep the "coffin nails" away from our precious youth.

ONE of the most remarkable trials in the whole history of jurisprudence is going on in Chicago; known as the Luetgert case. The accused is charged with murdering his wife and burning the body in caustic potash in the vats of his sausage works. The prosecution introduced expert testimony that the bones found in the vats were those of a human female of slight build. The expert for the defense testified that the same bones were those of a small hog. In a cross examination a skull was shown to the expert for the defense, and he pronounced it a monkey's, when in fact it was a dog's. This same expert afterwads identified as the bone of a man, that was a gorilla bone. Both the prosecution and defense have had experts to burn bodies and the results reported have differed greatly. Thus it appears the whole case has become a battle of experts and tends to make circumstantial evidence and expert testimony a doubtful method of arriving at the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

SOMETHING GEOMETRICAL.—"Biggins is a great fisherman, isn't he?"

"Yes."

"Seems a little obtuse on other subjects."

"Yes, he's an obtuse angler."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

This paper is devoted to the memory of Samuel Waugh, one of the early settlers of "The Hills," seven or eight miles north-east of Huntersville. The progenitor of the Waugh relationship, according to the most authentic of family legends, was James Waugh, senior, of Scotch-Irish descent. His wife's name was Mary. This pioneer husband and wife opened up their home just previous to the Revolution on the place now held by John Shrader, one of their descendants by the third remove. Samuel Waugh, the subject of this sketch, was one of their sons, and upon his marriage with Miss Ann McGuire settled at the old Waugh homestead, Their family consisted of nine sons and five daughters. Concerning these children the following fragmentary particulars have been collected.

Elizabeth Waugh was married to Caleb Knapp, and first settled in Greenbrier. Afterwards lived awhile on Knapp's Creek, thence settled on the Greenbrier, known as the Knapp Place where McCoy Malcomb now resides. Her daughter Ann Knapp was married to Richard B. Weir, and lives near Verdant Valley. Nancy Knapp became Mrs Henry Shroeder, lived some years in Huntersville, where Mr Shroeder operated a tannery, and finally settled on the Waugh homestead. Mary Shroeder, her daughter, was married to the late William Fertig, of Huntersville, lived some years on Anthonys Creek, and now lives near Dilley's Mill. Mr Fertig was a saddler by trade, then a merchant, was a member of the Pocahontas Court, and upon his removal to Greenbrier davoted his time to farming.

B. Franklin Shrader died in the war. Robert C. Shrader lives on a part of the Waugh homestead, and conducts a farm and tannery successfully. His wife is a daughter of the late James Lewis, of the Levels. John Shrader lives at the original homestead as mentioned. His wife was a daughter of Nicholas Stulting, lately of Hillsboro.

Jacob Shrader married a daughter of the late David Kincaid, in Highland County, and lives near Dilley's Mill. Luther Shrader married a sister of Jacob's wife, and lived in Greenbrier. Ellen Susan Shrader became the wife of Oscar Sharp, a local Methodist minister, and lives at Frost. The names of the other members of the Shrader family are Enoch, William, Charles, and Margaret Ann.

Eleanor Knapp married Sampson Buzzard. Elizabeth Knapp married Peter Shrader. Margaret Knapp married McCoy Malcomb. John Malcomb, whose wife was Fannie Carter, a daughter of the Dr P. D. Carter, living in Greenbrier; Thomas Malcomb, who married Levie Moore, daughter of Jacob Moore, of Elk, and lives on Knapp's Creek, are her sons. Hannah Malcomb, now Mrs W. B. Johnson, near Marlinton, is her daughter. R W. Knapp lived in Tucker County. A. J. Knapp went to Missouri.

Rebecca Waugh married Andrew Moore, son of Levi Moore, junior, and for some years lived near Frost, then at the head of Stony Creek, and finally her family moved to Jackson County.

Rev John Waugh, son of Samuel Waugh, Married Martha Moore daughter of Levi Moore, junior, and settled on that part of the homestead now held by Robert Shrader, thence settled on the Indian Draft near Edray, where his son John Waugh now lives. His son Samuel died in youth, and was preparing for the Methodist ministry. Levi Waugh, a Confederate veteran; Beverly Waugh, a Union veteran; and John Waugh, lately deputy sheriff of Pocahontas county, are his sons. Mrs Ewing Johnson, near Marlinton, and Mrs Richard Mayse, of Blue Ridge Springs, Va., are his daughters.

The Rev John Waugh is worthy of remembrance for many reasons. He was a skillful worker in metals. His specialty seemed to be the manufacture of hoes, one of the most useful of implements in his time when with many persons it was the main reliance in cultivating a crop and working a garden. He excelled also in tempering axes—another implement of precious value and essential use in preparing the land for cultivation. He taught school, and preferred the vocal method when all the pupils would con their lessons audibly, as well as recite them. It was his contention that pupils trained thus would not be embarrassed by any confusion, and could attend to business no matter what the surroundings may be at sales, courts, stores, or mills. He studiously improved his limited opportunities for mental improvement and became a well-informed, intelligent citizen, and had his own well-matured opinions about questions of public interest. He was for many years a prominent member of his church and a local preacher that seemed to have but little regard for what persons might say about his discourse. He had a parable about throwing rocks in the dark at certain things, and if there was an outcry he knew that something was hit. He died a few years ago, apparently in the full possession of his faculties, at a very advanced age.

Samuel Waugh, junior, moved to Missouri in early manhood, and there upon his marriage with a Missouri lady, Mary Canterbury, he settled and we are favored with no farther particulars.

Robert Waugh, remembered as a very bright and interesting young man, devoted himself to school-teaching. From exposure on the damp ground he contracted a rheumatic affection that disabled him for manual labor. He was held in high reputation as a teacher, and some of his scholars yet speak of him with affection after a lapse of fifty years or more.

Robert Waugh seems to have been gifted with fine oratorical powers, for some of the older people tell me that they have never heard anything that could beat Robert Waughs speaking when he got warmed up on any subject. He died comparatively young at the old homestead, and never lived to realize his hopes and aspirations in this life. In his case the adage seems to apply "Death loves a shining mark." In his lonely grave amid the "Hills" a tongue is silent that may have enraptured listening audiences and secured for Robert an illustrious name. It was when thinking of just such characters that these words came to the poet's mind:

* * * Full many a flower is born to blush unseen
And waste its fragrance on the desert air.

William Waugh, another of Samuel Waugh's nine sons, married Martha Brown, daughter of Josiah Brown, near Indian Draft, and settled on the Brown homestead, now in the possession of W. C. Nain. They were the parents of ten children, whose names appear in the memoirs of Josiah Brown. Upon leaving this place Mr Waugh settled in Upshur County, thence he went to Iowa, and afterwards to Missouri, where Mrs Waugh died many years ago. In 1894 Mr William Waugh was struck by a passing train not far from his home in Missouri and died in forty minutes from the shock.

Alexander Waugh, son of Samuel Waugh pioneer, married Annie Cochran of the Levels, and settled in Nicholas County.

Arthur Waugh, another of the nine sons, went in early manhood to Kenawha, where he married Henrietta Boswell and settled.

Jacob Waugh married Miss Sarah Ann Gay, youngest daughter of the late Samuel M. Gay, near Marlinton, and first lived at the Waugh homestead. Then he moved to Barbour County, and finally returned to Pocahontas and took charge of the Duffield mill, near Edray, where he died a few years since. This mill is now operated by his son S. D. Waugh. Mrs A. Coombs, Mrs John Waugh, Isam Waugh, and Lizzie Waugh, and E. A. Waugh, of Barbour County, are his children. Isam and Lizzie are living with their mother, Mrs Margaret Waugh, near Frankford, Jacob Waugh's second wife, who survives her husband. She was a Miss Carrington, of Taylor county.

Beverly Waugh, the last to be mention af this remarkable list of sons of Samuel Waugh, married Martha Bradshaw, daughter of the late William Bradshaw, on Browns Creek. He lived many years on the place now occupied by Robert Shrader. He then moved to the Levels, near Hillsboro. Mrs Kenney Wade (first wife) and John E. Waugh were his children.

Mr Beverly Waugh was an estimable man. He led the Mt. Zion class for sixteen years, and yielded the position to the regret of his Christian Brethren when it became necessary to change homes. He died of a cancerous affection but a few years since, and bore his dreadful sufferings with becoming resignation. He left an honorable reputation as a gentleman and a Christian.

In reference to Samuel Waugh's other three daughters we are able to furnish but the few particulars herewith given. Margaret Waugh was married to Samuel Martin, and lived first in Upshur County and then moved to Iowa.

Mary Ann Waugh became Mrs Reuben Buzzard, and lived near Glade Hill a few years. Afterwards Mr Buzzard purchased Dilley's mill and lived there a considerable while, and finally emigrated to the far West.

Truly our attention has been given to a family group whose history is suggestive and instructive. Samuel Waugh and Ann M'Guire his wife, imbued with the faith and energy so peculiar to the genuine Scotch-Irish, endured all that is implied in rearing a family of fourteen sons and daughters, and all living to be adults. The sons all lived to be grown and not one was ever known to use tobacco or ardent spirits. This seems scarcely credible, yet it is asserted to be a pleasing truth. Samuel Waugh was one of the original members of the old Mt. Zion Church, one of the strongholds of its denomination for so many years. His history shows that in the face of pioneer hindrances and privations sons and daughters may be reared that may faithfully serve God and support their country in their day and generation.

W. T. P.

Coining Silver Dollars.

The government is at this time engaged in coining several million silver dollars for the redemption of Sherman notes. As is well known these notes were issued under the act of 1890 and given in payment for silver bullion. They are payable in coin, but under the clause in the act pledging the government to maintain the parity of gold and silver, gold was not refused for the notes when demanded. There is a considerable demand for silver dollars among the colored laborers of the South, who prefer them to paper dollars. It is to meet this demand that several million dollars are coined each year out of the ricks of pig silver bought under the sherman act. The Sherman notes so redeemed may be reissued. The amount of these notes issued is $114.867 220, of which about $31,000,000 is in the treasury. A great many of the silver dollars find their way back to the treasury, where they are deposited and silver certificate taken instead. If all the Sherman notes should be redeemed in silver and withdrawn from circulation or cancelled, there would still be a vast bulk of silver left known as the "seignorage." The government bought this silver as a far higher price than the present market value. But the price paid was less than the coinage value—that is, with the silver bought with a hundred dollars of the Sherman notes over a hundred and fifty dollars may be coined. So there is enough pig silver in the treasury to coin dollars for the redemption of all the Sherman notes and many millions besides. The disposition of the remainder will be in the hands of Congress, but until all the Sherman notes are retired it must remain as a pledge for their redemption.—Baltimore Sun.

MORE THAN HE COULD STAND.—How about that walking delegate walking out of the church Sunday right in the midst of the sermon? Had he got so in the habit of walking that he did it automatically?

"Nah. The preacher happened to say something about observing the Biblical injunctions."—Indianapolis Journal.

"A little more than a year ago, my hair began turning gray, and falling out, and although I tried ever so many things to prevent a continuance of these conditions, I obtained no satisfaction until I tried Ayer's Hair Vigor. After using one bottle, my hair was restored to *

How Old are You?

It makes no difference whether you answer or not. It is always true that "a woman is as old as she looks." Nothing sets the seal of age upon a woman's beauty so deeply, as gray hair. The hair loses its color generally from lack of nutrition. If you nourish the hair, the original color will come back. That is the way that the normal color of the hair is restored by

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

* This testimonial will be found in full in Ayer's "Curebook" with a hundred others. Free. Address J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

IRREGULARITY IN SCHOOL SUB DISTRICTS.

I do not wish to impose an article upon the people which is not of general interest; but there is one subject which interests every tax-payer in Green Bank District, and that is the present arrangement of the school sub-districts.

As I understand the intention of the school law on this point, our sub-districting is a most miserable failure. If I interprat correctly, every school should constitute a sub-district, with three trustees to each, of whom two must sign a contract to make it valid. But in Green Bank District THREE schools constitute a district with a trustee to each, which makes it necessary for the trustees to trade signatures with each other, and that trade is with "boot," the "boot" consists of an agreement that each is to withhold his signature from a contract until that trustee is on it who belongs to the school for which the contract is made, which virtually puts the control of a school within the power of one trustee, who can arbitrarily use that power to gratify his own taste or interest, whether it please or displease every other patron in the district. I do not mean to say or intimate that all the trustees abuse the trust imposed in them, but I do say that some do practice corruption along that very line, and that thing does a great deal to cause dissatisfaction and jangle in the schools.

No teacher in the district referred to knows what school he may teach (legally), for three schools being in, say, No. 2 Sub District, any one could be claimed by any teacher of the schools, so far as the contract is concerned, and no recourse could be had by the other teacher—who may have had an understanding with the people that he was to teach that particular school.

It is hoped the County Saperintendant will take such steps as will set this matter right, both for the good of the teacher and the people.

Respectfully, B. F. E. W.

REASON TO BE THANKFUL.—Minister (to elderly female crofter)—I am sorry to hear your potatoes are very bad this year, Janet.

"Deed they are, sir, but I have reason to be thankfu' to Providence that th other folks are as badly off as mysel'."—London Tit-Bits.

HE WAS NO FOOL.—He—Did you hear of that Pennsylvauia woman who sued a man for $1,000 for one kiss?

She.—Yes, what a homely creature she must be.

He—Homely? Why so?

She—Oh, of course, she just sued because she wanted to advertise the fact that somebody had summoned up courage enough to do it, and not because she was mad.

He then proceeded to take a bunch.—Cleveland Leader.

SAMUEL SLONIGAN, 78 years old, living near Morgantown, has employed an attorney to bring suit against the descendants of the captain of the ship in which Jonah sailed from Joppa on his memorable voyage from Ninevah, for the amount and interest of his ancestor's fare. His claim is based on the fact recorded in the Bible that Jonah was thrown over board. Slonigan has spent twenty or more years tracing his own ancestry and that of certain wealthy steamship owners of New York, landed millionnaires of England and bankers of Paris. He claims he is the last surviving descendant of Jonah and that the other people are the descendants of the captain of the ship. He will go to New York this week to place his claim in the hands of his attorneys.

Indians Scared by an Elevator.

An Indian yell which made the blood of the people at the State House run cold reverberated thro the halls and offices. It sounded like the dying moan of a thousand souls going down into perdition. It was wild, uncanny and weird and terrifying in the extreme. Chiefs Much Nose and Little Talk were doing the State House and stepped into the elevator at the solicitation of their guide. The carriage started up and then the Indians yelled. One dropped down on his knees and lifted up his voice in a weird, discordant supplication to the Great Spirit, while the other seized the iron grating of the cage and yelled in savage style. The muscles of his face stood out in bold relief, so great was the exertion of yelling. The squaws fell upon the floor of the elevator and seemed in a faint. When the elevator stopped the Indians scrambled out, but visited the State House no longer. They hurried down a stairway leading to the main entrance and disappeared as if by magic toward their camp.—Topeka State Jounal.

A GRATEFUL WOMAN.—A Prattville, N. Y, woman whose husband died recently sent the following communication to a local paper: "Mr Editor—I desire to thank the friends and neighbors most heartily in this manner for the united aid and cooperation during the illness and death of my late husband, who escaped from me by the hand of death on Friday last while eating beakfast. To the friends and all who contributed so willingly toward making the last moments and funeral of my husband a success, I desire to remember most kindly, hoping these few lines will find them enjoying the same blessing. I have also a good milk cow and roan gelding horse, eight years old, which I will sell cheap. 'God moves in a misterious way. His wonders to perform. He plants His footsteps in the sea and rides upon the storm;' also a black and white shote, very low."—Greenbrier Independent.

"CHILDREN's feet grow so fast," says The Hospital, "that to keep them always properly shod is a matter that requires considerable care and some expenditure. It matters very little to a child's future well-being that at some period of its childhood the sleeves of a jacket have been too short or the skirt of a frock too scant; but the compression of feet in boots too tight or, even worse, too short may be a cause of torment in future years. Infinitely better are bare feet than clumsy, heavy, ill-shapen boots. In the winter the feet may indeed want some protection from cold and wet, but during the greater portion of the year children may safely and healthfully go barefooted. Some mothers, by no means of the poorer class, are convinced that the comfort and symmetry of the feet in maturer years are largely to be gained by giving them freedom during the time of growth.

PRESTON County recently sent two men to the penitentiary. One of them had stolen a $500 diamond denied it and was convicted after a costly trial. The other had stolen an $8 suit of clothes, confessed and saved the county the expense of a trial. The diamond thief was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary, while the other received for his horrible crime three years in the same institution.—Greenbrier Independent.

IT MIGHT BE SO CALLED.—"It is not allowed to members of the cloth to be superstitious," said the good minister, "yet it may be deemed a curious coincidence that out of eighteen couples I have joined in matrimony in this study fifteen have since been divorced."

"Why do n't you hang out a sign 'Bargains in Misfits,'" asked his school friend.—Cincinnatti Enquirer.

MARY, Queen of Scots, whose hair turned grey thro fright, might have restored its color, had some preparation like Hall's Hair Renewer been known then.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 15, NO. 13 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, OCTOBER 22, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 11.–Polished Solid Oak 5-Drawer Chiffonier, 53 inches high, 30½ inches long, 18 inches deep. It is well constructed and has good locks on each drawer. Special price, (Orders promptly filled).

$3.39

Our success is not accidental. It is the reward of 48 years of honorable business. Our experience in the Furniture and Carpet business is yours for the asking. Our immense illustrated catalogue of Furniture, Oil Cloths, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Bedding, Springs, Steel Beds, etc., is free to all who write for it, and we pay all postage. If you ask your local dealers' advice you will not send for our catalogue, as he will lose a customer. If you consult your pocket-book and want double value for your dollars, you will deal with the manufacturers. Send your name on a postal now.

Julius Hines & Son
BALTIMORE, MD.

GOOD SALARIES!
LIFE POSITIONS
IN UNCLE SAM'S SERVICE

are within the reach of all; male and female. Now is the time to prepare yourself and get into line. Full information relating to Government positions and how to obtain them, salaries paid, scope and dates of examinations, &c., &c., given cheerfully by the NATIONAL CIVIL SERVICE INSTITUTE, 143 N. Y. Avenue, Washington, D. C.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH.
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

A WEEKLY Republican paper will be published from the office of W. B. Blake, at Ronceverte, beginning about the first of December.

JAMES F. CLARK, of Greenbrier, an ex-member of the legislature, dropped dead at his home at Columbia Sulphur Springs. He was a teacher by profession, and was an ex-Confederate soldier of Bryan's Battery.

AN interesting article published in the last issue of the Independent, from Rev Rev R. L. Telford, advocates a system of water works for Lewisburg. The want has always been apparent to him, and, after the late fire there, many persons remembered his words which seemed almost prophetic.

THO the hopes of the people of this county in respect to a railroad have been blasted so often, yet there is now such eveidence that a railroad will be quickly built that, in spite of all that is past, the intelligent observer believes that we are on the very eve of a great railroad development. We can see now that what we once took for signs and indications could not be relied on, and that when the time did begid to draw nigh we would see and understand. It is no shadow this coming event casts—all is is joy and gladness—and those owning land here see a bright future before them. The time is now coming when the people of this county will cease to be "land poor."

A SALE of the real estate of W. H. Overholt was made at this place last Thursday by T. J. Williams, of Lewisburg. The 2250 acres, on Greenbrier River, sold for $1,000, to B. M. Yeager; 50 acres, adjoining H. W. McCoy and others, $53.50, to T. A. Sydenstricker; 350 acres, on Hill's Creek, $165, to R. W. Hill; the Locust Creek mill property was taken down at a bid of $300. Swecker was here acted as auctioneer. The Greenbrier real estate brought the following prices: The store-house, dwelling-house and lot in Frankford sold at $1300, and his store-house and dwelling, at Falling Spring, sold at $650. Both were bought by the Calvert Building and Loan Association, of Baltimore. Which held first lien on said property.

THE BUCKEYE.

One of the most common trees of our section is the buckeye. At this time of year the cow is apt to feed upon the nut, which produces a stupor and often kills them. It is said that only a portion of the nut is bad and that the squirrel knows what to eat and what not to eat. We have always regarded the buckeye as being the horse chestnut, but the Wheeling Intelligencer says that it is not altho they are of the same species. The horse chestnut is a native of Europe and was brought to this country from Constantinople in the sixteenth century. Horse chestnuts are so-called because they were formerly ground and fed to horses. They are now found in the temperate zones of both hemispheres. The buckeye is a native of America, and, while known as the American species of horse chestnut, is different in shape as well as in other respects.

THE Bishop of Worcester England, once had occasion to travel thro Banbury by rail. Being desirous to test and at the same time encourage the far-famed industry of that town, and the train having stopped at the station for a short time, he beckoned to a small boy near at hand, and inquired the price of the celebrated buns. "Threepence each" said the boy. The Bishop thereupon handed him sixpence and desired him to bring one to the car, adding: "And with the other threepence you may buy one for yourself." The boy shortly returned, complacently munching his Banbury, and, handing the threepence in coppers to the Bishop, explained, "There was only one left, guv'nor."—Baptist Union.

IT might be better for the Pennsylvania coal operators to stop calling their Hungarian and Polish miners ignorant and dangerous elements of the population until an explanation is vouchsafed as to why they imported them.—The Boston Herald.

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

"Pennsylvania" John Moore is represented by a worthy posterity and deserves special mention as one of the Pocahontas pioneers. He was among the immigrants from Pennsylvania, and as there were several John Moores the soubriquet "Pennsylvania" was and is attached to his name. Upon his marriage with Margaret Mooore, daughter of Moses Moore, scout, hunter, and pioneer, John Moore settled and opened up the place now occupied by David Moore, near Mt. Zion Church in the Hills. Their family consisted of three sons and eight daughters.

Martha Moore became Mrs John Collins, and lived in Upshur County, West Virginia.

Jennie lived to be grown and died of cancerous affection.

Nancy Moore was married to Peter Bussard, and they had their home near Glade Hill.

Hannah Moore married Martin Dilley, and lived where Mrs Martha Dilley now resides.

Phebe Moore became Mrs Samuel McCarty, and lived where Peter McCarty now lives.

Elizabeth Moore was married to Daniel McCarty, a soldier of the war 1812, and lived where Sheldon Moore, Esq., a very prosperous citizen, now dwells.

Margaret Moore married Eli Bussard, and lived where their son Armenius Bussard now lives.

Rebecca Moore was married to John Sharp, from near Frost, and lived on the place now occupied by Joseph Moore near the Bussard neighborhood.

William Moore, son of the Pennsylvania immigrant, married Margaret Callahan, of Bath County, Va., and opened up the homestead now owned by William Jeff Moore In reference to William Moore's family the following particulars are in hand:

James C. Moore married Hester Nottingham, from Glade Hill. Their children are Adam C., William, and Mrs W. H. Gabbert, near Huntersville. Adam and William Moore live on the old homestead with their widowed mother. James C. Moore, their father, was a Confederate soldier. He died of wounds received during the memorable seven days' fight around Richmond and was buried near Greenwood tunnel, Va.

William Jefferson Moore married Loretta Grimes, daughter of the late Charles Grimes, and lives on the paternal homestead near Mt Zion. They are the parents of these sons and daughters—Mattie Elizabeth, George Ellsworth, Chas King, Caroline Frances, Fannie Amoret, Myrtle Florence, Ira H., and Hattie. George E. Moore is a teacher of schools. Fannie Moore is now Mrs Christopher McLaughlin, near Dunmore.

Mary Jane Moore, sister of Jas. C. and Jefferson Moore, was married to Ralph Dilley and lived on another section of the paternal homestead. Their children are Cronin, Emma, Martha, Margaret, Minta, and Amanda.

This worthy man William Moore came to end his industrious, useful life under very sad circumstances. A fire had broken out from a clearing near his home and with no one with him he endeavored to check its progress. In doing so he seems to have been overcome by fatigue and was suffocated by the smoke and flames. He was therefore found dead in the track of the fire on the 4th of April, 1866.

John Moore, son of John Moore the Pennsylvania emigrant, married Mary Hannah, one of Joseph Hannah's daughters, on Elk, and settled on a portion of the pioneer homestead now occupied by David Moore, Esq. One of his sons, Joseph, married Susan Bussard, and lives between Frost and Glade Hill. Another son of John Moore junior, David Moore, married Matilda Moore and lives on the homestead where his father had lived before him. Two of his children, Forest and Elbert, died in youth. Lura, his daughter about grown, lives with her parents.

Alfred Moore, another son of John Moore, junior, lives with his brother, Joseph Moore.

James W. Moore, a son of John Moore, junior, married Margaret Nottingham, daughter of the late William Nottingham, junior, one of the pioneers of the Glade Hill vicinity, and lives on a section of the Moore homestead. They were the parents of two children. Mary Moore was married to Clayton Dilley and lived on the parental homestead. Her son Francis Marion Dilley married Izzie McCutchon, daughter of John B. McCutchon, near Dunmore, and lives near Mt Zion. Anderson L. Dilley was a proprietor and founder of The Pocahontas Herald at Huntersville, which was afterwards published at Marlinton.

William Moore, the only son of the James W. Moore just mentioned, was a Confederate soldier. He was captured near Richmond in 1862, and was never heard from afterwards. He sleeps the years away in some unknown grave, far from his kindred and the friends that remember him so tenderly.

John Moore, the ancestor of this branch of the Moore relationship, was one of the Scotch-Irish families that came first to Pennsylvania and thence to Virginia, early in the seventies of the previous century. Except by marriage, there is no well authenticated relationship known to exist between his family and the other families of the Moore name, so numerous in our county and who have performed such an important service in opening up prosperous homes in the face of such serious obstacles so bravely and perseveringly met and overcome by them. We younger people who were permitted to begin where the pioneers left off, can scarcely realize what it all cost in laborious privation, in personal discomfort and inconvenience, in wear and tear of mind and body to make possible what seems to come to us as naturally as the air we breathe. In a modified sense, the same qualities that were requisite in clearing lands and rearing homes and making improvements in the first place are needed to retain what has been done and add thereto. Eternal vigilence is said to be the price of liberty that cost the blood and lives of the brave; so in a higher sense eternal industry and wise economy is the price of something to wear and plenty to eat from the lands reclaimed at such a cost by those who worked and suffered while they lived for our good and their own. W. T. P.

Science Utilizes All the Ox.

In an article on the "Wonders of the World's Waste," William George Jordon, in the October Ladies' Home Journal, details how science at the present day utilizes the ox. "Not many years ago," he says, "when an ox was slaughtered forty per cent. of the animal was wasted; at the present time 'nothing is lost but its dying breath.' As but one-third of the weight of the animal consists of products that can be eaten, the question of utilizing the waste is a serious one. The blood is used in refining sugar and in sizing paper, or manufactured into door knobs and buttons. The hide goes to the tanner; horns and hoofs are transformed into combs and buttons; thigh bones, worth eighty dollars per ton, are cut into handles for clothes brushes; fore leg bones sell for thirty dollers per ton for collar buttons, parasol handles and jewelry; the water in which the bones are boiled is reduced to glue; the dust from sawing the bones is food for cattle and poultry; the smallest bones are made into boneblack. Each foot yields a quarter of a pint of neat's foot oil; the tail goes to the soup; while the brush of hair at the end of the tail goes to the mattress maker. The choicer parts of the fat make the basis of butterine; the intestines are used for sausage casings or bought by gold beaters. The undigested food in the stomach, which formerly cost the packers of Chicago thirty thousand dollars a oear to remove and destroy, is now made into paper. These are but a few of the products of abattoirs. All scraps unfit for any other use find welcome in the glue pot or they do missionary work for farmers by acting for fertilizers."

"ROCKFELLER even controls poetry now."

"How do you make that out?"

"A great critic defined poetry as a combination of sweetness and light, and doesn't Rockfeller control both sugar and oil."—Judge.

JESSE HUGHS, PIONEER.

From an old history we cull the following account of Jesse Hughs, a pioneer of Clarksburg. Harrison county was created in 1784 from Monongalia and included portions of what is now Pocahontas county. The town of Clarksburg was established in 1785. This region suffered greatly in the Indian wars until the treaty of 1785.

Jesse Hughs acted a conspicuous part against the Indians. He was bred from infancy in the hotbed of Indian warfare, and resided in Clarksburg. He was a light built, spare man, and remarkably active on foot, and from his constant practice of hunting, became one of the best woodsmen and Indian hunters of his day.

About the year 1790, the Indians came secretly upon the settlement at Clarksburg and stole some horses. Next morning at daylight a party of about twenty five men started in pursuit and came on the Indian trail, and judged from its appearance that there were only 8 or 10 of them. The captain and a majority of them, in a hasty council, were for pursuing the trail. Hughs opposed it and advised them to let him pilot them by a near way to the Ohio, and intercept the Indians in their retreat. But this they would not listen to. He showed them the danger of following their trail; and that in that in that case they would be waylaid,—that the Indians would secure a safe position, shoot two or three of them and escape. The commander jealous of Hughs' influence with the party broke up the council by exclaiming: "All the men may follow me—the cowards may go home." He dashed off at full speed. Hughs felt the insult but followed with the rest. The result proved as he had predicted. Two Indians in ambush on the top of a cliff, fired and mortally wounded two of the party in the ravine and escaped. Now convinced of their error, they put themselves under Hughs; but on arriving at the Ohio they found the savages had crossed it. Hughs then got some satisfaction of the captain for his insult to him. He told them he wanted to find out who the cowards were; that if any would go with him, or even one, he would cross the river in the pursuit. They all refused. He then said he would go alone and get a scalp or leave his own with them. Alone he crossed the river, and the next morning came upon their camp. They were all absent hunting except one Indian, who was left to guard the camp. He, unsuspecting danger, was fiddling on some dry bones, and singing, to pass the time, when Hughs crept up and shot him; and with the poor fellows scalp returned to his home, some seventy miles distant, thro the wilderness.

At a time of great danger from the incursions of the Indians in Virginia, when the citizens of the neighbordood were in a fort at Clarksburg, Hughs one morning hbserved a lad very intently fixing his gun. "Jim," said he, "what are you doing that for?" "I am going to shoot a turkey that I hear gobbling on the hillside," said Jim. "I hear no turkey," said Hughs. "Listen," said Jim; "there, did n't you hear it? Listen again." "Well I'll go and kill it," says Hughs, after hearing it repeated. "No you won't," says Jim, "its my turkey; I heard I first." "Well, but you know I am the best marksman; and besides, I don't want the turkey, you may have it." The lad then agreed to let Hughs go and kill it for him. Hughs went out of the fort on the side that was farthest from the supposed turkey, and taking along the river, went up a ravine and came in on the rear; and, as he expected, he espied an Indian sitting on a chestnut stump, suronded by by sprouts, gobbling and watching to see if any one would come from the fort to kill the turkey. Hughs crept up behind him, and shot him, before the Indian knew of his approach. He took the scalp and went into the fort, where Jim was waiting for his prize. "There, now," says Jim, "you have let the turkey go. I would have killed it if I had gone." "No," says Hughs, "I didn't let it go;" and taking out the scalp, threw it down. "There, take your turkey, Jim, I don't want it." The lad was overcome, and nearly fainted, to think of the certain death that he had escaped, purely by the keen perception and good management of Mr Hughs.

Our I's and Other Eyes.

Our I's are just as strong as they were fifty years ago, when we have cause to use them. But we have less and less cause to praise ourselves, since others do the praising, and we are more than willing for you to see us through other eyes. This is how we look to S. F. Boyce, wholesale and retail druggist, Duluth, Minn., who after a quarter of a century of observation writes:

"I have sold Ayer's Sarsaparilla for more than 25 years, both at wholesale and retail, and have never heard anything but words of praise from my customers; not a single complaint has ever reached me. I believe Ayer's Sarsaparilla to be the best blood purifier that has been introduced to the general public." This, from a man who has sold thousands of dozens of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, is strong testimony. But it only echoes popular sentiment the world over, which has "Nothing but words of praise for Ayer's Sarsaparilla."

Any doubt about it? Send for the "Curebook."
It kills doubts and cures doubters.
Address: J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

The Greenbrier Extension.

There is now throughout Greenbrier and Pocahontas Counties considerable anxiety about a proposed line of road to be built from White Sulphur Spring into Pocahontas County, and north to connect with what is known as the the Dry Fork road now about completed to the Sinks, which is the northernmost extremity of Pocahontas County. There is a corps of engineers at work making surveys. As the meeting point for trains from east to west over the C & O. is about White Sulphur, it is claimed that the proposed line can be so shaped as to make a quick and easy line to Pittsburg, as passengers could be transferred almost without a moments delay from the main line to this branch. Besides the terminal features, there would be an immense freighage gathered from the very start, especially in lumber bark, etc., and which will last many years, as the timber region affected is one of the largest undeveloped in West Virginia. It is stated by those closest to the head of the scheme that the road, if built, will go up Anthony's Creek to Knapps Creek, thence down Knapps Creek by Huntersville to Marlinton, the county seat, thence up Greenbrier River to its head and connect with the Dry Fork road. There are two modes of reaching Knapp's Creek, one up the main Anthony's Creek and the other up the North Fork of Anthony's Creek. The grades are good on both except at the summit which on both routes is a little heavy tho the N. Fork is nearer by several miles.

All along the route from the White to Marlinton there have recently been developed the finest beds of iron and manganese ever found in that quarter of West Virginia, and the timber thro a great part of it is virgin, tho probably not as heavy as at the head of the county. Knapp's Creek from Lockridge's to Marlinton, a distance of ten miles, cuts the mountains at right angles, and by going thro the gap thus made it is closed practically to any competitor. From Marlinton to Traveler's Repose, a distance of 37 miles, the road follows Greenbrier River and the grade no where reaches 16 feet per mile. One little tunnel of a few hundred feet thro one of the spurs of the mountain cuts off a considerable bend in the rivee, but with this exception the work is light side cutting. One bridge is is said to be contemplated over the river. The road by experts is pronounced one of the best branches ever contemplated by the C. & O., and will be a freight yielder of great value as it is not paralleled by any road. But for the fact that the people of that section have had their hopes of a railway blasted so often, they would now be in fine spirits.—Staunton Spectator and Vindicator.

MR KIPLING was criticised by Canadians for speaking of Canada as "Our Lady of the Snows." In Wee Willie Winkie he refers to the criticism in the following humorous skit:

There was once a small boy of Quebec,
Who was buried in snow to the neck.
When asked "Are you friz?"
He replied, "Yes, I is,
But we don't call this cold in Quebec."

Sawdust as a Fertilizer.

The Columbus Enquirer-Sun says: "The statement made by a gentleman in Alabama that there is wealth for the farmers in the old sawdust piles of the South, if the sawdust be used as a fertilizer, strikes one as being a little improbable. That well-rotted sawdust, which has been exposed for years to the elements, might possess some fertilizing properties cannot be denied, but we think it safe to say that as a fertilizer such sawdust would be worth nothing like $20 per ton, as stated in an article clipped from the Montgomery Advertises and published in another column this morning.

"Many of the experiment stations of the United States have tried sawdust as a fertilizer, and their reports do not set much value upon it. They all declare that its chief value is in increasing the poaosity of the soils, thus enabling plants to appropriate the plant foods which the soil contains. Pine straw, wheat or oat straw, leaves, scrapings from the woods, or weeds would no doubt serve this purpose as well as sawdust, and these are often added with profit to the soils from which all the humas has been taken and which naturally tend to run together."

Catarrh Cannot be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular perscription. It ic composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props.,
Toledo, Ohio.
Sold by druggists, price 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

THE Duke of Agyll advocates reading. In a speech the other day he said:

"I am bound to say I never had any other reading in my life. I to a great extent educated myself. I was at neither school nor college, and have very often found that any success I had in speaking in public life and in Parliment was due to my having read what others had not read."

A NORTHERN exchange comments editorially upon the fact that so few negroes commit suicide. An old Atlanta darkey was asked the reason of this and he replied with grim humor:

"Well, suh, in some places dey kills us off so fast, dey ain't no use in we helpin' 'em out any."—Atlanta Constitution.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

THE blanching of the hair, and its tendency to fall off can be prevented, and the natural color restored by Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer.

MAKING BOTH ENDS MEET.—The sandwitch man makes both ends meet by making both ends bread, and putting the meat in the middle.—Somerville Journal.

IN 1940.—"Made his money in Alaska, didn't he?"

"Yes. He's an old eighteen-ninety-sevener."—Ex.

To Cure Constipation Forever.
Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c.
If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 15, NO. 14 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, OCTOBER 29, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 11.—Polished Solid Oak 5-Drawer Chiffonier, 53 inches high, 30⅞ inches long, 18 inches deep. It is well constructed and has good locks on each drawer. Special price, (Orders promptly filled).

$3.39

Our success is not accidental. It is the reward of 48 years of honorable business. Our experience in the Furniture and Carpet business is yours for the asking. Our immense Illustrated catalogue of Furniture, Oil Cloths, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Bedding, Springs, Steel Beds, etc., is free to all who write for it, and we pay all postage. If you ask your local dealers' advice you will not send for our catalogue, as he will lose a customer. If you consult your pocket-book and want double value for your dollars, you will deal with the manufacturers. Send your name on a postal now.

Julius Hines & Son

BALTIMORE, MD.

GOOD SALARIES!

LIFE POSITIONS

IN UNCLE SAM'S SERVICE

are within the reach of all; male and female. Now is the time to prepare yourself and get in on line. Full information relating to Government positions and how to obtain them, salaries paid, scope and dates of examinations, &c., &c., given cheerfully by the NATIONAL CIVIL SERVICE INSTITUTE, 1435 N. Y. Avenue, Washington, D. C.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,

ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC

HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.

LAWYER,

MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,

ATTORNEY AT LAW,

LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,

DENTIST,

MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,

RESIDENT DENTIST,

ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,

PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,

MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

The Pocahontas Times.

GEORGE M. PULLMAN, the Chicago Millionaire, died October 19, suddenly, of heart trouble. He established a town by means of his car works. The town of Pullman now has a population of 11,000. His wealth has been estimated at $10,000,000.

THE special grand jury called for Kanawha County returned six felony indictments and five for misdemeanor. George Chilton, Thomas C. Hall, Edward A. Botkin, and Benjamin C. Hall are indicted jointly for a misdemeanor,—conspiring to obtain exclusive control of the retail liquor business of Charleston. George Chilton and Thomas C. Hall, misdemeanor, for attempting to bribe a councilman; E. A. Botkin, same offense; James L. Cook, indictment for false swearing (a misdemeanor), charged with having sworn falsely sworn when taking oath as a juror in the McDonald case, recently, that he had not made up or expressed an opinion in the case; Andrew C. Blair, late prosecuting attorney, misdemeanor found for withholding executions against convicted persons, for a consideration, and compromising fines, etc. Indictments for felony were found against four school trustees for receiving money from a teacher to get him the school.

LEWISBURG voted herself a set of $13,500 waterworks, and now it would seem from an able exposition of the case by Major John W. Harris, in the Independent, that the town has acted hastily in the matter, and that to pump water from the Greenbrier River, the only available source, will cost more than all the other expenses of the town together. Water must necessarily come high when it has to be hoisted five hundred feet up a West Virginia hill-side. In fact it would seem that it would be almost as easy to move Lewisburg to the Greenbrier as to take the river to Lewisburg. The scheme seems hardly practibly, for a town of 1,000 people, even though it be as wealthy as Lewisburg. The town does not promise to become great while the bonds mature, for this is the only town in the United States that has not become greater or less within the past fifty years. The idea of a pumping station on the Greenbrier, costing several thousand dollars per year, is a big thing for Lewisburg to undertake to support.

SUICIDE IN EXTREMIS.

ON Tuesday, October 18, Mrs Atherton Blight, quite recently a society leader of New York, was found dead in her room, from a pistol shot. Mrs Blight's daughter was married a few months ago to W. P. Thomson, a son of the late Colonel Wm. P. Thomson, so widely known in our county during the war. This is the published account of the affair:

Newport, R. I.—It developed today that the death of Mrs Atherton Blight, the former society leader, who died Tuesday was by suicide.

She had been sick for fifteen years, and for a year or more her sufferings had been intense. Mrs Blight longed for the end and after many weeks of patience, when relief in a natural manner was about to come, she lost control of her mind and shot herself. Her disease was consumption with all its tortures.

Mrs Blight's nurse had gone to the kitchen to prepare her breakfast and she was alone. No report of a pistol appears to have been heard, but when Mr Blight entered the room a few minutes after the departure of the nurse, he found Mrs Blight lifeless on the bed and a pistol at her side.

Every effort was made to suppress the facts under the misapprehension, no doubt, that Mrs Blight would be misjudged for her act but her friends among the cottagers who were acquainted with her long illness sympathized with her so deeply that not a word of reproach has been heard.

It is said that she could not have lived more than 24 hours, and that for more than a day her existence had been nothing but a supreme struggle for breath. It is yet a mystery to the family how she got possession of a pistol in the house.

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

Andrew Edmiston.—One of the Remarkable Pioneer Citizens of Pocahontas County.

Andrew Edmiston, Esq., late of the Lower Levels, is the subject of these notes making up this biographic paper. His wife was Mary (Polly) Gillilan, daughter of James Gillilan, near Falling Spring upper Greenbrier County. Early in the century Mr Edmiston settled near Locust on the farm now owned by George Callison, Esq.

James Gillilan, when far advanced in years, married Mrs Edmiston the mother of Andrew Edmiston, and thus became his step-father as well as father-in-law, a relationship so unique as to challenge a parallel in the history of Pocahontas intermarriages.

Mr and Mrs Andrew Edmiston were the parents of five sons and four daughters. Lydia, Jane, Martha, and Mary were their daughters; the sons were Mathew, James, George, Andrew Jackson, and William.

Lydia Edmiston was married to Mr Richard McNeel, a grandson of John McNeel, the original settler of the Upper Levels, and lived near Mill Point on the place now held by the Hon. W. T. Beard, whose wife, Mrs Mary Beard, is her only surviving child. C. E. Beard and Lee Beard are her grandsons.

Jane Edmiston became Mrs Abram Jordan, mentioned elsewhere as having gone West. So far as known to the writer she is now living in Kansas with her daughter Mrs William Renick.

Martha Edmiston married Franklin Jordan and settled in Missouri, where she died leaving no surviving children.

Mary Edmiston was an invalid all of her life, and never married. She went with her brother George to Kansas.

Mathew Edmiston married Miss Minerva Bland, in Weston, West Virginia, and settled there. His name appears in the history of our State as one of the most distinguished of our native born public characters. In V. A. Lewis' History and Government of West Virginia mention is made of this distinguished man as follows:

"Judge Edmiston was born September 9, 1814, at Little Levels, Pocahontas County, now West Virginia, where after receiving a common school education he was admitted to the bar in 1835. Four years after he removed to Lewis County, which later he represented in both branches of the General Assembly of Virginia. In 1852 he was chosen a judge of the circuit court, in which position he continued until 1860. He was elected to a seat in the Constitutional Convention of 1872, but because of ill-health did not qualify. He was appointed a judge of the Supreme Court of Appeals in 1886, but one year before his death. Judge Edmiston died June 29, 1887, at his home in Weston, Lewis county."

This historical notice has with it a portrait of this distinguished jurist and statesman. [page 239.]

James Edmiston married Miss Mary Hill, daughter of Thomas Hill, near Hillsboro, a son of Richard Hill, the pioneeer. He lived a number of years near Mill Point, on the farm now held by C. Edgar Beard. Mr Edmiston was a member of the Pocahontas Court and for years was prominent in county affairs. He went West late in life. Mrs Minerva Beard, of Huntersville, is his daughter.

George Edmiston married Mrs Nancy Callison, relict of Isaac Callison, son of James Callison, one of the pioneers of Locust, and a daughter of John Jordan, and lived many years at the homestead. He was a busy, enterprizing citizen, and was engaged in many business enterprises with the late Colonel Paul McNeel. He finally moved to Kansas, where his family mostly reside.

Andrew Jackson Edmiston married Rebecca Edmiston, a daughter of James Edmiston, son of William Edmiston, brother of Andrew Edmiston. After the decease of her husband Mrs Rebecca Edmiston became the wife of Jackson Jones, of Nicholas County, West Virginia.

William Edmiston, the youngest of Andrew Edmiston's sons, spent some time with Judge Edmiston, at Weston, where he attended school. He then went several terms to the Rev M. D. Dunlap, principal of the Pocahontas Academy at Hillsboro. When he attained his majority he started for Missouri with Anthony C. Jordan. While on a steamer in the Missouri waters he was seized with cholera and died on the boat. The towns were quarantined in a very rigid manner and all landing was prohibited. Hence the crew were compelled to bury their dead passenger in the sand at a lonely, uninhabited spot not very remote from St. Charles, Missouri. His friend Jordan went ashore to assist in the burial, but would not return to the boat, and finished his journey to Daviess County on foot, after successfully eluding the quarantine guards by keeping away from the public routes of travel.

The writer is mainly indebted to the retentive memory with which the venerable James McCollam is endowed for most of the particulars used in illustrating the family history of Andrew Edmiston. The sketch now in hand illustrates some of the possibilities in the reach of such youth as perseveringly pursue a high aim and spare no honorable efforts to realize the fruits of noble endeavors. We are what we make ourselves.

In his youth and early manhood Andrew Edmiston seems to have had a consuming passion for athletic exercises, boxing, wrestling, and feats of muscular endurance. There was living at the time one Thomas Johnson, near the head of Stony Creek, who claimed to be the champion hard-hitter of all that region. He heard of young Edmiston's exploits as an athlete, and these exploits created some doubt as to which was the "best man"; and to settle the question the ambitious Stony Creek athlete sent a challenge to the champion of the Lower Levels that if he would meet him he would find out that tho he might be the best the Levels could show, that he would soon find himself nowhere on Stony Creek if he just dared to show himself up there. This fired young Edmiston and made him as hot as the furnace we read of in Daniel. He may have sought rest but he did not find any that night, and so he set out by the light of the morning stars for West Union.

He walked from his home, near Locust, to John Smith's, head of Stony Creek, fifteen or more miles, before breakfast, to dispute the question of "best man" with Tom Johnson on his own Stony Creek ground. Without stopping for rest or breakfast he sailed into Johnson, tooth, fist, and toenail. In the first round Johnson landed a terrific blow on Edmiston's shoulder that dislocated Edmiston's arm, and yet he continued the contest until he saw his opportunity and overpowered Johnson until he called out enough!

John Smith then took charge of the victor—the now "best man" of Stony Creek and the Levels—and gave him his breakfast, and by noon he was back at Locust. Andrew Edmiston felt the effects of that dislocation all of his subsequent life. Slight exertion would ever after make his injured arm fly out of place at the shoulder.

In his later years he professed a change of heart and became a member of the M. E. Church. His sincerity was respected by all who knew him best and regarded genuine.

Some years before his decease his health was greatly impaired, and he became a great sufferer from nervous depression. While in one of the gloomy spells occasioned by his ill-health it was recommended by some physician to try the effects of a ducking in the river. The doctor was of the opinion that the shock and struggle would break the "spell" and be of decided benefit. Thereupon a plan was arranged to have him go with a party of friends to John Oldham's, over the Greenbrier, to eat honey, and rather than be called nice take a little 'peach and honey.'

Jim Scott, one of the strongest men and best swimmers, was engaged to upset the canoe and take Mr Edmiston out of the river before anything serious could happen him in the water. Mr Edmiston went along to see the fun the party proposed to have at Oldham's. He dismounted near the bank of the river and crossed in a canoe as it was rather deep to ford.

Things became so interesting and pleasant at Oldham's that Mr Edmiston was forgotton, and when they came to look for him to return home he was not to be found. Of course the party was much alarmed, but when they went to where the canoe had been tied up they saw it on the other side of the river and their patient on his horse greatly amused at the idea of their having to get over the deep water as best they could. Scott, however, came in very well. He swam the river, brought the canoe over, and helped the party across. Mr Edmiston in the meantime galloped home. It was concluded the next time he had a spell to let him have it out, for it certainly did n't hurt him much. Some thought it might be well for the party to have some such spells before they would be up with him.

When the dying day came when he was to pass over to the bright forever, it was found he had nothing to do but to die. God had not cast him off in the time of old age nor forsaken him when his strength failed, as he seemed to fear so much when depression of spirits or despondency afflicted our kind old friend. At evening time it was light with this venerable man, and he could realize the sweet power and significance of words like these: "I will go in the strength of the Lord God; I will make mention of thy righteousness, even of thine only.—Psalm lxxi. 16.

W. T. P.

VINCE. BOND DEAD.

Alfred Vincent Bond, the subject of this, was born at Brushy Run, Pendleton County, September 29, 1880. The quietness that marked his boyhood was exemplified in the young man of 17 summers. When he became old enough to attend school he was earnest, thoughtful, and obedient. He was so apt that study to him seemed a pleasure instead of a task, and seldom came to recite with a poorly-prepared lesson. He was loved and esteemed by all who knew him. Nothing could induce him to do what he believed to be wrong. At the age of 13 he presented himself at the altar and was happily converted, and remained a consistent member of the M. E. Church.

Last winter he attended school at Frost, Pocahontas County, and made many friends. The writer had been closely associated with him for the last two years, and a more pious young man I never knew, and one of the best.

Of fine personal appearance, he looked the picture of health and strength. August last he was seized with typhoid fever and after a protracted illness of several weeks he went to meet his sainted mother, who had preceded him about eighteen months, and on the 27th day of September, 1897, his body wss consigned to the tomb.

Thus has passed from among us a young man in the prime of life. But when the conflicts of life are o'er; when the last battle is fought, and the dead in Christ shall rise to meet him in the sky, we know we shall meet our dear departed friend and the music we used to engage in here we will sing triumphantly in heaven.

We tender our deepest sympathy to father, brothers, and sisters, and may the God of infinite mercy sustain them is the prayer of their friend. J. H. LANTZ.

Guesses at Truth.

A boy never gets much comfort out of his first cigar, but he gets lots of experience.

When a man speculates an a large scale, he always has something on which to weigh the consequences.

History repeats itself, with the exception of our own private history, which is repeated by our neighbors.

"I suffered with bronchitis for nearly five years. My physician prescribed for me without producing favorable results, and finally advised me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I have taken six bottles of this medicine, and am now ✱

Ticklish Things.

Coughs are ticklish things. Nowhere does the extravagant saying: "I was tickled to death," come nearer being true, than in the case of a severe cough. Do you know the feeling? The tickling in the throat, that you writhe under and fight against, until at last you break out in a paroxysm of coughing? Why not cure the cough and enjoy unbroken rest? You can do so by using

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

✱ This testimonial will be found in full in Ayer's "Curebook" with a hundred others. Free. Address J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Human Oxen in South America.

In an article on "Difficulties of Transportation in the Tropics," in The Engineering Magazine, C. P. Yeatman tells some remarkable stories of the strength and endurance of pack-carriers in Columbia. Says Mr Yeatman:

"There are professional pack-carriers on some roads who make a specialty of carrying burdens which the sturdy and much endur- mule cannot stagger under. On some of the roads you will see at times what appears to be a live box staggering slowly and painfully down the mountain-side ahead of you; as you draw nearer, you may hear the box grunt, very much as an old pack-mule does at every downward step on a steep road. There is something uncanny about the whole proceeding, if it is your first experience, and you happen suddenly to overtake the box, going down hill, for the moving, swaying, and grunting mass has no visible means of support, and no apparent excuse for behaving in such a manner. Perhaps you may read on its back, 'Mason and Hamlin Organ Company,' or some similar legend, but that is no help in solving the perambulating mystery for whoever heard of a boxed-up organ wandering alone down a steep mountain path, and grunting as it reeled along? Very likely the path is too narrow for your mule to pass your fellow traveler; so you are obliged to follow in its wake. But at last you are able to pass ahead, and you find the organ is in no way to blame for moving, for it has a man under it. Short and stumpy he may be, but the muscles on him reminds you of the pictures of old Atlas holding the world on his brawny shoulders. In one hand he carries a long, stout cane, with which he steadies himself on the slippery clay, and when he wishes to rest, he backs up the bank on the side of the road, settles the lower end of his load on the higher ground and props up the upper end with his stick; then he is free to slip the plaited maguey-fiber bands of his shoulders and forehead and step from under his burden.

"Up the next hill perhaps you will overtake a woman pack-carrier, her skirts tucked up to her knees, and below the skirts, in prominent view, great knots and masses of corded muscle, which form her not graceful, but very useful, underpinning. Ask her how much weight she carries, and you may get the answer, as if it were a child's load, 'ocho arrobas, no mas'—equivolent to, 'only two hundred and twenty pounds.' As you catch sight of her wrinkled face, you may thoughlessly remark that it is a heavy load for one of her years; her answer is apt to be: 'You should see my grandmother; she does carry heavy loads; I am not full grown yet.' This is said with so injured an air that you ride on wondering why you had not remembered that a woman has a right to be touchy about her age, even if she is not dressed in the height of fashion. As to the grandmother, and the probability of her still being able to carry burdens in this world, you are apt to be strongly of the opinion that the pack-mulish old woman has drawn entirely on her imagination; but do not be too sure of that, for the glaring tropical sun brings wrinkles quickly, and where women are frequently mothers at fourteen years of age, a great-grandmother may still be a very active member of soiety.

"Is this sort of freight carrying expensive? Rather! A twelve-arroba, 330-pound package, which is generally the maximum for men, as a nine-arroba is for women, may cost $150 for one hundred miles, or $10.18 paper per ton per mile.

It would be a good idea for some people to hold the tongues occasionally, and give their brains a chance to catch up.

It is an unsettled question whether bleaching the hair leads to softening of the brain, or softening of the brain leads to bleaching the hair.—Chicago News.

A Promising Life Sadly Ended.

The death, Friday, in an asylum at Chester, England, of Mr Edward Langtry, a native of Belfast, Ireland, husband of "the Jersey Lily," the well known actress, has in it not a little pathos, being the melancholy conclusion of a life that began under circumstances that promised much happiness. While still almost a youth he met on a yatching tour in the English Channel Emile Charlotte Le Breton, daughter of the Dean of Jersey, and in 1873 married her. At first the pair lived quietly, but the beautiful young wife, intoxicated by the change from the sober ways of the Island of Jersey to the gay fashionable London, soon acquired extravagant tastes, which dissipated her husband's fortune, and in 1881 she betook herself to the stage. Domestic broils followed, if they had not preceded, this step, and the actress sought and obtained a California divorce. Her husband was seeking an English divorce from her at the time of his death. His life had been wrecked by "the Lily's" beauty, which was not fortified with the finer traits of womanhood. The immediate cause of his death is supposed to have been an accident encountered in traveling from Dublin to Chester.—Baltimore Sun.

A Vote Winner.

Major J. Hoge Tyler, the Democratic nominee for Governor of Virginia, may not be endowed with the stately eloquence of Senator Daniel, or the augumentative powers of some others of the Democratic campaigners, but he is said to be a hand-shaker from away back, which takes immensely in the rural district, whilst in anecdote and humor he is making a decided hit. In a recent speech in Richmond he is quoted as saying: "This is the dryest ticket that the people of Virginia were ever asked to vote for. Jack Montague never drinks anything but Dan River mud. Ed. Echols doesn't know the difference between wine and pokeberry juice. As for myself, I never drink anything stronger than unspiked buttermilk." In Alexandria, Saturday evening, in a speech which seems to have delighted his audience, Major Tyler declared that he had not been able to discover any solid proof of the good times promised during the presidential campaign. He certainly took a gloomy view of the situation in Virginia, for he asserted that much of the land was so poor that "we will have to fertilive our graves in order to insure a resurrection." Major Tyler further said that the ticket of which he was the head was entitled to support "because it was made up of a black-headed man, a red-headed man and a bald-headed man, variety enough to suit everybody." The news of Major Tyler's humor has spread throughout the State, and he is overwhelmed with invitations to speak —Exchang with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular perscription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials, free.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, Ohio.

Sold by druggists, price 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

A Pertinent Question.

The general store of the country is the departmtnt store of the city. Advertising is the life of the one—why not of the other? Let the country dealer in calico, trace chains, sugar and patent medicines emulate the methods of his city brother, and he will get results proportionate to his efforts and fully as profitable relatively.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 14, NO. 25 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, JANUARY 15, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

GEN. G. W. C. LEE has resigned the Presidency of Washington & Lee University. It is rumored that the position will be tendered to Hon Wm. L. Wilson, and the salary raised from two thousand to five thousand dollars.

IT is reported the largest carpet factory in the world, located at Yonkers, New York, has closed. Four thousand men are now at leisure. The immense iron works at Zanesville, Ohio, have suspended operations for the present. It is sad to hear of such events so early in the winter. It is to be hoped, however, that in due time our people will adjust themselves to the changed and changing condition of industrial affairs, and be able to appreciate the meaning of Shakespeare's memorable expression: "Sweet are the uses of adversity."

THE Hollanders who settled New York are well known to our school children. Miles Standish, the May Flower and Plymouth Rock are perhaps more familiar to our teachers and their pupils than Bible stories. But of their own ancestors, who they were, what they did what they suffered and what influence the work of their arms and brains had upon the destinies of the American nation, is virtually a blank plage to them. It is to be hoped that all this will be changed in due time, that attention will be so directed to this subject of historical investigation, that our people will become acquainted with ancestral history, that they wlll try to perpetuate the influence of their wothy fathers and keep in mind and practice their principles.

IT is cheering to the friends of bimettalism to learn that Senator Wolcott and General F. A. Walker, at Mr McKinley's request, go to Europe to find out how foreigners feel about having an inter-national bi mettallic conference. Their information will be communicated to the President on their return, who will be Presdent by that time. If their report is favorable, then steps will be taken at once for the conference. If unfavorable, then the President, may be supposed, will will feel justified for doing nothing in the matter, but give his time and attention to the tariff and all that it implies. It is hoped by the friends of bi-mettalism, of all parties, that Messrs Wolcott and Walker may find a sentiment so influential as may lean to the conference at an early day, and the President may be relied on to push the matter to a conclusion. Four members of the Salisbury administration in England are bimettalists. The Bimettalic League of Great Britain has for its members some of the most influential financiers of the kingdom. Pulic sentiment in France is overwhelmingly friendly to bimettalism, for it brought the republic triumphant and solvent through a long monetary crisis that severely injured other nations. It was bimettalism that helped France to pay the German war-debt comparatively easy and without a heavy strain upon her resources. The people of Germany are anxious for a change from their gold standard to bimettalism. This is all encouraging, but the gloomy part of the money situation comes in sight when it is remembered that the interests of the money centres in London, Paris, Berlin, Wall and Bond Streets, in New York; and La Salle Street, in Chicago, are unalterably opposed to bimettalism. It looks as if there may be great reason to fear that these money centres may in the future, as in the past, defeat all attempts to secure justice to the people at large, who suffer from an appreciating unit of value. Now if these gentlemen on their return should show that all such fears are unnecessary, then millions of their countrymen and millions of foreigners will honor them with sentiments of highest esteem. Let the issue be what it may, this movement on the part of Mr McKinley proves that the Republican Party, reprented by him, agrees with the Bryan Democrats that the present monetary standard and system are injurious, and that bimettalism is to be desired.

To Tell the Age of a Horse.

To tell the age of any horse,
Inspect the lower jaw of course;
The six front teeth the tale will tell,
And every doubt and fear dispel.

Two middle nippers you behold
Before the colt is two weeks old.
Before eight weeks two more will come,
Eight months the "corners" cut the gum.

The out side grooves will disappear
From middle two in just one year.
In two years from the second pair;
In three, the corners, too, are bare.

At two, the middle nippers drop,
At three the second pair can't stop.
When four years old the third pair goes,
At five a full new set he shows.

The deep black spots will pass from view,
At six years from the middle two.
The second pair at seven years,
At eight the spot each "corner" clears.

From middle "nippers" upper jaw
At nine the black spots will withdraw;
The second pair at ten are white:
Eleven finds the corners light.

As time goes on, the horsemen know,
The oval teeth three sided grow;
They longer get, project before
Till twenty, when we know no more.—The Horseman.

The Cleek Family.

As one passes from Driscol towards Frost the attention is first drawn to the "Lockridge farm," once so noted for its beautiful and extensive meadows and hospitality. Adjoining this attractive property aee two or three pleasant homesteads, now occupied by Messrs Peter L. Cleek, William H. Cleek, and Benjamin F. Fleshman.

The ancestor of the Cleek relationship in Pocahontas County was Michael Cleek, who was one of the earlier pioneers to occupy this attractive portion of the Knapp's Creek valley, and came from Bath County. His wife was Margaret Henderson Crawford, whose father was from Lancaster, Pennsylvania, and lived in Bath County, near Windy Cove. Michael Cleed opened the lands now possessed by the persons just named, who are his grand-children.

With the exception of two or three very small clearings, it was a primitive, densely unbroken forest of white-pine and sugar-maple. He built a log-cabin on the site of the new stable, and some years subsequently reared a dwelling of hewn timber, now the old stable at Peter L. Cleek's. Near the Cleek gate opening on the public road are the remains of a chimney, indicating the spot where Knapp Gregory, a pioneer hunter, had his camp. It is from this man the creek derives its present name, that flows nearby. This is perhaps the first clearing ever made in the present limits of Pocahontas. The last seen of Knapp Gregory was at the Lockridge fording. His sudden and mysterious disappearance was never certainly explained. The prevailing opinion, however, was that he was "put away" by some reckless adventurers who were here after no good, and possibly fugitives from justice, escaping from older settlements north or east.

The late John Cleek, father of Peter and William, and who was the oldest of the family, could just remember when his parents settled here. They came out by the way of Little Back Creek, crossing the Alleghany opposite Harper's. His mother carried him in her lap, horseback, all the distance from Windy Cove.

Michael Cleek's family consisted of three sons, John, William, and Jacob; and three daughters, Elizabeth, Barbara, and Violet.

Elizabeth married Jesse Hull, of Anthonys Creek. Their children were William Crawford, lately a merchant at Edray; John, who died in the war; Jesse; Andrew; Margaret, who married and become Mrs James McDermott, on Little Anthonys Creek; Eveline married Benjamin F. Fleshman, whose daughter, Margaret, is now Mrs William H. Cleek; Alcinda became Mrs Tyler Stephenson, of Bath County; Charlotte married Frank Fertig, of Anthonys Creek.

Barbara and Violet, the other daughters of the pioneer Michael Cleek, died in early childhood of the "cold plague," and their brother Jacob died of the same disease aged eighteen years.

William Cleek never married, and spent most of his life with his brother John. The attachment these brothers had for each other was noticed and admired by all their acquaintances. They never seemed so well contented as when in each other's company. His wit and good humor was remarkable. If all his funny, harmless anecdotes could be recalled and written up one of the funniest books in the world would result, and nobody's feelings wounded thereby. He could be facetious without hurting anyone's feelings, a gift rarely possessed by humorists. He told most of his jokes on himself.

It now remains to make further mention of John Cleek, the eldest son of Michael Cleek's pioneer home. He married Phebe Ann, a daughter of Peter Lightner, who once owned the property now possessed by the families of Francis and Hugh Dever. A sketch of the Lightners is in course of preparation, when more will be said about the venerable Peter Lightner.

John Cleek spent his life on the home farm. His family consisted of three sons, Peter Lightner, William Henderson, and Shelton Washington. The daughters were Mary Ann, Caroline Elizabeth, Alcinda Susan, Margaret Eveline, and Eliza Martha.

Mary Ann was first married to the late Josiah Herold. She was left a widow, and afterwards married William C. Hull. Her daughters are Mrs Patterson Poage and Miss Tokey Hull, near Edray.

Caroline Elizabeth married the late Lanty Lockridge. Her sons are in the far West. Alcinda Susan became Mrs Hugh Dever, and is now in Nebraska. Margaret Eveline married Renick Ward late of Randolph County, now in Colorado. Eliza Martha became Mrs B. F. Fleshman, and now lives on a part of the old homestead, as already stated.

As to the sons of Mr and Mrs John Cleek, Shelton Washington died at the age of eighteen months.

William Henderson Cleek married Miss Margaret Jane Fleshman, and now occupies one of the nice homesteads already referred to near the public road. Mrs Cleek was the eldest daughter of B. F. Fleshman, Esq.

Peter Lightner Cleek married Effie May, only daughter of the late Andrew D Amiss and Mrs Eveline Amiss. The pleasant home occupied by Mr P. L. Cleek is near the original site, across the valley from the public road, and near the foot-hills of the Alleghany. Formerly the main road passed by the old Cleek homestead, crossing and re-crossing the valley for the convenience of the residents. Thus the traveler would cover a good many miles in making but little progress in direct distance, as matters were in former times.

Mrs Eveline Amiss, sister of Isaac McNeel, Esq., at Mill Point; and also of the Hon. Mathew John McNeel, of the Levels, makes her home with Mr and Mrs P. L. Cleek

When a person visits such homes as this group, and others of similar type often to be found, it is gratifying to believe, all over our county, he is prepared to realize the truth of what the poet says: "God made the country, and man made the city." Yet the people will never be satisfied until there be a city at Driscol Huntersville, Marlinton, Hillsboro, Dunmore, Green Bank, Edray, Dilleys Mill, or Frost, from the longings one hears so frequently expressed in moving around. W. T. P.

FACETIOUS PASSENGER.—How often, conductor, does your trolley car kill a man?

CONDUCTOR (tartly)—Only once.

SHE—I hear you said I talked too much.

HE—No, I said you talked all the time.

BICYCLISTS are advised not to coast in summer or scorch in winter.

"I AM surprised that Jones should turn out such an incorrigible liar."

"I'm not. What else could you expect from a man with a hook nose and fishy eyes."

(Fish liar joke. Form 11,367.")

The Weekly Letter.

The friends of humanity are cudgeling their brains to prevent the vast amount of misery and mismating that is caused by American girls marrying foreign, no-account noblemen, for whereas their money-making fathers are only worried over the getting of a legal title to as much real and personal property as possible, the daughters have set their hearts on a different sort of an acquisition, and wish to secure legal titles for themselves. It seems to me that the American heiresses lack organization. If they would get together all would be well, and the effete nobility would not be able to bear off a rich tax-payer because she is afraid it will not be good form if she does not marry a titled foreigner, no matter how much of a degenerate he may happen to be.

It is thought that the recent experience of the Baroness Poppenheim, who was a Miss Wheeler, of Philadelphia. will have a good influence upon the American heiresses. This lady, who stood well in the great city of Philadelphia, and who was able to go almost any where there she desired, is not recognized in the Court of Bavaria in any sum whatever,—by which I suppose they mean she was remanded without bail. That the lovely Miss Wheeler should have mentally blind-folded herself and compelled herself to marry the heavy swelled German Poppenheim, and be treated to the unlovely cold shoulder of a German court, seems a just retribution to a girl who was untrue to herself, her womanhood, and her country. The late Miss Wheeler must have a depraved taste, for I cannot imagine how anyone who, like that lady, is able to put up at the best hotel in the town, should wish to trespass on the hospitality of the King of Bavaria.

If our girls had a better organization they could very soon make it bad form to marry any nobleman whatever, because it is well-known that if those hoodoo things were worth having our own government would give them to us. Make it a case of noblesse oblige, and maybe the fine young lady, whose grand-father dug ditches for a side of meat, will refuse the count and shame the devil. The chances of "Baron Ringworm" will not be worth a "continental" then.

I am opposed to the State of Nebraska legislating against girls marrying any one whose name has a handle to it, for, while it shows how progressive a State Nebraska is, still if you tell the girls that they can't do a thing they will "show you."

There is one point in justice to our opponents. the gentlemen from Europe, that we must mention. We will suppose that once upon a time there was a very beautiful young lady, and she was all that fancy painted, lovely and divine, and she was rich beyond the wildert dreams of avarice; and it came to pass that many men sought her hand in marriage, but as yet she had not met her fate. At last, however, at a ball given in honor of the God of Good Times. she was introduced to a good young man, who fell in love with her, and, finally, told her that he could not do without her. And she seeing that he was a man amongst men, as well as amongst women; and that he was the only man among the many thousands whom she had seen and studied who could make her really happy; and that here was the life that could complete and content her own, surrendered unconditionally and was glad of the chance.

But then came the rub. The man had had the misfortune to be born poor; and not only that, in a foreign country, and on him had had descended a title and a name which had never been dishonored. He stood as the representative of one of the purest and best families of his land, whose fortunes had declined because they had not been restored in the many many questionable ways employed by so many of the great families.

They were happy, and had not taken into consideration what the world would say. A spiteful squib in a daily paper woke the man. He asked his sweetheart if she could bear the publicity that the New York Sunday Gouger would give their affair; but she loved him with the love that casteth out fear, and smiled on his apprehensions. Then came her father howling the Monroe Doctrine, and wishing her to marry his boyhood companion, who was a self-supporting millionaire, a widower with a neglected family of children. He was bald and had a mustache that was too large for his face. He weighed 280 pounds and was of short stature. He had an unholy color about the face, and was always a "wiping of hisself" with a red bandanna hrndkerchief. But why eunumerate. The woman did as all true women do, and married the man she loved, and the man who could make her happy.

The New York papers went into convulsions when the wedding came off, but it did not make it wrong for those young people to marry; and they reaped the reward of their pluck by living happily ever afterwards.

An Incident of Long Ago.

Many years ago, far back in the past, a touching incident came under my observation that I may be permitted to relate. If for no other reason than its intimate connection with one whose name is a household word in the literary world. I mean the name of Mrs Margaret E. Sangster, with whom the readers of THE TIMES feel well acquainted, doubtless. But to my "incident."

Well,—(what would stories, real or fanciful, do without that word!) this is a sad true story, remember.

The wintry cold was severe, the ground thickly covered with snow and the river, to boys' delight, as thickly thickened with the best skating-ice. School-hours were over for the day, and of course the main attraction for the boys (girls had not dreamed skating then; the world certainly moves, as Galileo might still say, were he alive,) repaired to their wide icy field to have a merry time. Among those boys, and as gay as any of them, was a little fellow named Munson, (Richard, perhaps, I forget his first name), and Munson was the maiden name of Mrs M. E. Sangster.

The exhilerating sport continued until, sadly, the Munson boy struck an air-hole in that Hoosic River. Like an arrow he darted into the hole and was seen no more. The skating ceased. Men were warned, and speedy, diligent efforts were made to recover my friend "Margaret's" cousin, but in vain. Long ere the poor boyish form was found had the breath of life fled.

This sad event occurred many years ago, but it often comes to my mind. A. L. P.

A Song of Hope.

THE "HULL HOUSE" PRIZE POEM.

After an examination of over twelve hundred manuscripts, judges in the Hull House prize competition for people's song's, announced their decision. Mary A. Lathbury's original poem, entitled "A Song of Hope," which received the highest prize, is as follws:

Children of yesterday,
Heirs of tomorrow,
What are you weaving?
Labor and sorrow?
Look to your looms again;
Faster and faster
Fly the great shuttles
Prepared by the Master,
Life's in the loom,
Room for it—room!

Children of yesterday,
Heirs of tomorrow,
Lighten the labor
And sweeten the sorrow,
Now, while the shuttles fly,
Faster and faster,
Up and be atit—
At work with the master.
He stands at your loom,
Room for him—room!

Children of yesterday,
Heirs of tomorrow,
Look at your fabric
Of labor and sorrow.
Seamy and dark
With despair and disaster,
Turn it—and lo,
The design of the Master!
The Lord's at the loom,
Room for him—room!

WHERE is the man who said the tariff was not an issue?—The New York Press.

Plantation Pictures.

MORNING:

"Oh, mis'ry in de mornin'
Comes wid de turnout horn.
An' mo' an' mo' o' mis'ry
Befo' the day is gone!
From Monday on to Sadday,
Ontell de sun go down,
Hit's nuttin' else but mis'ry
For all de yeah aroun'.

"I hates to heah dem roosters
Befo' de sun is riz,
I feel so stiff an' po'ly
An 'full o' rheumatiz;
I's got de bad plumbago
All up an' down my back,
An' eberp step I trabbels
I heahr my knee-j'ints crack.

"Hit ain't no use to grumble,
'Case when dat horn done blow
Dar ain't no time to tarry,
You got to swing de hoe;
You's got to shake an' shiver
Wet wid de mornin' dew,
An' woen de sun gits higher
Wid swet wet, thew an' thew.

"Hit's grapplin' wid de tie-vines,
Hit's diggin' in de row,
De mo' you chop de grass dar
De mo' hit seems to grow;
My arms an' back is achin',
An' sho'ly I'll drap dead
Ef soon dat sun a-shinin'
Don't git right overhead."

NOON:

"Dar goes de horn for dinner!
Whooppee! You heahs it toot!
Oh, come on, boys, I'll run you
For home! Come, shake yo' foot!
I bets I beats you plowmens
Upawn yo' swif'est mule,
An doan' mistook dis nigger
For nary pokin' fool.

"You sees dat smoke a-quirlin'
Above my chimney top?
You better jes' believe you
Dar's sumpen dare to sop;
I smells dat po'k a-sizzlin'
An' tas'e dat catfeesh fry—
I'll be de fus' to git dar,
I bets I does or die.

"Hya! hya! O Sam, I beat you!
Yo' mule ain't got no pace—
De bes' on dis plantashun—
Does you know how to race?
Ef dar had been a possum
A-bakin' in de pot,
I could a' beat de boss's
Bay buggy mar's bes' trot."

NIGHT:

"T'ank Gawd dis is ended,
An' when dat yaller moon
Gits white an' bright an' higher
I's gwine to cotch a coon.
A heavy dew is fallin',
Hit's good to leave de scent;
I'se gwine to give dem varmints
A little worriment.

"Dar's mis'ry in de moruin'—
But bes' lef' dat alone:
De res' dat comes wid night-time
Is all I calls my own;
I'll drap dem stiff rheumatics
Ontell de roosters crow,
An leave off dat plumbago
Ontell de turnout blow."

—Times-Hrrald.

Our Flag in England.

An English friend of the Companion and of the United States, at Oxford, England, writes to us that when the Prince and Princess of Wales lately visited that town with their hosts, the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough, the stars and stripes were to be seen everywhere. The biggest flag that hung out across the busiest street was the American flag. He says also that at Christmas it is a common custom to use almost as many little American flags as Union Jacks and Royal flags in decorating the Christmas trees. He adds:

'And the school children and other children for whom these trees are got up all know it, and learn to look upon the British and American flags side by side as those of two brother nations. I am not thinking of Christmas trees in any specially 'Americanized' spot (if such there be), but in country parishes and town school celebrations. Curiously enough I never heard any one refer to it or speak of it as exceptional—it is done as a matter of course, as being the natural thing to do.

"It is a sort of quiet, friendly feeling that has long been growing, and finds one of its expressions in this very simple, unemotional shape, but I am glad to think that our children here learn to look upon the American flag as they do,"

We are able to confirm this statement, from a pleasant remembrance of numerous American flags displayed in the streets of Newport and Carisbrooke, in the Isle of Wight, through which the Princess Beatrice was to pass on her way to open a bazaar at Carisbrook Castle in the summer of 1895.

It is to be feared that a similar display of English flags, with the stars and stripes, on a festive occasion in an American city would draw upon those who used them a strong suspicion of disloyalty.—The Youth's Companion.

Pay your subscription.

West Virginia's Lumber and Tariff.

Mr A. W. Winchester, of Buckhannan, told some home [illegible] to the members of the ways [illegible] committee of the house [illegible] sentatives, in arguing for a [illegible] on lumber Thursday. Mr Win[illegible] chester is a practical lumber[illegible] and is an authority with a nation[illegible] reputation. Hi[illegible] throughout [illegible] attention [illegible]

There ha[illegible] times theoretical argum[illegible] to the committee, but [illegible] Winchester began, the [illegible] of protection and all the [illegible] of the committee soon [illegible] that instead of a dreamy theor[illegible] he was a practical lumberman who knew what he wanted and could [illegible] from experience. He went right at the heart of the subject and remained there until he had told the committee some impressive facts.

West Virginia, Mr Winchester said, is the most truly American state in the Union, and then he got down to business and told what West Virginia needs, and what is the matter with one of her greatest industries, as follows:

We do n't need scientific forestry down our way. The growth of our timber is so rapid that the forets restore themselves without artificial help as fast as they can be cut away. I can show you strips of country there, which used to be main highways and wagon roads thirty years ago, which are now covered with spruce saw logs. Why do n't we use all this timber? Because Canadian lumber comes in so cheap that we can't afford to pay for the labor of cutting and milling ours. The only use we can make of it is to strip off its tan bark and sell that. So you may go along there for miles and miles and see the withered, bare, blighted-looking trunks going to waste, either rotting or offering food for forest fires, and thus not bringing anything in return, but being a posilive menace to the whole country around.

'Talk about labor. Why, we have in our West Virginian mountaineers not only the cheapest laborers in the country, but the most skillful axmen. They make every thing they use, from the house they live in down to their coffe mills, with no tool but an ax. And these are the people whoare allowed to suffer for lack of renumerating work in the midst of nature's lukuriance because we havent any means of keeping out foreign competition. We are supporting the foreign capitalist and the foreign laborer, and letting the best of our own remain in hurtful idleness.

All this is true as gospel. Since the tariff was taken from lumber by a free trade Congress the industry has languished. Mr Winchester's argument is not involved nor theoretical. It is enough to state facts as they are—the actual result of free trade, and it is gratifying to note, according to the newspaper accounts, his speech made a deep mpression upon the committee.

The people of West Virginia voted for protection to their lumber and coal and manufactories quite as much as they voted sonnd money, and Mr Winchester was echoing their sentiments expressed at the polls. Our Democratic friends who do not undershand why the state has been revolutionized politically might find an explanation in the lumber camps, where matters are just as Mr Winchester has described them.—Wheeling Intelligencer.

MOVING THE WELL.—A family have recently taken into their employ a rosy cheeked Irish maid-of all-work, say that her blunders cause them amusement enough to compensate for any trouble they entail.

One day, the man of the house stated in Bridget's presence that he intended having a wood-house built on a piece of ground which at that time enclosed a well.

"And sure, sorr," said the enquiring Bridget, "will you be moving the well to a more convanient spot when the wood house is builted?"

A smile crossed her employer's face and instantly Bridget saw she had made a mistake of some sort.

"It's meself that's a fool, I'm thinking," she said hastily bound to retrieve herself, "av course when the well was moved ivery drop of wather wound rin out av it."

The Pocahontas Times.

"Montani Semper Liberi!"

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 15, NO. 15 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, NOVEMBER 5, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

GOOD SALARIES! LIFE POSITIONS IN UNCLE SAM'S SERVICE

are within the reach of all; male and female. Now is the time to prepare yourself and get in line. Full information relating to Government positions and how to obtain them, salaries paid, scope and dates of examinations, &c., &c., given cheerfully by the NATIONAL CIVIL SERVICE INSTITUTE, 14 N. Y. Avenue, Washington, D. C.

YOUR FORTUNE

is your health. Your happiness is your strength. Keep the Head and Throat clear and healthy and your mind and brain is always at rest and ease. CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER is the greatest relief to mankind in all head troubles. CURES COLDS, SORE THROAT, CATARRH. That awful odor of Catarrh disappears by its use. Wonderful in Hay Fever and Asthma. BUY ONLY CUSHMAN'S. If you can't get it at Druggists send for it. By mail, 50 cents. Send for Book on Menthol, free. CUSHMAN DRUG CO., VINCENNES, IND., U. S. A.

Old Dominion Building & Loan Association.

—OF—

Richmond, - - Virginia.

J. TAYLOR ELLYSON, President.
E. A. BARBER, Treasurer.

DIRECTORS.

J. Taylor Ellyson, Normon V. Ranpolph, John B. Purcell, John S. Ellet, Frank T, Sutton.

Authorized Capital	$20 000,000.
Subscribed Capital	5,000,000.
Paid Up Cash Capital	1,500,000.
Assets	2,000,000.

Depository - State Bank of Virginia. Investment stocks cost $1.00 per share membership fee, and 60 cents per month afterwards - withdrawable after twelve monthly payments, and sooner in event of the death of the stockholder.

H. A. YEAGER, Agent.
MARLINTON, W. VA.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

Good Ingrain Carpet, 29c. per yard. Heavy Brussels Carpet, 48c. per yard. For the asking, we mail you, free of all charges, our new Colored Carpet Catalogue, which shows all goods in lithograph colors. You can make your selections as well as if you were here at the mill, and save from 50 to 60 per cent. profit you are paying your local dealer. If you wish quality samples of carpet, send 8c. in stamps. We also issue a general catalogue of Furniture, Draperies, Bedding, Stoves, etc., which we mail free of all charges.

Julius Hines & Son,
BALTIMORE, MD.
Please mention this paper.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

The Pocahontas Times.

THE Times is under obligations to Mr Arthur Lawson, of Cumberland, England, for a copy of the Carlisle Journal coetaining an address by his father, Sir Wilfrid Lawson, at the annual meeting of the North Cumberland Liberal Association.

We should perhaps mention that the Liberal party in England is fully as much under the weather as the Democratic party of this country.

Sir Wilfrid Lawson made a vigorous attack upon the policy of the government relating to foreign affairs, and that spirit which we condemn by the name Jingoism. At least "Jingo" is a term of reproach. Jingoes are for carrying war in the four parts of the globe; "pegging out claims," "spreading civilization," "developing markets" "rectifying frontiers," and under what name they chose to term it he denounced it all as wholesale national robbery. He called attention to some lines by Andrew Lang, which seem to picture the brutality of the spirit and rob it of any glamour which it might have possessed:

"A health to Jingo first, and then
A health to powder, shell, and shot;
The man who hates not other men
I deem no perfect patriot.

"Wherever guns and gin are sold
We've scooped the artless nigger in
He gives us ivory and gold,
We give him measles, tracts and gin
Drinks all round
To the great name of Jingo, king and crowned,
And every filibuster, round and round."

The speaker has a world wide reputation as a foe to the drink evil. He said, as to the spreading of Christianity: "The same ships that carried out missionaries on the deck, carried in the hold thousands of cases of gin to destroy the bodies and souls of those people that the missionaries went out to do good to."

He was followed by Mr Allison. M. P., whose remarks as to the dark days of the Liberal party one feels as very particularly applicable to our own Democratic party, and that there is great vitality in the party; and that "so long as they adhered to their principles, and so long as they believed in them, they might depend upon it the Liberal party had just as bright a future before it as it ever had in the past."

He also deplored the war feeling. He seemed to class the American poet Lowell as a sort of a Jingo, and no Southerner will object to this as Lowell was particularly hateful in some of his rhymes. The verse quoted by the speaker is

"Ez fer the war, I go agin it,—
I mean to say I kind o' du,— Thet is, I mean thet, bein' in it,
The best way wuz to fight it thru;
Not but wot abstract war is horrid,
I sign to that with all my heart,
But civlyzation does git forrid
Sometimes upon a powder-cart."

Mr Allison says "The less civilization arranged in that way the better."

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

John Smith, of Stony Creek.

This paper is designed to perpetuate the memory of two very deserving persons, who were among the first to open up a home on Stony Creek near its source, now known as the West Union neighborhood. Mr John Smith was a native of Ireland and was of Scotch - Irish ancestry. A large per centage of the Pocahontas citizenship is of this stock, and it should be the aim of our younger people to inform themselves about this people so as to learn what may be expected of them in order to be truly worthy sons and daughters of one of the best of living races. A race of people who, according to Macauley, Bancroft, Thomas Carlisle, and others, has done more for human liberty and advancement than any other people now in the world.

John Smith came to this region in the seventies of the previous century, from Pennsylvania, and upon becoming acquainted with the family of Levi Moore, the pioneer at Frost, he made love to Sally Moore, one of the daughters. Upon their marriage the two young people took a fancy to the large spring that gushes so copiously and beautifully from the rocky cliffs near the source of Stony Creek and settled close by it and built up their home, one of the best of its kind in their day. The place is now occupied by the family of the late Captain William Cochran. Some particulars in regard to their sons and daughters have been already given in other biographic papers that need not be repeated here in full. In addition therefore to what has been written the following fragmentary items of their history are recorded.

John Smith, junior, married Fannie Cochran, daughter of the late John Cochran, near Marvin, and settled on the place now in possession of John Young, a great-grandson of John Smith the pioneer settler, near Edray. He afterwards moved to Roane County and lived at the three forks of Reedy. He was a Union sympathizer, was arrested by the Confederate military as such, but when it was ascertained that he was not a dangerous person he was paroled on his honor, but died on his return home.

Andrew Smith's wife was Nancy Cackley, daughter of Levi Cackley on Stamping Creek. After settling and living for a time at the old Stony Creek homestead, he moved to the State of Missouri.

Elizabeth Smith became Mrs Jacob Drennan. After living some years in Braxton County, Mr and Mrs Drennan moved to Nicholas County and located on Peter's Creek, fourteen miles west of Summersville, where members of their family yet reside. Charles Drennan is their son.

Ann Smith was married to Captain William Young and lived many years on the place near Hamlin Chapel now in possession of George C. Moore. She was a person of great industry, fine mental endowments, and a model homekeeper, and intelligently, sincerely pious. The writer gratefully remembers her and members of her family as cherished friends. Late in life she went West, and died but a few years since at a very advanced age in the State of Iowa. The first wife of Captain James M. McNeill was one of her sons. The late Colonel Samuel Young was her eldest son. Adam Young was another son. The only survivors of her family now in Pocahontas are her grandsons, John Young and Adam Young and their children.

Rebecca Smith was married to John Auldridge, and lived on Laurel creek a few miles from the old homestead farther west. These worthy people reared a very interesting and exemplary family, of whom special mention was made in the Auldribge memoirs that were recently published in this journal.

Mrs Rebecca Auldridge lives with her daughter Mrs Nancy Newcomer in the town of Ronceverte. She is not far from ninety years of age, and is hale and hearty. Her home is but a step or two from the Chesapeake and Ohio railway on one side and the other side is at the edge of the St. Lawrence boom whence the logs are floated to the mills by the million. How different the surroundings of her youth and early life from those of her old age. A more marked contrast can scarcely be imagined.

There is scarcely an hour, day or night free from the thundering and screaming of the trains fast or slow, and Mrs Auldridge seems to regard them no more than she once regarded the rustle of the falling leaves around the old Laurel Run homestead, sixty miles away from the iron road.

Hannah Smith became the wife of Richard Auldridge, a brother of John Auldridge just mentioned. After living some years at the Smith homestead, they went to Braxton county and were happily situated at the opening of the late sad war between the States, on Wolf Creek. Their family was composed of two sons and a daughter. Mr Auldridge sympathized with the Southern Confederacy and was killed. Both sons were in the Southern army. John Auldridge fell at the battle of Gettysburg. Allen Auldridge survived the war with an honorable record as a brave and faithful soldier. He sought a home in the State of Kansas, taking his mother and sister Almira with. Mrs Auldridge sleeps in her Kansas grave, while at last accounts her son and daughter are keeping house and doing well, as good dutiful children deserve.

Sally Smith was married to Robert Rodgers, and for some years lived in Buckeye Cove, near Swago. Afterwards they settled in Nicholas county. West Virginia, where Mr Rogers still lives far advanced in years.

Martha Smith became Mrs Samuel Young. Mr Young was a brother of Captain William Young. They lived a few years on a section of the old homestead, and finally moved to Logan County, Ohio, where their descendants mostly have their present homes, and enjoy the fruits of honest labor and judicious management.

Thus we have been able to lay before our readers some information in regard to these worthy persons and their two sons and six daughters. In their day their home was a place where the young people had good times, as good times went in the pioneer era. At log-rollings, wool-picking, quiltings, and flax-pullings the youngsters met, fell in love, and did much of their courting. Sundays it would be preaching or all day prayer-meetings, when it was not deemed right and proper to think and talk about anything but Heaven and heavenly things. The grandest social events would be the weddings that occurred just as fast as the young people thought themselves old enough to get married and go to themselves. Thursday was the usual day for the marriage. The first three days were spent in preparation, and the last three in the wedding. infare, and return home. These nuptial occasions were usually seasons of such exquisite enjoyment that all the young people, seemingly, came to like weddings so well that nothing would do but they must have one of their own soon as convenient, and so it came to be a proverb that one wedding soon makes another.

Mrs Smith survived her husband a good many years, but did her part well, saw her children married and settled in life. When the time came folded her busy hands in rest and quietly went to sleep. It is a comforting reflection that here and there on the hillsides of our beautiful land are planted immortal sleepers, like the bodies of these worthy people, that will some day appear in all that is radient and lovely. It is touching to reflect how widely apart are the graves of their children. Kansas, Ohio, Iowa, Missouri, and West Virginia have graves where members of this family are waiting for the coming of the Redeemer they learned to know and love in the old parental home on Stony Creek.

"Asleep in Jesus! time nor space
Debars this precious 'hiding place'
On Indian plains or Lapland snows
Believers find the same repose.

"Asleep in Jesus! far from thee
Thy kindred and their graves may be;
But there is still a blessed sleep
From which none ever wakes to weep."

W. T. P.

PUBLIC SERVANTS.

It is a well known fact that in America there is so little honor attached to the holding of local offices that the best men do not always offer themselves for the place unless it is one which has an adequate pecuniary reward. We have often heard men justify themselves by counting the cost necessary to filling the office, and by showing that they would make nothing out of it, they actually justified themselves in refusing to stand for the place. This has hampered the people wonderfully in choosing their local rulers. Every citizen should be willing to accept any position offered him, and the people at large should not misconstrue his motives in accepting the office. The Youth's Companion has a good editorial on the subject, under the head of "Good English Example:"

The Duke of Devonshire has been a busy man ever since he entered English public life, and he has great landed estates which require constant attention. When he was recently asked to stand for Mayor of Eastbourne, there was no lack of excellent excuses for declining the nomination. He was Lord President of the Council in the ministry of the day and the leader of the Liberal Unionists who had seceded from Mr Gladstone's home rule party; and in adition to his political duties he was overwhelmed with private business and with social engagements.

Instead of refusing the nomination he accepted it, altho Eastbourne was not a great English town like Birmingham, where Mr. Chamberlain worked out as mayor new principles of municipal policy; nor like Sheffield, where another titled landowner and mayor, the Duke of Norfolk, received and entertained the queen during the jubilee year. No reputation was to be made in that seaside resort, as there was in London when Lord Rosebery accepted the chairmanship of the county council and plunged into municipal politics. The mayorality was merely another tax upon the time and patience of a busy man.

The Duke of Devonshire regarded it as a public duty to take the office when the corporation urged him to become mayor. He was willing to sacrifice his leisure and convenience in order to fulfil a public obligation.

Americans of wealth and social position are sometimes reproached for imitating English dress and manners and becoming dudes. If they would copy the English nobility in willingness to devote their time and energy to local government, they would follow an example that is worthy of high commendation.

There are black sheep among the lords, but the titled class of England is a working body noted for intelligence, industry and public spirit. The dukes and lords take their full share in the drudgery of local government. As mayors of cities and members of town and county councils they give up many hours in the week to public work, and their service is always without financial reward.

They set an example which rich merchants and active business men are ashamed to disregard. Engrossed as they may be with their private business, they find time for attending council and committee meetings and for promoting the ends of good government.

This is the secret of the efficiency and success of local government in England and Scotland. The men of education, wealth and influence, instead of leaving politicians to govern their towns and counties badly, look after this public business themselves. They regard it as a public duty, and discharge it at a serious inconvenience and from high motives. In America this duty is shirked and local government is not what it ought to be.

PROSPERITY IN POCAHONTAS.

"Several boom towns are being mapped out on the 300,000 acres of land recently purchased by a syndicate in the central part of the State."—Charleston Gazette.

The 300,000 acres lies principally within the bounds of this county, is our understanding, tho the news papers have generally referred to it vaguely as being situated in the central part of the State. Whether the boom towns have been mapped out or not, just as certainly as the railroad is built the towns will follow as a matter of course. Any one unacquainted with the county has no realization of the vast wealth that is here. It is not that which is generally comprised under the term of natural resources which will bring lasting prosperity to this county, or people it with its most enduring and substantial class. The fertility of the soil will afford work for ten times as many stock raisers and farmers as are now engaged in the business in Pocahontas. There are vast stretches of country that are comparatively level which would produce abundantly, but the wonder of wonders are the rich mountains covered with black soil, in western Pocahontas. Denude these mountains of their timber, and a bluegrass sod forms which equals for grazing purposes any bluegrass raised in America. In the past the primitive method of belting and deadening the timber has let the sun in and it did the rest. After the sod is formed in this natural, spontaneous manner, it is no unusual thing to fence up a field and without any previous cultivation whatever raise a crop of hay, cutting a bluegrass hay that is even fattening in its feeding qualities, and which can be cut year after year, improving all the time in the quantity it produces.

When the timber of our mountains has been harvested, yielding great gains to those who put it on the market, the lumberman will give way to the stockman and farmer, and instead of great wastes of brush growing up where the large timber stood there will be farms, farm-houses, fences, and cattle, and these prosperous farming communities will feed towns, boom or otherwise, on the 300,000 acres.

We certainly have room in Pocahontas county for a farming population of 50,000 people. We have barely 7,000 now. After the timber is taken off the farmers will come, and to them we will have to look as the main promoters of this new county, and to them will be due the lasting prosperity of this section. Our true benefactor is the man who will make two blades of grass grow where one grew before.

CENTRALIA.

Centralia is situated in Webster County, and at the present time it is considered one of the wildest and most romantic spots of that county. About the time Marlinton was spoken of, the booming of this town began. The Charleston Gazette says that this town has been heard of again:

Centralia has been heard from again. Everybody thought the place had gone entirely out of existence. About six years ago its streets ran up into the hundreds, and the wild fox dug his hole unscared on the corner of 146th street and 75th avenue. Great saw mills employing hundreds of men were built on paper and flourished in the imagination of those who purchased lots. Being, as its name would indicate, near the center of the State, the city was destined to become the hub around which all the rest of the State revolved. But when the surveyors finished laying off the streets and lots, all business ceased. One of the promoters left the State between two days, and many there were who mourned his departure. The saw mills never were erected, the residences never extended beyond 99th street, the river flows as silently and as smoothly by as ever, and its placid surface is still undisturbed by the splash of logs and the city's silence by the hum of machinery. The trains rush by this lonely spot on their way to the homes of men, and oblivion seemed to have settled down upon the city of Centralia. But at last it has been heard from. A boom may be built there. The Centralia Boom and Lumber Co. secured a charter to construct a boom in Elk River at that point. The Company has $4,800 capital, and Robert B. Smith, of Mt Pleasant, Pa. is the principal stockholder.

ALL farmers should make a note for future use of the valuable experiments for the treatment of warbles in cattle conducted by the Technical Instruction Committee of the Staffordshire County Council. Warbles are a fruitful source of mischief. The attentions of the fly are so dreaded that all cattle lose flesh in the summer season from this cause. The hides are seriously damaged in cattle of all ages, while cows give less milk and run considerable risk of abortion. The Staffordshire experiments have been more directed to cure than to prevention, altho cure is prevention to some extent, as every maggot killed is one less to take up the destructive work next season. By frequent dressings of train oil and other smears the fly may be prevented from alighting on the animals in hot weather, but that entails some trouble, and farmers are averse to unaccustomed trouble, and a simpler way is to tackle the warble when it appears. Nothing could be simpler than the methods which the experiments have shown to be effective. Dry salt, rubbed in two or three times, kills the maggot in a very few days It dries up and is expelled without causing any inflamation, such as sometimes results when the maggot is killed by other means. Two cows selected for experiment were dressed with salt on the 26th of May, and on the 29th most of the warbles were dead and—remarkable result in so short a time—the cows were more contented and giving more milk. The success of the experiment encouraged its extension to the whole herd, and by the first of July the pest was eradicated. By that time the condition of the two cows had "much improved." All that is necessary is to cut away the overlapping hairs so as to expose the opening of the warble, and rub in the salt. By attention to this duty the prevalence of the pest must appreciably diminish in the following year, and its extermination would only be a matter of time and application.—Carlisle (England) Journal.

The Ins and Outs of It.

If you get best wear out of a coat, best work must have gone into it. You can't get good bread out of poor flour.

Moral: You can't get the best out of anything, unless the best is in it; and the best has to be put in before it can be taken out. Now, we have a rule to test those sarsaparillas with a big "best" on the bottle. "Tell us what's put in you and we'll decide for ourselves about the best." That's fair. But these modest sarsaparillas say: "Oh! we can't tell. It's a secret. Have faith in the label." . . . Stop! There's one exception; one sarsaparilla that has no secret to hide. It's Ayer's. If you want to know what goes into Ayer's Sarsaparilla, ask your doctor to write for the formula. Then you can satisfy yourself that you get the best of the sarsaparilla argument when you get Ayer's.

Any doubt left? Get the "Curebook."
It kills doubts but cures doubters.
Address: J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheneny for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any any obligations made by their firm.

WEST & TRAUX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price 75c. per bottle. Sold by all druggists. Testimonials free.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets. Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 15, NO. 16 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, NOVEMBER 12, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

GOOD SALARIES!
LIFE POSITIONS
IN UNCLE SAM'S SERVICE
are within the reach of all; male and female. Now is the time to prepare yourself and get into line. Full information relating to Government positions and how to obtain them, salaries paid, scope and dates of examinations, &c., &c., given cheerfully by the NATIONAL CIVIL SERVICE INSTITUTE, 1429 N. Y. Avenue, Washington, D. C.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

Old Dominion Building & Loan Association.
—OF—
Richmond, - - Virginia.
J. TAYLOR ELLYSON, President.
E. A. BARBER, Treasurer.
DIRECTORS.
J. Taylor Ellyson, Normon V. Randolph, John B. Purcell, John S. Ellet, Frank T, Sutton.

Authorized Capital	$20,000,000.
Subscribed Capital	5,000,000.
Paid Up Cash Capital	1,500,000.
Assets	2,000,000.

Depository - State Bank of Virginia. Investment stocks cost $1.00 per share membership fee, and 60 cents per month afterwards - withdrawable after twelve monthly payments, and sooner in event of the death of the stockholder.
H. A. YEAGER, Agent.
MARLINTON, W. VA.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

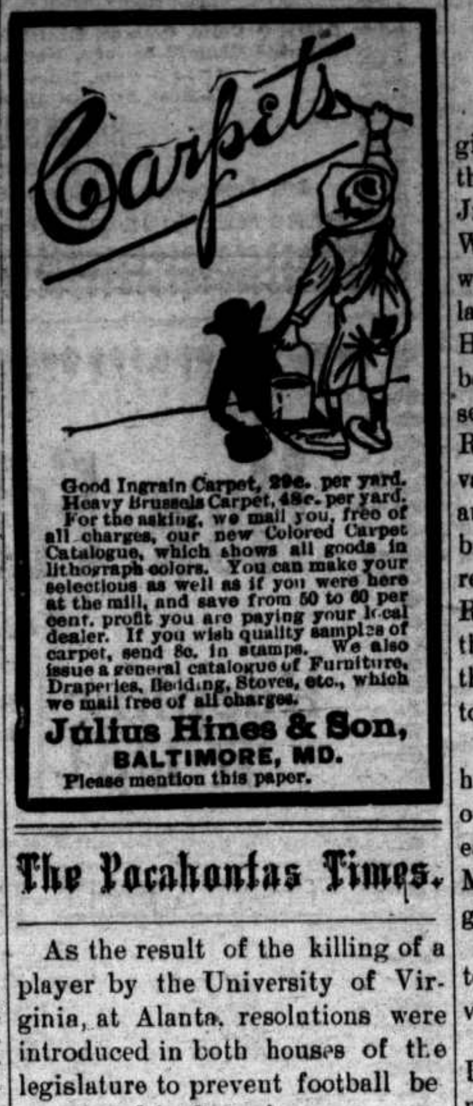
DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION



Good Ingrain Carpet, 29c. per yard. Heavy Brussels Carpet, 48c. per yard. For the asking, we mail you, free of all charges, our new Colored Carpet Catalogue, which shows all goods in lithograph colors. You can make your selections as well as if you were here at the mill, and save from 50 to 60 per cent. profit you are paying your local dealer. If you wish quality samples of carpet, send 8c. in stamps. We also issue a general catalogue of Furniture, Draperies, Bedding, Stoves, etc., which we mail free of all charges.
Julius Hines & Son,
BALTIMORE, MD.
Please mention this paper.

The Pocahontas Times.

As the result of the killing of a player by the University of Virginia, at Alanta, resolutions were introduced in both houses of the legislature to prevent football being played in Georgia.

JUDGE BRAZIE, of the criminal court of Fayette County, died last week. He had suffered amputation for blood poisoning at the knee, a few weeks before his death. He was a nephew of the late Roscoe Conkling.

THOMAS THORNBURY, of Huntington, died October 31. He was the oldest Free Mason in the State. He had been secretary of his lodge, No 13, for forty-six consecutive years. He had represented Cabell County twice in the Virginia and twice in the West Virginia legislature. He was Cabell's representative in the constitutional convention of 1872.

THE Union Pacific was sold at public auction to the reorganized committee formed to purchase it, at Omaha, November 1. It was bought at a bid of $57,564,931.95. This is the deal in which so many newspapers saw intended fraud toward the United States. The sale was the foreclosure of a mortgage held by the government, and the purchasers bought the property subject to a lien for the cost of construction. A sale under this lien was held the next day. The sale was made by an auctioneer on a door step a windy, cold day. The reading of the advertisement consumed forty minutes. This railway was built in pursuance to liberal concessions allowed by act of Congress passed in 1862, amended in 1864. It received the assent of President Lincoln. The terms given by the government were extravagantly liberal. A right of way 400 feet wide was granted through the public domain, with the right to take material for construction from adjacent public land, and twenty alternate sections for each mile of railway built, except coal and mineral land and land already preempted. The government advanced bonds to the amount of sixteen to forty-eight thousand dollars for each mile of road built and took a secured mortgage to secure it. It is for this debt that the sale was made. We hope for the honor of the nation that all was fair in the deal; not that we would miss the $20,000,000 we hear about, but for the sake of the honesty of our public men.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.
F. J. CHENEY & Co., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheneny for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any any obligations made by their firm.
WEST & TRAUX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.
WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price 75c. per bottle. Sold by all druggists Testimonials free.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets. Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

James Waugh, Jr.

It is proposed in this paper to give some particulars illustrating the family history of Jas. Waugh, Jr. He was the eldest son of Jas. Waugh, the Scotch-Irish emigrant who was among the first to open land and build a home in "The Hills." In these memoirs he will be spoken of as James Waugh the second. Early in life he married Rebecca McGuire, from Pennsylvania whose name indicates Scotch ancestry, and settled on the Greenbrier where James Waugh the 3d recently lived, now occupied by Rudolph Waugh. In reference to the sons and daughters we learn that Rachel Waugh was married to Frederick Fleming.

Nancy Waugh became Mrs Abraham Griffin, and lived many years on Buckley Mountain, a few miles east of Buckeye. Mrs Claiborne McNeil, near Buckeye, is his daughter.

Elizabeth Waugh was married to John Ratliffe, and lived on Clover Creek.

Jacob Waugh married Mary Brown, daughter of Josiah Brown, near the Indian Draft, and spent the most of his married life in Upshur County. They were the parents of fifteen children. Only five however lived to be grown.

Jacob Waugh was a local Methodist minister of prominence. He was a very fine pensman, and became Clerk of the Upshur County Court and occupied that responsible position for many years, and will be remembered as one of the best citizens in the history of Upshur county affairs.

James Waugh, the third of that name in this genealogy, married Sally Cochran, daughter of John Cochran, eldest son of Thomas Cochran, the progenitor of the Cochran relationship in Pocahontas county. He settled on the Greenbrier at the old homestead. His second wife was Hanna Lamb, from Highland county. In the sketch of Pocahontas County given in Hardesty's Encyclopedia the reader will find biographic details of James Waugh's personal history.

Morgan Waugh went to Kanawha county.

Allen Waugh went to Missouri and settled there.

Isabella Waugh became the wife of John Brock and settled in Kenawha county.

Marcus Waugh, the youngest son of James Waugh, married Susan Johnson, daughter of William Johnson, on the Greenbrier near Verdant Valley. He settled on a farm adjoining the Waugh homestead higher up the river a few miles east of Poage's Lane.

The friends and members of the Waugh relationship are mainly indebted to Mrs Nancy Shrader for whatever pleasure these memoirs may afford them.

Lorenzo Waugh, a son of James the second, became a distinguished evangelist. From his autobiography, published in San Francisco, copies of which are in the possession of his friends in Pocahontas, we learn that he was born in 1808 at the home on the Greenbrier where his earlier years were spent. At the age of sixteen he was a teacher in Harrison conuty. He was a teacher in Mason county in 1832; entered the Methodist ministry in that year, and was junior preacher on the Guyandotte circuit. In 1833 he rode the Nicholas county circuit and was transferred to the Ohio conference in 1834. In 1835 he became a member of the Missouri Conference. On one of his Missouri circuits he met Miss Clarissa Jane Edsell, lost his heart once more and was accepted, and the preacher did the rest. It seems he first lost his heart in "The Hills" about flax-pulling time; but time makes up for such losses with the patient and persevering.

In 1837 Lorenza Waugh was an Indian missionary to the Shawnee nation. It was the Shawnees who did the most harm during Indian times in Pocahontas, and here we find in course of time a Pocahontas preacher telling of Jesus and his love to those people whose warriors had slain Baker and the Bridger boys not far from where he had been born and reared, and who had often tried to kill Jacob Warwick, Lorenza Waugh's best friend of his early boyhood. How very interestingly things will come around as time passes.

In 1840 Lorenza Waugh rode the Platte River circuit, now in Nebraska; and in 1848 he entered the Illinois Conference. In 1851, with his family he crossed the plains and settled in the Petaluma Valley, in California, in which State he has ever since been occupied as preacher and temparance lecturer. His strictures on the use of Tobacco are very severe, and he has to turn up his nose whenever the "devil's perfumery" is in the air. As for whiskey, the words have yet to be made to express the abhorrence he feels, as all present words for loathing and disgust are too tame to answer the purpose in describing the satanic broth Beelzebub, as it appears to him from his way of looking at its dire results on the American people. It is believed that he still lives in his charming Petulama home, and if so he is 89 years of age. He tells in his autobiography how Major Jacob Warwick gave him a colt for beating a young man at a foot-race. This race came off the day that John Sharp's house was raised, now occupied by J. Wesley Irvine near Verdant Valley, and probably occurred in the meadow just below. During the greater part of his vastly extended itinerancy Lorenza Waugh used horses that were the offspring of the animal presented him by Major Warwick.

This paper will be closed by a brief reference to the sisters of James and Samuel Waugh. Jane and Margaret Waugh, daughters of James and Mary Waugh, the original ancestors of the Pocahontas relationship.

Jane Waugh was married to Timothy McCarty and, lived on Knapp's Creek, near Mt. Vernon. Her daughter Mary was Hon. Levi Moore's second wife. Samuel McCarty. Sally McCarty became Mrs Boggs, and lived in Greenbrier; Jane became Mrs Harvey Casebolt; Reuben McCarty died in youth; Martha Ann perished during the war and her remains were never found; Jacob McCarty, member of the legislature, were Jane Waugh's children.

Margaret Waugh was married to Arthur Grimes, son of Felix Grimes the pioneer, and lived where Lewis Carpenter now resides. Katy Grimes became Mrs Mulllinax, and lived in Pendleton county; Polly Grimes was married to William Cunningham in the same county; Nancy Grimes died young; Arthur Grimes married Elizabeth E, Cumsted, of Pendleton, and settled in Upshur county; Samuel Grimes married Margaret Dysard, of Anthony's Creek, and settled near home; John Grimes died in early youth; David Grimes married Mary Grimes, daughter of James Grimes, of Felix.

We have had under consideration a family of Pocahontas citizenship, many of whose members made the best of their opportunities for mental and moral improvement and became promiuent and useful persons in their respective spheres. With such a family history those who now represent these families have every inducement to attempt higher results, as their advantages as so far superior to what their ancestry had in reach.

Intelligent, pious tillers of the soil as the hope of the country and the hope of the world. May it be the will of an allwise Providence to favor our county with many of those who have pious minds and willing hands and thus properly develop one of the most beautiful and attractive regions on earth when considered all in all. A self-supporting people relying on God and themselves can never be degraded. A home made up of farm and fireside is the nearest place on earth to heaven.

W. T. P.

In these days of culture and progress do not wear a grizzly beard or mustache, when they can be colored a natural brown or black at home with Buckingham's Dye.

THE FOOT EVIL.

Young eyes that last June smiled in ours,
Now seek the ear lost in the scrimmage;
And hands which toyed with fruits and flowers,
Commit rude mayhem on God's image

The casualties resulting from a Cuban engagement and an average American college game of football as it is played are about the same. A few years ago one or two substitutes was looked upon as a sufficient reserve, but now the relay of substitutes run up to a number almost sufficient to form a second team. After every game the players limp off each hurt a little all over his body. The treatment he has been subjected to would kill half the lower animals in the world. Put a pursley citizen in the game for ten minutes and he would lie down like a fat hog, and the bystanders would save his life by pouring cold water over him for two hours.

In every game the opposing forces charge each other enmasse and all go down in one struggling heap. They untangle themselves and most of them leap to their feet, but nothing is more common than to see a motionless figure on the grass. His comrades rub him back to life or he limps out of the game with a contusion on his head, a ruined face, a lost tooth, a broken nose, a dislocation, or some other injury. Often he is carried out, dumped unceremoniously, and the game goes on. This is all the spectators see. They say the wind is knocked out of him and he will be all right presently. But next day the papers said that he had concussion of the brain, or a broken neck, and that he is dead.

Every year we can calculate on about a dozen fatalities, and considering that there are only a few hundreds of players the death rate is right large.

The main trouble is that the players have a double object in stopping the man with the ball. They want to stop him from gaining another inch, and stop him so hard that he will not be such a strong antagonist. They catch him round the hips and throw him so heavily that he is several minutes in getting himself in a shape to be dangerous.

The University of Virginia killed a man at Atlanta the other day in the most brutal manner imaginable. He was Richard Von Gammon, full-back on the team of the University of Georgia. The account of the killing as given by the press is in these words:

"Just after the second half of the game had begun, Virginia was manouevring in one corner of the field. The attack was directed against Gammon. He was thrown and several of Virginia's heavy men fell on him. Some assert that Gammon's body was doubled and that his feet struck his head, causing the injury; but no definite account of the affair can be had."

It had been better for Gammon if he had surrendered or called for help. It is a most fearful thing to think that an attack was intended on his person, that such an attack was made, and that as a result the boy was killed. All the entertainment the sport affords the spectators, and all the excitement it gives the players, year by year, is a small thing compared with a life.

The Chancellor of the University of Georgia will forbid any more football by any of his students.

The devotees of the game are intemperate in their tastes. There are a half-dozen varieties of football that are comparatively harmless, but the American college student insists that they are too tame for him. They have consequently devised a game which admits of every atrocity being committed. Where men are killed and where individual skill is sacrificed to combined efforts and to a display of brute force. The innocent pigskin does not enter the game to any great extent, and the game could be played almost as well with any other object of the same size. It might finally get to be football with the foot ball left out.

If nothing else can be done, the college authorities might adopt a game which is played in England, sometimes with but one player on a side. Then there would be no more grinding up of the sons of men, and we would hear the last of a man killed at such a merrymaking.

When we started to write this homily we had thought of treating the matter lightly, but the spirit moved us in a different way; and we suppose the subject has ceased to be a "laughing matter."

"I don't believe there ever was so good a pill made as Ayer's Cathartic Pills. They will do all you recommend them for and even more. When I have a cold and ache from head to heels, a dose or two of these pills is all the medicine needed to set me right again. For headache,*

Pill Clothes.

The good pill has a good coat. The pill coat serves two purposes; it protects the pill, and disguises it to the sensitive palate. Some coats are too heavy; they won't dissolve, and the pills they cover pass through the system, harmless as a bread pellet. Other coats are too light, and permit the speedy deterioration of the pill. After 30 years exposure, Ayer's Sugar Coated Pills have been found as effective as if just fresh from the laboratory. It's a good pill, with a good coat. Ask your druggist for

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

* This testimonial will be found in full in Ayer's "Curebook," with a hundred others. Free. Address: J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

QUARREL IN PRINT.

The editors of the Randolph papers like each other not even a little, and such passages as the following are of usual occurrence:

James Hebden and wife, of Mingo, were registered at the Valley House Monday and Tuesday.—Enterprise.

Yes, Kildow, they were registered just for dinner those two days, but were compelled to come to Elkins at night, and would have come to Elkins for their dinners had they had time. One meal a day in Beverly is about as much as any one can stand.—The Inter-Mountain.

If the editor of the Inter-Mountain would come to Beverly and pay for the hotel register he mutilated while in a beastly state of intoxication, the above would come with better grace.—Enterprise.

We would recommend the following code of laws from Shakespeare, in "As You Like It":

TOUCHSTONE—O, sir, we quarrel in print, by the book; as you have books for good manners: I will name you the degrees. The first, the Retort courteous; the second, the Quip modest; the third, the Reply churlish; the fourth, the Reproof valiant; the fifth, the Countercheck quarrelsome; the sixth, the Lie circumstantial; the seventh, the Lie direct. All these you may avoid but the lie direct; and you may avoid that too, with an If. I knew when seven justices could not take up a quarrel; but when the parties were met themselves, one of them thought but of an If, as If you said so, then I said so; and they shook hands and swore brothers. Your If is the only peace-maker; much virtue in If.

THREE NEW WORDS.

Among the things to make last year's Presidential campaign one long to be remembered is the fact that three new words were coined, and future dictionaries will have to find a place for them; McKinleyism, Bryanism, and Yerkesism. We are indebted to some talented writer of the Chicago Chronicle for the following clear definitions of these new words. Words have been coined even if silver did get a backset.

According to the writer referred to, McKinleyism is the proper name of a political system that through protective legislation increases the prices and profits of manufacturers by subsidies drawn from the earnings of tax-payers. By the plan of duties and bounties the people are made to pay an increased price for all the necessaries of living so as to build up the wealth of the classes protected.

As to Bryanism he says it is virtually the same thing with silver substituted in the place of wool, copper, lumber, glass, tin, and iron and gold. Bryanism demands coinage laws that will produce the same profit for the silver miners that the wool, iron, and copper and gold producers derive from protective tariff and coinage laws of the McKinley fashion.

Mr Yerkes is the Chicago street-car gentleman whose name may not be quite so familiar to the reader. Yerkesism however is pretty much the same thing in substance as the isms mentioned.

The city ordinances give Mr Yerkes the use of streets which are public property, and maintained by taxpayers, the same as protective laws create a monopoly of manufactured goods at the expense of those who consume the goods, and much the same as free coinage would doubly enrich the silver owners at the expense of every body except the silver diggers. So it seems these isms run on parallel lines ending at the pocket books of the taxpayers.

Each of these isms, McKinley, Bryan, and Yerkes, seems to be a plan that results in personal, private enrichment at public expense. According to this writer, who claims to view everything from an independent standpoint, each of these words represents a monopoly created and protected by law Neither monopoly is different from the others in its purposes and results, and in its support under class and special legislation.

This is an eye opener with a vengeance, but the friends of Bryanism have this for their consolation, it is by far the least objectionable, and has a record from 1792 to 1873, that is not to be ashamed of, as long as Washington, Jefferson, Hamilton, and Franklin be deemed worthy of due respect for their opinions.

S. C. R.

THE Times acknowledges the receipt of a copy of the inaugural number of the Athenaum, of the University. It contains a full and minute account of all that was said and done at the inauguration of President Jerome H. Raymond. Upon a review of its contents one feels amazed at what the new administration aspires to.

Prof. W. R. Harper, of Chicago, who has had so much to do in moulding the educational character of the new president, gives the keynote in these words: "The modern man, whether scholar or practical worker, whether statesman or educator, must know the past, be in touch with the present and anticipate the future. To know the past is a duty; to be in touch with the present an imperative necessity; to have constantly in mind the future, a privilege which will prove at once the source of comfort and inspiration." He then gives his ideal of what he considers the best methods of instruction to make this modern man or woman.

President Raymond in an elabcrate adress sets forth the means he thinks to be the best adapted to realize the purpose in view. These two educational souls truly seem to beat as one.

Several other interesting addresses were made, but time and space are not available to render full justice to their merits. Should the regents of the University and the friends of education, by progressive measures, throughout the State respond to all this new administration with heart and hand, we are on the eve of an intellectual era never dreamed of even by most of living men, to say nothing of the teachers of former generations. Should these marvellous aims, however, fail to materialize very soon, as one of the speakers aptly quoted, there will be this to console:

"What I aspired to be
And was not comforts me."

"'Tis not what a man does which exalts him, but what man would do."

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, Nov. 12, 1897.

Entered at the post-office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

THE ELECTION OF 1897.

Low! the poor Indian leads the Wyck-ed Van and no one can see a Trace of the Republican party, by George. The first city of the country has fallen into the hands of the Democratic party, and the best laid scheme of the century on the part of the Republican legislature of the State of New York has gone agley! The city of Greater New York was formed when the promoters had every reason in the world for thinking they could carry the first election. They allowed the first mayor to appoint every official, and some of the most important ones hold office for ten years.

Robert A. Van Wyck, the head of the Democratic ticket, is elected by a plurality of 80,648. The municipal assembly is Democratic by a four-fifths majority. The significance of the election is great. It indicates that we may expect the return of the political revolution that has prevented a political party from succeeding itself in national affairs which has been such a marked feature of the campaigns since 1872. Since which time neither party has been able to succeed at the polls while in power. As they would call it in England, the Opposition was successful. The Democratic party had to wipe out a majority of 60,000 in that city, which they did without any great trouble. The Republican nominee of the Citizen's Union, Seth Low, was second; while the regular Republican nominee, General Tracy, was a poor third. It plainly proves that the vote of New York is not stable. There is not that conservatism in politics which marks our own people.

The only official voted upon by the whole State was for the office of Judge of the Court of Appeals. Judge Parker, the Democratic nominee, a free silver voter last year, was elected by a plurality of 59,000. The Republican party retained the legislature, but Democrats made tremendous gains.

Pennsylvania voted blind. She increased her majority to 125,000 Republican. There is a political atmosphere in Pennsylvania which paralyzes the Democrats. In all other States great gains were made by the Democrats, even in Massachusetts.

Ohio went Republican by a majority of 30,000 for Governor, and the legislature is Republican by a majority of five on a joint ballot. This great banner Republican State of 1896 shows she can "change as all things change here, nothing in this world can last."

It is unnecessary to say that Virginia went Democratic by world without end majority. Next year we will show you what we can do with West Virginia.

Kentucky returned to her former allegiance and can safely be counted a Democratic State from now on. Her majority is 15,000.

Nebraska elected the Democratic ticket by a majority of 12,000.

Colorado went Democratic by a safe majority.

Maryland, their Maryland, was was tolerbly close, but the Republicans seem to have the legislature if there is no unseating done, and Gorman goes doūw; and there are many of his fellow Democrats who are not sorry.

On the whole we may say that the Democratic party, which was said to be dead, is alive again. There is great vitality in the old party; and tho our enemies call us Bryanites we retain the grand old name of Democrats, and seem to be going forward to our due turn at managing the affairs of the government. We can safely assert that the result of the late election was more flattering than was expected or even hoped for.

Our nominee in 1896 received 6,500,000 votes, and the Republican nominee had only 600,000 majority. Their action is not likely to win any man who voted for Bryan in 1896, for no insult is vile enough for them to hurl at the head of a man who voted for free Silver. They reflect on his honesty and his common sense. Such bearing, coupled with the misrule that follows unlimited power, pronounces the doom of the Republican party in 1898 and 1900.

ARBOR DAY.

The Superintendent of Schools has set aside the 19th day of November as Arbor Day for the State of West Virginia, the same to be a legal holiday. The school children of Pocahontas will please take notice of the day and destroy some of the brush around their respective school-houses. This will be obeying the spirit of the institution. Where grass is needed more than boundless contiguities of shade, then the school-children can derive more benefit from "redding" up a bit of ground and freeing it from brush than they can to start forth on an expedition to make a new forest.

Let us imagine a celebration on the part of one of our Pocahontas schools. The injunction of the State Superintendent is read to the handful of scholars and the teacher talks on the necessity of trees to the well-being of the earth. The boys and girls will probably think of the corn-patch at home where the trees insist on growing faster than they can be sprouted down. But still they may agree with Whittier, who says:

Give fools their gold, and knaves their power,
Let Fortune's bubbles rise and fall,
Who sows a field, or trains a flower,
Or plants a tree, is more than all.

The next day the scholars, such as can be spared from husking corn, meet and the teacher leads them into the woods. There they learn something of the extraction of roots by pulling some maples or other small saplings. These they take and having taken seek a place to set them out again. Their school-house is the proper place for them, and if it is not already surrounded by woods it would be a very fine thing to transplant them there, only no man would insure the life of a tree for ninety-nine cents on the dollar that has been recently transplanted into the play-ground of a school.

The historic games of "prisoners base," "bull-in-the-ring," "sow-in-the-mush-pot," "burny," "shoot-buck," and other sports interfere with their healthy growth. The trees do not flourish and in a short time they are dead.

Another plan of working on Arbor Day is for the young innocents to take bags of walnuts, acorns and hickory nuts and go on excursions and dig a hole and put a seed in wherever the spirit moves them. With us we have no waste places, and the old farmer, whose life struggle it is to keep down the brush in his hackings and other fields, would not approve of people planting trees there.

Real arborculture must necessarily be very much of a farce in a county like ours, where so many perfectly formed trees are destroyed every year in clearing ground. The ground not in actual use for agriculture or stockraising purposes is already covered with such timber as the earth affords sustenance or the forest fires allow to live, and our efforts would only be directed to ornamental purposes, and we know the spirit of the majority of our cabineers, who, while building in the very heart of the forest, clear away every tree from near their homes.

Arborculture receives great attention in Europe. The forests are pruned and thinned more carefully than our orchards. Hundreds of years ago the inhabitants there began to cover their unused lands with forests, and now most of the woodland of the Continent has been planted and raised by the hand of man. In England a gentleman who sells his oak trees is financially on his last legs.

Many years must elapse before a forest planted by hand would yield timber in return for the trouble taken, and the day has not quite come for us to be interested in tree planting more than our artistic sense should teach us to ornament our homes with shade trees. What we do lack tho is fruit trees. It brings the surest and swiftest return; but year after year those intending to plant an orchard put off the task until they look back over ten years of wasted opportunity, and think what a comfort and pride it would be to have a good orchard. If arbor day would put this in mind then it would amount to something. Plant apple trees, or graft a good apple on a worthless seedling, and you have done something for your country.

THE newly elected mayor of New York will have a larger amount of political patronage to bestow than all his predecessors for twenty-five years together.

THE POCAHONTAS TIMES.

Five years ago this issue the present proprietors took charge of this paper, and since then have labored more or less faithfully to get out a paper each week and to give the people of the county as good a paper as possible under the circumstances. In that time they have only missed one issue, and that week we all felt as if we had forgot to do something that we ought to have done, and so far we have not repeated the experiment, and we have been blessed in not having suffered from accidents which might have delayed or hindered us. For four consecutive years the paper has not missed an issue. We take the opportunity of this anniversary to acknowledge the excellent support given us by the people of Pocahontas county, and to thank our patrons for their uniform kindness to us. There have been times when the people would not do any thing startling for us to report and we were compelled to draw on the imagination, but by hook and by crook we have sent out some sort of a bulletin each week. During the five years our subscription has by imperceptible degrees just doubled itself; and the gist of what we wish to say is to hope that the people of the county are as well pleased with The Times as The Times is pleased with them.

BITS OF JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY.

A book of poems of this delightful writer came under our observation the other day, and we will give some of the things that seemed to "run in the head" after reading them. A great many people object that his rhymes do not make sense but neither does the water falling over rocks, but both may be pleasant to the ear. The man, who can sing words together so that they string, need make no excuse for "jingling," when the muse takes him in her irresistable embrace.

The children that Riley loves to write about are very entertaining, if there is no sense in them, and his lines nearly always call up the bright little fellows who have most of them arrived at the only age when they are interesting.

Granny's come to our house!
An' ho! my lawzy daisy!
All the children round the place
Is ist a-running crazy!
Fetched a cake for little Jake,
An' fetched a pie ror Nanny,
An' fetched the pie for all the pack
'At runs to kiss their granny.

Then "The Pet Coon" commences this way:

Noey Bixler ketched him and fetched him in to me,
When he's ist a little teenty-weenty baby-coon,
'Bout as big as little pups, an' tied him to a tree;
An' pa gived Noey fifty-cents when he come home at noon.

At Aunty's House.

"An' I ist et p'surves and things
'At ma don't 'low me to—
An' chickun-gizzurds—(dont like wings
Like parunts does! do you?)
An' all the time the wind blowed there
An' I could feel it in my hair,
An' ist smell clover *ever'*where!
An' a' old red head flew
Pretty nigh wite over my high-chair,
When we et on the porch!

The "Raggedy Man" has some wonderful tales to tell the little boy about his 'Grandfather Squeers."

"So remarkably deaf was my Grandfather Squeers,
That he had to wear lightning-rods over his ears
To even hear thunder—and often times then,
He was forced to reqoest it to thunder again."

Our Hired Girl.

Our hired girl, she's 'Lizabeth Ann:
An' she can cook best things to eat!
She ist puts dough in our pie pan,
An' pours in somepin' 'at's good and sweet,
An' nen she salts it all on top
With cinnamon; an' nen she'll stop,
An' stoop an' slide it, ist as slow,
In th' old cook stove, so's 'twont slop
An' git all spilled; nen bakes it, so
It's custard pie first thing you know!
An' nen she'll say:
"Clear out o' my way!
Take your dough an' run child; run,
Er I cain't git no cookin' done!"

A Nonsense Rhyme.

Sing, O sing!
Of the things that cling,
And the claws that clutch and the fangs that sting—
Till the tadpole's tongue
And his tail upflung
Quavered and failed with a song unsung!
O the dank despair in the rank morass,
where the crawfish crouch in the cringing grass,
And the long limd rune of the loon wails on
For the mad, sad soul
Of a bad tadpole
Forever lost and gone.

To Cure Constipation Forever.
Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

GREENBRIER VALLEY DEMOCRAT.

A circular letter under the above caption is being sent out from Ronceverte, copies being sent to the county papers of Pocahontas, Greenbrier and Monroe requesting them to publish the same, promulgating a brilliant scheme to form a stock company with an unlimited membership, (each member being a subscriber of course) and the shares at $5 each. They propose to buy a $1200 plant and setting up the same at Ronceverte to engage the best editorial talent of all that region and with a grand combination of wit and logic combat the evil influences of a certain Republican sheet soon to be issued from the printing office of the Valley Messenger.

We regard the movement as chimerical, as the region has already more papers than it can support, and agree with the Monroe Watchman which says, "In fairness to all parties we do not think it could be made a paying investment."

Further the committee indirectly reflect upon, and ignore the efforts of certain weekly papers occupying the Greenbrier Valley, all Democratic. Let us see if the forces already in the field cannot cope with the new adversary.

The above are chunks of rhyme from the author's book called "Rhymes of Childhood." They are not meant to save the State or any such purpose, but they please the ear and leave a good taste in the mouth of the reader.

THE many friends of Hon A. F. Withrow, of Bath county, will be pleased to hear of his return to the Virginia legislature by a majority of over two hundred. In 1896 his district gave a Republican majority of over a thousand.

THE West Virginia Bar Association has been in session at Morgantown. D. C. Westenhaver, of Martinsburg, was chosen President. The next meeting will he held at Charleston during the next regular session of the legislature.

THE F. F. V. train, running between Cincinnati and Washington, was derailed last Thursday near Charlottesville by the breaking of an axle on the locomotive. Four passengers were killed and seventeen injured.

PROF George Freerick Holmes, of the University of Virginia, is dead. He held the chair of history and literature in that institution for just forty years. He was born in British Guiana in 1820, and was educated in England. He was the author of a number of text books used in the schools of this country.

WHEN the returns came creeping into Pocahontas in 1892, when a political revolution elected Cleveland, a Democrat passed a hillside cornfield, in which one of the most stalwart Repulicans of the county was shucking corn, away at the upper side. He hailed the passerby, and asked him the news of the election.

"All gone Democratic! Cleveland is elected by a big majority!"

"It's all a lie! Just wait till I see my To-le-do Blade!"

Even the Toledo Blade, then and now, concedes very heavy Democratic votes cast at the polls.

A NICE lot of fresh lemons at J. D. Pullin's & Co.'s.

Oder of Publication.

State of West Virginia, Pocahontas County, to-wit:

At rules held in the clark's office of the Circuit Court of said county, on Monday, the 1st day of November, 1897.

Matilda E. Malcomb (alias Matilta E. Wanless)
vs.
John N. Wanless

The object of this suit is to subject the lands of the defendant John N. Wanless, situate in Pocahontas county, West Virginia, to the payment of alimony decreed in favor of the plaintiff against the defendant by decree entered in the circuit court of Pocahontas county, on the 5th day of April, 1893, in the chancery cause of Matilda E. Wanless vs John N. Wanless lately pending in said court, which alimony now unpaid amounts to $

This day came the plaintiff by his attorney, and on his motion and it appearing by affidavit filed that the defendant, John N. Wanless, is a non-resident of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that he do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk,
S. B. SCOTT, Jr., p. q.

LOOK HERE!

WHAT YOU WANT IS—

To know where you can buy 100 cents' worth for 1 $. I will tell you. Come to my store. I don't mean to say I will sell you the largest load for the least money,—but that I will give you the best bargains to be had in "town." I am closing out my stock on hands, and for the next thirty days will sell you goods at nearly COST, FOR CASH, or good produce, such as Ginseng, Beeswax, &c.

Note these prices: Good Prints, from 4c to 6c, Scotch Lawn 5c, Satteen 8½c, Ginghams, 6½, Cable twill 11c, Cambric 4½ & 5c, Ticking 15c, Table Oilcloth 16c, Over Shirts 19c to 60c, Overalls, 35c to 90c, Jeanes 85c and $1.15, Suspenders, 10c to 45c, Hose 5c to 18c, Half Hose 5 and 15c, Lady's Shoes from $1 to $1.50, Lady's Oxfords, 90c to $1.00, Misses Shoes 85c to $1.25, Men's Shoes, $1.25 to $1.90, Tobaccos, 23c to 55c, Arbuckle Coffee, 12½c, Mowing Scythes 45c and 65c, Snaths 40 and 50c, Hay Forks 30 and 40c.

Other goods proportionately low.

Call and be convinced that you can get bargains of me for cash.

Submissively yours,
G. L. HANNAH,
YELK. W. VA.

Commissioner's Notice.

Office of S. B. Scott, Jr., Commr.
Marlinton, W. Va., Oct. 29, 1897.

State of West Virginia . . . Plaintiff versus
J. W. F. Allemong, J. B. Blyholder John T. McGraw, Amos Barlow Morgan Messer, and Diana Messer, ... Defendants.

The plaintiff and each and all of the above named defendants, and all unknown owners and claimants of any part or parcel of the lands mentioned in the plaintiff's bill in the above entitled cause, will take notice that on the 30th day of November, 1897,

at my office in the town of Marlinton, county of Pocahontas, West Virginia, I will commence the discharge of my duties under the decree of reference in the above entitled cause, a copy of which decree is published with this notice.

At which time and place you and each of you can attend and protect and defend any interests you may have in the lands, or any of them in question in this suit.

Given under my hand this 29th day of October, 1897

S. B. SCOTT, Jr., Commr.

(Copy of Decree.

State of West Virginia
vs.
J. W. Allemong, et als.

In Chancery.

This cause, which has been regularly matured at rules and set for hearing, came on this day to be heard on the bill and exhibits there with filed, summons returned duly served as to resident defendants and order of publication as to non residents duly published, posted, and completed, the bill taken for confessed, and argument of counsel.

Upon consideration whereof it is adjudged, ordered, and decreed that this cause be and the same is referred to S. B. Scott, Jr., one of the commissioners of this court, to inquire into and make report to a future term of this court in the following matters and things concerning the lands alleged in the bill to be forfeited, to wit: A tract of 130 acres, a tract of 710 acres, and a tract of 1600 acres, and a tract of 335 acres.

1st—For what year or years said tracts or any of them have been forfeited for the non payment of taxes due thereon, and whether the said tracts or any of them have become forfeited to the State of West Virginia for the non payment of taxes due thereon and subject to be sold for the benefit of the school fund.

2d—The amount of taxes, interest, damages and costs due on said tracts or any of them and unpaid.

3d—Whether the locations of said tracts are ascertainable, and if so their actual location.

4th—In whom the title to said land is now vested by forfeiture or otherwise, and who if any, one is entitled to redeem.

5th—Such other matters and things as said commissioner may deem pertinent and any of the parties in interest may require.

And it is further ordered that said commissioner before proceeding to execute this decree shall give notice to the parties interested and all unknown owners and claimants of said land of the time and place when and where he will proceed to execute this decree, which notice shall be published in the Pocahontas Times, a newspaper published in Pocahontas County, for four successive weeks before commencing said account.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

IT TICKLES YOU
THE INSTANT RELIEF YOU GET FROM
LIGHTNING HOT DROPS.
CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.
HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals, Serpents, Bugs, etc.
BREAKS UP Bad Colds, La Grippe, Influenza, Croup, Sore Throat, etc.
SMELLS GOOD, TASTES GOOD.
SOLD EVERYWHERE AT 25C AND 50C PER BOTTLE. NO RELIEF, NO PAY.
HERB MEDICINE CO. [Formerly of Weston, W. Va.] SPRINGFIELD, O.

New Fall Goods.

Keeping It Up!

SUCCESS DOESN'T COME BY LUCK—IT COMES BY MERIT—BY ENERGY WISELY DIRECTED.

THAT'S WHY Pullins & Co.

Keep on growing and their business expanding.

They always have something striking, startling, convincingly cheap. The only thing they never keep up is prices. These they keep low every time and all the time.

Commissioner's Notice.

October 20, 1897.
Office of Commissioner in Chancery
Andrew Price.

Andrew Herold
vs.
Amos Barlow and others.

All parties interested in the above styled cause will take notice the undersigned commissioner will on the 20th day of November, 1897, at his office in the town of Marlinton, Pocahontas County, West Virginia, proceed to take, state, settle, and adjust the following accounts:

1st—An account of all the debts against said H. M. Lockridge existing on the 19th day of September, 1891, showing in said account what debts or charges were liens or encumbrances on the land conveyed by deed from H. M. Lockridge et al to Amos Barlow et al, of date September 19, 1891, together with their priorities; together with all other debts against said Lockridge existing on the day aforesaid, which may be properly approved before him.

2d—An account of the real estate conveyed by said deed of September 19, 1891, showing its annual value since the said 19th day of September, 1891, less taxes and permanent improvements, and also its fee simple value.

And report to court together with any other matter specially stated, deemed pertinent by himself, or which may be required to be so stated by any party in interest.

At which time and place you may attend.

ANDREW PRICE,
Commissioner.

NOTICE TO LIEN HOLDERS.

To all persons holding liens, by judgment or otherwise, on the real estate or any part thereof of H. M. Lockridge:

In pursuance of a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County made in a case therein pending to subject the real estate of the said H. M. Lockridge to the satisfaction of the liens thereon, you are hereby required to present all claims held by you and each of you against the said H. M. Lockridge, which are liens on his real estate or any part of it, for adjudication to me at my office in the county of Pocahontas and town of Marlinton, on or before the 20th day of November, 1897.

Given under my hand this 20th day of of October, 1897.

ANDREW PRICE,
Commissioner.

C. B. SWECKER,
General Auctioneer
and Real Estate Agent.

I sell Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands. Farms and Town Lots a specialty. 21 years in the business. Correspondence solicited. Reference furnished.

Postoffice—Dunmore, W. Va., or Alexander, W. Va.

HIGH GRADE FERTILIZERS
SOLD DIRECT TO FARMERS.
Made from
Vegetable & Animal Matter.
Send for circulars.
AMERICAN REDUCTION CO.,
1514 to 1516 Second Avenue,
Pittsburg, Pa.

MARLINTON HOUSE.
Located East End of Bridge.
Terms.
per day . 1.00 & 1.50
per meal - - - 25
Good accommodations for horses at 25 cents per feed.
Special rates made by the week or month.
C. A. YEAGER, Proprietor

BLACKSMITHING!
B. N. Rayburn
(Late of Valley Head, W. Va.)
Has Located in
MARLINTON
And respectfully solicits the patronage of the people when in need of any work in his line.
Horse-shoeing is a specialty with him.
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Shop located east of the bridge on the main road.

YOUR FORTUNE
is your health. Your happiness is your strength. Keep the Head and Throat clear and healthy and your mind and brain is always at rest and ease. CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER is the greatest relief to mankind in all head troubles. CURES COLDS, SORE THROAT, CATARRH. That awful odor of Catarrh disappears by its use. Wonderful in Hay Fever and Asthma. BUY ONLY CUSHMAN'S. If you can't get it at Druggists send for it. By mail, 50 cents. Send for Book on Menthol, free. CUSHMAN DRUG CO., VINCENNES, IND., U. S. A.

Tutt's Pills
Cure All
Liver Ills.
Doctors Say;
Bilious and Intermittent Fevers which prevail in miasmatic districts are invariably accompanied by derangements of the Stomach Liver and Bowels.
The Secret of Health.
The liver is the great "driving wheel" in the mechanism of man, and when it is out of order, the whole system becomes deranged and disease is the result.
Tutt's Liver Pills
Cure all Liver Troubles.

Everybody Says So.
Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 15, NO. 17 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, NOVEMBER 19, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

Order of Publication.

State of West Virginia, Pocahontas County, to-wit:

At rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of said county, on Monday, the 1st day of November, 1897.

Matilda E. Malcomb (alias Matilta E. Wanless)

vs.

John N. Wanless

The object of this suit is to subject the lands of the defendant John N. Wanless, situate in Pocahontas county, West Virginia, to the payment of alimony decreed in favor of the plaintiff against the defendant by decree entered in the circuit court of Pocahontas county, on the 5th day of April, 1893, in the chancery cause of Matilda E. Wanless vs John N. Wanless lately pending in said court, which alimony now unpaid amounts to $

This day came the plaintiff by his attorney, and on his motion and it appearing by affidavit filed that the defendant, John N. Wanless, is a non-resident of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that he do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit.

Teste:
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
S. B. SCOTT, Jr., p. q.

YOUR FORTUNE

is your health. Your happiness is your strength. Keep the Head and Throat clear and healthy and your mind and brain is always at rest and ease. CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER is the greatest relief to mankind in all head troubles. CURES COLDS, SORE THROAT, CATARRH. That awful odor of Catarrh disappears by its use. Wonderful in Hay Fever and Asthma. BUY ONLY CUSHMAN'S.

If you can't get it at Druggists send for it. By mail, 50 cents. Send for Book on Menthol, free. CUSHMAN DRUG CO., VINCENNES, IND., U. S. A.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

FRED WALLACE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas County.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH.
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

Good Ingrain Carpet, 29c. per yard. Heavy Brussels Carpet, 48c. per yard. For the asking, we mail you, free of all charges, our new Colored Carpet Catalogue, which shows all goods in lithograph colors. You can make your selections as well as if you were here at the mill, and save from 50 to 60 per cent. profit you are paying your local dealer. If you wish quality samples of carpet, send 8c. in stamps. We also issue a general catalogue of Furniture, Draperies, Bedding, Stoves, etc., which we mail free of all charges.

Julius Hines & Son,
BALTIMORE, MD.
Please mention this paper.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. is on every wrapper.

The Pocahontas Times.

THEY have called Mark Hanna a boss in Ohio, and they are setting about to defeat him, and it looks now as if a disagreement might arise in which the boss would go down.

A MAN cannot be successful in politics unless he is a boss, and when he gets to be a boss he is beaten on that account. The result is that perpetual continuance in office is an impossibility.

WHEN Henry Watterson came back to the "reptiles," saying that he was willing to be a private in their ranks, he did the bravest and best thing he could do. We would like to see the Baltimore Sun come back the same way.

AMONG the bills noticed now that the long delayed copies of the acts of the last legislature are being circulated, is the one relating to the delegate districts of the State. The changes made were in the votes of three districts, and is in effect an attempt at gerrymandering. Everbody knows the Democratic party has no reason to throw mud on this subject, and the principle will have to be maintained that in politics it is right for a party to so arrange its strength by the division of counties that it will make every edge cut. The Democrats had put Morgan county, a Republican strong-hold, in a district with Jefferson and Berkely, and given them three delegates. The new bill restores to Morgan county her representative, and makes the other two a delegate district. This is a much fairer arrangement to look at from anyother than a political standpoint. On the other hand, in 1891, Webster county with its large Democratic majority was placed with Lewis, and the two made a tolerably safe Democratic distrtct. The late bill places Webster with Upshur, which has Republican votes to burn and leaves Lewis doubtful. Thus the Republican party gains three delegates who under the old arrangement would have belonged to the Democratic party.

Now some reader of the Constitution has called attention to the fact that we have a constitutional provision to the effect that after each census the legislature is required to fix the number of delegates and their districts which cannot be changed until another census has been taken. The effect of this would be to make the act a nullity. A very noticable feature of the bill, and one which indicates the great looseness with which a great deal of our legislating is done, is that the names of both Logan and Mingo counties are left out entirely, tho the constitution provides that every county not included with other counties, and forming a delegate district, is entitled to at least one representative. This bill will bring up a live question next year, as with it the Republican party gains its certain territory in Morgan, and Webster county, so comfortably Democratic, will be crushed under the vote of Upshur.

Biographic.

One hundred years ago one of the most widely known citizens in the region now embraced by Pocahontas and Bath counties was Levi Moore, senior, a native of Wales. He was the pioneer of Frost, and came there some time previous to the Revolution, and was among the first to make a permanent settlement. The lands he settled now owned by the Gibsons, Sharps, and others. His wife was Susannah Crist, and he first settled in Pennsylvania where he lived until his family, two sons and two daughters, were born, and the older ones nearly grown.

Hannah Moore was married to Robert Gay, the ancestor of the Gay relationship, so frequently alluded to in previous papers.

From Mrs John Simmons and Mrs Mary Jane Moore we learn the following particulars.

Sally Moore became Mrs John Smith, one of the first permanent settlers of the Edray district near the head of Stony Creek, of whom special mention hos been made.

George Moore was at the notable double wedding when Jacob Slaven and Miss Elanor Lockridge John McNeel and Miss Harriet Lockridge were married near Driscol. The tradition is that a practical joke was played by one James Brindly, at which the horse took fright, ran off, and the rider's head struck a projecting fence-stake and was instantly killed. Geo. Moore lived a while on the land now held by Abram Sharp, Esq., but sold to John Sharp and went to Kentucky. He was back on a visit when his sudden death occurred as just mentioned.

Levi Moore, junior, was a person of marked prominence in county affairs. In person he was six feet eleven inches in height, and well proportioned. He was a member of the Virginia legislature and was on the commission to locate the court-house, and selected a site near where George Baxter, county surveyor, now lives. His first marriage was with Miss Nancy Sharp, daughter of William Sharp, the Huntersville pioneer, and lived on the Moore homestead. In reference to their children the following items are recorded.

Rebecca Moore was married to Leonard Irvine, on Back Creek, and lived at the Brick House where the road to Frost leaves the Back Creek road. Levi Irvine was killed in an accident; Lizzie Irvine was married to Henry Coffee, of Augusta county; Cornelia Irvine was married to William Gardner. and settled in Webster county. Milton Irvine married Kate McCarty, daughter of George McCarty, and settled on Little Back Creek; Susannah Irvine was married to Cyrus Kelley, on Little Creek; and there is a son, Herron Irvine.

Margaret Moore was married to Eli McCarty, and lived near Laurel Run. Her daughter Margaret McCarty married the late John Simmons, and lived on the homestead. Her brother Paul died in the West.

Martha Moore, another daughter of Hon Levi Moore, junior, was married to the late Rev John Waugh, of Indian Draft. Her children were Levi, Beverly, John. Samuel, Miriam, Ann, and Eveline. Joseph B. McNeel, on Bucks Run; Rev John W. McNeel, a minister of the Baltimore Conference, now in charge of the Crabbottom circuit; and Mrs Willliam Duncan, near Buckeye, are her grand-children.

Andrew Moore married Rebecca Waugh, daughter of Samuel Waugh, in The Hills, and settled on Knapps Creek; thence moved to head of Stony Creek, and finally located in Jackson county. He wos noted for his skill in forcasting the seasons and weather.

Levi Moore, the third, went to Nebraska, where it is reported he amassed an immense fortune in the fur trade. Having no family of his own, he adopted his nephew John Moore, one of Andrew's sons.

The Hon Levi Moore's second marriage was with Mary McCarty, daughter of Timothy McCarty, a Revolutionary veteran, and the ancestor of the widely extended McCarty relationship in our county.

Rachel Moore, a daughter of this marriage, became the wife of Jas. Sharp, son of James Sharp, on Thorny Creek, and migrated to Iowa.

Susanna Crist Moore, another daughter, was married to Stephen Hadden, and also went to Iowa.

Mrs Mary Jane Moore, the third daughter, makes her home with her daughter, Mrs Matilda Moore, near Mt Zion Church.

George Moore, the youngest son was about as tall as his father. He spent some years in the west. He returned to Pocahontas about 1841, and was a pupil at the first session taught in the Pocahontas County Academy. at Hillsboro, in 1842. The Rev Joseph Brown was principal. He had the profession of medicine in view, and was studious to a fault in his efforts to qualify himself. Mr Brown thought his natural endowments were equal to any one he had ever seen, and took much interest in the quiet and exemplary student so intensely anxious for intellectual improvement. After all his intense labor, the young man was seized with pulmonary disease, aggravated by his close application to books, and died at the home of his sister, Mrs Rebecca Irvine, on Back Creek, some time in the forties. The writer remembers him well and esteemed him highly, and he feels the pathos of "The Epitaph" in Gray's Elegy of a Country Churchyard.

Levi Moore, senior, located 575 acres of a "British survey" on the headwaters of Knapps Creek. After the Revolution new requirements were made in order to secure permanent possession. It was to pay a requisite fee, a warrant would be laid, and a patent granted by the federal government. The new papers are dated 1798 and attested by Henry Grimes, Allen Poage, and signed by James Madison, Governor of Virginia.

Previous to this survey George Poage had laid a warrant on two thousand acres. which would have included the 575 acres claimed by the Moores. At first the Moores contested for the British right, but when they found such was not valid they then availed themselves of the provision authorizing exchange of warrants. Levi Moore, junior, appears in this new arrangement as assignee of Levi Moore, senior, for lands adjoining the lands of Anron Moore, who was living at the time on the Herold place. So when a warrant held elsewhere was exchanged for the warrant on the land adjoining Aaron Moore was agreed upon by Poage and Levi Moore, it came about that when the patent was applied for George Poage stated the fact that there had been an exchange of warrants, and at Poage's request the title for 575 acres was vested in Levi Moore, junior, as assignee of Levi Moore, senior.

This transaction is interesting and instructive as showing the spirit of the times, and how business men acted on the principles of an enlightened and pure conscience. So far as the letter of the law went, Poage could have held the 575 acres with all the improvements and good qualities of the land; yet within his breast there was the higher law of a conscience void of offense toward God and man, and he keeps his fellow citizen from suffering the consequences of the mistake he made when he relied on the validity of British right which had been declared null and void by the results of the Revolution. At the time the warrant elsewhere bore no comparison in real value to the warrant for lands adjoining the lands of Aaron Moore.

The golden rule comes in, and an enlightened conscience decides the matter; the spirit did right when the letter of the law would have been a shield for robbery; none the less robbery in the sight of the Supreme Being, tho legalized by the laws of the government, duly enforced and construed by the letter. It makes us feel proud of our pioneer people to catch glimpses of what manner of men they were.

It is a sad day for any generation or family relationship to have it said of them that, like potatoes, the best parts of them are in the ground.

The record of this transaction is carefully preserved and may be consulted time and again in the future as a testimony of what it is to be fair and square. We close this paper and lay down our pencil, feeling that we have had something good and instructive to write about.

W. T. P.

Newspaper Ignorance.

Complaint is made continually that the men responsible for the opinions of newspapers are frequently lamentably ignorant of the subjects on which they write, and especially so when they write on subjects pertaining to foreign countries. France and the United States are supposed to be the chief offenders in this respect. Thus the Petit Parisien, Paris, a paper with over 80,000 circulation, and supposed to be the best informed in France (of all the dailies) with regard to things alien, makes some amusing blunders about the American continent. We quote a few instances:

"Canada is a great country. She may well be proud of having given birth to George Washington."

"Among the celebrities present at the review of Russian troops was the brilliant commander-in-chief of the American army, General Nelson."

"It should, of course, be remembered that the masses of the people are only half civilized in America. the dirty power of money making alone rules."

"Klondike is the little country of Alaska, which belongs partly to the United States, partly to Canada. There will be complications, as Russia has always claimed jurisdiction in those parts."

"Venezuela, the country assisted by the American jingoes. is so small that one can hardly find it on the map."

"In Eureka Springs, Arkansas, on a beautiful bay of the Pacific coast. . . . ."

True Hospitality.

The Washington Post prints a true story, told by a retired army officer. The occurrence happened in New Mexico. Col. X. was making a long march, and his provision wagons had gone astray. He was hot, tired and hungry, when he met Major B., who invited him home—presumably to some fort—to beakfast.

The major's fortunes were at a low ebb, and when the breakfast was brought on it proved to consist entirely of rice—rice cooked in the wonderful southern fashion, with every kernel perfect. The hungry guest ate a spoonful. He detests rice. Then he waited for a second course.

"Have some rice, colonel," said the major, whom nothing disconcerts, quite as if the rice had but that moment appeared.

"No!" snapped the colonel. "I'm a Kentuckian, sir, and I don't eat rice, sir. Give me something else, sir."

"Why certainly, colonel, certainly," said the host. "Try some of the mustard; its very fine, sir, very fine."

WEST VIRGINIA can now be carried by the Democrats next year. The result in Ohio is enough to show that. If the legislature on joint ballot is Democratic, then we can send Col. John T. McGraw to the Senate. This eloquent West Virginian would take the place of the late Senator Kenna, and it is proper place for a man of his talent and attainments. He is undoubtably at the head of the party in West Virginia, and nothing would be more suitable than his election to this post of honor.

SOMEBODY has remarked that the two most indifferent to the result of the international conference in regard to sealing in the Behring Sea, are the seals and the wearers of seal-skins.

To improve and thicken the growth of the hair and restore its natural color, Hall's Hair Renewer should be applied and no other. Recommended by physicians.

"I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for twenty years, and recommend it to others for coughs and colds, and whooping cough. Have never known a single case of whooping cough that it failed to relieve and cure, when *

Scoff and Cough.

The man who scoffs at friendly advice to "take something for that cough," will keep on coughing, until he changes his mind or changes his earthly residence. Singular, isn't it, how many stubborn people persist in gambling, with health as the stake, when they might be effectually cured of cough, cold, or lung trouble, by a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

* This testimonial will be found in full in Ayer's "Curebook" with a hundred others. Free. Address J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Notions.

In casting around for a name for a department for this paper, in which may be gathered such unworthy conceptions as may be sent to the writer, and which may not be classified easily, we have adopted the much-abused word 'notions,' having hesitated a long time over "bone-yard" and "ash-barrel"; and, as we intend the notions to be of our own manufacture, we begin with the mental apprehension that many of our candid friends will say at once and continue to believe that the heading "dry - goods" would have been much more appropriate. But what would you? Should we head the column "pen-thoughts" the worn out newspaper word would have caused the reader to fly the track, and, skipping the "pen thoughts," go and read a legal advertisement with relish. We feel that the time of year has come when the reader can stand a few more essays than in the busy months of the summer.

It was at this season when the first editor of this paper, James Buckhannon Canfield, used to advertise his family newspaper and urge the people of Pocahontas county, now that the long winter evenings had come, to subscribe for the Pocahontas Times so that they could have something to read of nights. It was then too that the wit who carried the mail from Huntersville to Lewisburg suggested when the paper failed to be printed because the paper had not come on that the editor buy a lot of postal-cards and just print on them.

That was after the glamor had worn off concerning the setting up of a printing press in the county. In 1882, when the paper was first set up here, the printer was looked upon as a most extraordinary artist, and the printers grasped the situation and acted the big man as quickly as the traveler always does in the story book when he falls in the hands of savages, and by reason of his false teeth and wig is considered a "medicine man." The people then were not quite sure how many years it took to make a printer, and what his qualifications need be. Hez Marshall, over at Mingo, was connected with the enterprise, and to this day he kind of claims kin with us. To illustrate what kind of a man an editor was in those days before he was found out, Aaron Jordan, the darkey teamster, one time took the Hon. James Buchannon to Beverly, his native town, and he said:

"I allus t'ought Mistah Canfield was somethin 'stroidanary, but de fust man we seed in Beverly said 'Hello! Buck!' and dat's de best name any of 'em called him."

⁂

The Marlinton bar wish it distinctly understood that they disapprove of the late action of the State Bar Association, at Morgantown, which seemed to justify what is known as "government by injunction." They are inclined to think that it is the result of a meeting of big corporation lawyers who had the price of a ticket to Morgantown to spare, and that they wanted to show the big corporations that they had a cloven-hoof. The people at large have a sufficient distrust of lawyers as it is, without them endorsing things the people do not understand, and fear. The one man, tho he be a judge, is dangerous. The one man is not all-wise, therefore he should not be all-powerful. It strikes us that the lawyers who voted this salve to the corporations, by passing a resolution upholding the power and extent of the law of injunctions, as it seems to be interpreted now, stand little chance of any material reward in the way of big retainers from corporations. A corporation has a way when it picks a lawyer of killing two birds with one stone. It gets an able lawyer, and converts to its own use a man who would be dangerous to to its interests if left at large.

⁂

Henry Watterson, editor of the Courier-Journal, is tired of fooling with the gold-Democracy and has come back to the Democratic party, joining the "reptiles" that he was fighting a few weeks ago. He does not swallow any free silver heresy, but he goes into the organization again, in a forbearing sort of way which seems to say that he does not hold the Democratic party accountable for what it says. His joining the standard is the most remarkable, immediate, and noticable result of the late election in Kentucky.

⁂

Petitions have been circulated here asking Congress to establish postal savings banks over the country. It is one of the things which the Grange is working for, together with a free delivery of rural mails. The postal bank would be a great convenience. It would tend to the saving of small amounts by providing a convenient place of deposit, and would also influence the spending of small amounts by providing such an excellent means of transmitting money all over the Union.

⁂

The Chicago platform may have had its day in court, but one of these days we will meet in another town and amend our bill of rights and present it to the people, and then we will carry the country as Democrats. We will repudiate the name Bryanite, and make the fight on the old and tried principles of Democracy.

⁂

Colonel John T. McGraw has put himself on record about injunctions. He says the Chicago platform should stand, if for no other reason than that it pledged itself to remedy this evil.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheneny for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any any obligations made by their firm.

WEST & TRAUX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price 75c. per bottle. Sold by all druggists. Testimonials free.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Notice.

All persons knowing themselves to be indebted to me, either by note or account, will please call and settle by December 1, as I need the money to meet my obligations. By settling at once, you will save trouble and cost. Yours for new business,

SOL. DAVIS.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund the money if it fails to Cure. 25c.

The Pocahontas Times.

Hear, Land o' Cakes and brither Scots,
Frae Maidenkirk to Johnny Groats,
If there's a hole in a' your coats,
I rede ye tent it;
A chiel's amang you takin' notes,
An' faith he'll prent it.—BURNS.

Local Events.

DR MCCLINTIC carried a $400 insurance policy on his house that burned last week.

DIED.—Howard Beale, aged 10, of fever, near Big Spring, on Tuesday of last week.

EWING JOHNSON is building a dwelling house on the site of the one burned last June.

ELK has had a visitor for some weeks in a mysterious person who boarded with William Gibson. He supposed to have been a post-office inspector, tho some thought he was a game warden or some detective on the trail of a criminal.

A SHORT time since the household at Clover Lick was aroused at about 2 o'clock in the morning by the calls of a stranger. He said that he was an officer from Missouri hunting some two men who were wanted there and who were at Horton. He asked for a drink of water and an apple and went away at full gallop.

THERE has been an unusual amount of milling done the last few weeks. A great many farmers living as distant as Traveler's Repose and Mingo have gone into the Levels (or "Egypt" as it has been called on this account) to buy wheat. The mills have been kept very busy. A good deal of wheat has been sold at 75c cash, tho many hold it at 80c.

"THE melancholy days are come the saddest of the year." The poet refers to this season of the year when sudden changes from warm to cold, from wet and sloppy weather to still wetter and sloppier, and when colds, catarrh, rheumatism and influenza rage. All the inconveniences of this season may be avoided by buying good, warm wraps and mackintoshes at PAUL GOLDEN.

A LARGE number of fruit trees were sold this year by agents in this county at a tremendous profit to the middle-man. They arrived the first of the month, and most of them were set out before the snow of last Friday. The rabbits made a bee-line for the new and tender trees, and nibbled the bark from a great number. It was a sad sight to many farmers to see their trees robbed of the outer covering which so mysteriously contains the life of the tree, and a considerable wail has gone up on account of the depredations of thr rabbit.

THE New York Sun says that the railroad from Covington to the Hot Springs is used almost exclusively for the benefit of the hotels at the latter place. This is unfortunately true for tho the depot of the Hot Springs is 12 miles nearer Marlinton than any other, the rates are so unsatisfactory that it has never been used except for a small proportion of the trade. It is a pity that this is the case, for if a package be directed to Marlinton, it always goes into winter quarters at the Hot Springs, and it is often months before it can be gotten away.

JOHN MCCUTCHEON, who lives on J. D. Lowman's farm, made a find in the river near Windy Cove church, a few weeks since, which is enveloped in mystery. While looking for fish he discovered two bicycles in the bottom of the river and they had to all appearances been there only a short time. They were apparently new wheels and in good condition excepting one tool-box and one cork handle was missing. These he afterwards found in the river. The tool-box had no tools in it but instead had a stone. No clue can be obtained as to the ownership of the wheels or why they were thrown into the river. A number of theories have been advanced; one is the possibility of foul play having been practiced upon some one, and the suggestion that the cave near by be searched for evidences.—Bath Enterprise.

A COUNTY officer from Illinois arrived here last Thursday, and returned with Newton Mann in custody. This young man was arrested a week or so ago by Sheriff Hill and placed in jail at this place on a charge of embezzlement. He was born in this county and has a sister living in the Levels. He disappeared from his home in Illinois, and the sheriff here got word to detain him if he turned up in this county. As he was about to go for him, Mann appeared in Hillsboro and gave himself up. Mann gave a very satisfactory account of the matter, and did not seem to be averse to returning. He was running a threshing-machine on the shares for a party. In that State it seems to be customary to pay the thresher in money instead of in grain, and the thresher collects as he does the work. There was a mortgage on the machine and engine which was about to be foreclosed, and to retain the use of the machinery during the threshing season Mann paid off the mortgage and charged the owner with the amount. This did not prove satisfactory with the owner, and when Mann disappeared he applied to the police, and the result was his arrest in this county where he was visiting.

Ferguson's Photograph Gallery is coming to Marlinton. The finest of pictures at lowest of prices. Wait for him.

THE King fruit tree agents from Tennessee were in Huntersville recently delivering trees ordered from them, which have given satisfaction.

THE engineers were at work last Friday on "the divide," between Cochran's Creek and the middle prong of Anthony's Creek, where a short tunnel is required; in order to overcome the ridge intervening. The grade so far is very satisfactory on the line now surveyed, as compared with other lines.

LEVI BEVERAGE, of Clover creek, came to this place to do some trading last Saturday, and made some purchases at J. D. Pulilins & Co's. among them was a superior pair of pants. He left the goods he had bought in a basket in front of the store while he went to another store, and when he came back the much prized pair of pants was gone. Some evil disposed party had evidently lifted up the article, something very unusual for our community.

ONE half of some advertisements are misleading. I have left that half out. I want to save you some money on your wraps if you will let me. Here are a few pointers: Ladies black capes worth fully $1.50 I sell for 88c; black cloaks, worth $2.00, I sell for $1.48; nice beaver double capes, worth $3.85—2.78. I have a lovely line of plaited black capes trimmed with braid in dark navy and green, they are the latest. Come and see my bargains. PAUL GOLDEN, the price cutter.

A FLOCK of wild turkeys flew into Lexington Tuesday, and alighted on the parade grounds of the Virginia Military Institute, where they proceeded to make themselves at home. Soon a wild turkey hunt was in progress and royal sport was furnished for nearly a whole day. A resident of that neighborhood said that it was like war times again, for nothing but a continual roar of firearms could be heard. The fowls were hunted with almost every kind of a fire arm in existence, except the old flint lock. The total damage done to the flock was three fine fowls out of thirteen, the remainder making their escape to the high cliffs along the river.

THIS has been called the advertising age. When a man starts in business, rejuvenates old business, or has something special to offer to draw custom and create "talk," or dispose of unseasonable goods at cut rates, the people have come to expect to be conveniently informed of the fact in some way or other. They have not the time nor will they take the trouble to investigate such matters for themselves. The people of Pocahontas are not much behind the times in this respect, and many of them not at all. The best way is to advertise in a newspaper that reaches all the people whose custom is worth having in your neighborhood. Its the quickest, cheapest, and surest way. John Wanamaker, the prince of store keepers, says he wants to be on friendly terms with the man who can set the types and talk to a thousand people the next day. Advertising is the life of the great department stores of the city. The country store is its counterpart. Why should not energetic advertising bring them results? But remember not to try to fool the people. Be honest in your advertising; make genuine offers of bargains and stand to them. It will pay in the long and short run.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Col D. O'Connell was in Marlinton Wednesday.

Mr and Mrs W. A. Bratton left last Monday for a visit to Marshall Virginia.

O. E. McKeever, of Huntersville, assisted by George Busard and Letcher Barnes, is at work on the new school house, near L. J. Pyles' on Beaver Creek.

J. M. Hutchinson, of Summersville, W. Va., spent Sunday in Huntersville. He represents the Payne Shoe Company, of Charleston, W. Va., and carries eleven hundred samples.

Mr William McComb, head of Beaver Creek, died Thursday, November 11, aged about sixty-five years. He was a worthy industrious citizen, and his useful services will be missed. He was a brick- and stone-mason by occupation.

S. J. McClung, of Summersville, who represents a tobacco firm, reports that there are four thousand haystacks in a radius of ten miles of Nicholas Court House. The stacks have at least tons of hay on an average.

Mr and Mrs William E. Johnson, near Marlinton, would hereby tender their very grateful acknowledgements for the sympathy and valuable assistance rendered by friends and neighbors in replacing the losses suffered in the burning of their home.

S. J. Boggs, at Huntersville, has a large and complete stock of goods and visitors to his store may feel assured of fair and square treatment and a cordial welcome. A hustler is born, not made; and the man who hustles with principles founded on honesty and good will secures the confidence and lasting patronage of the people.

The Railroad.

A notice is published in this issue calling for a meeting of the Greenbrier Railway Company at Huntington. This is significant that matters are shaping themselves to get the construction under way. The Greenbrier Railway Company is a corporation chartered five or six weeks ago by the Secretary of State, and its object is the railway development of the Greenbrier Valley.

As far as we can learn, without speaking authoritively, this corporation is formed to build the road, and they will issue bonds for the purpose, which will be taken by the owners of the immense tracts of lands which have recently been acquired by capitalists within the bounds of this county.

The route is not permanently decided upon. It is reported that ex-Senator Camden has made a proposition to the company that if they build a road up the Greenbrier, he will extend his line of railway up Cherry River and meet the road at Spring Creek or Hillsboro. The lands purchased, however, point to a route down the river to Marlinton, by Huntersville and Driscol to the White Sulphur Springs.

This county is rich in natural resources. A railroad extended into the county would have an immense amout of work to do from the start. Our most despised timber is the white-oak, pronounced by competent judges to be the finest of its kind in the State. Tanbark is here in almost unlimited quantities. No substitute has ever been found for tan-bark and it is a necessity. Any point would supply a large tannery for years.

Here too is iron ore close to inexhaustible supplies of coal and limestone. An iron mountain extends from Green Bank to White Sulphur, a distance of sixty miles.

In the western and northern portions of the county the timber at many places is equal to a jungle The doom of this section was pronounced twenty years ago, when prospectors said that the land had better be sold, as the trees were too big and stood too close together to admit of the land ever being cleared with profit. "There would not be room on the ground to pile the logs and burn them." But viewing it fsom a lumberman's standpoint the estimate of the value of the land would be just the opposite.

Big Lambs.

To the Editor of The Times: In your last paper there is an article relating to the number of good lambs that have gone from our county this fall. This is all very encouraging, since this industry, which brings more money to the taxpayers than the cattle trade, has been built up in the last ten or twelve years. We note that A. D. Bruce sold 95 lambs that averaged 75 lbs. E. N. Moore beats that record, having sold 100 lambs that averaged 93 lbs., 37 of which drew the scales to 3710 lbs. Who comes next?

We are confidently expecting the railroad at an early day. Col. (colored or colonel) Sam Stewart interviewed the chief engineer, who asked him if he (Stewart) knew where they could buy 50 or 60 mules to work on the road. ***

Dunmore, Nov. 11, 1897.

THE hanging of Albert Voiers took place last Friday, at Fayetteville. The execution was public and passed off without special incident. Voiers died protesting his innocence of any crime for which he should be hanged, and said he had no hand in any of the murders. He said he had no part in in the murder of John Cochran, yet it was because of his confession of this crime that he was respited from hanging on June 25. He afterwards escaped and was recaptured in an adjoining county. About 10,000 people witnessed the execution.

Consumption

Will SCOTT'S EMULSION cure consumption? Yes and no. Will it cure every case? No. What cases will it cure then? Those in their earlier stages, especially in young people. We make no exaggerated claims, but we have positive evidence that the early use of

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod-liver oil with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda in these cases results in a positive cure to a large number. In advanced cases, however, where a cure is impossible, this well-known remedy should be relied upon to prolong life surprisingly.

50c. and $1.00, all druggists.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

Lobelia.

Peter McCarty, of Dilleys Mill, was in town a few days.

Luther Sharp and family, of Elk, have been visiting here for several days.

There have some parties around who claim to be Pinkerton men, but we have our own opinions.

Warm and mudy at this time. Corn shucking over, and hog killing in full blast.

We hear that two bears were killed near Falling Springs, and that there was more people than bear hides, and further trouble is expected. There are plenty of turkeys and some bears down here.

A large crowd attended the quarterly meeting, last Saturday and Sunday, by Rev D. C. Hedrick. Protracted meetings contiuned thro this week with good results.

Married, at the home of the bride, William Morgan and Miss Fannie Hill, both of Pocahontas. May they live long and happily.

Mrs Rebecca Overholt, of Mill Point, has been visiting in this vicinity for the past two weeks. She is a daughter of Abram Hill. Altho she is seventy years old, she has many kind words to drop among her friends.

OBSERVER.

Items from the Greenbrier Independant.

Messrs Preston and Wallace have formed a partnership for the practice of law.

Invitations have been issued for the marriage of Mr W. R. Shisler and Miss Mary Pickering, which will take place at the residence of the bride's father, John Pickering, Esq., the Falling Springs district, on November 24, at 6 P. M.

A. W. Arbuckle weighed six yearling heifers for A. M. McLaughlin, Esq., that averaged 933⅓ pounds. One weighted 1,100, one 1,010, one 950, one 870, one 844 and one 836. Five of these heifers are thorough-bred Shorthorns and one a graded, and were raised by Mr McLaughlin on his farm north of Lewisburg.

On Wednesday last week, as Mrs M. P. Farrier, in company with another lady, was driving along the road in a buggy, near Fairview Church, five miles north of Lewisburg, she met a bear that frightened her horse, making him jump about in the road. This frightened the bear, which took to the woods. Lacy Johnson and Gay Darnell killed a bear on Weaver's Knob, near Mr Farrier's residence last Thursday. It dressed about 100 pounds.

Russell Edgar Yeager.

At 2:15 yesterday afternoon, Russell Edgar, the little son of Mr and Mrs Walter Yeager, died after a brief illness, death being caused by marasmus. He was two years, 1 month, and 8 days old, and was a bright little fellow, but had never been real strong. His death is a sad blow to the parents, who have the sympathy of all.—Cheyenne (Wyo.) Tribune.

Card from Dr McClintic.

To the Editor of The Times:—I wish to thank the people of this vicinity for their services to me on the day my house was destroyed by fire, and take this means of publicly doing so. Yours truly,

F. T. MCCLINTIC
Academy, W. Va.

Notice.

All persons indebted to me by account will please come forward and settle between now and January 1, 1898, as I must have money to meet my obligations. Come and settle, and save trouble and costs. Yours for business,

R. L. NOTTINGHAM.
DUNMORE, W. Va., Nov. 13, 1897.

Please Notice!

I am still here, and new goods coming in every week and go out at the same rate. Come when you will I have something new: and good bargains for cash customers.

If you have but little to buy with it will pay you to investigate my goods and prices.

I am still buying Grain of all kinds, Turkeys, Chickens, Eggs, Butter, &c.

Some Prices—

Green Coffee, 12 to 15c
Arbuckle Coffee, 9 for $1.00
Calicoes, 4½ to 7c
Cotton Cloth, 5 to 9c
Flannels, 20 to 30c
Ginghams, 5 to 8c
Outings, 7 to 12c
Shoes, $1.00 to $2.75
Yarn, 70 to 80c
Suit Clothes, $3.00 to $12.00

If you want your picture enlarged at half-price, I will have it done.

Yours for business,
S. J. BOGGS,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA

Church Notes.

Bishop Peterkin will preach at Hillsboro Wednesday, Nov. 17, at night; at Huntersville Thursday, Nov. 18, 3½ P. M.; at Clover Lick Sunday, Nov. 21, at 10½ A. M.; at Marlinton, Nov. 21, at 3½ P. M.

J. LIGON.

SACRAMENTAL services at Marlinton next Sunday, November 21, at 11 A. M. Preparatory exercises Saturday night before.

The Marlinton division of the Epworth League expects to have a special literary program as the order of exercises for Thanksgiving day.

THE Sunday school at Marlinton will continue to hold its sessions throughout the winter.

Meeting of Stockholders.

NOTICE is hereby given, pursuant to the Code of West Virginia, chapter 54, section 36, that the first meeting of the stockholders of the Greenbrier Railway Company, for organization and such other proceedings as may lawfully come before the meeting, will be held at the office of Simms and Enslow, attorneys at law, Huntington, W. Virginia, on Thursday, the sixteenth day of December, 1897, at the hour of 12 M.

J. M. GILL,
H. C. SIMS,
F. B. ENSLOW } Majority of Corporators

JUDGE JOHN PAUL, sitting at Abingdon on Monday granted an injunction in a novel postoffice muddle in Montgomery county. The owners of land in the vicinity of Pilot postoffice declined to rent or sell a site for postoffice purposes to Postmaster W. Thomas Payne, a recent appointee of the McKinley administration. To meet the emergency, the postmaster procured an omnibus which he located on the public highway and proceeded to open business on Uncle Sam's account. B. M. Guerrant sued out a writ of unlawful detainer in the County Court and placed it in the hands of a deputy sheriff for execution. The Federal Court was appealed to, and Judge Paul issued a temporary injunction restraining Guerrant and the deputy sheriff from hindering or interfering with the postmaster in any way in reference to his omnibus postoffice, which is located on a post road of the United States. He also issued against the same parties a rule requiring them to appear before the court to show cause why the temporary injunction should not be perpetuated.—Rockingham Register.

Don't turn your back on proof. Send for our illustrated booklet which tells how others have been cured by

Johnston's Sarsaparilla

For Scrofula, Kidney Troubles, Rheumatism, Nervous Exhaustion, and the hundreds of other diseases that are caused by bad blood. This wonderful and well-known blood purifier has no equal.

Price, $1 a Quart Bottle.
Williams, Davis, Brooks & Co., Detroit, Mich.

For sale by URIAH BIRD, Marlinton; and A. BARLOW, Huntersville.

The Great Earthquake.

We do not wish to shock you, as did the earthquake some time past, but we want to give you a few pointers. We have pulled price-raisers down and cleared the path to Bargaindom. There are no tricks or illusions about our business methods—we give prices and goods that bear the light of investigation.

We are constantly outdoing our own past brilliant doings in value giving. Honest, Palpable, Bonafide Bargains are what you want and always get here. We are undersold by none.

—SOME PRICES.—

1 dozen ½-gallon Mason Jars, 95c
1 pound Cornstarch, 5c
Peaches, 10c per can
Best Brown Sugar, 5c
Granulated Sugae, 6c
Good quality 3 prong Hay Fork, 25c
Hickory Home-made Cradles, $2.50
Good Prints, 3¾ 5¼ per yard.
Apron Ginghams, 5c per yard
Best Ticking, 14c per yard
Choice whole grain rice, 6c
Good quality Cuff-holders, 7c pair
24-inch Turkey Red Had'kfs, 5c each
Good quality Glass Tumblers, 25c set
Tobacco, from 20 to 4 c
Wool Pants, 85c

—Other Goods Proportiocately Low—

We invite you all to come in and see what great bargains we are constantly putting on our shelves.

Yours for Business,
"High Quality and Low Prices"
L. D. Sharp.

CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
CURE CONSTIPATION
REGULATE THE LIVER
10c 25c 50c
ALL DRUGGISTS

THERE IS THE BEST
IN EVERY THING—

Here it is in Airtight Wood Heaters.

Wood Economy
Saving of Labor
Cleanliness
Perfection
Durability
Comfort.

You will admit this if you see the Stove.

SHORT Settlements make long friends
The year will soon be up;
I want to close up my old books,
I also want my money—
Come in please and settle up.
Let us see that every thing is
Satisfactory regarding the account;
Pay all you can and take up
Your account, giving note for balance.
Truly,
Paul Golden.

Bargains! Bargains!

In our grand opening of Fall and Winter goods

Call and Compare our Prices, and convince yourself that you can save Dollars and Cents by shopping with us.

WE HAVE

LADIES DRESS GOODS
CLOTHING, BOOTS, SHOES.
HOSE, LADIES CAPES, CLOAKS
DRY GOODS, HATS,
UNDERWEAR, HOSE
FANCY GOODS, &C.

We are not selling way below cost and paying you to buy,

BUT

We do claim to give every customer Value Received.

We are selling much lower than last season and our line of Clothing cannot be excelled. If you buy Dry Goods for less than we ask you'll not get as good quality,—that's poor economy. If you pay more you pay too much, because we sell the best there is.

We sell—
Arbuckle Coffee 12c
Good Prints for 5c and 6c
Apron Ginghams, 5c and 6c
Buckskin Pants from $1 up
Good Chewing Tobacco 25c

We especially invite those who have not dealt with us. Come one, Come all! Our motto: QUICK SALES AND SMALL PROFITS.

Yours for Low Prices,
SOL. DAVIS,
Green Bank, W. Va.

PLOW REPAIRS.

We have at last succeeded in making arrangements

To supply Points for the Ronceverte Plow.

Full stock now on hand
Send in your orders early

We are Factory Agents for

SILVER STEEL and IMPERIAL PLOWS,
also BEST HILL-SIDE PLOW on Market,

Don't Forget

THE WONDER AIR TIGHT HEATER this Fall.

Simms & Co.,
Opp. Passenger Depot, RONCEVERTE, W. Va.

JOB-WORK DONE HERE.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 15, NO. 18 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, NOVEMBER 26, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

Order of Publication.

State of West Virginia, Pocahontas County, to-wit:

At rules held in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of said county, on Monday, the 1st day of November, 1897.

Matilda E. Malcomb (alias Matilta E. Wanless)

vs.

John N. Wanless

The object of this suit is to subject the lands of the defendant John N. Wanless, situate in Pocahontas county, West Virginia, to the payment of alimony decreed in favor of the plaintiff against the defendant by decree entered in the circuit court of Pocahontas county, on the 5th day of April, 1893, in the chancery cause of Matilda E. Wanless vs John N. Wanless lately pending in said court, which alimony now unpaid amounts to $

This day came the plaintiff by his attorney, and on his motion and it appearing by affidavit filed that the defendant, John N. Wanless, is a non-resident of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that he do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit.

Teste :
J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.
S. B. SCOTT, Jr., p. q.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

JOHN A. PRESTON FRED. WALLACE
PRESTON & WALLACE,
Attorneys at Law,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Greenbrier and adjoining counties, and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

No. 203. This quarter-sawed oak writing desk is polished like a piano. It has a 9-inch beveled plate glass in top and a deep drawer below. Artistic French legs; also finished in mahogany. $3.95 is our special price for this $10 desk.

(Mail orders filled promptly.)

We will mail anyone, free of all charges, our new 112 page Special Catalogue, containing Furniture, Draperies, Lamps, Stoves, Crockery, Mirrors, Pictures, Bedding, Refrigerators, Baby Carriages, etc. This is the most complete book ever published, and we pay all postage. Our lithographed Carpet Catalogue, showing carpets in colors, is also yours for the asking. If carpet samples are wanted, mail us 8c. in stamps. There is no reason why you should pay your local dealer 60 per cent. profit when you can buy from the mill. Drop a line now to the money-savers.

JULIUS HINES & SON,
Baltimore, Md.
Please mention this paper.

Biographic.

THE HUNTERSVILLE PIONEER, WILLIAM SHARP, Sr.

This paper is in memory of William Sharp, senior. It appears from such information as the compiler has been able to obtain that this person was the pioneer settler of the Huntersville vicinity, and was tho first to open up a permanent residence. Traces of thebuilding he erected yet visible near the now road around the mountain, a few rods from where the mountain road leaves the Dunmore and Huntersville road. Mr Sharp located here in the seventies of the previous century, and saw service as a scout and a soldier. It is believed he came here from Augusta county, and had probably lived in the vicinity of Staunton. His wife's name was Mary Meeks. She was a very amiable person, lived to a great age, and died at the home of her son, James Sharp, Esq., many years ago. In reference to their sons and daughters the following particulars have come to hand.

Nancy Sharp was married to Levi Moore, junior, near Frost.

Margaret Sharp was married to John Kelley, and lived on Michel's Mountain. Her children were William, John, Anthony, Nancy, Polly Rachel, Jennie, and Margaret.

Nancy Kelley was married to Robert Sharp, son of James Sharp on Thorny Creek, and migrated to Iowa.

Mary (Polly) Kelley was married to Daniel McCarty, son of Timothy McCarty, and lived on Brown's Mountain.

John Kelley, a Union soldier, and died on the Kenawha during the war.

Rachel Sharp, daughter of William Sharp, senior, was married to Jonathan Griffin, and lived near the head of Stony Creek on the farm now owned by Colonel Levi Gay. Her children were Abraham, Benoni, Jonathan, and Mrs Chas. Ruckman.

Mary Sharp became the wife of Arthur Grimes, and settled in The Hills overlooking the head of Knapps Creek. In the Grimes memoirs special mention was made of all her children except one, Sally Grimes. She became the wife of the late Hugh McLaughlin, and lived near Huntersville, at the Bridge. One of her sons was Lieut James Hickman McLaughlin, who died in Winchester of a wound, during the war in 1864. He was on picket at the Rapidan River. He was of a very jovial disposition and was joking the federal pickets, and having his fun with them. By way of sport he stuck out his foot and in an instant his ankle was shattered by a minnie ball. He was taken to Winchester and was doing well, until one day the hospital was thronged with ladies bringing all sorts of nice things for the wounded soldiers. The lieutenant indulged too freely for the good of his health, and died a victim of well meant sympathy and kindness. He was one of the few Confederates that was killed by kindness. Mrs C. L. Moore, on Brown's Creek, is this soldier's daughter.

John Alexander McLaughlin, a widely known citizen near Huntersville, is another of her sons.

Mrs Mary Ann Hogsett, wife of William Perry Hogsett, on Browns Creek, is Sally McLaughlin's only daughter.

John Sharp, a son of William Sharp, upon his marriage with Sarah McCollam, settled on the farm near Verdant Valley, now occupied by his grandson, John Wesley Irvine.

Rebecca, who became Mrs John R. Duffield; Nancy, afterwards Mrs William Irvine; Ellen, who married Amaziah Irvine; and Mary, who became Mrs Josiah Friel, were the daughters of Mr and Mrs John Sharp.

William Sharp, junior, was another son of the Huntersville pioneer, and settled Verdant Valley. An entire paper was recently published in reference to his family in which mention is made of his children. He died in 1860 nearly 90 years of age. He and his resolute young wife, Elizabeth Waddell, built in the woods, opened up a fine estate, and reared a worthy family highly respected for their industry and good citizenship.

James Sharp, Esq., late of Beaver Creek, was another of the sons of William Sharp, senior. His wife was Ann Waddell, sister of Mrs William Sharp, just mentioned. He opened up a home on Cummings Creek, a part of the Huntersville homestead. The property was recently owned by the late Joseph C. Loury, Esq. Upon disposing of his property to the Hon William Cackley, Mr Sharp located on Beaver Creek, on property known as the James Sharp place. He opened up an extensive area and prospered in worldly affairs and reared a worthy family. The names of his children were Mary, Rebecca, Margaret, Martha, Nancy Ann, Rachel, Lucinda, William, Andrew, and James.

Mary was married to William Pyles.

Rebecca became Mrs James Lewis and lived in the Levels. Mrs Ann Clark, at Hillsboro, is a daughter of Mrs Lewis. Mrs R. C. Shrader and the late Mrs Davis Kinnison are her daughters also.

Margaret Sharp was married to Jacob Civey, on Anthony's Creek; Martha Sharp was also married to a Mr Civey, of the same locality. Nancy Sharp was married to Robert Ryder, and lived on Anthony's Creek.

Ann Sharp was married to Levi Cackley, junior, and lived on Anthony's Creek. The Rev A. M. Cackley, D. D., is her son.

Rachel Sharp became Mrs Robert Gay, and lived on Beaver creek at Beaver Creek Mills, lately in possession of Wallace Beard, Esq. Hamilton B. Gay, upper Elk; Sam Gay, Williams River; Mrs William Jordan, on Elk, are her children

Lucinda Sharp was married to Jonathan Jordan, near Hillsboro.

William Sharp married Susan Bussard, daughter of Solomon Bussard, of Glade Hill, and settled in the West.

Andrew Sharp married a Miss Bussard.

James Sharp married Mary Byrnsides, on the Greenbrier east of Hillsboro, and settled at the old homestead. He died during the war, and Mrs Sharp went to Odessa, Missouri, where some of her family now reside. Mrs Hanson McLaughlin, of that place, is her daughter.

James Sharp, Esq., was a member of the court under the old arrangement, was high sheriff of the county, a conscientious member of the Presbyterian church, and was held in high esteem for his patriotism and strict, scrupulous integrity. The members of the court had much confidence in his judgment and he had great influence in framing decisions. He was much in the habit of hunting at the proper season, not so much for the sport as a matter of business, for the proceeds were useful in bartering for family supplies for the comfort and sustenance of his household.

While living at his first home on Cummings Creek he had a very sensational adventure on Buckley Mountain. It was growing late and was near the time to set out for home. He was passing leisurely along when a panther suddenly mounted a log but a few yards in front of him. He shot the animal, but when the smoke cleared away another stood in the same place on the log. This performance was repeated nine times, and the hunter became panic stricken and flanked out for his home. Some time during the night the remainder of the pack followed his trail to his house and killed a yearling calf. Properly reinforced, Mr Sharp went back to the spot where he had fired nine times and there beheld what no hunter had seen before or since. Nine panthers, but they were all good panthers now; every shot had told with fatal effect. It appears there were seasons when these animals went in packs of fifteen or twenty, and this happened to be one of the times.

One of the most interesting things about Squire Sharp's personal history were his religious views. He had noticed with tho't-ful attention how it was made the duty of Hebrew parents to impress the commandments upon the minds of their families, in the 6th chapter os Deuteronomy: "Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord. And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul and with all thy might. And these words which I command thee this day shall be in thy heart. And thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down and when thou risest up. And thou shalt write them upon the posts of thy house and on thy gates."

Then our Savior's words in the sermon on the mount impressed him deeply: "Think not that I am come to destroy the law and the prophets; I am not come to destroy but to fulfil."—Mathew 5: 17.

And then while reading the Bible through he noticed that in the gospels and epistles so many important references are made to the law and the prophets, to illustrate and explain the doctrines of the New Testament. He was so impressed by all these things that he very tenaciously held the opinion that the doctrine of religion as taught in the discourses of our Savior and the writings of his apostolic helpers could not be understood as Christ and the apostles would have them understood without a familiar acquaintance with the writings of the Old Testament.

Now it so happens that this very opinion is vehemently disputed by Roman Catholics positively denied by several large and influential denominations, and so dimly perceived by multitudes of other protestant churches as to be virtually ignored in practice, tho verbally acknowledged as true. Persons holding this opinion are liable to be derided as "Latterday Judaizers" by their protestant brethren.

Hence it appears that more than 50 years ago Squire Sharp wasimpressed with the idea that if such religious tendencies were not checked the time would come when the controlling masses of the religious people of our country and the world generally would be influenced and governed by grand, pompous, imposing systems of a christianity so called with Christ left out, in consequence of the doctrines of religion not being understood and practiced as the Redeemer of the world would have them understood and made use of.

It must have been that like Nathaniel under the fig-tree, James Sharp in some calm retreat or silent shade prayed without ceasing, prayed to his Father who is in secret, and his Father who seeth in secret rewarded him openly by making him an Israelite indeed, in whom was no guile, hypocrisy, or self-deception.

W. T. P.

SENATOR MARK HANNA is fighting his battles over again. It is a pity that it should be so, for beyond being an ardent partisan, there is nothing specially objectionable in Mr Hanna.

New York Letter.

The annual Horse Show is now on at the Madison Square Garden. This show is a society affair. The horse is worshipped a little bit; but swell gowns and the latest imported millinery have the call. The attendance on the first day was estimated at 8,000. Here is an idea of the different kinds of horses on exhibition: Horses in harness; roadsters, hackneys; carriage horses; ponies under saddle; trotters; four-in-hands; jumping horses; green hunters; saddle horses. Prizes in money are offered for best showing, ribbons and commendation given to the next best. Following this show come the Dog Show, Fowl Show, etc. In fact this great city gives entertainment of one kind or another all the year round.

⁂

The weather New York and vicinity is enjoying is something remarkable. Of course, we have had a few days of cold, but the major portion has been likened to a continuous Indian Summer. And the weather is a God-send to the poor of Greater New York. The reason so many people are out of work in this city is: People in other countries flock here with a little money. They spend all they have looking for work and when it is gone they are left high and dry. They do not consider in the start that we have men of our own town living from hand to mouth, (citizens of the United States), and it is our duty to give our own the preference. No, they come over here, the nearest port, and settle down. Of course this is a so-called free country, but I emphatically say we need an emigration restriction law, and we need it badly. This country is becoming the Mecca of all the riff-raff of foreign countries. The majority of the foreign element who do receive work hoard their money and in the course of a dozen or fifteen years return to their fatherland, motherland, or whatever they call it, and live for the remainder of their lives like kings. These people are thrifty. Nine out of every ten do not take out their naturalization papers. This is wrong. They should be made to do so. This government is altogether too easy in this respect.

⁂

Spain is still at Cuba. The unnecessary slaughter should stop, The outrages reported by the correspondents of our great dailies are blood-curdling. When one stops to consider the misery in more ways than one inflicted upon defenceless old men and women and children, right at our own doors, it seems to every right-thinking citizen of the United States that the war should come to an end, and the only way to stop the butchery is for Uncle Sam to put his foot down good and hard.

⁂

Football is now on. This game is claimed by some to be dangerous. Judging from the reports throughout the country in the list of players injured it is a very dangerous pastime. James J. Corbett the pugilist, in an interview the other day, says that there is less brutality in the prize ring than on the gridiron. And I think he is right.

⁂

The Princeton-Yale game, which takes place at New Haven, Conn., Saturday of this week, has aroused a great deal of excitement. Seats have all been sold. Special trains will be dispatched. The Princeton boys have chartered a train to themselves. The attendance has been estimated at from 15,000 to 20,000. In the betting Princeton has the call. It is understood that ex-President Grover Cleveland will be on hand to "root" for the Princetons.

⁂

The Brooklyn Bridge is being equipped (in the roadways) with trolley poles. The work of laying down tracks has begun. When this is done all Brooklyn people will have to do is jump into their car on the New York side and be carried home direct. There will be no more changing for those who patronize the surface roads. And all this for one fare—five cents. Now-a-days passengers have to pay extra to ride across the big bridge. Three cents for a single ticket; excursion, 5c. The bridge cars will be maintained as usual. A great many prefer the old system, and will still use it, notwithstanding the extra cost, as the bridge cars are the quickest. Another bridge is being built across the East River further up. This new bridge will land people further up town in New York, and will tend to divert some of the heavy travel from the Brooklyn Bridge. These bridges are a great boom to real estate in Brooklyn, and is fast making Brooklyn a city of homes.

GEORGE M. SANGSTER.
New York, November 16, 1897.

Notions.

Reading the the lesson concerning the profoundest example of humility in the annals of the word, "If I then your Lord and Master, have washed your feet; ye also ought to wash one anothers' feet," caused the mind to turn to that sect so numerous in the Valley of Virginia, known as the Menonites, who are so proud of their humility. Their churches are without any ornamentation whatever; a fence is built down the middle of the building to seperate the sexes; the women are made to wear the plainest clothes—the hat of the milliner is especially prohibited; and on their sacramental occasions they wash each others feet in the church, the men washing men's feet, and the sisters performing that service for each other. There was a time when, if I was not wholly converted to the doctrine of feet-washing, I was silenced by the arguments of a sectarian.

It was when I was big enough to rake wheat, too big to gather sheaves, and not quite old enough to bind a sheaf. Peachy Lineweaver had a small crop of wheat to take off; and he got Martin Burkholder, from Needmore, to work the cradle; myself, from a little town near by, to rake after him; while Peachy himself bound the sheaves and oversaw the raking. That was the first work I ever did that paid me fifty cents a day, and I was very well satisfied with myself. The wheat-harvest before I had worked twice as hard gathering sheaves for a quarter.

Martin Burkholder was an uncompromising Menonite, and a very good man. The tenents of his church meant every thing to him and he was a jealous guardian of them. I had been raised in the church which was next numerically strong in that community, and was an active member of the debating society. Peachy Lineweaver was full of his meanness. In the first half-day he had the cradler and I arguing on the doctrine of feet-washing, while he acted as judge and general promoter of the fun. The debate lasted for days with all the courtesy and calmness that characterizes a conference of Indian chiefs. As the grain was gathered in by long sweeps of the cradle, Burkholder would reel forth a long sermon and hear my answer. I honestly tried to instruct him better. At night both parties would read up as much as we could find, and the debate would open at sunrise and close at sunset. It continued for a week, in which time we had incidentally discussed all the merits and shortcomings of our respective churches, and, as I remember it, no one had a distinctive advantage.

It was early one morning about the last day of the harvest that I went down before the guns of the guns of the enemy. Martin had been able to fortify himself with authority that could not be disputed. Taking a leather-bound hymn-book out of the hind pocket of his overalls he read the following verse with a flourish. I give it here from memory for someway it has stuck by me ever since:

"Of Christian churches which have heard
The teachings of the Holy Word,
The faith of them is not complete,
Who don't believe in washing feet."

My natural reverence for a hymn book left me without a word to say against this long metre asservation and the umpire, Peachy Lineweaver, was also very much impressed by the authority quoted. It virtually ended the controversy which will never be renewed by me for maturer years have brought the belief that there is virtue in the washing of feet in whatever manner it may be performed.

⁂

What a beautiful dispensation of nature it is that enables the barefooted boy these frosty mornings to chase the cow out of her warm, warm spot, where she has lain all night, and standing there, feel the grateful warmth about his feet! It is no great hardship to go barefooted in November if you are used to it. The boy's first duty of a day is generally connected with the cows. In summer he must drive them to the milk-gap, and in the fall go to the fodder stack and after working in the frost awhile his feet are aching to the bone. The cows get up reluctantly and stretch themselves, and the boy jumps into a "cow-bed" with a whoop. Having sufficiently warmed himself, he finishes his work and breaks away for the house.

⁂

A PRISONER, named Sam Welch, who escaped from the Putman county jail, has thought fit to apologize for doing so by post-card from Ohio. He said that it was the loneliness of the place which drove him to it. To keep from going mad he ran away. The county court of Putman should provide some amusements for their prisoners or their jail will become a deservedly unpopular place. The numerous jail breakings in West Virginia are probably due to the motto of the State, "Mountaineers are ever free."

TAKE good care of the hair of the head, and when it begins to loosen and fall off or turn gray apply Hall Hair Renewer, and the results will be pleasing.

AYER'S ARGUMENT.

If there is any reason why you should use any sarsaparilla, there is every reason why you should use Ayer's. When you take sarsaparilla you take it to cure disease; you want to be cured as quickly as possible and as cheaply as possible. That is why you should use Ayer's: it cures quickly and cheaply—and it cures to stay. Many people write us: "I would sooner have one bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla than three of any other kind." A druggist writes that "one bottle of Ayer's will give more benefit than six of any other kind." If one bottle of Ayer's will do the work of three it must have the strength of three at the cost of one. There's the point in a nutshell. It pays every way to use

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, Nov. 26, 1897.

Entered at the post-office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

EIGHT deaths and 268 injured players was the list of killed, wounded, and missing for one week's football playing in western Pennsylvania, where the game is deservedly popular. Yale defeated Princeton, and Pennsylvania, Harvard, last Saturday. No fatalities reported. West Virginia University defeats Bethany at Fairmont, score 30—0. Yeager kicked every goal. No loss of life, but a good deal of bloodshed.

LONDON has just experienced the most disastrous fire since the grea fire of 1666. The fire started from an explosion of a gas engine. Twenty minutes elapsed before a fireman was on the scene. The fire was in the ware-house region. The loss is estimated to be at least $25,000,000. It is the largest fire the world has experienced since the great Chicago fire of 1872. The church of St. Giles, which contains the tombs of John Milton and John Fox, was badly damaged.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY has had it in his power to provoke a war, and yet he has wisely refrained. It would have been very unwise to have gone into a large and terrible war to end a little war, comparatively. Then, too, our American young men are more precious in our estimation than anything Cuba could furnish out of the miscellaneous misegenated elements that make up its population, and some sympathy should be exercised to keep them from scenes of confused noise and garments rolled in blood.

LAST week arrangements were made to resume work at the Buena Vista Cloth Mills. They have been closed for some time. Messrs Timberlake and Miller, the proprietors have contracted to furnish the government forty-two thousand yards of cloth. A cloth-manufacturing firm of Philadelphia has furnished the money to enable the Buena Vista company to meet their contract. And if the work proves satisfactory, the Philadelphians will purchase the mill and will run it in the future. Quite a number of persons will be given employment.

THE grand lodge of the I. O. O. F. of West Virginia was in session at Clarksburg last week. Wheeling is the place of meeting in 1898 It was resolved to build a $50,000 home in West Virginia, and a committee was appointed to choose a site. The election of officers resulted as follows: Grand Master, George C. Sturgiss, Morgantown; Deputy Grand Master, W. E. Ruttencutter, Kanawha county; Grand Warden, Dr C. M. Cummings, Eastbank; Grand Secretary, E. A. Billingslea, Fairmont; Grand Treasurer, Henry Seaman, Moundsville.

AT the Lord Mayor's banquet a few days since the British Premier made a speech which would be the sensation of the day were it not for so many other exciting events now transpiring. In reference to British policy, he said: "Our objects are strictly business. We wish to extend trade, commerce, industry, and civilization; to throw open as many markets as possible, and to bring together as many consumers and producers as possible, and to open the grand natural highways and waterways of Africa. In doing these things, while we wish to behave in a neighborly manner and to show due consideration for the feelings and claims of others, we are obliged to say that there is a limit to the exercise of this particular set of feelings, and we cannot allow our plain rights to be over-ridden." This means "get what you can and keep what you get" in reference to all the great rivers of Africa, except probably the Congo. Other powers,—notably France, Italy, and Germany,—want the same territory, and they will not regard this as a "neighborly" way of speaking and doing. Lord Salisbury is to be complimented for his honesty in saying that his policy is strictly business, and not talking in a hypocritical way about civilizing and christianizing the natives of Africa, as so many political Pharisees are in the habit of doing.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.
Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

ARMSTRONG & CUMBERLAND.

The article printed below, from the Charleston Gazette of November 19, will occasion a good-deal of apprehension among many of the people of Pocahontas county, who fear Alex. Armstrong as they do nothing else in the world:

"Governor Atkinson had before him yesterday the most difficult case which he has had to determine since he has been Governor. It is the question of whether or not he should pardon Frank Cumberland and Alex. Armstrong, two negroes who are serving sentences of fifteen and eighteen years, respectively, in the penitentiary for the robbery of Colonel Edgar, near Mill Point, on the night of January 4, 1894.

"Armstrong formerly lived in Pocahontas County, and was well-known there. He went from there to Marietta, Ohio, but a few days after the robbery he was arrested in Pocahontas county, along with Frank Cumberland, whose home was in Marietta, and they were convicted. At their trial the depositions of some ten or more persons in Marietta were read, some of these parties swearing that they saw both the negroes in Marietta on January 3, others that they saw them on the morning of the fifth. Their testimony was very strong, and is said to have been given by reputable persons, both white and colored.

"On the other hand, some twenty witnesses from Pocahontas county testified just as positively that they recognized the prisoners as the men who committed the robbery. Many of them knew Armstrong, and their testimony was just as strong as that of the Marietta people. There is the most direct and positive evidence that the negroes committed the robbery on the night of January 4, and there is the most direct and positive evidence that they were in Marietta on the third and fifth. and one man thinks he saw them there on the fourth.

"Mill Point is 40 miles from the nearest railroad and more than 350 miles from Marietta, so that they could not have committed the robbery on the night of the fourth and been in Marietta either the day before or the day following.

"Judge W. H. Leeper, of Marietta, was in conference with the Governor several hours yesterday, and gave him additional testimony from Marietta people to prove the alibi. But with such conflicting testimony the Governor could not determine whether he should pardon the men or not, and left the case open until he could ascertain which evidence was true."

To understand the case fully the Governor should know that in the early nineties this county experienced a series of bold robberies that bore the marks of being committed by the same hand. The proceeding was very much the same in all the cases. In 1891 two men attempted to rob the store at Buckeye. The store-keeper resisted, and a negro named Underwood who lived near came to the rescue and was killed by the assailants. In 1892, N. J. Brown was attacked in his store at Mill Point, just as he was about to close for the day, who beat him into insensibility and robbed his safe of a large amount of money. In 1893, the house of Andrew Dilley, at Dilleys Mill, was ransacked one evening about 8 o'clock. In 1894, the family of Captain Edgar was held up at the point of a pistol, terrorized, and robbed by two men just after dark. In the Brown robbery and the Edgar robbery the thieves stole horses from the same farm each time and rode them to within a few miles of the railroad and abandoned them.

In 1895, two negroes walked through the Levels one wintry, snowy day, nor stopped to speak to any man or enter any store or house either in Hillsboro or Mill Point. If a man in Greenbrier had not recognized Alex. Armstrong, who was raised in Pocahontas, they would in all probability have escaped notice. He sent word that "Alex." was coming, and Alex. had been expected. A large posse was formed and they were arrested. They were armed to the teeth, and if their mission here was a peaceful one, their appearance and their arms belied it. Armstrong had passed the houses of his kin and his color without greeting anyone. He had spent the most of his life in the county, and had worked at most of the farm-houses, but he slinked through the community in which he had claimed not to have visited for a dozen years, without accosting anyone. Their faces were muffled up, but that could be accounted for by the extreme cold of the day. On the persons of these negroes was found a bottle of gunpowder, a bottle of vaseline, a billy, and two revolvers. It is the firm belief that their mission here was to perform some desperate deed.

They explained that they had come here to play cards at the lumber camps for money, but Armstrong must have known there was not a woodsman in Pocahontas county that would sit down to a game of cards with a negro.

It is very significant that since the arrest of Armstrong and Cumberland there has not been a robbery committed in the county. There have been one or two cases of sneaking burglary committed, but no more of the "Stand! Deliver!" sort that not only robs a man of his money, but terrorizes him for life. Nearly four years have passed without any re-occurrence of the sort.

The alibi produced by Armstrong was torn all to pieces at the trial, and unless additional affidavits have been filed it does not prove more than that Armstrong and Cumberland were in Marietta in January, 1894, which is not denied

That Alex. Armstrong and Cumberland were seen in Pocahontas and on the road to and from Pocahontas on the dates when he claims to have been in Marietta was proved by witnesses who must be believed. Men who had known him, his colored friends, swore to have seen him; and a restaurant keeper at Ronceverte gave him his breakfast at daylight on January 5, '94, and swore to him positively, as did his colored waiter.

A good many citizens in the Levels fear that Armstrong will pay off all scores. Those acquainted with the vindictive character of the man believe that he cherishes resentment for years. The writer has heard the threat many times, and he is of the opinion, that if Armstrong ever shows his face in this county again, after all the circumstances that throng the history of his life here, that there will be one negro less in the world very soon.

If the Governor can get a petition to exercise mercy from the judge who tried him, from the prosecuting attorney, or jury, then we will join in the petition. If he relies on the assertion that the prisoners were in Marietta at the time of the robbery, we can assure him that their presence here was proved by all classes and conditions of witnesses, who fixed the date by the startling occurrence of the robbery at Captain Edgar's.

Governor MacCorkle refused to pardon these men on the evidence presented. He had lived in Pocahontas, and knew the witnesses who swore to Armstrong's identity.

AMONG the notable deaths of recent occurrence is that of the Bishop of Majorca. His fame rests upon the fact when he excommunicated Senor Revertor, the late Spanish minister of finance, he really brought about the late change of administration in Spain that has made matters so interesting the past few weeks between the United States and Spain.

WEST VIRGINIA STATE NEWS.

HINTON, W. VA., Nov. 19.—One of the most diabolical attempts at robbery ever made in this county was that of three men last night, when they tried to obtain money from Eli Ballenger, who lives in the suburbs of this town.

The robbers went to his door, knocked and asked him for a drink of water. He started toward the kitchen to get the water, and then the three men jumped upon him. They knocked him down, bound his hands and feet and gagged him by stuffing a handkerchief into his mouth.

Next they proceeded to search the house for money, but only found 60 cents. Becoming enraged and believing that a large amount was hidden somewhere on the premises, they told Mr Ballenger that they would burn him alive unless he revealed the hiding place of his treasure. He told them that 60 cents was positively all the money in the house, but they did not believe him. They proceeded to remove his shoes and applied fire to his feet in an effort to force him to tell.

After calmly watching him writhe in a few minutes, and, as he still protested that he had no more money, they put the gag back in his mouth, and, locking the door, left him. He succeeded after several hours in freeing himself, and then gave the alarm.

Mr Ballenger is over eighty years old and has lived alone for the past twenty years. He is in a critical condition and it is feared that he cannot survive the shock. He can not give any description of the robbers except that they were white men and all young. The County today offered a reward of $150 for the capture and conviction of the three men.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.
Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund the money if it fails to Cure. 25c.

AGAINST FOOTBALL.

The Georgia legislature has passed its famous foot-ball law the unusual majorities of 31 to 4 in the Senate and 96 to 2 in the House. The Governor does not wish to append his name to it and the bill will become a law by default. The bill strikes its deadly blow at football by prohibiting games at which an admission price is charged. It would seem that a Georgia team might train and pursue the vendetta by coming to the University of Virginia and avenging their slain comrade. As is well known the immediate cause of this decisive action was the killing of Richard Von Gammon of the University of Georgia in a game with the University of Virginia. Strange to say his mother worked against the measure because she said her son loved the game better than he did his life.

For the hundredth time we take the liberty of informing the reader that the college game, wrongly called Rugby, is a different game from the game we play in Pocahontas which was played hundreds of years before the college game was thought out, and which will continue as a manly sport, long after the former has been suppressed by the intervention of international law, which will prohibit the game as a barbarous species of warfare which is not to be tolerated.

The fourth rule of the international code requiring a humane system of war is constantly being violated.

Rule 4.—That the smallest amount of injury, consistent with self defense, and the sad neccessity of war is to be inflicted.

The Pocahontas game is a better game than the other. We are content to put the ball over the back line and score, but in the other game the side has to put the man and ball over. With us it is a foul to touch the ball with the hand, with them it is against the rules to touch it with the foot. There are many points in favor of the Association game but it is needless to enumerate them. The college youth has blood in his eye and will not be satisfied by any less bloody game after having become habituated to a sport in which there is all the excitement of war with one hundred per cent of the danger.

We feel pretty safe in asserting that foot-ball legislation is so bizarre, that had the Constitutional Commission of this State met in foot-ball season, they would have proposed an amendment prohibiting the playing of football in West Virginia.

GOOD SALARIES!
LIFE POSITIONS
IN UNCLE SAM'S SERVICE
are within the reach of all; male and female. Now is the time to prepare yourself and get in line. Full information relating to Government positions and how to obtain them, salaries paid, scope and dates of examinations, &c., &c., given cheerfully by the NATIONAL CIVIL SERVICE INSTITUTE, 1436 N. Y. Avenue, Washington, D. C.

Educate FOR A Situation.
Book-Keeping, Business, PHONOGRAPHY, Type-Writing Telegraphy
COPYRIGHTED.
Address WILBUR R. SMITH, LEXINGTON, KY.,
For circular of his famous and responsible
COMMERCIAL COLLEGE OF KY. UNIVERSITY
Awarded Medal at World's Exposition.
Refers to thousands of graduates in positions. Cost of Full Business Course, including Tuition, Books and Board in family, about $90. Shorthand, Type-Writing, and Telegraphy, Specialties. The Kentucky University Diploma, under seal, awarded graduates. Literary Course free, if desired. No vacation. Enter now. Graduates successful. In order to have your letters reach us, address only, WILBUR R. SMITH, LEXINGTON, KY.

"Just as Good as Scott's and we sell it much cheaper," is a statement sometimes made by the druggist when Scott's Emulsion is called for. This shows that the druggists themselves regard of Cod-Liver Oil with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda as the standard, and the purchaser who desires to procure the "standard" because he knows it has been of untold benefit, should not for one instant think of taking the risk of using some untried preparation. The substitution of something said to be "just as good" for a standard preparation twenty-five years on the market, should not be permitted by the intelligent purchaser.
Scott's Emulsion
Be sure you get SCOTT'S Emulsion. See that the man and fish are on the wrapper.
50c. and $1.00, all druggists.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

LOOK HERE!
WHAT YOU WANT IS—
To know where you can buy 100 cents' worth for 1 $. I will tell you. Come to my store. I don't mean to say I will sell you the largest load for the least money,—but that I will give you the best bargains to be had in "town." I am closing out my stock on hands, and for the next thirty days will sell you goods at nearly COST, FOR CASH, or good produce, such as Ginseng, Beeswax, &c.

Note these prices: Good Prints, from 4c to 6c, Scotch Lawn 5c, Satteen 8½c, Ginghams, 6½, Cable twill 11c, Cambric 4½ & 5c, Ticking 15c, Table Oilcloth 16c, Over Shirts 19c to 60c, Overalls, 35c to 90c, Jeanes 85c and $1.15, Suspenders, 10c to 45c, Hose 5c to 18c, Half Hose 5 and 15c, Lady's Shoes from $1 to $1.50, Lady's Oxfords, 90c to $1.00, Misses Shoes 85c to $1.25, Men's Shoes, $1.25 to $1.90, Tobaccos, 23c to 55c, Arbuckle Coffee, 12½c, Mowing Scythes 45c and 65c, Snaths 40 and 50c, Hay Forks 30 and 40c.
Other goods proportionately low.

Call and be convinced that you can get bargains of me for cash.
Submissively yours,
G. L. HANNAH,
YELK. W. VA.

Commissioner's Notice.

Office of S. B. Scott, Jr., Commr.
Marlinton, W. Va., Oct. 29, 1897.

State of West Virginia....Plaintiff versus
J. W. F. Allemong, J. B. Blyholder John T. McGraw, Amos Barlow Morgan Messer, and Diana Messer,............Defendants.

The plaintiff and each and all of the above named defendants, and all unknown owners and claimants of any part or parcel of the lands mentioned in the plaintiff's bill in the above entitled cause, will take notice that on the 30th day of November, 1897,

at my office in the town of Marlinton, county of Pocahontas, West Virginia, I will commence the discharge of my duties under the decree of reference in the above entitled cause, a copy of which decree is published with this notice.

At which time and place you and each of you can attend and protect and defend any interests you may have in the lands, or any of them in question in this suit.

Given under my hand this 29th day of October, 1897.

S. B. SCOTT, Jr., Commr.

(Copy of Decree.

State of West Virginia
vs.
J. W. Allemong, et als.
In Chancery.

This cause, which has been regularly matured at rules and set for hearing, came on this day to be heard on the bill and exhibits therewith filed, summons returned duly served as to resident defendants and order of publication as to non residents duly published, posted, and completed, the bill taken for confessed, and argument of counsel.

Upon consideration whereof it is adjudged, ordered, and decreed that this cause be and the same is referred to S. B. Scott, Jr., one of the commissioners of this court, to inquire into and make report to a future term of this court in the following matters and things concerning the lands alleged in the bill to be forfeited, to wit: A tract of 130 acres, a tract of 710 acres, and a tract of 1600 acres, and a tract of 335 acres.

1st—For what year or years said tracts or any of them have been forfeited for the non payment of taxes due thereon, and whether the said tracts or any of them have become forfeited to the State of West Virginia for the non payment of taxes due thereon and subject to be sold for the benefit of the school fund.

2d—The amount of taxes, interest, damages and costs due on said tracts or any of them and unpaid.

3d—Whether the locations of said tracts are ascertainable, and if so their actual location.

4th—In whom the title to said land is now vested by forfeiture or otherwise, and who if any one is entitled to redeem.

5th—Such other matters and things as said commissioner may deem pertinent and any of the parties in interest may require.

And it is further ordered that said commissioner before proceeding to execute this decree shall give notice to the parties interested and all unknown owners and claimants of said land of the time and place when and where he will proceed to execute this decree, which notice shall be published in the Pocahontas Times, a newspaper published in Pocahontas County, for four successive weeks before commencing said account.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.
To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

CASTORIA.
The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

IT TICKLES YOU
THE INSTANT RELIEF YOU GET FROM
LIGHTNING HOT DROPS.
CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.
HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals, Serpents, Bugs, etc.
BREAKS UP Bad Colds, La Grippe, Influenza, Croup, Sore Throat, etc.
SMELLS GOOD, TASTES GOOD.
SOLD EVERYWHERE AT 25c AND 50c PER BOTTLE. NO RELIEF, NO PAY.
HERB MEDICINE CO. [Formerly of Weston, W. Va.] SPRINGFIELD, O.

New Fall Goods.
Keeping It Up! SUCCESS DOESN'T COME BY LUCK—IT COMES BY MERIT—BY ENERGY WISELY DIRECTED.
THAT'S WHY Pullins & Co.
Keep on growing and their business expanding.
They always have something striking, startling, convincingly cheap. The only thing they never keep up is prices. These they keep low every time and all the time.

Commissioner's Notice.

October 20, 1897.
Office of Commissioner in Chancery
Andrew Price.

Andrew Herold
vs.
Amos Barlow and others.

All parties interested in the above styled cause will take notice the undersigned commissioner will on the 20th day of November, 1897, at his office in the town of Marlinton, Pocahontas County, West Virginia, proceed to take, state, settle, and adjust the following accounts:

1st—An account of all the debts against said H. M. Lockridge existing on the 19th day of September, 1891, showing in said account what debts or charges were liens or encumbrances on the land conveyed by deed from H. M. Lockridge et al to Amos Barlow et al, of date September 19, 1891, together with their priorities; together with all other debts against said Lockridge existing on the day aforesaid, which may be properly approved before him.

2d—An account of the real estate conveyed by said deed of September 19, 1891, showing its annual value since the said 19th day of September, 1891, less taxes and permanent improvements, and also its fee simple value.

And report to court together with any other matter specially stated, deemed pertinent by himself, or which may be required to be so stated by any party in interest.

At which time and place you may attend.

ANDREW PRICE,
Commissioner.

NOTICE TO LIEN HOLDERS.

To all persons holding liens, by judgment or otherwise, on the real estate or any part thereof of H. M. Lockridge:

In pursuance of a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County made in a case therein pending to subject the real estate of the said H. M. Lockridge to the satisfaction of the liens thereon, you are hereby required to present all claims held by you and each of you against the said H. M. Lockridge, which are liens on his real estate or any part of it, for adjudication to me at my office in the county of Pocahontas and town of Marlinton, on or before the 20th day of November, 1897.

Given under my hand this 20th day of of October, 1897.

ANDREW PRICE,
Commissioner.

C. B. SWECKER,
General Auctioneer and Real Estate Agent.
I sell Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands. Farms and Town Lots a specialty. 21 years in the business. Correspondence solicited. Reference furnished.
Postoffice—Dunmore, W. Va., or Alexander, W. Va.

HIGH GRADE FERTILIZERS
SOLD DIRECT TO FARMERS.
Made from
Vegetable & Animal Matter.
Send for circulars.
AMERICAN REDUCTION CO.,
1514 to 1516 Second Avenue,
Pittsburg, Pa.

MARLINTON HOUSE.
Located East End of Bridge.
Terms.
per day - 1.00 & 1.50
per meal - - - 25
Good accommodations for horses at 25 cents per feed.
Special rates made by the week or month.
C. A. YEAGER, Proprietor

DO YOU TRAVEL
Are you going to take a trip? Do you suffer from Severe Headaches, Nervousness, Seasickness or Exhaustion? Why not prevent it all by using CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER. Help that headache, cure that nervousness and seasickness by the use of this Inhaler, the greatest stimulant and preventative known. Wonderful relief in Hay Fever and Asthma. BUY CUSHMAN'S INHALER and you will always use it. If you can't get it at Druggists send for it. By mail, 50 cents. Send for Book on Menthol, free. CUSHMAN DRUG CO., VINCENNES, IND., U. S. A.

Commissioner's Notice

Office of S. B. Scott, Jr., Commissioner, Marlinton, W. Va., November 19, 1897.

Pursuant to a decree of the circuit court of Pocahontas county, made in a cause therein pending on the 8th October, 1897, entitled—

Thomas L. Coulehan et als.,
vs.
Daniel O'Connell,

I will proceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, W. Va., on the 20th day of December, 1897, to take, state, and report to court the following matters of account viz:

1st—The liens against the land in the bill and proceedings mentioned, with their respective legal dignities and priorities, and especially whether or not the lien retained by N. S. Alderman is an existing lien.

2d—Whether or not the said land will in five years rent for enough to pay out the liens thereon.

3d—Any other matter, etc.

Respectfully,
S. B. SCOTT, Jr.,
Comm'r. in Chancery.

NOTICE to LIEN HOLDERS.

To all persons holding liens by judgment or otherwise on the real-estate or any part thereof of Daniel O'Connel:

In pursuance of a decree of the circuit court of Pocahontas county, made in a case therein pending to subject the real estate of the said Daniel O'Connell to the satisfaction of the liens thereon, you are hereby requested to present all claims held by you and each of you against the said Daniel O'Connell which are liens against his real estate or any part of it, for adjudication to me at my office in the town of Marlinton, Pocahontas county, West Virginia, on or before the 20th day of December, 1897.

Given under my hand this 19th day of November, 1897.

S. B. SCOTT, Jr.,
Comm'r. in Chancery.

YOUR FORTUNE
is your health. Your happiness is your strength. Keep the Head and Throat clear and healthy and your mind and brain is always at rest and ease. CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER is the greatest relief to mankind in all head troubles. CURES COLDS, SORE THROAT, CATARRH. That awful odor of Catarrh disappears by its use. Wonderful in Hay Fever and Asthma. BUY ONLY CUSHMAN'S. If you can't get it at Druggists send for it. By mail, 50 cents. Send for Book on Menthol, free. CUSHMAN DRUG CO., VINCENNES, IND., U. S. A.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.
Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 15, NO. 20 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, DECEMBER 10, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

50 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &C.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communications strictly confidential. Handbook on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents.

Patents taken through Munn & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $3 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

Educate FOR A Situation.

Book-Keeping, Business, PHONOGRAPHY, Type-Writing Telegraphy

COPYRIGHTED.

Address WILBUR R. SMITH, LEXINGTON, KY.,

For circular of his famous and responsible

COMMERCIAL COLLEGE OF KY. UNIVERSITY

Awarded Medal at World's Exposition.

Refers to thousands of graduates in positions. Cost of Full Business Course, including Tuition, Books and Board in family, about $90. Shorthand, Type-Writing, and Telegraphy, Specialties. The Kentucky University Diploma, under seal, awarded graduates. Literary Course free, if desired. No vacation. Enter now. Graduates successful. In order to have your letters reach us, address only,

WILBUR R. SMITH, LEXINGTON, KY.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

JOHN A. PRESTON FRED. WALLACE
PRESTON & WALLACE,
Attorneys at Law,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Greenbrier and adjoining counties, and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

No. 203. This quarter-sawed oak writing desk is polished like a piano. It has a 9-inch beveled plate glass in top and a deep drawer below. Artistic French legs; also finished in mahogany.

$3.95 is our special price for this $10 desk.

(Mail orders filled promptly.)

We will mail anyone, free of all charges, our new 112 page Special Catalogue, containing Furniture, Draperies, Lamps, Stoves, Crockery, Mirrors, Pictures, Bedding, Refrigerators, Baby Carriages, etc. This is the most complete book ever published, and we pay all postage. Our lithographed Carpet Catalogue, showing carpets in colors, is also yours for the asking. If carpet samples are wanted, mail us 8c. in stamps. There is no reason why you should pay your local dealer 60 per cent. profit when you can buy from the mill. Drop a line now to the money-savers.

JULIUS HINES & SON,
Baltimore, Md.

Please mention this paper.

The Pocahontas Times,

THE Austrian parliament has broken up in a row. The ministry has resigned.

THIS year's Democratic victories will come in handy, next year, to account for the anticipated fall in wheat.—The Philadelphia Ledger.

HON N. B. SCOTT, of Wheeling, is to be appointed internal revenue commissioner, and Hon George M. Bowers, of Martinsburg, fish commissioner, by the President.

THE New York Sun reproves the Minneapolis Tribune for speaking of "London's great conflagration," when it meant "fire." Using a big word when a small one would do better is a nuisance.

E. M. SHOWALTER, of Fairmont, has been appointed an assistant district attorney, for West Virginia; a right good place for a young lawyer who graduated five years from the law school at the University.

Is Bryan going to absorb the Democratic party, or the Democratic party going to absorb Bryan? It would be better to reduce the noisy statesman to the ranks again until he learns that it is better for all concerned for him to make himself less conpicuous.

THE Mayor's Association was held at Clarksburg last week, and the different mayers discussed questions relating to their work. The mayor of Charleston asked that the association unnite in an effort to have the legislature take away from the county courts the power to prohibit licenses for the sale of liquor in incorporated towns.

IT is said that the millinery styles this year call for the plumage of birds to a greater extent than ever, and a crusade has been begun by the Audubon Society of New York for the preservation of the birds. Their plan is to create a public sentiment so strong that no woman will wear a hat with feathers that cost the bird from which they were taken its life. The birds which are being killed are all marsh and maritime birds.

ON last Thursday, Jet Roy, a tenant on Rev George Harmon's "Babb place," in Randolph county, killed a wolf that measured seven feet from end of tail to tip of nose, and wrighted fifty pounds. It was caught in a trap which it tore loose from its fastening and dragged for several miles, where it was found and shop. His wolfship is said to have been the last of a gang of seven which have been hunted for in various ways for thirty years and which played sad havoc from time to time among the sheep that were ranged in that section.—Grant County Press.

"A WELL-KNOWN hatter," says Humanitarian, "lately compiled a list of the sizes of heads of eminent men, and recently sent Mr Gladstone a letter giving the sizes of certain celebrities' heads, as follows: Lord Chelmsford 6½, Duke of York 6⅝, Dean Stanley 6⅜, Emperor of Germany 6¾, Prince of Wales 7, Burns and Dickens 7⅛, Earl Russell 7¼, W. E. Gladstone 7¼, W. M. Thackary 7⅜, Dr Thomas Chalmers 7¾, Dan O'Connell 8, Dr Thomson (Archbishop of York) 8 full, Joseph Hume, M. P., (the financier) 8¼. Queen Victoria's head (added the writer) from a close view I once got, I take to be 6⅞ size."

Biographic.

This chapter of the Biographic Notes is devoted to members of the Bussard connection, a relationship identified with this county for a century passed. The name indicates French origin, hence these people are very probably descendants of the Huguenots, who refugeed from France after the revocation of the Edict of Nantes, in 1685. History tells how some of these people found refuge in Germany and Holland and afterwards numbers of them came to America among the early colonists.

Reuben Bussard, the progenitor of the Bussards, was the son of an emigrant from Germany, who settled at an early day near Lancaster, Pennsylvania. Upon his marriage with a Miss Sicafoose, in Pendleton County, he settled on lands, now in possession of his desendants, near Glade Hill, or rather between Glade Hill and Frost. These early settlers were the parents of five sons and four daughters, as we learn from Morgan Grimes, Esq., near Mt Zion. Susan, Fannie, Hester and Martha were their daughters. The sons were Eli, Solomon, Henry, Reuben, Jr., and Sampson.

Fannie Bussard was married to Benjamin Bussard and lived in Greenbrier county.

Hester Bussard became Mrs Henry Grimes and lived in The Hills. He was a son of Arthur Grimes, of Felix Grimes, the pioneers. Their children are Peter, Frank, Zane, Hugh, Susan, Mary Ann, Alcinda and Martha.

Martha Bussard, daughter of Reuben, was married to Charles, son of Felix Grimes, the pioneer, and lived in the Hills, near Mt Zion. The names of their children were Wesley, Morgan, Davis, Susan, Margaret, Elizabeth, Loretta, Rachel and Martha. In the Grimes memoirs, already published, all these are specially mentioned.

Eli Bussard married Margaret (Peggy) Moore, daughter Pennsylvania John Moore, and settled on a part of the home place, now occupied by his son, Arminius. In reference to to their family the following items are given:

Arminius Bussard married Frances Kelley and settled near Glade Hill. He was a Union soldier, a member of Company D, 10th West Virginia Infantry.

Morgan Bussard married Rhoda Sims, daughter of John Sims, from Pendleton county. Their children are Sherman, Ellis, Perry Lee, Cora, now Mrs William Shinneberry, near Driftwood; and Alcinda, who was married to Embry Shinneberry, near Clover Lick.

Peter Bussard, son of Eli Bussard, married Nancy Moore, sister of Eli Bussard's wife, and lived near Glade Hill, where John Lindsay now resides. Their daughter Sarah was married to John Lindsay. Virginia was married to Jacob Philips, of Barbour county. He was a Union soldier, 6th West Virginia Infantry, and was killed in the affair at Bulltown, Braxton county. Martha became Mrs Hedrick, and lived in Preston county, but now lives at Grafton. Mr Hedrick was a Union soldier.

Perry Bussard belonged to Company I, 3d West Virginia Cavalry, and died in a Maryland hospital in the early spring of 1864.

Laura and Phœbe were the names of Eli Bussard's daughters.

Solomon Bussard, son of Reuben Bussard, married Miss Rachel Grimes and settled on a section of the homestead. Their children were Wesley, who married Miss Matheny, of Highland county, and settled in the Big Valley; Jesse Allen lived in Highland; Susan married William Sharp, and went West; Mary was married to David Kincaid, and settled in Highland county, near Bolar Springs.

Henry Bussard married Mary Hannah, daughter of Joseph Hannah, on Elk, and lived on Cummings Creek near Huntersville. Their daughter Sally became Mrs J. B. Pyles; Susan Mrs Tillotson Auldridge; and Asbury married Miss Burnsides and went West.

Henry Bussard's second marriage was with a Miss Perkins. Of the two sons of this marriage, Moses lost his life four or five years since near Windy Cove church in Bath county, by the overturning of a wagon he was in charge of. George is a carpenter and lives on Cummings Creek.

Reuben Bussard, junior, married Mary Ann Waugh, daughter of Samuel Waugh in the Hills, and after living some years at Dilley's Mill, went to Iowa. The names of their children were Arthelia, Rachel, Samuel, and Adolphus. Samuel Bussard is a prominent physician in Lucar county, Iowa.

Sampson Bussard was another son of the pioneeer. His wife was Eleanor Knapp, daughter of the late Caleb Knapp, and he settled on the place purchased of Solomou Bussard. Their children were Cornelius, Cronin, Mildred, and Jerusha. Cornelius married Miss Wanless near Mt. Tabor school-house and settled on the Arbogast place near Glade Hill. Mildred was married to Abram Shenneberry, and lives near Clover Lick. Jerusha became Mrs Isaac Shinneberry and lives near Glade Hill.

Where Reuben Bussard, the ancestor, made a selection for a permanent settlement was far from being an inviting spot in pioneer days. His idea seems to have been that tho the lands were deemed of little value, yet these glades and marshes could be made into valuable meadows. The mountains around afforded good range for stock for much of the year, and by blending the facilities for ranges and meadows live stock could be handled to good purpose. By making moderate gains and saving what would come in hand he saw there was a living in reach of the hands of the diligent. Were Reuben Bussard now to revisit the scene of his pioneer toils and privations he would see more than realized the highest expectations he may have ever cherished in reference to the development of this sequestered vale amid the mountains where he selected a place for his permanent habitation.

Moreover, it turned out that this vicinity was well adapted to fruit-raising. A supply of good fruit adds very much to the comfort of a home, and the time will be when such land, heretofore deemed of comparatively little value, will be greatly prized for its fruit producing qualities. There is plausible reason for believing that the largest apple-tree in Pocahontas county, and it may be even in West Virginia, can be seen near the place where Reuben Bussard built his frontier home. It measures 3 feet and 6 inches in diameter. The branches were about forty feet long. Seventy-five bushels have been gathered from this tree at one time.

In reflecting upon what is suggested by the story of this pioneer, one recalls the old saying that used to be so much in vogue among the early settlers:

"A little farm well tilled;
A little wife well willed;
A littte house well filled."

The three rhymes just repeated recount the three mickles that make up the best of muckles, a well-ordered, quiet, and well provided home in the country. And such will it be regarded by us all in the rounding up of life if we retain our senses.

From what we can now gather from Reuben Bussard's personality he seems to have been a man that pondered Agur's prayer to a good purpose:

"Two things have I required of Thee; deny me them not before I die. Remove far from me vanity and lies; give me neither poverty nor riches; feed me with food convenient for me. Le3t I be full and deny Thee, and say Who is the Lord? or lest I be poor and steal and take the name of my God in vain."—Proverbs xxx 7-9.

W. T. P.

HAVING looked over his shoulder and observed that no one was following, Colonel Watterson immediately decided to stop leading.—The Detroit News.

Notions.

Almost every day some one turns up who has been induced to buy a gilded brick for gold, or some one who has invested some thousands of dollars in a bag full of brass filings and sand for gold dust. A man in Cleveland, a Jew, paid some other Jews $12,000 in cash the other day for sixty-seven pounds of brass filings.

Let us suppose that there was once a man named Smith, and it is not hard to stretch the imagination that far. And this particular Smith had been descended from a hard-headed race of people who spelled the name with an 'i' single. But this Smythe lived in New York and had a job that paid him ten dollars a week, and he was a nice man, scented and well dressed and he had taken the liberty of spelling his name "Smythe" when used in a social way, tho when he signed for the boss in the business where he worked he had enough of inherited shrewdness to add "per S.," which stands for both Smith and Smythe.

Smith lived at Mrs Thompkin's boarding-house, which was very exclusive for the price, and for a small man had quite a dangerous speak-to-me-at-your-peril air about him. He was one of those ordinary men who are so well pleased with themselves that they do not succeed in pleasing any one else.

To this boarding-house came two young men who were evidently from the country, and of whom Smith showed a little too plainly that he had considerable contempt, and he almost snorted when one of them addressed him as "pard" before the lady boarders. Smith gave him a look that was supposed to freeze any further efforts at familiarity; and tho both young men whose names were Hawkins and Jones, tried to be good natured, he was very cold and unresponsive.

Hawkins and Jones proved to be from what was worse than the country, and that is the Rocky Mountain mining regions, and their talk was interspersed with mining phrases and terms. They told the boarders that they were in the city trying to negotiate a sale of their mine, which they said they had named for their sweethearts, getting the composite name 'Daisy Belle.' They stopped there some weeks, and all the boarders, with the exception of Smith, showed a great interest in the progress of the sale. Smith took occasion to hint darkly that he knew their kind and that they would be wanting to dispose of a gold-plated brick to somebody before long.

This was told to Hawkins and Jones, and after a conference in which they had their misgivings, they decided to make Smith a proposition because he had remarked airily that he thought he was a judge of human nature.

Hawkiks knocked on Smith's door one day, and entering took a seat on the edge of a chair and twirled his big soft hat in his hands.

"Well," said Smith dryly.

"We've got a deal we purpose to make to you," said Hawkins. "Me and my pard is down on our luck, and we haint the money to settle our board bill at this shebang and git back to the 'Daisy-Belle,' but we've got a bag of the dust here that we'll sell to some man at half-price, fer we've got to raise some money this evening er we cant git inter the game fer the last chance before we go."

Smith could hardly believe his ears. Here his enemies were delivered into his hands. His was a vindictive little soul, and he had often thought how nicely he would deliver the villians into the hands of the police red-handed if anyone ever attempted to sell him gold-dust.

"Well, Mr Hawkins," said Smith "how much gold-dust have you got?"

"Nigh onto twenty pound, and you kin have the whole caboodle for $500," said Hawkins, "and you kin have this sample assayed."

"Your pills are the best in the world. I used to be annoyed with constipation until I began using them. Now I have no trouble of that kind any more and I attribute my recovery to the use of your valuable medicine. In the springtime of the year I always take your *

Pistols and Pestles.

The duelling pistol now occupies its proper place, in the museum of the collector of relics of barbarism. The pistol ought to have beside it the pestle that turned out pills like bullets, to be shot like bullets at the target of the liver. But the pestle is still in evidence, and will be, probably, until everybody has tested the virtue of

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

* This testimonial will be found in full in Ayer's "Curebook" with a hundred others. Free. Address J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Smith declared it unnecessary as he had known Mr Hawkins so long, and he told him and his pardner to come to his room that evening with the gold and get the money.

It is hardly necessary to relate that Smith had two policemen in plain clothes concealed in his closet, and when the parties arrived they appeared on the scene and arrested the two miners and scooped the bag of dust on the table as evidence.

"Be keerful of that there bag," says Jones, who was watching the policeman very closely as he handled the bag.

"Never mind about that, my man. You would be better off if we were to lose it," replied the officer.

They were taken to the station-house and Smith went along. When before the police sergeant Hawkins demanded to know what they were arrested for, and the policeman then explained that they were trying to dispose of bogus gold-dust. The sergeant remarked that "gold could never be bought of honest people at a discount," and was about to order them to be locked up until until an examination could be held in the morning, when Hawkins said the gold was theirs and that it was the real stuff. "Jest feel the heft of it, capting!" he said.

Then a lawyer who was standing near looked at the contents of the bag, and suggested that it was just possible that it was gold, and maybe they had better send for a jeweler. This was done, and the jeweler examined the contents of the bag carefully and tried different portions with acids. He pronounced it very fine gold. He said further that there was about twenty pounds of it, and that altogether it was worth about $4,500.

A peculiar noise attracted the attention of those in the room, and there was Smith with his eyes bulged out having some trouble with his breath.

"What have you to say to this," said the sergeant rather sternly.

"An old fortune teller told me once that I would some day miss the chance of my life," said Smith very sadly.

Then Hawkins told the sergeant all about it. He explained they had been boarding at Mrs Tompkins several weeks, and how they had been snubbed by Smith. They owned a mine which they could only work to advantage by machinery, and had slowly taken out in the past year by hand that bag of gold. They came to New York to sell their mine to a syndicate who could put in a stamping mill, and the day before they had closed out, and had money to burn. They had heard what Smith had said about their being probable swindlers, and had determined to play a joke on him. When asked if Smith had taken them up whether they would have stood by their offer:

"In course we would," said Hawkins. 'That's the thing my pard insisted on, but we decided to risk it, and didn't think as how there was any great risk about; fer while we aint any big judge of human nater, like Smith here, we thought as how we had sized him up."

When Smith came down to breakfast the next morning he heard sounds of laughter as he neared the dining-room, which ceased as he entered and a morning paper was surreptiously dropped on the floor.

Hawkins and Jones breakfasted at the Fifth Avenue Hotel in their new clothes.

AUSTRIAN TROUBLES.

Some months since in some remarks on the signs of the times, reference was made to the renowned Paris correspondent of the London Times, M. Blowitz. He claims to have prevented two international wars, since the Franco-Prussian war, by what he wrote on one occasion, and what he did not write upon another occasion. This correspondent says that the international trouble pends on one event, the demise of the Austrian Emperor, now verging seventy years of age, and in precarious health.

Such a remark coming from the source it does, makes all news about Austrian affairs more than ordinarily interesting. In the past few weeks, scenes have been witnessed in the Austrian Parliament that surpass anything that has happened since the stormy scenes that ushered in the French Revolution.

Austria is what may be called a composite nation, made up of many different races and antagonizing factions. In no European country are so many languages spoken as in the Austrian Empire; seventeen millions of Slavonians; seven millions of Hungarians; nine millions of Germans; between two and three millionsof Wallachians; one million Jews; and a half million of Italians, about 38 millions in all.

The other races have failed to agree on a common basis of action, but have been mutually distrustful of each other, and the consequence has been that the united German element has controlled governmental affairs and the German has been the official language. Nine millions thus have had the mastery over twenty-nine millions. It appears that in the last two or three years, the Slavonians and Hungarians have been doing some thinking for themselves; they are feeling the pulsations of national aspiration; and have about come to the conclusion that it is a shame and outrage not to be submitted to any longer, to be dominated and dictated to by the Germans.

Thus the opposition to the Germans is bringing about something like definite policy and concert of action. The struggle is now on for the control of the Austrian Empire between the German and the anti-German elements.

The old races must eventually win, and the dominant control of the German minority cease, and the German language give place to the language of the majority. Before this is done however horrible scenes of riot and bloodshed may be anticipated. It is a revolt of the masses against a dominant minority, who have been using the government for their own use and emolument. The Germans have long been entrenched in their position and it will require hard work to dislodge them. They have the army in hand and the governmental machinery.

S. C. R.

CRABBED age and youth
Cannot live together:—
Youth is full of pleasance
Age is full of care,
Youth like summer morn,
Age like winter weather;
Youth like summer brave.
Age like winter bare.

The wise precepts of Shakespeare were disregarded by a Virginia octogenarian who recently married a young girl in her teens.

HOME NEWS.

JANUARY 15, 1897.

The State legislature convened on the 13th. Republican is a mild term to describe its make up.

The State executive officers hold over until the 4th of March, the same as the President.

Wheat has been looking remarkably well. The roads kept dry and good later this winter than any in the memory of the citizens.

Capt J. R. Apperson has changed his residence for the present from Marlinton to Beaver Creek. Huntersville is his post-office.

There will be singing at Hamline Chapel, Saturday the 16th day of January, 11 o'clock, conducted by W. T. Price.

We have a cummunication from Col. Gatewood to the Pocahontas Confederate Veterans, which will appear next week.

The little four-year-old daughter of Mrs Hamp. Galford, near Marlinton, severed one of her fin[illegible] and nearly severed another with an axe last Thursday.

A Correction.—In our issue of last week a mistake was made in a marriage notice. Miss Nora B. Riley was married to Mr A. C. Burns instead of Burner as the paper stated.

We heard a very good one the other day when a worthy old county man was extoling his pastor. "He always tells something we have never heard before," he said. "Last Sunday he told us that the Savior had been crucified between two thieves.

This printing office printed a brief last week for L. M. McClintic in the chancery case of Levi Gay vs. J. B. Lockridge. This case is in the Supreme Court on one point, which is, whether Mrs. Lillie B. Lockridge is entitled to a dower in the lands of J. B. Lockridge.

TWO copies left of the Recollections of the Rev Dr Jojn McElhenny, pioneer of Presbyterianism in this portion of the U. S. If any one wishes to buy this book at $1.50, ayply at THE TIMES office, or of me

ANNA L. PRICE.
Jan. 12, 1897.

There is a standing joke in this county that is told whenever the representative starts for the State Capital. In the days before the reconstruction we had a representative named McCarty. When he returned a rock-ribbed, iron-sided, old Democrt met him with the rather brusque remark, "Well, I reckon you found out how big a fool you were?" "Oh, yes," said McCarty, "I did and that is more than ever you have been able to do."

The progressive ladies of Westfield, Ind., issued a "Womans Edition" of the Westfield News, bearing date of April 3, 1896. The paper is filled with matter of interest to women, and we notice the folowing from a correspondent, which the editors printed, realizing that it treats upon a matter oi vital importance to their sex: "The best remedy for croup, colds and bronchitis that I have been able to find is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For family use it has no equal. I gladly recommed it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

Wilie Beade, colored, is wanted by the officers of the law for striking a small colored boy with a bat, thereby knocking him senseless. Beale is a light mulatto, about 22 yhars of age, son of the Honorable Archibald Beale, of Shake Rag.——A frightful death took place in a cabin situated a little below Germantown, on the —th of December. A little colored boy, a son of Mary Church, was left locked in his mother's cabin while she was away. During her absence the house was set on fire, it is supposed accidentally by the child, and the boy perished in the flames. None knew of his being in the house, or he might have been saved.—Bath News.

If a casual observer was seated on the horn of the moon and had his eye fixed upon that particular center of the two Virginias, known as Marlinton, and watched the steady advances of the railraods in our direction, he might be of the opinion that we were battling against any railroad invasion, for the work continually crops in another place. The latest advance upon our outposts is from the direction of Ronceverte. The contractors are busy making excavations in the hill side of the town of Ronceverte, so that the level of the Big Levels may be reached. It is thought that the work of grading will be completed to Lewisburg by March and then to the Northward. The logical route is up the Greenbrier Vallay and tho we hear ominous reports of it running parrelel with the main branch of the C. & O. and striking into the midst of the high mountains to the west, we are firmly of the opinion that at last we have seen the first dirt thrown up on the Greenbrier Valley line, the line that will bring us relief.

Hon M. J. McNeel left Monday to be present in Charleston as our representative in the coming legislature.

Mr Fred Wallace, of Mill Point, the talented young attorney, will locate for the practice of his profession ot Lewisburg.

Ringing noises in the ears buzzing, snapping, roaring, caused by catarrh, all disappear with the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

At the sale of the goods at Frankford under the assignment of Wm. H. Overholt, Clarence Overholt, his son, became the purchaser.

The Buena Vista Development Company has gone into liquidation. A. T. Barclay, of Lexington is receiver, appointed by Judge McLaughlin.

The requisite papers have been prepared to remove young Miller to Bath County, Va., where he will be tried for using a mule without the colored owner's permission.

Since the arrest of Goodwin in Staunton parties in Huntersville now understaud why their correspondence with friends in Augusta county had been so unsatisfactory of late. No money, however, has been lost.

Elihu Robinson and brother, colored persons, on Browns Mountain, are very expert in the use of stilts in crossing Knapps Creek at the Curry fording. They have been knowu to wade the creek when it would be hardly safe to ford on horseback, or with a team, and carry forty or fifty pounds strapped to their shoulders.

Mr N. O. Bacon, Manager,
Conn. Indemnity Ass'n.,
Charleston, W. Va.

Dear sir,—I have received today through your adjustor $2,000, the full amount of insurance due me on the life of my late wife. I am very much pleased with the manner in which your company has settled this claim, and would advise all who wish reliable insurance at reasonable rates to apply to you or your Company.

Yours very truly,
Josepe Bleau.

Meadow Creek, W. Va.
Oct. 31, 1896.

Probably there is not a worse hated man in the lumber business than sub-contractor Gray, who got so many Pocahontas people in trouble and caused them serious losses while working on the Gauley Company's timber. Among those worst damaged was the firm of Sheets & Gordon, of Beaver Dam. After a year or two of the hardest kind of work, they found themselves about $2,000 short, and nothing to pay their men. Jim Sheets, the senior partner, went to work in camp, and the other day made a payment of $100 to his men, which he had saved out of his work after supporting his family. In time he will clear off his indebtedness. He certainly deserves honorable mention.

The Locust Creek coal has had only a superficial development. T. F. Callison has opened the vein to greater depth than any other. He has opened the upper vein and walled it up to the distance of sixty feet or so into the hill-side. The coal discovered so far is full of sulphur, and while it makes good fuel, the smell that comes out of the chimney is terrible, and hard to be described. The corporation of the village of Hillsboro has protested, but not officially, to its use in the town. On a cold, damp day, the smell comes down and envelops the town; and two young people whose affections have been blighted, ascribe it to the depressing influence of the sulphuric atmosphere of the town. The coal that has been mined is called the "blossom." This blossom can be smelled on a quiet evening, with the wind drawing from the south, from the precincts of Mill Point, a distance of one and a half miles, and on such evening it is hard to ride into Hillsboro from the Marlinton direction.

☞ To correspondents: To insure publication the same week letters must be delivered at Marlinton by 7 p m on Tuesday evenings.

Throat Coughs

Is there a tickling in the throat? Do you cough a great deal, especially when lying down? Are you hoarse at times? Does nearly every cold you take settle in your throat? These "throat coughs" are very deceptive. Don't neglect them. Troches, or cough syrups won't touch the spot. You must take remedies that will enrich the blood, tone up the nerves; and heal the inflamed membranes.

SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites contains such remedies. It has wonderful nourishing and healing power. The cause of the cough is removed; the whole system is given new life and vigor; and the danger from threatening lung trouble is swept away.

Book about it free.
For sale by all druggists at 50c. and $1.00.

SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

Personal Mention.

J J Beard of Huntersville has been seriously ill for some days, but is now regarded as hopefully better. His son Dr Harry Beard, of Lewisburg was sent-for.

Mrs W. A. Bratton has returned from a visit to her former home in Marshall, Va.

Mabel, eldest daughter of Geo. Wagner has been quite sick with diptheria but is recovering.

Mr and Mrs J. C. Loury have gone to housekeeping in their commodious residence opposite the hotel.

John S. Moore is teaching the Beaver creek school in a house rented for the purpose.

L. M. McClintic, and two of his children have been ill of the colds which have been prevailing.

H. S. Rucker went to Greenbrier this week to take some depositions for a case pending in the courts of McDowell county.

Capt Jack Apperson is running a lumber camp on the Chapman place on Beaver creek.

Otis Warwick spent a few days visiting friends near Huntersville.

The Editor of this paper is no exception. Like the rest of the county he has been sick too.

Letter from Jake McLaughlin.

Brimfield, Ind., January, 6th. 1897.—As we are starting in on the new year and all accounts of the old year should be closed, I still find a dollar in my pocket for my old county paper, a welcome visitor in my western home. We have had a lovely winter. The thermometer has not touched zero yet. After a solid week of rain, it was so hazy and smoky we could hardly see. Democrats say it was the smoke of machine shops and furnaces started up since election.

Well; times are better and prosperity is looked for after March 4.

Stock is looking up.

Cattle 3½ to 4½, lambs 5 to 5½, hogs 3 to 3¼, wheat 94, corn 20, oats 15. Cattle and sheep are very scarce in this country. There is plenty of corn with very little to feed it to.

I wish Pocahontas could get a railroad, that is what the county needs. I hope you will get one before long. Jake McLaughlin.

Col. Philip D. Elkins Dead.

Col. Philip Duncan Elkins, father of United States Senator Elkins, died Sunday afternoon at the residence of his son at Elkins, W. Va., from general collapse of the system.

Senator Elkins was in Washington when tetegraphed that his father was dying. He arrived at Cumberland early in the morning and went at once to Elkins by a special train, arriving there before his father expired.

The birth place of Col. Elkins was Fauquier county, Va. He was a Confederate soldier and an ardent Democrat.

County Court.

(Continued from last week.)

J. C. Arbogast resignation as Sheriff for the years 1884 to 1888.

P D Arbogast qualified as justice in Green Bank District.

In the matter of the John A Young road, B F and Elizabeth McClure refusing to accept $12 offered as compensation for the land taken by said road, it was ordered that proceedings be instituted and prosecuted in the corporate name of the County Court in the Circuit Court, pursuant to chapter 42 of code, etc.

K O Wade allowed $54.50 for keeping in repair 13 miles of Lewisburg & Marlin's Bottom Turnpike.

B F McElwee allowed $14 for goods furnished poor persons in Green Bank District.

J K Hinkle appointed surveyor of roads in the room and stead of Marion Ray.

G P Shisler was appointed and qualified as constable in the Levels District.

Samuel Sheets, J F Hill, and William Siple qualified as the deputies of R W Hill, Sheriff.

C L Burner qualified as constable in the Green Bank District.

Samuel B Hannah and John R Hevener were appointed commissioners on the part of this Court to examine into the feasibility of building a bridge across the North Fork of Deer Creek.

K O Wade was awarded the contract for keeping in repair the 18 miles miles of turnpike commencing at Claiborne McNeil's and extending to top of Droop for a term of five years.

W C and G W Mann were awarded the contract for putting and keeping in repair 30 miles of public road, commencing at McNeil's and extending to the county line of this county and Randolph for a term of five years.

I F McCollum appointed surveyor of roads in the room and stead of J J Hannah.

Walter Vint appointed surveyor of roads in room and stead of C. R. Eubank.

Order directing Clerk of county court to advertise for bids for putting and keeping in tollable order 9 miles of the Huntersville and Warm Springs Turnpike, commencing at the residence of Mrs. Carter and extending to the top of Alleghany mt.

"Wrap Us Up in Our Greasy Horse-Blankets."

In a loose box two toughs lay a sprawling,
And as on the litter they lay, they lay;
To some swipes who around them were crawling,
These whisky-soaked words they did say.

Chorus.
Wrap us up in our greasy horse-blankets!
And say some poor "outlaws" lie low lie low;
And we'll never return back to Bingo,
Unless we 're allowed all the show.

Oh, had we the pluck of a chipmonk!
Back, back to Bingo we 'd hie, we 'd hie;
And run our sweet 'Volly' 'gainst 'Marie,'
And hocus them all on the sly.

(Chorus.)

Then we'd bring up a Bloss(oming) jockey,
And give him a tip on the sly, the sly;
Tho one of that sort seldom needs one,
And never when Slick Snales is by.

(Chorus.)

Then get us two mud-spotted tombstones:
And put them both out in a row, a row;
Scratch Chippy 'Spruce,' 'Slick Snales,' upon them,
And plant us with Bloss(om) below!

"Mud-eater."

YELK.

Tolbert Sharp, son of Harmon Sharp, met with a serious accident by his horse falling on his leg and breaking it above his shoe. The horse was walking on the side of the road and stepped on some ice and lost his hold and fell on Mr Sharp's leg and foot, which was mashed very badly. He was carried to Hugh Sharp's. He is 18 years old.

The Iron Clads have met with bad luck, Tolbert Sharp broke his leg, Bob Gibson has a sore knee, Levi Gibson cut his ear, Charles Showalter has a sore ankle from a kick, John Gibson has a remembrance kick on his shin, Hameric froze his feet, Doyle hurt his hand, and Johnson had a nock. Sam. Gibson has come home and they will probobly play a game with Mingo on the 13th.

Boude Hannah and wife are in this part. The boys gave them a serenade.

Harmon Sharp has returned from Frost.

G. L. Hannah finds entertainment in Webster.

One of the Shepherds.

A Trip to Webster.

After leaving William Hannah's, on Elk, I went to Mr John Varners of Linwood, a very hospitable gentleman. From thence to Adam Harrison's, in Webster, stopping with this prominent man Christmas night. Next morning I proceeded on my journey down Point Mountain Road to Elk, and took dinner with a Mr Jones,—a merchant and lumber contractor. Then in company with David Baughman and John Lynch I proceeded to William Cummings', on Mill Run, staying there over night.

I then proceeded, in company with Lynch, to David Baughman's, on Gauley River. Mr Bernard Baughman and myself started for Mr Jesse Payne's house on business, but before we reached our destination we were informed of the sudden and terrible death of a young man that morning, he being caught between the fender and a large poplar log and instantly killed, both back and neck broken. He was horribly crushed. His name was John Conrad, son of Peter Conrad, on Elk, near the mouth of Dry Fork, in Webster County.

After viewing the remains of the departed, we arrived at Mr Paynes and were taken in and very cordially treated by this kind and clever gentleman. I next went to Mr W. McClintic's lumber camp, and enjoyed the hospitality of a jolly set of lumbermen; and should think from the appearance of things generally that Mr McClintic is doing a thriving business.

I started for Marlinton, and while passing thro that rugged part of the county, I noticed quite a lot of deer and bear sign. The track of one bear in the snow measured six inches. Deer almost as plenty, seemingly, as sheep, or at least a small flock of sheep. To Landis', at Marlinton, on New Year's night, when I was at the end of my journey.

R. L.

Terrible Ammunition.

A strange war story comes from New Zealand. Some years ago Sir John Gorst lived in Waikato and edited the Maori newspaper, Te Hakioi. The paper was printed and published near the scene of some of the hottest fighting of the war then raging.

During the struggle the Maoris ran short of ammunition, and having no ball for their fourteen pound guns, they loaded them with shop weights confiscated from neighboring shop keepers. This source of supply was soon exhausted.

Then a raid was made The Hakioi office and the guns were charged with type and stereo blocks. This new amunition, so the story goes, proved very effective.

One of the white invaders was injured by a patent medicine advertisement, another was invalided by a church bazaar anouncement, a third lost a leg through a solid leader on "The Land Bill," and Sir John, who had taken refuge with the British troops, had a narrow escape from being hit with one of his own poems.—Ex.

GREEN BANK.

Mr Samuel Sheets, of Dunmore, was visiting in our vicinity last Sunday.

Mr Jesse McLaughlin spent a few days in Marlinton last week

Mr Ed. McLaughlin, of Dunmore, was in town last Sunday.

Mr Ezra Wooddell and family have returned home from Frost where he had been visiting relatives and friends.

Mr Frank Wilfong and wife of Hillsboro, were visiting in our neighborhood this week.

Master Frank King, of Marlinton, was in town a short while last Monday, accompanied by his brother, who was returning to his school at Oak Grove.

Quite a number of young people attended the entertainment at Dunmore and pronounced it a success.

There is a good deal of sickness in this neighborhood at present.

There was a match game of foot ball at Green Brank last Saturday, between the Green Bank and Oak Grove teams, which resulted in a tie. The game was hotly contested by both terms, but neither were able to score. The return game will be played at Oak Grove in the near future and a lively time is anticipated.

Jessie Orndorff and Miss Emma Ervine were quietly married at the residence of the bride's parents last Wednesday morning. They have the best wishes of their many friends for a long and happy life.

Weddings seem to be quite a common thing with us.

Monhican.

Linwood.

The people of Linwood seem to be enjoying the New Year very much.

There was a turkey roast at Col. A. C. L. Gatewood's on New Year's day which was very much enjoyed by all present.

The social given by Mr and Mrs Samuel Varner was a very enjoyable affair. After supper games and other amusements were indulged in until a late hour. We thank the good people for the evening's enjoyment.

The social given by Mr and Mrs John Sheets was attended by a number of ladies and gentlemen who say they wish such occasions would occur oftener.

Several ladies and gentlemen attended the dinner given by Mrs M Slanker. This was an enjoyable affair.

Mr Mus McLaughlin has been visiting in this part.

Mr Yancey Ligon attended the social at Mr Varner's. Yancey is a hustler at playing the game called "Old Maid."

John Sheets says he would like to go to Mingo to play foot ball, if it were not for quarreling with the women.

Howard Showalters family have returned after a visit on Elk.

Miss Emma Burner's school will close Thursday. We are all sorry to see her leave us.

The girls all think J. R. Showalter so much better-looking since he came back from Augusta, but they are all so sorry to think he is engaged.

C. W. Showalter has gone to Webster to work in the lumber camps.

C. P. Wreckless.

Laurel Creek.

Hurrah for the State of Pocahontas! Williams River is on a boom again.

H. Nathan and W. H. Shearer returned Sunday from a business trip to Randolph. They bought a nice pair of gray horses. You will please come and examine them before they are sold.

More trouble on the mountain. While Nathan was away some one laid down the rail fence to let the horses in the corn, and was kind enough to take an old black, burnt club and bust the blank fence of Nathan, Shearer & Co.

Cruit Reid moved the 11th inst. to his future home in Greenbrier County.

Luther McNeel's youngest child is very low at present. Also Mrs Snyder is suffering with consumption.

There was a panther at the house of H. Nathan early Sunday morning, which yelled at the front door and caused quite an excitement at 5 o'clock.

Old man Wilfong married John McGlaughlin and Sal Townsend, last Wednesday, at Warwick Simmons'. A nice dinner was prepared, and we wish them much joy.

Jim White is very sick with cold. We hope he will soon be better.

More Curative Power

Is contained in a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other similar preparation. It costs the proprietor and manufacturer more. It costs the jobber more and is worth more to the consumer. It has a record of cures unknown to any other preparation. It is the best to buy because it is the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills are the best family cathartic and liver medicine. Gentle, reliable, sure.

Lumber.

I have for sale a quantity of first-class white-pine lumber, well sawed.

Can furnish bills sawed to order if bills are given me by February 1st.

H. M. Moore,
Dunmore, W. Va.

Knapps Creek

We have had some delightful weather since Christmas.

Mr S. G. Dever, of Highland, was visiting his sister, Mrs Hamilton Moore. Mrs Moore is in a critical condition, suffering from consumption.

Mr Homer Gum and his sister, Miss Clara, were on the Creek Sunday.

Mr Price Moore and Mr M. F. Herold went to Marlinton on business last week.

Mr J. C. Harper, Miss Bessie Hannah, and Mr J. A. Moore are on the sick list.

Penic Herold left last Wednesday for Kansas, where he will make his future home.

Mr John A. Cleek is still keeping P. O.

The people want Hon John A. Moore for constable in this district.

I. B. Moore killed a hog that weighed 414 pounds.

Mr Price Moore's school will soon be out.

Some people say there is to be a bar-room at Frost in the near future. What a dreadful place it will be!—next door to the other place

The prospects are now that there will be some weddings in the near future. Keep your eye on the indicator.

Mr Wise Herold was in Highland on business last week.

"Jerry"

Look! This Way!

We call your special attention to your notes and accounts you are due us. We have waited on you a long time to pay us what you owe, but you have not done so. You will please call on S. B. Moore, Edray, W. Va., and pay every cent you owe. We cannot wait always on you for our money, and if our accounts and notes are not paid soon we will be compelled to place them in the hands of an officer for collection.

Very respectfully,
Moore & Hannah.
Per S. B. Moore. Jan. 8, 1897.

Persons who are troubled with indigestion will be interested in the experience of Wm. H. Penn, chief clerk in the railway mail service at Des Moines, Iowa, who writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the merits of Chamberlain's Cholera, Colic and Diarrhoea remedy. For two years I have suffered from indigestion, and am subject to violent attacks of pain in the stomach and bowels. One or two doses of this remedy never fails to give perfect relief. Price 25 and 50 cents; sold by all druggists.

Notice.

Our accounts are now ready for settlement. All persons are required to settle their old accounts before they ask for more credit.

2w Amos Barlow.

Farmers' Home Fire Insurance Co., of West Virginia.

J M. SYDENSTRICKER - - - President.
R. P. RITTENHOUSE - Sec'y & Treas.

INCORPORATED.

By the People and for the People.

For Isolated Property only. No Salaried Officers to Support. No capitalists to Enrich. No Loss, no Expense. Fair and Honorable Adjustment of all Losses. Cost less than one-fifth of what is paid stock companies, and is five times as secure. In most successful operation in all of the adjoining States. Thousands saved to farmers.

T. L. REYNOLDS & SONS, Agents
Lewisburg, W. Va

Lost! Lost! Lost!

Money Lost

by not trading with us. We mean business, as you will find if you give us a trial.

'The proof of the pudding is in the eating.'

Buy one bill of us for your own special benefit.

THE MONEY WE DO NOT SPEND PAYING TRAVELLING MENS' BILLS IS SHARED WITH OUR CUSTOMERS. WE SEEK NO TRADE THAT IS NOT OURS BY VIRTUE OF LOW PRICES AND HONEST GOODS. OUR REPUTATION AS

Spot Cash Buyers bring us bargains that credit never saw. We give bargains; the prices tell the people, and the people tell the prices.

We will take poultry

Monday, January 18, and will pay the following prices: (Dressed poultry, scalded, head and feet off, drawn.)

TURKEYS - - - - 8cts
CHICKENS - - - - 7cts

We will buy beeswax and fur throughout the winter. Friends, do n't forget to give us your trade.

Yours respectfully,

L. D. Sharp,
LINWOOD, W. VA.

Pay your subscription.

Nervous

People find just the help they so much need, in Hood's Sarsaparilla. It furnishes the desired strength by purifying, vitalizing and enriching the blood, and thus builds up the nerves, tones the stomach and regulates the whole system. Read this:

"I want to praise Hood's Sarsaparilla. My health run down, and I had the grip. After that, my heart and nervous system were badly affected, so that I could not do my own work. Our physician gave me some help, but did not cure. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Soon I could do all my own housework. I have taken Hood's Pills with Hood's Sarsaparilla, and they have done me much good. I will not be without them. I have taken 13 bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and through the blessing of God, it has cured me. I worked as hard as ever the past summer, and I am thankful to say I am well. Hood's Pills when taken with Hood's Sarsaparilla help very much." Mrs. M. M. Messenger, Freehold, Penn.

Cured

This and many other cures prove that

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.
Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills act easily, promptly and effectively. 25 cents.

RECEIVERS' RENTAL OF LANDS.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, made on the day of October, 1896, in the chancery cause of Levi Gay, et als., vs. J. B. Lockridge, et als., the undersigned special receivers will on the 6th day of Feb., 1897,

at the front door of the court house of said county, proceed to rent by way of public auction to the highest bidder for the term of one year, the lands in the bill and proceedings mentioned belonging to the defendant, J. B. Lockridge, consisting of the farm upon which the said Lockridge now resides, situated at Driscol, in said county. Said farm is in good state of cultivation and has thereon all necessary buildings in good repair.

Terms.—Cash in hand sufficient to pay costs of rental, and for the residue the renter executing bonds with good personal security, payable on the 21st day of December, 1897.

W. A. BRATTON,
L. M. McCLINTIC,
Receivers.

By order of said decree, the bond already given in this case is held sufficient for the above rental.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

VALUABLE

Property for Sale Privately.

One of the most complete residences in the county, situated in the village of Hillsboro, is offered for sale privately, on good terms.

This would be especially valuable to any doctor who wishes to locate in one of the best sections of the State. The owner, a physician, wishes to retire, for private reasons that will be perfectly satisfactory to any proposed purchaser.

Further information cheerfully afforded any inquirer by the editor of this paper.

Notice.

I hereby notify all persons from trespassing on my land by hunting, laying down fences, or in any other way. Joseph S. Smith.

SPECIAL POTATO FERTILIZER

and High Grade General Phosphates made from

VEGETABLE and ANIMAL MATTER,

Every farmer should write for prices, terms, and circulars.

AMERICAN REDUCTION CO.,
Pittsburg, Pa.

FEED, LIVERY
—AND—
SALE STABLES.

First-Rate Teams and Saddle-Horses Provided.

☞ Horses for Sale and Hire. ☜

SPECIAL ACCOMODATIONS FOR STALLIONS.

A limited number of Horses boarde.

All persons having horses to trade are invited to call. Young horses broke to ride or work.

J. H. G. WILSON,
Marlinton W. Va.

Notice.

Your accounts are footed up, ready for settlement. Please call on me at my place of business and pay what you owe. I cannot carry your accounts from year to year. Pay as you go and keep even.

Very respectfully,
Jan. 8, 1897. S. B. Moore.

The Pocahontas Times,

Hear, Land o' Cakes and brither Scots,
Frae Maidenkirk to Johnny Groats,
If there's a hole in a' your coats,
I rede ye tent it;
A chiel's amang you takin' notes,
An' faith he'll prent it.—BURNS.

Local Events.

THE grocery store of R. M. & C. A. Nottey, of Clifton Forge, was broken into last week and $1,554 taken from the safe.

FRED MCLAUGHLIN, son of G. H. McLaughlin, aged twelve, was thrown from a horse last week and broke his arm.

AN oyster supper has been spoken of for the benefit of the Daughters of the Confedracy, to be held at this place during the holidays.

H. S. RUCKER and N. C. McNeil were at Green Bank last Saturday to try a justice case against E. O. Moore, in which judgement was rendered on a note.

AN appeal has been allowed in the case of Williams and Patterson, trustees, vs W. H. Overholt and others from Greenbrier county.

ONE of the tallest men in the State is probably at Shepherdstown His name is John Henry Thomas; he is twenty-seven years old and measures six feet, nine and one-half inches in height.

THE Editor of the Greenbrier Independent's cow has strayed. The advertisement states that she was fresh. A small boy in Marlinton suggests that maybe she was "too fresh!"

THE worst freight wreck in the history of the Grafton and Greenbrier Railroad occurred between Grafton and Belington, Tuesday. A freight car left the track, tearing up an eighth of a mile and smashing fourteen cars. No one was seriously injured.

MORGAN, the Jackson county murderer, who was sentenced to die on the 16th of December, made his escape but was caught. He is the man for whom Judge Blizzard addressed the mob which came to lynch him, and who was in a few days tried and sentenced to death.

AN ore, which contains silver, tin and other valuable minerals, has been discovered on the lands of Peter Gum and W. G. Rodgers, and a partnership has been formed to develop it. The existence of the mine in Highland Co. has been known for years by one or two persons who used the metal for bullets. Until recently the exact spot has been kept very secret.

THE Bath Enterprise says that the McClintic Mill was stopped the other day, and the turbine being taken out it was discovered that a large eel was so wedged in the mechanism of the same that it could only be removed by cutting it in pieces. This mill is turned by the stream which flows from the Warm Springs. It is supposed that the eel was endeavoring to reach deep water for the winter.

THE Manufacturers Record in its "construction" department notifies contractors and manufacturers of machinery that railroad companies are now forming to develop that 300,000 acres of land, which is but a new name for Pocahontas county, and that upon the completion of the roads extensive developments will be made in the territory.

MRS WILEY, mother of Mrs G. H. McLaughlin, broke her leg last Monday, by falling out of bed. She has been at the McLaughlin House for several months. She is eighty years old, and has been down with the fever for a long time. She was recovering slowly and it is supposed that she was endeavoring to rise from her bed and had a fainting spell. Her recovery is extremely doubtful.

THE lands of William H. Overholt, situated in this county, have been sold by special commissioner L. J. Williams and the sale confirmed by the circuit court of Greenbrier county. The lands were sold here at public auction, October 14, but upset bids were put in on all the tracts. A. F. Mathews, who held the first lien became the owner of all the land including the mill at $2800, with the exception of the 50 acre Hull tract which was bought by Mrs M. J. Overholt for $75.

JOHN R. WARWICK, of Green Bank, recovered his horse which was stolen from his stable, November 19, after a ten day's pursuit. He found him in possession of Isaac Hoover, of Rockingham county, Virginia, who had bought him from John Wilfong. He had given $37 for the horse and executed his note. Wilfong attempted to shave the note in the neighborhood, and Hoover, hearing of it, bought the note himself for $36. He gave the horse up without a struggle. Willfong went to Harrisonburg and bought a ticket to a neighboring station. It is supposed that from there he went to Iowa where he lives. Constable Burner and a special constable are still after him. While in Beverly Mr Warwick struck the trail of a large gray horse, Sunday, November 20. It is supposed that he had been stolen from Greenbrier county. Circuit clerk Wilson, Beverly, W. Va., can give fuller information, Mr Warwick writes.

PERSONAL MENTION.

H. A. and B. M. Yeager are at home again.

Larry May has gone to Fairmont to work on the court-house being built at that place.

Rev J. D. Martin, P. E, of Lewisburg, preached at Marlinton last Monday, and held the quarterly conference.

Henry Moore, of Stony Creek, has recently imported a pair of blooded fox hounds from Ohio, that are giving the rabbits and foxes no rest, day or night.

Robert Malcomb has moved from Laurel Creek to Nathan Barlow's, near Indian Draft, where he expects to open a grocery and shoe shop.

C. E. Pritchard and family, of Dunmore, spent Sunday with C. A. Yeager, on their return from a visit to the former's brother at the Healing Springs.

Mrs Mary A. McClintic will spend this winter in Lewisburg, as usual. She left last week with her son, L. M. McClintic, who went on to Charleston.

E. F. McLaughlin, from near Dunmore, has moved to the McLaughlin Mill, near Edray, and has taken charge of the same and is running it for all there is in it.

Dr Page Barlow has disposed of his property on French Creek, and is expected to spend some time at his old home, near Edray, this winter.

Douglas McNeil, of Buckeye, has secured a position in Draughton's Business College, at Texarkana, Texas, as principal of the penmanship department. He left for Texas last Monday.

John Gibson, of Elk, was in Marlinton last week, and reports that the Grand Old Party will have four new voters in 1918, and should there be female suffrage then there will be one more voter to be counted on.

Highland county has the pleasure of entertaining a number of our young people this week. Misses Maud Yeager, Fannie McLaughlin Hattie Patterson, Daisy Yeager and James Patterson, Walker Yeager and Will McLaughlin are visiting in different portions of that county.

R. M. BEARD wants to buy sheep and those having sheep to sell can correspond with him.

MR ALLEN WILSON, a son of Hon Wm. L. Wilson, and Miss Frances Wilson, daughter of Dr. George B. Simpson, were married in the parlor of the hotel at Camden-on Gauley, December 2.

Two negroes were hunting together in Rockbridge county. One took the brown cap of the other for a coon and fired a load of no 4 shot into it. Most of the shot lodged in the shootee's head, but he suffered no special injury therefrom.

ANOTHER fire got started at the Yeager Hotel, Wednesday morning, about breakfast time. Ralph, the four year old son of the proprietor, upset a lamp in a bedroom. The lamp broke and the oil caught fire. It was put out by the prompt action of the boarders, who were at the table.

Two persons, names not learned, were building fence for John R. Poage, quite recently. While sawing down the last tree, they came near being killed. The tree struck the saw out of the hands of one and buried it in the ground, and missed the other persons body by only a few inches. It was a marvelous escape from instant death for both.

CURIOUS that the first snappy weather should come just as I drop the prices on some of my capes. Women who have use for a new cape are to be congratulated for such good fortune as this. Gray Kersy Capes reduced from $2.85 to $2.50. Black and blue double capes worth 3.50 reduced to 2.50. Bring your poultry next Tuesday.

Anniversary.

Sunday, December the 12, 1897, being the fourteenth anniversary of the dedication of the Edray M. E. church, a public service consisting of preaching, experience, and singing will be held, beginning at eleven o'clock A. M. promptly. The public are cordially invited. GEORGE P. MOORE.

Report of Rocky Point School.

Total no. of pupils:—Boys, 10; girls 11. Whole no. days present, 324; days absent, 27; non-members (days present) 48. Per eent. of daily attendance: Boys, 97; girls, 89; average per cent. 93.

Average age: Boys 13; girls 11. No. in the following studies: Orthographp, 21; reading, 19; penmanship, 8; arthmetic, 17; grammar, 2; language lessons, 2; U. S. history, 4; geography, 12; physiology, 2.

Primary grade, 6; intermediate, 11; upper, 4.

D. L. BARNES, Teacher.

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.
Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever 10c., 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money

DUNMORE.

A little cool.

There is talk of a Xmas tree at Dunmore.

Revrd. R. M. Caldwell is laid up like Job.

Oliver Bros. shipped 2600 lbs. of chickens last Satuday.

A. F. Carpenter is off to Beverly this week.

J. R. Warwick and C. L. Burner have returned with the horse but not the theif.

The rain last Friday prevented the hop, step and the jump at Frost.

H. S. Rucker, B. M. & H. A. Yeager, E. M. Arbogast, and Geo. Baxter were in town this week.

H. M. Lockridge and J. H. Doyle have bought a farm about three miles from town.

C. B. Swecker is selling Hite's Pain Cure, the most wonderful pain cure in the world.

About $2500 has been subscribed towards a merchant mill at this place. The architect says that he will build the mill and take stock in it.

The biggest trial on record was held before Justice P. D. Arbogast at Green Bank, last Saturday. Mrs Nannie Hevener plaintiff and E. O. Moore, defendant. Judgment was rendered for the plaintiff.

When the rail-road comes to Dunmore we will get Uncle Bill Gibson's oxen and haul the court-house up. JOHN SLICKHAMMER.

GILLESPIE.

We have had a fine rain and a few cold nights.

J. E. McLaughlin and Miss Rhoda Collins were married on December 7, at Green Bank, by Rev Eavey.

We are glad to hear that the threshing machine has been repaired and is operating again, after a long delay.

C. M. Acord will move his planing machine from Amos Nottingham's to C. Nottingham's, who expects to build a fine house.

E. Knisley has returned home, after several weeks of engineering.

We are expecting to hear the whistle of a locomotive at any time.

A large number of pheasants and wild turkeys have been seen crossing the Alleghany. JUMBO.

An Elopement Foiled.

Lest Thursday night about nine o'clock the town was thrown into a state of excitement by learning that Everet Lightner, a married man, had attempted to elope with Mrs Charles Friel. They lived in the same neighborhood, and there had been some slight suspicion that all was not right. About dusk Thursday evening two boys saw Lightner in the woods near the Friel residence, and when the woman disappeared shortly after dark it was surmised almost at once that she had gone off with Lightner.

Moff Waugh, a brother of Mrs Friel, was there and started in pursuit of them, going towards Marlinton; while the husband went to Big Spring to intercept them if they had taken that road. Waugh had chosen the right direction and overtook the parties near Colonel Levi Gay's residence. Lightner had with him as a supporter Chas. Beverage, who resented Waugh's interference and had raised his arm to shoot Waugh, when it was pulled down by the woman. The party was on foot, and it is supposed they had a team waiting for them at some point further on. The night was unpropitious,—a heavy rain was falling and the roads were deep with mud.

Waugh borrowed a horse of Col. Gay and brought his sister to Marlinton to a hotel, and had a warrant issued for Beverage.

The Lightners and Friels live in the narrow Greenbrier valley a few miles above Marlinton. Beverage is the man whom Judge McWhorter sent to jail last court for refusing to divulge the name of the man who had sold him whiskey. He was out of jail on his own recognizance to appear at the April term of court.

Lightner was in Golden's store on the evening of the affair and bought 15 cents worth of ginger snaps, 23 cents worth of cartridges, and a bottle of Indian Liniment. This is now regarded as the necessary outfit to elope. The bottle of liniment suggests the possibility of severe bruises.

Mrs Friel returned with her brother. On Monday her brothers brought her to the magistrate at this place, but he saw no grounds for taking jurisdiction in tne matter. The party was well armed with a Winchester and an old muzzle loading rifle that had a bore as big as a small cannon.

The circumstances attending Mrs Friels' leaving home are about as follows: Her husband suspected that something was wrong as she had removed part of her clothes. On Thursday evening she teft saying she was going to visit a sick neighbor at Ben Wilson's. Friel informed his brother-in-law, who went to Wilson's and found she was not there. He followed on and discovered her with the two men, as stated.

Their explanation of the affair is that they met by accident as they were all bound for Marlinton, and nothing of an improper nature was intended.

LINWOOD ITEMS.

Observing that there has been nothing in your valuable paper from this place for some time, I will endeavor to give you a few items for publication.

After some very wet weather, we have had a change which will more than likely usher in winter.

Our farmers are beginnihg—in obedience to the weather—feeding their stock winter rations.

Mr Dick Showalter says:

That playing a game of football,
And keeping "bachelors' hall,"
Is far better than
Being a married man,
And nursing babies that squall.

L. Tuke, who recently purchased a grazing farm near here, is wintering a neat bunch of cattle.

J. P. Tracy has just returned from taking a large drove of cattle to Virginia where they will be wintered.

Our old hero, Dr Lynch, will soon be off for Davis, where he expects to practice his profession in the lumber camps of that place.

George W. Sharp, a prominent citizen of Mill Hollow, expects to move to "Skinner's Creek," Lewis county. in a short time. We wish him much good luck in his new home.

Paddy Gay, our young stock-dealer, was in this neighborhood a few days since, where he got a fine shepherd pup, which he says by next fall will make one of the finest drivers in the county.

The boys say they are glad to have Professor Burner, of Yelk, visit their society so often. and so do some of the girls. Professor Burner says he can tell a girl's disposition by her eyes, so girls look to your eyes when the Professor is around.

Quite a large number of persons visited our place Saturday, December 4, to witness an exciting game of football which took place between the Linwood and Drybranch teams. The day was a fearful one being wet and rainy. Water stood 6 inches deep over half the field, but the boys played like it was a sunshiny day. Linwood seemed to score almost at will. This is the second match these teams have played this season. Linwood winwing both, the first by a score of 1—0 and the second 5—0. Dry Branch has the material for a good team, and with a little more practice will be first-class.

"THE DONKEY."

Please Take Notice.

All persons knowing themselves to be indebted to the old firm of Moore & Hannah, Edray, W. Va., will please settle their notes and accounts by January 1, 1898. All notes and accounts not paid by the above date will be placed in the hands of an officer for collection.

MOORE & HANNAH.
Per S. B. Moore.

Also all parties indebted to me will please pay up between this time and January 1, 1898. Respectfully, S. B. MOORE.
December 6, 1897.

Notice.

Sol. Davis is buying live poultry for the next four weeks. Turkeys, 7c; chickens, 6c. All kinds of goods exchanged for produce at very low prices. Also I have a full line of Mackintoshes—all prices.

SOL. DAVIS.

Notice.

All persons indebted to me by account will please come forward and settle between now and January 1, 1898, as I must have money to meet my obligations. Come and settle, and save trouble and costs. Yours for business,

R. L. NOTTINGHAM.
DUNMORE, W. Va., Nov. 13, 1897.

LOOK HERE!

WHAT YOU WANT IS——

To know where you can buy 100 cents' worth for 1 $. I will tell you. Come to my store. I don't mean to say I will sell you the largest load for the least money,—but that I will give you the best bargains to be had in "town." I am closing out my stock on hands, and for the next thirty days will sell you goods at nearly COST, FOR CASH, or good produce, such as Ginseng, Beeswax, &c.

Note these prices: Good Prints, from 4c to 6c, Scotch Lawn 5c, Satteen 8½c, Ginghams, 6½, Cable twill 11c, Cambric 4½ & 5c, Ticking 15c, Table Oilcloth 16c, Over Shirts 19c to 60c, Overalls, 35c to 90c, Jeanes 85c and $1.15, Suspenders, 10c to 45c, Hose 5c to 18c, Half Hose 5 and 15c, Lady's Shoes from $1 to $1.50, Lady's Oxfords, 90c to $1.00, Misses Shoes 85c to $1.25, Men's Shoes, $1.25 to $1.90, Tobaccos, 23c to 55c, Arbuckle Coffee, 12½c, Mowing Scythes 45c and 65c, Snaths 40 and 50c, Hay Forks 30 and 40c.

Other goods proportionately low.

Call and be convinced that you can get bargains of me for cash.

Submissively yours,

G. L. HANNAH,
YELK. W. VA.

DILLEY'S MILL.

Anderson Grimes has moved into his new house.

The literary society is growing in interest at Cove Hill.

We are having some fine rains, which are welcomed for water was getting scarce.

A man, by the name of Thomas, had a show at Mt Zion school house Thursday night.

The people are requested to meet at the church Wednesday to get wood and clean up the church yard.

Cattle drivers stopping with cattle in this State have no right to kill game. They should be dealt with as the law requires.

Rev Clutterbuck is holding a protracted meeting at the Buzard church and has had quite an interesting meeting and a number of convertions.

The Mt Tabor school house came near being destroyed by fire last week. Some bad person, out of employment, is supposed to have set it on fire. Jasper Dilley, Lanty McCarty and Henry Sampson extinguished the fire.

Yours truly. Lella Ann.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund the money if it fails to Cure. 25c.

DEATHS.

RIDER.—At Hunter, of typhoid fever, Kenney Rider, a widely known citizen of the top of Alleghany.

VANDERVORT.—At her home at Savannah, Greenbrier county, Miss Nellie Vandervort, daughter of F. P. Vandervort, of pulmonary trouble. She was a most estimable young lady, and had many friends in Pocahontas county.

BURGESS.—At Ronceverte, Mrs Floyd Burgess, of diptheria. Her husband is the son of William Burgess, of Academy. She leaves seven small children. She was a native of Greenbrier county, and was Miss Ella Hinkle, of Frankford.

RIMEL.—At Hunter, Mrs Mecca C., wife of R. D. Rimel, Monday, December 6, of typhoid fever. She leaves a family of five children. The deceased was a daughter of Samuel Harper, of Knapp's Creek, and was highly esteemed by all who knew her. Rev B. L. Parrot left Marlinton Tuesday to officiate at the funeral services.

Don't turn your back on proof. Send for our illustrated booklet which tells how others have been cured by Johnston's Sarsaparilla
For Scrofula, Kidney Troubles, Rheumatism, Nervous Exhaustion, and the hundreds of other diseases that are caused by bad blood. This wonderful and well-known blood purifier has no equal.
Price, $1 a Quart Bottle.
Williams, Davis, Brooks & Co., Detroit, Mich.

For sale by URIAH BIRD, Marlinton; and A. BARLOW, Huntersville.

The Great Earthquake.

We do not wish to shock you, as did the earthquake some time past, but we want to give you a few pointers. We have pulled price-raisers down and cleared the path to Bargaindom. There are no tricks or illusions about our business methods—we give prices and goods that bear the light of investigation.

We are constantly outdoing our own past brilliant doings in value giving. Honest, Palpable, Bonafide Bargains are what you want and always get here. We are undersold by none.

——SOME PRICES.——

1 dozen ½ gallon Mason Jars, 95c
1 pound Cornstarch, 5c
Peaches, 10c per can
Best Brown Sugar, 5c
Granulated Sugae, 6c
Good quality 3 prong Hay Fork, 25c
Hickory Home-made Cradles, $2.50
Good Prints, 3¾ 5¼ per yard.
Apron Ginghams, 5c per yard
Best Ticking, 14c per yard
Choice whole grain rice, 6c
Good quality Cuff-holders, 7c pair
24-inch Turkey Red Had'kfs, 5c each
Good quality Glass Tumblers, 25c set
Tobacco, from 20 to 4 c
Wool Pants, 85c

—Other Goods Proportionately Low—

We invite you all to come in and see what great bargains we are constantly putting on our shelves,

Yours for Business,
"High Quality and Low Prices"
L. D. Sharp.

CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
CURE CONSTIPATION
REGULATE THE LIVER
10c 25c 50c
ALL DRUGGISTS

THERE IS THE BEST
IN EVERY THING—
Here it is in Airtight Wood Heaters.

Wood Economy
Saving of Labor
Cleanliness
Perfection
Durability
Comfort.

You will admit this if you see the Stove.

SHORT Settlements make long friends
The year will soon be up;
I want to close up my old books,
I also want my money—
Come in please and settle up.
Let us see that every thing is
Satisfactory regarding the account;
Pay all you can and take up
Your account, giving note for balance.
Truly,
Paul Golden.

We are Ready for Christmas!

CHRISTMAS GOODS

Our holiday stock is large, our goods new, our prices low The latest in style, the finest in quality, the utmost variety.

The presents you want at the prices you like are all included in our splendid line of—

JEWELRY, LADIES CAPES,
CLOAKS, CLOCKS, BLANKETS,
FACINATORS, GLOVES, ALBUMS,
MACKINTOSHES, TABLE LINEN,
KNIVES & FORKS, DOLLS, TOYS
SILK MUFFLERS, Handkerchiefs
Looking glasses, Toilet Cases, Etc.

A fine line of Ladies Trimmed Latest Style Hats. Lamps.

Appropriate, sensible gifts for old and young are features of this magnificent stock, which commends itself to holiday buyers. If you wish to make few or many cheap presents this is your best chance: It will be impossible to make a mistake in your holiday buying if you select from the fair-priced stock of

SOL. DAVIS,
Green Bank, W. Va.

PLOW REPAIRS.

We have at last succeeded in making arrangements
To supply Points for the Ronceverte Plow.

{ Full stock now on hand }
{ Send in your orders early }

We are Factory Agents for
SILVER STEEL and IMPERIAL PLOWS,
also BEST HILL-SIDE PLOW on Market,

Don't Foget

THE WONDER AIR TIGHT HEATER
this Fall.

Simms & Co.,
Opp. Passenger Depot, RONCEVERTE, W. Va.

We have a plan by which Farmers can get
TOOL CHESTS FREE
Containing of first-class quality (guaranteed) every tool—Axes, Saws and Planes included—necessary to repair vehicles, machines or build a house. Three two-cent stamps and the name of this paper required for particulars. Powell Fertilizer & Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and first Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, and the fourth Tuesday of June and September—June is levy.

County Directory

Judge	J. M. McWhorter
Pros. Attorney	L. M. McClintic
Sheriff	R. W. Hill
Clerk County Court	S. L. Brown
Clerk Circuit Court	J. H. Patterson
Assessor	J. H. Buzzard
Com'rs. Co. Ct.	Amos Barlow C. E. Beard J R Warwick
Surveyor	George Baxter
Coroner	George P. Moore

BOARD OF HEALTH—Dr J. W. Price, L. M. McClintic, M. J. McNeel, R. W. Hill.

JUSTICES—Uriah Bird, Marlinton; A. C. L. Gatewood, Linwood; P. D. Arbogast, Green Bank; W. H. Grose, Huntersville; G R. Curry, Academy; T. A. Bruffey, Lobelia.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty four hours: a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney remedy fulfils every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urin and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following the use liquor, beer, or wine, and over comes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle ond pamphlet both sent free by mail. Mention The Pocahontas Times and send your address to Dr Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Tee proprietors guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

YOUR FORTUNE

is your health. Your happiness is your strength. Keep the Head and Throat clear and healthy and your mind and brain is always at rest and ease. CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER is the greatest relief to mankind in all head troubles. CURES COLDS, SORE THROAT, CATARRH. That awful odor of Catarrh disappears by its use. Wonderful in Hay Fever and Asthma. ☞ BUY ONLY CUSHMAN'S.

If you can't get it at Druggists send for it. By mail, 50 cents. Send for Book on Menthol. free. CUSHMAN DRUG CO., VINCENNES, IND., U. S. A.

THE ODELL TYPE WRITER.

$20 will buy the ODELL TYPE WRITER with 78 characters, warranted to do as good work as any machine made.

It combines SIMPLICITY with DURABILITY, SPEED, EASE OF OPERATION wears longer without cost of repair than any other machine. Has no ink ribbon to bother the operator. It is NEAT, SUBSTANTIAL, nickel plated, perfect and is adapted to all kinds of typewriting. Like a printing-press, it producrs sharp, clean, legible manuscripts. Two or ten copies can be made at one writing. Any intelligent person can become an operator in two days.

Reliablo Agents and Salesmen wanted. For Pamphlet giving Indorsements, etc., address,

ODELL TYPE WRITER CO.
358-364 Dearborn St. CHICACO, ILL
Mention this paper.

R·I·P·A·N·S
Packed Without Glass.
TEN FOR FIVE CENTS.

This special form of Ripans Tabules is prepared from the original prescription, but more economically put up for the purpose of meeting the universal modern demand for a low price.

DIRECTIONS.—Take one at meal or bed time or whenever you feel poorly. Swallow it whole, with or without a mouthful of water.

They cure all stomach troubles; banish pain; induce sleep; prolong life. An invaluable tonic. Best Spring Medicine. No matter what's the matter, one will do you good. One gives relief—a cure will result if directions are followed.

The five-cent packages are not yet to be had of all dealers, although it is probable that almost any druggist will obtain a supply when requested by a customer to do so; but in any case a single carton, containing ten tabules, will be sent, postage paid, to any address for five cents in stamps, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York. Until the goods are thoroughly introduced to the trade, agents and peddlers will be supplied at a price which will allow them a fair margin of profit, viz.: 1 dozen cartons for 40 cents—by mail 45 cents. 12 dozen (144 cartons) for $4.32—by mail for $4.82. 6 gross (720 cartons) for $20.52. 25 gross (3,600 cartons) for $100. Cash with the order in every case, and freight or express charges at the buyer's cost.

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WANTED-TRUSTWORTHY AND ACTIVE gentlemen or ladies to travel for responsible, established house in Pocahontas County. on hly $65.00 and expenses Position steady. Reference. Enclose self-addressed stamped envelope - The Dominion Company. Dept. W. Chicago.

GIVEN FREE EACH MONTH (During 1897)

4 First Prizes, each of $100 Cash.
20 Second " " " $100 Pierce Special Bicycles.
40 Third " " " $ 25 Gold Watches.

FOR Sunlight SOAP WRAPPERS

For particulars send your name and full address to Lever Bros., Ltd., Hudson & Harrison Sts., New York.

Direct from Mill to Wearer,
★ Which Saves you 4 Big Profits. ★
The Commisson House. The Wholesaler. The Jobber and Store Keeper.
E. ROSENBURGER & CO. 202-204 E. 102nd St., NEW YORK CITY.

$5.00 SUIT FOR $2.98

We pay all Express Charges.

Our Great Bargain Offer! BOYS' ADONIS SUITS, WITH EXTRA PAIR OF PANTS.

These Suits are guaranteed to be made from imported Wool Cheviot, in Black, Blue, Grey and Brown, in sizes from 3 to 9 years of age. Made up double-breasted, with Sailor Collar—Collar fancy embroidered — lined with fast Black Albert Twill Sateen and Patent Waist Bands. Trimming and Workmanship the very best. Sizes for ages 10 to 15 years, without Sailor Collar. Mention age at last birthday, and if large or small.

$2.98 with Extra Pants.
Sailor Collar.

★ JUST THINK OF IT! ★
A CUSTOM MADE TO ORDER
$14.00 MAN'S SACK SUIT For $6.98

What you can save by buying direct from the manufacturer.

Guaranteed to be made from All Wool, Fancy Brown, Gray, Black or Blue Tweed, made in latest style, lined with Imported Farmer Satin, trimmed and finished in the best of Custom Tailor manner. You cannot duplicate it in your town for $14.00. Sizes 34 to 42.

The same goods made for Youths, 13 to 18, in long Pants, Coat and Vest 6.00

How to measure men's & youth's Suits:

Measure around the breast and waist over the Vest, and from crotch to heel for Pants.

When ordering, send Post-Office Express money order or Registered Letters. Money cheerfully refunded if not satisfactory. Send 2c. stamp for samples, tape measure, measuring blanks, etc.

THIS STYLE
$6.98

$22 IRISH FRIEZE MEN'S ULSTERS $10.75
Largest Value ever Offered.

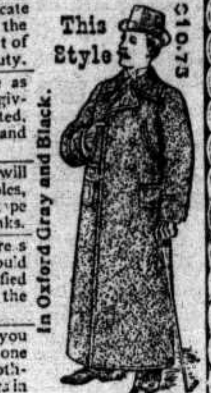
On account of the failure of one of the largest Commission Houses here, representing a Woolen Mill in Ireland, we bought last Spring the entire production of their gray and black Irish Frieze of 6,000 pieces at a sacrifice. Therefore we are able to sell them at the above less than the raw material price, $10 75, never before in the history of clothing and propable never again will you have a chance to get half such a value for your money. Above price is less than the new tariff duty on the material. They are made up double-breasted as per cut below, with raised seams lined throughout with extra heavy woven plaid linings, pinked facings all pockets framed and well stayed with extra deep storm collar and throat latch. Above Ulsters are retailed at $22.00 after these are closed out we will not be able to duplicate them for double the price on account of the new tariff duty.

Measure same as for a Sack Coat, giving length wanted, also hight and weight.

A 2c. stamp will bring you samples, catalogue, tape measure and blanks.

We pay express charges and should you not feel satisfied we will refund the money.

Remember you buy direct from one of the largest Clothing manufacturers in America.

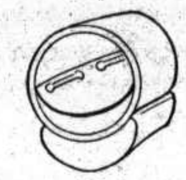


This Style
$10.75
In Oxford Gray and Black.

TIRES THAT LEAK.

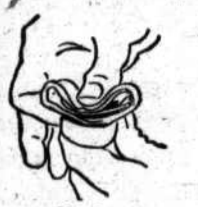
The Morgan & Wright single-tube quick-repair tire must be regarded as a distinct improvement in bicycle tire construction. It has the following advantages:

While punctures in it can be repaired with plugs, or semi-liquid injections, as well as in any other single-tube tire, it can be permanently repaired by using the quick-repair strip inside the tire. See cut No. 1.

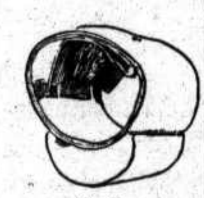


No. 1.

By injecting M. & W. quick-repair cement through the puncture, and then pressing down on the tire with the thumb, as in cut No. 2, the repair strip inside is picked up by the cement, thus closing the puncture, as in cut No. 3.



No. 2.



No. 3.

The Morgan & Wright single-tube quick-repair tire is guaranteed not porous. This is on account of the way in which it is made. Nearly every rider has heard of tires that "leak like a sieve."

Many tires rot, because water gets into the fabric between the two layers of rubber. The Morgan & Wright fabric is proof against moisture.

Everybody knows how comfortable Morgan & Wright tires are, and yet how seldom they puncture. This is due to the fabric.

Ask any bicycle dealer whether other tires last as long as Morgan & Wright tires. Ask, also, what the Morgan & Wright guarantee means. Morgan & Wright tires are repaired free of charge, at the factory in Chicago or at any of the Morgan & Wright free repair shops, located in the principal cities.

N. B.—When you have a puncture, get right off. Riding a tire flat, when it has a tack or nail in it, may damage it considerably.

FEED, LIVERY
—AND—
SALE STABLES.

First-Rate Teams and Saddle-Horses Provided.

☞ Horses for Sale and Hire.

SPECIAL ACCOMODATIONS FOR STALLIONS.

A limited number of Horses boarde.

All persons having horses to trade are invited to call. Young horses broke to ride or work.

J. H. G. WILSON,
Marlinton w. Va.

Lightning Hot Drops—
What a Funny Name!
Very True, but it Kills All Pain.
Sold Everywhere, Every Day—
Without Relief, There is No Pay!

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

NEWS AND OPINIONS
OF National Importance

The Sun
ALONE
CONTAINS BOTH.

DAILY, by mail, - - $6 a year
DAILY and SUNDAY $8 a year

THE Sunday Sun
is the Greatest Sunday Newspaper in the World.
Price 5c a copy. By mail $2 a year
Address THE SUN, New York

Commissioner's Notice

Office of S. B. Scott, Jr., Commissioner, Marlinton, W. Va., November 19, 1897.

Pursuant to a decree of the circuit court of Pocahontas county, made in a cause therein pending on the 8th October, 1897, entitled—

Thomas L. Conlehan et als.,
vs.
Daniel O'Connell,

I will proceed at my office in the town of Marlinton, W. Va., on the 20th day of December, 1897, to take, state, and report to court the following matters of account viz:

1st—The liens against the land in the bill and proceedings mentioned, with their respective legal dignities and priorities, and especially whether or not the lien retained by N. S. Alderman is an existing lien.

2d—Whether or not the said land will in five years rent for enough to pay out the liens thereon.

3d—Any other matter, etc.

Respectfully,
S. B. SCOTT, Jr.,
Comm'r. in Chancery.

NOTICE to LIEN HOLDERS.

To all persons holding liens by judgment or otherwise on the real-estate or any part thereof of Daniel O'Connel:

In pursuance of a decree of the circuit court of Pocahontas county, made in a case therein pending to subject the real estate of the said Daniel O'Connell to the satisfaction of the liens thereon, you are hereby requested to present all claims held by you and each of you against the said Daniel O'Connell which are liens against his real estate or any part of it, for adjudication to me at my office in the town of Marlinton, Pocahontas county, West Virginia, on or before the 20th day of December, 1897.

Given under my hand this 19th day of November, 1897.

S. B. SCOTT, Jr.,
Comm'r. in Chancery.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

The Greenbrier Railroad.

The incorporation of the Greenbrier Railroad Company of West Virginia, has brought to light the plans of an enterprise organized by New York capitalists, which has for its object the development of the coal fields of that state. The capitalists interested have purchased from John T. McGraw of Grafton a tract of 300,000 acres of wild land in the northeastern part of West Virginia, for which they paid $520,000.

In addition to this tract, they have obtained control of some smaller ones, making their total holdings nearly a half-million acres. Rich beds of coal underlie these lands, and the mining of this coal will soon begin.

The Greenbrier Railroad Company capital stock is $100.000, and the incorporators are M. E. Ingalls Decatur Axtell, H. C. Simms, F. B. Enslow, and J. M. Gill. The Greenbrier road is to run from the Chesapeake and Ohio road at the mouth of Greenbrier river to a point within ten miles of the lands recently purchased.

The purchasers of the lands are to tske the bonds issued for the construction of the road. It is also anncunced that the New York syndicate has obtained control of the Dry Fork Railroad, which runs through a portion of the recently purchased lands.

The connexion of Mr Ingalls with the project shows that the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Co. is to profit by it. Mr Ingalls himself announced a few weeks ago that he would soon be in position to make rates on Kanawha coal to Duluth and St. Paul, which would shut Pittsburg and Eastern Ohio coal out of those markets.

Mining engineers report that the coal in the recently acquired lands is the finest in the State.—Baltimore Sun.

WHEN the color of the hair is not pleasing, it may be beautified by using Hall's Hair Renewer, a preparation invented to restoreand improve the hair and its color.

$100 Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleasep to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraturnity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists. 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Meeting of Stockholders.

NOTICE is hereby given, pursuant to the Code of West Virginia, chapter 54, section 36, that the first meeting of the stockholders of the Greenbrier Railway Company, for organization and such other proceedings as may lawfully come before the meeting, will be held at the office of Simms and Enslow, attorneys at law, Huntington, W. Virginia, on Thursday, the sixteenth day of December, 1897, at the hour of 12 M.

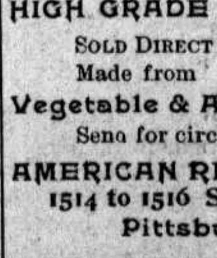
J. M. GILL,
H. C. SIMS,
F. B. ENSLOW } Majority of Corporators

C. B. SWECKER,
General Auctioneer
and Real Estate Agent.

I sell Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands Farms and Town Lots a specialty. 21 years in the business. Correspondence solicited. Reference furnished.

Postoffice—Dunmore, W. Va., or Alexander, W. Va.

HIGH GRADE FERTILIZERS
SOLD DIRECT TO FARMERS.
Made from
Vegetable & Animal Matter.
Send for circulars.
AMERICAN REDUCTION CO.,
1514 to 1516 Second Avenue,
Pittsburg, Pa.



$18. IMPROVED SINGER. FREIGHT PREPAID.

For this style new high arm sewing machine with all attachments warranted 10 years. If machine is not satisfactory in 30 days money will be refunded. Send cash with order. Descriptive circular sent on application.

WHAYNE M'F'G CO.,
560 FOURTH AVE., LOUISVILLE, KY.

SELL YOUR BRAINS HAVE THEM PATENTED and put on the Market. Millions in it. All kinds of Patent Business skillfully handled. Address NATIONAL INFORMATION BUREAU, Washington, D. C.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York

CASTORIA.
The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

Tutt's Pills
Cure All
Liver Ills.

A CLEAR HEAD;
good digestion; sound sleep; a fine appetite and a ripe old age, are some of the results of the use of Tutt's Liver Pills. A single dose will convince you of their wonderful effects and virtue.

A Known Fact.
An absolute cure for sick headache, dyspepsia, malaria, sour stomach, dizziness, constipation bilious fever, piles, torpid liver and all kindred diseases.

Tutt's Liver Pills

The Danger of Chewing Gum.

The custom of gum-chewing, which is quite common in this country, as the legions of slot machines for selling chewing-gum testify, seems to have but recently gained ground in England judging from comments in English journals. The following note from The Hospital is especially interesting as controverting the principal claim of advocates of gum on this side of the water, namely, that its use aids digestion by stimulating the flow of saliva. Says the journal just named:

> Attention has been called to the danger attending the sale of chewing-gum by an inquest which has been recently held at Lincoln on a child aged been seven and eight years old, who died after eating this substance, which it not unnaturally imagined was a sweetmeat. We would point out, however, that, besides such risks as this, the habit of masticating this filthy compound of flavored india-rubber is undoubtedly the cause of much dyspepsia. The constant titillation of the salivary organs kept up by chewing this stuff not ouly causes a steady drain of saliva, which is most wasteful, but, what is more serious still, in consequence of the frequently repeated stimulation to which these organs are exposed, they fail to respond to the normal excitation which ought to rouse them to action when food is taken. A constant dribble of salivary secretion is substituted for the healthy flow which should only occur at meal times. The glands fail to respond to any stimulant less potent than peppermint, aniseed or other conatituents found in chewing-gum; and the more insipid foods, such as bread and other starchy foods, pass into the stomach unchanged. This is disturbing to digestion at its very commencement, and it is extremely probable that the indigestion for starchy substances, which is so commonly met with at the present day, is largely due to the waste of saliva caused by smoking and the constant chewing of various substances which we see going on all around. The chewing of gum is thus not only a nasty habit, but it is provocative of ill-health. Unfortunately, whed chewing-gum is sold in the form of a sweetmeat it may cause still more serious consequences being apt to be swallowed by children, who, like their first parents, when they see that it is apparently good for food and pleasant to the eyes, are undeterred by the superscription, "not to be eaten."

GOOD SALARIES!
LIFE POSITIONS
IN UNCLE SAM'S SERVICE
are within the reach of all: male and female. Now is the time to prepare yourself and get in line. Full information relating to Government positions and how to obtain them, salaries paid, scope and dates of examinations, &c., &c., given cheerfully by the NATIONAL CIVIL SERVICE INSTITUTE, 14 N. Y. Avenue, Washington, D. C.

SCROFULA.

One of America's most famous physicians says: "Scrofula is external consumption." Scrofulous children are often beautiful children, but they lack nerve force, strong bones, stout muscles and power to resist disease. For delicate children there is no remedy equal to of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. It fills out the skin by putting good flesh beneath it. It makes the cheeks red by making rich blood. It creates an appetite for food and gives the body power enough to digest it. Be sure you get SCOTT'S Emulsion.

Scott's Emulsion

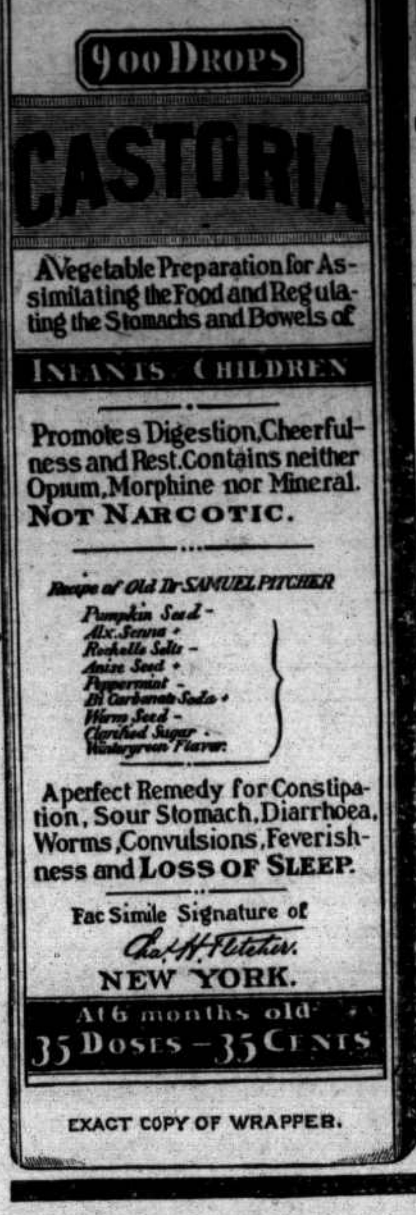
50c. and $1.00; all druggists.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.



900 DROPS
CASTORIA
A Vegetable Preparation for Assimilating the Food and Regulating the Stomachs and Bowels of INFANTS CHILDREN
Promotes Digestion, Cheerfulness and Rest. Contains neither Opium, Morphine nor Mineral.
NOT NARCOTIC.
Recipe of Old Dr SAMUEL PITCHER
Pumpkin Seed -
Alx. Senna +
Rochelle Salts -
Anise Seed +
Peppermint -
Bi Carbonate Soda +
Worm Seed -
Clarified Sugar -
Wintergreen Flavor.
A perfect Remedy for Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Worms, Convulsions, Feverishness and LOSS OF SLEEP.
Fac Simile Signature of
Chas. H. Fletcher.
NEW YORK.
At 6 months old
35 DOSES — 35 CENTS
EXACT COPY OF WRAPPER.

CASTORIA
The Kind You Have Always Bought, Bears the Fac-simile Signature
—OF—
Chas. H. Fletcher.
ON THE WRAPPER OF EVERY BOTTLE.
THE KIND YOU HAVE ALWAYS BOUGHT.
THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

The Osborne
SPRING-TOOTH HARROW.

The frames are made in one piece of steel angle bar, and formed to withstand all strain without buckling or warping. The teeth in this harrow are so spaced that they will not trail each other, Pulverizing the ground thoroughly. The steel pipe tooth bars are mounted in maleable boxes secured to the frame, and will not bend or break. The peculiar shape of the teeth curling twothirds about the bar gives the greatest amount of spring possible without straining the bolts, and because of their shape and fastening are stronger than used on any other harrow. By the levers the depth of work can be regulated while the harrow is in motion. The draft is steady and direct as the harrow has no side motion.

ALL THESE FEATURES COMBINED HAVE MADE THE OSBORNE CELEBRATED.

It has no EQUAL,—it never will have a SUPERIOR.

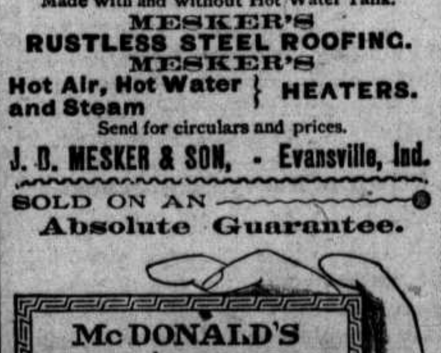
Call and examine the Osborne line consisting of—BINDERS, MOWERS, RAKES, TEDDERS, HARROWS AND CULTIVATORS.

The most complete line of Farming Implements to be found in the State.

FOR SALE BY—
EAGLE & OTT,
RONCEVERTE, W. VA.

MESKER'S STOCK TANK

MESKER'S
STOCK TANK.
Made of Rustless Galvanized Iron.
MESKER'S
RUSTLESS STEEL TANKS.
Round or Square.
MESKER'S
Patent Portable Folding Steel Bath Tub.
Made with and without Hot Water Tank.
MESKER'S
RUSTLESS STEEL ROOFING.
MESKER'S
Hot Air, Hot Water and Steam } HEATERS.
Send for circulars and prices.
J. D. MESKER & SON, - Evansville, Ind.



McDONALD'S
CELEBRATED WORM POWDERS
THE GREATEST WORM DESTROYER OF THE AGE.
EASY AND PLEASANT TO TAKE.

SOLD ON AN Absolute Guarantee.

Smallest dose.
Easiest to take.
Entirely vegetable.
Most certain and never-failing Worm Destroyer EVER DISCOVERED.

Sold for a quarter of a century with continually increasing demand. Think a moment. Does this not mean merit?

125,000 Children yearly Sent to their Graves by Worms.

McDONALD'S
CELEBRATED WORM POWDERS
would have saved them all.
PRICE, 25c. PER BOX.
For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicines.
Manufactured only by the proprietor,
J. A. McDONALD,
Reedsville, Pa.

MADE UPON HONOR,
SOLD UPON MERIT.
PACKER BICYCLES
FULL OF BEAUTY,
GRACE AND STRENGTH.
EVERY WHEEL WARRANTED.
Responsible Dealers invited to Correspond with us.
MANUFACTURED BY
THE PACKER CYCLE CO.
READING, PA.

NEW
Champion Washer.
Will wash Cleaner, Quicker, with more ease and less injury to the clothes than any machine now in use. Over 75,000 sold, all giving satisfaction.

Don't confuse this with the Washing Machines you have seen.
This is something entirely new.
Can not get out of order.

PRICE WITHIN the REACH of EVERYONE.

SEND FOR CIRCULAR.
Champion Washing Machine Co.,
310 West Pearl St., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 15, NO. 21 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, DECEMBER 17, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 203.

This quarter-sawed oak writing desk is polished like a piano. It has a 9-inch beveled plate glass in top and a deep drawer below. Artistic French legs; also finished in mahogany.

$3.95 is our special price for this $10 desk.

(Mail orders filled promptly.)

We will mail anyone, free of all charges, our new 112 page Special Catalogue, containing Furniture, Draperies, Lamps, Stoves, Crockery, Mirrors, Pictures, Bedding, Refrigerators, Baby Carriages, etc. This is the most complete book ever published, and we pay all postage. Our lithographed Carpet Catalogue, showing carpets in colors, is also yours for the asking. If carpet samples are wanted, mail us 8c. in stamps. There is no reason why you should pay your local dealer 60 per cent. profit when you can buy from the mill. Drop a line now to the money-savers.

JULIUS HINES & SON,
Baltimore, Md.

Please mention this paper.

$18. IMPROVED SINGER. FREIGHT PREPAID.

For this style new high arm sewing machine with all attachments warranted 10 years. If machine is not satisfactory in 30 days money will be refunded. Send cash with order. Descriptive circular sent on application.

WHAYNE M'F'G CO.,
560 FOURTH AVE., LOUISVILLE, KY.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

JOHN A. PRESTON FRED. WALLACE
PRESTON & WALLACE,
Attorneys at Law,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Greenbrier and adjoining counties, and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

Biographic.

Richard Hill, whose ancestral blood courses the veins of a great many worthy citizens, now claims our special notice in this paper. It is generally believed he came to this region soon after the armies of the Revolution were disbanded, from North Carolina. He was one of the more distinguished of the earlier pioneers as a scout and a vigilant defender of the forts.

Upon his marriage with Nancy McNeel, daughter of the venerated pioneer of the Levels, John McNeel, he settled on Hill's Creek, a few miles west of Hillsboro, on lands lately occupied by Abram Hill's family. As long as Hill's Creek flows and murmurs his name will be perpetuated. The Hill family consisted of three daughters, Elizabeth, Martha, and Margaret; and seven sons, Thomas, John, Abraham, Isaac, William, Joel, and George.

Elizabeth Hill became Mrs John Bruffey, and lived on Bruffey's Creek. In reference to her family the following fragmentary particulars are given: Nancy Bruffey married Levi Hooker, from Connecticut, a dealer in clocks and settled in Missouri. Eliza Bruffey became Mrs Robert Moore, near Edray. Late in life her family went to Iowa. George P. Moore, Esq., now of Edray, is one of her sons. Davis and Clark were the other two, now in Iowa.

Martha Bruffey married James Ewing, and lived some years near Marlinton, and finally settled in Nicholas county, West Virginia.

Margaret Bruffey married Morgan Anderson, now of Hills creek.

Julia Bruffey was married to William McClure, on Little Anthony's Creek.

Lavinia Bruffey married Claiborne Blaine and went west.

Harriet Bruffey was married to Wesly Cruikshanks, and went west

Bradford Bruffey married Miss Mary Watts, of Greenbrier. T. A. Bruffey, Esq., and Mrs Ida Sarver are his children.

Murray Bruffey married Miss Lizzie Craig, and lives in Nicholas county.

John Bruffey, Jr., married Maggie Hill, daughter of George Hill, son of the pioneer.

Martha Hill was married to Geo. Gillilan, of Greenbrier county near Falling Spring. In reference to their family the following particulars are in hand: Richard Gillilan married Miss Mary Handley, and lived near Frankford. Richard's daughter Jennie is now Mrs Wallace Warwick Beard, of Hillsboro. Another daughter, Sarah, became MrsStuart and went west; and another daughter, Mattie, was married to Cyrus McClung, Esq., of Frankford.

Margaret Hill, daughter of the pioneer, was married to Samuel Gillilan, brother of George Gillilan just mentioned, and settled in Illinois. Her children were Electa, Talitha, Nancy, Lydia, John, Samuel, and Shadrach Chaney. Shadrach Chaney, while a mere boy, was sent to mill and was killed upon his arrival at the mill by an enraged Illinois lad who claimed to be in ahead of Shadrach. His mother's grief was inexpressible, as may be readily believed.

Thomas Hill, in his day a very prominent citizen of Pocahontas, married Anne Cackley, daughter of Valentine Cackley, Sr. of Mill Point. First lived on Hill's creek, the place now owned by Aaron Hill, and then located near Hillsboro, where he spent most of his life. Their family were five daughters and three sons: Martha, Mary, Nancy, Eveline, Lavinia, William, Richard, and George.

Colonel John Hill married Elizabeth Poage, and lived near Hillsboro. When far advanced in years he migrated to Missouri, and located in Daviess county. So many families from this region have gone to that county that it might be called the Missouri Pocahontas. In this family were seven sons and four daughters. Margaret, who became Mrs Chesly K. Moore; Nancy, Mrs William McMillion; Elizabeth and Mary, who married in Mo. The sons were Richard, William, John, Thomas, Robert, Davis, and George.

Abraham Hill married Sallie Burr, daughter of Aaron Burr, of Greenbrier county, and lived on the old Hill homestead. In his family were nine sons and one daughter: John, Richard, Thomas, George, Aaron, Joel, Doctor, Peter, William, and Rebecca. This daughter was first married to the William Cackley, near Mill Point. She is now Mrs A. J. Overholt. Lee Cackley is her son, living on Stamping Creek. The writer remembers Abraham Hill with feelings of strong attachment for many reasons. He wrote me several letters while I was a student at college, manifesting great interest in my personal welfare and speaking words of christain encouragement. All which I reciprocated to the best of my ability. He came near sudden death while baiting for wolves with poison. A puff of wind blew some of the strichnine into his face. He never recovered fully from the effects, tho he survived many years.

Isaac Hill did his wooing in the Lower Levels, and won the confidence and affections of Jennie Edmiston, daughter of William Edmiston, who was specially mentioned in the Biographic Notes not so long since. He settled on Hills Creek. Two sons and two daughters composed his family. Nancy, Rebecca, William, and Richard.

William Hill, son of Richard Hill, married Ann Ray, near Locust, and settled in Nicholas county. There were three sons and two daughters in this family, Elizabeth, Nancy, John, Arcnibald and Joseph.

Joel Hill, son of Richard Hill, paid a number of visits to Greenbrier county, and when he came home with his young wife, Rebecca Levisay, his friends found out what the attraction had been. He settled near Hillsboro. In this family were six daughters and two sons. Mary Frances is now Mrs Sherman H. Clark, near Hillsboro; Ann Eliza was married to Oscar Groves, of Nicholas county; Martha was married to Mansfield Groves, of the same county; Melinda became Mrs Levi Gay, near Marlinton, first wife; Caroline was was married to D. A. Peck, Esq., on Hill's Creek, first wife. Her daughter is now Mrs Adam Young. Lucy was married to Hon William Curry, and lives near Huntersville.

Allan Hill was in Missouri at the breaking out of the war. Being suspected for cherishing Confederate sympathies he was slain by over-zealous Union partisans.

Richard Washington Hill married Margaret Watts, of Greenbrier county, and lives on the homestead. He is at this time sheriff of Pocahontas county.

George Hill, son of Richard Hill of honored memory, married Martha Edmiston. He was married twice. By the first marriage there were four sons and a daughter: Margaret, Franklin, Claiborne, Isaac, and William. George Hill's second marriage was with Rebecca Cruikshanks. By this marriage there were four sons and two daughters: Henrietta, Minnie, Wallace, Joel, Chalmers, and Sterling.

This venerable man died early in the forties, full of days and greatly respected. The writer was at Colonel John Hill's home when he returned from the burial of his father, and listened for hours to Colonel Hill's reminiscences of his grand old father; but alas, so much has faded from his memory that he would like to write.

Richard Hill, whose family history we have just endeavored to illustrate, with the assistance of our lamented friend Mrs Nancy Callison, his worthy grand-daughter, seems to have been endowed with a charmed life. It would be better to say that in the providence of God he had a mission to perform and was immortal until that service should be accomplished.

The Indian brave that slew Jas. Baker, one of the first school-masters in this region, had shrewdly planned to shoot Baker in the act of crossing the fence and kill Richard Hill with his tomahawk before he could be able to recross and escape to the Drennan House, near Levi Gay's.

While Richard Hill was repairing his broken rake, in the ryefield at Edray, near the graveyard, an Indian in the fallen tree-top aimed repeatedly at his breast and put his finger on the trigger time and again, and every time something seemed to restrain him. The Indian thought it was the Great Spirit, and seemed to have felt it would not do to kill a friend of the Great Spirit and thus incur his anger.

Then while scouting in the mountains toward Gauley, he was thrice aroused by alarming dreams and when the morning dawned he discovered that an Indian had tried three times to steal upon him and scalp him while asleep.

There is also a tradition that a detachment of Indians were in ambush for several days near Mr Hill's home on Hill's Creek, for the special object of capturing or killing him, as they had come to feel there would be little or no use to raid this region while he was alive or at large. They had taken up the idea that the owner of such a nice house would dress much better than any body else, and would not work with his own hands. They saw men at work in reach of their guns, but none of them dressed to suit their ideas as to how Mr Hill would be attired. It so turned out that Mr Hill was one of the hands, and it was his work-day dress that beguiled the Indians and prevented his being shot at or captured.

Mr Hill was one of nature's noblemen who relied more on pure, genuine character than mere superficial appearances, and therein lay the secret of his safety and success. A pure character and a genteel appearance make a lovely sight, but a genteel exterior and an impure character make a nuisance that is simply unendurable to all except human John Crows or vultures.

W. T. P.

CHINA offers to pay for the two German missionaries who were recently killed, if the Germans will go home and say no more about it; and thereby hangs 1,000,000 taels.

SHEEHAN has had to relinquish his position in Tammany because he told a lie during the heat of the campaign. Croker believes in the truth.

SINCE the killing of Walter Croot, the champion light-weight pugilist of England in a prizefight, in London, the football enthusiasts think they have scored a point on the relative harmlessness of the two games.

THE Aberdeen University's literary society, presided over by a nephew of J. M. Barrie, has decided that the Scottish school of fiction does not deserve the favor it has received; and they did not mean to be sarcastic either.

THERE was nothing startling in the President's message. It would seem that the administration means to lie low and do nothing to interfere with the tide of prosperity which is about due. By so doing they hope to take up that which they laid not down, and reap what they did not sow.

THE town of Guisa, Cuba, fortified by the Spaniards and garrisoned with 800 men, was wiped out of existence by the Cuban army under General Garcia. Only 45 Spaniards were taken alive. The Spaniards were promised protection if they surrendered, but they yelled "Long live Spain!" and answered with a volley. A large number of Cubans were killed.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN, the man whom we and the Populists exalted, is now lecturing on free silver and charging an admittance fee of fifty cents. The poor, populistic farmer has to turn away, as it takes a man with money to hear him. It would be better to say nothing about him, but we cannot help groaning and being troubled in spirit whenever we think of him.

Notions.

The custom of calling persons aside and speaking to them apart is a nuisance that can hardly be avoided, but which could be greatly abridged. It is one of the most common sights in the world for a man to approach a group of men, and draw one man out of hearing of his fellows and make a mysterious communication to him in sight of the people. If the act is done upon the stage the speaker says in a deep suprulchral tone, "I would confer with you!" and the rest vanish. If in real life it is more apt to be "I want to speak to you a minute!"

I know of nothing which has a tendency to excite the curiosity of those who have been debarred hearing the communication; even tho they know, if they think a moment, that it is ten to one liable to be a dun or some other matter equally uninteresting. For a moment those who stand afar off and watch feel like there is not a secret in the world that is of half the importance of that which is being imparted in their sight. This feeling is momentary, however, and is forgotten almost as quickly as it arose. By the time the two apart have settled to their talk, the interest has died away.

It is a habit that people have. A matter which is of some importance to them may worry the man whom they button-hole in this style inexpressibly. For instance, the man who writes this is very apt to have his hands full on court day and many a man has called him away from a crowd when he was busy and tired to tell him he could not pay him anything this court, but in a short time he would send in some money. The intention of these natural born gentlemen is good and is appreciated, but it almost seems that the good-natured customer is adding injury to injury by requiring a confidential chat on the busy day of the year.

We once heard of a merchant being approached ln this way. A man led him outside, around the corner and where no eye could see or ear hear, and in a guarded whisper asked him if he wanted to buy a cow.

The merchant said, "Come with me!" He led the man down an alley, thro the barn yard, into the stable, up into the mow, and, looking around to see that nobody was in sight, told the man he did not want to buy a cow. It is to be hoped he taught the man not to involve a common transaction in so much mystery and seeming importance.

Another kind of man was a famous character in Gilmer County, lately deceased, who a man of a good deal of importance in the farming circles, who could not whisper. He was very prone to draw his man to one side of the group and there communicate with him in a voice audible to the crowd he had taken the man from. He must have been a very "comfortable man," as the blacksmith said of the priest who kissed his wife.

Still another man had the habit as bad, who, whenever he had anything to tell that he thought would interest his neighbors, could never bear to tell it to more than one at a time, and when he chanced to approach a group of men he would draw each one aside in turn, and impart his information in a painful way by whispering with very bad breath into the face of his listener.

It is well enough not to proclaim business matters from the steeple, but there is reason to think that this custom is abused in very many instances by our people.

⁂

REALLY and truly, without joking, lying or misrepresenting the true case, the West Virginia School Journal is a very readable magazine under the management this year. Those who have known this wonderful journal in past days may be incredible, but no one was more predjudiced against it before this winter than the writer. We had considered it such a collection of dry rot as was not to be found elsewhere in the world. We remembered the Journal in the days when the fates had us teaching school. At one institute the instructor made it plain to be seen that any of the teachers who did not give him a dollar for the magazine was no friend of his and to keep peace with the powers that were, while we were electioneering for a no. 1 certificate, we allowed our selves to be euchered out of a dollar. That year the Journal was as dry as a bill in chancery and brought on heavy fits of sleep. It was something of a puzzle too. The reader would think that there might be some hidden meaning to some of the articles and would try them on again, only to fall back beaten and discomforted.

Nothing was allowed in its columns except such articles which breathed forth a spirit of funereal gloom. Having been brought thus to avoid it, this year we failed to notice several numbers until accidentally we glanced into a number and found that it was good—a real pleasure to read it. We feel that it is our bounden duty to herald the fact, for fear that others with similar experiences may be fighting shy of what is really very well worth reading.

The Same Old Sarsaparilla.

That's Ayer's. The same old sarsaparilla as it was made and sold 50 years ago. In the laboratory it is different. There modern appliances lend speed to skill and experience. But the sarsaparilla is the same old sarsaparilla that made the record—50 years of cures. Why don't we better it? Well, we're much in the condition of the Bishop and the raspberry: "Doubtless," he said, "God might have made a better berry. But doubtless, also, He never did." Why don't we better the sarsaparilla? We can't. We are using the same old plant that cured the Indians and the Spaniards. It has not been bettered. And since we make sarsaparilla compound out of sarsaparilla plant, we see no way of improvement. Of course, if we were making some secret chemical compound, we might.... But we're not. We're making the same old sarsaparilla to cure the same old diseases. You can tell it's the same old sarsaparilla because it works the same old cures. It's the sovereign blood purifier, and —it's Ayer's.

LOUISIANA is determined not to turn the government of that State over to the colored men, tho they are numerically the stronger and all vote the same way. The late law practically disenfranchises him In the county of Plaquenines, which formerly had a negro registration of 2,500, only five negroes have been able to show sufficient intelligence to register. In the county of West Baton Rouge not a single negro is registered.

DISCUSSING American competition in England, "Engineering," London, says: "It is not only in rails that the war of competition, which, from a pessimistic point of view, may gradually develop into a war of extermination, is now raging. We appear to be growing more and more dependent on American machine tool-makers; indeed it is not an exageration to say that during the now vanishing period of depression in the United States, many once prosperous engineers' works must have been closed up but for the never-failing support of Europe. We are dependent on the United States to build the elevators for the Central London Railway; and we have to look to the other side of the Atlantic for the electrical plant with which the traffic is to be worked. It is notorious that we are unable properly to equip an electrically worked tramway, and that until our manufacturers take the trouble to learn how, the large and increasing contracts for this new industry will be taken by Americans. Now that so many employers of labor are suffering from enforced idleness by a ruinous strike they may find time to learn why we, who still blindly call ourselves the leading industrial nation of the world, are content to close our eyes to what is going on."

IN A FAIR WAY OF SETTLEMENT. —"Well," said the Congressman from Owattomy, "I guess the Indian problem has been solved at last. We'll soon be rid of the red men now."

"How so," asked one of his constituents.

"They've taken up football."—Cleveland Leader.

Wood-Alcohol.—It is not generally known that sixty per cent of wood may be converted into liquid. The strongest hydraulic presses would not squeeze out one-half of one per cent of moisture from dry wood, but by putting the same amount of material into an iron retort and converting it into charcoal by means of heat, the gases and smoke to the extent of fully 65 per cent of the weight of the wood may be converted into a liquid called pyroligneous acid, and from it are obtained wood alcohol acetate of lime and wood tars. A cord of wood weighing 4,000 lbs. produces about 2650 pounds of pyroligneous acid and 700 pounds of charcoal. The pyroligneous acid from one cord of wood produces nine gallons of 82 per cent crude wood alcohol, 200 pounds of acetate of lime, and about 25 gallons of tar, and 35 bushels of charcoal.

After the pyroligneous acid is neutralized with lime, the wood alcohol is distilled off, the lime holding the acetate acid in solution. After the separation of the wood spirit the remaining liquid is boiled down to a sugar, which is dried, and becomes the acetate of lime of commerce. Acetate of lime is used for making acid. Fully three-fifths of the wood alcohol and the acetate of lime produced in the world are made in the United States, and 15,000 acres a year are cleared for this purpose. Wood alcohol affords a perfect substitute for grain alcohol for all manufacturing and mechanical purposes and at less than one-third the cost. It is used principally as a solvent in making shellac varnish, and in making celluloid, photographic paper, etc. It makes many beautiful dyes, is an antiseptic, and for skin rubbing in bath houses.—Boston Journal of Commerce.

Reindeer at the Gold-Mines.—Within the past few years reindeer have been introduced into Alaska under appriations from Congress, and the number of animals now there is estimated at about 1,200. They were originally introduced mainly for the benefit of the destitute natives, but they have proved themselves more useful to the white inhabitants than was anticipated, and now it is thought that they can be employed to great advantage in transporting freight and supplies to and from the goldmines on the upper Yukon River. Commissioner Harris thinks the reindeer may solve "the difficult problem of winter transportation and communication in northern Alaska."—Youth's Companion.

HERE is a very attractive design for a Christmas card which may be sent by wealthy people to their less fortunate friends and relatives.

No. 633, Dec. 25, 1897.
THE TENTH NATIONAL BANK OF SQUEEHAWKETT.
Pay to Jane Witherspoon......or order.
One Hundred..............Dollars.
$100. J. KLONDIKE.

The wording can be altered to suit the special case in view.—Harpers Bazar.

"YES sir," said the inventor, that armor-plate will stand any test you may give it." "I wonder," said the corporation lawyer thoughtfully, "if it will stand the test of the courts."—Cleveland Plaindealer.

FINANCIAL SUCCESS.—"What is your idea of luck?"

"Collecting all the money I have earned."—Chicago Record.

THE next time Seth Low goes into a New York campaign he will know enough to lay aside his halo and carry a corkscrew.—Detroit News-Tribune.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets. Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, Dec. 17. 1897.

Entered at the post-office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

SUIT is to be brought against the late Secretary of State, W. E. Chilton, whose shortage is estimated at $32,000.

THE trial of Colonel Eastham for killing Frank Thomson, at Pasons, Tucker county, has been on hand for several weeks, and is probably finished by this time. Witnesses of the affair testify directly opposite. A large number say that Eastham fired the first two shots, and an equal number say that Thomson fired the first two shots. In the course of the testimony one witness admitted that he blew up the Blackwater Dam at the instance of Eastham This has been a mystery up to the present time. The dam flooded Eastham's fields. A large number of prominent lawyers are in the case on both sides. The issue is extremely doubtful.

NO NEWSPAPER should publish the attempts of people to be funny by making a burlesque of the form of prayer and addresing it to some man of political prominence. It is sacriligious in the extreme. The Webster Echo last week prints an original one more coarse and repulsive than any we have seen. It begins: "Again we bow down to thank Thee, O Father William," and continues in a way that must have been extremely painful to its christian readers. We have refused to print a couple specimens of low wit like this lately, and we take this opportunity of explaining that we do not believe in that which mocks religion or religious observances.

THE editor of the Hinton Independent-Herald says that the editor of the Pocahontas Times is a mugwump. Joseph H. Choate says that a mugwump is a man educated beyond his intellect, and all agree that mugwumps cannot help being mugwumps, and therefore it is thoughtless and cruel to reproach a victim with his misfortune. For instance, if the editor of the Independent-Herald was an idiot, no one would be justifiable in calling him one. It would be a case of "the greater the truth the greater the libel." We deny the charge perfunctorily, but if anyone is really interested in the matter we will take pleasure in undergoing an examination to determine whether or not we really have softening of the brain.

THE Gauley River Company, which was chartered December 5, has been organized for the purpose of acquiring and developing mineral lands, operating sawmills, mining coal, drilling for oil, operating railway, telephone, and telegraph lines, bottling mineral waters, conducting hotels, stores, etc. We presume this gigantic combine seeks to monopolize and we expect to hear of it getting a corner on money very soon. The Populists should look after it very closely. The paid up capital is $50.000 with the privilege of increasing to $500,000.000, (if they can.) The principal office of the company is to be kept at Lane's Bottom, Webster County, in a house. One of the incorporators is well-known to Marlinton people. He is no other than Mr Dashwood Ricketts, a brother of W. B. Ricketts, of Klondike.

THE first copy of the new Republican paper at Ronceverte has reached us. It has adopted the name, "The West Virginia News," a rather imposing title for a patent sided newspaper to assume. Typographically it lacks individuality, as the home print looks like the Ronceverte Messenger and News. It is issued as the official organ of Greenbrier. Monroe, Webster, Nicholus and Pocahontas counties, and guarantees to advertisers a subscription of 2.000 and that it will be sent to every post office in the five counties. The salutatory is written by Hon. Alex McVeigh Miller who is a Republican of tender years. He refers to that myth the Silver Trust, and he believes in it like Saint George did the Dragon. When sun went down on the Democratic party a few years ago, Mr Miller felt like logicians say Adam must have felt at the end of the first day, that the sun was never to rise again, and so by easy stages he journeyed into the other party. Upon the whole we wish the new enterprise great success.

IMPORTANT DEEDS RECORDED

Three big deeds were recorded in the county clerk's office this week which mark the consumation of the land deals which have excited so much interest and roused so many hopes in the people of this county for a railroad. Two of the deeds are executed to the Greenbrier River Lumber Company, a corporation chartered by the State of West Virginia, 1897, of which C. M. Warner. of Rochester, is president; and J. N. Beckley is secretary, and having its principal office in the city of Rochester, county of Monroe, and State of New York.

The first deed is from Eli M. Upton and wife, of Rochester, to the Greenbrier River Lumber Co. for 35,034 acree in Randolph and Pocahontas. This land lies on the headwaters of Greenbrier River, the greater part being in this county. As we understand it, this is the land which the Rochester Boom and Lumber Company had intended to develop. The consideration recited is one dollar. This deed is written on twenty-five pages of legal cap, and calls for twenty-four tracts of land.

The second deed to be mentioned is one from John T. McGraw to the Greenbrier River Lumber Company for 66,872½ acre, all situated in Pocahontas county, and comprising 143 original tracts of land of different sizes. The consideration named in the deed is $668,725, the receipt whereof is acknowledged. This deed is a very voluminous document and is closely typewritten on sixty pages of legal cap. This land is situated in the Greenbrier River valley. Thus passeth a big slice of land rich in natural resources, on which county land owners have patiently paid taxes and held for many generations, but which has not repaid them until now in the least the expenses incurred in holding it.

The third deed is of great significance. It is the deed of trust by which the Greenbrier River Lumber Company mortgages the above tracts amounting to over 100,000 acres to the New York Security and Trust Company for $400,000. The deed recites that at a meeting held on the 2d day of September, 1897, the Greenbrier River Lumber Company, three thousand and fifty shares being represented out of the total issue of three thousand five hundred shares, it was resolved that the company issue bonds to the aggregate sum of $400,000. in denominations of one thousand dollars each, dated October 1, 1897 to be due and payable in gold coin in the present standard of weight and fineness, October 1, 1917, to bear 5 per cent. interest from October 1, 1897, payable semi-annually. The limitation of issue of bonds is fixed at four dollars in bonds for each acre of land.

A provision is made for a sinking fund, to be formed by paying to the trustee to whom this mortgage is given the sum of 50 cents upon each thousand feet of timber the company sells or otherwise disposes of. This amount shall be held by the trustee for the redemtion of bonds and the payment of interest on the bonds. Each of said bonds has forty coupons of twenty-five dollars each. The first is payable on the 1st day of April, 1898.

In order then to secure the payment of these bonds according to their tenor and effect, said company "does grant, bargain, sell, alien, remise. release, transfer, convey, and confirm unto." the said Security and Loan Company, the tracts in the above two deeds.

The conditions are long and numerous concerning the land remaining in possession of the Greenbrier River Company to be developed. The deed is signed by Charles S. Fairchild, President of the New York Security and Trust Company; and Osborn W. Bright. Secretary. It is type-written on 117 pages of legal cap paper.

Altogether, the county clerk is too busy to fix watches this week.

In the issue of the Times for for August 6 last, this plan of capitalizing this large tract of land was spoken of as being in view and in the way that has been done.

About the only doubt remaining is whether the road will come by Marlinton and turn up the river and traverse these lands, or whether it will cut along the foothills of the Alleghany to Traveler's Repose. A line built on the latter route would not occupy the field in anything like the manner the route up the principal stream of the county would.

OBITUARY.

Miss Nellie E. Vandervoort.

Died, near Lewisburg, December 2, 1897, five o'clock in the morning, Miss Nellie E. Vandervoort, aged twenty-one years, eight months and nine days. The deceased was a daughter of Mr and Mrs F. P. Vandervoort. Miss Nellie was a very superior young person, and had she been spared to realize her hopes and aims there was every promise of her being an inestimable blessing to her fond parents, brothers and sisters.

Several years since she professed her faith in Christ and was received into the Linwood Presbyterian Church in Pocahontas County.

About two years ago she was prostrated by influenza, but soon after rising from that illness pulmonary troubles developed, and after lingering many months she passed away from her earthly home.

In a recent letter E. D. King, Esqr., writes: "Her death was calm and peaceful, and she had given every evidence of that preparation of heart that indicates fitness for a home in heaven. Her death is a sorrowful event to us all, but we try to be submissive to the will of our Heavenly Father, who doeth all things well and who has promised to sustain us in all our bereavements. Thanks be to God who gave our loved one victory through our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. We will trust in his promises for our comfort."

Some day all these sorrowing ones, who so sadly mourn the departure of this estimable young lady will see that while God was good in giving them such a precious daughter and kind sister, He was equally good in taking her away as He has seen best to do. He does not afflict willingly nor grieve the heart of the children of men. Our Father in Heaven never makes mistakes. He gives and takes away, then blessd be his name.

"Daughter, thou hast left us,
Here thy loss we deeply feel,
But 'twas God who hath bereft us,
He will all our sorrows heal "

W. T. P.

Mrs Mecca C. Rymel.

It is with sadness we announce the death of Mrs Mecca C. Rymel, wife of R. D. Rymel, which occurred at her home at Hunter, Pocahontas county, on December 7, 1897 The deceased was a daughter of Mr and Mrs Samuel Harper, Sunset, W. Va., and was in the forty-third year of her age. She leaves a devoted husband and six children to mourn her loss.

She had been for a number of years a member of the Methodist church, and was a lady of beautiful christian faith, a devoted mother and a faithful wife. Mrs Rymel labored earnestly to rear her family in the simple faith in which she lived and died. When her oldest daughter was at the point of death with typhoid fever the faithful mother nursed her thro the crisis. When, broken in health, she and a young child became the victims of fever about the same time.

She never seemed to think of herself—her thoughts being directed to the others. After battling for four weeks with the disease, that fond mother's heart ceased to beat, her tired hands folded in rest and the spirit fled to the God who gave it—dying as she had lived in her child-like faith in the promises of our Savior.

Her remains were interred in the family cemetary, situated on a beatiful knoll overlooking the home where she had been born and reared. There her form is waiting for the Shepherd's summons, while her soul is beyond the stars.

The community extedd their sincerest sympathy to the aged parents in their sorrow who are so patiently awaiting their summons to join their daughter on high, knowing that "He scourgeth every one whom He receiveth." Great sympathy is felt for the sorrowing husband and children. May they ever turn to Him, who guards even the sparrow, for strength to battle with every temptation of life, and be as victorious in death as that angel mother.

A FRIEND.

Driscol, Dec. 10, 1897.

ON another page will be found a scientific article on wood alcohol. A large number of deaths occur each year from this poison, in all the instances the persons drinking it as an intoxicant. The beginner in the use of alcoholic stimulants is misled by the name and drinks and dies, in about the same manner that the uneducated sheep eat laurel. The name of the commodity should be changed to spirits of wood, or some other name which would not delude the drinker into thinking he was taking something to "jolt" him.

Please Take Notice.

All persons knowing themselves to be indebted to the old firm of Moore & Hannah, Edray, W. Va., will please settle their notes and accounts by January 1, 1898. All notes and accounts not paid by the above date will be placed in the hands of an officer for collection.

MOORE & HANNAH.

Per S. B. Moore.

Also all parties indebted to me will please pay up between this time and January 1, 1898. Respectfully, S. B. MOORE.

December 6, 1897.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE FOR TAXES.

Notice is hereby given that the following described tracts or lots of land in the County of Pocahontas, weich are delinquent for the non-payment of taxes for the years 1895 and 1896, will be offered for sale by the undersigned Sheriff, at public auction, at the front door of the Court-house of said county, between the hours of ten in the morning and four in the afternoon, on Tuesday, the 4th day of January, 1897. Each tract or lot, or so much thereof as may be necessary, will be sold for so much cash as is sufficient to satisfy the amount due thereon, as set forth in the following table:

NAMES OF PERSONS CHARGED WITH TAXES.	QUANTITY OF LAND.	LOCAL DESCRIPTION.	Total amount of taxes, interest, costs of publication, and commissions being amount necessary to redeem before sale.	Total amount of taxes, interest, costs of publication, commissions, and fee for receipt.
Green Bank District	Acres.
Arbogast Sol Est.	10	Alleghany mt	47	72
" W F Est	60	" "	2 34	2 59
" Adams Est	55 80	ad A M V Arbogast	9 62	9 87
Same	58 120	ad B M Yeager	12 10	12 35
Same	50	" "	1 99	2 24
" Jacob H	10	Home place	50	75
" Maggie E	81	waters Deer creek	4 38	4 63
" Adam C	35	Spillman place	3 25	3 50
Same	5	waters G. River	40	65
" J. R. & L S Tusk	1600	" "	13 14	13 39
Burner Virginia	131	Big mtn	2 51	2 76
Bradshaw J B	1	Coopers Barn	1 58	1 83
Beverage Jno H	83	waters Deer creek	1 75	2 00
Same	22	E G R	71	96
Carpenter Chas	26½	Thomas Creek	2 58	2 83
Campell J B Hrs	60	wts Gr. r	3 37	3 62
Carpenter Margaret C	46	Thomas creek	2 27	2 52
Cunningham Luhana	129 40	Little river	6 82	7 07
Carpenter Jno Sr est	143 80	Thomas creek	6 31	6 56
Collins W H	100	W G R	1 57	1 82
Darnell W S	225	near Trav Repose	5 01	5 26
Davis Jno W est	15	Buffalo mt	60	85
Dever Jno's est	248	Allghany mt	3 44	3 69
Darneil Henderson	160	near Trav Repose	7 02	7 27
Darah E H, Kritter & M J Clark	240	hd wts Gr river	6 35	6 60
Driscol Jno & J M & P Kinsports	1839	" " "	46 51	46 76
Driscol Jno	200	E N Moore tract	3 69	3 94
" " & P Kinsports	1600	hdwts Gr river	53 90	54 15
Same	800	" "	28 12	28 37
Same	381	" "	13 20	13 45
Same	1641	" "	55 07	55 32
Same	60	" "	2 36	2 61
Same	410	East "	14 09	14 34
Same	420	" "	14 39	14 64
Same	637	" "	21 67	21 92
Same	597	" "	20 33	20 58
Ervine Ed's est	50	Allghy mts	2 04	2 29
Gregg Geo A	10	" "	99	1 24
Galford Thos Hrs	138	Boreman's run	11 87	12 12
Gragg Barbara M	116	Brush run	4 20	4 45
Gum Polly S	70	wts Deer creek	3 25	3 50
Grogg Jno W	100	Buffalo run	6 16	6 41
Same	9	" "	87	1 12
Same	245	" mt	4 44	4 69
Same	120	J H A Land	2 37	2 62
Gilmore Alex	120	Allgy mt	1 83	2 08
Hutton Alf	298	½ of 596a tract	5 43	5 68
Heveners J est	20	hd N Fork	1 02	1 27
Hamilton Wm hrs	132	near forks Gr river	3 43	3 68
Same	30	Back Alleghany	76	1 01
Hutton N B	298	McNeill land	5 35	5 60
Houchin Ellis est	100	wts Gr river	7 01	7 26
Same	130	adj Arbogast	7 96	8 21
Luntz Annie E	100	Salisbury run	1 58	1 83
McLaughlin Jas L	7	Back All'ygy mt	93	1 18
Same	16 80	" "	2 81	3 06
Same	12	Deer creek	50	75
" Dan Est	45	" "	1 08	1 33
McCutcheon Jno B	2800	Thomas creek	47 17	47 42
Same	77	wts Gr River	1 37	1 62
Same	80	Elk Lick run	11 20	11 45
Pullin Loise C	84	All'y mt	3 19	3 44
Pugh Marietta R	29 20	Deer creek	2 56	2 81
Rheinstrom Alf	125	Greenbrier	4 59	4 84
Rader W F & P B	120	Buffalo mt	3 20	3 45
Slaton Robt G	107	" "	3 92	3 17
" W J	20		1 53	1 78
Same	40	Leather Ridge	99	1 24
Sheets Jacob s est	135	Back Alleghany	9 31	9 56
Sutton Wilson R	81	adj A Nottingham	11 10	11 35
Same	18	" "	1 27	1 52
Simmons Sallie & E E Butchers hrs	887	Forks Gr river	22 58	22 83
Sutton Geo M	53	Greenbrier	7 84	8 09
Same	50	W wts Deer creek	4 52	4 77
Same	50	Little mtn	95	1 20
Scott Frk B	100	hdwts Gr River	2 75	3 00
Turk R S & J L Arbogast	1600	wts Gr River	27 63	27 88
Whitescarver J M	100	hd "	2 76	3 01
Wade Chas	507	Alleghany	13 19	13 44
Edray District
Armstrong B F	51	Swago	3 59	3 84
Barnes M L	30	R L Run	1 04	1 29
Brown H (col)	70	"	1 97	2 22
Burgess Paul D	18 10	Swgo creek	1 20	1 45
" B M	150	" "	2 70	2 95
Ervine Wm D	160	Old Field Fk Elk	7 05	7 30
Friel A A	140	Gr River	2 08	2 33
" Jos est	30	W Gr River	1 25	1 50
Same	167	" "	2 93	3 18
Same	305	W Thorny creek	3 92	4 17
Gay M J	11	Sulphur Spring	4 52	4 77
Gibson M E F & M C Hannah	444	Big Spring	14 39	14 64
Gatewood Warwk est	700	End Cheat mt	16 80	17 05
Same	26 80	Big Spring of Elk	5 30	5 55
Same	215 80	" "	12 68	12 93
Hogsett Sam Est	88¾	Old Field Road	28 31	28 56
Same	138	" "	13 39	13 74
" J T	59	" "	4 98	5 23
Hannah W R E & C	142	Greenbrier river	2 55	2 80
" David's est	290	W side Gauley mt	7 16	7 41
" W K E	81	Adj Beverage & Co	2 95	3 20
Jackson, James (col)	100	Brush Run	3 50	3 75
Johnson, J E	100	W Greenbrier	5 08	5 33
Same	300	" "	3 83	4 08
Kellison, Jno J & S J	111	Buckley mt	3 81	4 06
Loudermilk, S J	18	Stoney creek	1 50	1 75
same	105	Swago	5 09	5 34
Lyle, Samuel W	750	wts Elk river	17 90	18 15
McComb, George T	25	Greenbrier river	1 87	2 11
Simmons, j w, n r & w	61	Leather creek	3 86	4 11
Thomson, Jos L	1 32	Big Spring	6 37	6 62
Wood, Blaine R	52	Dry Branch	4 68	4 83
Wood, Walter	6500	Elk river	496 81	497 06
same	20000	" "	1527 13	1527 38
White, George	1473	Laurel creek	69 52	69 77
" Isabelle	214	" "	9 42	9 67
" Wm H's estate	332	" "	10 74	10 99
Yeager, B M	63	wts Elk	2 34	2 59
same	293	Williams river	9 68	9 39
Huntersville District	Acres.
Alderman's heirs	183½	Douthards creek	3 20	3 45
same	820	" "	5 64	5 89
Buzzard, M A & G A	142	Little Back Creek	5 27	5 52
Barnett, Sabina M	310	Greenbrier River	5 69	5 94
" John M	1	Knapps creek	61	86
Bowers, John E	37	waters Knadps crk	1 31	1 56
Blyholder, J B	1600	Alleghany mountain	69 70	69 95
Bradshaw, Wm's h'rs	100 40	Marlin's mountain	1 61	1 86
Beard, M W	50	Beaver creek	2 06	2 31
same	415	" "	18 32	18 57
Bird, George H	120	Alleghany mt	1 88	2 13
Barrett, O & JDPrice	360	from J P McComb	12 96	13 21
" " Jr	230	from J D Price	8 19	8 44
Cobb, A	100	Buckley mt	3 79	4 04
Chapman, F	200	Beaver creek	15 86	16 11
same	10	" "	52	77
Clark, A A, Maggie, & E H Darrah	70	Knapps Creek	2 79	3 04
Campbell, D H	180	Alleghany mt	2 59	2 84
same	30	" "	70	95
same	30	" "	70	95
same	30	" "	70	95
same	30	" "	70	95
Campbell, William	90	" "	1 48	1 73
Coulter, Mary A	139	Beaver creek	2 72	2 97
Courtney, Geo Ws est	111	Brushy mountain	2 26	2 51
Daugherty, Taylor	22 80	Knapps creek	2 85	3 10
Driscol, John	305		21 44	21 69
Same & P Kinsport			22 32	22 57
same			7 27	7 52
same			52 40	52 65
same			19 42	19 67
Gammon, James est		Ball Ailey Lot	78	1 03
Harris, R heirs	4	Knapps creek	48	73
Hogsett, J T	256 90 P	" "	18 14	18 39
same	4 80-160	Punk Hill	3 15	3 40
same	29	" "	1 62	1 87
same		Lot 25 Huntersville	1 36	1 61
same		Lot 24 Huntersville	1 22	1 47
same		" 24 and 25 "	2 48	2 73
Holcomb, James	48	E Cochran's creek	1 95	2 20
Hamilton, Garvin	30	Alleghany mountain	80	1 05
Herold, Horace T	1 28	near Frost	9 17	9 42
Handy, Shell & Susan	1	" "	1 19	1 44
Harper, Samuel	200	Alleghany mountain	2 94	3 19
same	5	Knapps creek	40	65
same	94 40	" "	40 17	40 42
same	542 80	" "	9 79	10 04
same	25	" "	65	90
same	28	Brown mountain	70	95
same	105	Knapps creek	29 46	29 71
Lowe, J B	165	Price land	18 20	18 45
same	150	Buzzard land	31 54	31 79
orty, S & Baumg'dm	767	Marlins mt	13 49	13 74
otheny, Daniel's es	25	Alleghany mt	97	1 22
McComb, A B	10	Marlins mt	46	71
Moore, Zane, W and H F Herold	10 44	Frost	9 18	9 43
Dramel, B & JDPrice	360	from McComb	12 94	13 19
" Barrett	230	from Price	8 16	8 41
Roller, J E	137	" "	9 85	10 10
same	785	Beaver Creek	27 52	27 77
Ray, George S	260	Greenbrier river	5 92	6 17
Snedegar, J C	150	Cave run	10 73	10 98
Seebert, J est & H'rld	600	wts Douthard creek	21 15	21 40
Shafer, R P G	15	Buckley mt	87	1 12
Slanker, D W C		part lot no 6	97	1 22
Seebert, Jacob's heirs	41	Douthard's creek	6 92	7 17
same	200	" "	2 93	3 18
same	7	" "	93	1 18
Skeen, Wm	44	adj Charls Gum	1 49	1 74
Sharp, Andrew	5	Browm creek	1 03	1 28
Simms, B W	160	Piles mt	3 09	3 34
Townsend, W T	100	E Greenbrier river	3 91	4 16
White, Henry and J Seibert's heirs	1200	Middle mt	15 91	16 16
Wallace, Isabella	350	E Greenbrier river	4 86	5 11
Webb, Amanda	135	Buckley mt	2 69	3 94
Young, Charles E	189	Marlins mt	2 78	3 03
Little Levels District
Hogsett, Martha J	50	Near Mill Point	17 38	17 63
Hogsett, J T	107	" "	51 18	51 43
same	75-160	" "	57	82
Kincaid, Sarah H	20-160	Rush Run	41	66
Lewis Christopher	875	Mill Run	13 43	13 68
same	870	" "	13 37	13 62
same	100	" "	1 82	2 07
Overholt, W H	300	Cherry & Spr creek	7 10	7 35
same		120 poles, Hillsboro	2 23	2 48
same	25	Locust creek	8 19	8 44
same	20	Cherry Glade	68	93
same	243	Mill Run	4 97	5 22
same	243	" "	3 97	4 22
Prior, Charles	10	adj Isaac McNeel	1 82	2 17
Roller, J E	250	Poplar Flats	15 88	16 13
same	500	Burr Land	31 42	31 67
Rider, A T, J & L J	138	Poplar Flats	4 79	5 04
Smith, David (col)	356	Greenbrier river	4 64	4 89
Skeen, William	184 80	Droop mt	3 77	4 02
Smith, Erie E	138	Poplar Flats	2 93	3 18
Waugh, B H est	243	Mill Run	3 97	4 22

Any of the aforesaid tracts or lots may be redeemed by the payment to the undersigned Sheriff, before sale, of the amount due thereon Given under my hand this 27th day of November, 1897.

R. W. HILL, Sheriff of Pocahontas County.

CANDY CATHARTIC

Cascarets

CURE CONSTIPATION

REGULATE THE LIVER

10c 25c 50c

ALL DRUGGISTS

PLOW REPAIRS.

We have at last succeeded in making arrangements

To supply Points for the Ronceverte Plow.

Full stock now on hand
Send in your orders early

We are Factory Agents for

SILVER STEEL and IMPERIAL PLOWS,
also BEST HILL-SIDE PLOW on Market,

Don't Forget

THE WONDER AIR TIGHT HEATER this Fall.

Simms & Co.,

Opp. Passenger Depot, RONCEVERTE, W. Va.

The Pocahontas Times,

Hear, Land o' Cakes and brither Scots,
Frae Maidenkirk to Johnny Groats,
If there's a hole in a' your coats,
I rede ye tent it;
A chiel's amang you takin' notes,
An' faith he'll prent it.—BURNS.

Local Events.

MAJ. J. C. Arbogast, of Green Bank, brought a fine lot of poultry to J. D. Pullins & Co., Tuesday. *

FOR a smooth shave, a stylish hair cut or an invigorating shampoo, call at Mart McDowell barber shop. His shop has been newly refitted. *

GEORGE WHITING, merchant at Falling Springs, was met on the road to Ronceverte driving before him a flock of 1400 turkeys, which he shipped alive.

No doubt J. D. Pullin & Co., are doing a bigger business now than ever before, and it is said they are doing the leading business in town. *

E. H. SMITH, of this place, is one of the best amatuer photographers in the country, and bids fair to become an artist in the proper sense of the word.

WHO WILL BE FIRST? We have a nice, handsome present for all persons buying $10.00 worth of goods from us for cash. *

J. D. PULLIN & Co.

A LETTER from Peter Hill of Jacox informs us that Rev. S. C. Morgan got his leg badly broken last Sunday. The accident happened near McMillion Chapel.

MRS S. C. RATCLIFF, near this place, has just sold two ewes which are probably the largest sheep of their kind ever raised in the county. These sheep were three years old, South downs, and weighted 390 pounds, or 195 each. They were bought by R. M. Beard who shipped them this week to New York. They were too fat to drive and had to be hauled to the depot.

To the old and young, the rich and poor, come in and buy your father, mother, brother, sister, friend or sweet-heart a nice solid gold Christmas present. We also have a nice line of various other kinds of holiday goods besides a a nice line of Plush goods which we will have on hands in a few days. We offer special bargains in the above goods. *

J. D. PULLINS & Co.

I ASK no trade from sympathy. I expect no purchase to be made on any other ground than getting the most of the best for the least money. If you buy as good elsewhere for less, bring the purchase you made from me back and get your money. Sounds bold but it is so. Here are a few good things. Ladies Cloaks reduced from $2 to 1.39. Marseilles quilts, hemmed ready for use, heavy, at 98c per pair. Lace curtains 47½c per pair. *

PAUL GOLDEN.

PERSONAL MENTION.

B. M. Yeager is taking a breathing spell this week.

Miss Georgia Shearer is teaching school at Cowen

L. D. Sharp was in this section buying fur. He has $700 worth of sang on hand.

Rev H. W. McLaughlin, of Prince, has accepted a call to Hampton, Va.

Dennis McNeil, who has been teaching school at Rimel's, came home sick last Saturday.

Dr F. T. McClintic, of Academy. was in town Sunday to see Mrs Jeff Killingsworth, who is making a slow recovery from fever.

Miss Lillie Smith, teacher of the West Marlinton School, was taken ill of tonsilitis last Saturday. Her mother, Mrs Joseph Smith, of Mill Point, is with her.

Miss Annette Ligon and Miss Bessie Dysard, of Driftwood, made a horseback trip to Academy last Friday. They rode twenty-five miles Friday afternoon.

The young folks of Marlinton who visited Highland have returned and report that Highland is a merrier place than Pocahontas. They were there a week and attended two balls, two receptions and four oyster suppers.

Capt. Simms, of Ronceverte, noticed the story in week before last's paper, about the two army officers and the rice and mustard dinner, where the guest refused rice thinking there was more dinner coming, and was pressed to have mustard. He informs us that it was an actual occurrence, his father having heard his friend John Derby, "the father of American humor," tell it as one of his own experiences. It is told in a much better style in "Phoenixiana," by John Derby.

CUT THIS OUT!

CANDY. We will send from now until January 1st, 1898, a limit of five pound sample boxes of all the fine and fancy cream, chocolate, and fruit candies we carry, to any address on receipt of $1.25; or either a sample pail of all the fine and fancy mixed Candies we carry to any address on receipt of $2.00. We prepay charges. Orders for Christmas should be made on or before December 22d, and in ordering a box of candy give your express address, and in ordering a pail of candy state your freight shipping point. Address:

THE ROYAL CANDY CO.,
BALTIMORE, MD.

THE SAWED-OFF ELOPEMENT IN COURT.

Justice Bird had the whole troupe of performers in the eloping case before him last Thursday.

Under the rules of this State when a body misbehaves, threatens sudden death, and breaks the peace generally, if a pistol figures in the fracas, the law works its retribution generally by dropping the greater or less charges and goes for the man for carrying a pistol. Charles Beverage, who is a sort of crazy knight-errant, was assisting in the runoff, and he had flourished a pistol when a brother of the woman came up and took her away from them in spite of the deadly weapon, rescue or no rescue.

Under the charge then of carrying a pistol preferred against the partner in crime, all the dramatis personæ came into court. The gay Lothair, Everett Lightner, was there, trying to hide any sober feeling under a laughing exterior, and succeeding very badly. He realizes it is a bad thing to fail when you are running away. Beverage, his go between, was taking it very calmly. The woman was quiet and subdued. The abused husband, Charles Friel, was there in a highly nervous state. He is a little man with a quivering chin. At one time the proceedings worked him up in a towering passion. He made spasmodic efforts to take his coat off, and declared that he was afraid of nobody. A rather unnecessary statement, it would seem, as no one had accused him of cowardice. The brother of the woman, Moff Waugh, appeared as prosecuting witness, and he had done wonders in keeping his sister from taking the irrevocable step. The friends of both sides were conspicuously present, and while on this occasion no one had brought a gun, yet a bulging pocket or two and certain sinister motions led one to believe that all the loose pistols in the country were doing duty there that morning.

N. C. McNeil appeared as counsel for the prosecuting witness. The defendant had no counsel.

Incidentally pretty much the whole trouble came out in the evidence. Lightner testified on the stand that he was trying to run away with Friel's wife, in the presence of them both. The evidence of the witnesses in substance is as follows:

L. M. Waugh.

His brother in law had come to his house and told him that Lightner was going to run away that night with his wife. he thought, and got him to go to Ben Wilson's to see if she had gone there, as she had said she was. Went there but did not find her. Some parties told him that she had gone on with Lightner. He took the Marlinton road and struck out pretty hard. About 8 o'clock came upon them in the dark unexpectedly near Col. Levi Gay's. Saw Beverage, and it was the first he knew that he was mixed up in the affair. Rode by the party for about 100 yards. Beverage suddenly pulled out a revolver, cocked it, and told witness to "Git!" Witness answered: "Boys, some of us'll die right here before I do that." Neither got nor died, but took his sister home with him.

Witness introduced a letter to show Beverage's part in the conspiracy. Beverage produced a letter at once to show that he had been conspired with. The "Squire' did not allow the reporter to read these letters, in a manner more righteous than legal. We are informed there is no law in West Virginia permitting evidence to be sealed, but the Squire did right not to read them himself, as he had plenty of evidence to decide on.

Mrs Charles Friel.

Was present and saw Beverage draw a pistol on her brother. Does not recollect what was said. Was very badly frightened.

Charles Friel.

Was at Hugh Sharp's. Amos Sharp had been out rabbit-hunting and came in and told him that he had seen Lightner going through the woods; witness said: " 'I bet they are going to run off,' and laid spurs to my old mare and went off to Moff's. at a dead gallop. Asked him to follow up while I went up to Hugh Sharp's after some more of my friends." Witness said that Beverage had acted as go-between for his wife and Lightner all summer, carrying letters, etc.

The testimony of the defense was substantially as follows:

Charles Beverage.

"Squire, I never drawed no revolver in his face. I told him to git down the road." Witness did not deny that he had a revolver with him, and said, "I did not point it at him."

Everet Lightner.

Was present at the meeting; the night was cloudy, but not dark. Did not see prisoner draw a revolver. Heard no threats made. Said that it was a fact he had met Mrs Friel that night and was trying to leave the country with her. Would not tell any of the circumstances.

The court evidently weighed the testimony and decided that where one side swore positively that the man had a revolver and the prisoner did not deny it, it was not difficult to find him guilty. He imposed the lightest fine, which is $25 and costs.

The parties went home and the matter rests here. Lightner has a nice wife and two children. Mrs Friel has one child. It is a very sad business. Beverage is a neer-to-do-well who does not seem to realize that he has helped to break up two families of young people who should be enjoying the happiest years of their lives. The best plan for all concerned would be to forget all that has occurred and try to patch up a treaty of peace, and leave the gay Beverage out of the compact.

Football Notes.

L. A. Yeager, class of '99, was unanimously elected captain of next year's University team.

The Oak Grove team, captain Blake King, has won every game it has played this season,—eight matches.

The Buckeye team is in championship form, and Marlinton footballists expect to mobilize a team to meet them on Christmas day. Definite announcement will be made in next week's Times.

The Governor of Georgia has wisely vetoed the bill prohibiting football, under penalty of ball and chain. He sets forth his reasons at great length, holding that the matter is out of the jurisdiction of lawmakers and rests with parents and conductors of schools. The game is popular with Americans because of the latent pugnacity and love of fight which is inherent in American character, and which is the greatest safeguard of our national honor.

YELK.

Wilson Courtney run agin Elk mountain and got a black eye.

John Gibson's old yellow leg hen has been setting on a glass door knob for a month.

Pad Gay's famous bar dog "Jim" caught a skunk last Sunday. The dog is not dangerously sick.

John Doyle, of Clover Creek, was on Elk inquiring his way to the Clerk's Office.

The Elk Iron Clads have built a barn on the foot-ball field for Bob Gibson to buck when he gets his dauder up.

Larry May, the long eared husky stone-mason and J. H. G. Wilson the untamed Englishman passthrough Elk last week.

Dennis Williams our promising young school teacher is trying to raise a mustasche. Keep your sand up Dennis, everything comes to him who waits.

Prof. John D. Rorke, of Marlinton, is on Elk trying to recover his voice. He reports having seen a pet hog shot eighteen times behind the shoulder and has not been able to sleep or sing since.

The literary society is flourishing. Dennis Williams excited the people last Friday night by executing a poem, 38 verses of eight lines each, Doubled and Twisted Metre, entitled, "Buckle on my Sword Mother!" Let the good work go on.

James Jackson, rat catcher to the king has changed the name of Goose Waller Run to Rat Tail Creek. He has caught 30 rats in 31 days in one trap. We suppose one of the rats must have been twins. Who can knock the socks off the above.

John Doyle, of Clover Creek is in an unhappy state of mind, as he has forgotton the date of his wedding.

HOOT OWL IKE.

LOCUST.

Fine weather but a little muddy in places.

Burley Hannah has moved back to his father-in law's.

Pearl and Grace Beard are attending school at Mill Point.

All well but the sick and they are improving.

Mrs S. S. McNeel visited her mother last week.

J. E. McClure is keeping the rocks hot in the Overholt mill.

R. M. Beard & Co. are out looking for more sheep. Dick's a hustler.

There are going to be a couple of weddings on the lowlands in the near future.

Harry Beard butchered a hog last week which tipped the beam at 460 lbs. Who can beat it.

Mistake: It was not Newton Mann who was arrested for embezzlement and taken back to Illinois. It was his brother Clint who found more friends waiting for him than he knew what to do with. He was cleared the jury being out only seven minutes. He has turned the tide and says that he will make it too hot for them. Hurrah for Clint! The toughest hide will hold out the longest!

T. F. Callison has gotten up a nice bunch of cattle that will make the shippers' mouths water by next fall.

JUMBO.

Notice.

All persons indebted to me by account will please come forward and settle between now and January 1, 1898, as I must have money to meet my obligations. Come and settle, and save trouble and costs. Yours for business,

R. L. NOTTINGHAM.

DUNMORE, W. Va., Nov. 13, 1897.

DUNMORE.

Mrs G. W. Siple is in town.

Billy Sheets is off for Beverly with a load of Jakes.

Frank Taylor brought a load of coal from Huttonsville.

C. A. Yeager was in town last week.

We see wheat hauled to Warm Springs and Mill Point to grind.

William Wooddell is back from the State of Webster.

Mr Otis Warwick has moved to Mrs Carter's.

E. F. McLaughlin was up to see his friends.

George Baxter has surveyed out some large tracts of land near Dunmore,

We see Charles and Bland Nottingham, Alex. Butterbaugh, and others, back from Peter's camp.

The weather seems to be a little moist at this time and the roads a little soft.

Slaven & Arbogast, the Monterey tinners, were doing some work in our neighborhood last week.

Joseph C. Gay, one of the cattle kings, brought over a nice lot of cattle to be fed.

Mrs R. R. Mason and Miss Lucy Kincaid spent Saturday night in Huntersville.

Wash Hoover took a wagon-load of of pork, chickens, and eggs to Huntersville to trade for goods.

Miss Lucy Siple is going to Highland and Bath to be gone 3 months.

Died: At S. B. Hannah's, on the 8th, Miss Maggie Ervine aged about 35 years.

Died, at her home at Frost, Mrs Henry Rider, aged 86 years. She was a splendid woman.

Harry Taylor is off for the State of Webster to work in the lumber camp.

Peyton Moore and Kemp Swecker are selling "The First Battle," by William J. Bryan, a book that every man should read.

JOHN SLICKHAMMER.

LOBELIA.

Joseph Snedegar says he has a voter.

Henry Casebolt has not been well for some time.

Mrs Lizzie Hill is on the sick list.

Richard Beard has captured a pet; something in tne shape of a donkey, but carries a flag high, in the air when interrupted.

Mud, rain and sleet, and hog killing over. J. B. Grimes had one that weighted 396, and P. Henry killed three that tipped the beam at 1164.

Andrew Boggs, of Greenbrier, and Miss Mettie Simmons were married by Rev S. C. Morgan on December 8, and, judging from the noise, there was a big serenade that night.

An agent from Ronceverte in the interest of the Republican paper just started there. He is enrolling quite a lot of subscribers. We wish him much success, but let us not forget our own county paper.

A. W. Hill is taking a business course at Parkersburg.

Coon hunting is the order of the night. Coons are very plentiful almost everywhere; the scarcity of mast in the mountains having brought them in to the cornfields.

OBSERVER.

Ferguson's Photograph Gallery is coming to Marlinton. The finest of pictures at lowest of prices. Wait for him.

Please Notice!

I am still here, and new goods coming in every week and go out at the same rate. Come when you will I have something new: and good bargains for cash customers.

If you have but little to buy with it will pay you to investigate my goods and prices.

I am still buying Grain of all kinds, Turkeys, Chickens, Eggs, Butter, &c.

Some Prices—

Green Coffee, 12 to 15c
Arbuckle Coffee, 9 for $1.00
Calicoes, 4½ to 7c
Cotton Cloth, 5 to 9c
Flannels, 20 to 30c
Ginghams, 5 to 8c
Outings, 7 to 12c
Shoes, $1.00 to $2.75
Yarn, 70 to 80c
Suit Clothes, $3.00 to $12 00

If you want your picture enlarged at half-price, I will have it done.

Yours for business,

S. J. BOGGS,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

BUCKEYE.

Plenty of mud and some rain.

Rev Hogsett preached at the Upper Church Sunday night.

Rumor says we will have some weddings in the near future.

William Dean, of Lobelia, was in this part last week.

Jasper Auldridge is building a new barn on his farm at Buckeye.

Mrs Mary Rodgers gave a party to the young people one night last week.

The sick are improving. Dennis McNeil closed his school on account of sickness, but he is some better now, Andy Campbell returned, last week, from Buckhannon, where he was visiting his sister, Mrs Ida Cutright.

A. P. Landes' horse broke loose last Sunday, left his cart on a gate post and tore the harness to pieces. The horse was soon caught, but the cart was so wrecked that it could not be moved for a day or two.

John Atkison killed thirteen nice hogs.

ROVER.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund the money if it fails to Cure. 25c.

MARRIED.

Tallman-Sheets.

On Teanksgiving Day, Nov. 25, at Wanless, Mr John H. Tallman and Miss Allie Sheets, by Rev. Quin Burr. The attendants were Misses Alice Sutton, Josie Tallman, Ann Cassell, and Messrs. Jacob Galford, James McLaughlin, and Anderson Tallman.

Thomas-Galford.

At 4 p. m. on Dec. 9th, at McLaughlin Church on Back Allegheny, Mr George W. Thomas and Miss Mary Galford were united in marriage by Rev H. Quin Burr.

"My, that made me jump!" is such a common expression, and it comes from such a common cause—poorblood and from starved nerves.

Why suffer the tormenting terror of nervousness, when you could be permanently cured by

Johnston's Sarsaparilla

QUART BOTTLE.

It acts upon the blood more healthfully and speedily than any other blood purifier.

Williams, Davis, Brooks & Co., Detroit, Mich.

Price, $1 for a quart bottle at any druggist.

For sale by URIAH BIRD, Marlinton; and A. BARLOW, Huntersville.

MARLINTON HOUSE
Located East End of Bridge.

Terms.
per day - $1 & $1.50
per meal - - 25

Good accommodations for horses at 25 cents per feed.

Special rates made by the week or month.

C.A.YEAGER, - - Proprietor.

LOOK HERE!

WHAT YOU WANT IS—

To know where you can buy 100 cents' worth for 1 $. I will tell you. Come to my store. I don't mean to say I will sell you the largest load for the least money,—but that I will give you the best bargains to be had in "town." I am closing out my stock on hands, and for the next thirty days will sell you goods at nearly COST, FOR CASH, or good produce, such as Ginseng, Beeswax, &c.

Note these prices: Good Prints, from 4c to 6c, Scotch Lawn 5c, Satteen 8½c, Ginghams, 6½, Cable twill 11c, Cambric 4½ & 5c, Ticking 15c, Table Oilcloth 16c, Over Shirts 19c to 60c, Overalls, 35c to 90c, Jeanes 85c and $1.15, Suspenders, 10c to 45c, Hose 5c to 18c, Half Hose 5 and 15c, Lady's Shoes from $1 to $1.50, Lady's Oxfords, 90c to $1.00, Misses Shoes 85c to $1.25, Men's Shoes, $1.25 to $1.90, Tobaccos, 23c to 55c, Arbuckle Coffee, 12½c, Mowing Scythes 45c and 65c, Snaths 40 and 50c, Hay Forks 30 and 40c.

Other goods proportionately low.

Call and be convinced that you can get bargains of me for cash.

Submissively yours,

G. L. HANNAH,
YELK, W. VA.

THERE IS THE BEST
IN EVERY THING—

Here it is in Airtight Wood Heaters.

Wood Economy
Saving of Labor
Cleanliness
Perfection
Durability
Comfort.

You will admit this if you see the Stove.

SHORT Settlements make long friends
The year will soon be up;
I want to close up my old books,
I also want my money—
Come in please and settle up.
Let us see that every thing is
Satisfactory regarding the account;
Pay all you can and take up
Your account, giving note for balance.
Truly,

Paul Golden.

We are Ready for Christmas!

CHRISTMAS GOODS

Our holiday stock is large, our goods new, our prices low The latest in style, the finest in quality, the utmost variety.

The presents you want at the prices you like are all included in our splendid line of—

JEWELRY. LADIES CAPES,
CLOAKS, CLOCKS, BLANKETS,
FACINATORS, GLOVES, ALBUMS,
MACKINTOSHES, TABLE LINEN,
KNIVES & FORKS, DOLLS, TOYS
SILK MUFFLERS, Handkerchiefs
Looking glasses, Toilet Cases, Etc.

A fine line of Ladies Trimmed Latest Style Hats. Lamps.

Appropriate, sensible gifts for old and young are features of this magnificent stock, which commends itself to holiday buyers. If you wish to make few or many cheap presents this is your best chance. It will be impossible to make a mistake in your holiday bu ing if you select from the fair-priced stock of

SOL. DAVIS,
Green Bank, W. Va.

CASTORIA. The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

CASTORIA. The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

ASSASSINATED!

We do not mean to assassinate you, as Wilkes Boothe did Abraham Lincoln, but warn you of the truth that you are daily assassinating your Pocket Book by not giving us your trade. Our stock is fresh, and constant increase of Business show that Prices are Better than elsewhere.

Constant sales allow no shopworn goods to remain on our shelves, and Money with Order enables us to obtain Bargains which we gladly share with our customers. This means no fraud or deception. Our figures are plain and bold, and you don't have to guess or ask. You can't tell what the bottom price of an article until you see it Here. Every day in the year is a bargain day with us.

Our stock is worth Investigation and all are invited to call and be convinced that as to Quality of stock and Lowness of Prices we surpassed by none. We want your trade and friendship.

We will take Beeswax and Fur. Our nine-years' experience as buyer and shipper enables us to pay highest prices. For quality of stock, lowness of price, and prompt business, we are respectfully yours,

L. D. Sharp.

To Cure Constipation Forever.
Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.
Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 15, NO. 22 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, DECEMBER 24, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 203.
This quarter-sawed oak writing desk is polished like a piano. It has a 9-inch beveled plate glass in top and a deep drawer below. Artistic French legs; also finished in mahogany.
$3.95 is our special price for this $10 desk.

(Mail orders filled promptly.)
We will mail anyone, free of all charges, our new 112 page Special Catalogue, containing Furniture, Draperies, Lamps, Stoves, Crockery, Mirrors, Pictures, Bedding, Refrigerators, Baby Carriages, etc. This is the most complete book ever published, and we pay all postage. Our lithographed Carpet Catalogue, showing carpets in colors, is also yours for the asking. If carpet samples are wanted, mail us 8c. in stamps. There is no reason why you should pay your local dealer 60 per cent. profit when you can buy from the mill. Drop a line now to the money-savers.

JULIUS HINES & SON,
Baltimore, Md.
Please mention this paper.

$18. IMPROVED SINGER. FREIGHT PREPAID.
For this style new high arm sewing machine with all attachments warranted 10 years. If machine is not satisfactory in 30 days money will be refunded. Send cash with order. Descriptive circular sent on application.
WHAYNE M'F'G CO.,
560 FOURTH AVE., LOUISVILLE, KY.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

JOHN A. PRESTON FRED. WALLACE
PRESTON & WALLACE,
Attorneys at Law,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Greenbrier and adjoining counties, and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

Biographic.

The progenitor of the McCarty connexion, and one of the earliest pioneers in our county, was Timothy McCarty, a native of Ireland. He settled on Knapp's Creek, previously to the Revolution, and was a soldier in that memorable war for independence. He could speak from experience that hard was the contest for liberty and the struggle for independence. With his humble hand he helped to make the history that forms one of the most instructive chapters in the annals or human endeavors for life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

His first marriage was with Nancy Honeyman, and settled on lands now in the possession of Wilson Rider and the Gibson Brothers near Frost, thence moved to Browns Mountain and opened up the property now owned by Amos Barlow.

By the first marriage there were seven sons: Daniel, Preston, Justin, James, Thomas,—the names of the other two not remembered. All of these sons were soldiers in the war of 1812, and but one ever returned te Pocahontas, Daniel McCarty, to live. The rest either perished in the war, or went to Tennessee, or Kentucky.

Timothy McCarty's second marriage was with Jane Waugh, a sister of Samuel Waugh of The Hills, whose memoirs recently appeared in The Times. By this marriage there were thirteen children. The names of but eight are in hand: Eli, Reuben, Samuel, Jacob, Nancy, Jane, Martha, and Sally.

Nancy was married to Robert McClary, a saddler at Mill Point, and finally went to Ohio.

Jane became Mrs Harvey Casebolt, and after living awhile at the head of Locust Creek, went to one of the western counties of West Virginia.

Sally was married to Ezekiel Boggs, in Greenbrier County.

Eli married Margaret, daughter of Levi Moore, junior, and lived most of his married life on the place lately occupied by John Simmons, head of Stony Creek. His daughter Jane was married to John Simmons. Robert, Amanda, Margaret, Calvin, Milton, Warwick, and Nancy are the children of Mr and Mrs John Simmons.

Reuben McCarty lived and died unmarried.

Samuel Waugh McCarty married Phebe Moore, daughter of "Pennsylvania" John Moore and Margaret Moore his wife. Their children were James, George, Margaret, William, Elizabeth, and Peter. In reference to Samuel McCarty's family the following particulars are available:

James McCarty went to Ohio, married Mary Hodden, and thence went to Minnesota. His second marriage was with Melissa Overly.

George McCarty, a Union soldier, 3d West Virginia Cavalry, Company I, killed in 1864 at the battle of Winchester under Sheridan.

William McCarty, a Union soldier, 10th West Virginia Regiment Company A, died at home, 1871.

Margaret McCarty was married to James Curry, and they went to Kansas.

Elizabeth McCarty, a life-long invalid, but an industrious, useful person, died a few years since at the old homestead.

Peter McCarty was a Union veteran, 3d West Virginia Cavalry, Company I. He married Elizabeth Araminta Hill, daughter of Aaron Hill, on Hills Creek, and resides on the homestead near Dilley's Mill. The names of their children, James William, Leanna Frances, Amos Hedrick, Albert Granville, Carrie Virginia, and Mary.

Jacob McCarty, son of Timothy MaCarty, was a member of the West Virginia legislature in the reconstructive period. His first marriage was with Annie Boggs, of Greenbrier, and lived on Droop Mountain. There were six children by this marriage: Samuel, Elizabeth, Mahala, Melissa, Julia, and Franklin. The second marriage was with Hannah Brock, of Droop Mountain. George and Fanny are the children by this marriage. George McCarty lives on the homestead on Droop Mountain overlooking the Hillsboro charming landscape.

Miss Susie McCarty and her brothers, James H. and Thomas, teachers in the public schools, are the grand-children of Jacob McCarty. Their parents Samuel and Elizabeth McCarty, of Bruffey's Creek.

Jacob McCarty, Esq., as already intimated was prominent in the political affairs of our county, soon after the war between the States. He seems to have been quite ready at repartee. Soon after his return from Wheeling some one undertook to guy him in this fashion: "Well, Jake, you have been to the legislature and found out what a fool you are."

"Yes," rejoined Mr McCarty, "and that is more than you can say for yourself."

Daniel McCarty was the only one of the seven sons of Timothy McCarty that went to the war of 1812 and returned to Pocahontas permanently. His wife was Elizabeth, daughter of "Pennsylvania" John Moore, and they lived on Brown's Mountain. Their children were George, John David, Margaret, Louisa, and Jane; and in reference to them we learn that George married Eliza Herold and settled where Sheldon Moore, Esq, now lives. The names of George's children were Andrew, Lanty, Catherine, Ella, and Lillie.

John David McCarty married Susan Harper, and lived near Hillsboro. Their children were Ellis, Julia Anise, Mrs George H. Curry, who died August, 1897; Sherman, who perished in a tanvat; Martha and Della dying young.

Margaret McCarty was married to Jeremiah Dilley, and lived near Mt. Tabor. Her children were Jasper, Margaret, who was Mrs C. J. Hill; Sally Jane, now Mrs Martin Hoover, of Kansas.

Louisa became Mrs Warwick Jackson.

Jane was married to Henry Tomlinson, and settled in Iowa.

Daniel McCarty when in service was in the company commanded by Captain William Cackley, living at the time at Mill Point. He was greatly attached to his captain and seemed never to tire in rehearsing the deeds of kindness and careful attention performed by his greatly esteemed captain.

Among his war stories the old soldier seemed to take great delight in telling how the turkeys would make him run into camp when he would be foraging for for something fresh to eat for his messmates.

In explaining how this could be for a soldier brave as he claimed himself to have been, Daniel would shut one eye, wink with the other, fix his tobacco, and study awhile and if happened to be in a refreshment room he would have to have a nip of thirty-cent Kerr's Creek whisky. When ready he would tell in slow and measured tones how he would bait fish-hooks with grains of corn and then throw the line where the turkeys could see it, and when one would take the bait it would start right for him and he would break for the camp, and the old gobbler would never stop nor let him alone until it was knocked on the head. Then it was his time to tackle the brave old critter and fix him for a turkey roast, for giving him such a scare and hard race

When it was insinuated that it took him a very long time to tell nothing much at last, his rejoinder would come quick as lightning. When there is nothing much to talk to, it takes time to say nothing much, as the Preacher tells us.

We have thus traced as well as we could the family history of Timothy McCarty, with such assistance as Mrs Margaret Simmons and James H. McCarty were able to render. The friends of the relationship owe their thanks mainly to them for the cheerful and valuable help they gave the compiler. The narrative is brought down within the memory and observation of the living. Some member of the McCarty connexion should take special pains to preserve this paper and collect materials for correction and expansion at some future day. The same ought to be done by the friends of all the pioneers whose family annals may be given in these biographic memoranda, week after week.

One hundred years ago but few persons in our region were more generally known and more talked about than Timothy McCarty. Tho he claimed to be a native of Ireland, his name indicates Scotch parentage. He was one of the renowned Scotch-Irish emigrants who were refugees for conscience sake, and were looking for homes where they might live unmolested by the restrictions that made their lives so unhappy at that period of bloody agitation in the old country. The people of East Virginia wanted a living wall between them and the Indians. They differed from the Chinese. The Chinese made their wall of brick and stone to shut out the Tartars. The East Virginians thought a living wall would be cheaper, sooner built, and serve a better purpose, and so they prevailed on their governor to offer special privileges and inducements to any who might venture to settle the Valley of Virginia and the regions adjacent.

Timothy McCarty was one of the persons that came, one of those who stood faithfully to his post in the struggle for American Independence. He is one of the few revolutionary veterans buried in our mountain land, and it would be well if his grave could be identified and kept from being forgotten.

W. T. P.

A LETTER TO THE TEACHERS. THEIR DUTIES, ETC.

DEAR FELLOW TEACHERS:

Considering the importance of brevity in an article that may not be of interest to all the readers of The Times, I shall ask you to accept some of my statements upon faith without presenting details of argument to prove them.

I desire to call your attention to a few thoughts concerning the duties and responsibilities which you have assumed. Lord Bacon, in his "Maxims of the Law," said: "I hold every man to be a debtor to his profession." A teacher certainly is debtor to his profession, and he should cherish an honest pride in it and should never loose sight of the final purpose of his work.

Now, let me call your attention to the following important duties:

It is your duty to see that the Graded Course of Study is properly introduced into your school. If you will turn to page 16 of the Manuel you will find the following: "For you, in compliance with the law, the Manuel and Course of Study has been prepared, for it is thro you it must succeed. It is from the schools in which you teach that the great mass of men and women come who own and control the great enterprises of the day. Here are educated the boys and girls who because of the active life they must lead possess that physical development which, with proper training, insures a degree of intellectual vigor, which needs but proper training to insure to the State that better citizenship and home-life which, to obtain, it has expended millions of dollars." What an interest, therefore, centers in the common schools, and how great the responsibility of the teacher. The public school system should be managed upon business principles. We should work upon a uniform plan, and let me urge upon you the necessity of properly grading your scholars.

It is the duty of every teacher to properly prepare the grade sheet, and, together with the term register, return to the Secretary of the Board of Education. The effect of grading your school will be largely lost unless the grade sheet is properly filled and filed with the Secretary. See that your work on your grade sheet is correct, for without accuracy it is worthless. Remember that your grade sheet goes into the hands of your successor and he will rely on it in classifying his school. Therefore, be sure that your work is correct.

Statistics are worthless unless accurate, and the large sums of money expended by the State in distributing the same is a wast,e if they are not correct in every particular.

Almost every mail brings to the office of the State Superintendent letters of inquiry from the office of the National Commissioner of Education, or from various institutions, States and Nations regarding our State educational work, and to these interrogations the department is unable to make intelligent reply because of the failure or neglect of those charged with the duty of supplying the desired information. Now, fellow teacher, to make a correct report of your school work is one of your most important duties and there is not a blank handed you but which should be properly filled. The Legislature has made ample provisions for collecting and placing the State in possession of valuable information by furnishing blanks, etc., and the law must be enforced by all whose duty it is to see that it is enforced.

The Secretary of the Board of Education is prohibited by law from issueing to a teacher a draft for his last month's salary until said teacher has delivered to him a properly kept term register.

A correct enumeration of the school youth is one of the most important matters connected with the school work of the State, for it is the basis upon which the distributable school fund of the State is disbursed. The law makes it the duty of the teacher in each sub-district, before the end of his school and not later than the first day of April in each yar, to make an eunumeration of all the scholars residing in his sub-district. This is one of your most important duties.

Teachers should not use unauthorized text-books. In regard to Grammar, I will say that according to the rulings of the Attorney General the only authorized books on this subject are Hyde's.

Many inquiries reach me regarding the compulsory school attendance law. Some claim the enforcement of the law is impossible, and are willing to violate it. I clip the following from the West Virginia School Journal: "If the law is a bad one it should be enforced all the more rigidly for by so doing its speedy repeal would be rendered very nearly certain. If the law is a good one, it certainly should receive the support of all loyal citizens. But, above all, the law should be faithfully executed by teachers and school officers, because it is the supreme law of the State and as such should be sacredly respected."

So far this year the school attendance has been good, and I believe that an earnest effort on the part of the teachers and trustees will accomplish much for the cause of education.

With best wishes for your wellfare, I remain, Your most obedient servant, D. L. BARLOW, County Sup't. of Schools.

AN oysterman of Alexandria, Va found a gold collar button in the shell of an oyster, according to a local paper.

BRUSH the hair daily through to the scalp, and occasionally apply Hall's Hair Renewer, and a luxuaient head of hair will be maintained of a natural hue.

THIRTEEN potatoes, all grown into one, found on the farm of a Traverse City, Michigan, man, carried an obvious suggestion and the farmer promptly forwarded the batch to the Hon Potato Pingree.

WHEN a horse fell into a large and deep well at Henderson, N. C., some practical genius attached a hose to a near-by hydrant and, turning on the water, filled up the well and floated the horse to the top, whence rescue was comparatively easy.

IT is said that Mrs Jesse Huston, who lives on the Hustonville pike, near Hustonville, Ky., had not until last month spent a day away from home in twenty-three years, not because she could n't, nor because of any eccentricity, but just because she loves her home and wants to be there to do her work.

"I suffered with bronchitis for nearly five years. My physician prescribed for me without producing favorable results, and finally advised me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I have taken six bottles of this medicine, and am now *

Ticklish Things.

Coughs are ticklish things. Nowhere does the extravagant saying: "I was tickled to death," come nearer being true, than in the case of a severe cough. Do you know the feeling? The tickling in the throat, that you writhe under and fight against, until at last you break out in a paroxysm of coughing? Why not cure the cough and enjoy unbroken rest? You can do so by using

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

* This testimonial will be found in full in Ayer's "Curebook" with a hundred others. Free. Address J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Notions.

Mark Twain's latest work, "Following the Equator. A Journey around the World," is said to be one of his best productions. He gives an extract from an obituary notice, which all country editors who have vainly tried to express the woe which they did not feel, and write something afecting, will appreciate. It was composed by a native of India, about his uncle, Onoocool Chunder Mookerjee, and published in Calcutta:

"And having said these words he hermetically sealed his lips, not to open them again. All the well-known doctors of Calcutta that could be procured for a man of his position and wealth were brought, —Doctors Payne, Fayrer, and Nilmadhub Mookerjee, and others; they did what they could do with their puissance and knack of medical knowledge, but it proved after all as if to milk the ram! His wife and children had not the mournful consolation to hear his last words; he remained sotto voce for a few hours, and then was taken from us at 6:12 P. M. According to the caprice of God which passeth understanding."

⁂

There is one Virginia Republican who wants a job and he seems to go after it as a matter of right, to judge from the following letter which he wrote to the President:

Hon William McKinley,
Washington, D. C.

DEAR SIR: I helped save the country in 1896 and am anxious to keep it saved; but am now a statesman out of a job and without visible means of support. Unfortunately I am too heavy for light work and too light for heavy work, and unless you hit the civil service a swipe in the solar plexus and come to my relief I am afraid I shall perish.

I am in many respects especially entitled to recognition by your administration. I was born several years ago while quite young, read law part of a while, and have practiced occasionally. I am now the only surviving private of the Confederate Army. Since our flag went down in gloom at Appomattox I have suffered constantly. I have never been married, but have had yellow fever, have been drowned, burned alive, blown up at sea, swallowed by a shark, and served as Republican County Chairman during the campaign of 1896.

If you will call at my office I will confer with you on the problems confronting your Administration, or I am willing to correspond with regularly. Always enclose stamp for reply. If you need me in Washington send ticket, and I will come at once.

Your Administration will be a failure unless I get "something equally as good."

Very truly yours,
FRANK WYSOR.

Pulaski, Va., Dec. 12.

⁂

The sun has a spot on it which can be observed for an indefinite length of time by means of a smoked glass. A few weeks ago some astronomers said in more or less sensational journals that the sun was about to give birth to a new world that was meant to either destroy the eorth or affect it in some direful manner. They maintained that when the glowing mass passed near the earth it would burn it to a cinder. Still people persisted in saving up money for old old age and making arrangements for making both ends meet, rather than for meeting the end. The new world has turned out to be a sun-spot 100,000 miles in diameter. Through the most powerful telescopes it appears a dark swirling mass which spreads with great rapidity. It is the greatest seen on the sun since 1892. The effect on the weather is beneficial. It will make the winter more endurable and we are not apt to suffer from any great extremes of temperature during the sun-spot season.

The Use of the Tooth-Brush.

"It is but a little thing," says The Hospital, "yet on its proper use depends much of the happiness of modern man. Why civilized teeth should be so rotton is a question which has often been debated, and probably the true answer is more complex than one would think. Many good mothers are content to put all toothache down to lollypops; but that sugar in itself is not responsible for bad teeth is proved by the splendid 'ivories' often possessed by negroes who practically live upon the sugar cane, and thrive upon it, too, during the whole of the season when it is in maturity. Dental decay is common enough, however, among negroes in towns, and it seems clear that the caries of the teeth, which is so common among most civilized races, is due not to any particular article of diet so much as to digestive and nutritive changes imposed upon us by our mode of life, and to some extent by the fact that by hook or by crook we do somehow manage to live, notwithstanding our bad teeth; whereas, in a state of nature, the toothless man soon dies. Recognizing, then, that until the time arrives when some great social reformer either mends or ends our present social conditions, our teeth will tend to rot, and that, whatever the predisposing causes, the final act in the production of caries is the lodgment of microbes on and around the teeth, we see that for long to come the tooth-brush will be a necessity if the health is to be maintained. It is only by the frequent use of this little instrument that those minute accumulations can be removed which are at the root of the mischief. A few elementary lessons in bacteriology would, we fancy, greatly startle many people, and certainly would show them the futility of trusting to one scrub a day. The fact is, that if people, instead of looking at the tooth-brush from an esthetic point of view, and scrubbing away with tooth-powders (!) to make their front teeth white, would regard it merely as an aid to cleanliness, they would see that the time to use it is after meals and at night, not just in the morning only, when the debris left from the day before has been fermenting and brewing acid all night through They would all see how inefficient an instrument the common tooth-brush is unless it is used with considerable judgment. One of the secondary advantages of spending a good deal of money on dentistry is that at least one learns the value of one's teeth. By the time we have got them dotted over with gold stoppings and gold crowns we learn to take care of them, even altho that may involve the trouble of cleaning them more than once a day and using perhaps more than one brush for the purpose.

"An exchange reports," says Electricity, "that in a recene examination was made of some 'electric belts' sold by a street fakir it was found that beneath a strip of guaze was a layer of dry mustard. When the wearer perspired a little the mustard was moistened and a burning sensation resulted, and the deluded victim believed a current of electricity was passing through him."

THAT there is an honesty rising superior to business avarice even in this sordid age appears from the experience of a Topeka sporting man. He wrote to a cigarette company that he had saved the pictures in 1,200 packages of cigarettes which he had smoked, and asked what prize the company would offer for them. He received an answer saying that the company would give him a coffin if he would smoke as many more.

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, Dec. 24. 1897.

Entered at the post-office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

O WHAT a glory doth this world put on
For him who, with a fervent heart, goes forth
Under the bright and glorious sky, and looks
On duties well performed and days well spent!
For him the wind, ay, and the yellow leaves
Shall have a voice, and give him eloquent teachings;
He shall so hear the solemn hymn that Death
Has lifted up for all, that he shall go
To his long resting-place without a tear. —Longfellow.

THE Greenbrier Valley Democrat, published at Ronceverte, appeared last week.

AN overall factory will be started in Staunton about the first of the year.

THE anti-football bill of Virginia met an untimely end in the Senate the other day. The score stood 21 to 12.

ONE printing company addresses circulars to "Arsenic Price, Marlinton, W. Va.," and they invariably turn up in the box of the editor of this paper.

COLONEL R. W. EASTHAM claims that his life was saved in the encounter with Thomson by reason of his wearing the left hind foot of a grave-yard rabbit in this vest-pocket.

JOSEPH MCKENNA, of California, Attorney General, has been nominated by the President as a justice of the Supreme Court, for the place made vacant by the resignation of Justice Fields.

THE man at the head of the wheat corner in Chicago, which caused such a jump in December wheat, is Joseph Leiter, a millionaire, aged thirty years. A few years ago he came out of Harvard, and has since then been making things to hum in Chicago.

THE Mormon church is steadily growing. They carry their religion into politics and run the municipal governments of Salt Lake City and Ogden, Utah. It is likely that the United States Senator elected next year will be a Mormon. The church made more converts the past twelve months than in any one year of the history of the Mormons. They have in the field 1400 missionaries, all whom work without pay.

CONGRESS has passed an act prohibiting pelagic sealing to Americans. Pelagic means pertaining to the deep sea, or high sea, which is three miles from the coast. Congressman Dorr opposed the bill. Pelagic or pelagian, the adjective, comes from pelagus, Latin, the sea. The noun Pelagian, means a follower of Pelagius, a monk who lived in the fourth century, and who denied original sin and asserted the doctrine of free will and the merit of good works. Maybe our representive is pelagian from all points of view.

THE Judge of the Circuit Court of Tucker county sentenced Colonel Eastham to confinement in the county jail of Tucker county for a period of two years. He was convicted of involuntary manslaughter which is pronounced a misdemeanor. While the code does not limit the punishment, it has always been understood that when a prisoner was to serve a longer term than 12 months it was a proper case for the penitentiary, consequently a felony. The sentence is clearly against the spirit of the law. Voluntary manslaughter, a crime of greater importance than involuntary manslaughter, is punishable by a penalty of from one to five years in the penitentiary. Surely the intention of the law was to make the punishment for the latter less than the least punishment for the graver offense. We have heard of this judge's hostility to this defendant, and had supposed that the reports were greatly exagerated. But the animus shown by his ignoring all precedent to punish the accused severely, leads us to believe that he is both judge of the homicide and an avenger of blood. We have no use for a man who is as "handy with his gun" as is Eastham, but a judge should not by his sentence raise the crime from what the jury has found.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANKS.

The question of postal savings banks, agitated so extensively this year, is one of real interest to country people. We have endeavored to gather some facts in relation to the matter for the information of those of our readers who may not have read up on the question. If a bill is passed by the present congress, there will most likely be at least three postal-banks established in this county. At the two money order offices, Academy and Huntesrville, and at Marlinton, which is not a money-order office, but which pays a larger revenue than either of the othe; but which, by reason of neglect has never been made a money-order office.

There are pending in Congress three bills, all on practically the same lines, seeking the establishment of postal savings banks One was prepared by Senator Marion Butler, of North Carolina; one by the Chicago Record, which has flooded the country with literature on the subject; and one by banker Bell, of St. Louis.

The Postmaster General has been investigating the matter, and in his annual message has strongly indorsed the proposition. The system has been in existence in other countries for many years. It was established in Great Britain in 1861; France in 1882; Austria in 1883; Canada, 1868; Italy, 1876; Belgium, 1869; Sweden, 1884; Netnerlands, 1881; Sandwich Islands, 1886. It is needless to say that it has worked admirably.

The object is to cultivate the habit of saving. It is almost a national trait that the American can make money but cannot save it. On the other hand, there is a class of people who save hundreds of dollars by hoarding it in their houses. This is dead money, as it remains out of circulation, and most of them if they had the government for security would deposit it and it would draw interest. The postal department has ascertained that thousands of people when they have money on hand will go to a money-order office and buy a money order payable to themselves and keep it sometimes for years, in order that it may be safe. They not only lose all interest, but actually pay for the privilege of having the government use their money.

The bills provide for a rate of 2 to 2½ per cent. on deposits. One of the most serious objections which have been raised by those opposed to the bill is that the government could not use to advantage the immense amount of money which would accrue. This has been successfully answered by those pushing the measure, that the government pays more rent for postal cars and buildings than would pay interest to all depositors. And besides this the national debt could be held in a few years by the people of small savings, in the manner that the national debt of France was conveyed to the people by means of the postal savings bank. There would be no more combinations to cause distrust over the sale of United States bonds.

The People's Party has always advocated postal saving banks, but as it comes up in Congress this session it is not a party measure. Bankers do not oppose the measure, as a rule, for it will tend to educate the people as to the convenience and usefulness of banks.

The United States has proved its stability as a nation, in spite of W. T. Stead's lies in his new book, "Despairing Democracy"; and the advocates of these bills point out that the depositors with the government will ever be against revolutionary movements to overthrow the government, and add strength and stability to the nation.

WILLIAM FULTON, a farmer, dropped dead on the street in Lynchburg, last Friday. Five minutes before his death he said: "I have worked hard for thirty years and am now going to enjoy myself." It is a parallel case to the man who said: "Soul, take thine ease."

UPON summing up the amounts called for in matter of appropriations it is found that the call is for $462,647,885. This is about $32,000,000 more than last year. One-fourth of this is for pensions. The increase over last year is mainly for pensions. It is estimated that one in every seventy persons is now a pensioner. This means that one of every fourteen families in our country is partly or entirely supported by the government.

RAILROAD TALK.

We can never be happy over railroads. We have been hungering and thirsting for a railroad for years, and now that one is to be built, the engineering corps have surveyed two routes and the people of the county are about to fall out over which line shall be built. Knowing that it is a circumstance over which we have no control, we should all be content to take the goods the gods provide.

Of the two routes the longer is that which runs to the Greenbrier River at Marlinton and thence up the banks of that stream to the forks. The distance from White Sulphur is 82 miles. The other diverges from this route at Driscol and goes up Knapp's Creek and across the country to the river at Sitlington's Creek. This line would be 71 miles long. Those interested in the short line, mainly county land owners, were very confident that Marlinton would miss the road after all, until this week. The newspapers report that the road will be eighty miles long, since the first meeting of the stock holders, and and if this be true the Marlinton route has been selected.

A railroad built across the eastern section of the county would not develop the county to anything like the extent a road up the Greenbrier would. For instance, the Levels, the richest farming section of Pocahontas, if not of the State, would continue to go to the depot at Ronceverte, on the main line of the Chesapeake and Ohio, instead of using a depot at Driscol. With a railroad depot in ten miles at Marlinton "Egypt" would increase her crops of grain threefold. The quarries of marble, the finest in the United States, could be developed. Then take the Elk country. It has been called the land of milk and honey until the expression is trite. A railroad at Driscol could not take her custom away from the West Virginia Central, at Beverly.

On the other hand, the people living on the shorter line would none of them be over ten miles from a railroad depot if the longer line were built. There is no coal east of Greenbrier River, and the iron deposits will be traversed before the routes diverge.

It is thought that the Greenbrier River Lumber Company owns a controlling interest in the stock of the Greenbrier Railway Company. Their lands lie on the Greenbrier River from Marlinton to the Forks. Anyone who has studied the situation of their holdings in this county, and those of Colonel McGraw, know that on the Marlinton route from the town of Huntersville to the forks of the river, a distance of nearly fifty miles, that the bed of the road will be on their lands. This refers to people who have no use for lands in this county unless there is a railroad here to make the land worth paying taxes on.

There is no rivalry between the towns of Huntersville and Marlinton in this matter, for which we may be truly thankful. If one misses the railroad the other will too, and for once we are fighting for the same thing.

Another gratifying circumstance is that this company does not seem at all disposed to skin the county of Pocahontas ont of a subscription of $50,000. The stock in the road must evidently be worth having, or else the directors do not believe in making themselves cheap enough to ask for public aid.

Pocahontas with sixty miles of railroad will be a different county from what it is now. It will blossom like a rose, and when the companies and corporations take the timber away, we will see a healthy farming class peopling the county and making this one of the most important districts of the State.

Hawaii Calls Time.

The Hawaiian protest before the Federal Senate against the annexation of Hawaii to the United States starts out as follows:

"PALAPALA HOOPII KUE HOOHUIAINA.

"I Ka Mea Mahaloia William McKiniey, Presidena, a me ka aha Senate, o Amerika Huipuia:

"Me ka Mahola; No ka mea, ua waihoia aku imua o ka Aha Senate o Amerika Huipuia he Kuihahi no ka Hochui aku ia. Hawaii nei ia Amerika Huipui i oleloia, no ka noonooia ma kora kauman iloka o Dekembaba, M. H., 1897: nolaila." Etc., etc.

That certainly looks as if it ought to be effective.—Richmond Dispatch.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE FOR TAXES.

Notice is hereby given that the following described tracts or lots of land in the County of Pocahontas, weich are delinquent for the non-payment of taxes for the years 1895 and 1896, will be offered for sale by the undersigned Sheriff, at public auction, at the front door of the Court-house of said county, between the hours of ten in the morning and four in the afternoon, on Tuesday, the 4th day of January, 1898. Each tract or lot, or so much thereof as may be necessary, will be sold for so much cash as is sufficient to satisfy the amount due thereon, as set forth in the following table:

NAMES OF PERSONS CHARGED WITH TAXES.	QUANTITY OF LAND.	LOCAL DESCRIPTION.	Total amount of taxes, interest, costs of publication, and commissions being amount necessary to redeem before sale.	Total amount of taxes, interest, costs of publication, commissions, and fee for receipt.
Green Bank District	Acres.
Arbogast Sol Est.	10	Alleghany mt	47	72
" W F Est	60	" "	2 34	2 59
" Adams Est	55 80	ad A M V Arbogast	9 62	9 87
Same	58 120	ad B M Yeager	12 10	12 35
Same	50	" "	1 99	2 24
" Jacob H	10	Home place	50	75
" Maggie E	81	waters Deer creek	4 38	4 63
" Adam C	35	Spillman place	3 25	3 50
Same	5	waters G. River	40	65
" J. R. & L S Tusk	1600	" "	13 14	13 39
Burner Virginia	131	Big mtn	2 51	2 76
Bradshaw J B	1	Coopers Barn	1 58	1 83
Beverage Jno H	83	waters Deer creek	1 75	2 00
Same	22	E G R	71	96
Carpenter Chas	26½	Thomas Creek	2 58	2 83
Campell J B Hrs	60	wts Gr. r	3 37	3 62
Carpenter Margaret C	46	Thomas creek	2 27	2 52
Cunningham Luhana	129 40	Little river	6 82	7 07
Carpenter Jno Sr est	143 80	Thomas creek	6 31	6 56
Collins W H	100	W G R	1 57	1 82
Darnell W S	225	near Trav Repose	5 01	5 26
Davis Jno W est	15	Buffalo mt	60	85
Dever Jno's est	248	Allghany mt	3 44	3 69
Darneil Henderson	160	near Trav Repose	7 02	7 27
Darah E H, Kritter & M J Clark	240	hd wts Gr river	6 35	6 60
Driscol Jno & J M & P Kinsports	1839	" " "	46 51	46 76
Driscol Jno	200	E N Moore tract	3 69	3 94
" " & P Kinsports	1600	hdwts Gr river	53 90	54 15
Same	800	" "	28 12	28 37
Same	381	" "	13 20	13 45
Same	1641	" "	55 07	55 32
Same	60	" "	2 36	2 61
Same	410	East "	14 09	14 34
Same	420	" "	14 39	14 64
Same	637	" "	21 67	21 92
Same	597	" "	20 33	20 58
Ervine Ed's est	50	Allghy mts	2 04	2 29
Gregg Geo A	10	" "	99	1 24
Galford Thos Hrs	138	Boreman's run	11 87	12 12
Gragg Barbara M	116	Brush run	4 20	4 45
Gum Polly S	70	wts Deer creek	3 25	3 50
Grogg Jno W	100	Buffalo run	6 16	6 41
Same	9	" "	87	1 12
Same	245	" mt	4 44	4 69
Same	120	J H A Land	2 37	2 62
Gilmore Alex	120	Allgy mt	1 83	2 08
Hutton Alf	298	½ of 596a tract	5 43	5 68
Heveners J est	20	hd N Fork	1 02	1 27
Hamilton Wm hrs	132	near forks Gr river	3 43	3 68
Same	30	Back Alleghany	76	1 01
Hutton N B	298	McNeill land	5 35	5 60
Houchin Ellis est	100	wts Gr river	7 01	7 26
Same	130	adj Arbogast	7 96	8 21
Luntz Annie E	100	Salisbury run	1 58	1 83
McLaughlin Jas L	7	Back All'ygy mt	93	1 18
Same	16 80	" "	2 81	3 06
Same	12	Deer creek	50	75
" Dan Est	45	" "	1 08	1 33
McCutcheon Jno B	2800	Thomas creek	47 17	47 42
Same	77	wts Gr River	1 37	1 62
Same	80	Elk Lick run	11 20	11 45
Pullin Loise C	84	All'y mt	3 19	3 44
Pugh Marietta R	29 20	Deer creek	2 56	2 81
Rheinstrom Alf	125	Greenbrier	4 59	4 84
Rader W F & P B	120	Buffalo mt	3 20	3 45
Slaton Robt G	107	" "	3 92	3 17
" W J	20		1 53	1 78
Same	40	Leather Ridge	99	1 24
Sheets Jacob s est	135	Back Alleghany	9 31	9 56
Sutton Wilson R	81	adj A Nottingham	11 10	11 35
Same	18	" "	1 27	1 52
Simmons Sallie & E E Butchers hrs	887	Forks Gr river	22 58	22 83
Sutton Geo M	53	Greenbrier	7 84	8 09
Same	50	W wts Deer creek	4 52	4 77
Same	50	Little mtn	95	1 20
Scott Frk B	100	hdwts Gr River	2 75	3 00
Turk R S & J L Arbogast	1600	wts Gr River	27 63	27 88
Whitescarver J M	100	hd "	2 76	3 01
Wade Chas	507	Alleghany	13 19	13 44
Edray District
Armstrong B F	51	Swago	3 59	3 84
Barnes M L	30	R L Run	1 04	1 29
Brown H (col)	70	"	1 97	2 22
Burgess Paul D	18 10	Swgo creek	1 20	1 45
" B M	150	" "	2 70	2 95
Ervine Wm D	160	Old Field Fk Elk	7 05	7 30
Friel A A	140	Gr River	2 08	2 33
" Jos est	30	W Gr River	1 25	1 50
Same	167	" "	2 93	3 18
Same	305	W Thorny creek	3 92	4 17
Gay M J	11	Sulphur Spring	4 52	4 77
Gibson M E F & M C Hannah	444	Big Spring	14 39	14 64
Gatewood Warwk est	700	End Cheat mt	16 80	17 05
Same	26 80	Big Spring of Elk	5 30	5 55
Same	215 80	" "	12 68	12 93
Hogsett Sam Est	88¾	Old Field Road	28 31	28 56
Same	138	" "	13 39	13 74
" J T	59	" "	4 98	5 23
Hannah W R E & C	142	Greenbrier river	2 55	2 80
" David's est	290	W side Gauley mt	7 16	7 41
" W K E	81	Adj Beverage & Co	2 95	3 20
Jackson, James (col)	100	Brush Run	3 50	3 75
Johnson, J E	100	W Greenbrier	5 08	5 33
Same	300	" "	3 83	4 08
Kellison, Jno J & S J	111	Buckley mt	3 81	4 06
Loudermilk, S J	18	Stoney creek	1 50	1 75
same	105	Swago	5 09	5 34
Lyle, Samuel W	750	wts Elk river	17 90	18 15
McComb, George T	25	Greenbrier river	1 87	2 11
Simmons, j w, n r & w	61	Leather creek	3 86	4 11
Thomson, Jos L	1 32	Big Spring	6 37	6 62
Wood. Blaine R	52	Dry Branch	4 68	4 83
Wood, Walter	3500	Elk river	496 81	497 06
same	20000	" "	1527 13	1527 38
White, George	1473	Laurel creek	69 52	69 77
" Isabelle	214	" "	9 42	9 67
" Wm H's estate	332	" "	10 74	10 99
Yeager, B M	63	wts Elk	2 34	2 59
same	293	Williams river	9 68	9 39
Huntersville District	Acres.
Alderman's heirs	183⅓	Douthards creek	3 20	3 45
same	820	" "	5 64	5 89
Buzzard, M A & G A	142	Little Back Creek	5 27	5 52
Barnett, Sabina M	310	Greenbrier River	5 69	5 94
" John M	1	Knapps creek	61	86
Bowers, John E	37	waters Knadps crk	1 31	1 56
Blyholder, J B	1600	Alleghany mountain	69 70	69 95
Bradshaw, Wm's h'rs	100 40	Marlin's mountain	1 61	1 86
Beard, M W	50	Beaver creek	2 06	2 31
same	415	" "	18 32	18 57
Bird, George H	120	Alleghany mt	1 88	2 13
Barrett, O & JD Price	360	from J P McComb	12 96	13 21
" " Jr	230	from J D Price	8 19	8 44
Cobb, A	100	Buckley mt	3 79	4 04
Chapman, F	200	Beaver creek	15 86	16 11
same	10	" "	52	77
Clark, A A, Maggie, & E H Darrah	70	Knapps Creek	2 79	3 04
Campbell, D H	180	Alleghany mt	2 59	2 84
same	30	" "	70	95
same	30	" "	70	95
same	30	" "	70	95
same	30	" "	70	95
Campbell, William	90	" "	1 48	1 73
Coulter, Mary A	139	Beaver creek	2 72	2 97
Courtney, Geo Ws est	111	Brushy mountain	2 26	2 51
Daugherty, Taylor	22 80	Knapps creek	2 85	3 10
Driscol, John	305		21 44	21 69
Same & P Kinsport			22 32	22 57
same			7 27	7 52
same			52 40	52 65
same			19 42	19 67
Gammon, James est		Ball Alley Lot	78	1 03
Harris, R heirs	4	Knapps creek	48	73
Hogsett, J T	256 90 P	" "	18 14	18 39
same	4 80-160	Punk Hill	3 15	3 40
same	29	" "	1 62	1 87
same		Lot 25 Huntersville	1 36	1 61
same		Lot 24 Huntersville	1 22	1 47
same		" 24 and 25 "	2 48	2 73
same		E Cochran's creek	1 95	2 20
Holcomb, James	48	Alleghany mountain	80	1 05
Hamilton, Garvin	30	near Frost	9 17	9 42
Herold, Horace T	1 28	" "	1 19	1 44
Handy, Shell & Susan	1	Alleghany mountain	2 94	3 19
Harper, Samuel	200	Knapps creek	40	65
same	5	" "	40 17	40 42
same	94 40	" "	9 79	10 04
same	542 80	" "	65	90
same	25	Brown mountain	70	95
same	28	Knapps creek	29 46	29 71
same	105	Price land	18 20	18 45
Lowe, J B	165	Buzzard land	31 54	31 79
same	450	Marlins mt	13 49	13 74
…urty, S & Baumg'dn	767	Alleghany mt	97	1 22
…atheny, Daniel's est	25	Marlins mt	46	71
McComb, A B	…0
Moore, Zane, W and …F Herold	10 44	Frost	9 18	9 43
…ramel, B & JDPrice	360	from McComb	12 94	13 19
" Barrett	230	from Price	8 16	8 41
Roller, J E	137	" "	9 85	10 10
same	785	Beaver Creek	27 52	27 77
Ray, George S	260	Greenbrier river	5 92	6 17
Snedegar, J C	150	Cave run	10 73	10 98
Seebert, J est & H'rld	600	wts Douthard creek	21 15	21 40
Shafer, R P G	15	Buckley mt	87	1 12
Slanker, D W C		part lot no 6	97	1 22
Seebert, Jacob's heirs	41	Douthard's creek	6 92	7 17
same	200	" "	2 93	3 18
same	7	" "	93	1 18
Skeen, Wm	44	adj Charls Gum	1 49	1 74
Sharp, Andrew	5	Browm creek	1 03	1 28
Simms, B W	160	Piles mt	3 09	3 34
Townsend, W T	100	E Greenbrier river	3 91	4 16
White, Henry and J Seibert's heirs	1200	Middle mt	15 91	16 16
Wallace, Isabella	350	E Greenbrier river	4 86	5 11
Webb, Amanda	135	Buckley mt	2 69	3 94
Young, Charles E	189	Marlins mt	2 78	3 03
Little Levels District
Hogsett, Martha J	50	Near Mill Point	17 38	17 63
Hogsett, J T	107	" "	51 18	51 43
same	75-160	" "	57	82
Kincaid, Sarah H	20-160	Rush Run	41	66
Lewis Christopher	875	Mill Rbn	13 43	13 68
same	870	" "	13 37	13 62
same	100	" "	1 82	2 07
Overholt, W H	300	Cherry & Spr creek	7 10	7 35
same		120 poles, Hillsboro	2 23	2 48
same	25	Locust creek	8 19	8 44
same	20	Cherry Glade	68	93
same	243	Mill Run	4 97	5 22
same	243	" "	3 97	4 22
Prior, Charles	10	adj Isaac McNeel	1 82	2 17
Roller, J E	250	Poplar Flats	15 88	16 13
same	500	Burr Land	31 42	31 67
Rider, A T J & L J	138	Poplar Flats	4 79	5 04
Smith, David (col)	356	Greenbrier river	4 64	4 89
Skeen, William	184 80	Droop mt	3 77	4 02
Smith, Erie E	138	Poplar Flats	2 93	3 18
Waugh, B H est	243	Mill Run	3 97	4 22

Any of the aforesaid tracts or lots may be redeemed by the payment to the undersigned Sheriff, before sale, of the amount due thereon Given under my hand this 27th day of November, 1897.

R. W. HILL, Sheriff of Pocahontas County.

CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
CURE CONSTIPATION
REGULATE THE LIVER
10c 25c 50c
ALL DRUGGISTS

PLOW REPAIRS.

We have at last succeeded in making arrangements
To supply Points for the Ronceverte Plow.

Full stock now on hand
Send in your orders early

We are Factory Agents for
SILVER STEEL and IMPERIAL PLOWS,
also BEST HILL-SIDE PLOW on Market,

Don't Forget
THE WONDER AIR TIGHT HEATER this Fall.

Simms & Co.,
Opp. Passenger Depot, RONCEVERTE, W. Va.

The Pocahontas Times,

Hear, Land o' Cakes and brither Scots,
Frae Maidenkirk to Johnny Groats,
If there's a hole in a' your coats,
I rede ye tent it;
A chiel's amang you takin' notes,
An' faith he'll prent it.—Burns.

Local Events.

William Mann has rented a farm near Warm Springs. He will move in the Spring.

L. D. Sharp's store at Linwood is aglow with Christmas goods and he invites all to come and examine.

H. M. Lockridge has resigned as principal of the Marlinton high school. The place will be offered to E. C. Eagle.

A mink has his home on the pier of the bridge at this place. Sometimes he comes up thro the floor into the roadway.

No whites need apply, is the motto of a Wyandotte county, (Kan.), photographer, who takes the pictures of negroes only.

Congressman Dorr has introduced a bill to amend the constitution to prevent polygamy. There is danger of the Mormons capturing the legislatue of Utah and legalizing the vice.

Marriage licenses were issued to S. O. Callison and Miss Ella Perkins, daughter of Joseph Perkins, and H. F. Rehm and Miss Rosa Belle Callison, last Tuesday. All the parties live near Locust.

It is reported that the Bank of Marlinton will open for business next spring. This bank was chartered in 1891, and a building erected. Last Tuesday the room was measured for bank furniture.

A citizen of Roanoke named Chase, aged 74, shot and killed M. P. Linkenhoker, aged 69. Both mem emptied the chambers of their revolvers. The trouble grew out of a justice trial concerning the pasturing of a colt.

Among the natural curiosities of our county is the blowing cave near George Overholt's, on upper Swago. Parties, who have seen the Windy Cave, near Millboro, and this cave, pronounce the latter a more noticable and picturesque place in several of its features.

Stories are going around the West of a new bug which has been dubbed "the mountaineer," because it is believed to have come down the hillside on a snowdrift, which has destroyed thousands of heads of cabbage in Indiana. It is said to be black, to have a cross on its back, and to be nearly as large as the potato bug.

Married: Mr Tazewell Morton McCorkle, of Harrisonburg, Va., and Miss Susie Hilleary Willson, of Summit Point, W. Va., were married in the Church of the Holy Spirit, at Summit Point, December 15. Mr McCorkle travels this route, representing a well known tobacco house. When quite young he was for five years aboard a warship as a United States marine. He is one of the few good looking drummers who come this way, and we are not surprised to hear of his good luck.

To Subscribers: Last week we mailed the issue on time as usual, and in a few days it was reported from several directions that The Times had failed to come out, and a great wail reached this office. We understand that the bundles got mixed up and were sent in the wrong direction by the postmaster's clerk. If any office failed to get their usual consignment, the subscribers will please let us know as we have enough extra copies on hand to supply subscribers at a few postoffices.

An examination as to the sanity of George P. Gilmore, of Stoney Creek, was held by Squire Bird last week. He was pronounced insane and was placed in jail at this place until he could be conveyed to the Hospital, at Weston. He is a man of about fifty years of age, and has been an expert stone mason. He is a man of family, and has been one of the hardest working and most moral men of his neighborhood. His friends feared mainly that he would take his own life, and decided to ask for his commitment to jail.

The office attached to Withrow McClintic's lumber camp in Pocahontas was burned a week or so since. Guns, clothing, office records, and some money belonging to the hands were destroyed. There was in the office a hundred pounds of dynamite and the fear of its explosion prevented attempts to save the building or its contents. There was some insurance that may about meet the pecuniary losses. The guns, pistols and cartridges kept up a considerable racket, but the dynamite made no demonstration, strange to say.

At a recent meeting of teachers at Elmira, New York, it was decided that if corporal punishment had to be administered to pupils, it was best to whip with a hollow rubber as it was less apt to disable or make the effects of punishment felt outside the school room. Spare the rubber tube and spoil the child a modern Solomon would have to remark. This is too esthetic for Pocahontas, especially Marlinton. A thorn hickory or hide of cow would make better citizens of some of our obstreperous boys, and the effects of the punishment would more apt to felt in after years.

PERSONAL MENTION.

W. A. Bratton left Tuesday to spend Christmas at Marshall, Va.

S. B. Scott, Jr., made a trip to Lewisburg this week.

Miss Sallie Yeager, of the Lewisburg Female Institute, will spend the holidays at home.

James Rock has rented the Swago Mill and is doing satisfactory work for his patrons.

Mrs Sarah J. McMeill, wife of Johnathan McNeill, near Buckeye, is much afflicted by a cancerous affection on her left hand.

J. W. Beard & Bro. is the style of the firm which succeeds Sydenstricker & Beard in the machinery business at Academy. The new firm is composed of J. W. Beard and G. Cameron Beard.

George Overholt, lately of Buckeye, now living in Missouri, a public school teacher, was bereaved of his wife, a few weeks since, leaving two little children motherless. Mrs Mollie Overholt was a daughter of Mrs Sally Hill on Hill Creek.

Flew the Track.

The Buckeye football team will not accommodate Marlinton with a game on Christmas day, much to the disgust of Marlinton sportsmen; but promise to play later in the winter.

Involuntary Manslaughter.

The famous trial of Col. Robert W. Eastham for killing Frank W. Thomson, which has been in progress in Tucker county for weeks, resulted in a verdict of involuntary manslaughter, which under the law is a misdemeanor. The verdict is a triumph for the defense.

The evidence for the State showed that it was a clear case of murder with malice afore-thought. The defense produced evidence equally as positive to show that Eastham only fired after he had been shot twice by Thomson. Eastham killed his man by shooting from his coat pocket. The killing was the result of a long feud. Both men were interested in the lumber business.

Greenbrier Railway Company.

The Greenbrier Railway Company held a meeting at Huntington, last Thursday, and elected the following offcers: President, H. C. Simms, Huntington; vice-president, Decatur Axtell, Richmond; secretary, C. E. Welford. Richmond; auditor, L. F. Sullivan, Richmond; treasurer, C. E. Potts, Richmond; attorney, F. B. Enslow, Huntington.

The Baltimore Sun says: The new line is to be eighty miles in length, and will penetrate coal fields in Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties, connection being made with the Chesapeake & Ohio at the White Sulphur. The route has been surveyed and the road will be pushed thro to completion at the earliest date possible. It will be the most important feeder on the line of the Chesapeake and Ohio.

Morgan Hanged.

The Jackson county murderer was hanged at Ripley, last Thursday, in the presence of 10,000 people. It seems to have been a gala day for the old town. Woman stenographer, who had taken down the evidence. stood on the platform and saw him hanged. The scaffold was built on an Indian mound in an open field. There was a procession of carriages, bearing the prisoner, officers, jury and reporters. As they neared the scaffold they sang, "Come let us join our friends above;" a most wonderfully unappropriate hymn for the occasion.

The crime for which he was executed was his killing the Green family, to rob the house. His father was condemned to death. He escaped and was shot in Nicholas county by an officer.

The New York Sun had a reporter there who must have been a very silly man. He states that the sheriff made all haste to hang the man before the afternoon train came in, for fear that the Governor would grant him a pardon. He was astonished that the Jackson county farmers carried so few guns.

Death of Hon E. B. Knight.

Hon E. B. Knight, one of the most notable men in the State, and a leading lawyer of the Charleston bar, died at his home in Charleston, December 16. He was a native of New England, being born in New Hampshire in 1834. He earned the money that took him through Dartmouth College. He practiced law for some time in New England. He has always been a Democrat, but has persistently refused to become a candidate for office. He was a member of the constitutional convention of 1872. He has appeared at the bar of Pocahontas county, and was one of the counsel in the case of Barrett versus McAllister tried in our county some years ago. E. W. Knight, of Brown, Jackson & Knight, and Hal Knight, his two sons, have been in Pocahontas often on camping tours, and have many friends here who are sincerely sorry to hear of their father's death.

Mr Durham Bull of Kansas.

Durham Bull is the odd name of a Greenwood county farmer. His mother's name was Ann Durham and his father's name was Jonathan Bull.—Kansas City Times.

YELK.

John Slanker has gone to Davis to work in the lumber camps.

Sheldon Hannah is building a a barn which he views by day and works on by night.

George Sharp's sale was largely attended. The auctioneer was so blown that he has been complaining ever since.

The shoot match was a a success. Twenty persons attended and they all claim to have won five turkeys each.

The Literary Society will deliver its last meeting Thursday, December 30. All are invited, as a specially good program has been provided.

Thomas Beale's family has scarlet fever. One of them contracted it while at the Linwood school. George Hoover's family having a chance were stopped from attending the Slaty Fork school for a few days.

Dennis Williams says to "Hoot-Owl Ike":

"It is better to be where no one is nigh,
Where incipient whiskers can grow
on the sly,
Than in literary labors, lowly to stoop,
In reporting the news from some lone chicken-coop."

D. A. Varner is hauling a load from Beverly this week for L. D. Sharp.
Bill Burley.

Scrap at a School-House.

Brown L. Galford and William M. Adkinson fought to a finish at the Hevner school-house on Swago, Friday morning, James Warwick teacher. The men are trustees of the school, and the trouble grew out of a fight between the sons of the two men.

The teacher punished one boy, Galford's son, for fighting, while the other managed to escape. Galford summoned Adkinson to appear at the school and see that justice was done, and claims that he responded with very abusive language, which he let pass for the time being.

Being met at the school-house the charge was proven by the scholars, and the Adkinson boy soundly whipped by the master.

The trouble was now settled, apparently; but now Galford claimed satisfaction from Adkinson for the insults he had heaped upon him, and in the rude way known to his class invited him to go with him to a neighboring 'hacking' for a bout. Adkinson demurred, but Galford insisted and became abusive, very strangely as he is much the smaller man.

Galford employed in-fighting tactics and threw his man heavily, pounding him in the face, displacing his nose and shedding much gore. But not being able to hold him down, this maneuvre was repeated two or three times, Galford having much the better of the argument.

Galford confessed judgment before Squire Bird, Tuesday, to a charge of assault and battery.

The Credit Money of the Country.

The cost and inconvenience of transporting money from one part of the country to another was aptly illustrated at Topeka the other day when it became necessary for the Rock Island Railroad to send $257,000 to Chicago. If the money had been sent in greenbacks or gold the express charges would have been $321.50; if in silver, $577.75; but the railroad people rejected all three and made the transfer with a bank draft at a cost of only 2 cents. The credit money is the real money of the country, add laws to strengthen it are wiser than than laws in relation to the coinage of any metal.—Kansas City Journal.

Christmas Entertainment.

Friday night the Epworth League will give an entertainment consisting of select readings, recitations, addresses, etc. The committee of three young ladies appointed to prepare the program insure an interesting occasion.

Woodchopper Wears a Bell.

A Milo wooodchopper who goee about his work with a huge cowbell attached to his back, says he means to take no chances. "No fool shoots me for a deer," says he —Lewiston (Maine) Journal.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund the money if it fails to Cure. 25c.

Notice.

All persons indebted to me by account will please come forward and settle between now and January 1, 1898, as I must have money to meet my obligations. Come and settle, and save trouble and costs. Yours for business,

R. L. Nottingham.
Dunmore, W. Va., Nov. 13, 1897.

Ferguson's Photograph Gallery is coming to Marlinton. The finest of pictures at lowest of prices. Wait for him.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

OBITUARY.

Miss Maggie Ervine.

Died, at the home of Mrs S. B. Hannah, Miss Maggie Ervine, daughter of Mrs Polly Ervine and the late Benj. F. Ervine, in the forty second year of her age.

Her great kindness and unselfishness won for her a host of friends, many of whom ministered to her during the two weeks of suffering she was called to endure. Her death was caused by accute rheumatism.

She was an exemplary member of the Presbyterian church. She leaves a widowed mother, a sister, and a brother to mourn her death. For eighteen years she had been a loved and trusted member of Mrs Hannah's family, and they mourn her death as one of their own.

Ah, once again on a starry eve,
The angel death has come
To summon in quiet gentle tones,
Another wanderer home.

Another careworn child of God,
Weary faithful one!
Rest, oh pilgrim, thy tired feet!
Thine earthly race is done.

Fold on her bosom the dear thin hands
Their work is over now,
Think of the harp and the golden [crown
On the ransomed spirit brow.

Oh think that her pain is forever past
And her sins are washed away
No sickness, pain or death is there
"The former things are passed away."

A Friend.

Please Take Notice.

All persons knowing themselves to be indebted to the old firm of Moore & Hannah, Edray, W. Va., will please settle their notes and accounts by January 1, 1898. All notes and accounts not paid by the above date will be placed in the hands of an officer for collection.

Moore & Hannah.
Per S. B. Moore.

Also all parties indebted to me will please pay up between this time and January 1, 1898. Respectfully,
S. B. Moore.
December 6, 1897.

"My, that made me jump!" is such a common expression, and it comes from such a common cause—poor blood and from starved nerves.

Why suffer the tormenting terror of nervousness, when you could be permanently cured by

Johnston's Sarsaparilla

QUART BOTTLE.

It acts upon the blood more healthfully and speedily than any other blood purifier.

Williams, Davis, Brooks & Co.,
Detroit, Mich.

Price, $1 for a quart bottle at any druggist.

For sale by Uriah Bird, Marlinton; and A. Barlow, Huntersville.

Commissioner's Notice

The following accounts are before the undersigned commissioner of accounts for Pocahontas County Court for settlement:

N. S. Bruffey, guardian of T. A. Bruffey, Ida H. Sarver (nee Bruffey), Mary W Bruffey and Serinc Bruffey.

A. B. Gwin, Guardian of Allie B Dever, (nee McLaughlin.)

Given under my hand this 20th day of December, 1897,

J. H. PATTERSON,
Commissioner of Accounts.

Please Notice!

I am still here, and new goods coming in every week and going out at the same rate. Come when you will I have something new: and good bargains for cash customers.

If you have but little to buy with it will pay you to investigate my goods and prices.

I am still buying Grain of all kinds, Turkeys, Chickens, Eggs, Butter, &c.

Some Prices—

Green Coffee, 12 to 15c
Arbuckle Coffee, 9 for $1.00
Calicoes, 4½ to 7c
Cotton Cloth, 5 to 9c
Flannels, 20 to 30c,
Ginghams, 5 to 8c
Outings, 7 to 12c
Shoes, $1.00 to $2.75
Yarn, 70 to 80c
Suit Clothes, $8.00 to $12 00

If you want your picture enlarged at half-price, I will have it done.

Yours for business,
S. J. BOGGS,
Huntersville, W. Va

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.
Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

1898. THE SUN. 1898.
BALTIMORE, MD.

The Paper of the People,
For the People and with the People.
Honest in Motive.
Fearless in Expression.
Sound in Principle.
Unswerving in Its Allegiance to Right Theories and Right Practices

The Sun Publishes All the News All the Time, but it does not allow its columns to be degraded by unclean, immoral, or purely sensational matter.

Editorially, the Sun is the Consistent and Unchanging Champion and Defender of Popular Rights add Interests against political machines and monopolies of every character. Independent in all things, extreme in none. It is for good laws, good government, and good order.

By mail Fifty Cents a month. Six Dollars a year.

The Baltimore Weekly Sun.

The Weekly Sun publishes all the news of each week, giving complete accounts of all events of interest throughout the world. The Weekly Sun is unsurpassed as an Agricultural Paper.

It is edied by writers of practical experience, who kdow what farming means and what farmers want in an agricultural journal. It contains regular reports of the work of the Agricultural experiment stations throughout the country, of the proceedings of farmers' clubs ond institutions, and the kiscussion of new methods and ideas in agriculture. Its Market Reports, Poultry Department, and Veterinary column are particularly valurble to country readers. Every issue contains Stories, Poems, Household and Puzzle columns, a variety of interesting and selected instructive matter, and other features, which make it a welcome visitor in city and country homes alike.

One Dollar a year. Inducements to getters-up of clubs for the Weekly Sun. Both the Daily and Weekly Sun mailed ffee of postage in the United States, Canada, and Mexico. Payments idvariably in rdvance. Aedress

A. S. ABELL COMPANY,
Publishers and Proprietors,
BALTIMORE, MD.

Fiduciary Notice.

All persons interested take notice that the accounts of the following personal representatives of the below named decedents are before me for settlement:

J. S. Mace, Exor of Wm E Mace, dec'd.

A. N. Barlow, Exor. of Jacob Sharp, dec'd.

I. B. Moore admr. of Moses Moore dec'd.

Susan McGlaughlin guardian of Allie McGlaughlin.

John A. Moore, Admr. of S. P. Moore, dec'd.

Georgia F. Dever, Admrx of Francis Dever dec'd.

J. C. Arbogast, Admr of Peter Beverage dec'd.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
Commissioner of Accounts.

MARLINTON HOUSE
Located East End of Bridge.

Terms.
per day - $1 & $1.50
per meal - - 25

Good accommodations for horses at 25 cents per feed.
Special rates made by the week or month.

C.A.YEAGER. - - Proprietor.

LOOK HERE!

WHAT YOU WANT IS—

To know where you can buy 100 cents' worth for 1 $. I will tell you. Come to my store. I don't mean to say I will sell you the largest load for the least money,—but that I will give you the best bargains to be had in "town." I am closing out my stock on hands, and for the next thirty days will sell you goods at nearly COST, FOR CASH, or good produce, such as Ginseng, Beeswax, &c.

Note these prices: Good Prints, from 4c to 6c, Scotch Lawn 5c, Satteen 8½c, Ginghams, 6½, Cable twill 11c, Cambric 4½ & 5c, Ticking 15c, Table Oilcloth 16c, Over Shirts 19c to 60c, Overalls, 35c to 90c, Jeanes 85c and $1.15, Suspenders, 10c to 45c, Hose 5c to 18c, Half Hose 5 and 15c, Lady's Shoes from $1 to $1.50, Lady's Oxfords, 90c to $1.00, Misses Shoes 85c to $1.25, Men's Shoes, $1.25 to $1.90, Tobaccos, 23c to 55c, Arbuckle Coffee, 12½c, Mowing Scythes 45c and 65c, Snaths 40 and 50c, Hay Forks 30 and 40c.

Other goods proportionately low.

Call and be convinced that you can get bargains of me for cash.

Submissively yours,
G. L. HANNAH,
Yelk. W. Va.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION
25 CTS 25 CTS

BIG DISPLAY OF CHRISTMAS GOODS AT GOLDEN'S!

A large Stock of Goods on hand, and more coming in this week. Presents suitable to all Ages and Conditions can be Selected from my Stock.

Paul Golden.

WE are Ready for Christmas!

CHRISTMAS GOODS

Our holiday stock is large, our goods new, our prices low The latest in style, the finest in quality, the utmost variety.

The presents you want at the prices you like are all included in our splendid line of—

JEWELRY, LADIES CAPES,
CLOAKS, CLOCKS, BLANKETS,
FACINATORS, GLOVES, ALBUMS,
MACKINTOSHES, TABLE LINEN,
KNIVES & FORKS, DOLLS, TOYS
SILK MUFFLERS, Handkerchiefs
Looking glasses, Toilet Cases, Etc.

A fine line of Ladies Trimmed Latest Style Hats. Lamps.

Appropriate, sensible gifts for old and young are features of this magnificent stock, which commends itself to holiday buyers. If you wish to make few or many cheap presents this is your best chance. It will be impossible to make a mistake in your holiday buying if you select from the fair-priced stock of

Sol. Davis,
Green Bank, W. Va.

ASSASSINATED!

We do not mean to assassinate you, as Wilkes Boothe did Abraham Lincoln, but warn you of the truth that you are daily assassinating your Pocket Book by not giving us your trade. Our stock is fresh, and constant increase of Business show that Prices are Better than elsewhere.

Constant sales allow no shopworn goods to remain on our shelves, and Money with Order enables us to obtain Bargains which we gladly share with our customers. This means no fraud or deception. Our figures are plain and bold, and you don't have to guess or ask. You can't tell what the bottom price of an article until you see it Here. Every day in the year is a bargain day with us.

Our stock is worth Investigation and all are invited to call and be convinced that as to Quality of stock and Lowness of Prices we surpassed by none. We want your trade and friendship.

We will take Beeswax and Fur. Our nine-years' experience as buyer and shipper enables us to pay highest prices. For quality of stock, lowness of price, and prompt business, we are respectfully yours,

L. D. Sharp.

GIVEN FREE EACH MONTH (During 1897)

4 First Prizes, each of $100 Cash.
20 Second " " " $100 Pierce Special Bicycles.
40 Third " " " $ 25 Gold Watches.

FOR Sunlight SOAP WRAPPERS

For particulars send your name and full address to Lever Bros., Ltd., Hudson & Harrison Sts., New York.

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, Jan. 15. 1897.

Subscription ONE DOLLAR in advance. If not paid within the year $1.50 will be charged.

Entered at the post-office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

County Directory

Judge..........J. M. McWhorter
Pros. Attorney....L. M. McClintic
Sheriff................R. W. Hill
Clerk County Court...S. L. Brown
Clerk Circuit Court, J. H. Patterson
Assessor.............J. H. Buzzard
Com'rs. Co. Ct. { Amos Barlow, C. E. Beard, J R Warwick
Surveyor..........George Baxter
Coroner..........George P. Moore

BOARD OF HEALTH—Dr J. W Price, L. M. McClintic, M. J. McNeel, R. W. Hill.

JUSTICES—Uriah Bird, Marlinton; A. C. L. Gatewood, Linwood; P. D. Arbogast, Green Bank; W H. Grose, Huntersville; G R. Curry, Academy; T. A. Bruffey, Lobelia.

THE COURTS.

CIRCUIT COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in April, third Tuesday in June, and third Tuesday in October.

COUNTY COURT convenes on the first Tuesday in January, March, October, and second Tuesday in July,—July is levy term.

Business Rules.

When a subscriber orders his paper discontinued he is, of course, expected at the same time to pay up all arrearages.

No attention will be paid to anonymous communications. You need not sign your real name, but it must always accompany your communication.

On all job work our terms are cash, except in cases of merchants and others with whom we have running accounts.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

PATTERSON SIMMONS
MARLINTON, W. VA.
Plasterer... Contractor.
Work done on short notice.

WHO COMMANDS THE FRENCH?

Corps Commanders and Division Generals Hold Equal Rank.

According to the regulations the minister of war is commander in chief of the French army. But an act passed in 188? provides that this high dignitary must remain in Paris if a war breaks out. The actual command will be assumed by a major general designated for that purpose by the ministry—at present Gen. Saussier. Well and good. But this officer has no right to prepare the army according to his ideas in time of peace. He receives the command over the different corps from another man, with whom, perhaps, he differs materially in opinion. The responsibility for the state of the army is thus divided and cannot be fastened upon any one person. Further, the highest rank in the French army is that of division general. There are some higher functions, such as the command of an army corps and the army inspection, but these functions are attended to by the division generals, who stand in the same rank with their inferiors in command. In times of peace this causes unpleasant jealousy, during war time it may lead to conflict and disorder. With regard to the commanders of army corps the matter is not so bad, as they are in touch with troops and leaders under their commands. But how is a general to command an army if the chiefs of four or five army corps and some 20 divisions all hold the same rank as himself? Will he be obeyed?

The impropriety of this state of things is well known to the French, but the conditions of the republic exclude the possibility of suitable reforms. If any general were given an extra feather for his hat or an extra star on the collar of his coat he might use his new authority against the republic. On the other hand, the hundred or so of division generals hold each other in check. Yet, the responsible heads of the army fear that serious difficulties will arise in case of war, and the present minister of war has drawn up a bill for the mitigation of the evil. He suggests the appointment of a responsible council of war and the creation of a new rank, that of "army general." Twenty-five of the division generals are to be raised to it, and they must be chosen from the officers who already act as army commanders and army inspectors.

It is, however, doubtful that even this moderate reform will be allowed to pass the chambers. Already the radicals and socialists raise a row and declare that Billot is preparing for a coup d'etat. On the other hand, the military press points out that it would be much better to give the future commanders of armies a higher hierarchic position and to enable them to exercise some power over the troops they are to lead in time of war. But the military authorities understand that, if 25 commanders are raised to a higher rank the present difficulty in the appointment of chiefs is at least narrowed down. More radical reforms would be likely to meet with still greater opposition than the proposition which Gen. Billot has formulated with the assistance of his civilian fellow ministers.—Berlin Rundschau.

ADVICE TO MEN.

Don't Wear Long Hair and an Air o Dishabille.

In seeking to win the affection and friendship of women, dear boys, you will find dress an important thing to be considered, says a woman writer.

Although I will not go as far as to say that a woman's heart has ever been broken by a badly-brushed hat, I have known a woman to look at a bulging shirt bosom and decide that even if she could ever consent to pillow her head upon such an uncomfortable-looking spot the loud vivacity of the waistcoat beneath would make rest there quite impossible. I am not going to tell you what to wear. That is the work of mightier intellects than mine. And there are the young lady male impersonators of the variety stage to copy. These represent the woman's ideal of man's clothing, I may, however, prove myself useful in telling you what not to wear. To begin with, there is one rule you should have written on your mirrors. It is this;

Do not dress like a genius, even if you are one.

The average woman has a strong aversion to go out with a gentleman who—because laurel wreaths have gone out of fashion—substitutes for them long hair, short trousers, decolleté shirts and a generally carefully arranged dishabille.

The average woman is a silly little thing, you know, and she would rather that you looked commonplace and well groomed than that every newsboy should be able to tell that she is walking with an intellectual giant.

As for the woman above the average —well, she knows that you're not a genius, anyhow. You can't fool her with freak neckties and doorknob studs!

Remember that I am directing your doings to meet the tastes of the majority of women. There are ladies who go riding on tandem bicycles with gentlemen who wear red suits, and some women love the society of a necktie or vest that almost barks.

The ring, watchchain and bric-a-brac habit is popular with young ladies who stand on the other side of the footlights and have a taste for anything that glitters even if it isn't 18 carat.

By this class of lady you may be loved for your scarfpin, but a large percentage of the weaker sex prefer to do all the glittering that is to be done themselves.—N. Y. World.

Queer Concert Receipts.

While once making a professional tour round the world, Mme. Trebelli agreed to sing at a concert at the Society islands for a third of the evening's receipts. She was rathter surprised, though not displeased, with her share. When counted over it consisted of 20 pigs, 40 turkeys, 95 chickens, 3,000 coconnuts and an immense quantity of bananas, oranges and lemons.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

FORETHOUGHT.—Little things illustrate certain Englishmen's knowledge of American geography very picturesquely. An Englishman who had taken the Pacific Express at Philadelphia called out on going to bed before the train started:

"Portah! portah!"

'What is it, sir?"

"Please wake me up when we get to San Francisco, you know," said the Englishman, Sunlight Soap's Latest Scheme.

Messrs Lever Bros. Ltd., proprietors of Sunlight Soap, do nothing by halves. They have built up the largest soap business in the world, first, by turning out a very superior article, and second, by pluck and attractive advertising. Their latest stroke in the United States is a bold one. It is a Monthly Wrapper Competition, the tempting features of which are the presentation of $3,400 in cash, bicycles, and gold watches every month of the year 1897, to those who collect and send in to Lever Bros.' New York office the largest number of Sunlight "coupons." The total value of the prizes to be awarded during the year 1897 is $40,800.

The competition will commence January, when four first prizes, of $100 cash, twenty second prizes of $100 Pierce Special Bicycles, and forty third prizes, each of $25 gold wathes will be awarded to the successful competitors of that month.

A great advantage in this competition is that it is held monthly, and, therefore, those who do not succeed for one month, have plenty more opportunities during the yere. Rules and full particulars are given in our advertising columns from time to time. The firm of Lever Bros. is thoroughly responsible and will do all they promise.

New Method.

A man who was for some years in the log and lumber business on the shore of Lake Michigan tells a little incident illustrative of the Irishman's unwillingness to acknowledge his ignorence of any subject.

One day a young Irishman applied for work.

"Can you raft and boom logs," asked the lumber merchant.

"Uv cuoorse, sorr," replied the unemployed with cheering promptness.

"Well, then," said the lumber merchant, "go up on the gap above the railroad bridge and boom all the logs you find with my mark. Any of the raftsmen will tell you about the mark, the locality of the gap, and so forth."

The Irishman hesitated a moment and then with an ingenuous smile, said:

"I'll be agoin' directly, sorr; do you boom the logs as we do in the owld counthry, I dunno? Is it wid a showel ye boom em, sorr, or how?

"A Mail Car."

An amusing story is told by the New York Tribune of a woman who resented what she supposed was an exclusive privalege granted to men.

A determined looking woman tried to get on a street car in Philadelphia the other day, when it had made a momentary stop on account of a blockade; but the conductor said to her:

"Take the next car, madam; we don't carry passengers."

"What's the reason yon don't?" she inquired, at the same time making an effort to scramble aboard just as the car started.

"You can't get on; its a mailcar," shouted the man on the rear platform.

"The idea!" muttered the woman shaking her green umbrella the rapidly disappearing conductor, to the infinite delight of a number of spectators. "A male car, and won't let women ride on it! I'll report you at the depot—see if I don't!" and she made a note of his number.

A Cure for Lame Back.

"My daughter, when recovering from an attack of fever, was a great sufferer from pain in the back and hips," writes Louden Grover, of Sardis, Ky. After using quite a number of remedies without any benfit she tried one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and it has given entire relief." Chamberlain's Pain Balm is also a certain cure for rheumatism. Sold by all druggist.

All Foreigners.

The Philadelphia North American quotes the saying of a man who is disturbed about the future of his native land.

Mr Banner—The foreigners are getting a awful hold in this country.

Crosby—They are, indeed. Why, I read over a list of men naturalized by the court yesterday, and every one of them was a foreigner.

The Railroad.

A good force of hands, we hear about forty, is now at work grading the proposed railroad from Ronceverte to Lewisburg. The Company got a car load of tools last monday, has established a commissary at Ronceverte, is contracting for crossties and making arrangements for active prosecution of the work. We hear further that a large force of hands will soon be put on the road and that the company expects to have it completed to Lewisburg by the last of March. We have neverbeen able to learn who it is that is backing this enterprise. Nor do we know the objective point had in view. There has neen a good deal of speculation among our people in regard to the matter, the general opinion being that the aim is to reach the valuable coal deposits in the western part of the county. Be this as it may, there is every indication that Ronceverte and Lewisburg will be soon connected with by a standard guage railroad, entering our town on the eastern hill, near the residence of Judge Holt.—Greenbrier Independent.

HIS SILVER TERM.

REPRESENTATIVE CATCHINGS of Mississippi.—"My dear Catchings" as Cleveland called him—was a sound money Democrat during the early days of the Administration, and until the question of his return to Congress depended on his change of heart. Then he came out for silver and was re-elected.

The other day some of the Democrats in the House were discussing the possible Democratic member of the committee on Rules to take the place of the late Judge Crisp. Some one suggested Mr Catchings.

"But Catchings is a silver man," said a Southern member.

"Oh, no," instsntly remarked Representative Owens, of Keutucky, "his silver term does not begin until the 4th of March.—The Post, Washington.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, LUCAS COUNTY } ss.

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo. County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that can not be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

{ SEAL } A. W. GLEASON.
Notry Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous sufaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by druggists. 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

HE (telling a hairbreadth adventure)—"And in the bright moonlight we could see the dark muzzles of the wolves."

SHE (breathlessly)—"Oh, how glad you must have been that they had muzzles on!"—Harper's Bazaar.

C. B. SWECKER,
General Auctioneer and Real Estate Agent.

I sell Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands. Farms and Town Lots a specialty. 21 years in the business. Correspondence solicited. Reference furnished.

Postoffice - Dunmore, W. Va., or Alexander, W. Va.

Old Dominion Building & Loan Association.
—OF—
Richmond, - - Virginia.

J. TAYLOR ELLYSON, President.
E. A. BARBER, Treasurer.

DIRECTORS.
J. Taylor Ellyson, Normon V. Randolph, John B. Purcell, John S. Ellet, Frank T, Sutton.

Authorized Capital	$20,000,000.
Subscribed Capital	5,000,000.
Paid Up Cash Capital	1,500,000.
Assets	2,000,000.

Depository—State Bank of Virginia, Investment stocks cost $1.00 per share membership fee, and 60 cents per month afterwards—withdrawable after twelve monthly payments, and sooner in event of the death of the stockholder.

H. A. YEAGER, Agent.
MARLINTON, W. VA.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR
FOR THE WHEELING
Weekly Intelligencer,
West Virgicia's Leading Newspaper.

The coming year promises to be one of great moment to every American citizen. An important change is at hand in the administration of public affairs. There will probably be a special session of Congress immediately following the inauguration of the new President. The tariff, efpecially in the matter of wool and coal, will be at once under discussion, and legislation looking to the restoration of the national finances to a sound basis will be introduced. There will also be a new administration in West Virginia, and there is every indication that enterprises of great importance to the public wellfare will be set on foot in the state. The proposed river improvements will be begun. New railroads will be built, and new material resources of every kind developed. The year 1897 promises to be one of the golden years of the State and Natton. Business will everywhere revive, and the columns of the INTELLIGENCER will teem with the evidence of great opportunities for business.

Every family should have a live newspaper of this character in its midst, so that the old and youhg of the household may know all of the particulars of the great awakening that is at hand.

TERMS AND PREMIUMS.

The WEEKLY INTELLIGENCER, one year in advance	$1 00
The WEEKLY INTELLIGENCER, six months in advance	60
6 copies one year and extra copy to person getting up club	5 00
12 copies one year and three extra copies to person getting up club	10 00
20 copies one year and a copy of the DAILY INTELLIGENCER to person getting up club	20 00

The premium copies will be sent to any address desired. It is equivolent to a cash commission, as the can readily be sold and the money retained by the getter up of the club. It is not neccessary for all the names in the club to come from one office, nor is it necessary to send all the subscriptions at one time. Subscriptions may be sent as fast as received, one or more at a time, and a record of them will be kept at this office. The premium copies will be sent at the request of the agent as soon as he has sent sufficient subscribers to entitle him to them.

Specimen copies of either edition of the Intelligences sent free to any address. Send in your subscriptions at once.

We want an Agent at every postoffice in west Virginia, Eastern Ohio, and western Pennsylvania.

INTELLIGENCER PUBLISHING CO.,
WHEELING, W. VA.

MEDICAL WISDOM.

THE DREADED CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

T. A. Slocum, M. C., the great Chemist and Scientist, Offers to Send Free, to Afflicted, Three Bottles of His Newly-Discovered Remedies to Cure Consumption and All Lung Troubles.

Nothing could be fairer, more philanthopic or carry more joy in its wake than the offer of T. A. Slocum, M. C., of 183 Pearl street New York City.

Confident that he has discovered an absolute cure for consumption and all pulminary complaints, and to make its great merits known, he will send, free, three bottles, to any reader of the POCAHONTAS TIMES, who is suffering from chest, bronchial, throat and lung troubles or consumption.

Already this "new scientific course of medicine" has permanently cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases.

The Doctor considers it his religous duty—a duty which he owes to humanity—to donate his infalible cure.

Offerered freely, apart from its inherent strength, is enough to commend it, and more so is the perfect confidence of the great chemist making the proposition.

He has proved consumption to be a curable disease beyond any doubt.

There will be no mistake in sending—the mistake will be in overlooking the generous invitation. He has on file in his American and European laboratories testimonials of experience from those cured, in all parts of the world.

Delays are dangerods. Address T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183, Pearl street New York, and when writing to the Doctor, please give express and postoffice address, and mention reading this article in The POCAHONTAS TIMES.

MARLINTON HOUSE.
Located East End of Bridge.

Terms.
per day - 1.00 & 1.50
per meal - - - 25

Good accommodations for horses at 25 cents per feed.

Special rates made by the week or month.

C. A. YEAGER. Proprietor.

TWENTY-SIX American woman have matriculated for the new term of the Berlin University.

GOVERNOR O'FERRALL has in ihe past year pardoned 134 persons out of the penetentiary. The governor will now never be without tried friends—Staunton Spectator.

THE woman suffragists have nov but forty one more States to conquer. Come to think of it, Idaho has a sort of a womanly sound.—The Herold, Boston.

A VENETIAN who had never traveled save by gondola was placed on a balky horse. He took out his handkerchief and holding it up: exclaimed, "No wonder! The wind is against him.

Vanceburg Ky, Dec. 30 Sam May who has been suspected of violation of the revenue laws, last night accused Washington Smith of informing on him and he asasulted Smith with stones and clubs and with the assistance of his two brothers they beat Smith to death.

EXTENSIVE deposits of ancient volcanic ash in southwestern Nebraska have lately been turned to useful account as a source of pulverized pumice, which has become an important article of commerce. Professor Salisbury, of the University of Chicago, after examining the localities where the ash is found, concludes that it was deposited in water at a time when that region of country was covered by a lake which is supposed to have existed late in tertiary period, and the ash is believed to have been borne thither by winds.—The Youth's Companion.

A Strong Fortification.

Fortify the body against disease by Tutt's Liver Pills, an absolute cure for sick headache, dyspepsia, sour stomach, malaria, constipation, jaundice, biliousness and all kindred troubles.

"The Fly-Wheel of Life"

Dr. Tutt; Your Liver Pills are the fly-wheel of life. I shall ever be grateful for the accident that brought them to my notice. I feel as if I had a new lease of life.
J. Fairleigh, Platte Cannon, Col.

Tutt's Liver Pills

Sunlight Soap

SAVES its cost in LABOR ten times over. Rub it on lightly, let the clothes soak a short time; then rinse. It washes Clothes itself and doesn't hurt the clothes.

Pure Soap No Chemicals. No Adulteration.

Lever Bros., Ltd., Hudson and Harrison Sts., New York.

What is
CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
UNITED HOSPITAL AND DISPENSARY,
Boston, Mass.
ALLEN C. SMITH, Pres.,

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

IT TICKLES YOU
THE INSTANT RELIEF YOU GET FROM
LIGHTNING HOT DROPS.

CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.
HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals, Serpents, Bugs, etc.
BREAKS UP Bad Colds, La Grippe, Influenza, Croup, Sore Throat, etc.

SMELLS GOOD, TASTES GOOD.

SOLD EVERYWHERE AT 25C AND 50C PER BOTTLE. NO RELIEF, NO PAY.

HERB MEDICINE CO. [Formerly of Weston, W. Va.] SPRINGFIELD, O.

Simms & Co.,

RONCEVERTE, W. VA.

Silver Steel Plow, Syracuse Chilled Plows, Imperial Chilled Plows.

PLOW REPAIRS OF ALL KINDS AT LOWEST PRICES EVER OFFERED HERE

RED WARRIOR POLL AXES	65C
GREENBRIER " "	60c
CHAMPION " "	50c
4 No. 2 Horse-shoes for	15c
4 No. 4 " "	23c
4 No. 3 Horse-shoes	18c
4 No. 5 "	16c

COOK-STOVES OF ALL KINDS

1 doz. 8x10 Window Glass 35c | Berea Grindstone 1 1-4c lb
Paints, Oils, Varnishes, etc.

Our goods are all first class, no shoddy or job-lots, or damaged goods. Stiike us for prices before you buy.

Simms & Co.,
Opposite Passenger Depot. Ronceverte, W. Va.

A $5.00 LOOK MOTHERS A RARE TREAT FOR YOU ALL. Boys Sampson Suit, with Extra Pair of Pants, for $2.76
AND WE PAY EXPRESS CHARGES TO YOUR DOOR.
REMEMBER, you buy direct from one of the largest Wholesale Clothing Manufacturers in America, and by so doing you save three Profits.

In Jet Black Dark Blue Oxford Grey & Olive Brown
OUR SAMPSON SUITS with Extra Pants Ages 10 to 15.
STRONGEST IN THE WORLD
2.76

OUR FACTORIES.

The above mentioned $2.76 Boys Sampson Suit with Extra Pants is guaranteed to be made from an imported Wool Cheviot, in Jet Black, Dark Blue, Oxford Grey and Olive Brown, in sizes from 3 to 9 years of age. They are made up as per cut below in double breasted with Sailor Collar, braided with wide surtasch Braid, lined with a fast Black Albert Twill Sateen Lining, Trimming and Workmanship throughout the best money can procure. Coat has a Side Pockets, a Top and Cash Pocket. Patent Waist Bands used on all Pants, also Pistol Pockets on all Pants.

In Sizes from 10 to 15 years of age made up as per opposite cut, Double Breasted with extra Pants at same Price $2.76. Expressage paid to your door.

In remitting send either Post Office or Express Money Order or Registered Letter and for measure send age of Boy at last Birthday and if large or small for his age.

FREE TO EVERYBODY our Illustrated Priced Catalogue in which you will find Boys Suits from 98c. up. Youths Long Pants Suits from $2.00 up and Mens Suits from $2 50 up.

This Style with Extra Pants
Ages from 3 to 9 years
In Jet Black Dark Blue Oxford Grey and Olive Brown
Our Price $2.76 Retail Price $5

E. ROSENBURGER & CO., 204 E. 102d St., New York C

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 15, NO. 23 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, DECEMBER 31, 1897. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 203. This quarter-sawed oak writing desk is polished like a piano. It has a 9-inch beveled plate glass in top and a deep drawer below. Artistic French legs; also finished in mahogany. $3.95 is our special price for this $10 desk.

(Mail orders filled promptly.)
We will mail anyone, free of all charges, our new 112 page Special Catalogue, containing Furniture, Draperies, Lamps, Stoves, Crockery, Mirrors, Pictures, Bedding, Refrigerators, Baby Carriages, etc. This is the most complete book ever published, and we pay all postage. Our lithographed Carpet Catalogue, showing carpets in colors, is also yours for the asking. If carpet samples are wanted, mail us 8c. in stamps. There is no reason why you should pay your local dealer 60 per cent. profit when you can buy from the mill. Drop a line now to the money-savers.

JULIUS HINES & SON,
Baltimore, Md.
Please mention this paper.

$18. IMPROVED SINGER. FREIGHT PREPAID.

For this style new high arm sewing machine with all attachments warranted 10 years. If machine is not satisfactory in 30 days money will be refunded. Send cash with order. Descriptive circular sent on application.

WHAYNE M'F'G CO.,
560 FOURTH AVE., LOUISVILLE, KY.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

JOHN A. PRESTON FRED. WALLACE
PRESTON & WALLACE,
Attorneys at Law,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Greenbrier and adjoining counties, and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

Biographic Notes.

The Friel relationship trace their ancestry to one Daniel O'Friel, a native of Ireland, who probably came to Augusta county with the Lewises. He settled on Middle River, between Churchville and Staunton. His children were James, William, Jeremiah, and Anna O'Friel.

James O'Friel went to Maryland Eastern shore. William O'Friel settled in what is now Highland county, on property now owned by Mathew M. Morrison, near McDowell. Anna became a Mrs Crawford, and lived in Augusta county.

Daniel O'Friel seems to have been a person of considerable means. He sold his property for Continental money, with a view of settling in Kentucky. The money being repudiated, he was unable to carry out his plans.

Upon Jacob Warwick's invitation, Jeremiah O'Friel came to Clover Lick. Mr Warwick gave him land on Carrich Ridge, now owned by John R. Poage. This land was exchanged with Sampson Mathews, senior, for lands on Greenbrier now occupied in part by his descendants, near the mouth of Thorny Creek.

Jeremiah Friel's wife was Anna Brown, daughter of Joseph Brown, who was living at the time of his daughter's marriage on the Greenbrier, east side, about opposite the mouth of Clover Creek. Their first home was on Carrich Ridge, then afterwards they lived on the river. Their children were Joseph, Daniel, Josiah, John, Catherine, Hannah, Ellen, Mary, and Jennie.

Joseph Friel married Jane McCollam and lived on the homestead. He served on the first Pocahontas grand jury. He children were Jeremiah, William, George Washington, a Confederate soldier 31st Virginia Regiment, and died at Stribling Springs in 1832; Hannah, and Mary Ann, now Mrs Joseph Dilley.

Daniel Friel married Anna Casebolt, daughter of Henry Casebolt, on the Greenbrier, near Stamping Creek, and settled on a section of the homestead. Of their children, Andrew Harvey married Anna Johnson, went first to Iowa, thence to Tennessee, where he died in 1871. Barbara became Mrs Lindsay Sharp; Sabina Martha became Mrs Stephen Barnett. Montgomery Allan was a Confederate soldier attached to the 31st Virginia infantry. He married Rachel Christine, daughter of Rev James E. Moore, and lives near Huntersville.

Josiah Freel married Mary Sharp and lived on a part of the John Sharp homestead. Their children were Ann; Sally, Mrs James E. Johnson; Mrs Nancy Grimes, near Mill Point; Ellen, Mrs George Slaton; John, and Israel, who lives on Droop Mountain.

John Friel married Jennie, daughter of Josiah Brown, and settled on a section of the Brown homestead near Indian Draft. In reference to their children the following particulars are in hand: James Twyman lives on the Dry Branch of Elk, was a Confederate prisoner for three years. Josiah Franklin, Confederate soldier, 31st Virginia Regiment, died in battle at Port Republic. William Thomas, Confederate soldier 18th Virginia cavalry, survived the war and was drowned in Valley River, near Elkwater, in 1879.

Mary Jane became Mrs James Gibson, on Elk, and died recently. Mary Frances was the first wife of Sheldon Hannah, on Elk. John Friel was a Confederate soldier, tho exempt by age from military service, and died in the army on Alleghany Mountain, December, 1861, shortly after the battle.

Catherine, daughter of Jeremiah Friel the pioneer, was married to James Sharp and lived on Elk Mountain. In reference to her children these interesting particulars are available: Jeremiah Sharp was a Union soldier and died in the service. John Sharp was a Confederate soldier, 62d Regiment and died in battle at Beverly, in 1864. Josiah Sharp was a Confederate attached to the Greenbrier Cavalry. He survived the war, married a Miss Dotson, and lives near Falling Spring.

Daniel Sharp was a Confederate soldier, 62d Regiment. He was captured on Elk, and was killed near Tolley's, two miles below Mingo, in an effort to rescue the prisoners.

Morris Sharp, Confederate veteran, 62d Regiment, was wounded at Winchester so severely that the surgeons decided on amputating his left arm. He emphatically and persistently refused to submit to the operation. The wound healed and he now lives, and when last heard from was in charge of Henry Clark's mill, on Spring Creek.

In reference to the pioneer's daughters, we learn that Hannah Friel was married to Jefferson Casebolt, and lived on the Casebolt homestead near Stemping Creek. Her daughter, Martha Casebolt, became Mrs John A. Alderman, and Barbara Ann was married to John Donahue and lived in the Levels. Jennie became Mrs Tharp and went west. Ellen Friel became Mrs John Dilley, and lived near Edray. Mary Friel became Mrs William Dilley, and settled in Huntersville.

The compiler in his attempt to illustrate the history of Jeremiah Friel's family has been mainly aided by his grand-son, M. A. Friel To him the persons interested in this paper owe special thanks for for the pains he has taken to collect authentic information. It may be interesting to say about him that he stands on the oid list as the first subscriber to The Times, and he claims to have owned and used the first kerosene lamp in Pocahontas, in 1865.

Jeremiah Friel was in the expedition to Point Pleasant, 1774, in the same company with Jacob Warwick. He was one of the soldiers detailed under Jacob Warwick to provide a supply of meat for the contemplated advance on the Indian towns in Ohio, on the morning of that memorable battle, and was at work in the slaughter-pens when the battle was going on. The hunters and butchers were rallied by Jacob Warwick and crossed over, At this the enemy mysteriously ceased firing and began to withdraw across the Ohio River, supposing that Colonel Christian had arrived with reinforcements. The importance of that action by Jacob Warwick and his men need not be dwelt upon here.

Jeremiah Friel and his sons were noted reapers. At that day there was co-operative harvesting. Squire Robert Gay's wheat was usually the first to ripen. Beginning there, all hands from James Bridger's down would come halloing and singing, waving their sickles, eager to see who would cut the first sheaf and make the best record. Then from field to field up the river the harvesters would progress until Bridger's harvest was reaped; thence to William and John Sharp's and Josiah Brown's, and sometimes to Robert Moore's at Edray. Then the sickle club would disband with great hilarity for their respective homes.

Late one evening at Friel's the harvesters quit without shocking up all that had been reaped and bound. Jeremiah Friel in his most pleasant tones observed: "Boys, it is so late and you are so tired I believe we will let these sheaves rest till morning." But after supper he noticed it lightning ominously in the west and north. He roused up all hands out of their beds, provided pine torches, and away all went in torch-light procession to the field and finished up the shocking just before midnight. This harvest scene must have been strangely picturesque. Before day it was raining torrents attended with terrific thunder and lightning

He was a jovial companion for his sons and encouraged them from infancy in the favorite pastimes of the period, running foot-races, wrestling, and boxing. A favorite amusement when raining and the boys had to stay in-doors, was a mode of swinging called "weighing bacon." A loop was fixed at one end of a rope or trace-chain, the other end was thrown over a beam or joist. The feet were placed in the loop and then seizing the other end with the hands, and they would swing. It requires practice and nice balancing to swing, altho it looks very easy to one that has never tried it. The Friel boys excelled in "swinging bacon." We would not advise any of our readers to try it without providing a big pile of straw to fall on.

When the Virginia troops were on the march to Yorktown, Daniel O'Friel's team was pressed and Jeremiah was detailed to take charge of it. This was about the most of the service he was called on to render during the Revolutionary war.

Several years before his death he was riding through the woods one dark night. The horse passed under a tree with wide-spreading limbs and Mr Friel was so severely injured in his spine that he was virtually helpless the remainder of his life. He died in 1819, sincerely lamented by his relatives, neighbors, and friends. W. T. P.

Oldest Town in the State.

Lewisburg is the oldest town in the State, and from its many dark blue limestone buildings it looks as if it might defy many more cenauries of time. It is the same today as it was before the war, and it looks as if it may be the same henceforth and forever. It has the same sleepy look, the same lack of bustle and animation, the same set of hotel loungers who smoke and recount deeds of former times, the same shambling old negro men with their cabins, cabbage patches, and pig styes, so familiar to the residents farther south. It was founded by William Lewis, one of the famous Lewis family, and the first fort was called Fort Donnelly.

It was from here that General Andrew Lewis, and his brother Colonel Charles Lewis marched overland to the mouth of the Kanawha river with the army of Virginia, cutting down the chief Cornstalk and scattering his braves. It was only a few miles from here that the famous "Greenbrier Massacre" occurred. It was here that one of the hottest little fights of the war occurred, and not far away the battle of Droop Mountain took place. It is here that the finest old church in both states stands—the Old Stone Church, built one hundred and one years ago by the Presbyterians, of that never to be destroyed material, blue limestone, and today it is as good as if a century of time had not whirled off its cycles over its old stone tower.

In God's half acre which lies back of this grand old kirk, lie buried the remains of many a famous man—men famous in war and famous in peace; famous as soldiers of 1776 and as soldiers of the late war; famous as statesmen preachers and citizens.—Selected.

THE PROSPECTUS OF THE HOME FOR 1898.

The excellent stories, for which the Home is noted, will be continued; the Fashion and Fancy Work departments will be kept up to a high standard. Kate Sanborn will continue her bright "Off-Hand Talks," and every one of the numerous Departments will be increased and made brighter.

TAKE NOTICE.—You are given the choice of one of the following articles and The Home for three months for only 15 cents. Lord Lisle's Daughter, by Charlotte M. Braeme; Book of 60 pages on Crocheting and Knitting; or Stamping Outfit of 66 pages, many large designs, including center prieces, doilies, etc. Illustrated premium list or outfit for canvassing sent FREE.

THE HOME PUB. CO., 141 Milk St, Boston, Mass.

AUTONOMY, strange to say, is defined by Webster as a word rarely used. We have noticed it several times lately in connection with Cuba. It comes from two Greek words, equivalent to self and law. It is defined as the power or right of self government, whether in a city which elects its own magistrates and makes its own laws, or in an individual who lives according to his own will.

THE Sheriff Gilmer County, J. F. Shock died last week aged fifty-five.

Notions.

In discussing the custom of giving presents at Christmas, the talk wandered to the hard lines of those mulierose young gentlemen who have gone to vast expense to get a nice Christmas gift for the one who is dearer to them than anyone else, and having gotton it, not to have it accepted by the lady of their choice. The group of men were favored with an incident of college life by one of their number concerning a gift that a student had sent to his sweetheart but was stopped in transitu.

The student, whose name sounded like Allison, was from Florida. At Christmas his folks sent him a box of ripe Florida oranges, red inside, and as much superior to the oranges of commerce as a ripe apple is to a green apple. He was sick when the box came, but with the unselfishness that belongs to a boy of his age when the girls are concerned, he got his room-mate Addison, from Texas, to deliver them for him. The Texas boy started evidently with the intent to carry them, but on his way from the building he passed a room of students he knew very well. Fell among thieves, as it were. There the devil seized his opportunity and suggested a scheme which was immediately carried out.

With the aid of the gang he produced a note, imitating feminine hand-writing from a sample in his possession, thanking the Florida youth very sweetly, and having satisfied themselves that it would pass muster, destroyed the evidences of their crime by eating the orages. As the narrator spoke it was plain to be seen he had not forgotten how those oranges tasted

The note was given to a colored boy and promptly delivered to Allison. For several weeks things went well. Allison recovered and went to call on his sweetheart. She did not say oranges during the evening. After a while he mentioned the subject himself. She told him she had never received any oranges from him. He produced the receipt. It was in his inside vest-pocket next to his heart. She promptly repudiated the paper.

Nothing would satisfy the youth but blood. After a while it was seen that he was in earnest and that he wanted a meeting to the death. His Southern blood knew but one way to wipe out the insult. A duel was arranged. Blank cartridges were procured. The Florida man was stationed eight paces from the man from Texas. He supposed it was a real duel. He was pale and trembling. Addison was as calm and collected as a Texas man should be under fire. He plunked away as steadily as if he was firing for practice.

After a few shots were exchanged the condition of the arms was discovered by the Florida youth. Then he wanted the blood of every body. It was a stain on his escutcheon. He carried on about it for a while, but the most sublime passions cannot stand ridicule. The particulars leaked out, and he was teased so much about it all that he shortly after left college and never returned.

⁂

An original idea struck an advertiser in Frankfort, Illinois, the other day. He took a lump of coal and dipped it into gold sizing. He labeled it "Nugget, from Klonkike value 9,000.00," and displayed it in his store-window. Great crowds collected around it and it created great interest. He thought he had struck the richest advertising scheme of the century. The next morning he found that the window had been smashed and the nugget stolen. It cost him ninety dollars to have his plate-glass front repaired. He is not as well satisfied as he was. He fooled the people too well.

⁂

The study of oaths as administered to witnesses that they may testify "under oath" is interesting. In our courts there is a little Bible tied up with a piece of string that was once red that has been used since the forties. This book has been sorely abused. In nearly every warmly contested case witnesses have kissed this well-worn book and sworn to tell the truth, and have gone on the stand and told contradictory tales of the same occurrences. The law binds the witness to tell the truth, and moreover to make doubly sure it calls upon his fear of eternal wrath. The form is "So help me God," usually rendered by the benevolent clerk, "So help you God"; in the way of a benediction or prayer that the witness for once may overcome his besetting sin. "I said in my haste, all men are liars."

The authorities say that the form "So help me God," construed means the imprecation "As you shall answer to God at the great day." How flippant is the use of this invocation as it is often administered! Occasionally we see a judge, clerk, justice, or notary who seems to be still impressed with awful solemnity of an oath in spite of the frequency and familiarity of the form. But as a rule the "swearing" is merely formal and administered and made without a thought.

The oath used in profane swearing is of the same character, save that it is unnecessary and irreverent.

There is a provision made for such as have religious scruples against swearing, and they "solemnly affirm," and can then be taken as witnesses. It is necessary that the witness believe in a God. An infidel cannot be a witness. He does not believe in a Supreme Being who is "the rewarder of truth and avenger of falsehood." Thus the poor, benighted heathen might testify, when a fin de siecle exquisite who has outgrown the faith of his fathers, and has provided no other to take its place, would be rejected by the courts.

In many instances the courts are called upon to grant an extraordinary process to suit a witness's faith. A Jew is sworn on the Pentateuch, or on the Old Testament, closing his oath with "so help me Jehovah." A Mohammedan is sworn on the Koran. A Gentoo by touching the foot of a Brahmin, the priest of his religion. A Brahmin by touching the hand of another such priest. A Chinaman by breaking a saucer, or "with the joss-stick burning." The swearing of a Chinaman has been described thus: "On getting into the witness box, he knelt down. and a china saucer filled with salt having been placed in his hand, he struck it against the brass rail in front of the box and broke it. The officer then administered the oath in these words, which were translated into the Chinese language by the interpreter, 'you shall tell the truth and the whole truth; the saucer is cracked, and if you do not tell the truth your soul will be cracked like the saucer.'"

Two negroes of McDowell county swore falsely that they had bought whiskey from a white man Thomas Wayne. He was convicted and sent to jail in Welch. There he went insane. The two witnesses have confessed that they committed perjury.

The Blue and the Gray.

Both men and women are apt to feel a little blue, when the gray hairs begin to show. It's a very natural feeling. In the normal condition of things gray hairs belong to advanced age. They have no business whitening the head of man or woman, who has not begun to go down the slope of life. As a matter of fact, the hair turns gray regardless of age, or of life's seasons; sometimes it is whitened by sickness, but more often from lack of care. When the hair fades or turns gray there's no need to resort to hair dyes. The normal color of the hair is restored and retained by the use of

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

Ayer's Curebook, "a story of cures told by the cured." 100 pages, free. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

COMPULSORY ATTENDANCE.

The following opinions by the Attorney General are published by request of the county superintendent of free schools.

When the length of the school term is more than sixteen weeks should pupils be required, under the compulsory attendance law to attend school prior to the last sixteen weeks of the term?

"In my opinion it is clearly the intention of the law that that the attendance should be at the beginning of the term. The law says, Chapter 98, Acts of 1897, 'Such attendance shall continue for at least sixteen weeks of the school year, provided the school be in session as many as sixteen weeks,' and, 'An offence, as understood in this act shall consist in a failure to send to school any child or children for five consecutive days except in case of the sickness of such child or children or other reasona- excuse.'

"A fair interpretation of this language means that the party failing to send any child under his control to school for five consecutive days must furnish a reasonable excuse, such as is mentioned in the act, or must be able to answer the charge by saying that the child has already attended school, either public or private, for sixteen weeks during the school year."

IT has been the opinion of some of the leading school men of this State that a parent had a perfect right to keep his child out of school until the first day of the last sixteen weeks. Then, if he did not send, it would by the duty of the trustees and teacher to report him to the justice of the peace. The Attorney-General has a different opinion:

Who pays the cost?—Trustees and teachers are compelled to make complaints against parties failing to send their children to school, according to the provision of the statute. It then becomes a public prosecution, in which the prosecutor (the district) would be responsible for the cost of the prosecution and the defendent of course for the cost of his defense. In case of conviction the entire costs would be recovered from the defendent, but in case of acquittal each party would pay his or its own costs.

Residences.—The same rule governs as regards residence for the purpose of sending children to school as in the question of voting. That is, the party must be an actual resident with the BONA FIDE intention of remaining such for an indefinite period of time to entitle him to either vote or receive the benefits of a school.

Is Harvey's Grammar a legal text book in West Virginia?

Harvey's Grammar was adopted by the legislature in 1895 for use in high schools only, but inasmuch as the publishers refused to enter into a contract at the price fixed by the legislature, the adoption at that time failed. Moreover Attorney General Rucker has given it as his opinion that the county school boards cannot under the law enter into a contract for Harvey's Grammar, or for any other text-book on grammar, since text books on that subject were adopted by the legislature.—West Virginia School Journal.

THERE is a bill pending in the Virginia legislature to prevent young men from loitering near female seminaries, and attempting to flirt with them. A cat can look at a queen, but the Virginia masher must not look at the girls or allow the girls to look at him.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 15, NO. 24 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, JANUARY 7, 1898. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 208.

This quarter-sawed oak writing desk is polished like a piano. It has a 9-inch beveled plate glass in top and a deep drawer below. Artistic French legs; also finished in mahogany.

$3.95 is our special price for this $10 desk.

(Mail orders filled promptly.)

We will mail anyone, free of all charges, our new 112 page Special Catalogue, containing Furniture, Draperies, Lamps, Stoves, Crockery, Mirrors, Pictures, Bedding, Refrigerators, Baby Carriages, etc. This is the most complete book ever published, and we pay all postage. Our lithographed Carpet Catalogue, showing carpets in colors, is also yours for the asking. If carpet samples are wanted, mail us 8c. in stamps. There is no reason why you should pay your local dealer 60 per cent. profit when you can buy from the mill. Drop a line now to the money-savers.

JULIUS HINES & SON,
Baltimore, Md.

Please mention this paper.

$18. IMPROVED SINGER. FREIGHT PREPAID.

For this style new high arm sewing machine with all attachments warranted 10 years. If machine is not satisfactory in 30 days money will be refunded. Send cash with order. Descriptive circular sent on application.

WHAYNE M'F'G CO.,
860 FOURTH AVE., LOUISVILLE, KY.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

J. HN A. PRESTON FRED. WALLACE
PRESTON & WALLACE,
Attorneys at Law,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Greenbrier and adjoining counties, and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

Biographic Notes.

AMONG the persons who have been identified with our county history, the Cochran relationship claim recognition. For more than a hundred years the name has been a familiar one. The Pocahontas Cochrans are the descendants of Thomas Cochran, senior, a native of Ireland, one of three brothers who came over together. One of these brothers settled in Augusta and his descendents are highly respected in that county. Another of these Cochrans went to Kentucky, it is believed.

Thomas Cochran, the subject of this memoir, married a Miss MacKemie, near Parnassus in Augusta county, and settled first at the Rankin place, on the Greenbrier, near the mouth of Locust Creek. Thence he moved to the place now held by Colonel J. W. Ruckman and son Mathews. The relationship is so widely extended that it is only possible to trace his descendants to a degree where the present generation can take up the line and complete it.

By the first marriage there were three daughters and two sons.

One daughter, name not known, became Mrs William Carraway, and lived on Muddy Ceeek, Greenbrier county.

Nancy, a daughter of the pioneer, became Mrs Masters, and went to Ohio.

Mary, the third daughter, was married to William Auldridge, Sr., whose memoirs have been published in The Times.

John Cochran married Elizabeth (Betsy) James, daughter of David James, senior, at end of Droop Mountain, and settled near Marvin on property recently occupied by Michael Scales. There were four sons and four daughters.

David James Cochran married a Miss Corby, in Augusta county, and went to Clay county, W. Va. His son, William Cochran, represented that county in the legislature a few years since.

Thomas Cochran, son of John Cochran, married Miss Skeene, and lived near Marvin. Their children were Franklin, America, Eliza, and Harriet, now Mrs T. C. Wooddell.

There were two other sons, William and John, about whom we have no information.

As to the daughters, Margaret (Peggy) became Mrs Jacob Shue; Sally became Mrs James Waugh, late of Verdant Valley; Fannie became Mrs John Smith, on Stony Creek; and Elizabeth.

Thomas Cochran, junior, son of the pioneer, married Mary Salisbury, settled on the side of Droop Mountain near Locust, and finally went west. Their children were Gordon, Robert, William, Richard. Deemie, and Sabrie,—two daughters and fonr sons.

Thomas Cochran, the pioneer's second marriage was with Nellie James, daughter of David James, senior, already mentioned. The fruit of this marriage seven sons and three daughters, viz: William, Samuel, Isaac, David, Solomon, James, Jesse, Rebecca, Mury, and Nellie.

Rebecca's first marriage was with William Salisbury, on Droop Mt. By her second marriage she became Mrs John Burner, and lived in Ohio.

Mary was married to William Cochran.

Nellie was married to John James, and went to Ohio. Her children were Jane, Eliza, Katie, David, William, and John James.

Samuel Cochran went to Ohio.

Isaac Cochran married Jeannie Salisbury, daughter of William Salisbury, who lived near where Richard Callison now lives. His children were Elisha, Solomon, Salisbury, Lewis Presly, Jackson, Bruffey, Margaret, and Sarah. Two of these sons, Elisha and Solomon, are mentioned in the memoirs of Thomas McNeill, of Swago.

David Cochran, son of Thomas senior, married Sarah Salisbury and lived near Droop Mountain. His children were John, William, Andrew, Biddie, Susan, and Mary. Biddie became Mrs Gabriel Underwood; Susan Mrs Joseph Rodgers, late of Swago; and Nellie was the first wife of the late Anthony Lightner, on Swago.

John Cochran first married Miss Hanna, of Greenbrier; second marriage with Sally Smith.

Andrew Cochran married Miss Rachel Lewis, and lived on Sinking Creek.

Solomon Cochran, of Thomas the pioneer, married Biddie Salisbury. Their children were Sallie, Rebecca, Porter, William, and George. Sallie died in youth; Rebecca became Mrs Bruffey Cochran; William Cochran married Almira Salisbury, in Braxton county, and went to Illinois; George Cochran married Nancy, daughter of John Cochran, and lives at the end of Droop Mountain.

James Cochran married Nancy Hannah, daughter of Dr David Hannah, on the Greenbrier, and lived at the end of Droop. Their family six daughters and four sons David, William, Joseph, James, Elizabeth, who became Mrs Andrew Mealy; Jennie, Mrs William Clendennin, near Hillsboro, recently deceased; Nellie. Mrs Asher Hogsett; Eveline, Mrs Isaac Bull; Mary and Rachel.

Jesse Cochran married Jane James, and settled at the end of Droop on property owned by his son, David J. Cochran. Their children were David James, Thomas, Samuel, Clark, and George Brown.

David married Hannah Duffield, and lives on the homestead.

Thomas settled on the homestead upon his marriage with Nancy Stearns

Clark married Sally Underwood, daughter of Gabriel Underwood, and lives on the James homestead.

George B. married Martha E. Hollingsworth, of Boston, and lives on a section of the homestead.

William Cochran, of Thomas the progenitor, first married Jane Young, near Swago. Her children were Washington and Elizabeth.

Washington Cochran married Phebe Mace, of Mingo, and settled on Stony Creek. Himself, wife, and son John, aged 7, all died during the war.

Elizabeth Cochran became Mrs George Young. Mr Young died in Richmond during the war. His sons William and Washinton live in Iowa. Mrs Young became Mrs Bruffey Cochran, went to Iowa, where she recently died.

Captain William Cochran's second marriage was with Melinda Moore, daughter of the late Aaron Moore, on the Greenbrier. Her children William Cochran, junior, and Catherine, now Mrs Giles Sharp.

Captain Cochran was a busy man of affairs, noted as a skillful blacksmith, and built the first tilt-hammer on Swago. He was Captain of the Stony Creek militia, superintended the construction of the Warm Springs and Huntersville turnpike, and was superintendent of the Lewisburg and Marlin's Bottom road. The Captain also took much interest in church affairs as a prominent layman of the M. P. church.

David James, senior, so frequently mentioned in this paper, was an early settler at the end of Droop, and came from Norfolk, Virginia. He first settled near where Richard Callison lives, moved thence to the Ben Irvine place where he built a mill, one of the stones yet to be seen near the roadside at the "Rocky Turn." He then moved to the place now occupied by George Cochran. The house is yet standing where he died at the age of one hundred and four years.

William Salisbury, a native of England, settled at the Salisbury place, near Locust. The building he erected still remains in a good state of preservation. It was designed for a fort, but was never used us such.

The James and Salisbury families have been virtually absorbed by the Cochrans. The James boys went to Ohio, and the Salisbury men settled in Braxton and other places in West Virginia, and some went finally to Ohio.

The writer in closing this paper would gratefully recognize the assistance of David J. Cochran, Esq, that was so helpful in collecting the particulars, and so cheerfully given by him, altho suffering at the time so severely from rheumatic and other troubles, that seemed to be wearing his useful life away.

W. T. P.

"CROWING HENS."

To the Editor of The Times:—Will you please state through the columns of your paper where in the Bible the term "crowing hen" is found, in case it is in the Bible, and thus settle a dispute. J. D. R.

MARLINTON, W. VA.

The word hen occurs but twice in the Bible, strange to say, as the bird was common in Palestine. Once in Mathew xxiii. 37, where the beautiful passage occurs: "O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, thou that killest the prophets, and stonest them which are sent unto thee, how often would I have gathered thy children together, even as a hen gathers her chickens under her wings, and ye would not"; and in Luke xii. 34, the same language is used, with the word "brood" instead of "chickens."

The name Hen occurs once in the Bible. In Zechariah vi. 14 we read of "Hen, the son of Zephaniah," but the record does not show whether he was disposed to crow or not.

Upon good authority we cay say that the term "crowing hens" does not occur in the Bible, and it is from a proverb in daily use, like "you may take an ox to water but you cannot make him drink," which some people say is in the Bible. The expression 'hen's-teeth' has been attributed to the Bible, but it is not found therein.

Along this same line of mistakes as to what the bible contains is the well known account of an old darkey who preached from Psalm xvi v 33: "He maketh my feet like hinds' feet, and setteth me upon my high places." The darkey went by the the sound and delivered a sermon on the text transposed: "He maketh my feet like hen's feet," etc. "Yes, my bredderun, observe de hen when sho roos' on de high place how she clamp de pole wif her feet, an de sounder she sleep de tighter she hol' on to de high place," and preached a very edifying sermon which was highly appreciated by his congregation most of whom knew something about the roosting of chickens.

THE Richmond Dispatch prints a letter urging the Virginia legislature to pass a law protecting muskrats. The correspondent says that the muskrat is the greatest table delicacy known to the people of the Eastern Shore. An example of a victim to the habit of eating muskrats was cited to show what a hold this acquired taste has upon a man. "The late Samuel C. Taylor, famed for his good living, for many years was a pillar of the old Messengo Hardshell Baptist church in the northern part of Accomac, So strong was his liking for muskrat that when he was 83 years old that he spent an entire Sunday in digging the wily little animals out of their holes on the banks Messengo Creek, for which he was summarily turned out of the church."

IT looks very much as if the Armenians counted too much on the assistance of England and possibly America, and provoked the Moslems to deeds of retaliation, hoping that foreign intervention would come to their rescue. Sometimes it is better for people to bear the ills they have, stay in the frying pan and not jump into the fire so quickly.

THE Virginia foot-ball players explain that they did not intend to kill that Georgia man in the game. It was not a lynching.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Notions.

The year 1898 may be regarded as the centennial of the Democratic party. When the colonies were struggling for their independence, and trying to make the Fourth of July a fixture and an annual event, the common cause kept them contented, and uniform party proceedure and opposition were unknown.

As the reader knows, George Washington had distinguished himself as an annihilator of British armies, and he was elected President, in 1789, receiving every vote cast. This was the case when he came to be re-elected. But the fashion of electing presidents unanimously ceased with the second election of Washington, never to be resumed. The vote is terribly divided these days, and either the plutocrats elect a president, or the farmers. socialists, anarchists, and ignorami. John Adams was elected president in 1797. Since the country had fallen into habits of peace, of course parties sprang up. Washington was a federalist, and very nearly all the rest of the plutocrats of that day. They were in power, and as long as Washington was in power he made them behave so well that they kept their majorities in both houses of Congress. They ran a good deal to style, and generally took after their British cousins across the water. They had a deep and abiding distrust for country people, and being composed of the wealthier classes, they were very much afraid of being depreciated by revolutions. They were inclined to take the liberty of abridging the liberty of the people, and to the minds of a great many common people they were drifting back to monarchy, and the remembrance of that state of affairs was so recent that little wonder an opposition party started up, with Thomas Jefferson as "expounder." It was known as the republican party, or democratic party. The terms were synonymous.

When the electoral vote was opened, in 1797, John Adams was elected by the federalists, and Jefferson had worked the wires so well that he slipped in ahead of Pinckney by securing a few federalist votes. Thus in 1797, by a fluke, Jefferson got himself elected vice-president by a gang of federalists who already hated him like poison.

One hundred years ago the United States were governed by federalists in power in every department, with the "expounder of democratic principles" as president of the Senate. In 1798, too, Andrew Jackson, another great Democrat, took his seat as Senator from Tennessee. It is our purpose, then, to briefly review the events of 1798, in this the hundredth year thereafter; and we believe it to be appropriate as the Jeffersonian party is struggling to right itself before the people and become again the dominant party, even tho it has the comparative unwieldiness of a party composed of the common people, who fear a party which has members who have the power and who make a business of legislating to some extent for number one.

The year of 1798 was a very significant one for the American republic. The federalists represented people who set a great deal of store by the Old World, and were inclined to use their power to restrain those who attacked their deeds or policy. They objected to the press criticizing their actions. The Congress wished to increase the extent of its jurisdiction over crimes, which the States had reserved almost entirely to themselves in the constitution.

There were two hundred newspapers in the United States in 1798, and 180 of these supported the federalists. Twenty were democratic-republican papers, and they did not hesitate to pour hot shot into plutocrats, who had their own opinions as to their power and dignity and who had brought themselves to believe that they were as nearly fixtures in governmental affairs as the peers of England. In the first Congress in 1798 they enacted a few laws by which they proposed to assert their power. The most obnoxious of these measures were those now generally termed the "alien and sedition laws."

We were in trouble with France at this time, and France had kicked our ambassadors out of doors and war was expected. The democratic-republican party had been blamed for the rupture with France, and some of its members of Congress did not attend the sittings of that body. Jefferson predicted that the federalists would now show the cloven hoof.

The passing of the 'alien and sedition' laws fulfilled Jefferson's predictions to the letter, and because of the encroachment upon the liberties of the people the federalists saw the sun sink on their long and triumphant reign, and the consequence was that after the next election the American citizen Thomas Jefferson rode unattended through the streets of Washington and hitched his horse to palings in front of the capitol, in studied simplicity. This is a most significant incident of history, and which becomes the founder and 'expounder' of a party which is destined to perpetuate the highest example of a republican form of government, by modestly remembering that the people are the people. But we have traveled too fast.

The law passed in 1798, which was the first nail driven in their political coffin by the federalists, was requiring a residence of fourteen years on the part of an emigrant before he could become a citizen. This was not bidding very high for the people the country needed to form the nation the United States was to become. The law respecting aliens made all such residing in the United States to be enrolled, to report periodically to certain officers, and to be exiled from the country at the pleasure of the president. This was a most kingly power. Should the alien refuse to go when the president told him, he would be guilty of a felony. It is well enough to note that in the two years of this law's existence it was not enforced in a single instance. There has been but one parallel of this act of congress, and that was the Lodge Force Biil of a few years since. The opposition to the "alien" law called it a British measure, which still continues as a word of reproach, directed at the Republican party now, strange to say. Great Britain is one of the finest governments the world ever saw. But what we mean by a "British measure" is one not suited to the temper of the people, which would deprive any law of its wholesomeness.

The "sedition law" belongs to the class of misrule which the Democratic party denounces to-day as "government by injunction." In the sedition law the congress sought to help the States out with their jurisdiction over criminals. It declared against unlawful combinations against the laws of the United States. The latter part of the sedition law "muzzled the press." It made it a crime to publish libels against the President or Congress, retarding the execution of laws and bringing them into contempt, and was punishable by a fine of not more than $2,000, and imprisonment of not more than two years. This law was enforced in some instances, and the party that passed it went into forced retirement at the next election. John Adams was hardly treated with common politeness the last few months of his tenure in office, and he left Washington in worse form even than Grover Cleveland.

Thus the Democrrtic party went into power because their opponents were hostile to the tenents of a people who were determined, against all precedent, to rule themselves. And we who are proud of the record of the Democratic party claim that it is the factor which has preserved the republic unto this day. That we are in harmony with Democratic principles, and that today, as in 1798, when the leaders were not in sympathy with the people but were doing all they could to defeat the ends for which the common people had successfully fought the Revolutionary war, we believe that "democracy is the hope of the nation."

Hear, then, the principles of democracy of which we boast. They are a hundred years old, but apply now as then:

Equal and exact justice to all men, of whatever state or persuasion, religious or political.

Peace, commerce, and honest friendship with all nations, entangling alliances with none.

The support of the state governments in all their rights, as the most competent administration for our domestic concerns, and the surest bulwark against anti-republican tendencies.

The preservation of the general government in its whole constitutional vigor, as the sheet-anchor of our peace at home, and safety abroad.

A jealous care of the right of election by the people, a mild and safe corrective of abuses which are lopped by the sword of revolution where peaceful remedies are unprovided.

Absolute acquiescence in the decisions of the majority, the vital principle of republics, from which there is no appeal but to force, the vital principle and immediate parent of despotism.

A well disciplined militia, our best reliance in peace, and for the first movements of war, till regulars may relieve them.

The supremacy of civil over the military authority.

Economy in the public expense that labor may be lightly burdened.

The honest payment of our debts and sacred preservation of the public faith.

Encouragement of agriculture, and of commerce as its handmaid.

The diffusion of information, and the arraignment of all abuses at the bar of public reason.

Freedom of religion.

Freedom of the press.

Freedom of person, under the protection of the habeas corpus.

Trial by juries impartially selected.

In conclusion, we wish to mention that Jefferson "set the first example of a president removing men from office because their political opinions differed from his own." If ever the Democratic party places a man in the chair we have no doubt he will follw Jefferson in this matter, instead of Cleveland. Why should the subordinates endure in office for a longer term than the head of all the departments?

"I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for twenty years, and recommend it to others for coughs and colds, and whooping cough. Have never known a single case of whooping cough that it failed to relieve and cure, when *

Scoff and Cough.

The man who scoffs at friendly advice to "take something for that cough," will keep on coughing, until he changes his mind or changes his earthly residence. Singular, isn't it, how many stubborn people persist in gambling, with health as the stake, when they might be effectually cured of cough, cold, or lung trouble, by a few doses of

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

* This testimonial will be found in full in Ayer's "Curebook" with a hundred others. Free. Address J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.
Guaranteed tobacco habit cure, makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggists.

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE, EDITOR

Marlinton, Friday, Jan. 7. 1898.

Entered at the post-office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

THAT we will shortly know that lengthened breath
Is not the sweetest gift God gives His friend,
And that sometimes this sable pall of death
Conceals the fairest boon his love can send.
But not to-day. Then be content sad heart.
God's plans, like lilies, pure and white, unfold;
We must not tear the close-shut leaves apart;
Time will reveal the calyxes of gold.
And if, through patient toil, we reach the land
Where tired feet, with sandals loosed, may rest,
When we shall clearly know and understand.
I think that we will say "God knew the best."
—Selected.

THE Washington Post says that a Virginia negro choked himself to death on his Christmas dinner of possum and sweet potatoes. It was a happy death.

WM. H. SAWYERS, editor of the Hinton Independent-Herald, is forever calling us the "Sermonette Editor." We take this opportunity of telling him that our highest ambition is to be able to see "sermons in stones and books in running brooks." While for him the best that he will ever be able to do will be "to see sermons in books and stones in running brooks."

THE law of the redemption of land sold for taxes is very similar to that set forth in the book of Leviticus: "If thy brother grow poor and sell some of his possessions * * * * a dwelling house in a walled city, he shall have the right of redemption for a whole year after it has been sold; for a year he shall retain the right of redemption. And if it be not redeemed within the space of a year, the house that is in the walled city shall be assured in perpetuity to him who bought it, to him and his descendants."

THERE are numerous applicants for the office of the Clerk of the Supreme Court. made vacant by the death of the late O. S. Long. The office pays from $2000 to $3000 per year, and addition the clerk has the privilege of printing records which are not otherwise ordered to be printed by the attorney of the appellant. Hon John W. Arbuckle of Lewisburg, has been mentioned for the place, and of all who have been named in connection with the place we know of none who would be more suitable. The selection is made January 11, the first business of the session.

THE courtesy of the Democratic Editors of the 8th Senatorial District to each other surpasses understanding. We have been urging one another to become the next State Senator. To complete the list the Independent-Herald names the Editor of the Pocahontas Times. It is vexations that the only editor who does not seem to be afflicted with a superabundant stock of modesty is prevented by law from standing. We have a Senator from this county and as long as he remains in office no other citizen of this county is elligle. Sawyers, who is a lawyer and regularly raises the point of the constitutionality of all the laws in the magistrate courts of Summers county, evidently knew this and wished to tantalize us by giving us a call.

AS THE year opens up the anxious attention of the civilized world is fixed upon the rapid and bewildering events transpiring in the far east, prognostic of very startling results in the destiny of the Chinese empire and Korea. The Chinese, however, seem to be as much disturbed at the prospect of the coming eclipse of the sun, January 22, as the Ninevites were by the appearance of Jonah. It is believed, however, that the presence of the Germans is the real reason for the heart rending grief and humiliation now afflicting that strange people. Thus their superstitions may be used to awake a war-fpirit. At a recent meeting of the Washington Cabinet it was resolved to refrain from being a party to the pending trouble, but see that American interests are respected at all hazards.

THE BOGUS PREACHER.

Rev John A. Ratliff in Jail for Stealing a Horse.

Rev John A. Ratliff will be Prevented by Force of Circumstances from Filling Any Appointments Made by Him.—His next Sermon Will Be Delivered Before a Congregation of Twelve, from the Text: "A Horse is a Vain Thing for Safety."—Ps. 32

Henry Dawson and E. F. Beard, of Alvon, Greenbrier County, arrived here New Year's day with the sham evangelist and placed him in jail on the charge of stealing J. W Miller's horse, at Academy. The circumstances connected with the arrest are interesting.

The impostor has been in Pocahontas county for some weeks and has been conducting a series of revival meetings in the neighborhood of Sue. All who have heard him pronounce his forensic powers above the average, and one man told the writer that "he was as able a man in prayer as he had ever heard." Last week he came to Huntersville and made an appointment to preach on Brown's Creek at an early date. This appointment the evangelist will be unable to keep, as he will be confined to his room at that date.

While in Huntersville he bought some goods of S. J. Boggs and departed for the Levels. The merchant concluded he had been a little hasty in trusting the man, and he procured a warrant for his arrest. He was followed to the Levels, where it was discovered that a man of his description had stopped in the neighborhood of Mill Point and had been tracked in the snow to J. W. Miller's stable, on Isaac McNeel's place, and stolen a brown mare, aged five years, and valued at $100. He could hardly have chosen a more valuable horse had he daylight to have picked it out.

He says he took the horse about ten o'clock Sunday night. He rode off in the direction of Marlinton, and when he arrived here he was much shocked, to hear him tell it, at meeting some high rollers in a rather bad state of preservation from celebrating the season. These young men were on horseback and riding briskly, made him run away from them at top speed. The boys noticed his strange behavior at the time, but thought no more about it. Ratliff went to Driscol that night and turned down towards the Anthony's Creek section. Monday night he stopped near Alvon. Tuesday he stopped at Alvon and had the horse shod. He left Alvon about noon and rode thirty-five miles and stopped over night at Stock Mines, in Alleghany county, Virginia.

Miller went to Falling Spring and on to Frankford. Not hearing anything of his horse he crossed over into the Anthony's Creek section, and at Alvon he heard of the preacher and the horse. Henry Dawson, a noted local detective, lives there, and Miller applied to him for help. Dawson agreed to follow for his expenses, and got a horse from E. F. Beard, and took Beard along to assist. They started about 12 o'clock Tuesday night. Miller's horse was tired, and he could not keep up. The two men knew the country well and they halloed at every house on the road. At every point they heard of him, and they followed with a feeling of certainty that they were on the track. They reached a point in Alleghany county where the road forked in three tracks,—made a "turkey track," as Dawson said. There they laid by till morning. When daylight came they struck the trail by knowing the stolen mare's track, as she was decidedly pigeon-toed. Very shortly they reached the house of Widow Bowers where Brother Ratliff had passed the night. He had held family prayer night and morning, and had greatly cheered the family by the devotions. They could hardly believe that he was a horse-thief. The road branched here, one track going to Clifton Forge and the other to Craig county. Ratliff had told the Bowers that he was on his way to see his sick child at Clifton Forge. This was enough for an experienced man like Dawson, and without a moment's hesitation he took the Craig county road. The pursuit made no stop for 9 hours after this and rode 53 miles, the chase leading towards Mercer county, West Virginia. On the head of Pott's Creek, at the home of Rev John Davis, they saw the Brown mare taking a feed of grain from a box in front of the parsonage.

Beard held the horses and Dawson went to the house. Preacher Davis and his guest, so says Dawson, were discussing the question of what bait Samson used to catch the three hundred foxes whose tails he tarred and burned up the Philistine's grain. Being a hunter he said he was interested, but he opened the door without knocking, and stepped to the side of Ratliff and said: "You are my prisoner!" Ratliff [illegible] at once. Dawson searched him and found in his pockets nothing except a pair of spectacles and a handkerchief. He had no arms of [illegible] description.

[illegible] Dawson said: "I've got a first rate proposition—a Smith and Wesson thirty-eight calibre revolver!" exhibiting it. Ratliff smiled sickly and said it would do. Preacher Davis gave the whole party dinner, would not accept a cent, and treated them handsomely. The party went back to William Arthur's a distance of 12 miles, making a ride of 65 miles Wednesday after daylight, and 85 miles on Wednesday altogether.

At Arthur's the officers were tired and no one felt like sitting up to watch the prisoner. We have omitted to say that he has a hand off at the wrist, and could not be hand-cuffed. Dawsow asked for a needle and thread and sewed his shirt to the prisoner's and they slept together.

The prisoner admitted having taken the horse. He was brought up for preliminary examination, and secured N. C. McNeil as counsel. He waived examination and was committed to jail to await the pleasure of the grand jury next April.

The Prisoner.

Ratliff gives his age as 38. He has an evil face. He says that he lost his hand in a cotton-gin, in Kansas. He is thought to be from Southern West Virginia, or Kentucky, from the Big Sandy River. He claimed to be an evangelist of the M. E. Church, South, and says that he has baptized 625 converts since August 3d. Dawson says his prisoner told him that he had an appointment to preach at Graham Chapel, Mercer County, January 16. He gave his name as Graham to the officers, as well as the name Ratliff. On his way back he got outside of an alarming quantity of whiskey for a minister.

Henry Dawson.

Henry Dawson, the head of the posse which captured Ratliff, is such a striking and well-known character that this sketch would be incomplete without a few words devoted to him especially. He is the man who captured Kenos Douglas a few years ago, the man who had sworn he would never be taken alive. He has made numberless arrests, and his very appearance would strike terror to the heart of a criminal. He is tall and slim, with a steel-gray eye, a hatchet-face, and the kind of man who impresses the observer as being both fearless and over-powering. He was born in Kanawha County, and tho he looks not over thirty, is fifty-two years of age. He served in the Union army in Averill's corps.

He is a politician of no mean note, on the Republican side of the house; and the Blue Spring district of Greenbrier, which turned from a strongly Democratic district to a Republican district last fall, is his bailiwick. He ascribes the cause to Dan O'Connell and himself, and he is a foe to free silver.

He has a brother who practices law in Charleston, and is a fourth cousin of Hon William O. M. Dawson, Secretary of State.

He has a natural turn for detective work. He owns a blood hound three years old which weighs 163 pounds. Dawson is a crack shot. He says he is too slim to be hit himself.

An Interview.

The erring divine rose to his feet and shook hands with his visitor with the air of a Lord Chesterfield. He was poorly dressed. He is of medium height; round-shouldered; blue eyes; sandy mustache, hair thin on top of head; round, good-natured face; complexion marred by smallpox; talks fluently. His talk was something likethis:

"I am an old Confederate soldier and bore the colors of the 64th Virginia Regiment. Enlisted from Lee County; I was raised in Lee County, Virginia, and went to Kentucky after the war. I had the advantage of an early religious training, but was not converted until about eight years ago; was ordained five years ago by the Holstein Conference, Virginia. Was assigned a circuit for one year in Scott and Lee counties; after that I was sent on evangelical work. I held a meeting on Beaver Creek last week, but had no conversions. The Lord blessed my work in Wyoming county last fall. At Wolf Pen I baptized 17; at Laurel Fork, 10; at Tug River, 13.

"I had contracted a debt at Boggs' store and was afraid of trouble—started to leave the county. I have corns on my feet, and went to Miller's to stay all night; passed by the stable and saw a mare with saddle and bridle hanging behind her. It looked like the devil had shaped things up just for me. I took the horse to get out of the country on; you know yourself that there is no money in horses.

"My mother is still living, and if she should hear of this it would kill her. She is 72 years old."

The Penalty.

The crime is grand larceny when the goods or chattels taken are worth more than twenty dollars, and the penalty is imprisonment for not less than two nor more than ten years.

A Similar Case.

Five years ago a young, unknown man came into this county and gave his name as Holden and claimed to be a minister. He held some meetings and finally borrowed a horse and rode it away. He was taken and brought back to jail. He was tried and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. At the same time another horse-thief was sentenced to two years. The judge remarked that as a preacher ought to set a better example than a layman he would give him one year longer.

IN the home of a friend quite recently something was said about how Moses prayed "So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom." Now one of the sources of practical wisdom is to observe how one life reacts upon all life. Bulwer puts the idea in this beautiful way:

"No stream from it's source
Flows seaward, how lonely soever it's source,
But what some heart is gladdened.
No star ever rose
And set without influenec somewhere. Who knows
What earth needs from earth's lowest creature? No life
Can be pure in its purpose and strong in its strife,
And all life not be purer and stronger thereby."

Seneca makes this contribution to the wisdom to which it would be well to apply our mind:

"There is none made so great but he may both need the help and service, and stand in fear of the power and unkindness, even of the meanest of mortals."

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund the money if it fails to Cure. 25c.

NEWS AND OPINIONS
OF National Importance

The Sun
ALONE
CONTAINS BOTH.

DAILY, by mail, - - $6 a year
DAILY and SUNDAY $8 a year

THE Sunday Sun
is the Greatest Sunday Newspaper in the World.
Price 5c a copy. By mail $2 a year
Address THE SUN, New York

FEED, LIVERY
—AND—
SALE STABLES.

First-Rate Teams and Saddle-Horses Provided.

☞ Horses for Sale and Hire.

SPECIAL ACCOMODATIONS FOR STALLIONS.

A limited number of Horses boarde.

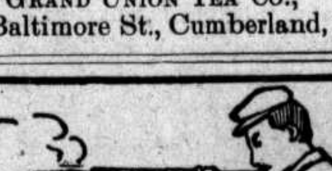
All persons having horses to trade are invited to call. Young horses brokec to ride or work.

J. H. G. WILSON,
Marlinton w. Va.

AGENTS WANTED!

To sell to the consumer in Virginia and West Virginia our Teas, Coffees, Baking Powder, Spices, Exfracts, Soaps, Starches, etc.

Address
GRAND UNION TEA CO.,
38 Baltimore St., Cumberland, Md.



The Gun Goes Off

instantly when you pull the trigger. So sickness may come on suddenly. But it takes time to load the gun, and it takes time to get ready for those explosions called diseases. Coughs, colds, any "attack," whatever the subject be, often means preceding weakness and poor blood.

Are you getting thin? Is your appetite poor? Are you losing that snap, energy and vigor that make "clear-headedness?" Do one thing: build up your whole system with SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil. It is the essence of nourishment. It does not nauseate, does not trouble the stomach. And it replaces all that disease robs you of.

A book telling more about it sent free. Ask for it.
SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

R·I·P·A·N·S
Packed Without Glass.
TEN FOR FIVE CENTS.

This special form of Ripans Tabules is prepared from the original prescription, but more economically put up for the purpose of meeting the universal modern demand for a low price.

DIRECTIONS.—Take one at meal or bed time or whenever you feel poorly. Swallow it whole, with or without a mouthful of water. They cure all stomach troubles; banish pain; induce sleep; prolong life. An invaluable tonic. Best Spring Medicine. No matter what's the matter, one will do you good. One gives relief—a cure will result if directions are followed.

The five-cent packages are not yet to be had of all dealers, although it is probable that almost any druggist will obtain a supply when requested by a customer to do so; but in any case a single carton, containing ten tabules, will be sent, postage paid, to any address for five cents in stamps, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York. Until the goods are thoroughly introduced to the trade, agents and pedlers will be supplied at a price which will allow them a fair margin of profit, viz.: 1 dozen cartons for 48 cents—by mail 45 cents. 12 dozen (144 cartons) for $4.32—by mail for $4.85. 6 gross (720 cartons) for $20.16. 25 gross (3,600 cartons) for $75. Cash with the order in every case, and freight or express charges at the buyer's cost.

Lightning Hot Drops—
What a Funny Name!
Very True, but it Kills All Pain.
Sold Everywhere. Every Day—
Without Relief, There is No Pay!

Important Notice to Raisers of Poultry.

Here is the place to market your Turkey and Chickens. I give 9c a pound for turkey dry-picked, with head and feet left on, undressed; 7c for chickens the same way: which equals 12½c and 10c dressed clean. 15c for Eggs, 12½c for butter, 32c for oats. Furs and all other kinds of Produce taken at first prices, and goods sold as cheap as elsewhere—or cheaper. I take poultry every Monday and Tuesday. If wanted, will give cash with 15 per cent off. All trade goods sold 10 per cent off for cash. Yours for business,

S. J. BOGGS,
Huntersville, W. Va.

Please Notice!

I am still here, and new goods coming in every week and go-out at the same rate. Come when you will I have something new: and good bargains for cash customers.

If you have but little to buy with it will pay you to investigate my goods and prices.

I am still buying Grain of all kinds, Turkeys, Chickens, Eggs, Butter, &c.

Some Prices—

Green Coffee, 12 to 15c
Arbuckle Coffee, 9 for $1.00
Calicoes, 4½ to 7c
Cotton Cloth, 5 to 9c
Flannels, 20 to 30c
Ginghams, 5 to 8c
Outings, 7 to 12c
Shoes, $1.00 to $2.75
Yarn, 70 to 80c
Suit Clothes, $3.00 to $12.00

If you want your picture enlarged at half-price, I will have it done.

Yours for business,
S. J. BOGGS,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA

1898. THE SUN. 1898.
BALTIMORE, MD.

The Paper of the People,
For the People ane with the People.
Honest in Motive.
Fearless in Expression.
Sound in Principle.
Unswerving in Its Allegiance to Right Theories and
Right Practices

The Sun Publishes All the News All the Time, but it does not allow its columns to be degraded by unclean, immoral, or purely sensational matter.

Editorially, the Sun is the Consistent and Unchanging Champion and Defender of Popular Rights add Interests against political machines and monopolies of every character. Independent in all things, extreme in none. It is for good laws, good governAent, and good order.

By mail Fifty Cents a month. Six Dollars a year.

THE BALTIMORE WEEKLY SUN.

The Weekly Sun publishes all the news of each week, giving complete accounts of all events of interest throughout the world. The Weekly Sun is unsurpassed as an

AGRICULTURAL PAPER.

It is edied by writers of practical experience, who kdow what farming means and what farmers want in an agricultural journal. It contains regular reports of the work of the Agricultural experiment stations throughout the country, of the proceedings of farmers' clubs ond institutions, and the kiscussion of new methods and ideas in agriculture. Its Market Reports, Poultry Department, and Veterinary column are particularly valurble to country readers. Every issue contains Stories, Poems, Household and Puzzle columns, a variety of interesting and selected instructive matter, and other features, which make it a welcome visitor in city and country homes alike.

One Dollar a year. Inducements to getters-up of clubs for the Weekly Sun. Both the Daily and Weekly Sun mailed ffee of postage in the United States, Canada, and Mexico. Payments idvariably in rdvance. Aedress

A. S. ABELL COMPANY,
Publishers and Proprietors,
BALTIMORE, MD.

IT TICKLES YOU
THE INSTANT RELIEF YOU GET FROM
LIGHTNING HOT DROPS.

CURES Colic, Cramps, Diarrhœa, Flux, Cholera Morbus, Nausea, Changes of Water, etc.
HEALS Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Scratches, Bites of Animals, Serpents, Bugs, etc.
BREAKS UP Bad Colds, La Grippe, Influenza, Croup, Sore Throat, etc.
SMELLS GOOD, TASTES GOOD.
SOLD EVERYWHERE AT 25C AND 50C PER BOTTLE. NO RELIEF, NO PAY.
HERB MEDICINE CO. [Formerly of Weston, W. Va.] SPRINGFIELD, O.

PLOW REPAIRS.

We have at last succeeded in making arrangements
To supply Points for the Ronceverte Plow.

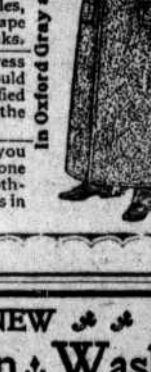
{ Full stock now on hand }
{ Send in your orders early }

We are Factory Agents for
SILVER STEEL and IMPERIAL PLOWS,
also BEST HILL-SIDE PLOW on Market,

Don't Forget
THE WONDER AIR TIGHT HEATER
this Fall.

Simms & Co.,
Opp. Passenger Depot, RONCEVERTE, W. Va.

CANDY CATHARTIC
Cascarets
CURE CONSTIPATION
REGULATE THE LIVER
10c 25c 50c
ALL DRUGGISTS
283.



☞ Direct from Mill to Wearer, ☜
★ Which Saves you 4 Big Profits. ★
The Commisson House. The Wholesaler. The Jobber and Store Keeper.
E. ROSENBURGER & CO. 202-204 E. 102nd St., NEW YORK CITY.

$5.00 SUIT FOR $2.98

We pay all Express Charges.

Our Great Bargain Offer!
BOYS' ADONIS SUITS, WITH EXTRA PAIR OF PANTS.

These Suits are guaranteed to be made from imported Wool Chevfot, in Black, Blue, Grey and Brown, in sizes from 3 to 9 years of age. Made up double-breasted, with Sailor Collar—Collar fancy embroidered —lined with fast Black Albert Twill Sateen and Patent Waist Bands. Trimming and W orkmanship the very best.

$2.98 with Extra Pants.

Sizes for ages 10 to 15 years, without Sailor Collar. Mention age at last birthday, and if large or small.

★ JUST THINK OF IT! ★
A CUSTOM MADE TO ORDER
$14.00 MAN'S SACK SUIT For $6.98

What you can save by buying direct from the manufacturer.

Guaranteed to be made from All Wool, Fancy Brown, Gray, Black or Blue Tweed, made in latest style, lined with Imported Farmer Satin, trimmed and finished in the best of Custom Tailor manner. You cannot duplicate it in your town for $14.00. Sizes 34 to 42.

The same goods made for Youths, 13 to 18, in long Pants, Coat and Vest............... 6.00

How to measure men's & youth's Suits:

Measure around the breast and waist over the Vest, and from crotch to heel for Pants.

When ordering, send Post-Office Express money order or Registered Letters. Money cheerfully refunded if not satisfactory. Send 2c. stamp for samples, tape measure, measuring blanks, etc.

THIS STYLE $6.98

$22. IRISH FRIEZE MEN'S ULSTERS $10.75
Largest Value ever Offered.

On account of the failure of one of the largest Commission Houses here, representing a Woolen Mill in Ireland, we bought last Spring the entire production of their gray and black Irish Frieze of 6,000 pieces at a sacrifice. Therefore we are able to sell them at the above, less than the raw material price, $10.75, never before in the history of clothing and propable never again will you have a chance to get half such a value for your money. Above price is less than the new tariff duty on the material. They are made up double-breasted as per cut below, with raised seams lined throughout with extra heavy woven plaid linings, pinked facings, all pockets framed and well stayed with extra deep storm collar and throat latch. Above Ulsters are retailed at $22.00 after these are closed out we will not be able to duplicate them for double the price on account of the new tariff duty.

Measure same as for a Sack Coat, giving length wanted, also hight and weight.

A 2c. stamp will bring you samples, catalogue, tape measure and blanks.

We pay express charges and should you not feel satisfied we will refund the money.

Remember you buy direct from one of the largest Clothing manufacturers in America.

This Style $10.75
In Oxford Gray and Black.

MADE UPON HONOR,
SOLD UPON MERIT.
PACKER BICYCLES
FULL OF BEAUTY,
GRACE AND STRENGTH.
EVERY WHEEL WARRANTED.
Responsible Dealers invited to Correspond with us.
MANUFACTURED BY
THE PACKER CYCLE CO.
READING, PA.

NEW
Champion Washer.
Will wash Cleaner, Quicker, with more ease and less injury to the clothes than any machine now in use. Over 75,000 sold, all giving satisfaction.

Don't confuse this with the Washing Machines you have seen.
This is something entirely new.
Can not get out of order.

PRICE WITHIN the REACH of EVERYONE.

SEND FOR CIRCULAR.
Champion Washing Machine Co.,
310 West Pearl St., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

C. B. SWECKER,
General Auctioneer
and Real Estate Agent.

I sell Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands. Farms and Town Lots a specialty. 21 years in the business. Correspondence solicited. Reference furnished.

Postoffice—Dunmore, W. Va., or Alexander, W. Va.

HIGH GRADE FERTILIZERS
SOLD DIRECT TO FARMERS.
Made from
Vegetable & Animal Matter.
Send for circulars.
AMERICAN REDUCTION CO.,
1514 to 1516 Second Avenue,
Pittsburg, Pa.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 15, NO. 25 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, JANUARY 14, 1898. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 203.
This quarter-sawed oak writing desk is polished like a piano. It has a 9-inch beveled plate glass in top and a deep drawer below. Artistic French legs; also finished in mahogany.
$3.95
is our special price for this $10 desk.

(Mail orders filled promptly.)
We will mail anyone, free of all charges, our new 112 page Special Catalogue, containing Furniture, Draperies, Lamps, Stoves, Crockery, Mirrors, Pictures, Bedding, Refrigerators, Baby Carriages, etc. This is the most complete book ever published, and we pay all postage. Our lithographed Carpet Catalogue, showing carpets in colors, is also yours for the asking. If carpet samples are wanted, mail us 8c. in stamps. There is no reason why you should pay your local dealer 60 per cent. profit when you can buy from the mill. Drop a line now to the money-savers.

JULIUS HINES & SON,
Baltimore, Md.
Please mention this paper.

$18. IMPROVED SINGER FREIGHT PREPAID.

For this style new high arm sewing machine with all attachments warranted 10 years. If machine is not satisfactory in 30 days money will be refunded. Send cash with order. Descriptive circular sent on application.

WHAYNE M'F'G CO.,
560 FOURTH AVE., LOUISVILLE, KY.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

JOHN A. PRESTON FRED. WALLACE
PRESTON & WALLACE,
Attorneys at Law,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Greenbrier and adjoining counties, and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST.
MONTEREY. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

Biographic Notes.

ONE of the notable families in our local annals was the Slaven relationship, whose ancestor was John Slaven, who came from Tyrone, Ireland, about the middle of the previous century. He first settled in west Rockingham County, Virginia, and then came to what is now Highland County, Virginia, and located permanently at Meadow Dale, on property now held by Stuart Slaven and James Flesher. His wife was a Miss Stuart. Traces of the old home are still to be seen near James Flesher's residence, who is a descendant by the fifth remove.

In reference to John Slaven's sons we learn that Henry and Reuben went to Ohio and settled in the famous Scioto Valley. Daniel Slaven located his home on Clinch River, Tennesse. Isaiah Slaven married Martha Stuart, and went to Montgomery County, Kentucky, in 1792, about the time that State came into the Union, and settled at Mount Sterling. William Slaven settled in Smith County, Tenn.

Stuart Slaven remained on the Meadow Dale homestead. His wife was a Miss Johnston, a daughter of Jesse Johnston. He was one of the most prominent and influential citizens of his time. Stuart Slaven's children were Reuben Slaven, for so many years one of the leading citizens of his county, and perhaps celebrated more marriages thanany magistrate that ever held that office in his section; Jesse Slaven, William Slaven, Stuart Slaven, junior; Nellie, who became Mrs Adam Lighner; Mrs Thomas Campbell; Sallie, who was Mrs Alexander Gilmore; Rachel, who became Mrs Givens and went west; Mrs Matilda Wade.

Margaret Slaven was married to the late Benjamin B. Campbell. Her daughters are Mrs S. P. Patterson and Miss Mattie Campbell, of Huntersville; Stuart Campbell, of Belington; Brown Campbell, late of Monterey; and Luther Campbell, at Dunmore, her sons.

John Slaven, son of John from Tyrone, was twice married. The first wife was a Miss Wade, near Green Hill, Virginia. There was one son, John Slaven, who never married. The second marriage was with Elizabeth Warwick, a sister of Andrew and William Warwick, on Deer Creek near Green Bank. Not long after this marriage, he settled on the head of Greenbrier, and he is the ancestor of the Pocahontas branch of the Slaven relationship. By the second marriage there were five daughters and two sons. He was a person of remarkable muscular powers, and was a Revolutionary veteran, a noted hunter and successful trapper. He had thrilling descriptions to give of the many bloody engagements he passed through, the hazardous risks he ran, and the bitter privations he endured in the service of his country. He lived to an advanced, age and was so emaciated by the infirmities of age as to make much use of crutches when moving around in his closing days. In reference to his children the following particulars are available:

Sallie Slaven became Mrs Dinwiddie, and lived for a time at the head of Jacksons River, thence went to Hardin County, Ohio.

Priscilla Slaven was married to Joseph Wooddell, junior, of Green Bank, and lived in Pike County, O.

Anna Slaven became Mrs Patrick Bruffey, and lived near Green Bank, on property occupied by John Hevener, Esq. Patrick Bruffey was a very useful and prominent citizen. A skilled workman in stone, Iron, and wood, and filled most of the official positions in the gift of the county.

Mary Slaven became Mrs John Wooddell, near Green Bank. Mrs M. P. Slaven, Marlinton; the late Hon W. J. Wooddell, and J. S. Wooddell, Esq., were her children.

Margaret Slaven became Mrs Samuel Ruckman, Mill Gap, Va.

William Slaven, son of John Slaven the pioneer was born July 6th, 1798, and was married in 1819 to Margaret Wooddell, daughter of Joseph Wooddell, at Green Bank. She was born June 27, 1800.

They were the parents of six sons and two daughters. Their names were Charles, who died seeking gold in California; John, William Patrick, James Cooper, Henry; Nathan, a Confederate soldier killed at Fort Donelson; and Elizabeth, who became Mrs Osborne, of Gilmer County.

William Slaven's second marriage was with Nancy Cline, Lewis County, West Virginia, and there were five daughters and four sons by this marriage. Mary, Sarah, Caroline, Martha, Lucy, Frank, Lanty, Rolland, and Perry. William Slaven's descendants mainly live in Jackson, Wirt, Lewis, and Gilmer counties, and are reported to be among the most prosperous and good people of that section of West Virginia.

While living in Pocahontas William Slaven was a citizen of marked prominence,—member of the Virginia Legislature, Magistrate, and Assessor, More than sixty years ago he concluded to move to Lewis County. Assisted by John Wooddell and others his household effects were carried over Cheat Mountain to Lawyer See's, near Huttonsville, on pack-hourses—there being only a bridle-path at the time. He lived awhile on Leading Creek, Lewis County, thence went to Wirt County, near Burning Springs; and, finally, to Jackson County, a few miles from Ravenswood. In his new places of residence after leaving Pocahontas he was honored with places of trust, served the public as magistrate and deputy-sheriff, which at that time meant the full, active duties of sheriff. He leaves the reputation of being always an efficient, trustworthy business man.

Jacob Gillespie Slaven, son of the pioneer of that much-named region Head of Greenbrier—Upper Tract—Travellers Repose, married Eleanor Lockridge, daughter of Lanty Lockridge, Sr., on Knapps Creek These persons passed the most of their married lives on the head of Greenbrier in a widely-known and attractive home. In their time there was an immense travel along that road, Parkersburg and Staunton Pike. Most of the communication between the western and eastern parts of Virginia, was by this route. Governor Joe Johnson and Stonewall Jackson have stopped ouer here to enjoy trout and venison. Everything seemed prosperous and pleasant with Jacob Slaven until the terrible ravages of war laid his home in ashes and exiled the happy inmates.

Mr and Mrs Jacob G. Slaven were the parents of eight daughters and four sons. We lay before our readers the following particulars concerning these sons and daughters.

Harriet, who was greatly admired for her personal attractions, became Mrs Patrick Gallaher, and went to Missouri.

Elizabeth was married to Colonel William T. Gammon, of Huntersville, a citizen of marked prominence. She now lives at Odessa, Missouri.

John Randolph Slaven, late of Huntersville, was married to Margaret P. Wooddell. Mrs Slaven and her daughters Mrs L. M. McClintic and Mrs S. L. Brown, live in Marlinton. Her sons, Oscar and Guy Slaven, live in Kansas.

Lanty Lockridge Slaven married Isabella Burner, daughter of the late George Burner, and settled on Back Alleghany, where his widowed wife with her sons Jacob See, Charles, and Gratz resides.

Mary P. Slaven was married to Jesse B. Slaven, at Meadow Dale, where she died and is buried.

Warwick Slaven married Mary Riley, and lives near Green Bank.

Martha Slaven became Mrs J. T. Hogsett, and lived near Marvin, in the vicinity of Mill Point at the time of her death a few years since.

Adalaide Eleanor Slaven was first married (by the writer) to Washington Arbogast, son of Hon. William Arbogast, of Green Bank. He died in May, 1864, of wounds received in the battle of Spottsylvania Court-house. The children of this marriage were William and Margaret, now Mrs C. O. Arbogast.

Her second marriage was with William L. Brown, Esq., and lives at Green Bank.

Margaret Eveline Slaven, now Mrs J. H. Patterson, lives at Marlinton. Mr Patterson is the Clerk of the Pocahontas Circuit Court. He was a Confederate soldier from start to finish, and shared the perils of those who were first in battle and last in retreat.

Sarah Mildred Slaven was first married to Peter H. Slaven, and lived at Monterey, Virginia. Their son Emmett lives in Nebraska. Her second marriage was with Arista Hartman, now living in Kansas.

Winfield T. Slaven married Nannie P. Ruckman, and lives near Marvin.

In reference to the daughters of Mr and Mrs Jacob G. Slaven it is interesting to note that Eleanor and Margaret were twins. Mildred and Alice were also twin sisters.

Thus the attempt has been made to illustrate the Slaven family history in our county, so efficiently aided by Mrs M. P. Slaven and her brother J. Stewart Wooddell, and W. T Slaven, of Marvin.

Mr and Mrs John Slaven, the ancestral pioneers, that had their home on the beautiful banks of the upper Greenbrier, had a married life of fifty-two years, ten months, and twenty-one days. It would be well could their graves be identified, where unheeded oe'r their silent dust the storms of the eventful present and the recent past have raged in such ominous fury. The story of their lives help us very much towards a proper understanding of what it cost to make it possible for the comforts that gladden our lives.

W. T. P.

GOVERNOR TYLER, of Virginia, is a great stickler for Jeffersonian simplicity.

THE Supreme Court of Appeals met last Tuesday. Two cases from this county will be submitted, McLaughlin vs. McGraw and others, and Turk, trustee, vs. Skyles and others.

OWNIG to the particular animosity which the Democratic press has shown Congressman Dorr, it is thought that he will have pull enough with his own party to renominate him this year. He is probably the only Congressman from West Virginia who will be able to secure his party nomination. Miller will not offer, and Dovener's and Dayton's times have come.

IF Marcus A. Hanna is elected Senator from Ohio under the present circumstances, we will take it as conclusive proof that he knows how to use money in politics both legally and illegally The situation has reached that kind of a senatorial deadlock that can only be dissolved with money. If he is beaten it will speak well for his integrity as a law abiding politician. To the country at large his case presents this peculiar aspect: If he is defeated they will know that he is a better man than they gave him credit of being, and if elected they will regard his position to represent so many thousand dollars consideration. No doubt poor Mr Hanna has recalled Locksley Hall:

> "What is that which I should turn > to, lighting upon days like thse?
> Every door is barred with gold,
> and opens but to golden keys."

It is of course generally understood that legislatures have their price.

THE adult scalp should be thoroughly washed occasionally to remove the oily particles, then apply Hall's Hair Renewer to give the hair a natural color.

New York News Letter.

A happy New Year.

⁂

How many of you have made new resolutions? Question: How many will keep them?

⁂

When writing date your letters 1898. Half of our population in this great country will continue to write their letters for the next three months the same old way.

⁂

New York city is now called the borough of Manhattan; Brooklyn is called the borough of Brooklyn; Staten Island, the borough of Richmond; above the Harlem River, borough of Bronx; Queen's county, borough of Queens. The whole business goes by the name of New York City (Greater New York.) The post-office officials insist that one should write: Mr ——, —— street, Manhattan New York City. Last year the residents of this city had troubles of their own, but the New Year starts in with more trouble kindly furnished by the post office department.

⁂

The new year was ushered in hereabouts with tin-horns, Trinity Church chimes, bands of music, fireworks, singing societies. It is estimated that in the vicinity of City Hall fully 50,000 people witnessed the festivities, The carnival was a success. The affair was gotten up by the New York Journal, which paper footed the bill. The City Hall Park was strung with colored miniature electric lamps. The trees were decorated with ribbons. It was the grandest sight ever witnessed in this town. The people thus did honor to our new city of New York. Every one was full of enthusiasm—a few were full of whiskey. Take the celebration all in all Father Knickerbocker never saw the like of it—and he is a pretty old man.

⁂

So far the weather in this region has been decidedly cold. Skating is all the rage, Snow lies here and there. The present outlook has the appearance of an old-fashioned winter.

⁂

Bicycling is the leader in all outdoor enjoyments. A bill will be introduced in the Legislature providing for a railroad and bicycle bridge to connect the boroughs of Brooklyn and Manhattan. The cost of the structure, it is estimated, will be $6,000,000.

⁂

A fire occurred Sunday morning in Jersey City. The smoke was so dense and the fire gained such headway that six members of the family lost their lives. Two others are not expected to recover. The chief of the fire department was almost killed in his heroic attempt to save lives. The father of the family was found with two of his children clasped in his arms within a few feet of safety.

⁂

The swimming season of this city was opened for the year 1898 by Prof. J. Donaldson, who took a plunge in the icy waters of Bath Beach yesterday. The Professor stayed in four minutes. He was clad in the regular bathing-suit. He remarked when coming out that it was rather chilly. The rest of our population will wait until later in the season for their plunge. All the fools are not yet dead.

⁂

While the Rev Thomas Dixon, Jr., was delivering his sermon yesterday, he suddenly paused. In his dramatic way he said: "Will someone kindly remove that tom-cat. I like to have them around the house, but as part of my congregation they embarrass me." The cat was located and bounced.

⁂

Parties are being gotten up right along for the gold fields. Every thing is Klondike. Where a few dig themselves into a fortune, hundreds starve. Give me health and three square meals a day, but no gold hunting.

GEORGE M. SANGSTER.
January 3, 1898.

Sweetness and Light.

Put a pill in the pulpit if you want practical preaching for the physical man; then put the pill in the pillory if it does not practise what it preaches. There's a whole gospel in Ayer's Sugar Coated Pills; a "gospel of sweetness and light." People used to value their physic, as they did their religion,—by its bitterness. The more bitter the dose the better the doctor. We've got over that. We take "sugar in ours"—gospel or physic—now-a-days. It's possible to please and to purge at the same time. There may be power in a pleasant pill. That is the gospel of

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

More pill particulars in Ayer's Curebook, 100 pages. Sent free. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Notions.

THE new government of Greater New York went to work Monday, January 3. The Tammany people have reason to be thankful that they succeed a lot of reformers, for the past three years have proved that the "reformers" needed reforming as badly as ever did a city government. A few years ago the people started in to purge the city. Governing is like poking the fire; every other man thinks he could do a better job than he who has the poker. A meddling preacher named Parkhurst was one of the leading men in regenerating the city. By keeping mum as to the virtues of the city government and emphasizing the mistakes and failures, he and others got the people to believe that such corruption had never been known in this world. They were given control and have succeeded in playing a game that has been as full of errors as a game of baseball played by farmers.

Richard Croker, one of the most astute politicians who ever lived, has always been firm in the opinion that the reformers only needed enough rope, to hang themselves, and his predictions have been fulfilled to the letter. He knew the temper of the people of New York when he let loose the catch expression of the last campaign, "To h—l with reform!" A more brutal cry could not have been invented to shock the ears of the uninformed. But to the ears of the New Yorkers it meant, "Away with a set of impostors who claimed to be infallible, and who by diligently picking out the bad of a former administration and covering up the good, had themselves placed in power, where they proved to be even more incapable of doing all things right than those whom they had ousted!" All this could be expressed in four words and it carried the city without trouble.

Tammany is the finest school of politics in the land. It has always taught that the official must do his duty or he will not be retained by the people. Misconduct in office cannot be hidden so that it will not be noised abroad and bring ruin to the one responsible. Richard Croker almost believes in retribution in politics. This is about the nearest approach to religion he has been accused of, but if he and his kind believe that neglect or malfeasance in office will be immediatly visited on their own heads, it is the strongest safe guard of their integrity.

The public of Greater New York generally look for a safe, honest and economical administration from the Democratic party now in power, and every body is satisfied, except some of the Republican leaders of New York who had a charter granted when they thought they could carry the city owing to the unpopularity of Bryan in New York.

⁂

THE preacher in jail for stealing a horse brings to mind the case of Rev Joseph Hinchman who lives north of us in some of the counties of West Virginia. About a dozen years ago he was holding a series of meetings at Indian Draft, near Edray, and being a good preacher was having a great time. He gave notice that the next night he would give his hearers a special effort from the subject, "The Judgment Day." A tremendous crowd gathered and dispersed without the preacher putting in his appearance. He was riding a borrowed horse and when it was known that he was no longer in the neighborhood it was thought that he had laid himself liable to the judgment of the circuit court.

The circumstances were these: He had started from the home of a citizen of the neighborhood to go to church; and, some say, he had taken too much whiskey, and others that it was a temporary aberration of mind; but the result was that he kept going for about fifteen miles, until he got nearly to Big Spring. Here he stayed all night, and waking up the next morning in his right mind he left the horse to be sent back, and went on walking, and he has never been in the county since.

⁂

In discussing the wonderful surgical operation performed in Switzerland, in which the stomash of a woman was removed and the patient got well, it has been discovered that a similar operation was performed in Pocahontas County, years ago, and which was never noised abroad. There are hundreds of citizens who have heard the full particulars from the lips of the operator himself. He was one of those unknown heroes that Gray tells about in his elegy, who but lacked opportunity to be great in the eyes of the world.

> "Their lot forbad: Nor circumscribed alone
> Their growing virtues, but their crimes confined;
> Forbad to wade through slaughter to a throne
> And shut the gates of mercy on mankind."

It, then, becomes our duty to the "unhonored dead" to tell of this remarkable operation.

> "Do'st in these lines the artless tale relate,"

so to speak.

Dr Tacy, "Old Doc Tacy," was a doctor of the old Thomsonian School. His home was in the upper end of Pocahontas. Up to his dying day he would relate this experience as the crowning success of his professional work.

He had been called to see a man who was suffering from a disorganized stomach. External treatment had failed, and he used the knife. He took out the stomach of the sufferer, who had been removed to a place on the grass under some oak-trees. The process of repairing the organ was continued some time, and the doctor turned to his coat which was lying at some distadce for a bit of plug tobacco. While his back was turned a dog came up and carried off the vital part on which he was expending so much care. The case seemed desperate for a moment, but the doctor got a sheep which was near by removing the stomach placed it in the man and sewed him up. A short time afterwards his patient told him that he had entirely recovered, but that that he had a wonderful taste for grass.

The Pocahontas Times,

Hear, Land o' Cakes and brither Scots,
Frae Maidenkirk to Johnny Groats,
If there's a hole in a' your coats,
rede ye tent it:
A chiel's amang you takin' notes,
An' faith he'll prent it. BURNS

Local Events.

CARDS are out for the marriage of J. A. Reed and Miss Elva Friel, January 12.

THE first break up of ice of the season occurred Monday morning. The river and creek rose too fast for a gorge to form.

MARRIED: At the bride's father's, Mr John Connaly to Miss Blanche Scott, by Rev John H. Dills.

THERE seems to a hitch somewhere in rail road affairs that makes the prospect for a railroad rather problematical.

BEFORE the recent thaw, the snow on William's River was reported to be 14 inches deep. The lumber jobbers were anxiously expecting a flood which they no doubt got.

Amos Barlow, Esq., slaughtered two July porkers on January 5th that weighted 177 and 187 pounds. respectively. Mr J. H. Doyle killed three March porkers at the same time that averaged 244 pounds.

LEDFORD BARTLETT, who shot a lumberman last fall, has been released from jail on bail. His victim is well and circumstances unite to make his friends hopeful he will escape without severe penalty.

MRS FRANCIS MCCOY, of Beaver Dam, is suffering from a terrible abcess of the liver, and her life has been dispaired of. An operation was contemplated, but, the decision being left with her, she decided not to perform it.

HON J. N. CAMDEN, one of the promoters of the Elk River Railroad, confirms the statement that this company may build the line as a branch of the West Virginia and Pittsburg road during 1898.—Manufacturers' Record.

THE Board of Education request all trustees in Edray district who have not secured one of the new maps for their school houses to send to S. B. Moore's depository where one map for every school house in the district has been placed.

ROBERT M. PRITCHARD'S store at Healing Spring was entered last week. The safe was taken to the cellar and the contents, $40 in money and and a watch chain, were taken. There seems to be some prospect for arresting the guilty persons.

ALBERT THOMSON, father of Frank E. Thomson, who was shot by Col Eastham, has brought suit against C. O. Strieby, of Davis, one of Eastham's attorneys, for $10.000 damages; claiming that Strieby circulated a report that he had hired witnesses to swear falsely against Eastham.

WILLIS BURNER, while working at a lumber camp at Horton, was badly hurt by a falling tree. He was hurt about the head and back and his leg was broken below the knee, the bone protruding four inches thro the calf of his leg. Two horses have been killed at the same camp by falling trees.

IT may interest the readers of The Times to learn that the manufacture of paper from West Virginia wood is grandly developing. The latest postal cards will be of paper manufactured at Piedmont. The International Bible Society gets paper there. Harper, Munsey, M'Clure and publishers of other periodicals use Piedmont paper.

MR LEE BURNER, of Travelers Repose, can say as the patient man of the Bible once said: "The days of offliction have taken hold upon me," during the past few weeks. About half of his sheep were poisoned by laurel, a valuable horse, just purchased, was disabled by the ice, a son fractured his leg, a grandchild came near perishing in the fire and Mrs Burner has been dangerously ill for months.

S. J. PAYNE, of Academy, was in Lewisburg last week attending to the road case. He has been endeavoring to get the tolls removed on the Lewisburg and Marlin's Bottom turn pike for some time. The case was brought on by a notice to the toll contractors on the part of the county court to appear and show cause why the toll should not be removed. The court reserved its opinion until next Saturday.

THE West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, of Piedmont, has been organized. It has purchased the extensive plants and stock of the West Virginia Pulp Company, at Davis, and the Piedmont Pulp and Paper Company, and the West Virginia Paper Company, at Piedmont, and will consolidate these plants. The new company is officered as follows: President, Wm. Luke, of Wilmington, Delaware, vice president and general manager, John G. Luke, New York; treasurer, David L. Luke, of Piedmont; secretary, Adam K. Luke, of New York. It is thought that this deal will result in the establishing of a pulp and paper Mill on Williams River.

CAR-LOAD of Salt at Payne Bros. —$2 per sack.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr and Mrs G. L. Hannah, of Yelk, made a trip to Locust this week.

Miss Mabel Ligon spent her holidays at Covington with her friend Miss Clara McAllister.

We regret to learn that Mrs J. T. McAllister at the Warm Springs is seriously ill.

E. S. Moomau has severed his conuexion with the drug firm of Sydenstricker & Co., Lewisburg.

January 5, Miss Myrtle Williams daughter of Erasmus Williams, near the Warm Springs, was married to Mr John Criser, by Rev W C White.

Otis Warwick, from Green Bank, has moved to Mrs Carter's, near Huntersville, and is assisting in the management of the McLaughlin place.

The Marlinton Literary Society.

This society was regularly organized Friday night. The object is tho study of literature, and the order of exercise will consist each meeting of some author selected previously. Each member is required to give a short quotation from the author in question, and besides there will be readings, essays and recitations. The author selected for Friday night is Longfellow.

The officers of the society are: Mrs William Mann, President; Miss Fannie McLaughlin, vice-president; Miss Gertrude Bird, secretary.

Special features for next meeting will be an address by N. C. McNeil, an essay by S. B. Scott, jr., and reading by E. H. Smith.

The public is invited.

Death of Rev S. C. Morgan.

Rev S. C. Morgan, pastor of the McMillion circuit of the Virginia Conference, died last Friday. A few Sundays since, while on his way to fill an appointment, he rode along a lonely pathway. His horse slipped on an icy part of the road and fell with him, breaking the rider's leg and otherwise injuring him. He was compelled to lie on the frozen ground until he was discovered. He contracted pneumonia from the exposure, and this caused his death. He entered the ministry late in life, but was well-known as an able and earnest worker. He commanded the respect of all who knew him by his consistent life, and he had no other thought than to do his duty to his people. He seems to have been a man set apart for his high profession.

OBITUARY.

Rev S. C. Morgan, so well and favorably known by many who will read this, died at the home of Mr George Whiting, near Falling Spring, Greenbrier County, the 7th instant. He was near fifty years old, and in the ninth year of his ministry in the Methodist Episcopal Church. Five of these years he was pastor of Edray church, and nearly four of Greenbrier. On each of these charges he did a work that will "follow" him. We have never known a man of whom it could be more truthfully be said: "he was loved by everybody and lamented by all.'

He was a good preacher, a faithful pastor, a kind father, a loving companion,—"a whole man"; and when the summons came he was ready. He gave his family his dying blessing; gave charge concerning his body; committed his spirit to God, and sweetly "fell on sleep.'

His remains were buried at Oak Grove, Greenbrier County.

May the God of all consolation comfort his stricken family. L. S.

HUNTERSVILLE.

The people are generally well in this neighborhood.

Eddie McLaughlin, who was at home for the holidays, has returned to school, near Dunmore.

C. P. Corbett, who has been laid up with the rheumatism, is able to be out again.

Mr and Mrs Jasper Chestnut, of Bath County, were visiting relatives and friends on Browns Creek last week.

John Kelly, of Browns Mountain, has seven red foxes, which he caught last March, when quite small. He has raised them and are they are now full grown.

Uriah Bird, Esq., of Marlinton, was up doing some surveying for H. P. McGlaughlin, who has sold a tract of mineral and timber land.

The most ingenious and industrious woman in this section of the county is Mrs Sallie Moore. Besides attending to her household word, she does the shoemaking and mending, makes bridles and lines and does her own carding, weaving and spinning, and makes all the the garments for her family for every day ware. If there is another woman in Pocahontas County who can beat this we would like to know who she is.

J. E. McLaughlin was over in the Brush county, near Edray, last week, with a view of purchasing a farm. JOHN DIX.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

DUNMORE.

Happy New Year, mum.

Billy Sheets is off for Beverly.

Rev C. M. Caldwell is impreving some.

Robert McLaughlin and Sid left for Staunton today.

Dr J. P. Moomau is off for Baltimore.

Some lot buyers have been in our town.

Joe Taylor is home from Huttonsville.

Frank and Emma Taylor were at Edray last week.

Henry Sheets brought a load of flour from Egypt, Monday.

Jacob Kerr and C. B. Swecker have found near Dunmore a white and blue Sulphur spring.

J. P. Wooddell has done some good work on the road between Dunmore and Green Bank.

A big wedding will take place this week if the river falls, Grimes and Turner.

Mr P. D. Yeager is improving, and his hand will not have to be amputated.

E. M. Arbogast is looking for timber land in our neighborhood. This is the time to sell if you have anything to sell.

Socrates made a speech at the Christmas tree at Frost, and died. Mr and Mrs Santa Claus went to sleep, and had a good time generally.

Andy Oliver shot a fine bear last week. Shot 47 rounds and hit the bear 5 times. Wash Oliver thinks the bear got the sheep he was accused of stealing.

The holidays are past and gone. But very little busthead, and the result no heads busted. There were some fine hop step and jumps and still the good work goes on.

Will Jackson, Walter Bird, Cris McLaughlin, and Mahlin Keirn all jump 90 feet in a circle—all boys and girls. And strange to that there are Keirns in the winter season.

We can furnish the people of this county with the best bed-spring made.

JOHN SLICKHAMMER.

Apt Quotation.

The is sometimes more wit in the application to the business in hand of words already chosen for another purpose, than in the invention of an appropriate phrase. Bishop Whipple—according to the Church News—loved to tell this story:

A devout colored preacher whose heart was aglow with missionary zeal gave notice to his congregation that in the evening an offertory would be taken for missions and asked for liberal gifts. A selfish, well-to-do man in his congregation said to him before the service:

"Yer gwine to kill dis church ef yer goes on sayin' give! give! No church can stan' it. Yer gwine to kill it."

After the sermon the colored minister said to the people:

"Brother Jones told me I was gwine to kill dis here church ef I kep' a-askin' yer to give, but, my brethren, churches doesn't dat way. Ef anybody knows of a church dat died 'cause it's been given' too much to de Lord, I'll be very much obliged ef my brother will tell me what dat church is, for I'se gwine to visit it, and I'll climb on de walls of dat church, under de light of de moon and cry—'Blessed be de dead dat die in de Lord.'"

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund the money if it fails to Cure. 25c.

You perhaps have some doubt about what I can do for you in my store. You are not certain may be how I can sell good standard goods at the price I name. The only way to be convinced is to come and look at my goods and see what they are. No matter what your prejudice may be you will be convinced and it will be to your advantage. I have still a few capes left, which are yours if they will suit you. I will make the price suit your purse.

THE GOLDEN STORE.

Scientific American Agency for

CAVEATS,
TRADE MARKS,
DESIGN PATENTS,
COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

Lightning Hot Drops—
What a Funny Name!
Very True, but it Kills All Pain.
Sold Everywhere, Every Day—
Without Relief, There is No Pay

[illegible] our Bowels With Cascarets.
Candy Cathartic, cure constipation foreve
10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund mone

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

KNAPPS CREEK.

Ice harvest is over.

M. F. Herold has a good eye.

The rain Sunday night raised the creek.

David Varner, of Elk, is visiting at A. W. Moore's.

So they say J. A. Reed jumped the broomstick Wednesday evening at 5 o'clock. Good luck for Jim.

Price Moore is talking of running for Commissioner of County Court next fall. A very good idea if he can stand it.

Miss Maude Eskridge will soon close her school at Sunset. She will then go to Green Bank to teach a subscription school.

The Cristmas tree at Frost was a success. Also the entertainment given by Professor Lantz and others. The tree was most beautifully decorated and some very handsome presents on it. The building was crowded with people from far and near. We are thankful that Frost has had one Christmas tree where there was no shooting fire-crackers, drinking, etc., going on—that's all.

Mr John Lantz was the recipient of a handsome present off of the Christmas tree, with the following prescription,

He that would a widow woo, must not dally;
He must make hay while the sun
doth shine,
He must not stand up with her—shall I,—shall I,—
But boldly say, Widow, thou must be mine!

TIT FOR TAT.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, }
LUCAS COUNTY. } ss.

FRANK J CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F J. CHENEY & Co, doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

{SEAL} A. W. GLEASON,
Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by Druggists. 75c.
Hall's Family pills are the best.

AGENTS WANTED!

To sell to the consumber in Virginia and West Virginia our Teas, Coffees, Baking Powder, Spices, Exfracts, Soaps, Starches, etc.

Address
GRAND UNION TEA CO.,
38 Baltimore St., Cumberland, Md.

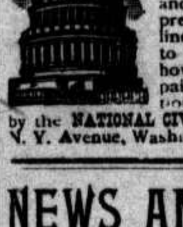
Notice to Creditors.

Creditors of the estate of J. W. McAlpin, dec'd, will present their claims to the undersigned administrator for adjustment.

LEVI GAY,
Jan 12, '98. Late S. P. C., Admr.

DO YOU TRAVEL

Are you going to take a trip? Do you suffer from Severe Headaches, Nervousness, Seasickness or Exhaustion? Why not prevent it all by using CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER. Help that headache, cure that nervousness and seasickness by the use of this Inhaler, the greatest stimulant and preventative known. Wonderful relief in Hay Fever and Asthma. BUY CUSHMAN'S INHALER and you will always use it. If you can't get it at Druggists send for it. By mail, 50 cents. Send for Book on Menthol, free. CUSHMAN DRUG CO., VINCENNES, IND., U. S. A.



GOOD SALARIES!
LIFE POSITIONS
IN UNCLE SAM'S SERVICE

are within the reach of all; male and female. Now is the time to prepare yourself and get into line. Full information relating to Government positions and how to obtain them, salaries paid, scope and dates of examinations, &c., &c., given cheerfully by the NATIONAL CIVIL SERVICE INSTITUTE, 1429 N. Y. Avenue, Washington, D. C.

NEWS AND OPINIONS
OF National Importance
The Sun
ALONE
CONTAINS BOTH.

DAILY, by mail, - - $6 a year
DAILY and SUNDAY $8 a year

THE Sunday Sun
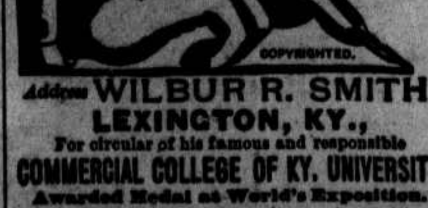
is the Greatest Sunday Newspaper in the World.
Price 5c a copy. By mail $2 a year
Address THE SUN, New York

Educate FOR A Situation.

Book-Keeping, Business, PHONOGRAPHY, Type-Writing Telegraphy



Address WILBUR R. SMITH,
LEXINGTON, KY.,
For circular of his famous and responsible
COMMERCIAL COLLEGE OF KY. UNIVERSITY
Awarded Medal at World's Exposition.

Refers to thousands of graduates in positions. Cost of Full Business Course, including Tuition, Books and Board in family, about $90. Shorthand, Type-Writing, and Telegraphy, Specialties. The Kentucky University Diploma, under seal, awarded graduates. Literary Course free, if desired. No vacation. Enter now. Graduates successful. In order to have your letters reach us, address only, WILBUR R. SMITH, LEXINGTON, KY.

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.
Guaranteed tobacco habit cure, makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggists.

FAIRVIEW.

James M. Johnson has devised a new plan to save feed. He fed his coat to a horse.

C. W. Sharp has moved his kitchen. The old man says Jack's a good dog. He caught a rabbit in a fair foot-race.

Dr G. R. Irvine has returned to the bosom of his family, with the pleasant words, "Fannie, dear, I greet you with a new year." Everybody has a welcome for the careworn father.

Q. W. Poage gave the young people an entertaiment that was well enjoyed.

Frank Dilley will soon have his big engine and sawmill in this part sawing for Giles Sharp and J. W. Irvine.

The venerable bachelor Davis Dilley is in this part making ready to move to Pike's Peak.

The Fairview Literary Society gave an interesting program December 24. The performance was good; but our chairmam says that "he will feel for those insane cranks in the future, when Uncle Sam gets through with them." We only glory in the chairman.

AT Payne Bros., Academy, Salt @ $2 per sack.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. is on every wrapper.

THIS is to notify the public that my wife, Roxy A Cochran, has left my bed and board, and that I will no longer be responsible for her support. JONATHAN COCHRAN.
January 10, 1898.

OLD GENTLDMAN (dictating indignant letter): "SIR,—My stenographer, being a lady, cannot take down what I think of you. I, being a gentleman, cannot think it: but you, being neither, can easily guess my thoughts."—Exchange.

SOME men are born luckly, some work themselves into fortune and others die as they live—no account to any body.

It's Time to Kick

Against that Rheumatism of yours. Uric acid in the blood is what is causing all the trouble.

Johnston's Sarsaparilla

will purify the blood and remove the acid; and with it, the cause of your aches and pains.

Our illustrated book of 36 pages has some interesting chapters on rheumatism. It's free for the asking

Williams, Davis, Brooks & Co., Detroit, Mich.

For sale by URIAH BIRD, Marlinton; and A. BARLOW, Huntersville.

Notice.

All persons indebted to us will take notice that their accounts are ready for settlement and they will please call and settle same by cash or note. No new accounts will be opened until the old account is settled. AMOS BARLOW.
Huntersville, W. Va.

....Farm for Sale..

I offer for sale my farm and dwelling-house, situated 1 mile from Edray, on Indian Draft. Said farm consists of 40 acres, more or less; partly cleared, good young orchard, and other improvemants.

MRS J. H. LANDES.

Shop & Shoe Tools for Sale

I desire to sell my shoe-shop in Marlinton, west end of Bridge. Will sell at a bargain. Call on

J. H. LANDES.

Ferguson's Photograph Gallery is coming to Marlinton. The finest of pictures at lowest of prices. Wait for him.

Fiduciary Notice.

All persons interested take notice that the accounts of the following personal representatives of the below named decedents are before me for settlement:

J. S. Mace, Exor of Wm E Mace, dec'd.

A. N. Barlow, Exor. of Jacob Sharp, dec'd.

I. B. Moore admr. of Moses Moore dec'd.

Susan McGlaughlin guardian of Allie McGlaughlin.

John A. Moore, Admr. of S. P. Moore, dec'd.

Georgia F. Dever, Admrx of Francis Dever dec'd.

J. C. Arbegast, Admr of Peter Beverage dec'd.

L. M. McCLINTIC.
Commissioner of Accounts.

If I were a cobbler I would make it my pride
The best of its kind to be;
If I were a tinker nobody could
Mend an old kettle like me.

I don't allow to be undersold by Anybdy.

Here is a good thing:

Lumberman's Driving Shoe, Wisconsin pattern....$3.48.

Black Diagonal Mackintoshes, reduced to..........$2.37½.

A successful New Year to you.

PAUL GOLDEN.

Bottom Knocked Out!

To Cash Buyers

We will until APRIL 1st, 1898, sell our entire stock of goods at from 5 to 10 per cent. above cost, strictly for cash. Produce will be taken, but will charge more for goods.

Below will quote you prices on a few articles:

Arbuckle Coffee	12½c
Good Green Coffee	10c
Best Green Coffee	14c
Granulated Sugar	7c
Best Calico	5 to 6
Gingham	5 to 8
2400 Matches	15c
Mens' Suits from $4 to $8

Have a few Overcoats which we will sell low. We will save you from 25 to 50 per cent on all goods. Come and see before buying elsewhere, and see if we don't mean just what we say.

Yours to save you Money,

B. F. McElwee,
Dunmore, W. Va.

All persons knowing themselves indebted to me by note or apc. will find their claims in the hands of Mr Sam Sheets for collection.

ASSASSINATED!

We do not mean to assassinate you, as Wilkes Boothe did Abraham Lincoln, but warn you of the truth that you are daily assassinating your Pocket Book by not giving us your trade. Our stock is fresh, and constant increase of Business show that Prices are Better than elsewhere.

Constant sales allow no shopworn goods to remain on our shelves, and Money with Order enables us to obtain Bargains which we gladly share with our customers. This means no fraud or deception. Our figures are plain and bold, and you don't have to guess or ask. You can't tell what the bottom price of an article unti lyou see it Here. Every day in the year is a bargain day with us.

Our stock is worth Investigation and all are invited to call and be convinced that as to Quality of stock and Lowness of Prices we surpassed by none. We want your trade and friendship.

We will take Beeswax and Fur. Our nine-years' experience as buyer and shipper enables us to pay highest prices. For quality of stock, lowness of price, and prompt business, we are respectfully yours,

L. D. Sharp.

GIVEN FREE EACH MONTH (During 1897)

4 First Prizes, each of $100 Cash.
20 Second " " " $100 Pierce Special Bicycles.
40 Third " " " $ 25 Gold Watches.

FOR Sunlight SOAP WRAPPERS

For particulars send your name and full address to Lever Bros., Ltd., Hudson & Harrison Sts., New York.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 15, NO. 26 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, JANUARY 21, 1898. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 208. This quarter-sawed oak writing desk is polished like a piano. It has a 9-inch beveled plate glass in top and a deep drawer below. Artistic French legs; also finished in mahogany. $3.95 is our special price for this $10 desk.

(Mail orders filled promptly.) We will mail anyone, free of all charges, our new 112 page Special Catalogue, containing Furniture, Draperies, Lamps, Stoves, Crockery, Mirrors, Pictures, Bedding, Refrigerators, Baby Carriages, etc. This is the most complete book ever published, and we pay all postage. Our lithographed Carpet Catalogue, showing carpets in colors, is also yours for the asking. If carpet samples are wanted, mail us 8c. in stamps. There is no reason why you should pay your local dealer 60 per cent. profit when you can buy from the mill. Drop a line now to the money-savers.

JULIUS HINES & SON,
Baltimore, Md.
Please mention this paper.

$18. IMPROVED SINGER FREIGHT PREPAID.

For this style new high arm sewing machine with all attachments warranted 10 years. If machine is not satisfactory in 30 days money will be refunded. Send cash with order. Descriptive circular sent on application.

WHAYNE M'F'G CO.,
560 FOURTH AVE., LOUISVILLE, KY.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

JOHN A. PRESTON FRED. WALLACE
PRESTON & WALLACE,
Attorneys at Law,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Greenbrier and adjoining counties, and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel All calls promptly answered.

Biographic Notes.

AARON MOORE, one of the older sons of Moses Moore the pioneer, hunter and scout, after his marriage with Cathrine Johnson, daughter of John Johnson, one of the early settlers near Marlinton, first lived near Frost. But for the greater part of his life he dwelt on the west bank of the Greenbrier, four miles above Marlinton, where he had settled in the woods. By arduous industry and judicious economy Mr and Mrs Moore built up a prosperous home. The property is now owned by Uriah Bird, Esq.

Their sons were John, James, Samuel, Thomas, Andrew Jackson, Henry, William Daniel and George Claiborne, and the daughters were Mary, Elizabeth, Catherine, Eliza, and Melinda; eight sons and five daughters.

John Moore married Jane, daughter of Col John Baxter and, settled in the woods near Marlinton. Their children were Aaron, William, Theodore, Washington, and one daughter, Cathrine, now Mrs Thomas Auldridge, near Indian Draft.

James Moore married Anne McNeill, daughter of the late Squire John McNeill, on Dry Branch of Swago, and settled in the woods near Marlinton, on property owned by John R. Moore. Their children were John Register, Frances, Rachel, George, Henry, Naomi, and Nelson. John Register lives on the homestead. His wife was Mary Baxter, daughter of the late William Baxter, Esq., near Edray. Rachel is now Mrs George M. Kee, near Marlinton.

Samuel Moore, of Aaron Moore, the early settler, married Nancy Beale and settled on the summit of Marlin Mountain, in the unbroken forest, and killed ten rattlesnakes on the first acre cleared about his cabin. Their children were Lucas, Martha, Catherine, Margaret, Jennie, William Thomas, George, Anise, Rachel, Kenney, and Melinda; eight daughters and four sons. Mrs Moore was a daughter of Thomas Beale who came from Maryland soon after the war of 1812. He claimed to have been a sailor in early life and was one of the defenders of Baltimore, and saw the engagement immortalized by the "Star Spangled Banner." The farm opened up by Samuel Moore is visible from so many points that a lady from Florida called it a revolving farm.

William D. Moore settled on Elk Mountain in the woods. He was married three times. His first wife was Rebecca Sharp; her children were Matthias, Charles L., Elizabeth, Mary, Jacob and Nancy. The second wife was Mary Ann Auldridge, daughter of Thomas Auldridge, Sen. Her one child was Mary Ann Moore.

The third wife was Hannah Beverridge. Her children were Amanda, now Mrs S. D. Hannah, on Elk; Susan, now Mrs John Gibson, near Mary's Chapel; Effie, now Mrs A. Page Gay, near Clover Lick; Etta, Joseph and Ellis.

Thomas Moore, a noted rail splitter and fence builder, never married. He opened up a nice farm on Back Alleghany, where he now resides.

Andrew Jackson Moore was married twice. The first wife was Abigail (Abbie) McLaughlin, daughter of the late Major Daniel McLaughlin, near Green Bank. Her children were Ernest and Anise, now Mrs D. Hevener on Back Alleghany. The second wife was rachel, daughter of the late Charles Grimes, near Frost. Her children were Virginia, now Mrs Silva on Stamping Creek; Forest, Samuel, Thomas and Elmer, a teacher of schools.

A. J. Moore settled in the woods on back Alleghany and opened up a fine farm.

Henry Moore married Elizabeth Auldridge, daughter of Thomas Auldridge, Sen., and settled in the woods near Driftwood and opened up two nice farms. Their only son, Andrew Moore, lives at the homestead.

George C. Moore married Rachel Duncan on Stony Creek. Her father, Henry Duncan, came from Rockbridge, and was one of the carpenters that worked on the court house at Huntersville. Mr Moore lives on the "Young Place," near Hamlin Chapel, on Stony Creek.

Elizabeth Moore became Mrs William Auldridge. These persons settled in the woods near Indian Draft. Their children were Hanson, Melinda and Eliza. Eliza died not long since. Hanson and Melinda are living on the nice homestead opened up by their worthy parents.

Catherine Moore was married to John Burr and they settled in Burr's Valley where she is now living. Their children are Charles, Rebecca, Mary, Sally, Alvin Henry, Fannie, Ida, now Mrs Darnall, and Lillie, now Mrs Peter Dow. Mr Burr died suddenly in F. J. Snyder's law office in Huntersville. This is mentioned to correct a mistake in reference to William Burr in the sketch of the Lightner family.

Eliza Moore became Mrs Price McComb late of Huntersville. They settled in the woods on Cummings Creek densely covered with white pine and opened up virtually several nice farms. Their children were Nancy, Charles, George, Wyllis, Andrew Beckley, a merchant at Huntersville; Henry, on the homestead, and Alice, now Mrs George Wagner, at Huntersville.

Melinda Moore was the second wife of the late Capt William Cochran, on Stony Creek. Her children are William Cochran, Jr., on the homestead, and Catherine Jane now Mrs Giles Sharp, near Verdant Valley. Melinda Moore's second marriage was with Joseph Barlow who lives on the Cochran homestead.

Thus have we tried to illustrate the family history of Aaron Moore and Catherine Moore, with the assistance of their son, Geore C. Moore and Rachel his wife.

It is instructive to reflect on the memoirs of such a relationship so largely composed of patient, industrious people, accomplishing what they have done in developing our county. Nine members of this family settled in the woods, and by their efforts more than a thousand acres of wilderness land has been made to rejoice and blossom as the rose.

Mary died in early womanhood, regarded by her sister as their special favorite. Two, while not settling in the woods, have shown by their industry and enterprise how to make the best of more favorable oportunities, and improved what came into their hands already opened up and improved.

It is next to impossible for many of us, my worthy readers, to appreciate what it all cost weary toil, wear and tear of muscle and bodily vigor and self sacrifice to achieve what they have. Nevertheless, the oldest people tell us that there was more real contentment and satisfaction and enjoyment in life then than now. For there was a felt community of interest and harmonious help and truly sympathetic endeavor that seemed to have a charm not so apparent now. Then it seemed a genuine pleasure to show favors and render assistance. But now pay seems to be expected for most every thing that may be done in the way of helpful service.

Like most of the persons of his time. Mr Moore was a successful hunter and he made it profitable. One of his memorable adventures occurred while on his way to search for the body of his lamented neighbor James W. Twyman, who was drowned in Thorny Creek, on January 17, 1834, and was not found until January 19. Mr Moore lived on the west bank of the river while Thorny Creek is on the east side. Some one shouted the sad news to him across the raging river and as soon as it seemed safe to cross, he went up the west bank to cross at Joseph Friel's. As he was threading his way along the snow covered path, his dog came upon the trail of a panther and treed it in a lofty pine near the summit of the river ridge, about opposite Friels. He shot the animal, one the largest of its kind, left it where it fell, to be attended to later on, and then hurried away on his sorrowful duty, canoeing the river at high tide. In a few hours the body of the drowned neighbor was found stranded on a large rock, that is still pointed out, not very far above the mouth of the creek.

When Mr Moore died, his remains were taken to the Duffield grave yard. His faithful wife survived him a few years and then was carried to rest by his side, where they are now sleeping the years away in hope of a blessed resurrection. May they stand in their lot at the end of the days.

W. T. P.

"IT is the the simple truth that Arthur Henry Hallam was a spirit so exceptional that everything with which he was brought into relation during his shortened passage thro this world came to be, thro this contact, glorified by the touch of the ideal." Such is the characterization which Mr Gladstone gives to the subject of Tennyson's "In Memoriam," in the fine article he has written for the New Year's number of THE YOUTH'S COMPANION. The article is illustrated by a striking portrait of Mr Gladstone photographed expressly for THE COMPANION, and a beautiful copy of the Chantry bust of Hallam. The other contents of this number are rich in variety and interest, and include an interesting view of Mr Gladstone at eighty-eight, by William E. Riding, a capital newspaper story and other fiction and miscellany of the best kind.

SIXTEEN thousand dollars have been subscribed for the new Republican paper at Charleston. A. B. White, of that city, puts in $6,000; W. M. O. Dawson, $6,000; J. J. Peterson, $3,000; and Attorney-General Rucker, $1,000. They will buy out the plant of the Charleston Star-Tribune.

AT the Republican indignation meeting in Columbus, Ohio on last Monday Rev Mr Kelly, who opened the demonstration with prayer, asked the Lord to defeat "unholy combinations." It is to be hoped that this may quiet the assumption, always rife in such close contests, that earthly means were to be employed to determine the result; and it is further to be hoped that the din of the conflict may now subside.—Exchange.

THEY arrived, with their trunks, at a South Eleventh street boarding house last week, and, from all appearances, were a happy married couple. Before the new arrivals had been installed two days the servant who cleans the rooms mysteriously confided to the dowstairs help that "Them air new boarders is queer." When pressed for an explanation, she said that she had several times overheard the man threaten "to cut the foul hear,' out of the woman, whom he accused of treachery. Of course, these strange proceedings reached the boarding mistress' ears, and she decided to take the first excuse for giving the the pair notice to leave. The gossiping chambermaid was told that the next time she heard the new boarders quarreling she was to report instantly. That afternoon down came the maid, and excitedly told her mistress that they were at it again. Both maid and mistress then went up to listen. They distinctly heard the man say: "You have had you last chance; prepare to die for the wrongs I have suffered at your hands." The landlady sent the girl for a policeman. Luckily, a big reserve was stationed at the corner, and soon he, too, was listening at the door. The woman's pleading tones could be heard, and finally the gruff voice chimed in: "Now, time's up; with this dagger you die." "No yet!" shouted the officer, as he crashed through the door to prevent murder. There, sitting in an easy chair, smoking, was the villain, while the woman reclined on a sofa, both with rolls of manuscript. Their amazement gave way to mirth when they explained that they were actors rehearsing their parts.—Philadelphia Record.

Notions.

AS the school-boy's composition would start, "There are many kinds of Indians"; but the old settlers divided them into clases, the bad and the good, or, as Amelia Rives would say, "The quick and the dead."

James Fenimore Cooper wrote about good Indians,—"The last of the Mohicans," and others,—and he was a competent judge. He was skilled in the arts of the Indian in hunting, trapping, and knowledge of the woods. One admirer says that "he could track a wolf in the morning by the broken cobwebs along its path"; and he has left us a legacy in books that is invaluable. He knew about the things, and was able to tell what he knew.

On the other hand, authorities generally agree that while the Indian is interesting he is repulsive. The most expressive term used by the Indian slayers in whom we delight, was "reptyles."

It does not take a very vivid imagination on the part of him who is fishing in a trout pool in some of our mountain streams, far from the haunts of men, to conjure up a file of Indians gliding along the shore of the stream, as they assuredly have done some time. The surroundings are identical. There is no sign of the encroachments of civilization. The man with his fishing-rod is the only human being in miles. Then why should it be hard to call up a party of warriors appearing in sight as they round the bend. When one is in this lonely situation, with the endless sound of the rush of waters and the rustle of the woods, he can hardly tell "what dreams may come," or how intensely real they may be.

Lately the Smithsonian Institution has been compiling a vast amount of information about the original inhabitants of America. It has translated their legends, which were told around camp fires for generations. The Indian languages have very limited vocabularies. The most of the distinctive languages have less than a thousand words. A great many of the tribes, credited with different tongue, speak the same language varied by dialect. Accent and emphasis played a tremendous part in their speech, and this, it is said, cannot be conveyed to any one by a translation. In this article we wish to give some of the Indian's songs and stories.

The Indians have a profound belief in mythology. They are as cunning as serpents in some things and as simple as children in others. One of the myths most widely believed in is the Thunder Bird. Most of the tribes believe in a huge bird which has its nest on the highest and most inaccessible peaks, and which causes thunder and lightning at will. The eagle on the United States money is believed by the Indians to be a representation of this thunder bird, and they prefer the silver dollar with its magnificent thunder bird to any other denomination of coin.

As an example of the song of the Indian we select one about the Thunder Bird The reader will object to it because it lacks variety, but the others are oppressed with sameness even worse than this one. It is called: "Tahu na ana nia huna."

Na nisa na, na nisa na,
Na nani na, tahu na ana niahuna
Tahu na ana nia huna,
Na nisa na, na niso na,
Na nisa na, tahuna ana nia huna
Ta heti nai huna.

Translation.

My children, my children,
It is I who make thunder as I circle about,
The thunder as I circle about.
My children, my children,
It is I who make the loud thunder as I circle about,
The loud thunder as I circle about

It is sung to a sprightly tune in quick time.

The Indian tales are preserved by constant telling from one generation to another. They would usually delight very young children. We will give outlines of some stories. This is the legend of the first meeting of the Indians and whites. The Indians saw some large boats come to the land and white-skinned people come on shore. The Indians offered them some tobacco, and the whites in return brought out some liquor. The Indians were afraid to drink, so they selected four old men who were useless and made them test it. Pretty soon the old men became very gay. A short time afterwards they laid down and died. The Indians then decided to kill the white people, but as they were making ready the old men came back to life and said: "The liquor is good; we have felt very happy; you must try it too." At this time the white people showed them how to boil water in kettles. The kettles were big. They saw some little kettles (cups) and asked the white men for them so that when the cups grew they would have big kettles too. They got the little kettles, but they never grew any.

THE CATFISH.

The catfish in a river saw a moose come down to the stream daily to eat grass. The chief of the catfish said: "We will watch for him and kill and eat him." They surrounded the moose next day and the chief speared the moose's leg. The moose said 'What is it that has thrust a spear into my leg?" Looking down he saw he was surrounded by catfish and he trampled on them. They all swam away, but since that day they have all of them had flat heads.

THE SNOW.

A hunter had good luck hunting until a snow fell. The snow froze his feet and he wanted to punish the snow. He took a quantity of it and buried it in the ground and covered it with brush and grass, so that it could not get away. The next summer he went there when the sun was high and uncovered the snow and the sun melted it. The snow threatened to be revenged. The hunter next winter laid in a big supply of wood and when the snow came started two fires in his wigwam. One day a stranger came. He had a big beard and a head twice as large as an ordinary man. The hunter knew it was the Snow. He piled on more wood, but for awhile it kept getting colder and colder. He worked at his fires until the stranger began to sweat, and in a few minutes he had melted away, and thus the hunter got the better of Kon, the snow.

CHICAGO.

There was once an Ottawa trapper who went with his wife to trap beaver. When he got there the dam was frozen, and he broke holes in the ice. That evening his wife caught a beaver by the tail and called for her husband to come and kill it. He replied that if he did so, no other beaver would come up through the ice. His wife insisted and they quarreled. That night his wife ran away to the south. He went on her trail, and as he traveled he noticed that her tracks gradually changed in outline assuming the shape of those of a skunk. He followed her trail till he reached a marsh where he saw hundreds of skunks in the grass. He looked around for a long time expecting to find his wife in the shape of an unusually large skunk, but was disappointed. He named the marsh Chicago, The Place of the Skunk, and it has continued to be so called unto this day.

THE RACCOON AND THE BLIND MEN.

The friends of two old, blind Indians were afraid that their village would be attacked and that they they would not be able to escape on account of their infirmaty. So they moved them to the other side of the lake, built a wigwam, and left them provided with food. In order that they could find the water they stretched a line from the wigwam to the lake. One day one Indian would cook and the other carry water, and the next day they would change work.

Finally a Raccoon came along the shore, turning up the stones and looking for crawfish. He saw the line and said, "What is this? I think I shall follow this cord and see where it leads." He came to the wigwam and saw the old blind men asleep. He determined to have some sport. Presently the men awoke and started to to prepare dinner. The one whose turn it was started to the lake for water, but the raccoon had moved the end of the cord and tied it in a clump of bushes. The old man got to the end of his string and found that there was no water there. He returned and said to his companion, "We shall surely die, for the lake is dried up and where we used to get water the brush has grown up. What shall we do?" The other said, "That cannot be, for if the lake has dried up we have not been asleep long enough for the brush to grow on the lake bed. Let me try." He took the kettle from his friend and started off.

The raccoon had replaced the cord where he had found it. The second old man succeeded in getting water and came back and accused the other of lying. They patched up the peace and boiled the meat. The Raccoon came up and saw what was in the pot. There were eight pieces of meat. When the old men started to eat, the Raccoon removed four pieces very silently and eat with as great enjoyment as the old men.

One of the old men got through with his first piece and dipped in the pot for another. He said: "My friend, you must be very hungry to eat so rapidly; there are only two pieces left!" The other immediately accused him of being the thief. They argued thus, and the Raccoon to have more sport tapped each in the face. They each thinking it was the other who had struck him, began to fight and rolled on the floor. The Raccoon ran off and gave a big laugh, which explained everything to the old men. The Raccoon said: "I have played a nice trick on you; you should not find fault with one another."

The Raccoon then resumed his crawfish hunting along the shore.

Of all the whisker dyes offered to the public none have proved so desirable and easy of application as Buckingham's, to color a beautiful brown or black.

Sweetness and Light.

Put a pill in the pulpit if you want practical preaching for the physical man; then put the pill in the pillory if it does not practise what it preaches. There's a whole gospel in Ayer's Sugar Coated Pills; a "gospel of sweetness and light." People used to value their physic, as they did their religion,—by its bitterness. The more bitter the dose the better the doctor. We've got over that. We take "sugar in ours"—gospel or physic—now-a-days. It's possible to please and to purge at the same time. There may be power in a pleasant pill. That is the gospel of

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

More pill particulars in Ayer's Curebook, 100 pages. Sent free. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

The Pocahontas Times.

Marlinton, Friday, Jan. 21, 1898.

Entered at the post-office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

He knew the law to be a knavish science,
Made to demoralize ingenious clients.
Who ever saw a single instance yet
Of any debtor sneaking out of debt
By pleading usury or limitation,
Save by a lawyer's pen and penetration?
Who ever skulked behind the law's delay
Unless some shrewd attorney showed the way;
By his superior skill got the ascendant,
And led estray the innocent defendant? —Milton.

THE case of the State vs. Mrs George W. Atkinson will be tried at a special term of court of Gilmer County to be called next May.

AFTER a stormy debate, Congress decided to distribute garden seeds as usual, About a million and a half was appropriated for the purpose.

RECENT riots in Havana made by the anti-autonomist Spaniards. in honor of the hateful Weyler, may precipitate the official recognition which the United States can not with hold forever.

JAMES A. HOLLY, of Lincoln County, was chosen Clerk of the Supreme Court of Appeals. A strong petition went from this county in favor of Hon. John W. Arbuckle, of Lewisburg, but General Holley applied for the office too near Christmas time to be beaten.

THE Republican paper recently published at Harrisonburg, Virginia, has suspended publication. The Spectator and Vindicator remarks that prosperity must have struck it. This seems to be literally true, for the management has been so well rewarded with federal patronage that they do not have to work any more.

SENATOR MARK HANNA was elected to the United States Senate for two terms, last week, aggregating seven years and two months. Open charges of bribery were made and an effort to unseat him has been instituted. The Republican party is very much divided in Ohio and the chances of the Democratic party carrying the State this fall are more than good.

THE Charleston Gazette clears Judge Dent of Nepotism in relation to the recent appointment of a clerk of the Supreme Court. For the benefit of the reader we did the mystery explore and found that it meant undue favoritism of relations. The way the matter came up was the appearance of a first cousin of Judge Dent as assistant of the newly appointed clerk.

SENATOR HOAR brought up the annual resolution proposing the amendment to the constitution changing the inauguration day from the 4th of March to the 30th of April. The only objection we could have to it is that it prolongs the administration of Mr McKinley nearly two months. This could be remedied by letting the inauguration of his successor take place on the 30th day of April, 1900.

THE state of affairs in Cuba seems more in the clouds than ever. For awhile it looked as if autonomy would be successful, but now it appears well-nigh hopeless. It is reported that eleven officers sent out by the authorities of the autonomy government recently declared established have been summarily shot by the Cubans without listening to a word of the terms they were sent to propose. With the Cubans it is sink or swim, survive or perish.

PIERCES memorandum books arrived the other day, causing a good deal of trouble to the mail carriers and postmasters. Every year this king of quacks sends out his elaborate advertisements, causing the woman, who is weak enough to read them, to imagine that she is a physical wreck. Curiosity is the female weakness which most of Pierce's patients suffer from. The memorandum books play an important part in country business circles, one of them often constituting the only ledger kept by the farmer. Nothing is more common than to see them produced in court to "refresh the memory" or to prove the case.

THOUGHTLESS ADVICE.

The editor of the Hinton Independent-Herald advises the editor of the Times to use "Old red liquor as that will fill a man with inspiration quicker than any thing else," and he speaks as one having authority. One of the greatest troubles with the productions of the well-known Sawyers, of Hinton, is that they are too realistic. If he thinks of a swear-word, down it goes on the editorial page; and if a questionable thought comes to him it, too, is apt to be incorporated in a leading article. In his more serious moments he will agree with us that the inspiration that comes from liquor when it is red is of a kind that is apt to get the weak vessel which holds the liquor in trouble. It is the kind of inspiration that leads its victim to write a check for fifty instead of five dollars; to try to go to bed on the bureau; to have wounds without cause; and to adopt a platform of principles that he is unable to maintain in his wager of battel.

Sawyers and Opie Reed disagree on this question, it is evident. The latter makes one of his characters, in speaking of country lawyers, lament the fact that most of them knew more about breaking jackpots than they did of bills in chancery, and declared that "poker never yet has made a pleader, nor whiskey a poet."

Another authority says that professional men about a county seat ruin their constitutions by constant internal jolts, and their voices by saying "that's good!" including therein the two besetting sins of professional men.

Every man that drinks to any extent has to be on his guard all the time to see that he remains decently temperate. Gossip exaggerates the failing of any man and is apt to drive him to worse courses. The temptation is presented to every man as he attains his growth, and boys are saved by the danger being pointed out by precept and example. Every writer who gives advice on this subject should say Don't! Do this, and still this branch of trade will receive more than its just or proportionate share.

Every newspaper should protest against the use of intoxicants, and every man who feels that he is strong-minded enough to use liquor with impunity will uphold the course, for there may be some boy growing up in whom he is interested, and of whom he cannot be sure; and those men who have used it until they are a reproach to their friends will aid such a course, not only by the powerful object lesson they present, but in freely expressed sentiments as to the evil of the habit. The only way to do is to keep pounding away at the danger, and to take every opportunity for speaking of it.

THE BANK OF MARLINTON.

THE owner of the Marlinton drug store, Dr Price, has been notified that the building will be needed in the spring for other purposes, confirming the report that a bank is to open for business at that time. Nothing is needed more, and we feel sure that our banking people generally will patronize it. Also a large number of farmers who do not realize the convenience of having a deposit in bank subject to check, as well as the safety, will make use of this institution instead of the time honored "stocking." It may not be out of place to recite the few and simple rules necessary to open an account with a bank. In the first place, a little money is necessary. The bank receipts for it and gives you a bank book in which all your transactions are recorded when you present it to be "balanced." The cashier takes a specimen signature, in order not to cash a forged check if possible; any private mark may be made part of the signature. The bank furnishes you a blank check book. Then you are at liberty to draw checks until your money gives out. Most ladies think they can write checks as long as they have blank checks left. The advantages derived are evident: A receipt is had in every cancelled check; the depositor is relieved of fears of robbery; and any amount can be paid which is of first importance when change is scarce. A five dollar check often pays as many debts as a five dollar bill. There is undoubtedly a large number of men in this county who will open a checking account with the new bank who have never yet signed a check.

New York News Letter.

Dwight L. Moody, the world-famed enangelist, is holding forth at Carnegie Hall, this city, and his meetings are filled to overflowing. All kinds and sorts of people listen to him preach the Word of God,—rich, poor, young and old. It is a truly wonderful magnetism he possesses. This man is a good man; no hypocrisy about him. He talks in plain language and his auditors go away thinking and keep on a thinking, to return the next day a great deal better both in mind and body, and before many days they join Mr Moody in his good work and endeavor to convert their friends. And they generally do. Mr Moody in the course of his sermon yesterday said: "The smile of the Lord is better than all the offices of Tammany Hall can give.' After each meeting scores of his listeners wend their way to the platform to shake hands with the preacher.

⁂

The Democratic government of this city is gradually getting in working order. Two years ago when the Reformers got in they could not "turn the rascals out" fast enough. Now the tables have been turned. Mr Democrat (or as our Republican neighbor calls us —Tammany) is losing no time in turning the Reform rascals out of office—and they do not like it a bit.

⁂

Probably if you are at all interested in the ring you have noticed that Fitzsimmons and Corbett are still talking. The latest came by wire yesterday from Pompadour Jim. Mr Corbett has offered the sum of $25,000 and an additional $10,000 to Fitz if he will stand up to him for 10 rounds. Corbett says if he does not knock Fitz down and out in the 10 rounds why he will cheerfully hand over the $35,000 to his opponent. Fitz's reply was a broad smile and "have a talk to my manager Julian." These people have shows on the road and this is the way they receive valuable advertising.

⁂

Not long ago a policeman in this big town was detailed in citizen's clothes to stop the boys playing football in the streets. A boy by the name of M'Nally was playing when along comes the "cop." He ordered the boy to halt—to be arrested. The boy naturally ran. This great big fool of a detective got out his revolver and fired. The boy was wounded, but happily not dangerously. Mr Policeman is now on trial, and the chances are his position will be lost. The department can easily spare such men.

⁂

The trolley cars will shortly be in operation over the Brooklyn Bridge. Wires, tracks, etc, are ready.

⁂

Richard Croker has just added to his laurels. A coal barge was named after him. As Mr Croker is a very successful man, the barge no doubt will prove equally so.

⁂

A man by the name of W. P. Goerdes was arrested the other day in the vicinity of Wall Street, charged with forging a check for $18,122.50. This is the case of a man who had speculated, and who had been driven to the wall. In order to retrieve his losses he resorted to this means to raise money. The way of the transgressor is hard.

⁂

Business is so-so. The weather is warm, foggy, and every thing is quiet. GEORGE M. SANGSTER.

January 12, 1898.

EX-PRESIDENT CLEVELAND'S residence was burglarized the other day from garret to cellar. He knows now how it goes to be robbed.

Fiduciary Notice.

All persons interested take notice that the accounts of the following personal representatives of the below named decedents are before me for settlement:

J. S. Mace, Exor of Wm E Mace, dec'd.

A. N. Barlow, Exor. of Jacob Sharp, dec'd.

I. B. Moore admr. of Moses Moore dec'd.

Susan McGlaughlin guardian of Allie McGlaughlin.

John A. Moore, Admr. of S. P. Moore, dec'd.

Georgia F. Dever, Admrx of Francis Dever dec'd.

J. C. Arbogast, Admr of Peter Beverage dec'd.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
Commissioner of Accounts.

It's Time to Kick

Against that Rheumatism of yours. Uric acid in the blood is what is causing all the trouble.

Johnston's Sarsaparilla

will purify the blood and remove the acid; and with it, the cause of your aches and pains.

Our illustrated book of 36 pages has some interesting chapters on rheumatism. It's free for the asking.

Williams, Davis, Brooks & Co., Detroit, Mich.

For sale by URIAH BIRD, Marlinton; and A. BARLOW, Huntersville.

PARIS, the capital or the French nation, claims to be the flower of civilization. The French officer stands out as the typical soldier of the 19th century for all that is elegant in war or peace. This is the way one writes who is in the African expedition:

"The native carriers give us much trouble. We seized them forcibly and they attempted to escape at every opportunity. We vainly shot or hanged those we recaptured, but others continued to escape. Many were recaptured, but several succeeded. We were obliged to enter villages with a few riflemen and seize all the men and women found therein. Sometimes the whole population fled. We then burned a few huts which generally induced them to return. We then seized the chief and compelled him to give us slaves to carry our loads. This is the only way to deal with these brutes, whom we have seen quarrel over the bodies of their shot comrades for food."

It is sad to the humane heart to reflect that there should be blood crying to heaven for vengeance shed by civilized hands where "Afric's sunny fountains roll down their golden sands."

Make . . .
Advertising
Pay . . . .

THE Pocahontas
Times. . . . .

Was a weekly visitor during 1897 to no less than 1000 families

in Pocahontas County and the near counties.

If you want to reach the people of Pocahontas you must advertise!

The MEDIUM that reaches one thousand families in Pocahontas must pay advertisers.

Please
Notice!

I am still here, and new goods coming in every week and go out at the same rate. Come when you will I have something new; and good bargains for cash customers.

If you have but little to buy with it will pay you to investigate my goods and prices.

I am still buying Grain of all kinds, Turkeys, Chickens, Eggs, Butter, &c.

Some Prices—

Green Coffee,	12 to 15c
Arbuckle Coffee,	9 for $1.00
Calicoes,	4½ to 7c
Cotton Cloth,	5 to 9c
Flannels,	20 to 35c
Ginghams,	5 to 8c
Outings,	7 to 12c
Shoes,	$1.00 to $2.75
Yarn,	70 to 80c
Suit Clothes,	$3.00 to $12.00

If you want your picture enlarged at half-price, I will have it done.

Yours for business,
S. J. BOGGS,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. Va

No-To-Bac for Fifty Cents.
Guaranteed tobacco habit cure, makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c, $1. All druggists.

List of Real Estate

Sold in the County of Pocahontas, in the month of January, 1898, for the non-payment of the taxes charged thereon for the years 1895 and 1896, and purchased by individuals:

Names of person charged with taxes	Local Description.	Quantity of Land Sold.	Quantity of Land Purchased, Acres	Name of Purchaser.	Whole Amount Paid by Purchaser.
GREEN BANK DISTRICT
Arbogast, Adam's est	adjoining B M Yeager	58 120	58 120	Mrs Hulda Yeager	$12 85
Arbogast, Adam's est	"	59	59	Mrs Hulda Yeager	2 74
Campbell, J. B's heirs	waters Greenbrier river	60	60	L M McClintic	4 12
Collins, W H	"	100	100	E M Arbogast	2 32
Davis, John W's estate	Buffalo mountain	15	1	H S Rucker	1 35
Bradshaw, J B	Cooper's Run	1	1	L M McClintic	2 33
Galford, Thomas' heirs	Boreman's Run	138	138	E M Arbogast	12 62
Grogg, John W	Buffalo Run	100	100	L M McClintic	6 91
Same	"	9	9	Same	1 62
Same	Buffalo mt	245	245	Same	5 19
Same	J H A Land	120	120	Same	3 12
Gilmer, Alex	Alleghany mt	120	120	E M Arbogast	2 58
Hamilton, Wm's heirs	near Forks Greenbrier R	132	132	L M McClintic, W A Bratton, B M Yeager	4 18
same	Back Alleghany	30	30	same same same	1 51
Houchin, Ellis	waters Greenbrier River	100	100	C P Kerr	7 76
same	adjoining Arbogast	130	130	J W Yeager	8 71
McCutcheon, John B	Thomas creek	2800	2800	H A Yeager	47 92
same	waters Greenbrier river	77	77	Izzie E Dilley	2 12
same	Elk Lick run	80	80	same	11 95
Rheinstrom, Alf	waters Greenbrier river	125	125	B M Yeager	5 34
Sheets, Jacob's estate	Back Alleghany	135	135	L M McClintic	10 06
Slaton, Robert G	Buffalo mt	107	107	T S McNeel	4 67
Sutton, Wilson R	adj A Nottingham	81	81	J F Rider	11 85
same	"	18	18	Same	2 02
Scott, F B	head wts Greenbrier	100	100	W A Bratton and L M McClintic	3 50
Turk, P S, & J L Arbogast	waters Greenbrier	1600	1600	B M Yeager	28 38
EDRAY DISTRICT.
Barnes, M L	R L Run	30	30	George P Moore	1 79
Hogsett, Sam's estate	Old Field Fork Elk	88½	88½	M Ruckman	29 06
Hogsett, Sam's estate	same	138	138	Same	14 24
Hogsett, J T	same	59	59	Same	5 73
same	wts Gr R	100	100	George P Moore	5 83
Johnson, J E	same	300	300	Same	4 58
Lyle, S W	wts Elk river	750	750	J R Ponge	18 65
Simmons, J W N R & W	Leather creek	61	61	H S Rucker	8 71
Thomson, Joseph L	Big Spring	1 32 P	1 32 P	W A Bratton and L M McClintic	7 12
HUNTERSVILLE DIST.
Bradshaw, Wm's heirs	Marlin's Mt	100 40	100 40	L M McClintic	2 36
Beard, M W	Beaver creek	50	50	N C McNeil	2 81
Bird, George H	Alleghany mt	120	120	B M Yeager	2 63
Gammon, James' estate	Ball Alley Lot			Fred Beard	1 52
Hogsett, J T	Knapps creek	256 90	256 90	M Ruckman	18 89
same	Punkin Hill	4 80 P	4 80 P	Same	3 90
same	Punkin Hill	29	29	Same	2 37
same	Lot 25 Huntersville			Same	2 11
same	Lot 24 Huntersville			Same	1 97
Houdyshell, Susan	near Frost	1	1	C Kelley	1 94
Larty, S, & Bumgardner	Marlin's mt	767	767	B M Yeager	14 24
Skeen, William	adj Charles Gum	44	44	J W Grimes	2 24
Simms, B W	Piles mt	160	160	Uriah Bird	3 84
Webb, Amanda	Buckley mt	135	130	L M McClintic	4 44
LEVELS DISTRICT.
Hogsett, M J	near Mill Point	50	50	M Ruckman	18 13
Hogsett, J T	same	107	107	Same	51 93
same	same	75 160	75-160	Same	1 31
Smith, Erie E	Poplar Flats	138	138	W A Bratton and L M McClintic	3 68

The owner of any real estate above described and sold, his heirs, or assigns, or any person having a right to charge such real estate for a debt, may redeem the same by paying to the purchaser, his heirs or assigns, within one year from the sale thereof, the amount specified in the last column of the above table, and such additional taxes as may have been paid by the purchaser, his heirs or assigns, with interest on said purchase money and taxes at the rate of twelve per centum per annum from the time the same may have been so paid.

Given under my hand this 10th day of January, 1898,

R. W. HILL, Sheriff.

Assassinated!

We do not mean to assassinate you, as Wilkes Boothe did Abraham Lincoln, but warn you of the truth that you are daily assassinating your Pocket Book by not giving us your trade. Our stock is fresh, and constant increase of Business show that Prices are Better than elsewhere.

Constant sales allow no shop-worn goods to remain on our shelves, and MONEY with ORDER enables us to obtain BARGAINS which we gladly share with our customers. This means no fraud or deception. Our figures are plain and bold, and you don't have to guess or ask. You can't tell what the bottom price of an article is until you see it HERE. Every day in the year is a bargain day with us.

Our stock is worth INVESTIGATION and all are invited to call and be convinced that as to Quality of Stock and Lowness of Prices we are surpassed by none. We want your trade and friendship.

We will take Beeswax and Fur. Our nine-years' experience as buyer and shipper enables us to pay highest prices. For quality of stock, lowness of price, and prompt business, we are respectfully yours,

L. D. Sharp.

1898. THE SUN. 1898.
BALTIMORE, MD.

The Paper of the People,
For the People and with the People.
Honest in Motive.
Fearless in Expression.
Sound in Principle.
Unswerving in Its Allegiance to Right Theories and
Right Practices

The Sun Publishes All the News All the Time, but it does not allow its columns to be degraded by unclean, immoral, or purely sensational matter.

Editorially, the Sun is the Consistent and Unchanging Champion and Defender of Popular Rights and Interests against political machines and monopolies of every character. Independent in all things, extreme in none. It is for good laws, good government, and good order.

By mail Fifty Cents a month. Six Dollars a year.

THE BALTIMORE WEEKLY SUN.

The Weekly Sun publishes all the news of each week, giving complete accounts of all events of interest throughout the world. The Weekly Sun is unsurpassed as an

AGRICULTURAL PAPER.

It is edited by writers of practical experience, who know what farming means and what farmers want in an agricultural journal. It contains regular reports of the work of the Agricultural experiment stations throughout the country, of the proceedings of farmers' clubs and institutions, and the discussion of new methods and ideas in agriculture. Its Market Reports, Poultry Department, and Veterinary column are particularly valuble to country readers. Every issue contains Stories, Poems, Household and Puzzle columns, a variety of interesting and instructive matter, and other features, which make it a welcome visitor in city and country homes alike.

One dollar a year. Inducements to getters-up of clubs for the Weekly Sun. Both the Daily and Weekly Sun mailed free of postage in the United States, Canada, and Mexico. Payments invariably in advance. Address

A. S. ABELL COMPANY,
Publishers and Proprietors,
BALTIMORE, MD.

FEED, LIVERY
AND
SALE STABLES.

First-Rate Teams and Saddle-Horses Provided.

Horses for Sale and Hire.

SPECIAL ACCOMODATIONS FOR STALLIONS.

A limited number of Horses boarded.

All persons having horses to trade are invited to call.

J. H. G. WILSON,
Marlinton W. Va.

MARLINTON HOUSE
Located East End of Bridge.

Terms.
per day - $1 & $1.50
per meal - - 25

Good accommodations for horses at 25 cents per feed.

Special rates made by the week or month.

C. A. YEAGER, - - Proprietor.

HIGH GRADE FERTILIZERS
SOLD DIRECT TO FARMERS.
Made from
Vegetable & Animal Matter.
Send for circulars.
AMERICAN REDUCTION CO,
1514 to 1516 Second Avenue,
Pittsburg, Pa.

CASTORIA.
The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

CASTORIA.
The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

The Pocahontas Times.

Hear, Land o' Cakes and brither Scots,
Frae Maidenkirk to Johnny Groats,
If there's a hole in a' your coats,
I rede ye tent it;
A chiel's amang you takin' notes,
An' faith he 'll prent it. BURNS

Local Events.

G. H. McLaughlin has set up a corn grist mill in the old bowling alley.

The case of John E Bright vs. N. S. Duffield is set for trial before Justice Bird January 29.

The Cincinnatti Post says that a force of men will commence work on the Greenbrier River Railroad this month.

C. M. Wallace will represent the Deering Company in the Levels this year and W. W. Tyree at Marlinton.

Preaching services at Sunset 4th Sabbath, January 23, at 11. At Mt Vernon, January 30, at 11. and at Mt Zion at night.

The Buckeye team is getting ready to play Marlinton at football in the near future. Marlinton has never yet failed to raise a football team when required, and expects to come to time in this instance.

The second trial of the "boat case" was held last Saturday before another jury and resulted in the conviction of Ott Dilley. The fine was fixed at ten dollars and costs. The boat floated off in a recent flood and there is no question now but that it is adrift.

Webster county is to vote in the Fork Lick district on the propriety of appropriating the sum of $1,000 as a subscription for the building of the Elk River Railroad, February 10th. The condition is that the road must be in operation first day of November 1898.

R. W. Hill and E. L. Beard have bought the William H. Overholt lands in this county, having paid off the lien due Captain Alex. Mathews. Last Tuesday William Baxter, of Edray, went to look at the Locust Creek mill property with a view of buying it.

The S. J. Payne road case was not decided by the county court of Greenbrier, but was referred to the circuit court by a sort of general consent, and a decision is expected at the April term as to whether the Pocahontas people are to get a better road for their money or not.

Mrs Eugenia Harmon, wife of A. W. Harmon, Treasurer of the State of Virginia, died near Lexington, Va., last week. She was a daughter of the late Colonel Warwick Cameron, and has many relatives in this county. She leaves ten children to mourn their bereavement. Mrs Warwick Cameron lives in Lexington, and is about 84 years of age.

The County Clerk has received a letter from H. M. Wilson, of the Geological Survey of West Virginia, asking the address of a stonecutter, whom he wishes to prepare two stones, rough-dressed sandstone, 6 inches square by 3 feet 6 inches in length, for azimuth marks. They are to be placed in the court-house yard, from 300 to 500 feet apart, and will mark the true meridian, and enable surveyors to adjust their compasses properly.

The report was prevalent here last Monday, that immediate preparations were being made to move the Buckhannon saw-mill to the forks of Greenbrier River in advance of the railroad. The manner in which the report came is that John Holland of Green Bank, has arrived from Buckhannon where he saw Capt Wm. Hevener, the contractor, who is advertising for forty four-horse teams to move the machinery from Buckhannon. The mill will be transported there by rail. This is one of the best equipped mills in the State and credance is given the rumor by the fact that Col McGraw is the owner of the mill. A citizen of Green Bank has gone to Buckhannon to see about the contract. The job should be done by Pocahontas teams.

The Colored Republic in the Brush is meditating all sorts of legal actions against Howard Tibbs the head trustee of the public school. The stove in the schoolhouse had recently been condemned and the board of education had allowed a new one. The old one was coveted by nearly every family in the Brush, as it was large and a good burner—and the colored people of that neighborhood have wood to burn. It was ordered by the trustees that the stove be put up for public auction, and the head trustee was appointed to post proper notices. These had been written by a friendly scrivener and as he was on the rounds posting them he met a citizen who made an offer for the stove. As the trustee thought it too little he refused it. He met Joe Wilson next, and Joe's oily tongue and persuasive manners, together with his liberal offer, secured the stove, which he moved to his house, while the trustee went on posting the notices. The day of sale draws near, and the neighborhood demands that on that day the head trustee shall have the stove there to be sold at public auction, or be may have to answer for malfeasance in office.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Henry Dawson, of Alvon, was in town Monday.

Mrs E. I. Holt is still very ill at her home at Academy.

Miss Lillie Friel took charge of the Marlinton school last Monday.

T. A. Sydenstricker and J. W. Beard were in town Tuesday.

E. H. Moore, traveling for a Baltimore house, was in town Tuesday.

Rev H. W. McLaughlin has moved from Prince to Hampton, Va., where he is pastor of a city charge.

Rev C. M. Caldwell, the Presbyterian pastor of the four churches in upper Pocahontas, has gone to his old home in Kentucky for a rest and hoped restoration to health.

William Sharp, Esq., at Edray, severely injured his foot with an ax while brushing one day last week. He is doing quite well. Preston Baxter, a young farmer near Edray, met with a similar accident and is also laid up for repairs.

Captain A. M. Edgar has returned from the Johns Hopkins hospital greatly improved in health. Amputation was thought to be necessary at one time, but it was finally decided that the hand could be saved.

Don't Believe It.

Mr David Wilfong, of Top Alleghany, while out hunting recently on the North Fork of the Greenbrier River, saw what he thought was an o'possum swimming in a shallow place in the river, but on shooting and rescuing his game it proved to be a pike which weighed 52 pounds. Mr James Hevener, who recently returned from West Virginia, brought the head of the fish with him, and it is now in the possession of Mr Lynn Sullenberger.—Highland Recorder.

It's a wrong time of year for fish stories. A fifty-pound fish would be six or seven feet long, and it might be mistaken for a deer, but an o'possum never.

Marriage.

"Those whom God hath joined together let not man put asunder." These words were spoken in the union of Mr James A. Reed and Miss Elva A. Friel in the holy bonds of matrimony, on the 12th of January, at 5-30 P. M., at the home of the bride by Rev B. L. Parrot. Immediaitely after the marriage and congratulations received, all were invited to the dining-room where a table had been prepared for a wedding occasion, decorated with flowers and evergreens and supplied with a good, wholesome supper. The bride received many valuable presents from her friends, showing that she was not forgotten in this her time of rejoicing. May their happiness continue hrough life; and on entering the new and untried path, may they fix their eyes upon Him who is "the way, the truth, and the life"

B. L. P.

Letter From the Rev Moses May.

To the Editor of The Times,—Please allow me to say through your excellent paper that the bogus M. E. South evangelist did not hold a series of meeting at Sue, as stated in your issue of the 7th of January. He simply passed thro our neighborhood, stopping over night on the 27th of December at the home of J. A. Gum, saying that he was on his way to Clifton Forge, to see his wife and very sick child; that he wanted to get his horse shod and an early start next morning. These favors were extended to him, but some time was consumed at the blacksmith shop, the morning being very cold, so that he got started from the shop at 11 o'clock. There were a series of meetings held here recently conducted by Rev J. A. Perry, Rev Howard Underwood, and your humble servant, resulting in about 29 professions; but we don't want to be mixed up with the distinguished evangelist.

We were not surprised at his speedy return in charge of Dawson and Beard, as we had heard that there was a warrant out for him before he stopped over night with us. We identified him as the one-handed fugitive. But withal we asked him to hold prayer, which he did. His prayer was without system, that is—adoration, petition, thanksgiving, and in order,—indicating that he is not intelligent enough to have been ordained by any Bishop or Conference.

Blue Spring district is just Blue Spring neighborhood, composed of two or three Republicans. This community was carried solidly for the Republicans in 1896, and will be again in 1900, no matter who is their candidate or what kind of platform they may get out. It may declare for just any thing,—silver or gold, brass or copper, steel or pot-metal,—just so its called Republican that is all that is needed to get their votes.

Yours respectfully,
M. May.

Notice to Creditors.

Creditors of the estate of J. W. McAlpin, dec'd, will present their claims to the undersigned administrator for adjustment.

Levi Gay.
Jan 12, '98. Late S. P. C., Admr.

TOP OF ALLEGHANY.

Mrs Lottie Slaton, who has been ill for some time, is a little better.

Samuel Spencer wears a big smile—its a boy!

Jesse Rexrodes moved to the Robert Slaton farm, owned by W. B. Freeman.

Mrs Bettie Hoover returned to her home in Pendleton, Wednesday, after a stay of three weeks.

Santa Claus visited W. F. Wilfong's home Xmas night, and among the presents was a ten pound girl.

John Hevener who has been in the West for several months was at this place last Thursday.

Miss Rhoda Tracy is at home for a short stay from Traveler's Repose where she has been staying for a long time.

James Kerr, Samuel Spencer and J. D. Wilmouth were appointed to view and locate a road, starting at Laban Wilfong's resieence and intersecting the Staunton and Parkersburg Pike near W. L. Wilmuoth's. Their report is favorable,

DILLEY'S MILL.

Feed is plentiful and stock wintering well.

Mrs Margaret Carpenter returned to her home on Monday.

Prof G. E. Moore's school is closed, owing to his sickness.

A literary society has been organized at Prof Lantz's school.

George E. Moore has been very sick with pneumonia, but is improving at this writing.

John Grimes and F. M. Dilley were at Millboro last week with a load of poultry.

We have not seen any copies of "The First Battle" in this part. We think it a dead issue anyway.

A. W. Curry, of Brown's Creek, is moving to Frost in Dr Barnett's property.

Hayes Grimes was married on the 12th of January to Miss Turner, near Driftwood, and was honored by a serenade of fifty or more.

Hanson Sharp, now of southern Texas, remembered the home folks with some nice presents during the holidays.

The talk is the railroad will go down Knapp's Creek and there will be a depot on the Gibson farm,—yet all signs fail in hot weather.

Yours, Sindy.

KNAPPS CREEK.

Mrs J. C. Harper and family spent last week at P. M. Harper's.

The debate at Cove Hill, Friday night, was fine with T. M. Gum on the bench.

Mrs Zane Moore selleth her turkeys, cutteth a few carpet rags and setteth the blue hen.

Billy Bussard and A. W. Curry will soon be ready to go to building cars for the new railroad.

Any one bothered with frosted feet should put a biscuit and a piece of bear meat in their shoes at night. A sure cure!

All, who attended the Reed—Friel wedding from this part, came back feeling that it was good for them to be there.

It is said that all lawyers are liars, but Price says not so, its the horse traders. The lawyers should be cleared of such a low trick.

J. L. and Everett Herold have returned from Highland County, where they have been visiting relatives.

I. B. Moore returned from the eastern market last week, bringing a fine lot of two year old cattle with him. He feeds his horse and cattle as usual.

It raineth, it snoweth, the water raiseth, the mud splasheth, and Peyton Moore taketh the pups and goeth to the Green Bank district to visit his prospective relatives.

John Andy, the road overseer, had better lookafter some dead timber that stands along his section of road, or he might get his name in the paper after the April court.

Felix.

At Payne Bros., Academy, Salt @ $2 per sack.

Congressman Dorr made his maiden speech before the House last week in the dissucussion of the civil service bill. The newspapers said some very rude things about that still small voice.

Congressman Dorr has introduced a bill to pension Isaac W. Allen, of this county, a captain of an independant company at $25 per month. Also to build a public building at Hinton costing $75,000.

Mr H. M. Lockridge wishes us to state that he was compelled to resign the duties of principal of the Marlinton school by the press of duties in the line of his regular profession, and that his relationship with the school was of the pleasantest character,

January is the time for swearing off drinking, using profane language, etc. In January every one has to balance his account and find out how much he owes, and—coming to time—I ask my numerous customers to come and settle their bill. It does not matter how small the account may seem to you, it amounts to a good deal with me. P. Golden.

Best grade of roller flour at J. D. Pullin's at 2½c per pound.

HORSE-THIEF NO. 3 ARRESTED.

All Our Horse-Thieves are Now Present and Accounted for.

It again becomes our painful duty to write up the particulars of a horse-stealing affair. There are now three prisoners in jail at Marlinton all charged with stealing horses, at different times and from different men since the last sitting of the grand jury. As the "Rev" John H. Ratliff remarked grimly when they brought John Wilfong to jail last Thursday, that horse-stealing was so common in this county, he thought the judge could do nothing less than give them all the full limit. He seemed to imply that had he known the stealing of horses was so overdone in Pocahontas that he would not have indulged in it. He sent the Pocahontas Times word that it could "let up" on him a little, and pay attention to the latest addition to the Horse Appropriator's Association in winter quarters at the jail.

Wilfong stole John R. Warwick's horse at Green Bank, November 19th. The officers followed and first obtained trace of him at New Hampden, Highland County, Virginia. There he had stopped at a blacksmith shop and cut the blinds off the bridle. He had cut the halter-strap when he first took the horse out of the owner's stable. They followed about seventy miles farther and found the horse in the possession of Isaac Hoover, Rockingham County, Virginia. Hoover had given $36 for the horse. He surrendered the property at once. Wilfong went to Harrisonburg, where he took the train. This was the last heard of him until he turned up in Bluefield, Mercer county.

The capture was a very neat piece of detective work on the part of Samuel Sheets, deputy sheriff. His information was meager, but he understood that Wilfong had been corresponding with a young woman of Bluefield. While every one thought that he had returned to the West, the deputy regarded the story of this correspondence as a valuable clue, and wrote to the postmaster at Bluefield to apprehend Wilfong if he turned up there. The result was that he heard from the police of Bluefield that the man was in jail awaiting his pleasure. He made a trip to that place by way of Hot Springs and brought the prisoner to jail.

Wilfong secured S. B. Scott, Jr., as counsel, and demanded a preliminary examination, This was set for next Saturday, the 22d.

The State was in that position not uncommon in law, of being unable to prove that which everyone believes, with the evidence on hand; and consequently the day for the examination had to be deferred until there was time to secure the blacksmith at New Hamden and Isaac Hoover, of Rockingham County.

Wilfong's case is the most aggravated of any. He succeeded in disposing of the horse and realizing a considerable sum of money, and led the officers and owner a long chase.

From the report brought back by the deputy, Wilfong would in a few days have added bigamy to his achievements in this life. Miss Mollie Swivelmarker, of Bluefield, wished to change her name, and advertised in what is known as a matrimonial journal for a husband. Wilfong responded, and an interesting correspondence ensued. When the time came for a visit to the lady he had no money and his vestment badly worn for a courting man. Wilfong is a married man with a wife and six children living it must be remembered, and so he knew what he had to do. He took the horse to keep his tryst. When he got to the depot he converted it into money and bought good clothes. He was having a high time in Bluefield, and the lady was trying to dispose of her house and lot so that they would have money for the affair.

The arrest was made by Policeman Allan Brown, who attended school at Academy the session of 1887-'8, at the time his brother Professor C. A. Brown was principal of the school. It was reported last fall that he was dying of a gun-shot wound received from the hands of a negro whom he arrested. He has recovered entirely. When he arrested Wilfong he was told that he was wanted in Pocahontas for stealing a horse. Wilfong quickly answered: "O I can prove myself clear of that!" All will allow that this was a most unusual statement for an innocent man (in the eyes of the law) to make. He was supposed to have been informed for the first time that he was under suspicion.

Wilfong is connected with the Wilfong family of this county. Honesty is a failing with them, but this one is the black sheep. His widowed mother lived near Green Bank with a large family. Some of the children were blind. She died about twenty years ago, and the children found homes with those who took them to raise. John Wilfong was taken by S. M. Wise, of Ottobine, Virginia, and raised by him. He married there and went to live in Monticello, Iowa. He was "visiting relatives" in Pocahontas from November 1 to 18. when he is accused of taking the horse. He is twenty-nine years old; 5 feet 6 inches in height, 147 pounds in weight; auburn hair, red complexion.

The idiot claims to be an infidel, differing from "Rev" John H. Ratliff, who tho he spirits away horses in the night time does not think he has fallen from grace. He carries the doctrine of election to the penitentiary with him.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund the money if it fails to Cure. 25c.

....Farm for Sale..

I offer for sale my farm and dwelling-house, situated 1 mile from Edray, on Indian Draft. Said farm consists of 40 acres, more or less; partly cleared, good young orchard, and other improvemants.

Mrs J. H. Landes.

Shop & Shoe Tools for Sale

I desire to sell my shoe-shop in Marlinton, west end of Bridge. Will sell at a bargain. Call on

J. H. Landes.

This is to notify the public that my wife, Roxy A Cochran, has left my bed and board, and that I will no longer be responsible for her support. Jonathan Cochran.
January 10, 1898.

Car-load of Salt at Payne Bros.—$2 per sack.

AGENTS WANTED!

To sell to the consumber in Virginia and West Virginia our Teas, Coffees, Baking Powder, Spices, Exfracts, Soaps, Starches, etc.

Address
Grand Union Tea Co.,
38 Baltimore St., Cumberland, Md.

The Levels News.

Edited by Payne Bros.

Vol. 1 Academy, W. Va., Jan. 21, 1898. No. 1

—The late election held at this place this month resulted in the election of B. C. Hill, mayor; J. H. Clark, recorder; E. I. Holt, G. W. Callison, Dr F. T. McClintic, A. R. Smith, and W. M. Burns, councilmen.

Salt

A CAR-LOAD
AT $2 A SACK PAYNE BROS.

—Dynamite is kept on sale at Payne Bros.

—Editor(gallantly)—You are a spring poem.

Pretty Girl—Then, of course you reject. Good bye.

And the editor could not apologize. She was gone.

—Mattresses at Payne Bros.

—Chairs at Payne Bros.

Roller Flour.

Our flour is the best grade. It is on sale by
J. H. DOYLE, Huntersville, W V.
On Elk it sold by G. L. HANNAH at 2½c per lb.

PLOWS

Oliver Chilled plows and repairs.
Silver Steel Plows and Malta A & B Hillside plows and repairs and Imperial Plows an repairs,
AT PAYNE BROS.

—Good for nothing—The worthy minister who is unable to collect his salary.

—Nine oak bed steads at Payne Bros.

—Flour and wheat at Payne Bros.

COOK STOVES

Excelsior Cook Stoves and repairs,
Indianola Cook Stoves and repairs at PAYNE BROS.

—At the election of a board of directors of the Spencer Bank, Mrs M. A. Smith was elected a director and is the first woman who ever held that position in the state.

SEND PAYNE BROS.

Your Orders

They will be filled promply at lowest prices.

They keep the best assortment of goods in the county.

—Browne—But he's lost one arm and both legs. How did she ever come to fancy him!

Jones—He's a remnant.

You Can't Make a White Plume from a Crow's Tail, nor a good Bicycle from Castings. The MONARCH is good all through.

Send for Catalogue.

Every Inch a Bicycle!

We want bright business men to represent us everywhere.

MONARCH CYCLE MFG. CO.
Chicago New York London.

Send nine two-cent stamps for Monarch Playing Cards. Regular 50c cards.

If I were a cobbler I would make it my pride
The best of its kind to he;
If I were a tinker nobody could
Mend an old kettle like me.

I don't allow to be undersold by Anybdy. Here is a good thing:

Lumberman's Driving Shoe, Wisconsin pattern....$3.48.
Black Diagonal Mackintoshes, reduced to..........$2.37½.

A successful New Year to you.

PAUL GOLDEN.

Bottom Knocked Out!

To Cash Buyers

We will until APRIL 1st, 1898, sell our entire stock of goods at from 5 to 10 per cent, above cost, strictly for cash. Produce will be taken, but will charge more for goods.

Below will quote you prices on a few articles:

Arbuckle Coffee	12½c
Good Green Coffee	10c
Best Green Coffee	14c
Granulated Sugar	7c
Best Calico	5 to 6
Gingham	5 to 8
2400 Matches	15c
Mens' Suits from $4 to $8

Have a few Overcoats which we will sell low. We will save you from 25 to 50 per cent on all goods. Come and see before buying elsewhere, and see if we don't mean just what we say.

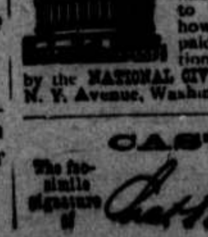
Yours to save you Money,

B. F. McElwee,
Dunmore, W. Va.

All persons knowing themselves indebied to me by note or apc. will find their claims in the hands of Mr Sam Sheets for collection.

C. B. SWECKER,
General Auctioneer and Real Estate Agent.

I sell Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands. Farms and Town Lots a specialty. 21 years in the business. Correspondence solicited. Reference furnished.
Postoffice—Dunmore, W. Va., or Alexander, W. Va.



GOOD SALARIES!
LIFE POSITIONS
IN UNCLE SAM'S SERVICE
are within the reach of all; male and female. Now is the time to prepare yourself and get into line. Full information relating to Government positions and how to obtain them, salaries paid, scope and dates of examinations, &c., &c., given cheerfully by the NATIONAL CIVIL SERVICE INSTITUTE, 1460 N. Y. Avenue, Washington, D. C.

CASTORIA.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

DO YOU TRAVEL

Are you going to take a trip! Do you suffer from Severe Headaches, Nervousness, Seasickness or Exhaustion? Why not prevent it all by using CUSHMAN'S MENTHOL INHALER. Help that headache, cure that nervousness and seasickness by the use of this Inhaler, the greatest stimulant and preventative known. Wonderful relief in Hay Fever and Asthma. BUY CUSHMAN'S INHALER and you will always use it. If you can't get it at Druggists send for it. By mail, 50 cents. Send for Book on Menthol, free. CUSHMAN DRUG CO., VINCENNES, IND., U. S. A.

Ferguson's Photograph Gallery is coming to Marlinton. The finest of pictures at lowest of prices. Wait for him.

$1.00 Per Month Tuition MAKES A LAWYER.

Methods new and satisfaction guaranteed. For particulars address WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE LAW SCHOOL, 1460 N. Y. Ave., Washington, D. C.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

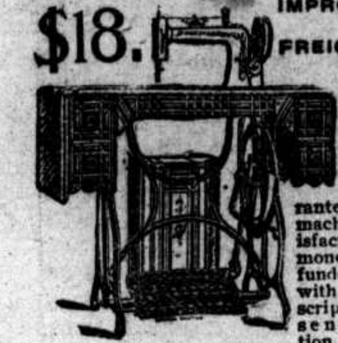
VOL. 15, NO. 27 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, JANUARY 28, 1898. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 203. This quarter-sawed oak writing desk is polished like a piano. It has a 9-inch beveled plate glass in top and a deep drawer below. Artistic French legs; also finished in mahogany. $3.95 is our special price for this $10 desk.

(Mail orders filled promptly.) We will mail anyone, free of all charges, our new 112 page Special Catalogue, containing Furniture, Draperies, Lamps, Stoves, Crockery, Mirrors, Pictures, Bedding, Refrigerators, Baby Carriages, etc. This is the most complete book ever published, and we pay all postage. Our lithographed Carpet Catalogue, showing carpets in colors, is also yours for the asking. If carpet samples are wanted, mail us 8c. in stamps. There is no reason why you should pay your local dealer 60 per cent. profit when you can buy from the mill. Drop a line now to the money-savers.

JULIUS HINES & SON, Baltimore, Md.

Please mention this paper.



$18. IMPROVED SINGER FREIGHT PREPAID.

For this style new high arm sewing machine with all attachments warranted 10 years. If machine is not satisfactory in 30 days money will be refunded. Send cash with order. Descriptive circular sent on application.

WHAYNE M'F'G CO., 560 FOURTH AVE., LOUISVILLE, KY.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

JOHN A PRESTON FRED. WALLACE
PRESTON & WALLACE,
Attorneys at Law,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Greenbrier and adjoining counties, and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

Biographic Notes.

THE late George Kee, Esq., was one of the early settlers of our county, and deserves a place in the history of the Pocahontas people. He was a native of Tyronne, Ireland. He and his brother William left Ireland when he was under age, and owing to the shipping regulations was not allowed to embark as a regular passenger. Young Kee went aboard to see his brother off, and concealed himself until too far away at sea to be put off the vessel. The intention was to take him back, but upon landing at Philadelphia he eluded the parties in search of him and escaped to the country. He came to America in 1780, landing at Philadelphia after a voyage of thirteen weeks. At Lancaster City the brothers spent some time, and separated at that place and never met again, and Mr Kee never heard any thing more of him. From Lancaster Mr Kee went to Lakeville, near the Susquehanna River, wheee he staid for some time. From Lakeville he came to Pendleton County, West Virginia, where he met a relative, Aaron Kee. This relative was a merchant and furnished George Kee some goods and sent him to Pocahontas County (then Bath) to dispose of them. He became acquainted with John Jordan, who had been in that business before him, and Mr Jordan had him to make his home with him; and for six or seven years he spent the the most of his time in The Levels at John Jordan's.

It seems, too, that the young Irish merchant was fond of making trips to Joshua Buckley's on the east bank of the Greenbrier opposite the mouth of Swago Creek. Hetty Buckley, with her smart and tidy ways, took his fancy. and they were married in 1800 and opened up their home at the place now occupied by Aaron Kee, a grandson, two miles below Marlinton.

Mrs Hetty Kee when a little girl had frequently heard the Indians in the woods on the overlooking hills, blowing on their powder-charges and making strange noises in the way of signals. She was devoted to her nice cows and cared for them as kindly in winter as if they were human beings, preparing warm feed. She would have one or two acres cleared and fenced and have it for a cow-pen for two or three years Then another pen and in that way in the course of years there were rich, productive field opened up, in addition to what was cleared by her husband and sons on other parts of the farm.

There were six sons and one daughter, Two of the sons died in childhood. The four sons that lived to be grown were Joshua Buckley, Andrew, John, and William. The daughter's name was Hannah.

Hannah became Mrs Timothy Clunen, a native of Ireland, and lived on the Joseph Buckley place on Buck's Run. Her children were Hetty, who became Mrs Sterling Campbell, and lives head of Swago; Margaret, now Mrs Luther Kellison, on the Greenbrier near the mouth of Beaver Creek; Nancy is Mrs Daniel McNeill, at Buckeye. George Clunen and Buchannon Clunen live in Missouri. Allie Clunen lives in Indiana, in the vicinity where Jacob McLaughlin and other Pocahontas persons reside. Elizabeth Clunen lives at the old home on Swago.

Joshua B. Kee, the eldest son of the Kee family, married Rebecca Stevenson, of Bath County, and settled on the Greenbrier a mile below Marlinton. Esther and Rachel were the names of his daughters, and they both died when about grown. Joshua Kee was a person of remarkable mechanical skill. He could work in stone, iron, and wood, as well as farm. His specialty was gunsmithing, in which he excelled. And in his time when so much hunting was done this was of great service to the people.

Andrew Kee married Mary Duncan, on Stony Creek, a sister of the late Henry Duncan. Her family came from near Collierstown, a few miles from Lexington, Rockbridge, Virginia. His children were Hannah Jane, Nancy, and Esther. The two latter died during the war, and had grown to womanhood. It was about this time that camp fever and diphtheria ravaged this whole region, and swept away in some instances all but one or two of entire families, and Andrew Kee's was one such. Mrs Kee was the only survivor and lived a widow more than 30 years.

Andrew Kee lived on the Greenbrier near Buckeye, on the place now held by William A. Duncan. He was a very expert marksman and successful hunter. It was no uncommon thing for him to shoot squirrels across the Greenbrier with his mountain rifle, over one hundred yards. Many would think it good shooting to hit a deer that distance with such a weapon.

John Kee married Hester Gwin, of Highland County, Virginia, a daughter of James Gwin, senior, near Gall Town, and a neice of Mrs Rebecca Kee, mentioned elsewhere. John Kee lived at the old homestead, and the names of his children were James, Alcinda, Dallas, Aaron, Samuel, Susan, Henrietta, and Hester.

James Kee was a Union soldier in the regular service, and died in the war at Winchester, Virginia.

Alcinda became Mrs George McKeever, and lives on Swago.

Aaron Kee married Milly McNeill, and settled on the Kee homestead. Samuel Kee lives with his brother Aaron.

Hester Kee first married William Poage and lived near Edray. Her second marriage was with Henry Poage.

Like his brothers, John Kee was an expert worker in different callings. His specialty was wagon-making, along with farming.

William Kee, son of George Kee Esq., married Ruth McCollam and settled on a part of the homestead lately occupied by Captain J. R. Apperson. Their children were Eliza, George, Matilda, William.

Eliza was a young person of much promise, and a highly esteemed and successful teacher. She died December 19, 1861, aged 22 years, and in a week before her father's lamented death.

George M. Kee first married Mary J. Palser, and settled on a section of his father's homestead. The second marriage was with Rachel Moore, daughter of the late James Moore, near Marlinton. George M. Kee was a Confederate soldier. He has filled several positions in county affairs as magistrate, commissioner of the court, etc.

Matilda Kee was married to Captain J. R. Apperson, and lived on the homestead.

Hon William L. Kee, who lives near Washington City and holds a position in the Land Office at Washington, is the youngest of William Kee's family. His wife was Katie M. Phares, daughter of William Phares, near Elkins.

William Kee, the youngest son of George Kee the ancestor. was a very estimable person, being an honest, industrious citizen he was of great service to the community in which he lived. He was one of the most public-spirited persons of his times. He and his brothers Joshua, Andrew, and John built with their own hands and at their own expense one of the most comfortable school-houses any where in their section of the county, in order to have their children educated. It was near the stone quarry. Mr Kee's wife was Miss Ruth McCollam, daughter of William McCollam and Sally Drennan his wife. She and Mr Kee were married in 1837. He died December 25, 1862. She died February 5, 1897, aged 79 years, 9 months, and 14 days, having lived a widow about 36 years.

Mrs Kee had noble aspirations, and earnestly desired that her family might be intelligent, industrious, and pious, and made every effort to inspire her children with like sentiments. It was believed that her anxiety for the mental improvement of her children had a great deal to do with the school-house enterprise just spoken of, that was so great a credit to the Kee neighborhood and of so much use to their families.

George Kee, the progenitor of the Kee relationship, was in many respects a very remarkable person. He read a great deal. and reflected on what he did read, and could converse fluently and intelligently on whatever subject that was discussed in books or the public journals. He was the first person I had ever heard say anything about John Locke, the eminent mental philosopher, and one of the foremost metaphysicians of his day. Mr Kee was anxious for me to read the book and insisted on me to do so whenever I was able to lay my hands on it. His copy was worn out and he had not been able to get another. as he had frequently tried. So it turned out that one of the first books I looked for in the college library was Locke on the Human Understanding, an old book and out of print. In subsequent years when attending lectures I found that one of the ablest lecturers did not seem as familiar with Locke as my old friend in his mountain home. Locke had become somewhat of a back number with his innate ideas, and a different theory was coming into vogue. The new theory was to cram the mind and the more it should be crammed the more the education imparted. Now the tendency is beginning to show itself to work from within, and develop the mental faculties so that the mind is prepared to receive and make use of whatever it finds without that would be useful. With some qualifying conditions, Locke's theory is coming into use, and it may be thinkers will reach the position occupied by our old friend 60 years ago, and claim honor and recognition for original research in educational affairs.

He had a passionate love for trees. He looked upon a tree as something of more real worth and use than gold or silver. If the forests were to be destroyed his notion was that people would become like the traveller suffering from hunger and thirst on the desert who noticed a well-filled pouch not far ahead of him. Uttering a joyful exclamation, he hastened to pick it up. Upon opening it he found it filled with pearls of the most precious and valuable quality such as queens only could afford to have. The traveller threw it down and exclaimed: "Alas, I thought I was finding dates to quench my thirst and relieve my hunger!"

He was a Jacksonian Democrat, first, last, and all the time. Were he alive now with unchanged sentiments, Henry George would have had one friend in Pocahontas that he could have relied on thro evil as well as good report.

Mr Kee claimed to be an Associate Reformed Presbyterian, commonly known as the "Seceders" or Covenanters. It was a blessing to our county to have such a person as Mr Kee identified with its history. I think this is a sentiment with which all will agree who remember something of his sterling character.

W. T. P.

AT one time it seemed as if the annexation of Hawaii would be prevented as it had become so largely a question of party politics. The exciting movements now going on in reference to Chinese affairs have evidently weakened the opposion to annexation, and our readers need not be surprised to hear in a few weeks that the Stars and Stripes will be unfurled over those Pacific Islands, which we have heard so much about. No more pent up utica then, the whole continent and something besides must be ours.

IN THREE PARTS: PART 1.

A Cat o' One Tale.

By S. A. P.

WHEN my friend Maude Burton (she always spells Maude with an e—and I don't blame her) wrote to tell me of her intended marriage to Mr Judson Stagg, I received the intelligence of her "indescribable happiness,"—so she termed it,—with undemonstrative, but none the less sincere pleasure. At the same time I was considerably surprised at the news, and had to restrain myself from a powerful impulse to say something so disagreeable as that "I feared all marriages were not happy ones," thereby exposing my mind to the derision of the whole married world. I am glad that I did not make such a remark, startlingly original as it would have been, for coming just then it might have been regarded in the light of a prediction, and I have no wish to join that melancholy procession in which prophets, goats, and poets have such a prominent place.

What surprised me was that such a charming, gentle, happy, little blonde like Maude, possessing the enviable faculty of always finding the bright side of things, could bestow, without apparent effort, her best affections on such a well-prosaic person as Judson Stagg. To my mind he was only a miscellaneous and unattached youth, pretending to work seriously at his chosen profession the law. His soul seemed to be wrapped up in deeds, bonds, and other mysterious papers.

I remember Maude describing to me a heart-breaking scene between a girl friend, who had deserted our ranks to mary a lawyer, and her husband. One evening she asked him to listen to her singing. He excused himself making her believe that the destiny of the world was hanging in the balance while he composed a speech to be delivered to a jury who had to decide between a quarrelsome blacksmith and an enraged umbrella mender.

Poor little Maude. What if the same destiny awaited her! I ventured to speak of the great disparity of tastes between Maude and her intended husband. Friends rebuked me. They said that those who knew him best knew of his true, warm heart, and that he was a man to be trusted without reserve. Maude evidently believed so. At the close of one of those spontaneous rhapsodies of engaged girls which leave tho unengaged gentle reader weak and giddy, she wrote:

"And, O! S....! Juddy is so fond of cats; he thinks Adonis is perfectly splendid." Cats? Adonis! Ah there lay the mystery. I never saw a family so completely wrapped up in cats as the Burtons especially of one grey-green-eyed preposterous beast named Adonis. He was the centre of the domestic solar system, around which the family circle revolved as the lesser planets around the sun.

Maude adored him. No doubt, she invested an ordinary and depraved cat as ever was with the brightness and purity of her own innocent heart. Therefore you can get some idea of the grief into which the family was plunged when two weeks before Maude's marriage Adonis disappeared mysteriously and completely. Strange to say, it did not delay the marriage, only it was a more quiet affair than it would have been had Adonis been alive, for they mourned him as dead.

I had made a promise to Maude which could only be broken by means of suicide to visit them when they got to housekeeping. I did so. Never had I seen a happier couple. Maude was radiant, while her husband looked as if he had just gone through a Turkish bath. The heels of his shoes were blacked, his cravat had turned darker, even the shape of his head was entirely altered. Maude was desperately interested in every thing which concerned "Juddy's" business and interests, and of course they were happy. Maude never told me her married life was a happy one, therefore I am certain such was the case.

"My daughter, seventeen years of age, was in very poor health by reason of weak lungs and a distressing cough. At last we gave her Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and after taking three bottles, the cough was cured. She is now in excellent health, and rapidly *

A Cougher's Coffers may not be so full as he wishes, but if he is wise he will neglect his coffers awhile and attend to that cough. A slight cough is somewhat like the small pebble on the mountain side. It appears utterly insignificant, until a mouse, perhaps, starts it rolling, and the pebble begets an avalanche that buries a town. Fatal diseases begin with "a slight cough." But any cough, taken in time, can be cured by the use of

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

* This testimonial will be found in full in Ayer's "Curebook" with a hundred others. Free. Address J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Judge of my astonishment, then, when at the end of 18 months it was announced with terrible clearness that left no room for doubt that Maude and her husband had separated, an uncompromising separation that must end in divorce.

Horrid word. With bitter calmness I thought could those cynics and sages who have ridiculed marriage as a source of happiness in every age of the world have known of my friend's disastrous one they would have been raised fifty per cent in their own estimation. What could have happened? And with that question came the forcible conviction that the missing cat—the lost Adonis—had something or everything to do with the sad affair.

(To be continued.)

Notions.

IN his sermon last Sunday, Talmage asked which would his hearer rather hold in his hands when he cme to die, a pack of cards or a bible? There is no doubt which we would choose, but we believe it matters what we hold in the hand at the last moment. The question will be how have we borne ourselves in the burden and heat of the day. There is never a murderer goes to the gallows today but what he experiences all the phrases of a christian's daeth. Ministers can always be found to assure him that he can enter as a child of light. His victim may have been only thoughtless and wayward, but he was hurried off without a chance and he goes to the lowest depths; the murderer experiences religion and goes to rest in Abraham's bosom. This is as bad as the ancient teachings of the church of Rome. They believed that if a man died in a sinful act that he was damned, while if he had the benefits of a priest's presence and was duly shrived that he would be saved. We believe a life of service in doing the right is not too much to overcome the demon of self which would drag every man to destruction.

There was a case before the grand jury of this county a few years ago on this line. The charge was disturbing religious worship. The facts submitted to the grand jury were in substance as follows: A series of meetings were being held and the religious feeling was in the ascendant in the case of every one present. The rich man of the neighborhood arose to tell of his experience. He dwelt upon the assurance and hope he felt at that particular moment. He said, "I feel if I should die this moment I would go straight to Heaven." Suddenly a voice was heard from the back of the church: "Kill him! kill him! —— —— kill him! Why don't somebody kill him?" This loud and boistrous language addressed to the proverbial rich man of the neighborhood put a stop to the services for that evening. When the next grandjury assembled the pastor of the church appeared with seververal of his hearers as witnesses and asked for an indictment.

After the jury had heard the evidence they called in the offender himself, and asked for his version of the affair. He explained that he meant no irreverence, and that when he heard his friend express himself that way that his excitement got the better of him and he spoke before he thought. The grand jury accepted the explanation and no indictment was found.

* * * *

WE heard an anecdote of a member of the West Virginia legislature which casts some light on the reason the cast-iron leaders refused to have them in Charleston for an extra session, and for the purpose of clearing up the mystery we give it here. A newly elected senator was walking along the street with two of his friends, both of whom had been active supporters of him in the fight for nomination. One of them had made the seconding speech in the nominating convention, and had just arrived at the State capital to see his protege. The three continued socially together until they passed a saloon a few yards from the hotel at which they were stopping. The Senator said, "Well, I must get myself a drink," and disappeared in the depths of the saloon, leaving his companions speechless with astonishment. This paralysis of the faculties continued for a moment only, and then there ensued a discussion on the ethics of social drinking that would have enlightened the member if he could have heard it. We cannot wonder that the leaders put their foot down on an extra session.

* * * *

THE crank seems to be present in force in the Virginia legislature this year. Delegate Owens has introduced a bill into the House "to facilitate the creation of Colonels." It provides that "any Virginia gentleman in good standing in his city or county may apply to a Justice of the Peace, and after taking the oath of office required by law, and particularly the anti-duelling oath, and upon the payment of the fee of $1, such Justice shall issue a warrant creating such applicant a Colonel, with full rank for life." This is preposterous, colonels are born not made; as well require a Justice of the Peace to create poets. That don't suit Virginia, where

"The corn is full of kernels,
And the Colonel's full of corn."

Colonel is not lightly bestowed by the people of the South. It is only after the individual has proved his real worth and showed that he had the boundless geniality of the Southerner that the sons of men rise up and call him Colonel. It is applied to a of Southern gentlemen that might make them proud. There is a destiny that makes them. The man pursues the even tenor of his way, a gentleman unafraid, until he has attained that mellowness necessary, and some one dubs him Colonel; others see that it is well bestowed and it sticks to him until the loss of so generous a man is mourned by his survivors.

EUROPE finds China a foeman worthy of her steal.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

THE situation in China seems to be one of Confucian worse confounded.—Cleveland Plaindealer.

CHAFF.—The story of the great Armour-Leiter wheat deal will eventually be published in cereal form.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

CLEANLINESS of the head usually insures a good growth of hair. An occasional application of Hall's Hair Renewer will aid to keep the hair a natural color.

The Pocahontas Times,

Hear, Land o' Cakes and brither Scots,
Frae Maidenkirk to Johnny Groats,
If there's a hole in a' your coats,
I rede ye tent it;
A chiel's amang you takin' notes,
An' faith he 'll prent it. BURNS

Local Events.

THE Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church south will meet in Hinton, March 3d, instead of 24, as has been published.

BORN, to Mr and Mrs W. A. Bratton, at Marshall, Va., a daughter, on the 22d day of January, 1898.

G. H. McLAUGHLIN and Howard Bird have set up a corn mill and crusher in the old bowling alley, and grind on Fridays and on such other days as bring enough grain in the mill to warrant getting up steam.

ANOTHER good man gone wrong. Where did he go to? Went to the wrong store to buy rubber shoes and arctics. Where ought he to go? To the Golden Store. Why? Because he sells snow-excluding Artics at 89c; low Arctics, 59c.

A PRACTICAL illustration of the use of the telephone is to be had in the getting of a state;witness to the trial at this place last Saturday. There was not time to write and a ride of over a hundred miles was saved by telephoning from Hightown and getting a reply.

LAST Sunday was remakable for the high winds that prevailed. Evidences of a storm centre were to be seen on J. R. Moore's place, near Marlinton, where the storm had torn down a hundred feet of fence, carrying heavy rails fifteen feet and filling the road with debris.

THE Ronceverte News says that the contract for the building of the Greenbrier Railroad has been let to Rinehart, Gooch, Carpenter & Sheppard, and that the work will begin next month. It also states that the probable route is that by Frost. passing in ten miles of Marlinton. In addition to this information, we understand that Mr Rinehart of the above named firm inquired of a citizen of this county whom he met at Covington of the amount of supplies that could be procured in this county, saying that he expected to work a large force of men here next summer.

JACOB S. MOORE, of Elk, has succeeded in trapping two eagles lately. They were both large birds measuring eight feet and more from tip to tip. This is the only neighborhood in which these birds are to be taken as they seem to frequent no other part. It is to be explained probably by the fact that the headwaters of Elk River flow from the highest lands in the Alleghany mountain which are settled by men. The fowls and lambs of the farm bring the eagle to pray upon them and the farmer is compelled to fight in self defense. There is one eagle in this neighborhood which has been in captivity for eight years. It feeds about a dozen times a year and has never been known to drink a drop of water.

URIAH HEVENER, one of the most widely known citizens of Pocahontas, was severely injured by a fall of his horse last week, and is still in a precarious condition. He was on his way to mill carrying a bag of grain. Opposite the residence of William L. Brown there is a very steep bank. In riding down this his horse tripped and fell throwing him on ahead and the sack of grain on top of him. It is thought that the horse struck him with an upward motion of his head as he fell. Mr Hevener set the grain up on the road side and started through the fields to head off the horse which had gone back towards home. He had walked and run a good distance when a neighbor shouted to him that he had caught the horse. Just as he stopped he collapsed, and lay in the field on the cold ground until he could be carried home, and was thoroughly chilled. Mr Hevener is about seventy years old and the accident was most serious for one of his years.

A STRANGE rig struck Marlinton last Tuesday. It seemed to be a little cabin built on a spring wagon and containing the equipments necessary for camp life. A stove pipe projected thro the roof and the whole had the air of comfort necessary even in the coldest weather. A shaggy little horse was attached to what a Pocahontas teamster would nave taken a four horse team to pull. To the casual observer this pony seemed right miserable, but a closer acquaintance showed that he was in a good state of preservation, and was still cheerful. He had pulled that awful load over the mountains a distance of about 150 miles. He had not a sore place on him and he has done well as a good and faithful servant. The parties with the turnout are Mr and Mrs Clayton. The husband is a good deal older than the wife, and said that his occupation was that of a house builder. After a life's work he had saved up a good deal of money, but had lost it all in business in Cumberland. He had been swindled by a man who is now doing six years in the pen it, but it did not bring back the money. The people seemed intelligent and well-bred.

E. D. McClintic, of Seattle, has gone to the Klondike gold mines.

W. B. Ricketts is still at Vancouver, and is not so certain of going on to Alaska.

SINGING at the church next Sunday evening by Profesors Waugh, Moore, Rorke, and others.

ASBURY HINER, of Highland, has moved to the Harper mills and has charge of the property for the present.

THERE is a super abundance of haystacks on Knapp's Creek, and feed for hundreds of cattle can be had on most favorable terms.

AMONG the interesting items is the information that a fine son was born December 1st to Rev and Mrs Echols, at Green Sulphur, and named Richard Watson.

O. W. Slaven has returned from the West, and is expected to reach his father's home at Mill Point, next Friday. He is in the last stages of consumption.

W. W. JONES, of Beeville, sold to O. R. Slaven and J. W. Catlin, of Kansas City, 2500 head of coming 2's and 3's, and 2500 head of coming 2's. A thousand of these cattle were delivered yesterday and the balance are spring delivery. The price for the 5000 head is not far from $95,000.—San Antonia Express (Tex.)

THE latest news from "Rev" John H. Ratliff is a little bit the worst that has been reported yet. Detective Dawson has been working on the case and Ratliff swore out a warrant against his cousins Joe and Frank Church accusing them of being in a conspiracy to steal horses. Dawson arrested them last Thursday and brought them to jail. They employed McNeil and Rucker as counsel and had set last Saturday for a preliminary hearing. On examination of the evidence the prosecuting attorney decided that there was no case against them and moved that the charge be dismissed.

MUCH interest is being developed in the Marlinton Literary Society. Friday evening was devoted to an exposition of the writings of Lord Tennyson. Goldsmith is the author selected for the next meeting. The committee on constitution and bylaws submitted the voluminous results of much delving into the depths of parliamentary law. It is feared that the thoughts of many members were far away during the reading of this document; for at the conclusion of the reading it was adopted by aclamation, without an exception being taken to a single section, altho afterwards motions to amend were made with great freedom. The members were about equally divided on the question of meeting with closed doors, and it was decided to admit only members to the regular meetings. Additional officers were elected as follows: J. H. G. Wilson, critic; E. H. Smith, censor.

LAST Monday evening, the weather being clear tho cold, a citizen of Marlinton set two lines in hope of catching a fish on an angle and went to bed. The next morning when he looked out he saw a snow on the ground he thought that he had been foolish in his first attempt of the season. He went to get his lines however. The first seemed to be fast; after some meneuvering a dog-fish was landed. When he got in sight of the other line he saw that it was agitated, and on pulling on it got a sucker about sixteen inches long. The fish kicked around in the snow for a while and apparently died. This was about eight in the morning. It was hung up against the side of a house and when it was taken down about one o'clock, it showed that it was as lively as when it was first taken out or the water. It was immediately killed by a blow on the head, and it is hard to say how long it would have lived out of the water.

REV HENRY McLAUGHLIN, formerly of this county, has recently located in the city of Hampton, the county seat of Elizabeth County. It is a city of several thousand residents and is very old and of much historic interest. It is about 96 miles from Richmond. In 1607 Capt John Smith was exploring the Potomac, looking for a suitable site for a colony. previous to the settlement of Jamestown, and met five of the natives who invited him to their town Kichotan, where Hampton now stands. Here the explorers were feasted with cakes made of Indian corn and "regaled with tobacco and a dance." In return the hospitable natives were presented with beads and other trinkets. It was settled in 1610 by parties from Jamestown, and became a town by incorporation in 1705. It would require a volume to record all that may be suggested by its local history and memoirs of the distinguished people who have lived there and in the vicinity.

THE WAGNER HOTEL,

HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

I have opened my hotel and can accommodate every one who stops with me. I have a good house, well furnished, and good beds.

For the horse there is plenty of good hay, corn and oats.

G. W. WAGNER.

BUCKEYE.

Dennis McNeill made a flying trip to Driscol last week.

Professors Rorke, Courtney, and Beverage had singing at the upper church Sunday. Singing at Rockey Point next Sunday by Profs. Carter and Hill.

Miss Minnie Wade of Academy, has been visiting in this part for a few days.

A social was given the young people by Mr and Mrs Fleming, of this part, which was real nice, but some of the mischievous boys caused some trouble with 'bounce.' If the boys will keep down we may have another about Groundhog Day.

Colbert Duncan has a boil on his neck which causes him to look sideways at the girls.

Jasper Auldridge is at home from camp again.

Misses Mattie Dorman and Lula Auldridge have been visiting down at Academy.

Mrs Rachel McCoy is very sick and not expected to recover.

Some diptheria in Mr Hefner's family at present. GOLDEN.

Rain, mud, and a little snow.

There is a great deal of sickness in this part at this writing. Some are better and others worse.

Messrs J. D. Rorke, Ken Courtney and brothers, and Will McLaughlin, of Marlinton, attended singing Sunday. We would like to see the professors come oftener, as music is much needed in this vicinity.

O. D. Gay, of Greenbrier, is in town.

Friday night at the social much valuable property was destroyed by some unknown persons on the outside who were so illbred as to bring their jugs with them.

Messrs C. B. Grimes and J. A. McLaughlin have had some spelling bees which were enjoyed by all. Both schools are progressing nicely.

Mr George Sheets was bit on the ear by a pigeon the other day, which excited him very much for a while.

The Buckeye Hunting Club has been having some sport with foxes. They have killed three and put 5 to hole. Andy Campbell's dogs have broken the record for running. They caught a red fox and in a short time the other day.

I think A. W. Rodgers means business. ANONYMOUS.

Buckeye instead of Dry Creek, as where heretofore represented in these columns.

We are having nice winter weather at present. Some of the people have scarlet fever.

Singing on Sunday evening by Prof Rorke was a great success. We are always glad for Johnny to come around.

The Beaverdam school will close January 27, taught by Earnest Hill. Mr Hill expects to attend a normal school the coming summer.

POLLY.

DUNMORE.

A little cool.

Miss Alice McLaughlin has gone to the Sinks to teach school.

The Busard Brothers are going to make a big saw set at Frost.

Gid Hiner, of Monterey, is going to saw for J. R. Hevener.

H. S. Rucker spent Sunday night in town.

Hugh P. and his dog were up Monday.

Joe Taylor has gone to Huntersville to dry lumber.

Messrs P. D. Yeager, Uriah Hevener, H. M. McLaughlin and J. B. McCutcheon are on the sick list.

The latest is the rail road will go by Glade Hill if the company can get Bill Acres to move his hen roost and the trustees to move the old Glade Hill school house.

There are several debating societies going on in the county, and some of the men and boys have gotten so in the way of making speeches, that you can see them speaking to side walks and nailholes in plank fences.

Two things Congress ought to do and they are to pension every man and women who ever heard a cannon snap and pass a hog law to keep the face of all creation from being turned up side down and mixed after it is turned up.

The Dilleys Mill correspondent has never seen or read a copy of the "First Battle" by Hon J. W. Bryan, we presume. If he would read the book and and one of Mr Bryan's thoughts would enter his head, it would burst it wide open. In 1900 our correspondent will think the "First Battle" not so dead an issue as you might imagine.

Arthur Noel was over to Monterey last week to see his betsy jane.

Our community is called upon to mourn the loss of one of her best and most respected citizens, Mr Allen Galford, who died at his home on Saturday night, aged 82 years. Mr Galfard was highly esteemed, a good citizen and a man of means and will be greatly missed. He leaves an aged wife, two sons, four daughters and a host of friends to mourn his loss.

Don't forget the auction at Green Bank, Fedruary 5.

ZACKARIAH TUG MUTTON.

REMANDED TO JAIL.

Preliminary Examination of John Wilfong.

A large crowd scented an interesting time in the hearing of the charges against John Wilfong for stealing Commissioner J. R. Warwick's horse, and a large crowd gathered at the court house last Saturday for the purpose, but they were doomed to disappointment for the prisoner did not go on the stand to testify as to his movements since the 19th of November. The hearing was held before Justice Bird. The prosecuting attorney, Mr McClintic, appeared for the people and Messrs McNeil and Scott for the prisoner. The prisoner's counsel gained an empty victory by quashing the warrant on the grounds that it did not state from whom the horse was stolen. The prosecuting attoney replied that he had noticed the defect that he would try his hand at getting one that would stick, adding dramatically to the deputy sheriff, "Hold that man until I can write a warrant!" The crowd cheered and roused the ire of the court. The accused made no dash for liberty as did Dick Napp on a similar occasion, and in a few moments he was re-arrested in a manner to satisfy the most fastidious.

The owner of the horse testified that the horse had been stolen in the way here-to-fore related in this paper. He gave his testimony standing, in the manner of a man making a speech. He added that he had no animosity against the prisoner, but had kept him over night a few days before he stole his horse and that he did not like to be bitten twice by the same snake.

William Hoover, of Rocking ham County, testified that the man before him had sold him the horse two days after he had stolen it. He had taken it to the mountains with him to log, and in a few days Mr Warwick had ridden to his camp and claimed the horse. He said he might have been disposed to dispute the ownership had not the horse itself showed such ummistakable signs of recognizing the horse that Mr Warwick was riding. Both horses whinnied and the horse proved himself so completely that he gave him up at once.

G. D. Oliver and C. P. Kerr testified that they had seen the prisoner in the neighborhood the evening of the night the horse was taken.

This made the case for the State and the prisoner introduced no testimony, relying on the inability of the State to present a case strong enough to hold him to the grand jury.

After elaborate argnment of counsel, the defendant was remanded to jail in default of bail, fixed at $500.

Wilfong is not a bad looking man, and has a strong enough jaw on him to make his way in life under any circumstances. He did not open his mouth or even show signs of sensibility during the whole hearing.

Stray Horse with Throat Cut.

A day or two ago a dead horse was found about forty yards from the public road near West Union school-house with its throat cut, evidently taken there and killed. No clue to owner or perpetrator of crime. Bay horse, short tail, blaze in face.

THIS is to notify the public that my wife, Roxy A Cochran, has left my bed and board, and that I will no longer be responsible for her support. JONATHAN COCHRAN.
January 10, 1898.

Shooting Scrape at Dunmore.

James H. Bird shot and mortally offended big William McLaughlin, last week. The shooting occurred at Bird's house. McLaughlin had gone to Bird's to settle up for a deal in furniture which Bird owed him for. And from that time on they disagreed as to the course of events. The account McLaughlin gave of the affair is that he rode up to Bird's house and Bird came out to the fence. They talked until they fell out and Bird called him a "D—d liar. McLaughlin got down from his horse on the side opposite from Bird to avenge the insult and was walking around the horses head in the direction of Bird when he fired at a distance of eighteen feet. Bird snapped at him once with his victim looking squarely in the muzzle of the revolver. The second time he depressed the pistol and the shot took effect over the stomach, ranging down thro overcoat, coat, vest and under clothing, and made a wound in the fleshy part of the hip about two inches deep. He rode home, the bullet dropping out on the way. The hurt was dressed and while painful it is not dangerous. Every pistol should be confiscated and destroyed.

Bird's account, confirmed by his wife, who was the only witness of the shooting, is that when they had fallen out he ran into the house. McLaughlin advanced on him and raised a chair which was in the room and was in the act of striking him when he took a pistol which was lying on the table and shot him. The downward tendency of the ball is accounted for by Bird by the extremely close quarters of the parties, and by McLaughlin by Bird being on the bank above him.

An interesting reminiscence is related of these two men in this connection. A few years ago Bird was indicted for carrying a pistol. His friend, McLaughlin, who is a big, whole souled lumberman, took the matter up and was disposed to make it a personal matter betwixt him and Pocahontas county. There are many who remember what an open grievance he was disposed to make of it.

A warrant was issued for Bird. He securee H. S. Rucker for counsel, and a preliminary hearing was to be had on Monday.

It's Time to Kick

Against that Rheumatism of yours. Uric acid in the blood is what is causing all the trouble.

Johnston's Sarsaparilla

will purify the blood and remove the acid; and with it, the cause of your aches and pains.

Our illustrated book of 36 pages has some interesting chapters on rheumatism. It's free for the asking.

Williams, Davis, Brooks & Co., Detroit, Mich.

For sale by URIAH BIRD, Marlinton; and A. BARLOW, Huntersville.

S P. MILLER is agent for a sash lock. Before buying examine his contrivance.

The Levels News.

Edited by Payne Bros.

Vol. 1 Academy, W. Va., Jan. 28, 1898. No. 2

—Lake Herring at Payne Bros.

—At Payne Bros. doors and sash very cheap for cash,

—25,000 best shaved shinglss at Payne Bros. for sale.

—Fresh prunes, California peaches and apricots very cheap for cash —Pure sugar syrup @ 40c per gallon. Harness oil at Payne Bros

—Blacksmiths' coal at Payne Bros. Horse Shoes and Nails lower than ever before, at Payne Bros.

—S. J. Payne, of Payne Bros., is off to Baltimore this week with a car-load of hogs and cattle. Will buy new goods while there.

—Canned fruits and vegetables of all kinds just received. Get our prices before buying.

—PAYNE BROS.

—Hoax —"Bjones seems to be in a great stew; he's been pacing the floor all the evening and can't be induced to sit down." Joax—"It's not a stew that's troubling him, but a boil.

—Senator Elkins has introduced a bill to pay the Methodist Episcopal church at Point Pleasant $1010 for the occupation of their building by United States troops during the war.

—"McGibbs is a contemptible creature." "In what particular way?" "Well, he is the kind of man who would send another man a Sunday newspaper without marking the article he wants him to read."—Chicago Times-Herald.

No Advantage Taken.

"Do you really adhere to the one-price rule?"

"We do," said the merchant. "A young married man can buy as cheaply of us as the most experienced matron."—Cincinnatti Enquirer.

—Clover and Timothy seed at Payne Bros.

SALT! SALT! SALT.
A CAR-LOAD
AT $2 A SACK PAYNE BROS.

—'I'll have to put a stop to this,' remarked the facetious repairer as he examined the broken organ.

Our flour is the best grade. It is on sale by
J. H. DOYLE, Huntersville, W V.
On Elk it sold by G. L. HANNAH at 2¾c per lb.

SEND PAYNE BROS.

Your Orders

They will be filled promply at lowest prices.

They keep the best assortment of goods in the county.

Common=Sense Broomholder.

"There is a place for everything, and your BROOM should be in its place."

Thousands are in daily use. You will save wear and tear on your BROOM by using the COMMON-SENSE BROOMHOLDER. It will also hold MOPS, Dusters, etc.

LASTS A LIFETIME.
THE PRICE IS FAIR.

SENT UPON RECEIPT OF PRICE..................10 CENTS.
STAMPS TAKEN. ADDRESS

GEO. M. SANGSTER,
245 BROADWAY. NEW YORK CITY.

If I were a cobbler I would make it my pride
The best of its kind to be;
If I were a tinker nobody
could
Mend an old kettle like me.

I don't allow to be undersold by Anybdy.

Here is a good thing:

Lumberman's Driving Shoe, Wisconsin pattern....$3.48.

Black Diagonal Mackintoshes, reduced to..........$2.37½.

A successful New Year to you.

PAUL GOLDEN.

Bottom Knocked Out!

To Cash Buyers

We will until APRIL 1st, 1898, sell our entire stock of goods at from 5 to 10 per cent. above cost, strictly for cash. Produce will be taken, but will charge more for goods.

Below will quote you prices on a few articles:

Arbuckle Coffee	12½c
Good Green Coffee	10c
Best Green Coffee	14c
Granulated Sugar	7c
Best Calico	5 to 6
Gingham	5 to 8
2400 Matches	15c
Mens' Suits from $4 to $8

Have a few Overcoats which we will sell low. We will save you from 25 to 50 per cent on all goods. Come and see before buying elsewhere, and see if we don't mean just what we say.

Yours to save you Money,

B. F. McElwee,
Dunmore, W. Va.

All persons knowing themselves indebted to me by note or apc. will find their claims in the hands of Mr Sam Sheets for collection.

MARLINTON HOUSE
Located East End of Bridge.

Terms.
per day - $1 & $1.50
per meal - - 25

Good accommodations for horses at 25 cents per feed.
Special rates made by the week or month.

C.A.YEAGER, - - Proprietor.

C. B. SWECKER,
General Auctioneer
and Real Estate Agent.

I sell Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands. Farms and Town Lots a specialty. 21 years in the business. Correspondence solicited Reference furnished. Postoffice—Dunmore, W. Va., or Alexander, W. Va.

Ferguson's Photograph Gallery is coming to Marlinton. The finest of pictures at lowest of prices. Wait for him.

The Pocahontas Times.

Marlinton, Friday, Feb. 4, 1898.

Entered at the post-office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

Alas for him who never sees
The stars shine thro his cypress trees;
Who, hopeless, lays his dead away,
Nor looks to see the breaking day
Across the mournful marbles play;
Who has not learned in hours of faith
That truth to flesh and sense unknown,
That life is ever lord of death,
And love can never lose its own.
—Selected.

This county has a school with an average attendance of 95 per cent. and for the past month twenty-three scholars of the school never missed a day.

The cases of McLaughlin vs. McGraw and Turk vs. Skiles from this county have been submitted to the Supreme Court and decisions are expected during this term.

The man who proposed for debate in the Academy of Science last Friday the question, "Resolved, that the signs of the times indicate pessimistic tendencies," must be a psychological phenomenon.

The polecat reporter of the Ronceverte News writes up the particulars of the establishing of a polecat farm near Union, the object of which will be to breed a coal black specimen for his hide and tallow. The writer is a well-known authority on polecats.

A memorial addressed to the potwollopers of Pocahontas County would simply mean to the voters of Pocahontas County. In certain boroughs of England only those who walloped a pot, (i. e.) boiled a pot, were entitled to vote. The man who "kept the pot boiling" was and is now the head of a household.

A bill has been introduced in Congress to print the pension list in pamplets by States, and deliver one to each newspaper in the State. It is estimated that the pamphlet for Ohio alone will contain over three thousand pages, and it may be seen this will incur a vast printing bill. It may pay the government to do it, however.

The New York Journal stand concerning Mr William J. Bryan was taken some weeks subsequently to a similar expression of opinion given in the Pocahontas Times. We both saw that narrowness that should never be in a man who gave his name to the party. Some of his best friends think that the party can choose a much more suitable man for President in 1900.

Alex McVeigh Miller's constant use of the term "fiat" in relation to money calls up an incident of a Pocahontas politician of about the same calibre as Mr Miller who during the last campaign was a great advocate for "flat money." It turned out afterwards that he was referring to "fiat money"; but no one has ever been able to discover what Mr Miller is driving at.

The President of the University of West Virginia has sent out a begging letter for three thousand dollars to buy a pipe organ for the University chapel. It is harrowing to think of the distress the college is in on account of the great dearth of thousands of dollars and pipe organs. The poor, ragged alumnus who receives the petition immediately takes the dollar bill he has secured by hard work, and which he has been saving to buy bread for his family, and sends it to the faculty in order that the young heathen who attend the University may have music to soothe away their savageness. Does the president need anything else in his chapel which the public would gladly supply. A gramophone would also help in the charming of the tough under graduate. He says Professor Ellen Berger of the faculty, "can bring out all the music a pipe organ has in it," in the elegant language of a native of Chicago. When Ellen was absent then the President could bring out all the music a gramophone has in it, and the boys might like the change. The President is welcome to ask a public in straightened circumstances for as many thousand dollars as he can dispose of in fitting up his chapel, but if he wants it very bad it will be tiresome waiting for the thousands to accumulate.

WHERE THE RAILROAD SHOULD RUN.

In view of the railroad possibilities of this region, our attention was called to the fact by a level-headed man that it is more than likely that the men who are building the Greenbrier Railroad do no know enough of the topography of the country to know where the road should run, taking into consideration the cost of construction, the distance from the Chesapeake and Ohio to the Forks of Greenbrier River, and the value of the road as an occupier of the territory after it is built. It has been an oft expressed wonder with every one in the county that the railroad having the object in view of developing the Greenbrier basin should be built anywhere except on the banks of that stream.

It may be possible that the active work of a few men who own some barren acres on the ridges of the Alleghany who are not too diffident to approach the promoters of the railroad, have done more to influence them than the people of the populous districts lying on the west bank of the river who have not had the assurance to make themselves solid with the engineering corps and their employers.

We feel certain if Mr Ingalls knew the lay of the land that there would be no question as to worth of the Greenbrier River route. With the road branching off at the railroad bridge above Ronceverte the whole route would lie upon the west bank of the stream above highwater mark, and the expense of building a bridge over the river would be saved. The Greenbrier is not a sluggish stream, but it's fall is uniform, and below Marlinton would be something less than above, and the grade would therefore rise almost imperceptibly from the tracks of the Chesapeake and Ohio to the forks of the river.

The roadbed would be dug from the side of the river ridge which is neither steep nor rugged, and we have been reliably informed that a roadbed can be made from a hillside as cheaply as on level ground. It may be that the vast expense of building along the Greenbrier River between Ronceverte and the New has given a wrong impression of the character of the hills which line the stream above. The irregularities of the mountain are plainly shown by the river bed. From the headwaters of the Greenbrier River to Ronceverte the stream is smooth flowing, and rafts of lumber drawing four feet of water and forty or fifty feet wide can be run with safety. Below Ronceverte are falls and rapids which would make navigation in a canoe dangerous.

Between Marlinton and Ronceverte lies one of the richest and most populous farming sections in the State. The formation is peculiar. The limestone ceases at the west bank of the river and to the east is only a country ruined and desolate by forest fires. A road down the river would have the most important stations below Marlinton. Driscol is on an east and west line with Marlinton, and if the road runs by Driscol there will be no need of a station south of Driscol. Large towns would spring up both in the Little Levels of Pocahontas and the Big Levels of Greenbrier, both of which sections would be forever the patrons of the Greenbrier Railroad. South of Driscol there would not be a solitary inducement for men to settle. South of Marlinton lies the wealth of this region. A railroad would have at once important stations to supply the following neighborhoods.

Starting at Marlinton the county seat, four miles to Buckeye; thence five miles to a point opposite Mill Point; then three miles to a station opposite Academy, an incorporated town; six miles to Locust; five or six miles to the end of Droop; five miles to Falling Spring; six miles to a point opposite Frankford, an incorporated town now fourteen miles from the depot which would then be two and a half miles; thence to Kejster's mill; and thence to Ronceverte.

An engineer once stated in the presence of a county man that if the road should be built down the river that a county road could not be built from the table land of the Greenbrier Valley to the level of the river. This is ridiculous. The river bluffs are from three to five hundred feet high and not especially steep. Innumerable private roads already lead down to the river every mile or so. The distance from Ronceverte to the Forks is 82 miles by the wagon road. The windings of the river may make it more, but it would not be more probably than would be needed to insure the grade.

If the Greenbrier Railroad is to be a part of a through line in time the distant travel will be from the South and West. By leaving the Chesapeake and Ohio at Greenbrier Bridge, near Ronceverte, seven or eight miles of the worst grade on the Chesapeake and Ohio would be saved.

We feel that we are arguing from the standpoint of railroad company in this article, as the town of Marlinton has more to hope for in being the depot for rich lands south of us than from being merely a station on the line, but we would invite the immediate and careful attention of the directors to the facts in this article, for we feel sure that if this company wishes to fully develop this region and cause it to respond to the outlay of building the road they will build up and down the Greenbrier River, in the same manner that other important streams of the State have become the conductors of railroads into new fields.

In his speech in the Senate last Thursday, Senator Teller referred to the fact that the campaign of 1896 was the most "vicious" in his memory, and that he remembered all the campaigns since 1844. To illustrate this he read the following report of a speech by the present Assistant Secretary of the Navy, who was rewarded for his remarks by being put in the sea department, instead of the agricultural department:

New York, Oct. 28, 1896.

A big Republican mass meeting was held down town yesterday under the auspices of a business men's Republican club. Among other speakers was Police Commissioner Roosevelt, who said: "Mr Bryan and his adherents have appealed to the basest set in the land, the farmers. If they are not so, then why do they believe that he can make $1 out of 50 cents?" Before closing with a second appeal to his hearers for a display of patriotism on Tuesday next, the commissioner indulged in a repetition of a recent statement to the effect that the delegates to the convention which nominated Governor Altgeld were made up of murderers, burglars, horse thieves, libertines, crooks of all kinds—men who had been convicted of crimes ranging from pocket picking to arson.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.
Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

QUART BOTTLE.
There's
beauty and health
in Every Quart of
Johnston's Sarsaparilla
the recognized peer of all Blood Purifiers. Our illustrated book is a sure guide to health. Free for the asking.
Williams, Davis, Brooks & Co.
Detroit, Mich.

For sale by Uriah Bird, Marlinton; and A. Barlow, Huntersville.

After a seven-day fight the Maryland legislature elected Judge Louis E. McComas senator to succeed Senator Gorman.

This is the "Yale problem" published recently in the New York Sun: "What will ten yards of silk come to at $1 1-.001 per yard?" Dozens of answers were received, but only one correct one. The proper answer is $10,010 by arithmetic, and $10,000 by the algebraic solution.

The Alderson Man is the only editor in the State who still understands the financial questions of the day, and week by week he is confusing the public with heavy doses of his theories. The rule adopted by the rest of us in regard to money is:

That those may get who have the power,
And those may keep who can.

In a letter to the Greenbrier Independent Dr Gates, of Ronceverte, calls attention to the fact that those persons who wanted to buy intoxicants of druggists did not hesitate to sign a physician's name to the prescription, and the druggist honored it without scrutinizing it as a cashier would a check. We think both Lewisburg and Ronceverte would be better with open saloons and that the cause of temperance would actually be advanced thereby. A well conducted barroom is preferable to a lot of unscrupulous doctors and forgers who enable the consumer to buy only in bulk.

Announcement.

Hillsboro Academy.

The Second Term of Hillsboro Academy will commence

Monday, February 14, 1898.

and continue four months.

With the assistance of Miss Virgie Sydenstricker, a graduate of the Lewisburg Female Institute, we are prepared to give a full and thorough preparatory course for any male or female college.

Miss Mary I. McNeel, whose musical talents are well known, still has the music department in connexion with the school.

The charges for tuition and board are very moderate.

All other information cheerfully given.

Address
W. W. Terry, Principal,
ACADEMY, W. VA.

Feb3 3w

Plow Repairs

We have at last succeeded in making arrangements to supply points for the RONCEVERTE PLOW. Full stock now on hand. Send in our orders early. . . .

We are Factory Agents for IMPERIAL and SILVER STEEL
Plows.

(The Best Hillside Plow on the Market.)

Simms & Co.,
Opp. Passenger Depot, RONCEVERTE, W. Va.

A Big Thing on Ice.

There was excitement in the crowd
When pa put on his skates.
Folks hardly dared to spead aloud,
He looked so haughty and so proud,
But all much interest avowed
When pa put on his skates.

A hush fell on the mighty throng
When pa stood on his skates.
He was so cool, so nonchalant.
No one could fear a contretemps
To see his graceful abandon
When pa put on his skates.

But ah, me! what a fall was there,
When pa first tried to skate!
With one wild whoop of fierce despair
He sat down where there was no chair,
And both his legs waved in the air,
When pa first tried to skate!

Then every body looked away
While pa took off his skates.
The sun stopped shining for that day,
The sky grew overcast and gray,
For pa said things unfit to say
When he took off his skates.
—Somerville Journal.

Please Notice!

I am still here, and new goods coming in every week and go out at the same rate. Come when you will I have something new: and good bargains for cash customers.

If you have but little to buy with it will pay you to investigate my goods and prices.

I am still buying Grain of all kinds, Turkeys, Chickens, Eggs, Butter, &c.

Some Prices—

Green Coffee,	12 to 15c
Arbuckle Coffee,	9 for $1.00
Calicoes,	4½ to 7c
Cotton Cloth.	5 to 9c
Flannels,	20 to 30c
Ginghams,	5 to 8c
Outings,	7 to 12c
Shoes,	1 00 to $2.75
Yarn,	70 to 80c
Suit Clothes.	$3.00 to $ 2 00

If you want your picture enlarged at half-price, I will have it done.

Yours for business,
S. J. BOGGS.
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA

Gigantic Auction Sale!

Of Goods and Chattels at

Green Bank, W. Va,

—ON—

Saturday, February 5, 1898.

Commencing at 10 o'clock A. M. This will be the biggest sale of Goods ever made in the upper end of the county. I will sell part of the big stock of goods belonging to Sol Davis at public auction at the above named place and date. This will be the best chance You have ever had to obtain good bargains. Ladies and Gentlemen, we invite all to come; the long and the tall, the short and the small.

TERMS: All amounts over $10.00. ninety days with bond and security.

C. B. Swecker, General Auctioneer,

Assassinated!

We do not mean to assassinate you, as Wilkes Boothe did Abraham Lincoln, but warn you of the truth that you are daily assassinating your Pocket Book by not giving us your trade. Our stock is fresh, and constant increase of Business show that Prices are Better than elsewhere.

Constant sales allow no shop worn gooods to remain on our shelves, and MONEY with ORDER enables us to obtain BARGAINS which we gladly share with ous customers. This means no fraud or deception. Our figufes are plain and bold, and you don't have to guess or ask. You can't tell what the bottom price of an article is until you see it HERE. Every day in the year is a bargain day with us.

Our stock is worth INVESTIGATION and all are invited to call and be convinced that as to Quality of Stock and Lowness of Prices we are surpassed by none. We want your trade and friendship.

We will take Beeswax and Fur. Our nine-years' experience as buyer and shipper enables us to pay highest prices. For quality of stock, lowness of price, and prompt business, we are respectfully yours,

L. D. Sharp.

List of Real Estate

Sold in the County of Pocahontas, in the month of January, 1898, for the non-payment of the taxes charged thereon for the years 1895 and 1896, and purchased by individuals:

Names of person charged with taxes	Local Description.	Quantity of Land Sold.	Quantity of Land Purchesed, Acres	Name of Purchaser.	Whole Amount Paid by Purchaser.
GREEN BANK DISTRICT
Arbogast, Adam's est	adjoining B M Yeager	58 120	58 120	Mrs Hulda Yeager	$12 85
Arbogast, Adam's est	" " "	50	50	Mrs Hulda Yeager	2 74
Campbell, J. B's heirs	waters Greenbrier river	60	60	L M McClintic	4 12
Collins, W H	" " "	100	100	E M Arbogast	2 32
Davis, John W's estate	Buffalo mountain	15	15	H S Rucker	1 35
Bradshaw, J B	Cooper's Barn	1	1	L M McClintic	2 33
Galford, Thomas' heirs	Boreman's Run	138	138	E M Arbogast	12 62
Grogg, John W	Buffalo Run	100	100	L M McClintic	6 91
Same	" "	9	9	Same	1 62
Same	Buffalo mt	245	245	Same	5 19
Same	J H A Land	120	120	Same	3 12
Gilmer, Alex	Alleghany mt	120	120	E M Arbogast	2 58
Hamilton, Wm's heirs	near Forks Greenbrier R	132	132	L M McClintic, W A Bratton, B M Yeager	4 18
same	Back Alleghany	30	30	same same same	1 51
Houchin, Elils	wts Greenbrier River	100	100	C P Kerr	7 76
same	adjoining Arbogast	130	130	J W Yeager	8 71
McCutcheon, John B	Thomas creek	2800	2800	H A Yeager	47 92
same	waters Greenbrier river	77	77	Izzie E Dilley	2 12
same	Elk Lick run	80	80	Same	11 95
Rheinstrom, Alf	waters Greenbrier river	125*	125	B M Yeager	5 34
Sheets, Jacob's estate	Back Alleghany	135	135	L M McClintic	10 06
Slaton, Robert G	Buffalo mt	107	107	T S McNeel	4 67
Sutton, Wilson R	adj A Nottingham	81	81	J F Rider	11 85
same	" "	18	18	Same	2 02
Scott, F B	head wts Greenbrier	100	100	W A Bratton and L M McClintic	3 50
Turk, P. S, & J L Arbogast	waters Greenbrier	1600	1600	B M Yeager	28 38
EDRAY DISTRICT.
Barnes, M L	R L Run	30	30	George P Moore	1 79
Hogsett, Sam's estate	Old Field Fork Elk	88¾	88¾	M Ruckman	29 06
Hogsett, Sam's estate	same	138	138	Same	14 24
Hogsett, J T	same	59	59	Same	5 73
Johnson, J E	wts Gr R	100	100	George P Moore	5 83
same	same	300	300	Same	4 58
Lyle, S W	wts Elk river	750	750	J R Poage	18 65
Simmons, J W N R & W	Leather creek	61	61	H S Rucker	4 61
Thomson, Joseph L	Big Spring	1 32 P	1 32 P	W A Bratton and L M McClintic	7 12
HUNTERSVILLE DIST.
Bradshaw, Wm's heirs	Marlin's Mt	100 40	100 40	L M McClintic	2 36
Beard, M W	Beaver creek	50	50	N C McNeil	2 81
Bird, George H	Alleghany mt	120	120	B M Yeager	2 63
Gammon, James' estate	Ball Alley Lot			Fred Beard	1 52
Hogsett, J T	Knapps creek	256 90	256 90	M Ruckman	18 89
same	Punkin Hill	4 80 P	4 80 P	Same	3 90
same	Punkin Hill	29	29	Same	2 37
same	Kot 25 Huntersvillle			Same	2 11
same	Lot 24 Hunterrville			Same	1 97
Houdyshell, Susan	near Frost	1	1	C Kelley	1 94
Lurty, S, & Bumgardner	Marlin's mt	767	767	B M Yeager	14 24
Skeen, William	adj Charles Gum	44	44	J W Grimes	2 24
Simms, B W	Piles mt	160	160	Uriah Bird	3 84
Webb, Amanda	Buckley mt	135	130	L M McClintic	4 44
LEVELS DISRICT.
Hogsett, M J	near Mill Point	50	50	M Ruckman	18 13
Hogsett, J T	same	107	107	Same	51 93
same	same	75 160	75-160	Same	1 31
Smith, Erie E	Poplar Flats	138	138	W A Bratton and L M McClintic	3 68

The owner of any real estate above described and sold, his heirs, or assigns, or any person having a right to charge such real estate for a debt, map redeem the same by paying to the purchaser, his heirs or assigns, within one year from the sale thereof, the amount specified in the last column of the above table, and such additional taxes as may have been paid by the purchaser, his heirs or assigns, with interest on said purchase money and taxes at the rate of twelve per centum per annum from the time the same may have been so paid.

Given under my hand this 10th day of January, 1898,

R. W. HILL, Sheriff.

The Pocahontas Times.

Marlinton, Friday, Feb. 4, 1898.

Entered at the post-office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

THE longing for ignoble things;
The strife for triumph more than truth;
The hardening of the heart, that brings
Irreverence for the dreams of youth;
All thoughts of ill, all evil deeds,
That have their roots in thoughts of ill;
Whatever hinders or impedes
The action of the noble will:—
All these must first be trampled down
Beneath our feet, if we would gain
In the bright fields of fair renown
The right of eminent domain.
—The Ladder of St. Augustine.

O. A. PETTY has been appointed postmaster at Charleston.

A PESSIMIST writes us from Huntersville that the Greenbrier Railroad is a thing of the past. We would remind him that the darkest hour is often just before dawn.

GENERAL APPLEOON is compiling the names of all Union soldiers and sailors who were citizens of West Virginia. He has 40,000 names to go over. They will be placed alphabetically with date of enlistment, promotion, death or discharge, and other matter which may be specially mentioned.

SEVERAL persons were trying to locate the direction of Cuba the other day. They all agreed it was an island in the Atlantic Ocean southeast of us, except one who claimed it was directly south. Upon examination it was found that the meridian passing through Pocahontas County would cut Cuba half in two, making the island directly south of us.

A TRAGEDY occurred at Montgomery last Friday. George P. Tucker came home unexpectedly and found William McAllister with his wife under compromising circumstances, and shot and killed them both. He gave himself up to the authorities. The woman was about 40 years old and has three grown children. McAllister was about 21 years of age.

THE Marion County school case has been submitted to the Supreme court. The case was started by John Kennedy to prevent the school teacher from reading the Bible in opening school, on the grounds that it was against the constitution of the State to give religious instruction. It is to be hoped that the four men who compose our Supreme Court will declare for the sake of appearances that the Bible is higher law even than the constitution of the State and unlike it does not need to be amended.

OUR progressive Superintendent of Free Schools, Professor D. L. Barlow, has adopted the plan of the other superintendents of West Virginia counties and made arrangements to start a normal school at Pine Grove, near Edray. (See advertisement elsewhere in this paper.) The rule is that every county should have one of these normals, with the exception of those counties where the State has established a State Normal School. The neighborhood of Pine Grove is one of the most suitable in the county; a large number of interesting young people have their homes there; the people are noted for the comfort in which they live, and board and lodging can be secured for six dollars per month. We wish to refer once more to the advantages of an education, the lack of which one does not feel until it is too late to remedy it. If young people could only realize how acutely they will regret the failure to educate themselves during the time between childhood and when they have to "root pig or die," they would work at their books in order that they might have the comfort and solace thro life of an educated mind. The young boy or girl must petition their guardians for an education. We have never known it to fail where the child insisted upon going to school but that he went, and in a few years the money invested in the schooling brought a hundred fold. Some parents send unwilling children to expensive schools, and the result is—nothing. But where the desire for schooling originates in the student the parent can spend his last dollar to advance his child, and the money will be well invested.

CONGRESSMAN DOR'S SPEECH.

We have received a copy of the speech delivered by Congressman Dorr, January 10, on the maintainance of the present civil service law, and have read it with great interest. It is a very able argument against the continuance of the law and advocates its repeal. It is a good, wholesome speech, in which the speaker is opposing the policy of his party. He says he is opposed to the civil service law because it is "an innovation upon the system established by our forefathers, the wisdom of which has been demonstrated by experience. . . . and a step in the direction of reestablishing the form of government that was repudiated by the American people in 1776" Mark that word repudiated!

The speaker prefers to follow two noted Democrats in the selection of his subordinates, "Jefferson and Jackson."

Mr Dorr called attention to the fact that in that city there was what was known as "The National Correspondence Institute," conducted by Mr J. W. McKinley. It's claim to patronage is based upon the theory that it has peculiar facilities for preparing applicants for a civil service examination. The proprietor has already netted a handsome fortune. All his money has been extracted from a credulous and hopeful people, and the blame does not attach to him so much as to the law that enables him to thrive.

During last year 50,244 applicants were examined; 24,163 passed successfully; 3,308 were given places. Over a million dollars were spent by these applicants in expenses alone to pass the examinations, and all waited for months in uncertainty.

He sees behind this vast establishment of officers to life-tenure a civil pension list. Deliver us from more pensions. The framers of the Constitution thought that life-tenure should only be extended to the Federal judiciary.

"I have no patience with that class of people who are constantly sneering at the 'office seekers' when they themselves have been seeking office all of their lives. I am an office seeker. I do not deny it. So are you all, Mr Chairman and gentlemen of the House." Just at this point Speaker Reed looked as tho somebody had let the cat out of the bag.

Mr Dorr closed with the following oratorical passages:

"The voice of the people cries out for repeal. 'The voice of the people is the voice of God,' and wo be unto the political fortunes of him who does not heed it.

We omitted to mention that attention was called to the effect the present law has upon the locality of the office seeker under the present "merit system." By fair proportion the District of Columbia would be entitled to 39 positions in the Departments at Washington. Under this law it has received 2396.

PRESTON COUNTY had a schoolhouse case recently. In Grant district the Board of Education discontinued a school in a subdistrict and the patrons of the school appealed to the county superintendent. He decided against the discontinuing of the school, and the Board of Education refusing to acknowledge his authority, a mandamus was issued by the Circuit Court, and the school reestablished.

GENERAL TURNER ASHBY fell in 1862 in a skirmish near Dayton, Virginia. Had he lived a few years longer no name would be greater than his in the annals of the war. To mark the place where he fell the Turner Ashby Camp has decided to raise $500 and buy an acre on the spot and erect a monument. Contributions are solicited and should be mailed to Turner Ashby Camp, Harrisonburg, Va.

IT is the belief of a good many that the Teller resolution defines the attitude of the two parties this year. On the Republican side the policy is to further debase and make subordinate the vast amount of silver money in this country. The Democrats say that the bonds can be paid under law in either money, and that they could so be paid kept the Cleveland issue of bonds down $75.000.000. For the Administration now to give the bond holders the option is to work a fraud in favor of those who own bonds and who will realize a tremendous profit on their investment.

KNAPPS CREEK.

Fine weather for February. It will soon be time for sugar making.

Price Moore went to see how Jim was getting along.

A. M. Oliver caught a fawn last week.

Miss Myrtle Harold's school closed last Friday.

C. B. Swecker, attorney at law, blew up Saturday.

W. A. Bussard is going to build a railroad engine in the spring.

Summers Sharp has the rheumatism at this writing.

W. A. A. W. B. C. says, "Woe be unto the short-hand writer!"

J. A. Moore is going to build a store house, we suppose. He is getting the lumber.

Price Moore killed six rats in sixty shots with a shot gun, last Monday.

W. A. Busard has got a new turning-lathe and is turning out hay poles for the next hay harvest.

I. B. Moore and the new commissioner attended the sale at Green Bank last Saturday.

A. M. Oliver got left and M. F. Herold lost his shawl and the good work goes on.

It snoweth, it melteth, and J. A. Moore getteth in his sled and goeth to Frost for a load of rock.

A young man on the Creek received a letter two weeks ago. The name of the sender has not been learned.

W. S. P. H. M. S.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund the money if it fails to Cure. 25c.

COVE HILL.

James F. Hively's school is progressing nicely.

Hurrah for Cronia Dilley's gray hound and hickory nut shells!

A little warmer. The sun shines brightly and the ground hog has gone to hole.

Billy is still working on his house. We hope he will get it done before the railroad comes.

Lightburn Kellison of Mt Grove who was here last week. has returned home, accompanied by Nimrod, the great fox hunter.

The people of this part are enjoying good health, but we would like to have a good doctor, for fear some of us might get sick.

Miss Bettie Sharp has returned from Brown's Mountain. She says she likes it very well down there.

T. M. Gum's old rooster is dead. That is all. ASPEN.

[The Cove Hill correspondent has omitted to report a serious accident in his neighborhood. Last Friday night, at eight o'clock, the lamp went out and left a family in total darkness.—ED.]

IT is likely that Mr Dayton's bill dividing this State into two Federal districts will be passed by Congress. A letter from Judge Jackson is holding the matter up for the present. He wishes the State held intact as long as he is judge, and then to be divided into an eastern and western district. Under the present bill Pocahontas is put into the southern district, and Hinton or Charleston will be the place of holding courts.

Pocahontas County Normal School for 1898

LOCATED AT PINE GROVE, TWO MILES WEST OF EDRAY.

School Opens March 28, and Closes June 17.

SPECIAL ADVANTAGES:
(1)—The school is located in a good neighborhood.
(2)—Lowest rates of boarding of any School in the State.
(3)—The whole Public School Couse, including Rhetoric, Algebra Physical Geography, Geometry, Botany, and Philosophy, will be taught as thoroughly as in the State Normal schools.
(4)—Special attention will be given to Science and Art of Teaching.
(5)—State, United States, and General History, Civil Government, and Physiology taught by the outline method. Uniformity of text books not required.

DEPORTMENT.
We reserve the right to sever the connexion of any student with the school who does not conform to it's regulations.

BOARDING.
Can be obtained near the school at $1.75 per week, and students will be made (by the hospitality of our people) to feel perfectly at home. Parents can send their sons and daughters to this school with the assurance that they will be comfortably situated while here, and that we will look carefully after their interests.

TUITION.
From $2.00 to $2.75 per month.

Do not let this Opportunity pass.

For further information, address
D. L. BARLOW, Principal; Edray, W. Va.

Announcement.

Hillsboro Academy.

The Second Term of Hillsboro Academy will commence

Monday, February 14, 1898.

and continue four months.

With the assistance of Miss Virgie Sydenstricker, a graduate of the Lewisburg Female Institute, we are prepared to give a full and thorough preparatory course for any male or female college.

Miss Mary I. McNeel, whose musical talents are well known, still has the music department in connexion with the school.

The charges for tuition and board are very moderate.

All other information cheerfully given.

Address
W. W. Terry, Principal,
ACADEMY, W. VA.

Feb3 3w

Plow Repairs

We have at last succeeded in making arrangements to supply points for the RONCEVERTE PLOW. Full stock now on hand. Send in our orders early. . . .

We are Factory Agents for IMPERIAL and SILVERSTEEL Plows.

(The Best Hillside Plow on the Market.)

Simms & Co.,

Opp. Passenger Depot, RONCEVERTE, W. Va.

BUCKEYE.

The sick are all improving.

Mrs J. G. McNeil's hand is no better.

Sleighing and skating are the orders of the day

W. McClintic's hands has been hauling hay from his mountain place to his lumber camp.

J. D. Pullins and S. B. Scott, jr. came down to Buckeye on the ice Sunday. We would suppose Mr Scott was a dunkard, as he went in head formost.

The Lobelia correspondent must have got on the new railroad and left, as he don't seem to write any more. MOUNTAIN ROVER.

Notice.

My wife, Rhoda E. Simms, having left my bed and board, all parties are hereby notified that I will no longer be responsible for her support. WALLACE SIMMS.

"Gone with a handsomer man."

THERE seems to be something of a panic in the White Sulphur district about the free circulation of counterfeit small change.

QUART BOTTLE.
There's
beauty and health
in Every Quart of
Johnston's Sarsaparilla
the recognized peer of all Blood Purifiers. Our illustrated book is a sure guide to health. Free for the asking.
Williams, Davis, Brooks & Co.
Detroit, Mich.

For sale by URIAH BIRD, Marlinton; and A. BARLOW, Huntersville.

To the Public.

I have a large stock of goods on hand—too large for my capital—and am compelled to sell out close to pay my bills and get ready for my Spring Stock.

A Pointer.

Always if you want to buy cheap go to the man who is compelled to sell. "Come one, come all!" I will give you better bargains than ever before for cash and good trade.

All persons knowing themselves indebted to me, please call and settle. My rule is "Cash or good trade," but by special arrangement I have a few accounts out On these I cen give but short notice.

YOURS FOR BUSINESS.

S. J. Boggs.

Assassinated!

We do not mean to assassinate you, as Wilkes Boothe did Abraham Lincoln, but warn you of the truth that you are daily assassinating your Pocket Book by not giving us your trade. Our stock is fresh, and constant increase of Business show that Prices are Better than elsewhere.

Constant sales allow no shop worn gooods to remain on our shelves, and MONEY with ORDER enables us to obtain BARGAINS which we gladly share with ous customers. This means no fraud or deception. Our figures are plain and bold, and you don't have to guess or ask. You can't tell what the bottom price of an article is until you see it HERE. Every day in the year is a bargain day with us.

Our stock is worth INVESTIGATION and all are invited to call and be convinced that as to Quality of Stock and Lowness of Prices we are surpassed by none. We want your trade and friendship.

We will take Beeswax and Fur. Our nine-years' experience as buyer and shipper enables us to pay highest prices. For quality of stock, lowness of price, and prompt business, we are respectfully yours,

L. D. Sharp.

List of Real Estate

Sold in the County of Pocahontas, in the month of January, 1898, for the non-payment of the taxes charged thereon for the years 1895 and 1896, and purchased by individuals:

Names of person charged with taxes	Local Description.	Quantity of Land Sold.	Quantity of Land Purchesed, Acres	Name of Purchaser.	Whole Amount Paid by Purchaser.
GREEN BANK DISTRICT
Arbogast, Adam's est	adjoining B M Yeager	58 120	58 120	Mrs Hulda Yeager	$12 85
Arbogast, Adam's est	" " "	50	50	Mrs Hulda Yeager............	2 74
Campbell, J. B's heirs	waters Greenbrier river	60	60	L M McClintic	4 12
Collins, W H	" " "	100	100	E M Arbogast................	2 32
Davis, John W's estate	Buffalo mountain	15	15	H S Rucker	1 35
Bradshaw, J B	Cooper's Barn	1	1	L M McClintic...............	2 33
Galford, Thomas' heirs	Boreman's Run	138	138	E M Arbogast................	12 62
Grogg, John W	Buffalo Run	100	100	L M McClintic...............	6 91
Same	" "	9	9	Same	1 62
Same	Buffalo mt	245	245	Same	5 19
Same	J H A Land	120	120	Same	3 12
Gilmer, Alex	Alleghany mt	120	120	E M Arbogast	2 58
Hamilton, Wm's heirs	near Forks Greenbrier R	132	132	LM McClintic, WA Bratton, BM Yeager	4 18
same	Back Alleghany	30	30	same same same	1 51
Houchin, Elils	wts Greenbrier River	100	100	C P Kerr	7 76
same	adjoining Arbogast	130	130	J W Yeager..................	8 71
McCutcheon, John B	Thomas creek	2800	2800	H A Yeager	47 92
same	waters Greenbrier river	77	77	Izzie E Dilley.................	2 12
same	Elk Lick run	80	80	Same	11 95
Rheinstrom, Alf	waters Greenbrier river	125	125	B M Yeager	5 34
Sheets, Jacob's estate	Back Alleghany	135	135	L M McClintic	10 06
Slaton, Robert G	Buffalo mt	107	107	T S McNeel	4 67
Sutton, Wilson R	adj A Nottingham	81	81	J F Rider	11 85
same	" "	18	18	Same	2 02
Scott, F B	head wts Greenbrier	100	100	W A Bratton and L M McClintic..	3 50
Turk, P S, & J L Arbogast	waters Greenbrier	1600	1600	B M Yeager	28 38
EDRAY DISTRICT.
Barnes, M L	R L Run	30	30	George P Moore	1 79
Hogsett, Sam's estate	Old Field Fork Elk	88¾	88¾	M Ruckman	29 06
Hogsett, Sam's estate	same	138	138	Same	14 24
Hogsett, J T	same	59	59	Same	5 73
Johnson, J E	wts Gr R	100	100	George P Moore...............	5 83
same	same	300	300	Same	4 58
Lyle, S W	wts Elk river	750	750	J R Poage	18 65
Simmons, J W N R & W	Leather creek	61	61	H S Rucker	4 61
Thomson, Joseph L	Big Spring	1 32 P	1 32 P	W A Bratton and L M McClintic..	7 12
HUNTERSVILLE DIST.
Bradshaw, Wm's heirs	Marlin's Mt	100 40	100 40	L M McClintic..................	2 36
Beard, M W	Beaver creek	50	50	N C McNeil	2 81
Bird, George H	Alleghany mt	120	120	B M Yeager	2 63
Gammon, James' estate	Ball Alley Lot			Fred Beard..........................	1 52
Hogsett, J T	Knapps creek	256 90	256 90	M Ruckman	18 89
same	Punkin Hill	4 80 P	4 80 P	Same	3 90
same	Punkin Hill	29	29	Same	2 37
same	Kot 25 Huntersvillle			Same	2 11
same	Lot 24 Hunterrville			Same	1 97
Hondyshell, Susan	near Frost	1	1	C Kelley..............................	1 94
Lurty, S, & Bumgardner	Marlin's mt	767	767	B M Yeager....	14 24
Skeen, William	adj Charles Gum	44	44	J W Grimes..........................	2 24
Simms, B W	Piles mt	160	160	Uriah Bird	3 84
Webb, Amanda	Buckley mt	135	130	L M McClintic........................	4 44
LEVELS DISRICT.
Hogsett, M J	near Mill Point	50	50	M Ruckman...........................	18 13
Hogsett, J T	same	107	107	Same	51 93
same	same	75 160	75-160	Same	1 31
Smith, Erie E	Poplar Flats	138	138	W A Bratton and L M McClintic..	3 68

The owner of any real estate above described and sold, his heirs, or assigns, or any person having a right to charge such real estate for a debt, map redeem the same by paying to the purchaser, his heirs or assigns, within one year from the sale thereof, the amount specified in the last column of the above table, and such additional taxes as may have been paid by the purchaser, his heirs or assigns, with interest on said purchase money and taxes at the rate of twelve per centum per annum from the time the same may have been so paid

Given under my hand this 10th day of Janaary, 1898,

R. W. HILL, Sheriff.

The Pocahontas Times.

Marlinton, Friday, Feb. 18. 1898.

Entered at the post-office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

THREE riders raced on the broad highway—
The devil, a woman, a man—
And, spurring his steed, laughed the devil gay,
"Come, follow me, ye who can!"

Three riders raced, and the stakes were sin,
Over the broad highway,
And the devil was second in coming in—
For the woman led the way.
—Life.

WE have recently had the hottest February day in many years.

SENATOR ALLISON acknowledge that the Dingley Bill is as rank failure as its predecesser, the Wilson Bill.

FAMINE is bringing the war to an end in Cuba. The mere loss of the island will not be half the punishment Spain should be made to suffer for her inhumanity.

THE ocean steamer Veendam, bound from Rotterdam to New York, struck a sunken wreck and sunk. The crew and passengers, numbering 212, were saved in the nick of time by the St Louis.

THE United States demands an apology of Spain. For barbarous cruelties inflicted on Cubans? No, but for words taken from the stock of the Democratic Editor and spoken by one man against Mr McKinley.

WITH Alaska claiming our surplus population on one side, and on the other fighting Spain, will make more room for the rest of us, if we go to war over the patriots who are trying to get the inestimable blessings of liberty which we enjoy, and grumble.

THESE sunny days that bring
Thoughts of beauteous, balmy spring,
Add new vigor to the life,
Make us stronger in the strife
For the noble end, our aim,
In the battle for good fame.
But within my soul there steals
Promptings that the farmer feels.
Instinct brings the message now,
"It is time to start the plow."

WE Democrats have called President McKinley names a thousand times worse than those used by those used by the Spanish Minister, De Lome; but we consider it just as much an outrage as the most consistent Republican in the land. The right to villify our leaders belongs to the American people, and when the foreigner repeats some of our stock expressions we rise up in our wrath and make him go home.

SINCE the New York Sun referred to the Harrisonburg "Spirit of the Valley" as "our esteemed contemporary," the editor thereof has been fast getting too big for his breeches. He feels that in exchange for that bright luminary he can dispense with a whole field full of ordinary contemporaries. He therefore begins to discard. He calls the editor of the Pocahontas Times a "polecat." He, probably, does not know that in these woods that is a mortal offence, and is an insult that can only be wiped out by combat a la mort. We therefore throw down our glove to the "esteemed contemporary of the New York Sun."

WE have endeavored to get some particulars concerning the finding of the dead body of a game warden near Horton in Randolph County, but have been unable to do so. The Beverly and Elkins papers, from the county in which it happened, were content with a two-inch notice of this important matter, and did no more than verify the report. They were compelled to give room to extensive articles on the money question. When the game law was passed, those acquainted with the temper of the mountain people said that the game wardens could not search a man's house with impunity, and those most anxious to protect the game predicted such results to the more adventurous of these officials. Horton has recently had some trouble with game wardens and there have been some trials and a conviction or two for violation of the game laws. A correspondent to the Alleghanian spoke very harshly of these deputy game wardens. It is a most terrible result of the local war between the hunter and the man who was tracking him down.

THE GREENBRIER RAILROAD.

An article in this paper two weeks ago pointing out the fact that the Greenbrier Railroad was apparently missing the best route, has occasioned a good deal of comment. An anonymous writer in the Greenbrier Independent discourages the investigation which we invite, but we do not care to reply to him farther than to say we do not contend with a man who fights under cover. We feel quite able to tell even so great a man as Mr Ingalls, or any other stranger, a great deal that he does not know in regard to the county of Pocahontas. Great man that he is, he does not know who lives on the back road to Edray.

When the internal improvements of the old State of Virginia were projected into this county there were some grave mistakes made. The Staunton and Parkersburg turnpike, by wirework in the legislature, crossed the mountains at the highest and most out of the way points. When the State road was built from Lewisburg to Marlin's Bottom the road was put over Spring Creek Mountain and Droop Mountain when both could have been avoided and the road made no longer. It suited the personal convenience of some citizens of the Levels to connect Renick's Valley and the Levels, and in spite of the valley of the Greenbrier offering a natural way into the county, the engineer put the road over two of the worst mountains in the State. It so outraged an old man, who as a local surveyor was assisting the engineer, that he quit the surveying corps in disgust.

THE GOSHORN TRIAL.

For the past week or so, J. W. Goshorn has been on trial for felony in the criminal court of Kanawha County. It is almost impossible to tell what the merits of the case are. The people of Kenawha have allowed so much looseness in their courts that the old statement "what is called smartness there is known as rascality elsewhere". is more particularly true of Kanawha than probably any other county in the State. The trial will be completed this week. The case is about as follows.

Goshorn is ex-county clerk, and a man of wealth and position. He has never had the least trouble in changing his politics, and at the last election he suddenly experienced a change of heart and came out as a Republican. He fought the present clerk, E. W. Staunton, hard for the place, but was beaten. Ill feeling arose between them. Last fall Goshorn was accused as he was coming out of the office with having in his pocket some vouchers in the shape of cancelled road orders. He produced them at once. The State proves by the county clerk and deputies that Goshorn had planned to get these orders and destroy them to get the late sheriff into trouble. Goshorn swears that the deputy gave him the orders to make copies of and that he would have returned them. The best that the prosecution can make out of it is that they conspired with the defendant and did evil that good might come of it.

WHIPPED BY YOUNG LADIES.

The ethics of Charleston permit the temporary suspension of the rule against assault and battery long enough to allow innocent young girls to horsewhip a man who slanders them. Charleston has a long suspension bridge over the Kanawha to the Chesapeake & Ohio depot. On this bridge the Misses Ketchmar, aged 16 and 18 years, met a young man named Brittingham, and having two stout horse-whips they beat him until he ran, and followed him the whole length of the bridge whipping him every step. The man had a warrant issued for the girls and the trial was held before a justice and a jury. The evidence showed that Brittingham was a discarded lover of the elder Ketchmar young lady, and that he had told Miss Lida Reveal that the Ketchmar girls were not decent and were unfit for her to associate with. Miss Reveal was true to her name, and told the Ketchmar girls. They took summary revenge on the young man in the manner above described. At the closing of the testimony the justice instructed the jury to acquit the young ladies, which was accordingly done. The girls were very respectable and well connected. The man did not have a friend in court, and a tremendous cheer greeted the news of the acquittal.

Bubbles or Medals.

"Best sarsaparillas." When you think of it how contradictory that term is. For there can be only one best in anything—one best sarsaparilla, as there is one highest mountain, one longest river, one deepest ocean. And that best sarsaparilla is———? . . . . There's the rub! You can measure mountain height and ocean depth, but how test sarsaparilla? You could if you were chemists. But then do you need to test it? The World's Fair Committee tested it,—and thoroughly. They went behind the label on the bottle. What did this sarsaparilla test result in? Every make of sarsaparilla shut out of the Fair, except Ayer's. So it was that Ayer's was the only sarsaparilla admitted to the World's Fair. The committee found it the best. They had no room for anything that was not the best. And as the best, Ayer's Sarsaparilla received the medal and awards due its merits. Remember the word "best" is a bubble any breath can blow; but there are pins to prick such bubbles. Those others are blowing more "best sarsaparilla" bubbles since the World's Fair pricked the old ones. True, but Ayer's Sarsaparilla has the medal. The pin that scratches the medal proves it gold. The pin that pricks the bubble proves it wind. We point to medals, not bubbles, when we say: The best sarsaparilla is Ayer's.

THE YALE PROBLEM.

The problem from the New York Sun in this paper recently has caused a good deal of comment. The question is: How much will ten yards of silk cost at $1 1—.001 per yard? J. A. G. writes from Ronceverte to give the solution, as the correctness of the result has been doubted by some of the silk merchants of that town. The silk costs, $10,010.

$$\frac{1}{.001} = \frac{1}{\frac{1}{1000}} \text{ or } 1 \ \text{divided by} \ \frac{1}{1000} = 1000$$

1000 plus 1 = 1001 dollars pr yd.

1001 x 10 yd = $10,010.

This simple illustration will prove the quantity of the fraction, i. e.

$$\frac{.001}{001} = 1 \quad \frac{1}{.001} \ \text{being} \ 1000$$ times greater must necessarily be 1000.

Here are some questions for solution: A boy had sixty apples in his basket, which he sold at the rate of five for two cents. The basket being too heavy for him, he divided the apples into lots of thirty each. One lot he sold at the rate of 3 for 2 cents; the other lot, of thirty, at the rate of 2 for 1 cent. Did he gain or lose by the transaction and why?

Two boys, A and B, had apples. A said to B, give me one apple and I will have as many as you. B said to A, give me one of yours and I will have twice as many as you. Solution desired.

MAPLE SUGAR.

The weather lately has been ideal sugar weather. Hard freezing weather yielding to bright, clear days makes the sap to flow. Last Monday a large sugar tree was cut down near Marlinton, and the tree "bled" until the ground was soaked. The discovery that sugar could be manufactured from this tree was not made until the eighteenth century. It was a prime necessity in those days when the pioneer raised everything he used on his farm.

The maple and sycamore belong to the same genus, which includes about fifty species the world over. Maples are generally classed by their leaves, having what is called palmately-lobed leaves. The fruit is a two winged "samara." America has two species, the sugar, rock, or birdseye maple, (acer saccharinum); and the scarlet maple (acer rubrum). The wood is close grained and takes the place of oak tolerably well. It is unexcelled for fuel and charcoal, and the ashes are rich in alkaline principles. A great deal of potash is manufactured from the ashes.

Sugar is made principally from the sugar-maple. The French-Canadians use the other species sometimes, but the yield is not more than one half as great. The trees begin to flow at the first warm weather after the winter freezes. A good deal depends upon the location of the tree. Those trees on southern exposures have an earlier season than those which are more or less sheltered from the effects of the rays of the sun. Trees growing in low, moist situations furnish the most sap, but it is not so sweet. A cold north-west wind with frosty nights and sunny days incites the flow, which is most abundant in the day, entirely ceasing at night when the temperature is below the freezing point. A thawing night sometimes promotes the flow. The trees stop flowing at the approach of a storm, and a south wind will often cause them to dry up. The tree is so sensitive to the cold that the sap would flow from the south and east side of the tree when the same tree would show no sign of the sap if tapped on the north or west side.

In the New-England States the manufacture of sugar is far in advance of of the process in West Virginia. There they have patent evaporators, and buckets are used to collect the sap so that it will not be discolored. The sugar is put on the market at the prices of fine confectionary. With us the same style is in vogue with not an improvement in a hundred years. A sugar trough is made from the quarter section of a block two feet long, by means of adz and ax. A "spile" is made from the elder stock and is put in an augur hole in the tree. From two to five spiles are allowed to drip in the same trough. The water is carried by means of buckets, or in large "sugar camps" by a barrel on a one-horse sled, and boiled in iron kettles, getting some color from the smoke. On the approach of warm weather the sap becomes "ropy" and will not granulate. Then it will make syrup. Later on it will not even make molasses, and a product called "sugar beer" is prepared, and the season is over.

The tree recovers from its scars in about a year. The average quantity of sap is from 14 to 24 gallons a season. Some exceptional trees have been known to produce a "bushel" of water a day, and of real sweet sap eight gallons will make a pint of molasses or a pound of sugar.

Cattle grow fond of the water sometimes, and have been known to drink enough to kill them. The water is very palatable except to that unfortunate class known as "the billious," who find it very sickening.

EYE TEST.

Should be Read at 15 Inches.

Defects of eyesight requiring correction by the use of spectacles are purely mechanical, and can be so corrected by the proper adjustment of perfectly made lenses that their effects will be entirely obviated. This print should be read easily at fifteen inches from the eye. If you cannot do so you should wear spectacles. It does not pay to buy cheap spectacles. They distort the rays of light, disturb the angles of vision, cause pain and discomfort and injure the eyesight. When it is necessary to hold work or reading matter further than fifteen inches from the eyes in order to see distinctly, it is a sure sign of failing vision, and much annoyance, discomfort or pain will be prevented by having a pair of [illegible]

I have a first-class optician's outfit, such as eye specialists use, and am prepared to examine eyes and adjust glasses in a satisfactory manner.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M D

A PROSE POEM.

CALHOUN has a new paper, The Signal. It breathes forth the pure and unadulterated principles of Democracy. The editor, E. H. Craddock, in his first issue publishes his resignation as chairman of the Republican Executive Committee of Calhoun County. In his piece he has the following word painting:

"With these few broken remarks we launch our hopeful ship, fully equipped, out on the beautiful bosom of the sea of journalism, and all are invited to drop in and see how proudly she rides the crested waves, and how sweetly her banner careens to the tender kisses of the zephyrs."

He will get down to the reality of life by the time he pies a form.

LATEST.—Just before going to press we received a line from a prominent man in New York City, which says we can be sure that the Greenbrier Rail Road will be built.

THE novelist Zola is undergoing his trial for criminal libel. He had taken up the Dreyfus case.

DR DANIEL of the Texas Medical Journal, referring to typographical errors, gives an amusing experience in that line. He says he wrote: "Dr Jno. Bailyhache aet 74 years, born July 22, 1822 and died——" Imagine his disgust when it appeared in the Journal: "Dr Bellyache ate 74 years of corn July 22, 1822, and died.

QUART BOTTLE.
There's
beauty and health in Every Quart of Johnston's Sarsaparilla

the recognized peer of all Blood Purifiers. Our illustrated book is a sure guide to health. Free for the asking.
Williams, Davis, Brooks & Co.
Detroit, Mich.

For sale by URIAH BIRD, Marlinton; and A. BARLOW, Huntersville.

MARLINTON HOUSE
Located East End of Bridge.

Terms.
per day - $1 & $1.50
per meal - - 25

Good accommodations for horses at 25 cents per feed.
Special rates made by the week or month.

C. A. YEAGER. - - Proprietor.

C. B. SWECKER,
General Auctioneer
and Real Estate Agent.

I sell Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands. Farms and Town Lots a specialty. 21 years in the business. Correspondence solicited Reference furnished.
Postoffice—Dunmore, W. Va., or Alexander, W. Va.

Ferguson's Photograph Gallery is coming to Marlinton. The finest of pictures at lowest of prices. Wait for him.

Plow Repairs

We have at last succeeded in making arrangements to supply points for the RONCEVERTE PLOW. Full stock now on hand. Send in our orders early. . . .

We are Factory Agents
for IMPERIAL and SILVER STEEL
Plows.

(The Best Hillside Plow on the Market.)

Simms & Co.,
Opp. Passenger Depot, RONCEVERTE, W. Va.

The Fifty Dollar Tribune,

THE BEST WHEEL FOR THE PRICE IN THE WORLD.

Don't Think of Buying Until You Have Seen It.

The Famous Blue Streak,
FASTER THAN EVER.

Write for Catalog.

The BLACK Mf'g. Co.,
Erie, Pa.

Assassinated!

We do not mean to assassinate you, as Wilkes Boothe did Abraham Lincoln, but warn you of the truth that you are daily assassinating your Pocket Book by not giving us your trade. Our stock is fresh, and constant increase of Business show that Prices are Better than elsewhere.

Constant sales allow no shop worn goods to remain on our shelves, and MONEY with ORDER enables us to obtain BARGAINS which we gladly share with ous customers. This means no fraud or deception Our figures are plain and bold, and you don't have to guess or ask. You can't tell what the bottom price of an article is until you see it HERE. Every day in the year is a bargain day with us.

Our stock is worth INVESTIGATION, and all are invited to call and be convinced that as to Quality of Stock and Lowness of Prices we are surpassed by none. We want your trade and friendship.

We will take Beeswax and Fur. Our nine-years' experience as buyer and shipper enables us to pay highest prices. For quality of stock, lowness of price, and prompt business, we are respectfully yours,

L. D. Sharp.

W. W. TYREE & CO.

We wish to call the attention of our customers, and the public generally, that we are equipping ourselves with tools and good material for the purpose of manufacturing and repairing Wagons, Buggies, Etc., and all other blacksmithing that is required by the public. Our aim is to be always at our post ready for any work that is to be done in our line.

Send us your orders for New Wagons. We guarantee to give satisfaction in all the work we do, both in prices and workmanship.

Respectfully,
W. W. TYREE & CO., Marlinton, W. Va

I wish to call the attention of the people who have patronized me during the time I have been in the blacksmith business at Marlinton, that I have located in the shop with W. W. Tyree, at the west end of the Bridge in Marlinton, West Virginia, and hope still to have a continuance fo your patronage.

Respectfully,
B. N. RAYBURN, Marlinton, W. Va.
February 18, 1898.

To the Public.

I have a large stock of goods on hand too large for my capital—and am compelled to sell out close to pay my bills and get ready for my Spring Stock.

A Pointer.

Always if you want to buy cheap go to the man who is compelled to sell. "Come one, come all!" I will give you better bargains than ever before for cash and good trade.

All persons knowing themselves indebted to me, please call and settle. My rule is "Cash or good trade," but by special arrangement I have a few accounts out On these I can give but short notice.

YOURS FOR BUSINESS.

S. J. Boggs.

Washington Excursions on the C. & O.

Excursion tickets will be sold for trains No. 2 and 4, on Feb. 17, March 17, April 14, May 12, 1898, at the following rates:

Ronceverte,	$7.50
White Sulphur,	7.25
Alleghany,	7.00
Covington, Va.,	6.75
Hot Springs,	7.00
Clifton Forge,	6.50
Millboro,	6.25

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. today; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

$1.00 Per Month Tuition
MAKES A LAWYER.

Methods new and satisfaction guaranteed. For particulars address WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE LAW SCHOOL 1430 N. Y. Ave., Washington, D. C.

GOOD SALARIES!
LIFE POSITIONS!
IN UNCLE SAM'S SERVICE

are within the reach of all; male and female. Now is the time to prepare yourself and get into line. Full information relating to Government positions and how to obtain them, salaries paid, scope and dates of examinations, &c., given cheerfully by the NATIONAL CIVIL SERVICE INSTITUTE, 1400 N. Y. Avenue, Washington, D. C.

The Pocahontas Times.

Hear, Land o' Cakes and brither Scots
Frae Maidenkirk to Johnny Groats,
If there's a hole in a' your coats,
I rede ye tent it;
A chiel's amang you takin' notes,
An' faith he'll prent it.—BURNS

Local Events.

PREACHING at Swago church next Sunday evening at 3 o'clock by W. T. Price.

DURING a recent storm the Huntersville bridge was partially unroofed.

CALL on W. W. Tyree for the Oliver Chilled Plows and repairs; also for the Deering machines, Oil, and repairs.

IT is a steady grind with the Marlinton steam mill. They manufacture crushed corn, corn meal, and chop.

THE commencement of Green Hill public school will be on the 25th, and not the 18th, as previously andounced. The west Marlinton school closes on Friday of this week.

HON N C. McNEIL donated to The Times museum an antique powder-charger, elaborately carved from a buck's antler. It was made and used by his grandfather in the days in Pocahontas when men lived by the rifle.

AN examination was held by Justice Bird last week to inquire into the sanity of Andrew Smith, who was dismissed from the Hospital at Weston last year as cured. It was decided that he is insane, and was placed in jail to remain until he can be taken to the hospital.

THE public is invited to be present at the meeting of the Literary Association Friday evening. A lengthy program has been prepared and a timely subject for debate announced: "Resolved, that the United States should recognize the belligerancy of the Cubans."

THE body of Deputy Game Warden Wilbur Teeter was found in the woods near Harman, on Dry Fork, Randolph county. There were two wounds, one in the hip and the other thro the heart. It is supposed that Teeter, who had made many enemies by informing upon violators of the game laws, was shot while tracking some one through the woods. His body was discovered by a dog, lying beside a log and covered over with bark.

A LOCAL weather observer has noticed that the changes of the weather depend upon the moon's phrases. In the dark of the moon the weather is clear and bright, and unusually warm for winter. but when the new moon comes in, the cold waves set in and we have storms and snows and cold rains until the moon turns the point and begins to wane. This has been a winter of high and low temperatures, destined to be fatal to bees and insect life generally.

IT IS said that preliminary work will begin with warm weather to build a railroad, beginning at Romney, Hampshire county, running up the South Branch of the Potomac, through Grant and Pendleton counties, of this State, and Highland county, Virginia, and connecting with the proposed Greenbrier railway at Frost, Pocahontas county, provided the Greenbrier line is built to Frost. If the Greenbrier line does not touch Frost, then the new railroad managers propose to make a connection with the Chesapeake & Ohio road at some other point.—Cumberland Times.

"WE have several lots of seasonable shoes made for this fall and winter trade which we wish to dispose of at once. Will sell them at a low price. Write at once.' The above is taken from a letter I received from a prominent manufacturer, and explains why I am able to offer you shoes at these low prices. I have secured the lot referred to in the letter. My idea is to be of the greatest possible advantage to those who choose my store to deal in. By the way, do you like fish? I have them as low as anywhere. I have reduced the price of airtight stoves about 25 per cent as the season is late.

PAUL GOLDEN.

D. L. BARLOW, the Principal of the Pocahontas County Normal School, is a graduate of one of the leading schools of West Virginia. He holds a State Certificate, which was issued to him last fall by the State Board of Examiners. He has had seven years of practical experience in the school room as a teacher, and he is now serving his second term as County Superintendent of Schools. Most of his life has been spent in the school room as a teacher or as a student. The school is located in one of the best neighborhoods to be found, and, considering the low price of board and tuition, this is by far the best offer the teachers and students of this county have ever had. You can attend this school during the whole twelve weeks on less money than would take you to and from any of the State Normals. Mr Barlow will place in the Pine Grove school building a set of the best desks the market affords, and we can assure the students that no efforts will be spared to make them comfortable, and in all cases they will be made to feel perfectly at home.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Misses Mollie Smith and Lillie Friel visited friends at Edray last Saturday.

C. Z. Hevener was in Marlinton Monday. He was on his way, it is said, to have a conference with Ingalls and the other directors at the Hot Springs.

Miss Lillie Smith's school, in West Marlinton, closes next Friday. It has been one of the most successful schools ever taught at that school house.

Our young friend Richard Hales has secured the position of manager for an extensive horse dealer of the Levels, in the United States of America.—London (Eng.) Times.

E. H. Moore, of Academy, who traveling for Armstrong, Cater & Co., of Baltimore, was in town last week. His route lies from Staunton, by way of Lexington, to Charleston, and from Lewisburg to Morefield, Hardy county, by private conveyance.

FROST.

We have been having some very fine weather for the last week. Feed is still plentiful in this part.

J. T. Hively has been sick for the past week and failed to teach school two.

We were very sorry to hear of the death of Mr and Mrs William Shrader's little child.

Peter Gum, of Highland, was in this section looking after lambs.

T. M. Gum has purchased a new saw mill and expects to go to work soon.

Whiting Sharp doing a big business in lumber. A. G. Dilley and C. C. Sharp are running the saw for him.

Aaron Sharp, the supposed intended, says he thinks of going to Klondike in the spring. It is a good idea if he can stand it.

Horace Herold, of Mill Gap, has been in the neighborhood for a few days.

Frank Sharp, of Texas, is expected home for a short visit in the spring.

Sheriff Hill was in Frost Saturday.

We have an interesting debating society here. There is one at Cove Hill, also.

Upton Sharp is blacksmithing for Whiting Sharp.

The Frost foot ball team will play a match game with Green Hill at George Rider's, on Back Creek, February 26. There was a lively game at Frost last Saturday.

Summers Sharp was up at home last Sunday.

Aunt Betsy Sharp is very ill at this time.

Billey is getting ready to put up his new house. His turning lathe runs day and night.

MOUNTAINEER.

LOCUST.

Capt John Peters is building his ark on the river.

R. M. Beard is bringing in his wild lambs in a sled.

Ground hog day was a good one if the sign holds good. The weather is quiet again and the snow is leaving fast.

H. A. Rankin says he has helped to catch and kill ten foxes this winter, and he has never has got one to run two hours yet. He says he can stretch the pelt of a red fox and market it at Academy in two hours.

Miss Belle Burnside caught and killed a fine white cat fish which weighed seventeen pounds, on January 31. While crossing the river in a boat, she came upon it and speared it with the boat pole.

The boys and dogs are run down. Captain Bolton seems wonderfully surprised at Mr Courtney speaking of his dogs through The Times. He wonders if they are hounds or little rat terriers, and thinks they ought to be sent east to catch mice. The Captain says he has a hound twelve years old that can catch a grey fox in thirty minutes a three mile race.

We had one of Uncle Sam's boys in our neighborhood the other day looking far pheasant feathers. He met one of our boys and, after asking him a great many questions, asked him his name. His reply was that his father was so busy butchering hogs the day he was born that he forgot to name him. The man told him he saw his father did not forget to put a hog's face on him.

The people are grieved to lose our post mistress—the flowers will come and go again before the place will be better filled.

PAPPO.

To the Teachers of Pocahontas.

The school law provides that certificates of graduation shall be issued to those pupils who complete the graded course of study and sustain a satisfactory examination on all the branches required to be taught in the public schools. If you have pupils completing the course of study, please notify me on or before the first day of March and I will prepare a list of questions on the several branches and mail them to you. Examinations are to be written and teachers required to conduct the same, and the papers forwarded to me for examination and grading. [Graded Course of Study, page 12.]

D. L. BARLOW.

HUNTERSVILLE.

To the Editor of The Times:

If you will allow me space in your valuable paper for a brief account of the news happenings for the last week by your 'pessimistic' correspondent of Huntersville, as you call him, he will promise to say nothing more about the railroad. He freely admits that he may have been feeling somewhat pessimistic when he wrote you last week, but the feeling was brought about after reading the article in your paper the week before entitled, "Where the railroad should run." Now before reading this article the writer supposed that we were going to have a railroad right away. He further supposed that Mr Ingals, President of the "Big Four," understood something about the topography of the country through which they expected to build the new road, and after having engineers in the county for several months he thought they ought to know something about the topography of the country. But when the article above referred to appeared your writer well knew the effect it would have in railroad circles, and felt sure a halt would be called in the building of the new railroad until this newly-discovered country of wealth lying along the Greenbrier River between Marlinton and Ronceverte could be explored; and the "level-headed man," the discoverer, could be examined as to his sanity.

Page Gay, of Edray, was in town last Saturday.

S. B. Scott, Jr., was visiting his sister, Mrs H. S. Rucker, Saturday

Mrs J. W. Loury who has been sick for some time is no better.

Mrs William Cole, who has been complaining for some time, is very ill at this writing.

Henry McNeel, wife, and sister, of Academy, are visiting Mr J. J. Beard this week.

Messrs Peterson, of McDowell, Va., and J. A. Moore, of Knapps Creek, were guests at the Huntersville Hotel last week

Fred Beard, Esq., was over to the Hot Springs last week on a trading expedition. He returned Friday evening. Fred was feeling good, he said he had a contract on the new railroad.

The meeting on Beaver Creek closed last Sunday. Very little "success."

Mr Thomas Hickman, of Warm Springs, was in town last Saturday. Tom is looking well and about as young as ever.

O. E. McKeever will soon finish the new school house on Beaver Creek. When finished it will be the best school house in the district.

We had circuit court last Saturday in Huntersville, Judge Grose on the bench. Lightburn Kellison charged with an assult with intent to kill one Jasper Chestnut.

E. H. Moore, of Academy, who is traveling for Armstrong, Cater, & Co., spent Sunday with his sister, Mrs M. A. Friel, near this place. Mr Moore is one of our best citizens, and we wish him great success.

ALFRED.

BUCKEYE.

It is fine winter weather and some people have opened their sugar trees.

Rev Sharp preached at the M. E. church on Sunday.

Prof. Rorke sang at the upper church Sunday evening. A large crowd attended.

The debating society is flourishing, except some bad behavior. Their names may appear before the grand jury.

Andy Campbell and George Kellison are going to Cranberry to catch fur. They are champion fox chasers.

Howard and George Kellison caught a red fox in a rat trap the other night.

Miss Bertie McNeil has returned from Mr McCoy's.

Ken Kennison has returned from camp.

Miss Carry McClintic is visiting in this section.

Messrs J. B. McNeil and William Gilmore killed a big otter the other day. It was over four feet long and they sold it for seven dollars.

Horse trading is the order of the day.

BADGER FACE.

Ancient and Modern.

And Jacob said unto his sons, Why go ye away to Egypt to buy corn? Go ye down to Buckeye, West Virginia, and buy your corn, flour, and bacon of John N. Adkison, for he even giveth to the poor. And they said unto him, We know not of this man. And he answered them saying, If ye had done wisely and subscribed for The Times you would know all such things.

Hic fabula docet: That people read advertisements in The Times.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund the money if it fails to Cure. 25c.

Notice.

All persons are hereby notified that taxes due me as late sheriff of Pocahontas County and as receiver of J. C. Arbogast, must be paid at once. Do not neglect this notice to get ready to pay.

Feb. 14. LEVI GAY, late S. P. C.

ACADEMY.

Sherman Curry, of Huntersville, was here last week on business.

G. R. Curry has returned from a short stay at Green Bank.

Mrs Alvin Clark is suffering from a badly sprained wrist.

Anthony Hill, son of R. W Hill, is quite ill with a severe attack of pneumonia.

Messrs Crummett and Yeager, of Marlinton, visited our city Monday.

R. R. Price left here Saturday, after having a number trades with our people.

Mrs C. B. Kennison, who has been quite sick, is reported as better.

Miss Susie Simmons has gone to Lewisburg. Our village loses an excellent dress maker.

Col George A. McNeel sold his lot of fine cattle to Cary Nickell of Monroe county. The Colonel always reaches the top feagure.

S. W. Holt, of Lewisburg, and Pyatt Marshall, of Randolph county, are here to see Mrs E. I. Holt, whose condition is quite critical at present.

Washington Spence, who contracted to put the logs cut on the Overholt place across the river, has got the logs within a half mile of the river. He expects to splash them into the Greenbrier with the waters of Rock Island Run.

Mr Editor: Being first duly sworn, we meet the famous fish stories of Marlinton and the snake stories of the npper end by the biggest fish story of 1898. Miss Belle Burnsides, on her way to school, was crossing the Greenbrier River in a canoe. She saw a large catfish and killed it with the pole with which she navigated the canoe. The fish was 24 inches long and weighed 17 pounds. She says she was not out fishing, nor was it a good day for fishing either. In matching this story bring forth nothing but true tales.

BUMBLEBEE.

Notice.

My wife, Rhoda E. Simms, having left my bed and board, all parties are hereby notified that I will no longer be responsible for her support.

WALLACE SIMMS.

Order of Publication.

State of West Virginia,
Pocahontas County, towit: }

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court for said county, on Monday, February 7, 1898.

C. R. McDannald, Executor of Mary C. Bias, deceased; —Plaintiff.
vs.
Warwick G. Bias. —Defendant.

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree against the defendant in favor of plaintiff for $607.34 with interest thereon from the 1st day of July, 1896, and costs, and to attach and subject to the payment thereof the undivided one-sixteenth interest of defendant in lands in Pocahontas County, whereof his grandmother, Margaret Gatewood died seized.

And it appearing by affidavit filed that the defendant is a non-resident of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that he do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit.

Witness, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of said Court, at the court-house thereof, this 7th day of February, 1898.

J. H. PATTERSON,
Clerk.

W. M. & J. T. McAllister, p. q.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.
Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

GLADE HILL.

Fine weather, and sugar making is the order of the day.

Miss Bessie Patterson's school is progressing finely.

Rev Charles Fitzgerald began a series of meetings at the Liberty church Sunday.

Messrs Bland Nottingham and Ward and Harper Hudson, who have been working at Peter's camp, have returned home.

Ulysses Nottingham, who has been in Montana for some time, is at home on a visit, and reports times as booming in that country.

Henry and Howard Brisce and James and Otho Gum are visiting friends on this side of the mountain.

The Green Bank correspondent must have seen his shadow on the second and has gone hole, as we never hear from him.

Price Sheets, of Highland county, will bring his saw mill to this county soon. He does good honest sawing and we are glad he is coming back to the county.

What has become of our mail route from Green Bank to Frost. There was a petetion sent in for it some time ago but I don't hear anything about it and it is badly needed.

I think the railroad will be safe in coming up by Glade Hill now that Bill Acres has consented to move his hen coop and the negotiations with the trustees for the removal of the old school-house are in such a favorable state. But it takes quite a lot of red tape to decide such weighty matters.

TIM O'FLANIGAN.

Order of Publication.

State of West Virginia,
Pocahontas County, towit: }

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court of said county, on Monday, the 7th day of February, 1898.

Charles Friel, ... Plaintiff.
vs.
Martha F. Friel . . . . Defendant

The object of this suit is to procure a divorce by the plaintiff from the bonds of matrimony with the defendant, and it appearing from affidavit filed that the defendant, Martha F. Friel, is a non resident of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that she do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order and do whet is necessary to protect her interest in this suit.

Witness, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of our said Court, at the court-house, this 8th day of February, 1898.

J. H. PATTERSON,
N. C. McNeil, p. q. Clerk.

Notice to Take Depositions.

To Martha F. Friel: Take notice that on the 26th day of March, 1898, between the hours of 6 oclock A. M. and 6 o'clock P. M. of that day, at the law office of N. C. McNeil, in the town of Marlinton, W. Virginia, I will take the depositions of myself and others to be read as evidence in my behalf in a certain suit in chancery now pending in the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, in which I am plaintiff and you are defendant; and if from any cause the taking of said depositions shall not be commenced or completed on that day, the same shall be continued from day to day or from time to time at the same place and between the same hours until the same shall be completed.

CHARLES FRIEL,
By Counsel.
N. C. McNeil, Solicitor.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.
Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C fail, druggists refund money.

The Levels News.

Edited by Payne Bros.

Vol. 1 Academy, W. Va., Feb. 18, 1898. No. 5

—Corn 50c per bushel.
—Wheat 90c per bushel.
—Oats 35c per bushel.
—Eggs 12½c per dozen.
—Butter 15c per pound.
—Clover and Timothy Seed.
—Irish Potatoes 65c per bushel.

—PAYNE BROS.

—The mud is drying up very rapidly this pretty weather.

—Building Hardware at lowest prices.

—The sick in our midst are improving somewhat.

—S. P. Curry, of Huntersville, was down last week to see his sister, Mrs J. S. McNeel.

—Gladys, the year-old child of S. J. Payne, fell down a long flight of stairs last Friday, with no further injury than a bumped head.

—Send your orders to Payne Bros. for the R. & G. Corsets; they have all sizes, and is the best corset made.

—If you are thinking of buying a Cattle Scale this season, write or call on Payne Brothers, as they have secured the agency for the best made.

—Buy a nice Hardwood Safe at Payne Bros. Only $3.75. Mattresses at $3 00 to $5.00 each. Silver Steel Plows $11.50 each; Oliver Chilled Plows, $9.50; Imperial Chilled, $9.50. Also repairs for all the above standard Plows.

—G. L. Clark was laid up with rheumatism last week.

—Overcoats and Ladies Capes sold at cost for 30 days.

—Captain A. M. Edgar's hand is not much better.

—Anthony Hill, son of R. W. Hill, has pneumonia.

—Salt. A car load just arrived, at $2.00 per sack.

—S. W. Holt, of Lewisburg, spent Sunday with his brother. E. I. Holt

—High Arm Singer Sewing Machine, 7 drawers, guaranteed 10 years. Price only $18.00.

—The free school at Academy closed last Friday. The second term opened Monday with nineteen scholars.

—If you have any live stock, Cattle, Hogs, or sheep, to sell you can sell them to S. J. Payne, of the firm of Payne Brothers, at full prices.

—Send your orders for freight or express packages that you may want brought from Ronceverte, as Payne Bros have a team leave Hillsboro every Tuesday evening, and arriving Friday or Saturday of the same week.

—Best Grades of Roller Flour at
J. H. DOYLE, Huntersville, W V.
G. L. HANNAH, Yelk, W. Va.
At BARLOW & MOORE'S, Edray, W. Va.,
J. H. CURRY, Green Bank, W. Va.

Bottom Knocked Out!

~~To Cash Buyers~~

We will until APRIL 1st, 1898, sell our entire stock of goods at from 5 to 10 per cent. above cost, strictly for cash, Produce will be taken, but will charge more for goods.

Below will quote you prices on a few articles:

Arbuckle Coffee	12½c
Good Green Coffee	10c
Best Green Coffee	14c
Granulated Sugar	7c
Best Calico	5 to 6
Gingham	5 to 8
2400 Matches	15c
Mens' Suits from $4 to $8

Have a few Overcoats which we will sell low. We will save you from 25 to 50 per cent on all goods. Come and see before buying elsewhere, and see if we don't mean just what we say.

Yours to save you Money,

B. F. McElwee,
Dunmore, W. Va.

All persons knowing themselves indebted to me by note or apc. will find their claims in the hands of Mr Sam Sheets for collection.

If I were a cobbler I would make it my pride
The best of its kind to be;
If I were a tinker nobody
could
Mend an old kettle like me.

I don't allow to be undersold by Anybdy. Here is a good thing:

Lumberman's Driving Shoe, Wisconsin pattern. . . . $3.48.
Black Diagonal Mackintoshes, reduced to. . . . . $2.37½.

A successful New Year to you.

PAUL GOLDEN.

Pocahontas County Normal School for 1898.

LOCATED AT PINE GROVE, TWO MILES WEST OF EDRAY.

School Opens March 28, and Closes June 17.

SPECIAL ADVANTAGES:
(1)—The school is located in a good neighborhood.
(2)—Lowest rates of boarding of any School in the State.
(3)—The whole Public School Couse, including Rhetoric, Algebra Physical Geography, Geometry, Botany, and Philosophy, will be taught as thoroughly as in the State Normal schools.
(4)—Special attention will be given to Science and Art of Teaching.
(5)—State, United States, and General History, Civil Government, and Physiology taught by the outline method. Uniformity of text books not required.

DEPORTMENT.
We reserve the right to sever the connexion of any student with the school who does not conform to it's regulations.

BOARDING.
Can be obtained near the school at $1.75 per week, and students will be made (by the hospitality of our people) to feel perfectly at home. Parents can send their sons and daughters to this school with the assurance that they will be comfortably situated while here, and that we will look carefully after their interests.

TUITION.
From $2.00 to $2.75 per month.

Do not let this Opportunity pass.

For further information, address
D. L. BARLOW, Principal; Edray, W. Va.

Announcement.

Hillsboro Academy.

The Second Term of Hillsboro Academy will commence

Monday, February 14, 1898.

and continue four months.

With the assistance of Miss Virgie Sydenstricker, a graduate of the Lewisburg Female Institute, we are prepared to give a full and thorough preparatory course for any male or female college.

Miss Mary I. McNeel, whose musical talents are well known, still has the music department in connexion with the school.

The charges for tuition and board are very moderate.

All other information cheerfully given.

Address
W. W. Terry, Principal,
ACADEMY, W. VA.

Feb3 3w

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE - - - EDITOR.

Marlinton, Friday, Feb. 25. 1898.

Entered at the post office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

WE can fight Spain without any great inconvenience. The pensioners could board out among the neighbors, and we could take their pay as an ample fund to maintain the war.

MOST people thought that the relations between Spain and America could not bear any farthe strain. But it seems that nothing moves the Administration except calling them names.

IF the Maine was sunk by accident, it is remarkably strange that it should occur to a ship in a hostile port, at just the proper hour of the night. We can exclaim with the Psalmist, "An enemy hath done this!"

SENATOR MORGAN'S doctrine is to build two such cruisers to show the world that when the United States loses one arm two will spring up in its place. The better plan would be to lop off two from the enemy. It would be cheaper.

THE new postmaster of Harrisonburg is Rev A. P. Funkhouser, of the United Brethren Church. The Spirit of the Valley declares that his appointment is a great setback to the Republican party of Rockingham County.

THE calmness which the administration views the disaster to the Maine is along the general inertia manifested heretofore. The steamship went and stationed itself there for trouble, and she got it. All her helpless bulk was a tempting target for the enemies of America.

EVEN the ladies of Marlinton discussed the sinking of the battleship Maine in the unfriendly port of Havana, and for once the sewing circles found something outside of the immediate neighborhood to interest them. Some may wonder that we say this about them, but it is not so strange as it may seem, for they do not read this page of the paper.

AMERICAN people are justifiable in suspecting foul play. They would not have been surprised if the ship had been fired upon from the fort. When the explosion occurred the first thought of the captain was that she had been fired upon. But with all this in their minds they seemed to have forgotten that the means to destroy them might not be so open. They never suspected treachery, and when it came they were just enough to give the enemy the benefit of the doubt.

A SHORT time ago two dogs were watching each other in the streets of Marlinton. Both had their hair raised and were showing their teeth. They were slowly passing each other when a horse nearby squealed and kicked the fence with resounding whack. The accident precipitated hostilities, and the dogs were fighting in less than a second. Two other dogs rushed into action and it took an arbitrator a long time to quell the disturbance. It may be that Spain and the United States will by an unfortunate action find themselves fighting, and if they do some other dogs will rush in.

IT seems that the Senatorial fight of the next legislature, if there be a Democratic majority on joint ballot, will be between Senator Faulkner and Colonel John T. McGraw. These two gentlemen are on the best of terms, and the issue will not be raised between them to any damaging extent before the election. We have never been an admirer of Faulkner. He is distinctly a man on whom greatness has been thrust. David B. Hill has described him as being "active but not effective," and he has certainly so proved himself. His recent failure to be reelected chairman of the Congressional Campaign Committee was not felt by the Democratic party of this State to the slightest extent. Senator Faulkner is far more of a Virginian than a West Virginian. He holds more intercourse with Virginians than those of his own State, and he sends his children to school in Virginia. He makes a poor showing in Washington beside his Republican colleague Senator Elkins, and his famous Democratic predecessors.

COMPLIMENTARY NOTICE.

William B. Blake, more familiarly known as "Old Ragged-Edged Bill," is the owner of the Valley Messenger and News. The paper has no editor, but depends on clippings from other papers "until it makes them look like seives," to quote a recent confession. Last week he chose to make us the subject of an odious comparison. He gravely announced the well known fact that the editor of the Pocahontas Times is not as accomplished a writer as his father. We maintain that we have never pretended to equal many men as writers. But the evil that men do lives after them. "Old Ragged-edge Bill" has offended us, and we propose to tell of his qualities as a writer.

In 1874, when this old pawkey-wit was in the heydey of youthful wit and beauty, he wrote a touching serial story called "Stammering Bill," for the Musical Million, then published at Singer's Glen. We have it before us and are gloating over it. We know that any time we can publish it, and if we do the people of Ronceverte will rise in their wrath and drive him clean out of the country.

His scene is laid in the "lovliest valley in all christendom. Only one thing to mar the quietude and and peacefulness of nature. A row of great mills, whose ceaseless jar, and clang, and clatter, made it quite disagreeable living near them." Such is the elegant construction of his sentences! Stammering Bill is a mill hand. He stammers. It would be queer if he did not. The owner of the mill has a son. To-day he would have been called a plutocrat. It took a stick to describe him when Blake wrote about him. This plutocratic youth used to lam Stammering Bill around whenever he felt like it. Stammering Bill supported an aged Brahmin who lived in the woods. One day the Brahmin died. Bill went to sleep in the mill. He had a chance to push the young plutoctat into the water but did not do it. One night he saw the dam burst. The whole town lay below the dam. Stammering Bill had a notion for a while not to do a hate. But a song had been sung in the mill that day and a fragment which had lodged on the rafters overhead fell on his ear and softened him. He got a move on himself and rang every bell in the place, and every body got back to the hills, and though every house was swept away not a life was lost except Stammering Bill, who was finally overtaken by the flood.

Blake's sons may draw better pictures than he, but they can never, no never write an account of a bursting dam to come up with their romantic father.

BRYAN'S PLATFORM.

Hon William J. Bryan, tho perhaps self-elected, seems to be general director of the Democratic party, has prepared the following platform as a declaration of our principles for the campaign of 1898, and it seems to be good, sound doctrine, and will serve to express our sentiments better, perhaps, than the famous Chicago platform:

First—We are unalterably opposed to gold monometalism.

Second—We demand the immediate restoration of Bimetalism at the present ratio by the independent action of this country.

Third—We oppose the retirement of the greenbacks.

Fourth—We oppose the issue of paper money by national banks.

Fifth—We oppose the issue of interest bearing bonds in time of peace.

Sixth—We favor the income tax as a means of raising a part of the revenue necessary to administer the Federal Government.

Seventh—We favor the abolition of trusts.

Eighth—We are opposed to government by injunction.

Ninth—We are in favor of arbitration as a means of settling disputes between labor and capital.

THE available men for military service in the United States number 10,415,000. The number of men organized into companies 114,262.

THE Secretary of State has issued a charter to the Carter Gravity Magnetic Ore Separating Company, of Charleston, W. Virginia, with a capital of $500 and the privilege of increasing the same to $2,000,000. The shares are $100 each, and held by W. C. Leonard, G. L. Welch, P. C. Russel, J. A. Summers, and A. C. Gunther.

A PROBLEM.

We failed to state a problem correctly last week. It is as follows. A boy had sixty apples in his basket, which he sold at he rate of five for two cents. The basket being too heavy for him, he divided the apples into lots of thirty each. One lot he sold at the rate of 3 for 1 cent; the other lot, of thirty, at the rate of 2 for 1 cent. Did he gain or lose by the transaction and why?

Under the first sale he would sell 60 apples at 5 for 2 cents giving him 24 cents for the sixty.

When he divided them into two lots, 30 at 3 for 1 cent equals 10 cents; 30 at 2 for 1 cent equals 15 cents: 10 plus 15 equals 25 cents the amount of the sale of the 60 apples when divided. What makes the difference?

IF you take the trouble to investigate, you will find, in a country community, that the young men who subscribe for local and city papers are the ones who are foremost in business. And there are others.

WEYLER says the destruction of the Maine was due to the "indolence of the crew." This is regarded as an insult to our navy. If he had said that the whole treacherous affair was due to the indolence of the administration he would have been nearer right.

THE natural interest and indignation aroused in this country over the condition of the Cuban patriots has stirred the natures of the loyal Spaniard to its greatest depths. The blowing up of the Maine was a natural sequence to the feeling of hate which prevails among the Spanish people.

THE day is past when a country paper can charge more than one dollar as a subscription rate. Anything over one dollar has come to be regarded by the public as velvet for the publisher; and when we consider that a rate for advertising must necessarily and primarily be founded on a circulation basis, we see the folly of a deterring subscription price.

THE Monroe Watchman says that a young lady aged 16 years died in that county recently whose parents were fatalists. The daughter was not necessarily sick of an incurable disease, but the parents deciding by some occult means that their daughter was to die, refused to give the medicine prescribed and furnished by the attending physician, tho the patient begged them to do so. If there is proof sufficient, the grand jury of Monroe County should indict these people as a warning against the practice of fatalism that may sometimes prove fatal.

A Winter Thundder Storm.

THE thunder storm last Sunday was as pronounced as those of summer. All the forenoon the air seemed saturated with moisture. About two o'clock the rumbling of distant thunder was heard. Some of the reports resembled the sound of a horn. The thunder became louder and the flashes of lightning could be seen. The redness of the flashes was peculiar. One flash observed was that rare phenomenon, known as "globe lightning." In the west a globe of light, about the size of the sun, seemed to drop from the clouds, and remained stationary for a perceptible length of time and burst into thousands of flashes, accompanied by a tremendous clap of thunder. It was the color of red-hot iron. The rain began then, and in a few minutes the most severe hailstorm which has visited this county for years was in progress. The hailstones were about as large as peas, and were falling so thick that objects a few yards distant were totally obscured. All the while the thunder was rolling and crashing. The storm continued for about a quarter of an hour.

G. Washington Poage.

DIED.—At his home at Walker, Vernon County, Missouri, January 15, 1898, G. Washington Poage, aged about 83 years.

He was a son of the late George W. Poage, of the Levels. About 27 years ago he moved to Missouri from Beaver Creek, near Huntersville. His wife was Miss Cornelia Hinchman, of Monroe County.

He was seized by his final illness in August, and was unable to turn or feed himself ever since, thus requiring constant attention on the part of his devoted family. A very brief time before his sickness he said to a neighbor that he was going soon. "Ever since the death of my mother he has seemed to be always waiting for the call to come up higher." Thus his daughter writes in her letter to her cousin, Mrs Mary Barlow, at Huntersville.

He has lived a consistent Christian from early youth, and there is everything to comfort his bereaved friends that with him "all is well."

W. T. P.

DILLEY'S MILL.

Jasper Mace, of Webster County, is visiting his uncle W. H. Dilley.

The farmers in this part are plowing making ready for early crops.

Isaac Grogg has rented and moved to Prime Dilley's property.

Gilmore Sharp is preparing for a saw set on his farm.

The show at Mt Zion schoolhouse proved to be a tramp who sang a few comic songs.

Miss Nola Shrader was home on a visit, accompanied by Annie Lee Ervine.

Mr James Hively discontinued school part of last week owing to a severe cold.

Miss Florence Hively was home from school last week on a visit, and returned with her best fellow to escort her.

The football fever seems to be reviving. At Frost and Dilley's Mill they still keep it up. George Sharp broke a blood vessel while playing at Frost Saturday.

Mrs Manda Sharp is talking of going to Texas where her sons Hanson and Frank are.

We are having most beautiful winter weather now. So very warm for February. Stock is showing up well and feed seems to be very plentiful in this part.

Charles McKinley Shrader died on the 11th instant, (son of William Shrader), 10 months old. He died of pneumonia, and was sick two days.

Yours truly, "JENKINS."

MILL POINT.

Our strong men are returning from the lumber camps.

What of the compulsory school law? Is it any good?

P. G. Shafer, of Virginia, is in our vicinity operating a gramophone.

Valentines have been floating around here a great deal of late.

Sherman Pyles, the supposed intended, says he is going to Klondike.

There will be a spelling contest at Riverside, Friday night, February 25. Come, all ye champions, for ye have champions to contend with!

We hear that our County Superintendent highly commended the Riverside school and its discipline as being the best in the District.

The school on Stamping Creek closed last Saturday. Although some persons were disappointed the last day, the school was considered a success. The scarlet fever in the vicinity prevented any entertainment.

One of the 'pets' in a certain school not long since got whipped. His father concluded to have his revenge upon the teacher by making a complaint of cruelty to the trustees. The "post mortum" examination of the body of the victim revealed three little red stripes two inches long. The jury render ed a verdict of not guilty, and the truftees permitted the teacher to continue the school as before, and left him a switch in the room, also They said they had as well stop the school as to forbid the use of the rod.

MUX.

SOMETHING appeared in the Alderson Man about the Pocahontas Times recently. It was to blurred and indistinct to be read. That populistic luminary, "looks like it had been set and made up in a blacksmith shop and printed on a threshing machine."

Notice.

All persons are hereby notified that taxes due me as late sheriff of Pocahontas County and as receiver of J. C. Arbogast, must be paid at once. Do not neglect this notice to get ready to pay.

Feb. 14. LEVI GAY, late S. P. C.

EYE TEST.

Shou d be Read at 15 Inches.

[illegible]

I have a first-class optician's outfit, such as eye specialists use, and am prepared to examine eyes and adjust glasses in a satisfactory manner.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M D

DAVID LILLY, of Summers county, aged 15, killed his cousin Arthur Lilly, aged 16. The fight was on account of jealousy of a young girl. The two boys were on their way home from a spelling match, the elder walking with the girl. The boys fought three times, being separated. Twice the young homicide was the agressor. The last time he entered the fight with a rock in a cloth and with it he crushed the other boy's head, killing him instantly.

QUART BOTTLE.

There's beauty and health in Every Quart of Johnston's Sarsaparilla

the recognized peer of all Blood Purifiers. Our illustrated book is a sure guide to health. Free for the asking.

Williams, Davis, Brooks & Co. Detroit, Mich.

For sale by URIAH BIRD, Marlinton; and A. BARLOW, Huntersville.

C. B. SWECKER,

General Auctioneer and Real Estate Agent.

I sell Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands. Farms and Town Lots a specialty. 21 years in the business. Correspondence solicited Reference furnished.

Postoffice—Dunmore, W. Va., or Alexander, W. Va.

Ferguson's Photograph Gallery is coming to Marlinton. The finest of pictures at lowest of prices. Wait for him.

Bicycles.

PROSPECTIVE Bicycle Purchasers will take notice that I have a few Bicycles at my disposal, (of best makes), which I will deliver in perfect running order at less than the makers' nei prices F. O. B.

No low grade machine handled by me.

N. R. Price.

The Fifty Dollar Tribune,

THE BEST WHEEL FOR THE PRICE IN THE WORLD.

Don't Think of Buying Until You Have Seen It.

The Famous Blue Streak,

FASTER THAN EVER.

Write for Catalog.

The BLACK Mf'g. Co., Erie, Pa.

Assassinated!

We do not mean to assassinate you, as Wilkes Boothe did Abraham Lincoln, but warn you of the truth that you are daily assassinating your Pocket Book by not giving us your trade. Our stock is fresh, and constant increase of Business show that Prices are Better than elsewhere.

Constant sales allow no shop worn gooods to remain on our shelves, and MONEY with ORD. R enables us to obtain BARGAINS which we gladly share with our customers. This means no fraud or deception Our figures are plain and bold, and you don't have to guess or ask. You can't tell what the bottom price of an article is until you see it HERE. Every day in the year is a bargain day with us.

Our stock is worth INVESTIGATION, and all are invited to call and be convinced that as to Quality of Stock and Lowness of Prices we are surpassed by none. We want your trade and friendship.

We will take Beeswax and Fur. Our nine-years' experience as buyer and shipper enables us to pay highest prices. For quality of stock, lowness of price, and prompt business, we are respectfully yours,

L. D. Sharp.

W. W. TYREE & CO.

We wish to call the attention of our customers, and the public generally, that we are equipping ourselves with tools and good material for the purpose of manufacturing and repairing Wagons, Buggies, Etc., and all other blacksmithing that is required by the public. Our aim is to be always at our post ready for any work that is to be done in our line.

Send us your orders for New Wagons. We guarantee to give satisfaction in all the work we do, both in prices and workmanship.

Respectfully,

W. W. TYREE & CO., Marlinton, W. Va

I wish to call the attention of the people who have patronized me during the time I have been in the blacksmith business at Marlinton, that I have located in the shop with W. W. Tyree, at the west end of the Bridge in Marlinton, West Virginia, and hope still to have a continuance of your patronage.

Respectfully,

B. N. RAYBURN, Marlinton, W. Va.

February 18, 1898.

To the Public.

I have a large stock of goods on hand—too large for my capital—and am compelled to sell out close to pay my bills and get ready for my Spring Stock.

A Pointer.

Always if you want to buy cheap go to the man who is compelled to sell. "Come one, come all!" I will give you better bargains than ever before for cash and good trade.

All persons knowing themselves indebted to me, please call and settle. My rule is "Cash or good trade," but by special arrangement I have a few accounts out. On these I can give but short notice.

YOURS FOR BUSINESS.

S. J. Boggs.

Plow Repairs

We have at last succeeded in making arrangements to supply points for the RONCEVERTE PLOW. Full stock now on hand. Send in our orders early.

We are Factory Agents for IMPERIAL and SILVER STEEL Plows.

(The Best Hillside Plow on the Market.)

Simms & Co.,

Opp. Passenger Depot, RONCEVERTE, W. Va.

Washington Excursions on the C. & O.

Excursion tickets will be sold for trains No. 2 and 4, on Feb. 17, March 17, April 14, May 12, 1898, at the following rates:

Ronceverte,	$7.50
White Sulphur,	7.25
Alleghany,	7.00
Covington, Va.,	6.75
Hot Springs,	7.00
Clifton Forge,	6.50
Millboro,	6.25

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co. Chicago or New York.

MARLINTON HOUSE

Located East End of Bridge.

Terms.

per day - $1 & $1.50

per meal - - 25

Good accommodations for horses at 25 cents per feed.

Special rates made by the week or month.

C. A. YEAGER. - - Proprietor.

...pation Forever. Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

The Pocahontas Times,

Hear, Land o' Cakes and brither Scots,
Frae Maidenkirk to Johnny Groats,
If there's a hole in a' your coats,
I rede ye tent it;
A chiel's amang you takin' notes,
An' faith he'll prent it. —BURNS

Local Events.

LIGHTNING struck and demolished a poplar tree on Jerico Sunday.

Mr P. D. Yeager, of Travelers Repose, leaves this week for a city hospital where, it is supposed, that his arm will be amputated.

DIED: At her home in Elkwater, Randolph County, Miss Mattie See, daughter of the late Adam See.

DIED: At her home near Traveler's Repose, Mrs James S. Burner in the 23d year of her age. She was a Miss Cutlip, of Nicholas County. Obituary next week.

ANDREW MCALPIN caught two eagles in steel traps, and kept them alive. The largest measured seven feet and one inch. Mrs J. C. Gay also caught two large eagles, the bait being the carcass of a sheep. The immense talons of one of these birds were added to this office collection of curiosities.

As required by the book of Church Order, the session of Marlin's Bottom Church has been instructed to call a congregational meeting to act upon the resignation of the pastor. This meeting is called for the first Sabbath of March, immediately after public worship, and a full attendance of the membership is desired.

NEARING THE END.—Every tick of the clock is bringing the last month of winter to end, and I still have some nice, strictly all wool, melton over coats with velvet collars, the kind you used to pay $10 for, only $4.95. Those who have known me the longest are my best custumers, as I back up the statements I make with the goods themselves. Yours for comparison,

PAUL GOLDEN,

ELLIS BAXTER shot a large wild cat last Thursday. He had gone out to feed and had his Winchester rifle with him. Some hounds were running near him in short circles. He saw the wild cat several times, and finally got a shot at it and broke its back; he claims two hundred yards. While it was crawling towards some rocks he gave it another shot behind the shoulder. This is the third wild cat which has been killed near the town lately.

AN impending slander suit was adjusted last Friday by a conference of parties at the court house. George Allen and L. D. Sharp had a difference of one dollar in a settlement, and Sharp wrote in his haste to Allen and accused him of changing the receipt. This being damaging to the character of Allen he theatened suit and secured L M McClintic as attrrney. Sharp employed H. S. Rucker, and the matter was compromised by Sharp paying Allen $75. This is a very happy ending of the matter for a slander suit is the most disagreeable task ever undertaken by our courts.

DIED: Edgar Truss, a young colored man living in the Brush, aged 23 years. This is the third death in this family of fever. There have been seven cases. The first case was contracted at Marlinton last year when the fever was so prevalent here. The house and wood pile at the Truss home is above the spring and the refuse of the house drains into the spring. The family had gone several months without a case of fever, and, in spite of the doctor's warning about the water, they resumed the use of it. Their facilities for nursing are poor; a family of eight or ten persons being confined in one room for cooking, eating and sleeping.

SUNDAY evening a number of people had gathered for preaching at the upper church on Swago, Bill Hefner arrived drunk and disorderly. He tried to pick a fuss with Howard Kellison who went home. Bill then let off some steam by firing his revolver several times. Later he was still hunting trouble and he and Mart Barnes had a fight in which Bill's head was cut open. He gets on a spree in Marlinton occasionally. When under the influence of liquor he lets off all manner of howls, and makes a noise that can be heard a mile. Owing to the absence of the minister there was no preaching, but the pillars of the church had their hands full managing the disturbance.

LAST Friday word had been received here of the Maine disaster, in the manner which great events reach us, ahead of the mail and "we were crowded in the cabin," to quote from a noted poem, to see the mail opened. Imagine the disgust of the anti-Spaniards when it was discovered that the mail-carrier had been short of horses and had not transported the newspapers farther than Falling Springs. At least, that was the tale brought by the little mail carrier who brings the mail on from Academy. The expressions of dissatisfaction caused this young fellow to get impudent, but he was soon quieted by indignant citizens. After a delay of twenty-four hours, the delayed newspapers reached us. Complaint was made to the Department.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

Harvey Maupin Killed Suddenly by Sliding Logs.

The greatest sensation this village has ever experienced was the killing of Harvey Maupin while at work in the woods about a mile from town, last Tuesday evening about 3 o'clock. He was working with Thomas Courtney and sons Amos and Wilson on the north side of Buckley mountain opposite the Laden Bottom. The men were engaged in getting out railcuts. The ground was very steep and frozen hard. The logs had been cut and frozen hard. The logs had been cut and were being slid down the hill. The deceased was working without calks in his shoes. A small chestnut lay across and two large red oaks end on had caught on it. He went to the lower end and was cautioned by Thomas Courtney who told him that there was danger in loosening up the logs as they lay. He remarked that he thought he thought he he was able to take care of himself.

When the logs started he was thrown down by his canthook directly in front of one of the large logs. He was borne back in a sitting position for fifty yards down the mountain. At the bottom the logs went clear and he was found lying apart from them. He was conscious and remained so until he passed away. Dr Price reached him in a few minutes after he was hurt. His injuries consisted of a badly mashed left leg, a broken arm, a bruise in the side, and and other bruises and hurts on different portions of his body.

The deceased resided at the old Price place. He was 26 years old, and leaves a wife and one child. He was a man of most exemplary character and a sincere and consistent Christian. He was a member of the M. E. Church South and was active in the affairs of the church. He was President of the Epworth League at this place and led the last meeting.

He seemed to have a premonition of his death, as he remarked to one of the men who were working with him as they passed the graveyard a few hours before his death that he felt like he might be "buried there tomorrow."

In connexion with this Mrs Maupin, a few nights before, had a dream that was out of the ordinary. She saw her husband with Wilson Courtney and heard him say, "Take care of Flora and the baby." There was such an indefinable feeling of impending separation in it all that she awoke and the terror of the dream impressed her so that she was afraid to mention it to her husband but thought of it constantly until the body of her husband was carried home.

The interment will be at Green Bank Thursday of this week.

Dazzling Display.

The public was treated to an exhibition of galling bumptiousness, Friday night. After a tedious session of two hours and a half, the judges rendered a decision, purely on the merits of the debate, for the negative. The affirmative appealed to the house, and was promptly sat down upon by a long suffering "public." The question was "That the United States government should recognize the belligerancy of the Cubans." Norman Price and S. B. Scott, Jr., affirmed, and N. C. McNeil and J. A. McLaughlin denied. Judges, H. A. Yeager, J. Woods Price and Dr Cunningham. Dr J. W. Price chairman pro tempore.

The recitation by Miss Daisy Yeager and declamation by Mr E. H. Smith were given in fine style and showed much careful preparation.

Literatoor is the sole and only aim of this body. Shakespeare is to be revived at the next meeting.

N. R. P.

Shooting Match.

The shooting match at Bill McClure's last Saturday was well attended by the dead game sports. The prizes were sums of money and in all $10.70 was jeopardized in the six matches or sets. The distance was sixty yards. The contestants from the West side of the river won $5.95 and those from the East side $4.75. The prizes were for first, second, and third.

First Set—Ed. Malcomb, 75c; R. S Malcomb, 50c; B. F. Johnson, 25c.
Second Set—U. S. Johnson, $1.00 Ed Malcomb, 75c. U. S. Johnson, 25c.
Third Set—Woods Dilley, $1 00. U. S. Johnson, 75c. U. S. Johnson, 25c.
Fourth Set—Robert Dilley, $1.50. B. F. Johnson, 75c. Josiah Dilley, 50c.
Fifth Set—B. D. Dilley, $1.00 Jasper Dilley, 75c. Josiah Dilley, 25c.
Nickel Match—U. S. Johnson, 45c.

Grant Johnson, who furnished us this report, had very bad luck. He shot a hundred rounds that day and spent $1.50 on the prizes and failed to win.

The next match will be at Marlinton on Saturday, March 5, 1898. Everybody is invited. The Pocahontas Times offers a year's subscription to the marksman making the best shot at the regulation distance during the day; in case of a tie to be shot off as determined by judges.

DANDRUFF, which causes so much itching of the scalp, can be cured by Hall's Hair Renewer, because it is a corrective tonic for the glands producing dandruff.

DUNMORE.

Pete Oliver thinks he weighs about 240—Its a girl!

Morris of Buckhannon, the machine agent is out.

S. P. Sheets is going to bring in a large new sawmill to Green Bank

B. M. Yeager went after the railroad again.

Captain McNeel's team brought up a load of flour for Payne Bros.

Stonewall and his girl took in the big dance at Marlinton, 14th.

Loop Bill Smith lost a fine horse last week.

Sid opened his sugar trees, and lo and behold how they did run!

Otis Warwick, of Midway Inn, was in town Monday night.

The price of land and town property went down with the railroad.

D. B. McElwee and Charles Palmer were up prospecting.

Mr Liss Nottingham, of Montana, is home on a visit.

The boys of town gave an oyster supper which was greatly enjoyed.

J. C. Gay and Q. W. Poage, cattle men, were over last week looking at their cattle.

S. R. Kerr is out to Staunton for a load of goods and to see the cars.

The auction sale at Green Bank the 5th was largely attended and goods sold rapidly.

Price Moore was up a few days ago locating a railroad tunnel or a bee course.

George Hoover is going to move to Randolph County, and will probably run for Prosecuting Attorney over there.

Most of the boys are home from the lumber camps. Too much prosperity and not enough work.

Several sales will take place in the near future.

Professor William Bussard, of Frost, got a shorthand letter which was a little too canonicle for Billy.

The debates still go on. It is strange how smart men will differ in their opinions.

Fine weather, and the railroad went went went to the devil—just as we expected.

Emmet Nottingham, of Mill Point, is up to see his father and mother, who are sick at this time.

On the sick-list: Mrs C. B. Swecker, Mrs L. E. Campbell, Mrs R. L. Nottingham, William Carpenter, J. B. McCutcheon.

Died: At his home on Back Alleghany, Samuel Gragg, aged about 25 years.—On the 5th instant an infant child of Mr John A. Sheets.—On the 11th instant, a child 10 months old of Mr William Shrader, of near Frost.

The Sweet Maree Show went where the woodbine twineth and the whangadoodle mourneth, and the little birds sing their doola doo and jump from branch to branch. When the perfotmers began to play the boys and girls all went away. The girls were a little struck with the show men till they put on their false faces.

SPOKE SHAVE.

FEBRUARY 18, 1898.

Cold, stormy, frosty weather.

A. J. Dilley is in town to day.

Harry Nottingham is critically ill at this time.

P. D. Yeager is going to Baltimore this week to have his fractured arm treated.

Mrs C. B. Swecker and Mrs L. E. Campbell are still under the weather.

George Bambrick and W. B. Hanna have ordered some good home-made furniture.

J. B. McCutcheon fell in the fire place a few days ago and got badly burned.

Will Jackson is off to Greenbrier county this week.

Cutlip Geiger has bought Adam Geiger's mill and store house, and will run both in the future.

Wash Oliver is going to build a coop. Look out, he will have a hen in it before long.

Died: At her home, near Travelers Repose, Mrs Jamec Burner, a young woman highly respected. —Also Mrs Carr near the Sinks, this county.—Also, an infant child of Daniel Smith near Dunmore.

We hope that the road from Dunmore to Meadow Dale. The Pocahontas side will be looked after by our county court next week. We must have county roads before we have a rail road.

LIEUTENANT JOHN SLICKHAMMER.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mrs E. I. Holt, of Academy, continues most seriously ill.

Cecil Marshall, of Mingo, was in town Mondoy.

Ralph, son of C. A. Yeager, has been sick.

Frank Burner has returned as post office clerk.

Mrs Ligon, of Clover Lick, is suffering from spinal trouble.

Misses Lou and Rachel Clark were visiting in Marlinton last week.

MARRIED: At Shendun, Virginia, Mr Oscar Price, of Ronceverte and Miss Gertrude Fulton.

A. D. Williams and Tolbert Sharp passed Marlinton last week on their way to the Concord Normal.

HUNTERSVILLE.

Mrs Wm. Cole, who has been sick for some time, is no better.

Mrs J. W. Loury, who has been very ill for the past three weeks, is convalescent.

The old man Titus Carter (col.) is very sick at this time. We are informed that he has pneumonia.

Attorney H. M. Lockridge, who has been on the sick list for some time, is now able to be out again.

W. E. Lyons, the fur buyer, was at the Huntersville Hotel, last Friday and Saturday, buying fur for the Baltimore markets.

Captain Edgar, of the Levels, was at the Wagner Hotel, last Saturday night, on his way to the Hot Springs.

Messrs Henry W. and John H. McNeel, of Academy, were in our town, one night last week, with a lot of fine cattle which they bought of M. O'Ferrel, of Mountain Grove.

Thunder and lightning, sunshine and clouds, rain and snow, and mud. Last Sunday, about three o'clock, a very severe hail storm visited our vicinity, followed by heavy rain. Our roads are very muddy and almost impasssible.

Perry Rydell, a first class silver smith, spent several days last week repairing clocks and watches. He does good work and at a very reasonable price. He left last Saturday for Dunmore; from there he will go to Hightown, Virginia, and return to Huntersville the last of March.

James F. Gabert, who lives on George W. Ginger's farm on Buckley Mountain, combs his hair three times aday and parts it in the middle, and says he don't give a fig if the rail road never comes—It's a girl!

ALFRED.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund the money if it fails to Cure. 25c.

Notice.

My wife, Rhoda E. Simms, having left my bed and board, all parties are hereby notified that I will no longer be responsible for her support.

WALLACE SIMMS.

Order of Publication.

State of West Virginia,
Pocahontas County, towit: }

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court for said county, on Monday, February 7, 1898.

C. R. McDannald, Executor of Mary C. Bias, deceased;—Plaintiff.
vs.
Warwick G. Bias. —Defendant.

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree against the defendant in favor of plaintiff for $607.34 with interest thereon from the 1st day of July, 1896, and costs, and to attach and subject to the payment thereof the undivided one-sixteenth interest of defendant in lands in Pocahontas County, whereof his grandmother, Margaret Gatewood died seiz d.

And it appearing by affidavit filed that the defendant is a non-resident of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that he do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit.

Witness, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of said Court, at the court-house thereof, this 7th day of February, 1898. J. H. PATTERSON,
Clerk.
W. M. & J. T. McAllister, p. q.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.
Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c. 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

DRISCOL.

There has been no preaching here since last fall.

J. A. Reed made a business trip to Dunmore last week.

Cam and Craig still make very frequent trips to Huntersville.

Mrs L. W. Herold has closed a very successful school at Driscol We need a larger school house.

We understand that W. S. Parmer is going to move to Glade Hill soon.

The fever patients of this vicinity are all well, except Harry Rimel, who is able to sit up a little.

The railroad talk has subsided. We suppose the people will go to work to make a living some other way.

Mrs Van Buren and son, of Anthony's Creek, were visiting Mrs J. W. Loury last week. Mrs Loury's health is improving slowly.

Miss Lillie Friel, accompanied by Miss Maud Yeager, of Marlinton, spent Saturday and Sunday at home.

The Douthard's Creek school, taught by Miss Lucy Sharp, closed last Thursday.

It is a very common sight to see the venerable M. F. Herold, of Frost, on his way up Douthard's Creek, who, notwithstanding his great age, is as spry as a widower of sixty-five.

PETER WALDO.

J. W. GOSHORN, of Charleston, was acquitted of the indictment for stealing records. The other indictments will probably be nolled.

Order of Publication.

State of West Virginia,
Pocahontas County, towit: }

At rules held i the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court of said county, on Monday, the 7th day of February, 1898.

Charles Friel, ... Plaintitt.
vs.
Martha F. Friel... Defendant

The object of this suit is to procure a divorce by the plaintiff from he bonds of matrimony with the defendant, and it appearing from affidavit filed that the defendant, Martha F. Friel, is a non resident of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that she do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order and do whet is necessary to protect her interest in this suit.

Witness, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of our said Court, at the court-house, this 8th day of February, 1898. J. H. PATTERSON,
N. C. McNeil, p. q. Clerk.

Notice to Take Depositions.

To Martha F. Friel: Take notice that on the 26th day of March, 1898, between the hours of 6 oclock A. M. and 6 o'clock P. M. of that day, at the law office of N. C. McNeil, in the town of Marlinton, W. Virginia, I will take the depositions of myself and others to be read as evidence in my behalf in a certain suit in chancery now pending in the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, in which I am plaintiff and you are defendant; and if from any cause the taking of said depositions shall not be commenced or completed on that day, the same shall be continued from day to day or from time to time at the same place and between the same hours until the same shall be completed.

CHARLES FRIEL,
By Counsel.
N. C. McNeil, Solicitor.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.
Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever 10c., 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money

The Levels News.

Edited by Payne Bros.

Vol. 1 Academy, W. Va., Feb. 25, 1898. No. 6

—Salt only $2 00 per sack.

—Mr Thomas F. Callison, of Locust, was in town today.

—Mr G. F. Crummett, of Marlinton, was in town one day last week

—High Arm Singer Sewing Machine, 7 drawers, guaranteed 10 years. Price only $18.00.

—If you have any live stock, Cattle, Hogs, or Sheep, to sell you can sell them to S. J. Payne, of the firm of Payne Brothers, at full prices.

—Saddles, Ladies and Gents at lowest prices. Lumberman's driving shoes only $3.00 per pair at Payne Bros.

—Order your Sash and Doors from Payne. Hardwood Dressers with French Bevel Mirror at Payne Brothers.

—If you are thinking of painting your house, you can buy Paints lower from Payne Bros than elsewhere.

—Don't fail to buy your Clover and Timothy Seed from Payne Bros. They have the cleanest and best. Also Flax Seed for sale.

—Captain A. M. Edgar left last Saturday for the Hot Springs, Va., where he expects to meet with Dr McGuire, of Richmond. It is hoped that he will be cured rapidly.

—Mr F. A. Renick has the best-arranged sugar camp in the country. He has pipes running to his camp that carry the sugar water to his yard. Many of the farmers are making sugar.

Market, Feb. 22, 1898.

—Eggs 12½c per dozen.

—Butter 15c per pound.

—Lard 7c per lb.

—Irish Potatoes 65c per bushel.

—Corn 60c per bushel.

—Wheat 90c per bushel.

—Oats 40c per bushel.

—Beans, navy, $1 00 per bu.

—Green Apples per bushel 50c.

—Beeswax 25c. Bacon—Hams, 9c; Sides, 8c; Shoulders, 7c. Tallow, 6c per lb.

—Mrs E. I. Holt's father, Capt. J. W. Marshall is now here.

—Pure Sugar Syrup only 40c per gallon at Payne Bros.

—Forest and Anthony Hill are improving.

Best apple vinegar at 30c per gallon at Paynes'.

—Mrs S. H. Clark, M. L. Beard and two of his children are on the sick list.

—Don't forget that Payne Bros. sell the best plows made. Such as the Silver Steel, Oliver Chilled and Imperial Chilled.

—Best Grades of Roller Flour at
J. H. DOYLE, Huntersville, W V.
G. L. HANNAH, Yelk, W. Va.
At BARLOW & MOORE'S, Edray, W. Va.,
J. H. CURRY, Green Bank, W Va.

WE believe in advertising.
Many of our best customers say they believe in it, too.

Just glance at the advertising columns of
The...
Pocahontas
Times,
And if you think you would like to see your name and your Business in print, come and ask us about rates.

A. & N. Price, Marlinton.

Bottom Knocked Out!

To Cash Buyers

We will until APRIL 1st, 1898, sell our entire stock of goods at from 5 to 10 per cent. above cost, strictly for cash. Produce will be taken, but will charge more for goods.

Below will quote you prices on a few articles:

Arbuckle Coffee	12½c
Good Green Coffee	10c
Best Green Coffee	14c
Granulated Sugar	7c
Best Calico	5 to 6
Gingham	5 to 8
2400 Matches	15c
Mens' Suits from $4 to $8

Have a few Overcoats which we will sell low. We will save you from 25 to 50 per cent on all goods. Come and see before buying elsewhere, and see if we don't mean just what we say.

Yours to save you Money,

B. F. McElwee,
Dunmore, W. Va.

All persons knowing themselves indebted to me by note or apc. will find their claims in the hands of Mr Sam Sheets for collection.

Paul Golden,s Space.
DO NOT WATCH IT BUT GO TO HIS STORE FOR GOODS.

Pocahontas County Normal School for 1898.

LOCATED AT PINE GROVE, TWO MILES WEST OF EDRAY.

School Opens March 28, and Closes June 17.

SPECIAL ADVANTAGES:
(1)—The school is located in a good neighborhood.
(2)—Lowest rates of boarding of any School in the State.
(3)—The whole Public School Couse, including Rhetoric, Algebra Physical Geography, Geometry, Botany, and Philosophy, will be taught as thoroughly as in the State Normal schools.
(4)—Special attention will be given to Science and Art of Teaching.
(5)—State, United States, and General History, Civil Government, and Physiology taught by the outline method. Uniformity of text books not required.

DEPORTMENT.
We reserve the right to sever the connexion of any student with the school who does not conform to it's regulations.

BOARDING.
Can be obtained near the school at $1.75 per week, and students will be made (by the hospitality of our people) to feel perfectly at home. Parents can send their sons and daughters to this school with the assurance that they will be comfortably situated while here, and that we will look carefully after their interests.

TUITION.
From $2.00 to $2.75 per month.

Do not let this Opportunity pass.

For further information, address
D. L. BARLOW, Principal, Edray, W. Va.

Job Work A Specialty

The Pocahontas Times,

Hear, Land o' Cakes and brither Scots,
Frae Maidenkirk to Johnny Groats,
If there's a hole in a' your coats,
I rede ye tent it;
A chiel's amang you takin' notes,
An' faith he'll prent it.—BURNS

Local Events.

☞ Several articles were 'crowded out' this week, owing to the fact that what appears was put in type first. The copy of Resolutions, Obituary, five valued newsletters, etc., will be published next week.

THE toll gate between Ronceverte and Lewisburg has been abolished.

J. D. PULLINS & Co. have several wagons out to the depot this week. Look out for new goods.

THE Denning Hotel, at Ronceverte, has been sold for $6157 35. A. F. Denning will still conduct it.

MARRIED: Near Edray last week, Mr Luther Smith and Miss Frances Sharp, daughter of Ewing Sharp.

A CITIZEN of Gilmer County publishes his resolution never to drink whiskey again. He spoils it all by the saving clause that he may use it as a medicine.

HENRY DAWSON has offered his services to the President in event of war with Spain. He served in the Civil War and came through without a scratch, owing he thinks to his extreme thinness.

AN auction sale is billed for Green Bank on the 19th of March. Swecker and Davis propose to stand on their heads for a change, and have had their advertisement inverted to correspond.

AMOS COURTNEY, who was working with Harvey Maupin last week when the latter was killed, has been present in the woods with three men who have been killed when logging.

J. W. GOSHORN has moved to Buffalo, New York, and instituted a suit for $100,000 against his late neighbors in Charleston who have been prosecuting him. The suit is brought in the Federal Court at Wheeling.

THE boom in the dam on Williams River was broken recently and the logs and drift accumulated in great quantities. They have recently been removed and as soon as the ice melts out another boom will be put in.

WILDCAT COTTAGE, the home of J. H. G. Wilson, took fire Sunday night. The owner, sleeping up stairs was aroused by the smoke and came down in time to put the fire out. A hole was burned in the floor under the store.

A WAR CLOUD.—I like to live at peace with all the world; nevertheless, I consider it good policy to sell standard, wood fibre pails for 29c; not the light paper pail you used to pay 35 and 40 cents for. This makes quite a disturbance with the competition, but as long as the public is on my side I am ready to stand and fight it out.

P. GOLDEN.

MONDAY morning at 4 A. M., Jailer Sharp was aroused by shouts of the prisoners, and rushing into the corridor found it full of smoke. The disturbance was caused by an insane man, who is confined there temporarily, who had set fire to his bed. While the fire was in progress, he had thrown a paper shotgun cartridge into the blaze and had an explsoion.

DURING the past year the Pocahontas Times has printed over 3,000 lbs of paper. The cost of hauling this paper from the railroad was about $22. This same paper after being printed was mailed at the postoffice at Marlinton as second class matter and carried out by the mail contractors in buggies, on horseback, and on foot, for $15.60. The newspaper man has no right to complain of the government rates of postage.

H. NATHAN has discovered a fine vein of coal near the Meadows on Williams River. There has been a bank known for years where coal has been got. This mine fell in, and when he went there last week to get a load, rather than open up the old mine, he hunted for another. A little lower down he opened a four-foot vein of coal that is said by the blacksmith who used it to be the best coal for the purpose he has ever seen in the county. This bank is near enough to Marlinton to admit of its being marketed here at $3.50 per ton.

A MAN and woman passed through Marlinton last Thursday, who are believed to be an eloping couple. Wednesday, under the guidance of William Fay, a backwoodsman, who lives near Cowen, they walked up Williams River, a distance of about fifteen miles, on a bridle path through the forest. They cut trees across the river whenever it was necessary to cross. They arrived at H. Nathan's where they stayed all night. Nathan was acquainted with the man, and he introduced the woman as his wife. She was apparently a girl in her teens and was poorly and thinly clad. She was a very pretty woman. The man represented himself to be a nephew of Senator Camden. They hired a team from Nathan to go to the depot at the Hot Springs.

Greenbrier River Route.

Captain Bartholemew, who had charge of the surveying corps in this county last summer, arrived here Friday with an assistant engineer, Mr Hayes, for the purpose of examining the Greenbrier River route from Marlinton to Ronceverte. They waited here until Monday morning. A boat was built for them, and they embarked for Ronceverte in care of B. M. Yeager and Captain E. A. Smith. Captain Smith knows the river thoroughly, having driven logs the length of it every year for many years. He is much interested in the new railroad. The party expect to be on the river for four days. One day will be spent on Spice Run. This is a good sized stream which empties into the Greenbrier below the mouth of Locust Creek. The Cumberland Lumber Company at one time had seven or eight miles of tram-road built on it. A railroad could be built from Marlinton to the White Sulphur by this route which would accommodate the whole of Pocahontas County.

When the party has prospected the Spice Run route they will return to the river and continue their work to Ronceverte. The river is unusually low for winter time and they will have a slow trip in the boat.

Unfortunately there is a hitch in railroad affairs at present. The Greenbrier Lumber Co. seems to have been the prime mover for a road, and when the surveys were made outside parties interested themselves to deflect the route by a shorter and cheaper route which did not develop the territory, and which the lumber company, who were to pledge their lands, could not accept. We are informed that if it had not been for this interference on the part of private speculators the road would now be under contract.

Ervine Houdyschell Arrested.

Houdyschell, who escaped with Roberts last June from the County Bastile, has been retaken and is now in jail. He is indicted for the burglary of a shoe shop. After he was brought to jail he had fever. When he was put back into the steel cell, George Roberts, who had nearly killed his wife by cutting her with a knife, was in the cell. They cut a hole in the case-hardened cage and dug through the brick wall.

E. M. Arbogast, Sheriff of Highland county, located Houdyschell at Pond Gap, Augusta county. He arrested him on suspicion. He was going by an assumed name. He broke down, shed tears and confessed to his identity. Houdyschell says that he and Roberts after they had made their escape went by the most direct route to the State line, avoiding the county road, but traveling parallel to it. At Henry White's, near Driscol, Houdyschell got enough food to do them for several days. He told them he was a sanger. He says that when he first came to Roberts' cell, on the 18th of June, Roberts had been working at the bars for some time. He gives the name of the man who, Roberts told him, gave him the saws. We must say that this is the most ungrateful thing we ever heard of. The party he named cannot be convicted by his evidence as it is hearsay. The offence of assisting a person charged with felony to break jail is felony, and punished by a sentence of from one to five years.

Last Day.

The commencement exercises of the Green Hill school were much appreciated by all fortunate enough to hear them. The entertainment consisted of recitations, declamations, songs, dialogs and an address by the teacher, Mr Peck. Among the most taking performances was the song by "Uncle George Lee," (alias George Rorke,) an original poem by Henry Bright and an amusing dialog by Bright Brothers. The audience was deeply affected by the soulful rendition of "The Gypsy's Warning;" a young gentleman kneeling meantime before the fair singer, Miss Woodsie Ratliff. A slight hitch occurred when the worthy young teacher attempted to lead a piece of music. He began "In the Spring—" and got no farther, having pitched too high; possibly it was in the fall.

It was a continuous performance and lasted from six to ten. There was only standing room and little of that, and the audience was vastly amused and entertained. "Mr Peck is an awful good teacher," as we heard a pupil remark, and the school has a good reputation for discipline and scholarship.

Big Constructian Company.

The Greenbrier Valley Construction Company was granted a charter yesterday by the secretary of state for the purpose of constructing railroads, telegraph lines, etc. The capital stock is $2,000,000, of which $500 has been subscribed. The principal office is to be held at Grafton. Hon John T. McGraw, of Grafton; J. M. Beckley, E. M. Upton, and Thomas R. Lewis, of Rochester, N. Y., and Charles M. Warner, of Syracuse, N. Y., are the incorporators. It is the intention of this company to construct the new Greenbrier Valley Railroad which is to be built during the coming spring and summer.—Charleston Gazette.

KNAPPS CREEK.

Wet and muddy.

Some sugar camps open.

Stock doing well.

Begin to save Easter eggs.

Plenty of feed.

I. B. Moore is off to the Levels.

A. J. Hook is buying lambs.

Clay Dreppard was out at the depot last week.

Whiting Sharp is rushing the lumber business at Frost.

J. A. Moore was on Anthony's Creek on business last week.

Summers Sharp has a colt which he calls Pearly.

John A. Moore is not very green or he would get Frost bit.

M. F. Herold is feeding a lot of cattle for Lee Gum, of Highland.

Cheap goods of good quality at Hanna, Harper & Moore's, Frost.

D. W. Dever, of Elk, was visiting friends on the Creek, last week.

Most people say that curry is a verb, but Harry Gwin says it's 'proper noun.'

M. F. Herold ties up a large sugar cake in his shawl and sends it to Hillsboro.

A fine debate at Frost last Tuesday night. The gun powder exploded but it did not effect the steam engine.

Some say that Sherman Gibson has quit going to Highland. We say so too, for he stays over there now.

Price Moore says that if you hear of him going to Green Bank again, you can set the woods on fire, but don't burn any fence.

Some people think there is still some hope of a railroad. Price Moore says he wishes it would come up the Creek so he could ride to Green Bank occasionally.

There is a certain young lady on the Creek who wants to know the meaning of the word "Mizpah," Genesis, 31st chapter and 48th verse.

J. A. Moore accidentally killed his fine shepherd dog last week by cutting a tree on him. He says he would not have taken fifty dollars for him, as his girl admired him so; that is, she admired the dog.

Don't you want to buy the best and most durable mowing machine? If so, buy the Walter A. Wood, with roller and ball bearings; also binders, reapers, rakes, tedders and twine. I. B. Moore, agent.

The young man who received the insulting letter has found the names of the senders. The guilty persons were the least suspected at first.

PATSY.

M. F. Herold sold his calves to Lee Gumm.

Mrs A. Herold spent Sunday at Driscol.

One man is feeding his hogs clover hay and still has plenty to sell.

Roy Crummett has gone to Dunmore.

John A. Cleek has a mule that can kick your hat off when you are riding him.

Where has the railroad gone?

John Shrader has been visiting in The Hills.

Zane Moore is feeding a nice lot of calves.

J. H. Lantz's school will close soon.

The rain last week spoiled the sugar season.

J. A. Moore has been horse trading.

Every thing is lovely and the goose hangs high.

Horse trading is the order of the day.

John Varner spent Sunday and Monday at A. W. Moore's.

John Lantz, who has spent the winter with his brother, J. H. Lantz, will return to his home in Pendleton County, next Saturday.

Dr Charles Gwin is very ill at this time.

Wise Herold jumps eighty feet and pays ten cents per pound for lambs—It's a girl!

The 'venerable' M. F. Herold says he thinks there might be a chance in the matrimonial market for him, provided the Driscol correspondent would teach him the art of transfering ages.

John O'Farrel, of Mt Grove, was around last week.

It is said that W. A. Busard has sold his goods to Mrs Gwin.

T. M. Gum made a flying trip to Highland County last week.

Messrs Peterson, Gum and Hill have been buying cattle here.

W. G. Ruckman and family made a trip to Bath last week.

Newton Moore is suffering with the rheumatism.

Look out! The detectives are as thick as grasshoppers in hay harvest.

Grover Moors likes to go to the post office right often.

FIDDLESTICKS.

C. B. SWECKER,
General Auctioneer
and Real Estate Agent.

I sell Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands. Farms and Town Lots a specialty. 21 years in the business. Correspondence solicited Reference furnished.
Postoffice—Dunmore, W. Va., or Alexander, W. Va.

Maine's Bottom Gone!

LATEST NEWS FROM HAVANA.

CONSUL-GENERAL LEE ADVISES ALL AMERICANS TO LEAVE HAVANA—ALL MEN OF WAR ARE HEADING TOWARDS CUBA—NATIONAL GAURD HELD IN READINESS—SITUATION CRITICAL.

[Special to The Pocahontas Times.]

NEW YORK CITY, February 24.—The divers employed by the Government to investigate the wreck of the Maine report part of the

MAINE'S BOTTOM GONE!

Positive proof of deliberate treachery done by some fanatic or by order of Spanish officers. The question seems to be settled that caused the disaster. The general impression is that a torpedo or a mine set under the ship did the business.

OUTSIDE EXPLOSION

Vultures are lying in wait for the dead heroes to appear on the surface to pick their bones.

Consul-General Lee has ordered all Americans in Havana to leave as soon as possible.

All our ships are now heading toward Cuba.

In case of Spanish accident the Spanish Government will be asked to pay $50,000,000 damages. If they do not, then, it is said, our gun-boats will fire on Havana and at their ships.

The situation to-day is very critical. The Board of Inquiry is in session at Key West. The National Guard of the country is held in readiness. GEO. M. SANGSTER.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund the money if it fails to Cure. 25c.

Notice.

My wife, Rhoda E. Simms, having left my bed and board, all parties are hereby notified that I will no longer be responsible for her support. WALLACE SIMMS.

Order of Publication.

State of West Virginia,
Pocahontas County, towit:

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court for said county, on Monday, February 7, 1898.

C. R. McDannald, Executor of Mary C. Bias, deceased;—Plaintiff.
vs.
Warwick G. Bias. —Defendant.

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree against the defendant in favor of plaintiff for $607.34 with interest thereon from the 1st day of July, 1896, and costs, and to attach and subject to the payment thereof the undivided one-sixteenth interest of defendant in lands in Pocahontas County, whereof his grandmother, Margaret Gatewood died seized.

And it appearing by affidavit filed that the defendant is a non-resident of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that he do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit.

Witness, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of said Court, at the court-house thereof, this 7th day of February, 1898. J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

W. M. & J. T. McAllister, p. q.

Ferguson's Photograph Gallery is coming to Marlinton. The finest of pictures at lowest of prices. Wait for him.

ACADEMY.

The sick are better.

Rev J. A. Taylor, of Ronceverte, was here on business last week.

Levi Gay, Esq., was in town on Monday.

Our farmers have been plowing for some days for spring crops.

M. F. Gumm has purchased J. W. Bolton's house, in the east end of the city, for $600.

William McClune, who bought the Burgess place, will move to his property soon.

Squires and Bassell, of Harrison county, were here a few days recently to buy cattle.

—The show at the Harper school house last Thursday night is said to have been a "blow out" and no good.

J. W. Bolton has moved from E. L. Beard's farm to the Dunn farm near Ronceverte.

James Sydenstricker is at home from Webster.

Capt John Peters splashed nearly all his logs out of Laurel Creek into the river, last week.

J. W. Beard & Brother have Foglesong and Reeves assisting them in the harvesting machine business.

Captain Edgar and son, Allen returned from Hot Springs last Tuesday, where he met Dr MacGuire, of Richmond, who examined his disabled hand. The Captain says his hand is better, and the Doctor thought constant care would cure it.

Order of Publication.

State of West Virginia,
Pocahontas County, towit:

At rules held in the Clerk's office of the Circuit Court of said county, on Monday, the 7th day of February, 1898.

Charles Friel, ... Plaintiff.
vs.
Martha F. Friel... Defendant

The object of this suit is to procure a divorce by the plaintiff from he bonds of matrimony with the defendant, and it appearing from affidavit filed that the defendant, Martha F. Friel, is a non resident of the State of West Virginia, it is ordered that she do appear here within one month after the first publication of this order and do what is necessary to protect her interest in this suit.

Witness, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of our said Court, at the court-house, this 8th day of February, 1898. J. H. PATTERSON,
N. C. McNeil, p. q. Clerk.

Notice to Take Depositions.

To Martha F. Friel: Take notice that on the 26th day of March, 1898, between the hours of 6 oclock A. M. and 6 o'clock P. M. of that day, at the law office of N. C. McNeil, in the town of Marlinton, W. Virginia, I will take the depositions of myself and others to be read as evidence in my behalf in a certain suit in chancery now pending in the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, in which I am plaintiff and you are defendant; and if from any cause the taking of said depositions shall not be commenced or completed on that day, the same shall be continued from day to day or from time to time at the same place and between the same hours until the same shall be completed.

CHARLES FRIEL,
By Counsel.

N. C. McNeil, Solicitor.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.
Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets.
Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

The Levels News.

Edited by Payne Bros.

Vol. 1 Academy, W. Va., Mar. 4, 1898. No. 7

Market, Feb. 28, 1898.

—Eggs 11c per dozen.

—Butter 16⅔c per pound.

—Lard 7c per lb.

—Irish Potatoes 65c per bushel.

—Corn 60c per bushel.

—Wheat 90c per bushel.

—Oats 40c per bushel.

—Beans, navy, $1.00 per bu.

—Green Apples per bushel 50c.

—Beeswax 25c. Bacon—Hams, 9c; Sides, 8c; Shoulders, 7c. Tallow, 6c per lb.

—Pure Sugar Syrup only 40c per gallon at Payne Bros.

—Buy an Oliver Chilled Plow from Payne Bros. Only $9.50 with an extra point.

—Joel Peck, who has been teaching at Edray, returned home Monday, accompanied by Mrs John Young and children.

—Send your orders for freight or express packages that you may want brought from Ronceverte, as Payne Bros have a team leave Hillsboro every Tuesday evening, and arriving Friday or Saturday of the same week.

—Mrs Coyner and children, of Basic City, and Miss Mabel Ligon, who has been attending the L. F. I., were the guests of Dr F. T. McClintic Sunday. They were on their way to see their mother, Mrs Dr Ligon, who has been sick for some time.

—Lemons at Payne Bros.

—Dynamite at Payne Bros.

—Salt only $2 00 per sack.

—Harrow Teeth at Payne Bros.

—Fencing Wire and Staples at Payne's.

—Lumberman's Hames at Payne Bros.

Mrs H. A. Overholt has been very sick for some days.

—Mrs E. I. Holt is improving in health slowly.

—Mr Fleming, drummer, spent last Friday night in town.

—Charles Arbuckle, of Clover Lick, was in town Monday.

—Send Payne Bros. your order for Sash, Doors, Blinds, and building material. You can save money.

—Hardwood Bedsteads at Payne Bros. Mattrasses, Wash Stands, Chairs, Etc.

—Canned vegetables and fruits just received at Paynes. Dried Apricots, Peaches, and Prunes just received and sold very cheap.

—Closing out at cost. Ladies Capes, Mens and Boys Overcoats, and Men's Suits. Call on Payne and see for yourself.

—Best Grades of Roller Flour at
J. H. DOYLE, Huntersville, W V.
G. L. HANNAH, Yelk, W. Va.
At BARLOW & MOORE'S, Edray, W. Va.,
J. H. CURRY, Green Bank, W Va.

The Lamp that lights the way to Good Health is a bottle of the greatest of all blood purifiers—
Johnston's Sarsaparilla
QUART BOTTLES.

This great blood purifier and nerve tonic, cures diseases by removing from the system, the conditions which produce them. It expels all poison and impurity from the blood. It acts upon the nerves as a stimulant, particularly upon those nerves belonging to the great organs of the body; therefore, it causes the heart to beat with greater force, the lungs to take in more oxygen and to expel more carbonic acid; it induces the kidneys to send off more of the poisonous excretions from the blood; the bowels to have more regularity and healthfulness in their action; the sweat glands to throw out more impurities.

Our illustrated book of 36 pages will tell you what is the matter and what to do. Its free for the asking. Quart bottle, $1.00.

WILLIAMS, DAVIS, BROOKS & CO., Detroit, Mich.

Take Liverettes for Sick Headache and Biliousness. 25c.

For sale by—
URIAH BIRD, Marlinton, W. Va.; and A. BARLOW, Huntersville

Bottom Knocked Out!

To Cash Buyers

We will until APRIL 1st, 1898, sell our entire stock of goods at from 5 to 10 per cent. above cost, strictly for cash. Produce will be taken, but will charge more for goods.

Below will quote you prices on a few articles:

Arbuckle Coffee	12½c
Good Green Coffee	10c
Best Green Coffee	14c
Granulated Sugar	7c
Best Calico	5 to 6
Gingham	5 to 8
2400 Matches	15c
Mens' Suits from $4 to $8

Have a few Overcoats which we will sell low. We will save you from 25 to 50 per cent on all goods. Come and see before buying elsewhere, and see if we don't mean just what we say.

Yours to save you Money,
B. F. McElwee,
Dunmore, W. Va.

All persons knowing themselves indebted to me by note or acc. will find their claims in the hands of Mr Sam Sheets for collection.

Paul Golden,s Space.
DO NOT WATCH IT BUT GO TO HIS STORE FOR GOODS.

Pocahontas County Normal School for 1898.

LOCATED AT PINE GROVE, TWO MILES WEST OF EDRAY.

School Opens March 28, and Closes June 17.

SPECIAL ADVANTAGES:
(1)—The school is located in a good neighborhood.
(2)—Lowest rates of boarding of any School in the State.
(3)—The whole Public School Couse, including Rhetoric, Algebra Physical Geography, Geometry, Botany, and Philosophy, will be taught as thoroughly as in the State Normal schools.
(4)—Special attention will be given to Science and Art of Teaching.
(5)—State, United States, and General History, Civil Government, and Physiology taught by the outline method. Uniformity of text books not required.

DEPORTMENT.
We reserve the right to sever the connexion of any student with the school who does not conform to it's regulations.

BOARDING.
Can be obtained near the school at $1.75 per week, and students will be made (by the hospitality of our people) to feel perfectly at home. Parents can send their sons and daughters to this school with the assurance that they will be comfortably situated while here, and that we will look carefully after their interests.

TUITION.
From $2.00 to $2.75 per month.

Do not let this Opportunity pass.

For further information, address
D. L. BARLOW, Principal; Edray, W. Va.

The Pocahontas Times.

Andrew & Norman Price, Owners. "Montani Semper Liberi!" Andrew Price, Editor

VOL. 15, NO. 33 MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, MARCH 11, 1898. $1.00 PER YEAR

No. 083. Made in 54, 48, 42, 36 inch widths.

$2.25 buys this Brass-trimmed White Enameled Bedstead. In stock in all widths; length, 75 inches. It has one-inch pillars, two-inch brass vases and caps. This bed retails at from 5 to 6 dollars.

Buy of the maker and save the middleman's large profits. Our Catalogues are mailed for the asking. Complete lines of Furniture, Carpets, Draperies, Crockery, Pictures, Mirrors, Stoves, Refrigerators, Baby Carriages, Lamps, Bedding, etc., are contained in these books. Our Lithographed Carpet Catalogue showing all goods in hand-painted colors is also free; if Carpet Samples are wanted mail us 8c. in stamps. Drop a postal at once to the money-savers and remember that we pay freight this month on purchases of Carpets, Lace Curtains, Portiers and Rugs amounting to $9.00 and over.

Julius Hines & Son
BALTIMORE, MD.
Please mention this Paper.

LAW CARDS.

N. C. McNEIL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Pocahontas and adjoining counties and in the Supreme Court of Appeals.

H. S. RUCKER,
ATTY. AT LAW & NOTARY PUBLIC
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Pocahontas county and in the Supreme Court of Appeals

J. W. ARBUCKLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the courts of Greenbrier and Pocahontas counties. Prompt attention given to claims for collection in Pocahontas county.

W. A. BRATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given to all legal business.

ANDREW PRICE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Will be found at Times Office.

SAM. B. SCOTT, JR.
LAWYER,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

All legal business will receive prompt attention.

H. M. LOCKRIDGE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HUNTERSVILLE, W. VA.

Prompt and careful attention given all legal work.

JOHN A. PRESTON FRED. WALLACE
PRESTON & WALLACE,
Attorneys at Law,
LEWISBURG, W. VA.

Will practice in the Courts of Greenbrier and adjoining counties, and in the Court of Appeals of the State of West Virginia.

PHYSICIANS' CARDS.

DR. O. J. CAMPBELL,
DENTIST,
MONTEREY, VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County at least twice a year. The exact date of his visit will appear in this paper.

DR. J. H. WEYMOUTH,
RESIDENT DENTIST,
ELKINS, W. VA.

Will visit Pocahontas County every spring and fall. The exact date of each visit will appear in The Times.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
MARLINTON, W. VA.

Office next door to C. A. Yeager's Hotel. Residence opposite Hotel. All calls promptly answered.

GOOD SALARIES!
LIFE POSITIONS
IN UNCLE SAM'S SERVICE
are within the reach of all; male and female. Now is the time to prepare yourself and get in line. Full information relating to Government positions and how to obtain them, salaries paid, scope and dates of examinations, &c., &c., given cheerfully by the NATIONAL CIVIL SERVICE INSTITUTE, 14 N. Y. Avenue, Washington, D. C.

CASTORIA.
The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.

For The Pocahontas Times

The Treasure Trove.

V.

THE next morning very early the jingling of the bell woke up a stiff and sore traveler, and he was fain to avoid the cart of the mail carrier, and when he met the man at the hotel breakfast table he was not sorry to hear that he had not replaced the horse that had dropped in his tracks and died in the road, and he determined to walk the ten miles yet remaining in company with the man who literally carried the mail.

About two miles out they came in sight of a comfortable farm-house with its large barns and outbuildings denoting peaceful prosperity. As they passed the gate leading into the barn the mail carrier said:

"There's where my old horse died. Curious about that old horse dying right there. He were a twenty-five year old. The feller what traded him to me 'fessed up to nineteen, and he were colted on this here very farm. They kept him till about a year ago, when they give him to a man who promised to treat him well for the rest of his life. I never knowed nothing about it until after he was dead. I traded a mule for him last Christmas and put him on this here mail-route. Whenever he would git to that there gate I would jest have to flail him along. Monday as I kem along the road here he were hobbling along mighty slow, but when he got in sight of the barn he went sailing. He stopped as he ginerally did, fer I never could lam hit out of him, and when I hed raised to give him the whip he fell all of a sudden, and I believe he was dead afore he struck the ground. The folks come running out of the house, and one of the gals hollers out, 'It's old Barney!' Then Mis' Eldridge lows to ole Captain Eldridge that this here was some of his chickens coming home to roost, and the ole Captain look blue as the mischief, and he said, "Yes, Mandy, but Arthur insisted on not winterin' him and it was all that I could do to save his life, poor ole feller.'

" 'Yes,' says Mis' Eldridge, 'that 's jest like Arthur. But when he cut the big vein in his leg on the mowin' scythe when he were ten year old, old Barney was the only horse on the place what could have got the doctor here in time. The doctor got here just in time, as it was.'

"Then one of the gals 'lowed she felt like she never wanted to git another letter in the mail. She'd always think of old Barney.

"Then, one of the little gals hollered out:

" 'I'll bet you like to git one from Jake Rallings.'

"Then the big one said.

" 'Hush up, smarty!'

"The old Capting lowed he would give the old horse a decent burial. I said purty peart, 'Well, I'll furnish the corpse;' and the old gent looked at me steady fer about five minutes and said, "You git on down the road. The likes of you aint fit to be trusted with horseflesh'; and I went. But he did n't faze me none, fer gittin' that carcass outen the road would have cost me a dollar. Over thar's the old plug's grave. Bet they would n't bury me half as well if I'd die in front of their house."

"It was not yet the middle of the day when Weston arrived with the mail at Prattsville. Here he was within a half-mile of the cross roads to which he had been traveling for several hundred miles. The question of where to stop was quite superfluous. In the country in which he was now traveling the sign-boards of "houses of entertainment" were one of the noticeable features of the journey.

Prattsville had an exceptionally glaring one. Besides the wording necessary to tell every one that this was "Hotel Moulton," the landlord had had some pictures painted in and occupying the entire portion of the board. One was a man on good terms with his mule and was labelled, "This man stopped for dinner and had his horse fed." The other was a mule throwing his rider headlong, and was entitled "This man didn't."

Here Weston secured a room. Though he came on foot he was of course genteel looking, and the landlady ushered him into the very best room in the house. It was handsomely furnished for the parlor of the hotel and had a bed in it, and only drummers and other star "transients" were put in there. Whenever there were ladies this was their reception room, and as that very evening the daughter of the house had company, and Weston very good naturedly waited until the witching hour of midnight, when the young man got as far as the front porch.

Having been duly installed, he had hardly washed his hands when he heard the ubiquitous bell of the hostelry of this region. He looked at his watch in surprise. It was eleven o'clock. He was hungry, having had breakfast early and a ten-mile walk, and he went into the hall. Seeing an old colored man, the porter, he asked him the way to the dining-room. The old man led him there. Seeing the table set, it was eternally set, but Weston did not know it, he attempted to take a seat, but the porter said.

"No, boss, de dinner aint ready. Not by er jugful. We better git out 'fore Mis Aggy come and ketches us yere! No, sah, dat bell's de ting what hab mistook you. Dat's jest de fust ringin' of de fustest bell. Dat's meant fer de men plantin' co'n in de Little Medder. We gives dem de time er day with dat: and when dey yere's dat tinnabum dey knows dey kin soon git ready to pull fer de shoah!"

"But how will the next bell be the one for dinner?" asked the guest.

"La no, boss, don't let de nex' one mistikfy you. Dats de second ringin ob the fustest bell, and de ban's wants ter be spry about waterin' deir hoss flesh, cause Mis Aggy natcherly do raise cain when de men folks aint ready to eat when de dinnah is ready."

Weston went back to his room and waited a half hour, and heard the big bell go for the second time. He did not stir, and presently he heard a small hand bell ring vigorously. He started for the dining-room, but was stopped by his old colored friend.

"'Scuse me, boss, 'scuse me! but dat's de fust ringin' ob de second bell! De nex' time you heahs de bell, you comes."

In about ten minutes the "fustest" bell rang short and sharp. Weston hurried out and met the porter in the hall.

"Go back, boss, dat's de porter's signual. Dat's to take Kunel Asbury's hoss to de stable." As he hurried away he heard the old darkey mutter: "Dat's de hongriest man I eber see in all my born days." And as he reached the horse block, "Howdy, kurnel, howdy. How's Mis' Asbury, how's Miss Allie?"

"Very well, Uncle Ike, how are you?" was the frank reply in a powerful voice from a hale, elderly gentleman, with white whiskers growing out of a rosy red face; the genuine Virginia Colonel, the finest race of men ever made.

Weston went back to his room and was reading when he heard the handbell jingle again. He concluded he would not go again, and after a while a middle-aged man in his shirt-sleeves unceremoniously opened the door and bade him very politely walk out to dinner. The second ringing of the second bell was the lucky number and Weston was now fully "on to the racket."

Dinner was half way through with all at the long table in the dining-room when he entered. The Colonel was engaged in eating at the head of the table while the dishes were passed around by two very pretty "hired girls." They called each one at the table as they passed the dish and gave each his due title or name with the exception of Weston, and they abashed him by pressing dishes on him with "Will you have some bread?" giving the you such an emphasis that it made him uncomfortable. He seemed to be set apart.

The Colonel presently made such advances as to start a conversation with him, exhibiting that lovable curiosity, or rather interest in the young man which enables a traveler to find friends wherever he goes.

"Nice time for traveling," said the Colonel.

"Yes, very."

"Looks like we might have some falling weather."

"I hope not."

"Had a mighty backward spring this season."

"Seems to have been here. I am from East Virginia, and it seems to me that winter is harder to chase out of these mountains where he has so many places to hide."

"What did you say, sir?"

Weston colored a little. His venture had fallen on the stony ground of common sense. "I said that winter seemed to entrench himself in the mountains and defy his enemy the sun."

"Oh! What house do you travel for?"

"I'm not a drummer," Weston answered, not too well pleased. "I am here to spend a holiday."

"You come from Tuckahoe, eh?"

"Richmond is my home."

"Riding or driving?"

"Neither, I am walking."

The Colonel froze in a moment. He rose from the table with an air that might have been unconcerned if it was not so studiously distant. The Colonel never saw anything to cultivate in the man who walked. He belonged to the class that would walk two miles to get a horse out of the pasture that he might ride one mile. Other men might be particular about their clothes, but to him a good horse meant everything. And when he heard the young man walked into town it settled it, and he evinced no further curiosity. It was the only thing he had against his new friend, but without reasoning an unfavorable impression had been formed.

(To be Continued.)

FROM Mr BLAKE.

The following personal letter we take the liberty to publish, to show how a certain controversy ends.

RONCEVERTE, February 26, 1898.

Dear Andrew: I have just read with alarm your editorial on "Ragged-Edged Bill," and your desperate threat of publishing "Stammering Bill." I hasten to avoid further complications, and be in time to head off next week's Times, to offer you Ten Thousand Dollars to suppress the said story. I have made enormous sums of money publishing the Messenger, and would stop at nothing to preserve the fragments of a once pretty fair reputation.

Please consider a moment.

I am raising a family, the members of which, were they suddenly confronted with this damaging evidence of youthful indiscretion, might rise in just wrath and cut my hair, force on me a clean collar, and perhaps reduce me to a complete state of modern civilization. Sir, I beg of you, don't publish it.

I am even willing to acknowledge I stole "Stammering Bill." Who "Stammering Bill" is I have n't the faintest idea, but I committed so many crimes in my youth that I dare not deny it. Besides, you claim to have the proof. I now experience the truth of Scripture "Be sure your sins will find you out." Take Ragged Bill's advice and never attempt original writing, lest it return to trouble you. Of course this applies only to the future, you being innocent as yet, to the best of my knowledge.

Present my sincerest regards to your father, and tell him that I repeat my bold declaration that he is a better writer than his son.

Yours truly,
WILLIAM B. BLAKE.
"Ragged Edge Bill."

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on kidneys, liver and bowels, cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

To Cure Constipation Forever.
Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

BIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

By W. T. P.

THIS paper is composed of fragmentary notices of one of the early settlers of the Glade Hill neighborhood. Benjamin Arbogast, Sen., the progenitor of a well known branch of the Arbogast relationship, settled early in the century near Glade Hill on the lands now in possession of Cornelius Bussard, Clark Dilley and others. In his home were five sons and three daughters; Henry, Solomon, John, Adam, Benjamin, Carlotta, Sally and Delilah.

Carlotta became Mrs Johnathan Potts and lived in Upshur county.

Sally became the second wife of Ralph Wanless, near Mt Tabor.

Delilah was first married to Joseph Wooddell near Green Bank. Her second marriage was with Frederick Pugh, of same vicinty.

In reference to the sons, we have the following particulars gathered from a variety of sources:

Henry Arbogast married Anna Warwick, on Deer Creek, and settled on a part of the homestead. Their sons Warwick and Newton died while young. Jamieson married Sarah Grimes, of David, and settled on Elk.

Marshall Arbogast married Rachel Nottingham, of Harvey, and lives in Randolph County.

Sally Arbogast became Mrs George Arbogast and lives near Glade Hill.

Margaret was married to Martin Clark Dilley, of John, and lives on part of the homestead.

Minta became Mrs Budd Stalnaker and lives in Randolph county.

Henry Arbogast was a person of high natural endowments, and was widely known in our county, and greatly respected for his good qualities in all the relations of life. He was a local preacher in the pale of the M. E. Church, and "cried aloud and spared" not when denouncing the vices and fashionable foibles of his times. The writer once heard him preach a serfrom the text, "Pray without ceasing." The sermon was largely taken up in a description of the Magic Carpet, we read about in the Arabian Nights entertainment and then used it as an illustration, showing that the prayerful soul has in prayer something far more to the purpose than the Magic Carpet ever was or could be. He was an enthusiast in his religious views. To him Methodism was the chief of all the prevaling 'isms,' the one 'ism' that was "altogether lovely" in his opinion, and he made no secret of it. During the war between the States, he was a sincere, decided but harmless sympathizer with the Union cause. When last seen alive he and his neighbor Eli Bussard were in charge of a squad of persons claiming to be Confederate scouts. A few days afterwards, these two civilians were found dead near the roadside, about halfway from their homes towards Frost. From the attitude in which his dead body was found, it is inferred that he died in the act of prayer, heeding the text referred to above.

Solomon Arbogast married Nancy Nottingham, and lived on part of the homestead. In reference to his family these particulars are noted: Allen first married a Miss Curry. His second marriage was with a Miss Gillespie.

George married Miss Sallie Arbogast.

Charles was a Union soldier and died in the war.

Lizzie was married to Gilmer Sharp and lives near Frost.

Mary married William Cooper near Green Bank.

Rachel became Mrs Samuel Sutton and lives beyond Green Bank.

Caroline first married the late James Ruckman. Her second marriage was to Michael Scales, and lived near Mill Point.

John Arbogast, of Benjamin, Sr., married Margaret Yeager and lived near Glade Hill. He was killed by a falling tree; leaving a widow and three sons.

Adam Arbogast married Clarissa Sutton, and lived near Green Bank. They were the parents of of five sons and three daughters: John, Brown, Christopher, Benjamin, Reed, Dorinda, now Mrs David Shears; Eliza became Mrs James Sutton, and Emma now Mrs J. Trace, all three near Green Bank. When a little girl Mrs Clarissa Arbogast had her arm crushed in a cider mill. She was given up to die by the physician sent for from an adjoining county. The late Captain John McElwee, ancestor of the McElwee relationship in our county, had the nerve to take his joint saw and razor and amputate the arm above the mortified part. The patient recovered and lived to rear the five sons and three daughters just named. What Mrs Arbogast could not do in housekeeping with her good left arm was not worth doing. She died quite recently.

Benjamin Arbogast, Jr., of Benjamin, Sr., married Miss Gibbons, a sister of the gallant Col S. B. Gibbons, 10th Virginia Infantry, who died 6th of May, 1862, on the McDowell battle field; shot thro' the head the moment he reached the line of fire, leading his men into action. Benjamin Arbogast, Jr., was one of the most remarkable persons that ever lived in our county. Upon attaining his majority, he was appointed constable and he magnified his office and worked it for all it was worth. He frequented the courts and seemed to have been infatuated with the lawyers of loose habits and alcoholic propensities and proficient in the history of the four kings. He aspired to the distinction of beating them at their own game, for they seemed to be what a gentleman should be. He soon acquired his coveted distinction of being the fastest young man in the county.

When about twenty-five years of age he came under the influence of Charles See, who taught in the family of Col Paul McNeel, at Glade Hill, and there was kindled in our young friend's mind an irresistable desire for a college education. He learned the rudiments of Latin and algebra from Mr See, went a session or two at Hillsboro, then away to Dickinson College, in Pennsylvania, and was graduated among the best in his class. In the meantime he had professed piety, entered the ministry and became a noted pulpit orator and one of the most distinguished teachers of the High Schools under the auspices of the M. E. Church South.

He died a few years since at Winchester, leaving a reputation long to be remembered by his denomination. Last summer, one of his surviving children, an accomplished daughter, visited Marlinton.

The writer tenderly cherishes the memory of this remarkable Pocahontas man, for he often manifested special friendship for me, and we have had many good talks together. We last met in Winchester, in October, 1874. He introduced me to Norval Wilson, father of Bishop Wilson.

WHATEVER may be the cause of prematurely gray hair, it can be restored to the same color as in youth by Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer.

The The The
Best. Rest. Test.

There are two kinds of sarsaparilla: The best—and the rest. The trouble is they look alike. And when the rest dress like the best who's to tell them apart? Well, "the tree is known by its fruit." That's an old test and a safe one. And the taller the tree the deeper the root. That's another test. What's the root,—the record of these sarsaparillas? The one with the deepest root is Ayer's. The one with the richest fruit; that, too, is Ayer's. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has a record of half a century of cures; a record of many medals and awards—culminating in the medal of the Chicago World's Fair, which, admitting Ayer's Sarsaparilla as the best—shut its doors against the rest. That was greater honor than the medal, to be the only Sarsaparilla admitted as an exhibit at the World's Fair. If you want to get the best sarsaparilla of your druggist, here's an infallible rule: Ask for the best and you'll get Ayer's. Ask for Ayer's and you'll get the best.

BUCKEYE.

The sick are all improving. A few cases of scarlet fever.

There has not been much sugar made yet.

Mr C. B. Grimes closed his school on Saturday, had a very interesting spelling match. Mrs C. B. Grimes and little daughter Hoxie and Miss Nora Boblett were the champion spellers.

George Buzzard is visiting his sister, Mrs Susan Auldridge.

The literary society is progressing. Mrs Irene McNeill rendered some excellent music on the guitar at the last meeting.

Charles Hevener the blacksmith is doing some work for W. McClintic.

"Willis is very wrestless," and a wedding may be looked for soon.

TIM FINIGAN.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Props., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the past 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions, and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.

WEST & TRUAX, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price 75c per bottle. Sold by all druggists. Testimonials free.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

FOREST and STREAM
THE SPORTSMAN'S JOURNAL.
Travel Fishing The Dog
Adventure Nature Trap and Hunting Yachting Target
Camping Canoeing Shooting

FOREST AND STREAM illustrated journal, devoted to the sports of the field and the encouraging in men and women of a healthy interest in outdoor recreation.

Weekly, 32 pages; $4 per year; $2 for six months; 10 cents a copy. Sample free.

We are the largest American publishers of works on outdoor sports. Send for our free illustrated catalog of books.

Forest and Strerm Publishing Co.
346 Broadway, New York.

THE GREATEST BOOK OF THE AGE!
Should be in Every Home and Library.
The People's Bible History
Is written by Right Hon. William Ewart Gladstone, Ex-Premier of Great Britain and Ireland, [illegible]

$18. IMPROVED SINGER. FREIGHT PREPAID.
[illegible]
WHAYNE MFG. CO., 660 FOURTH AVE., LOUISVILLE, KY.

The Pocahontas Times.

ANDREW PRICE - - - EDITOR.

Marlinton, Friday, Mar. 11, 1898,

Entered at the post-office at Marlinton, W. Va., as second class matter.

THE incident of the blowing up of the Maine will have the effect of causing the Administration to act in putting an end to the war in Cuba.

THE Mutual Telephone Company has been organized at Ronceverte to construct a telephone line from Marlinton to Union, Monroe County.

W. S. THOMSON, an attorney of the Greenbrier County bar, has come out as a candidate for State Senator from this district. What has become of the Democratic candidates?

THE annexation of either Cuba or Hawaii would be unwise. In a short time they would rebel against us as they did against their former rulers, and we would have the same trouble with them.

CONGRESSMAN DORR'S idea of making a government preserve of the forests around the headwaters of the rivers is very good. But as a matter of fact could not the trees fit for lumber be marketed and in their place come a more dense growth of underbrush that would answer the same purpose as a weather breeder?

THE Board of Trade of Ronceverte should get to work to make that town the junction of the Greenbrier Railroad. They might secure the right of way for a few miles above the C. & O. The question is whether the company will build a bridge over the Greenbrier at Caldwell and make the junction there, or run to the point a mile or two below Caldwell where the C. & O. crosses the river. In case the latter would be decided upon, the trains would have to run into Ronceverte, as there is no room for yards or depot at the railroad bridge.

THE executive committee of Pocahontas County will be called to meet on the first day of April Court to formulate a plan for the nomination of county officers and to call a convention to appoint delegates to Congressional and Senatorial conventions, and for any other business to be attended to. The most important question that will come up before the committee at its next meeting will be whether we will nominate our county officers by primary or by convention. We have never held a convention in this county but what gave rise to feelings of dissatisfaction among a large portion of the citizens, and conventions have threatened to disrupt the party. Also we poor devils at the county seat have been blamed with all the alleged chicanery. But we have never held a primary in the off-year. So if we order a primary this year it will entail a big lot of work to nominate men for County Court, Legislature, Superintendent of Schools, and Member of the Board of Education. If the commissioners of election will serve without pay, a primary would be practicable. The writer is in favor of a primary, for reasons stated in the body of this article. Candidates and others should give this subject their attention.

WAR CLOUDS.

We are all taking stock in our courage departments at the present time, for this is more like war than any of us of the younger generation have known. As a rule there are very few who seem to be ready to fight, and enthusiasm has not reached the height where a company might be formed in dead earnest. We are inclined to take kindly to the policy of the actor in "The Lively Nerve Nourisher," who declared that the reason the United States were not fighting Spain was that we were waiting for Spain to make a reputation.

An old Confederate soldier was speaking of the war fever at the breaking out of the last war. A company had been formed at Huntersville with D. A. Stover captain. and after the secession of the State, the company, clad in uniform and marching to the inspiring music of fife and drum, arrived at Green Bank for the purpose of forming a company there. The foremost speaker was Captain Stover, who dilated on the advantages of the volunteer service over those who were drafted or conscripted into companies.

"The volunteer," he said, "when he falls in battle is buried with the honors of war, while the militiaman is left lying where he falls. Now, fellow citizens, which will you have? Will you volunteer and be afforded a decent burial, or will you wait to be drafted, and allow the crows to pick your bones?"

"Don't want to do either," came from back in the crowd.

A company was formed that day. The narrator was going to school at Green Bank, and his teacher, an East Virginian, had enlisted, and the school was to be broken up. He was just on the point of giving in his name when he felt a hand on his shoulder, and turned to see a man who had served through the Mexican war. The veteran told him not to take the step while he was under the influence of the excitement and high pressure of the occasion, but to sleep on it. He then gave such a graphic description of the drawbacks of camp life that he did not enlist for half a year.

A company of a hundred men was organized that day, Maj. J. C. Arbogast was elected captain. The East Virginia school-teacher was made the proudest man in the disunited states by his election as first lieutenant. He was to go to Richmond for uniforms and arms. When he got back to his company, having made all arrangements necessary, and wearing a new uniform, he found that the company had held another election when they were mustered in and had dropped him from the roster of officers. The disappointment killed him. He seemed to decline from that day and in a few months was dead.

The history of the late war goes to show that, with hardly an exception, those citizens who were most active in bringing on hostilities, and most prone to declare their willingness to shed the last drop of their blood, were the ones that could never by any strategem be made to fight. They agitated the country, but they smelled th battle from afar and were conspicuous by their absence. Their zeal cooled as quickly as it had burned, and the best soldiers were those who went into the dissension with reluctance.

THE LOUD POSTAL BILL.

For several months the country editor has been receiving circulars asking him to petition his Congressman to vote against the Loud Bill, as it struck a blow at some of his postal privileges. A careful perusal of the bill impressed us with the fact that it would only cripple such country papers as the Greenbrier Valley Democrat which has sent as high as three sample copies a week to one man, or the West Virginia News which has so many readers and so few subscribers. Consequently we lost no sleep on that account.

However, Hon Champ Clark, of Missouri, takes the opportunity of paying a high tribute to the country editor in his argoment against it in the House.

The bill was defeated by a vote of 161 to 119.

"The rural editor—God bless him—is the most persisent of teachers. Like charity, as described by St Paul in the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians, he 'suffereth long and is kind; he envieth not himself, is not puffed up; doth not behave himself unseemly; seeketh not his own; is not easily provoked; thinketh no evil; rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in truth; beareth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things.'

"He is the packhorse of every community, the promoter of every laudable enterprise, the worst underpaid laborer in the vineyard. Counting his space as his capital, he gives more to charity, his means considered, than any other member of society. He is a power in politics, a pillar of the church, a leader in the crusade for better morals. He is pre-eminently the friend of humanity. Line upon line, paragraph upon paragraph, day by day, he is embalming in cold type the facts from which the Herodotus, Tacitus, Sismodi, or Mccaulay of the future will write the history of our times. He fully chronicles our advent into the world, briefly notes our uprisings and our downsittings, and sorrowfully records our exit.

"We are all more or less—generally more—his handiwork, and the creature should not be ungrateful of his creator. Without his generous and enthusiastic labors most of us would never have been here; and, when he tires of us, most of us will return to private life amid rural scenes propitious for secret meditation and silent prayer."

Sport.

The Shooting Match.

The shooting match at this place last Saturday brought out a good attendance of the representative shots of the county. Elk, The Hills, Beaver Creek, The Levels, Edray, Clover Creek, and Marlinton furnished sportsmen. Jasper Dilley, who has won enough matches to retire, was there with a 45-90 Winchester which woke the echoes in the hills, but while he shot uniformly well and could have measured string measure with any of them, failed to win a prize. The same is true of Henry Sharp, a famous shot from Elk. Fifteen riflemen formed the match. They were Jasper Dilley, W. L. Hogsett, Robert Dilley, Andrew Price, C. H. Dilley, H. J. Barnes, Norman Price, Albert Hannah, Lee Simms, Ben Johnson, Grant Johnson, Henry Sharp, U. S. Johnson, Ellis Baxter, Ed. Malcomb.

1st Match—Two shots. Shot off wi h one shot each; resulted in
- 1st Prize—W. L. Hogsett, Mill Point.
- 2d Prize U. S. Johnson, Edray.

2d Match. Closest shot:
- 1st Prize. C. H. Dilley, Frankford.
- 2d Prize, Grant Johnson, Marlinton
- 3d Prize, W. L. Hogsett, Mill Point

3d Match. Closest shot:
- 1st Prize, W. L. Hogsett, Mill Point
- 2d Prize, C. H. Dilley, Frankford.
- 3d Prize, Lee Simms, Beaver Creek

4th Match String measure, three shots; A year's subscription to the Pocahontas Times:
C. H. DILLEY, Frankford.

The Judges were John Rorke and Renick Hogsett.

Some men would shoot quickly, while others would lie and sight for several minutes. Those who sighted a medium length of time shot best.

Honors were about evenly divided between the mountain rifle and the Winchester. Hogsett, U. S. Johnson, and Simms used mountain rifles and Dilley and Grant Johnson, Winchesters.

The last match Lee Simms did not have the price. He had shot the other matches and tried to get a check cashed. He had fifteen cents and needed a quarter. Hiram Barnes had 10 cents. They clubbed for three shots and succeeded in winning the third prize.

The distance was sixty yards—too far to see a bullet hole in the paper target. The shooting was done from a "belly rest"; a lot of pine boughs were thrown down and the marksman lay at full length with his gun resting on a framework. A friend would shade the sights of the rifle.

The Pocahontas Times prize, which was to be for the best shot of the day, at the request of the men was made a special match, and while not nearly so valuable as the others was regarded as the most honorable of the day. Three shots were measured on a string and the shortest string won it, showing the best average shot.

⁂

Frost, 2; Green Hill, 0.

An interesting game of football was played at G. B. Ryder's, on Back Creek, February 26, at 1 P. M., between the above teams. The captains tossed for ends, Frost won and chose to defend the west goal. Frost being short two men substituted with boys 14 years old, and then lined up for play.

Time was called and the ball was put in play by R. Wade, and being hotly played in Green Hill territory for about ten minutes, when W. Shinaberry scored a goal for Frost. The ball being put in play a second time by R. Wade, was soon carried back in Green Hill territory and some splendid playing done by both sides, when A. Sharp drove the ball into the hands of the goal keeper who dropped it, and was kicked through by C. C. Sharp. In the last half the ball was put in play by C. C. Sharp. The play was quick and fast, and no points were scored.

The Frost boys say it was the finest game they ever played, and thank the Green Hill team for courtesies received; and especially G. B. Ryder for his kindness and hospitality toward the Frost boys.

GREEN HILL—Henry Hiner, (goal); Bill Bird, Hiram Wood, (full backs); Eliot Hiner, Joe Chestnut, Jim Chestnut, (half backs); Captain Bob Wade, Jim Wade, Bob Wiley, Otho Wade, Ed. Wood, (forwards.)

FROST—Melvin Sharp. (goal); Grant Dilley, Holmes Sharp, (full backs); Butler Sharp, Geo. Sharp, Austin Sharp, (left wing); Capt. C. C. Sharp, Aron Sharp, Upton Sharp, Chris Dilley, W. Shinabery (forwards.)

Will Hiner, J. Lute Bird, linesmen; T. M. Gum, Umpire.

G. S. W.

⁂

THE Cheyenne (Wyo.) Tennis Association was organized lately, and the name of Paris D Yeager, formerly of Marlinton, appears as vice-president and member of executive committee. Several important games are scheduled for the season. Yeager is one of the star players of the city. The club won all championship tournaments last year.

EYE TEST.

Should be Read at 15 Inches.

[illegible]

I have a first-class optician's outfit, such as eye specialists use, and am prepared to examine eyes and adjust glasses in a satisfactory manner.

J. M. CUNNINGHAM, M D

The Trecherous Spaniard.

A notice, posted on the front door of the post office, advising all who wish to fight the "trecherous Spaniard" to report to Boyd Bartlett, recruiting officer. Opinion is divided as to whether the writer means the "treacherous Spaniard" or the trocharous Spaniard." A large number of citizens' names appear. A patent for the office of colonel has been applied for.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All Druggists refund the money if it fails to Cure. 25c.

Commissioner's Sale of Land,

IN POCAHONTAS COUNTY, WEST VIRGINIA.

By virtue of a decree of the October Term, 1897, of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, in the chancery cause of Levi Gay, Administrator, etc., vs. William L. Skeen; and William L. Skeen's Administrator vs. John T. McGraw; and R S. Turk, Special Commissioner, vs. John T. McGraw,—the undersigned special commissioners will sell at public auction at the front door of the court house of Pocahontas County, on Tuesday. April 5th, 1898,

(the first day of Circuit Court) the following tract of land formerly owned by General William L Skeen towit: A tract of 2545 acres, more or less, situated on Brushy Mountain near the town of Huntersville, and is the same tract sold in the last above styled cause at April Term of said Court, 1895, to John T. McGraw, and is now sold for the unpaid purchase money due.

Terms of Sale: Cash on day of sale one half of the purchase money, and the balance upon a credit of six months, the purchaser to execute bonds for the deferred payments with approved security.

L. M. McCLINTIC,
H. L. GARRETT,
H. S. RUCKER,
GEO. A. RIVERCOMB,
JOHN W. STEPHENSON,
Special Commissioners.

I. J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, do certify that John W. Stephenson, Special Receiver in the above styled cause, is authorized as such to receive the hand-payment at said sale by the decree of October Term, 1897, in said cause.

Given under my hand this eighth day of March, 1898.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

Executors' Sale.

The undersigned executors of Allen Galford deceased, will on Saturday, March 12, 1898,

at the residence of the late Allen Galford, on Greenbrier River, in Pocahontas County, offer for sale at public auction to the highest bidder the following described property:

One young mare, four two-year-old heifers, 30 good ewes, one yearling steer, Farming utensils, buggy rake, buggy, etc. 1 set of flour burrs, 1 watch, 1 gun.

All persons having debts against the estate of Allen Galford, deceased, will present the same for adjudication; and all persons indebted to said estate will prepare to settle at once.

S. B. HANNAH,
C. A. LIGHTNER,
Executors.

Commissioner's Sale OF VALUABLE LAND,

On Knapp's Creek in Pocahontas County.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, pronounced at the October Term, 1897, in the chancery cause of Nora Susan Herold and others against Wise Herold and others, the undersigned, as special commissioners appointed for the purpose, will proceed on Tuesday, the 5th day of April, 1898, to sell by public auction, in front of the court-house of said county, to the highest bidder, the valuable farm on which Washington Herold lately resided, (now occupied by Wise Herold), lying on Knapp's Creek, near Frost, in said county, and consisting of five different tracts containing 59, 195, 303, 100, and 25 acres respectively.

This farm has on it an excellent residence, barn, and out houses and is desirable for farming or grazing, and as a home.

The sale will be made subject to the rights of the St. Lawrence Boom and Mf'g. Co. in the timber on 303 and 75 acres of said land, if by so doing sufficient money can be realized to satisfy the decree in favor of the plaintiff, and upon the following Terms: Ten per cent. of the gross amount of the purchase money cash on day of sale, and the residue of the purchase money upon a credit of one, two, and three years in equal installments from the day of sale, the purchaser executing bonds bearing interest from that day, with good personal security, and the title to be retained as ultimate security.

CHARLES P. JONES,
JOHN W. HARRIS
Commissioners.

I, J. H. Patterson, Clerk of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, do certify that Charles P. Jones Commissioner, has given the bond and security required in the above mentioned decree.

J. H. PATTERSON, Clerk.

Commissioner's Sale.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of Pocahontas County, rendered at the October term, 1897, in a cause therein pending in which the State of West Virginia is plaintiff and One Hundred Acres and Fifteen Acres are defendants, the undersigned Commissioner of school lands for the said county will proceed to sell at public auction to the highest bidder in front of the court-house of said county, on the following tract of waste and unappropriated land which is sold for the benefit of the School Fund, to-wit:

Tuesday, April 5th, 1898,

Forty Acres of Land lying in the Little Levels Disttict of Pocahontas County, West Virginia, on the waters of Greenbrier River, adjoining the lands of T. F. Callison and others, and fully described in the report of the Surveyor filed in this cause.

Terms: Cash for costs, and rest in six, twelve, and eighteen months

B. M. YEAGER,
Commr of School Lands.
W. A. Bratton, Attorney.

$1 50 Per Day

A few energetic Ladies and gentlemen wanted to canvass. Above salary guaranteed. Call or address:

C. C. CRICKARD,
4t Crickard, W. Va.

C. B. SWECKER,
General Auctioneer
and Real Estate Agent.

I sell Coal, Mineral and Timber Lands. Farms and Town Lots a specialty. 21 years in the business. Correspondence solicited Reference furnished.

Postoffice—Dunmore, W. Va., or Alexander, W. Va.

... Your Bowels With Cascarets.
Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever 10c., 25c. If C. C. C fail, druggists refund money

W. W. TYREE & CO.

We wish to call the attention of our customers, and the public generally, that we are equipping ourselves with tools and good material for the purpose of manufacturing and repairing Wagons, Buggies, Etc., and all other blacksmithing that is required by the public. Our aim is to be always at our post ready for any work that is to be done in our line.

Send us your orders for New Wagons. We guarantee to give satisfaction in all the work we do, both in prices and workmanship.

Respectfully,
W. W. TYREE & CO., Marlinton, W. Va

I wish to call the attention of the people who have patronized me during the time I have been in the blacksmith business at Marlinton, that I have located in the shop with W. W. Tyree, at the west end of the Bridge in Marlinton, West Virginia, and hope still to have a continuance fo your patronage.

Respectfully,
B. N. RAYBURN, Marlinton, W. Va.

February 18, 1898.

Biggest Auction

SALE IN THE COUNTY.

I will close out Sol Davis' big Stock of Goods at Green Bank, W. Virginia, on SATURDAY, MARCH 19, 1898,

Auction Sales will consist of— Dry Goods, Ladies Dress Goods, Notions, Gents and Ladies Mens and Boys Clothing, Boots, Underwear, Mens and Ladies Caps, Shoes, Glassware, Hats, Cloaks, and Capes, Rubbers, Tinware, Mackintoshes, Overcoats, Gimlets, Grindstones, and Diamonds, and many other things, too tedious to mention.

We will close out the entire stock to make room for New Goods, which will be in about the first of May.

It will pay you to come 25 miles to this sale. You get more for a Dollar at our auction sales than you get anywhere else in the State.

We mean to sell you bargains. Come out! Be there at 10 A. M. Stay all day. Don t forget the time:

SATURDAY, MARCH 19. 1898.

C. B. SWECKER, Auctioneer.

Plow Repairs

We have at last succeeded in making arrangements to supply points for the RONCEVERTE PLOW. Full stock now on hand. Send in our orders early. . . .

We are Factory Agents
for IMPERIAL and SILVER STEEL
Plows.
(The Best Hillside Plow on the Market.)

Simms & Co.,
Opp. Passenger Depot, RONCEVERTE, W. Va.

To the Public.

I have a large stock of goods on hand—too large for my capital—and am compelled to sell out close to pay my bills and get ready for my Spring Stock.

A Pointer.

Always if you want to buy cheap go to the man who is compelled to sell. "Come one, come all!" I will give you better bargains than ever before for cash and good trade.

All persons knowing themselves indebted to me, please call and settle. My rule is "Cash or good trade," but by special arrangement I have a few accounts out On these I cen give but short notice.

YOURS FOR BUSINESS.
S. J. Boggs.

The hardest way possible to get along is to buy real cheap things. As a rule the less you pay, the more it costs in the long run. I do not boast too much of cheap prices, and still, quality considered, I sell at prices that ought to interest careful buyers.

BEST WESTERN, TIMOTHY SEED,
$1.85 to 2.25 Pr bu.

CLOVER SEED,
$4.75 to 5.00 pr. bu. SPOT CASH.
Subject to be unsold.

The Golden Store.

The Pocahontas Times,

Hear, Land o' Cakes and brither Scots,
Frae Maidenkirk to Johnny Groats,
If there's a hole in a' your coats,
I rede ye tent it;
A chiel's amang you takin' notes,
An' faith he'll prent it.—BURNS

Local Events.

TERMS OF DAVIS SALE.—Ninety days on all sums over $10. Bond and security. C. B. S.

TWINS were born to Mr and Mrs Edgar Sharp; a boy and a girl. They weighted ten pounds each.

MARRIED: On Stony Creek, Mr J. L. McNeil and Miss Martha F. VanReenan, by Rev W. A. Sharp.

Uriah Bird is building a large stable after the most approved pattern. It will be a valuable addition to his hotel property.

Rev W. A. Sharp started last week to the Annual Conference of the M. E. Church, which meets at Falls Church, six miles from Washington.

IF you are out of employment and willing to work for $1.50 a day these flush times, it would seem that C. C. Crickard is the man you should consult. See advertisement.

SOME ONE has discovered that maple sugar waer, drunk in large quantities, is a valuable tonic for the liver in many cases. It has a laxative effect.

WE DON'T TALK WAR—We cant make a cent by it—We talk shoes. We tell you just what our goods are and we fit you pocket as well as your foot. Yours,
J. D. PULLIN & Co.

THE Baltimore Conference of the M. E. Church South is to meet in Hinton March 23. It is composed of 226 ministers and 32 lay representatives. This will be the first time this conference has met in this district since it met in Lewisburg in 1859.

YOU and your wife will both be interested in my latest arrival of clothing. You will both appreciate the tasteful colors, the strong weaves, the neat fit and style, and above all the price. Strictly all-wool dark steel gray suits, the kind you paid eight to ten dollars for, only $5.85 at the Golden Store.

A VERY noticable difference in the Northern and Southern newspapers is in speaking of colored persons. The Northern papers give them the appellation of Mr and Mrs with as much impartiality as they do white people, while Southern newsyapers content them selves with calling them by their full names without the title.

LAST Wednesday, the heaviest snow of the winter fell. The trees on Black Mountain had been hanging with snow for some time and when this is the case more snow may be expected any time. The date of this snow was the second of March. We were informed by a man who had the date firmly fixed in his mind, that the second day of March, 1872, was an exact counterpart of its 26th anniversary.

SEVEN swans came to Hammonds', on William's River. At first they were supposed to be wild and three were shot. Four remain and are very tame. Whence they came is a mystery, for if of the wild species their behavior is most unusual; besides the swan in a wild state is almost extinct. The domesticated swan, if it flies at all, would scarcely come so far from any place where they are known to exist.

MR AARON MOORE is the owner of a fine and well worked sugar camp. He has manufactured sugar as long as he can remember, nearly sixty years, without missing a single season, not excepting the War. On the place is an old kettle which was used in the manufacture of sugar for 100 years. Another kettle has been in constant use for sixty years. It is agreed that walnut makes the most enduring troughs. In this camp is a trough made from a section of a tree cut to furnish shingles for the Marlinton Bridge. It has exposed to all all weathers for forty-two years and is still serviceable.

County Court.

Persons warned not to build fires in the open air within sixty yards of the Greenbrier Bridge. Street lamps were ordered to be kept burning in the bridge until ten oclock at night.

Viewers appointed to locate a road beginning at D. C. Hill's mill and running to the turn pike near Jacob Shue's.

Persons warned to remove obstructions from the old Clover Lick road, running from Levi Gay's to Tom Auldridge's.

Court House ordered to be reinsured: $20,000 for building; $1500 for furniture.

Ben Doyle granted permission to celebrate the rites of matrimony.

R. K. Burnes allowed $25 expenses expended in police duties.

W. L. Gay appointed road surveyor.

B. A. Gum and James Gibson, Jr., appointed viewers to make changes in road.

S. B. Hanna and C. A. Lightner qualified as executors of Allan Galford, dec'd.

W. H. Hull qualified as notary pulic.

John W. Sheets appointed road surveyor.

A VERY PRACTICABLE ROUTE.

A Railroad could be Built on a Uniform Grade of Eight Feet to the Mile.

The result of the inspection of the Greenbrier River route was most satisfactory to those wishing to see a railroad built along the valley of the Greenbrier. As was reported in rhis paper last week, Captain Bartholemew and Mr Hays, two experienced engineerss, and B. M. Yeager and Captain Smith of this place had a boat built and spent four days on the river. The result of the examination was that the distance was about from fifty to fifty-four miles and that a uniform grade of seven or eight feet to the mile could be had. The character of the hillside on wfiich the road would be built was most satisfactory. The roadbed could be easily made into it, and the soil is such that there will be no danger of slips, which is a question of great importance in building a road on sidling ground.

The party spent one day on Spice Run. A railroad could be built up that run from the Greenbrier River side, but the land rises too suddenly from the waters of Anthony's Creek, and that route is now out of the question.

It will make it clear to the minds of many to state that a railroad could be built as cheaply from Marlinton to Ronceverte, per mile, as from Marlinton to Traveler's Repose.

Comparing the cost of the route from Ronceverte to Marlinton, and from White Sulphur by way of Driscol to Marlinton, the first route would be the longer by several miles. The cost of building would be less, owing to heavy grades, tunnels, bridges, and fills. But if the cost of construction was the same per mile on both routes, the saving in the cost of maintaining the road on the longer route would in a very few years pay for the additional expenditure. By this we mean the river route would be free from heavy grades. That the whole distance would be on a uniform grade of not exceeding 15 feet to the mile, and the hauling would of course be cheaper than upon a road where there are many up grades, in either direction, anywhere from fifty to eighty feet to the mile.

A railroad built along the west bank of the river which faces the morning sun, and where we see the first bare ground after a snowfall, would, it is said, have less filling and trestling to do than any road that has ever been built in these mountains. Almost the entire roadbed would be taken from a hill-side, and a wheel-barrow would not have to make a trip of more than ten feet to get rid of all the dirt of the excavation. We venture to say that there is more timber on this sunny eastern exposure along which the railroad would run than would be in sight of a road built over the backbones of Alleghany spurs.

All the traffic of both sides of the river would be accommodated. The result would be that from Marlinton down twenty times the amount of trade would come from the west side of the river than would come from the east, and yet the road would receive from the eastern side the same trade on either route. A road twenty-five miles long if built up the river from Ronceverte would be a paying property and would be operated. Ten thousand people live between Marlinton and Ronceverte, on a low estimate, in ten miles of the river on either side. At least nineteen out of twenty live on the west side of the river, and the proportion of the wealth and resources equally as great.

The hopes of our people for a railroad centre in Colonel McGraw, who has already done more for our county than any man who ever lived. He is a member of the Greenbrier Valley Construction Company, which is to build the road. The universal feeling of the people here, without taking into account their own interests, is the wish that he will realize on his investments in this county. We hear that he is now personally interesting himself to build the road, and with his known qualities as a hustler we may look for some developments soon.

In our temporary disappointment over the failure of the road to be under contract, it does our heart good to see a certain gang working as hard for the White Sulphur, Driscol, and Marlinton route as they were working against it a short time ago. The unbiased citizen of Pocahontas, familiar with this vast county, knows that there is but one real route for a railroad and that is up and down the river.

Obituary.

Little Maudie Bell, the infant daughter of Mr and Mrs Henry Poage, died of bronchitis, March 3 1898, aged sixteen months and two days. Altho earth has lost one of its brightest flowers, we rejoice to know that Heaven has one more jewel. May her fond paredts be comforted in this their sad bereavement by the words of our blessed Redeemer, who said: "Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not, for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

L. A. W.

CORRESPONDENCE.

"Twigs" from Dry Branch.

Sugar making is the order of the day now and is being rapidly pushed by Granvil Brady.

Clark Sharp and J. D. Moore are doing a job of logging for Mr Dakers.

Joseph Miller is getting out telephone poles for a new line from S. H. Wood's to Dr Cameron's and James Hebden's.

It is quite amusing to see our friend Cameron Beal stepping over his knees, simply because it's a boy.

Crummett is getting in advance of the times to some extent, He has his plowing finished and is ready to plant.

Our good old friend George Beale is quite busy this winter. He has done a large job of clearing on the farm owned by T. M. Moore, and is now ready to plant wishes for warm weather.

We understand that Mr W. H. Brady is making preparation to go to the Klondike gold fields in the near future. He has already purchased his Alaska outfit and says that he proposes to see whether the Yukon River is 20 miles wide 700 miles from its mouth or not.

We are glad to note the improvement that is now being made in this part of the community. Dick Swecker is erecting an electric light plant at Cave Spring on Dry Branch, near G. C. Beal's. This plant is to be manipulated by the energetic Eliot Ramsey and Charley Rhea.

Married, quite recently, Mr William A. Mace to Miss Anise Lindsay, both of this place. The happy couple went to Hebden Town, and were there gayly surprised to meet a serenading party consisting of two very conspicuous characters namely, Alva Sharp and Everet Moore. Alva blew the horn while Everet listened. CODY BILL.

(Dry Branch Times.)

Weather is fine and people are making some sugar.

Mrs George Brady is suffering with a broken leg.

Mack Wood still waives his whiskers and sells the World's Wonders liniment.

Eliot Ramsey has lots of business on the Branch. He must be 'lectioneering for matrimony. Let the good work go on.

W. H. McCloud, of Mingo, flew to Academy and returned last week

CUT SHORT.

Lobelia.

Miss Lucy Hill is very sick now but there is hope of her recovery.

T. A. Bruffey has finished his school on Bruffey's Creek.

Mrs Jacob McCarty spent two weeks visiting relatives on Bruffey's Creek.

The weather has improved, and there is a prospect of a splendid sugar season.

Samuel Kellison has made four hundred pounds of maple sugar. Can any one beat that?

Miss Margaret McCarty seems te inherit the talent of her great-grand father, John Bruffey, who was an artist of decided ability.

The Methodist Episcopal and the Missionary Baptist churches have been creating a revival of religious sentiment for some time. May the good work go on.

Mrs Elizabeth Hill has recovered from her recent illness. She was much cheered by a visit from her sister, Mrs Henry Boggs, of Frankford.

We regret to hear of the death of Miss Willard. AVIS.

Monterey, Virginia.

Editor of The Times.—Having failed to see any "Highland items" in your paper, it is regarded that a brief communication will not be out of order.

County Court convened in regular session last Thursday, with Judge Lyman Chalkley in the chair. Very little business was done, all cases being continued until next term.

James A. Wagoner, who resides on upper Straight Creek, four miles northeast of town, had his residence burned on Saturday evening. The origin of the fire was from a defective flue. Loss $400; no insurance.

David Colaw, of Crabbottom, was arraigned yesterday before Justice Andrew Newman for illegally disbursing cider. There were two cases against Colaw, and he was fined $35 in one and $25 in the other, including the costs, making a total of more than $100. Highland has a most stringent law against selling cider of any sort or in any quantity. Colaw, it is understood, has appealed to the county court.

The plans, drawings and specifications furnished by Mr W B Marshall, of Franklin, West Virginia, have been accepted by the building committe of the M. E. Church South, of Monterey, and the advertisement calling for bids has been published. All bids are to be in by 12 M., March 15, and the building is to be completed by the first of October. The building is to be modern in every detail. It will consist of an Auditorium, a Sunday school room and a vestibule, and will seat 400 people. The two rooms are to be separated by sliding doors, and handsomely frescoed. The approximate cost of the church complete will be about $2,500.

Green Bank.

The schools will all soon be out.

Cold nights and plenty of mud in daytime.

Miss Bessie Dysard, of Driftwood, is visiting her sister, Mrs R. L. Brown at Arborvale.

William Woodell has finished the tailor trade and is now learning to make maple sugar.

Conner Hudson, who received a stroke of paralysis two weeks ago is slowly recovering.

Rev Eavey preached an excellent sermon at Green Bank Sunday morning, and Rev Clutterbuck in the afternoon at Liberty.

Miss Bertie Beard closed a very successful term at Bruffey on the 18th. That is one of the largest schools in the county and has the best average attendance. There should be two teachers, there being 43 pupils.

Died, February 21st at 9 A. M., at the home of her son; Rev C. C. Arbogast, Mrs Clarissa Arbogast, aged 78 years. "Aunt Clarissa"—as she was called by everyone, was a noble woman, and her loss will be felt by every one.

CAD.

W. B. King is teaching a splendid school. Mr King talks little, but we think his greatest attraction is in lower Marlinton.

Miss Rella Clark, who taught a fine school at the Kerr Schoolhouse, has gone home.

Miss Annie King will have an exhibition when her school closes.

Oak Grove has a splendid literary society in progress.

Rev Charlss Fitzgerald is waking up the community in an evangelistic capacity.

BEN.

Buckeye.

Mrs Cathrine Kellison is very ill at this writing.

James Warwick closed his school last Saturday.

Fred Wade, of Academy, brought his girl home on a white mule.

We suppose that Colbert Duncan is not afraid to travel after night.

T. M. Auldridge is building a new barn.

Misses Lilah Kellison and Laura Overholt made a flying trip to Stamping Creek.

Dr F. T. McClintic has been around to see the sick.

Several of the boys are at home from the lumber camp.

Asbury Adkison was badly hurt by a limb falling on his head, while chopping down a tree. He is recovering now.

CAESAR.

Knapp's Creek.

Sugar making and debating societies are in full blast.

C. W. Rider is off to the railroad for a load of dry goods and postage stamps.

Rev. Clutterbuck will preach at Frost next Sunday.

Dr Chas Guinn is improving we are glad to say.

It is said J. F. Hively will have a sale the 24th of March.

Calvin May, of Apthonys Creek, is around trading horses.

Milliard Herold is very well fixed, as he can go to mill and see his girl on the same trip.

Rev. B. L. Parrot preached his last sermon at Mt Vernon, Sunday, for this conference year.

Geo. Shrader spent last Sunday visiting friends near Frost. He is fond of flowers especially the lily.

Judging, from the last copy of your valuable paper, the Knapp's Creek correspondents are all dead, I will give you a few items.

We are reliably informed that J. A. Cleek's mule can kick the 'soda out of a biscuit and never crack the crust.'

Price Moore went to Green Bank last week to buy a set of harness. It seems as tho he thought they were manufactured by the County Court.

Sheriff R. W. Hill is in this part now and says he will stay until he gets a mess of maple sugar.

Peyton is anxious that the R. R. be built up the Creek to Green Bank so he can go to see his Nancy every Sunday.

John Shrader, Jr., has moved to the Top of Alleghany.

Peyton Moore took the saddle-pockets and went to Highland, last week, to buy a steam sawmill, but when he got there and took off the gold-rimed glasses and looked around a little, he found out that he could not carry the mill on horse back, he let her set.

Every body is talking of going to war. McDOOGAL.

Huntersville.

Amos Barlow is on the sick list at this time.

E. H. Moore, of Academy, was in town last week with a fine line of notions and millinary goods.

William Curry bought twenty head of yearling cattle from the May Brothers, Anthoney's Creek.

